

Convocation Set Tomorrow In Fieldhouse

Sheila Greene Elected May Queen For 1958

Sheila Greene, '58, was elected May Queen during the all-campus balloting Monday and Tuesday for May Day positions. Elizabeth Allan, '58, was selected Maid of Honor.

Balloting to select the May Queen's Court is now in progress in the administration building. All senior women, with the exception of the Mistress of Ceremonies and the Custodian of the Crown, were candidates for May Queen and Maid of Honor. With the exception of Miss Greene and Miss Allan, the same women now stand as candidates for the court.

Others Honored

Virginia Hatton, '58, and Elizabeth Domenick, '58, are Mistress of Ceremonies and Custodian of the Crown, respectively, for the May Day festivities.

Of Albright's 720 students, 375 voted during the May Queen-Maid of Honor balloting. Robert Goldsmith, '59, chairman of Student Council's elections committee, was extremely disappointed by the turnout.

According to him, the 50% minimum student turnout required for a valid election was reached 15 minutes before the 4 p.m. deadline Tuesday.

Impression

Miss Greene, who states that the most impressive thing about Albright is its friendliness, hails from West Orange, N. J. She is a home economics major.

She is a member of the Phi Beta Mu social sorority and served as historian of that group during the past year.

The Home Economics Organization is also one of her activities. (Cont. on Page Two, Col. Three)

Valentine Dance Set For Tonight

Sponsored by the Women's Student Association, the annual Valentine's Day dance will be held tonight in Krause Hall from 8 p.m. to 11 p.m.

Patricia Nein, '58, chairman of the program committee, has announced that the dance will be on a girl-ask-boy basis. Music will be provided by Stan Michalak's Combo.

Mary Ann Sherk, '59, is chairman of the refreshments committee, and the decorations committee will be headed by Nancy Siglin, '60.

Trustees OKay Construction Of Two Buildings

Action aimed at the erection of two new campus buildings was authorized during the annual session of the Board of Trustees Wednesday. Bids will be secured in the near future for the construction of a chapel-auditorium and a food service building.

At the same time, the trustees signaled a rise in the college fees and appointed Larry M. Burkholder as director of development.

Future Construction

Work on the two new buildings will begin as soon as possible. The chapel-auditorium will be a brick and steel constructed building with a seating capacity of 900. The architecture will be a modified colonial type.

The building will be located in the southwest corner of the campus, with the main entrance facing north. The 160-foot by 65-foot building will include classroom facilities on the lower floor.

Includes Steeple

The chapel auditorium will be topped with a tall aluminum steeple. With accommodations for 650, the food service building will be located in the northeast corner of the campus. Its main entrance will face west. It will also be a brick and steel structure, planned to conform with the architectural pattern of the fieldhouse.

The comprehensive fee will be raised $100 per year to an annual (Continued on Page Two, Col. Four)

Yale University Professor Will Deliver Featured Address

Dr. F. S. C. Northrop, Yale University philosophy professor, will be the featured speaker at the fourth annual Albright College Community Convocation tomorrow evening in the fieldhouse.

Dr. F. S. C. Northrop

Dr. Northrop's address, "Human Values in a Scientific Age," will follow a 6:30 p.m. dinner.

Students, upon presentation of an activity ticket, will be admitted to hear the address at 7:30 p.m. Students and other persons desiring to attend the dinner can purchase tickets in the public relations office for $2.75 per plate.

Haskell Head

The convocation, cosponsored by the Berks County Federation of Women's Clubs and the Reading Chemists' Club, is under the chairmanship of Ellery B. Haskell, associate professor of philosophy.

According to Prof. Haskell, John B. Heckman, City Bank and Trust Co. president, will introduce Dr. Northrop and the Rev. Dr. Daniel J. Wetzel, pastor of the First United Church of Christ, will deliver the invocation. President of the College Harry V. Masters will welcome those in attendance and introduce the guests.

Dr. Northrop has taught at Yale University for more than 30 years, and became Sterling Professor of Philosophy and Law in the law and graduate schools of Yale in 1947.

Lecturer

He has held visiting professorships at the universities of Iowa, Michigan, Virginia, Hawaii and La Universidad Nacional Autonoma de Mexico. He has lectured at the Foreign Service Institute of the Department of State and the Air, Army, Naval and National War colleges.

In 1915 Dr. Northrop was graduated from Beloit College and in 1924 earned his Ph.D. from Harvard. He also studied at Yale and at colleges and universities in both England and Germany.

Also Author

Dr. Northrop is the author of several books including "The Taming of the Nations," which, in 1952, won the Freedom House-Willkie Memorial Building Award as the best publication of the year in the field of international relations.

Last year's guest speaker was Louis Fischer, authority on Russia and international relations. Clifton Fadiman and Robert Vogeler have addressed previous convocations.

Rabbi Starr Speaks At Campus Programs

Rabbi Earl S. Starr of Temple Radeph Shalom in Philadelphia represented the Jewish Chautauqua Society on campus this week. Rabbi Starr spoke in the Tuesday and Thursday chapel programs, at the YMCA-YWCA meeting Tuesday and in several classes.

He is a graduate of Temple University of Philadelphia and Hebrew Union College of Cincinnati, Ohio. The National Federation of Temple Brotherhoods sponsors the Jewish Chautauqua Society, an organization dedicated to spreading authentic information concerning Judaism.

Zetas Elect Head; Franks New Prexy

Selection of Clifford Franks, '59, as president-elect and Frank York, '58, as new vice president have highlighted the initial second semester activities of the Zeta Omega Epsilon social fraternity.

Following a newly devised election procedure, Franks will not take over the duties of president until next fall. For the remainder of the semester, Robert Wetzel, '58, will continue as Zeta chief executive.

Due to the fact that the vice presidency was vacated upon the mid-year graduation of Donald McCarty, '53, York was elected to fill the position.

Always The Unexpected:

Dr. Albert Schwartz, Three Soph Students, Complete Scientific Expedition To Cuba

By FRANK DISTASIO

Four Americans were standing on an expanse of coral beach in northern Cuba, known as Diente de Perro, when a wave swept them across the treacherous barb-like formations. In order to take in some sight-seeing before sailing for home, Dr. Albert Schwartz, assistant professor of biology, and three sophomore biology students were taking time out from their job of gathering specimens for study in taxonomy.

Dr. Schwartz and his three assistants, Willard Stitzel, Edwin Erickson and George Zug, were admiring the tall breakers when one, estimated by Erickson to have been 40 feet high, caught the four men unprepared.

All four suffered cuts and abrasions. A swimming suit was torn from one man, and Dr. Schwartz lost his glasses. As a result of the injuries, the quartet was forced to postpone its return trip home until Monday, Jan. 6.

Originally, the four men were to have arrived in the United States at that time. However, their injuries and an unseasonable flood in Cuba delayed their arrival in the United States until Saturday, Jan. 11.

Previous Trip

Dr. Schwartz and his contingent sailed for the Cuban area Tuesday, Dec. 17, some four months after a previous expedition to the island. On his recent trip, Dr. Schwartz and his three student assistants confined their field work to the Isle of Pines, a Havana province located approximately 60 miles south of Havana in the Caribbean Sea. The group took lodging in the city of Santa Fe, on the eastern side of the island.

With Santa Fe as a focal point, the four men traveled to all parts of the island, seeking amphibians and reptiles. The biggest find was made in the southern section of the island, known as Poso de Piedra.

The southern half of the Isle of Pines is cut off by swamps and marshes and required Dr. Schwartz and his party to travel to the area by ferry.

It was here that the major portion of more than 400 specimens was collected. With frogs and lizards representing the bulk of their catch, Dr. Schwartz said that one species of frogs was found that had never been found before on the Isle of Pines. Fifteen snakes were brought back, including boas, racers, and water snakes plus one blind snake.

The December trip, as well as the one previous, was made possible by a two-year grant Dr. Schwartz received from the National Science Foundation. However, the nature of this trip was not governed by a commissioned assignment from NSF.

When questioned in regard to the comparative success of this trip to last summer's, Dr. Schwartz replied, "the results were equally successful."

Cuban Customs

Commenting on past experiences, Dr. Schwartz said that no government planes buzzed overhead as was the case on last summer's trip. He said that Cuban customs this time was very strict in comparison to the last trip. Everything was closely inspected.

In a mood of post-travel retrospection, Dr. Schwartz commented on the scenic beauty of the area. "If it were not for the island's internal troubles," he said, "the Isle of Pines and all of Cuba would be a vacationist's paradise." The climate, the flora and the absence of poisonous reptiles were cited to support his view.

Trustees Signal College Advancement

Approving the construction of two more campus buildings by the trustees Wednesday signaled a further advancement in the program to meet the needs of an expanding college. With enrollment increasing each year, the student body has already outgrown the only auditorium-like buildings on campus, Krause Hall and White Chapel Hall, and threatens to do the same with present dining hall.

Evidences showing the effect of this growth have been many. With regard to the college's auditorium facilities, the changeover from two-a-week to one-a-week chapel programs was made two years ago. Before that change, all students were required to attend chapel both Tuesday and Thursday, rather than on the once-a-week schedule as it now stands.

One of the major factors behind the change from waiter served to cafeteria style evening meals, as reported previously this year by The Albrightian, was the lack of adequate seating facilities in the dining hall.

The need for the two buildings that will soon be constructed was obvious, and when completed they will add greatly to the college's facilities.

The chapel-auditorium will provide permanent facilities for all-campus chapel and assembly programs and allow the field-house to be used exclusively for gymnasium-type activities.

The food service building will provide modern facilities for food preparation and adequate space for large dinner meetings such as the frosh fellowship dinner, in addition to easing the pressure during the serving of regular meals to boarding students.

The construction of these two new buildings will be a forward step in Albright's march toward becoming an even better educational institution. Their completion will bring the realization of two very large goals in the college's development program.

There Is A Need . . . For Leadership

A nationally known credit rating firm reported over 400 business failures during a recent week. This was but the latest addition to the growing amount of evidence before the American people indicating a downward trend in the economic fortunes of the country.

This evidence has not gone unnoticed. Organized labor has noticed—and called for increased wages; business has noticed—and called for reduced taxes; government has noticed—and called for public works programs and the people have noticed—and cried out for help.

"Help" is needed, but in what area should it be given? It could best be provided in the form of leadership from the White House. To give this direction to the nation's efforts both ability and willingness to assume leadership must exist. The first of these factors exists in the White House today, as it almost always does. The second factor, willingness to act, is less evident.

Many times the President has not exercised the degree of leadership necessary for the executive of the U.S., perhaps because, as a military man, he feared being labeled as too autocratic. In the face of the threatened economic crisis, today is not a time for the President to fear such name calling. Direction from the White House will, and in fact is necessary to, lead the nation away from the path of recession and return us to the road toward full prosperity.

Senior Personality Senior Shines In Campus Action

By MARY ROHRBACH

Most Albright College seniors are especially busy during this final semester before graduation. Ann "Liz" Miller is no exception. This peppy social science major from Shippensburg is one of the most active seniors in campus activities.

During her underclass years, Ann participated in the Domino Club, as the feature staff of The Albrightian, as a member of Student Council, and on the hockey team. This year she is the efficient editor of The Cue, senior yearbook, representative to the Women's Dormitory Organization and treasurer of the Phi Beta Mu social sorority. Wait—there are still more activities. Ann also belongs to Pi Gamma Mu, national honorary social science fraternity, and the Student Education Association.

Swimming Instructor

Albrightian lads who have not yet learned to swim are in luck for Ann is a swimming instructor, and during summer vacation she teaches the art at Seatico, N. Y. Aside from swimming, "Liz" fills her spare time with writing.

At present, "Liz" is student teaching at Northeast Junior High School in Reading. After graduation, she plans to continue teaching in the social science field, although she has not definitely decided whether it will be in New York or Arizona. With her cooperative spirit and amiable personality, "Liz" will undoubtedly succeed in her future profession.

Selwyn Sidekick

By EDWARD TRAVES

I think that I shall never see
The stump that's lovely as a tree,
That towered o'er dear Selwyn Hall
From Civil War to coed's call.

The tree that saw from off the path
The fruits of love and grapes of wrath,
That came from lover's one and all
Who made the trip to Selwyn Hall.

Along these walls of brick and stone
The marks of college life have shown,
John loves Mary, Jane and Joan
But still the tree she stood alone.

And now the tree that firmly stood
Is neatly chopped for firewood.

Miss Greene has served for three years as an attendant to the Homecoming Queen. She has also participated in the May Day activities during the past three years and was choreographer for the event last year.

Miss Allan is a resident of Reading, and a laboratory technology student, who transferred from Pennsylvania State University in her sophomore year.

She is a member of the Pi Alpha Tau social sorority and is corresponding secretary for that group. As a science student, she is a member of Skull and Bones, and serves as secretary for that organization.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS BY BIBBER

"IT APPEARS TO ME ONLY ONE OF YOU TOOK THE TROUBLE TO DO THE OUTSIDE ASSIGNMENT LAST NITE!"

Sandie Strickler Cites Collegiate Capers

Music, Music, Music — Boarding students have always considered it almost impossible to liven up Sunday supper, but certain public spirited-diners managed to do so last Sunday night.

Missing—The Kappa call to action has been echoing through their house less frequently since mid-year graduation. I wonder why?

Cheers—to those who support the team at the basketball games. Don't forget that girls' basketball season starts today and, they too, would like an interest to be shown in their games.

Jeers — to those who put the spring weekend dates on calendar. Is Albright's social whirl so full that sororities and fraternities have to share the available weekends.

Thanks—to Mr. Pierce for having the trees on the upper part of the campus cut down. The Teel girls now have a clearer view of the two fraternity houses and vice versa.

Compliments — to the students who studied and got good marks during the past semester. Now that we know it can be done, maybe the rest of us will do better this semester.

Overheard—The men from Olive Street finally got off the dean's list. Good luck in the future.

It's more fun to take part in the latest goings on around so why not come to the Valentine dance tonight and get the latest scoop. See you there.

In line with this fee rise, trustee academic scholarships will be raised to $250, with a maximum of 50 to be distributed to the next group of incoming students.

The two fraternity houses on campus will be renovated and a center section connecting the two buildings will be constructed. The new addition will be used as housing for a resident councilor.

Another Change

Improvement of the rear entrance of the administration building was also authorized. This work will include the construction of a canopy and other alterations.

Beginning with the fall 1959 term, a $10 fee will be payable with each entrance application.

The trustees, in place of their annual meeting, will in the future convene twice each year. The meeting will be held in the fall and spring, with one an official meeting and the other an interim gathering.

George C. Bollman, president of the board, was re-elected, as was President of the College Harry V. Masters. Twenty-nine of the 34 trustees attended the meeting.

The general session Wednesday was preceded by committee meetings Tuesday and Wednesday.

Burkholder, who has been a community leader in fund raising affairs in Reading for many years, is a graduate of Pennsylvania State University. He has held the position of assistant personnel director at the Textile Machine Works during the past 16 years.

His position, a permanent post previously authorized by the trustees, will include co-ordination of the college's fund raising activities.

Other action by the trustees included the authorization for the purchase of two houses in the vicinity of the campus. Such buildings will be used for student housing as

Lions Meet Dutchmen, Diplomats On Road

Albright Five Tops Favored Hawks West Chester Defeats Lions

IN THE LION'S DEN

By LEE SWARTZ, Sports Editor

Unpredictable Albright! That's a new tag for our court wonders and comes mainly due to the fact that the Lions, after topping St. Joseph's College, one of the East's toughest, took a drubbing at the hands of West Chester STC. However, let's take nothing away from West Chester. They had a well balanced club, but it still doesn't figure that a team could look so different in two successive games.

Perhaps the key to Saturday night's defeat was pressure. Not the type under which one cracks, but the defensive pressure of the West Chester defenders. St. Joseph's gave the Lions room to shoot and we have proved that on a given night we can hit with the best of them. But the Rams played Albright's players tight the whole game. It makes a difference in the accuracy of one's shots when taken with a big hand in front of the face. Nevertheless, pressure or no pressure, we have seen the Lions play better than they did Saturday.

Few Away Wins . . .

With only three home games left on the card, the schedule is most unfavorable to the Lion team which has won only one game away from home (against LeMoyné in the St. Vincent Tournament). However, their remaining road opponents, Lebanon Valley, F&M, Elizabethtown and Dickinson, have not had too much success this year either. The road nemesis is one which has plagued the Albright cagers for the three previous seasons, for they have won only two away games in this period.

In league competition, Scranton has wrapped up the Middle Atlantic States northern division title and unleashed its attack on independent teams as well. They downed Villanova Monday night. Ed Kazakovich, 6-4 center, scored 34 points. Kazakovich recently pumped in 53 against Kings College. The Royals will meet the winner of the southern division for the right to represent the conference in the NCAA small college tournament.

Ernie Firestone Last Of Line To Win Four Court Letters

Ernie Firestone, playing on the varsity basketball team for the fourth consecutive year, terminates a line of basketball four lettermen which includes Eddie Anlian, George Conrad and Bruce Riddell. None of next year's seniors played varsity ball as freshmen and thus Firestone becomes the last of the group of four year letter winners.

As a freshman, Firestone scored 103 points as he took over a starting berth, filling in during Mike DePaul's injury. In his sophomore and junior years Ernie added 92 and 89 points, respectively, but it was not until this year that he regained his place in the starting line-up. He became a starter late in January and since then has averaged close to 10 points per game.

During his high school days at Lebanon, Firestone played in the Central Penn Conference where he finished with 301 points in his senior year to come within one point of the scoring title.

Firestone, known for his long one hander and off balance jump shot, has already scored 98 points this season, including a 15 point splurge against Juniata. The high point of his career was the St. Joseph's game when he scored 11 points in the last 14 minutes of the game to lead the Lions to an upset victory.

A business administration student, Firestone is also a two year veteran of the tennis team. His hobbies, other than athletics, are movies and APO fraternity functions.

Firestone, Kelly Lead Second Half Surge That Halts Hawks

A hot and cold Albright quintet upset mighty St. Joseph's College of Philadelphia recently 77-76 and then bowed to the thundering Rams of West Chester State Teachers College, by a 74-58 count on the home floor.

The Lions jumped to a 6-0 lead and held St. Joseph's scoreless from the floor for four minutes. A series of three point plays enabled the Hawks to catch up and lead the Lions by a margin of 37-32 at halftime. Fred Dietzel tied the score in the opening minutes of the second half, but St. Joseph's caught fire and opened a nine point lead, 60-51.

Firestone, Kelly Lead

The Lions then scored 26 points in slightly under nine minutes to win by a point. Fielders by Ernie Firestone and Dick Kelly tied the score. From then on, Stan Kaminski, Firestone and Kelly led the Lions as they matched, and then outscored, the taller Hawks.

It was Kaminski's foul shot that won the game with just seven seconds remaining, but an earlier driving layup by Dick Kelly, resulting in a three point play, helped ice the victory. Four 30-foot set shots by sub Al Cooke of the Hawks made the last four minutes of the contest a hectic affair.

Poor Contest

The West Chester contest was the opposite of the Lion's performance against St. Joseph's. The Red and White were way off in their shooting, sinking only 28% of their shots in the first half. The Rams, led by Terry German, hustled their way to a 16 point halftime lead and sustained it throughout the second half. German was injured in the late stages of the second period. Center Bruce Storms led the Lions in scoring with 15 points.

The intramural basketball squads have completed first half action and are well on their way in second half competition. These teams are grouped into an A League and B League. The four campus social fraternities, APO, Zeta, Pi Tau and Kappa, together with a team of Independents, comprise the A League.

The B League consists of B teams from the fraternities, the Red Devils, the Nuggies, Schnools, Contemporaries, Pikers, Gladiators and the Dornen. However, Kappa B and Gladiators have forfeited the remainder of their games.

In the first half, top gunners in this court rivalry were Frank Hoffman with 58 points, Dave Townley with 55, Don Matalavage with 46, Bob Moller with 46, Frank Sudock with 41, Leroy Long with 41 and Ron Brown with 40 tallies.

In second half competition, the APOs defeated the Kappas and the Pi Taus trampled the Independents. APO again leads the league with a 2-0 record, Pi Tau and Zeta fraternities are each 1-0, and the Independents and Kappas bring up the rear with 0-2.

Lions Seek Second Win Over Lebanon Valley

In what will be an attempt to regain the form which gave them victories over Seton Hall and St. Joseph's the erratic Albright basketball team goes on the road to meet Lebanon Valley and Franklin and Marshall next week. The Lions encounter LVC Monday and the Diplomats Wednesday.

This will be the second meeting between Lebanon Valley and Albright this year. In their first encounter, LVC proved too small. The Red and White controlled the backboards and as a result forged an easy 73-50 victory. Stan Kamanski led the Albright offensive with 16. High man for the Dutchmen was Pete McEvoy with 19.

Victories

LVC has but two victories this year. They are usually strong, however, on their own court and the Lions have had little success on the road. Last year the Dutchmen beat Albright at LVC, but later in Reading lost 79-64 with Bruce Riddell contributing 27 points for Albright.

The Diplomats have not played the Lions this year. However last season they took the Red and White by the score of 96 to 70 at Lancaster, after losing to the Lions 84-67 in the fieldhouse.

Diplomats

In the Albright victory, Fred Dietzel had 24 points. In the F&M victory, all of the starting five hit double figures for Albright. After leading 46-30 at half time, the Diplomats pushed through another 50 points to maintain their margin of victory.

This year the Diplomat offense will be led by Jack Sanders and Bob Swetman. F&M also will be at a height disadvantage against the Lions.

Wrestlers Lose Two Matches

Coach Gerald Barger's wrestling squad conquered the Moravian Greyhounds recently at Bethlehem in a 21-9 battle. They then defeated Lebanon Valley at Annville 24-8, to raise their record to five wins against three setbacks.

In the brilliant 123-pound class, Frank Chavez, outclassed his foe, Willie Wohlbach of Moravian and Barry Kinard of Lebanon Valley, in caging two more victims for the Lions. Undefeated Lion leader Ron Green, pinned the Greyhounds' Jack Jacob, while he gained a default against the Flying Dutchmen in the 130-pound class.

Terry Stoltz

The 137-pound Lion, Terry Stoltz, downed Moravian's Steve Cigioni and Lebanon Valley's Bob Sensenig as he beat them in consecutive 7-2 and 8-4 decisions.

Gerry Knapp, in the 147-pound division, decided Ron Cviraky and pinning Kent Krause of Moravian and Lebanon Valley, respectively.

Two Grapplers

Herb Miller and Jack Roessner broke even in the 157- and 167-pound classes. Miller trampled Bruce Rissmiller at Annville, while Roessner decided Greyhound Bob Silvet, 9-5.

The 177-pounder, Bud Kauffman, defeated Gus Rampone at Bethlehem and held the upper hand in a 5-0 decision over Gary Dehart. George Morfogon saw victory elude his grasp twice against Moravian's Charles Bartolet and Lebanon Valley's Paul Lungren in the unlimited weight division.

Cigarettes To Meet Drexel In Opener

The women's basketball squad will travel to Drexel this afternoon for the opener of the season. Mrs. Eva Mosser, coach, says that she can see a marked improvement in the team as a whole over last year's squad.

The starting line-ups for both the varsity and junior varsity games are indefinite, but as far as the coach knows at present, the varsity forwards will be Mary Ellen Appleman, Susie Schick, Eileen McCracken, and Beverly Yanick. Veteran forward Ruth Shaffer will be benched for at least the first game with a knee injury. Jayvee forwards and substitutes for varsity ball are Doris Ulrich, Marty Richards, Chucky Hinman, Carol Moyer and Claire Vogel.

Experienced Trio

Amelia Pottelger, Millie Folk and Billie Williams will make up the experienced guarding trio, using a shifting man-to-man defense. They will be assisted by Marilyn Catlow and Joyce McQuay. Janelle Reed, Judy Miller, June Ramsey, Janet Weber and Peggy Young, are also at the guarding position.

The flag day at Moravian, originally scheduled for tomorrow, has been postponed for one week.

Jayvees Lose Fifth Straight

The jayvee basketball squad's losing streak was extended to five straight games after losing to St. Joseph's and West Chester recently. Overall, the jayvee's record stands at 5-7 for the season.

Against St. Joseph's, the little Lions fought back from a 21-3 deficit only to lose the game in the closing seconds, 59-57. Richie Greene paced the attack with 22 points, as Chuck Quinn registered 15 to complete the list of Lion double-figure scorers.

Down 49-39

West Chester jumped off to a 49-39 halftime lead, and ended up with a 91-71 win, despite Greene's 33 points. Quinn had 14, Charlie Smith scored 13 and Ken VanDine contributed 12 points.

The Jayvees will play at Lebanon Valley Monday and Franklin and Marshall Wednesday.

Opinion Divided On President:

Students Differ Slightly On National View Of Ike

Fifty-two percent of a group of Albright students interviewed this week by The Albrightian believe Dwight D. Eisenhower is doing a good job as president. This total is three percent lower than the figure announced following a recent national collegiate poll by the Associated Collegiate Press on the same question.

Students polled by The Albrightian were split 52% to 48%, the latter group definitely believing Pres. Eisenhower is not doing a good job. ACP's national results showed a 55% to 43% division of opinion, with two percent undecided on the question.

Favor Changes

The results of the Albright survey also show a definite change in student opinion during the past 15 months. Just prior to the 1956 presidential election, The Albrightian polled the student body as to their choice between Eisenhower and Nixon or Stevenson and Ke-fauver.

The results showed 77% of the Albrightians favoring the Eisenhower-Nixon team, largely on the basis of their past record and the job they could be expected to do in the future. Nearly one-third of this 77% have now changed their opinion of the President, since there has been a decline of 25% in those who favor Eisenhower and the job he is doing.

Satellite Blamed

Judging from the opinions of the Albrightians interviewed this week, the Russian advances in science, particularly the Soviet lead in the earth satellite field, and the post-election ailments of the President have been the chief reasons for the switch in many students' opinions. Other reasons for answering the question negatively included Pres. Eisenhower's relative lack of political knowledge and the absence of full party backing by the Republicans, plus a lack of initiative and leadership coming from the White House.

Three items noted by Albright students in the anti-Eisenhower category also appeared in the comments of their national counterparts. These were: the President's poor health, lack of leadership and too lengthy vacations.

Comments gathered by the ACP on why students thought the President was doing a good job pointed out his actions with respect to busness, civil rights, the Middle East and general leadership.

Those Albrightians favoring Pres. Eisenhower's work cited his personal character, foreign policy and the fact that the United States is not at war as reasons for their opinions.

The division of opinion over the President's work followed party lines to at least some extent. One Albrightian who favored Pres. Eisenhower gave as his reason, "I am a Republican!" Another joined the dissenting 48% because, "Pres. Eisenhower is a Republican!"

Handicapped

The tone of many opinions was expressed by one student who stated, "Pres. Eisenhower is limited to a great extent by his physical handicap." This reason was given as both supporting the President's job and opposing it.

"If he were such a good president the Russians would not be ahead of us in science. I blame him and not the scientists because it was his place to see that there were enough of them," commented another Albrightian. "The small businessman hasn't a chance under his administration."

Why is the President doing a good job? "He has most certainly kept us out of war so far. He also shoots a very good golf game." "The President has handled the majority of the great conflicts which have faced the government in a very efficient manner."

Student Council Gives Money For Magazine

Student Council has turned over $32.40 to Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English fraternity, for publication of this year's literary magazine, "The Agon."

The money was derived from the December project of Council, STD, and Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary journalism fraternity, that operated a service station for a day.

Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, operated the station for Council.

Dancer Set For Tuesday

A program consisting of colorful dances, music and songs interpretive of the ways of Japan will be featured in the next cultural program, Tuesday in Krause Hall at 11:10 a.m.

Sehomi Tachibana, one of the two foremost Japanese dancers in the United States, will depict the ways of life of the Japanese people both at home and in public.

Her performance will include such subjects as Geisha girls, flowers and gardens, dress of the people and marriage ceremonies.

Elery B. Haskell, associate professor of philosophy and chairman of the cultural programs, has announced that Miss Tachibana's program will be limited to dancing and music supplied by recordings.

She studied in Japan with members of the renowned dance family Tachibana, from whom she acquired her professional name. Tachibana is a name revered in the realm of Japanese dance and bestowed only upon artists who have mastered both classical and modern forms.

TV Experience

In addition to her work as a performer, she teaches Japanese dance. She has appeared in many theaters across the country and on the Steve Allen and NBC Opera Theater television shows.

She devises modern dance themes from her readings in Japanese literature. To fuse the art of East and West, Miss Tachibana will choreograph a dance to western music in her performance. While developing new dances, she also acquires additional accessories, including parasols, wigs and fans for use with her programs. Some of her costumes are self-designed.

"HOW DID THE FACULTY MEETING GO, DEAR?"

Kistler Terms Drive Successful

"Astoundingly successful" is the description Dr. Charles E. Kistler, professor of history, has given to response to the Merrill Eckhart fund drive. Dr. Kistler, faculty solicitor for the drive, feels it has been the most successful drive of its kind at Albright.

He has explained that this success does not mean the maximum amount of money needed has been collected. Contributions obtained by the drive have succeeded $500, but this amount will not cover the total expenses insured through hospital bills.

At the beginning of the drive, Dr. Kistler had set $600 as a goal for the contributions. William Corrigan, '59, of the APOs, was coordinator for the drive.

Contributions have been received from many sources, including students, faculty, campus organizations and off-campus groups and individuals from Reading, Philadelphia and Iowa.

Eckhart Recovering

Eckhart, junior captain of the basketball team and president of the Alpha Pi Omega social fraternity, was injured in an automobile accident prior to the Christmas holidays. He has since returned to campus and is recovering from the leg injury he received in the accident.

Sheila Greene, '58, and Elizabeth Allan, '58, were named May Queen and Maid of Honor, respectively, following the tabulation of the votes. (Staff Photo)
