

Lions Defeat Strong Davis and Elkins Team

ALUMNI HOME-COMING DAY MARKS A RED LETTER EVENT IN HISTORY OF OUR SCHOOL

Class of 1932 Boast Largest Number To Return; Davis and Elkins Game Proves Major Week-end Activity; Annual Alumni Dance Is Huge Success.

The Campus was the scene of many and varied activities over the week-end. Home-coming Day, on Saturday brought an unusually large number of Alumni back to their Alma Mater. Although a great number of classes were well represented, the class of 1932 had the largest number to return. The Dining Hall was attractively decorated in red and white giving a cheerful atmosphere of welcome. The various fraternity rooms were open to Alumni and visitors, and everything possible was done to make them feel at home.

The football game with Davis and Elkins on Saturday afternoon was the principle activity. The Alumni saw an exhibition of school spirit, especially among the players, that they are never likely to forget. John Heilman, '31 and Al MacCarroll, '32, helped lead the cheers and keep up the spirit. Between the halves they presented an original skit in the form of a take-off on several modern movies. After witnessing such an excellent contest, many Alumni are expected to return for future games.

On Saturday evening, as a climax to the day's activities, the annual Alumni Home-Coming Dance was held at the Berkshire Hotel. The Ball Room was decorated in an unusual manner with banners, flags, and a portrait of a large lion. Music was furnished by Whitey Miskey and his Travelers, and confetti and balloons added color to the festivities. The committee in charge of the dance consisted of Raymond Dengler, Chairman; Elmer L. Mohn, Mrs. Florence S. Miller, Isabel Willard, Fred Howard, Edward Binkley and Willard Mohn. The following faculty members acted as chaperones: Miss Ruh, Schaefer, Miss Margaret Gerberich, Miss Anne Kulp, Dr. J. Warren Klein, Dr. Raymond Houck and Prof. Henry Buckwalter.

As a conclusion to the events of Home-Coming Day, a tea was held on Sunday afternoon in the parlors of Selwyn Hall. The Phi Delta Beta Sorority was in charge and quite a few Alumni were present. Tea was poured from 3:00 to 5:00 by Mrs. Nettie B. Currier, faculty advisor of the sorority, and Miss Marie Kleppinger, Alumni member.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

Sunday evening at 7:30 in the Immanuel Evangelical Church, sixth street, a memorial service dedicated to the late president of Albright College, Warren F. Teel, will be held. Mr. Wetzel, principal of Trenton High School and a life-time friend of Dr. Teel will be the principle speaker. Faculty, students and alumni of Albright are invited to attend this service.

The Sunday evening Vesper service of the college will not be held, in order that all students may attend the Dr. Teel Memorial Service.

"Y" Groups Sponsor Hallowe'en Social

Gym To Be Scene of Gay Party Thursday Evening.

The first college social affair will be held Thursday night in the gym when the Y. M. and Y. W. groups will give their annual Hallowe'en frolic. Every Albright faculty member or student is heartily invited and urged to attend. The party will begin at eight o'clock, and several hours of good fun and enjoyment are in store for everyone who attends. Costumes are optional.

The gymnasium will be fittingly decorated under the supervision of Sarah Hoffman and Harriet Venus. The committee is also planning excellent refreshments. The program is composed of student talent entirely and some novel features will be presented.

The committee in charge consists of: Jean Rosencranze, Dorcas Haines, Cynthia Wallace, Robert Castetter, William Basom and Russell Bonney.

Lutheran Students Select Officers

Brenneman Elected To Head Religious Group; Hear Speakers

The Lutheran Club of Albright College held its first fire side meeting on October 19, in the lower social room of Selwyn Hall. The officers for the year were elected as follows: President, Marshall Brenneman; Secretary Margaret Wittmann; Treasurer Charles Maier. Plans for the year were carefully outlined and a social time followed. During the social part of the program, Miss Garlach, faculty advisor of the club, and Miss Sara Hoffman, Jr. told of their experience at the Women's Missionary Conference which was recently held in Baltimore. Miss Grace Ketter then sang a solo being accompanied on the piano by Miss Irene Fray. The club was also glad to welcome Miss Beauriethal and Miss Walters as visitors from the Trinity Lutheran Church. Miss Walters made an epitome of her work as the Lutheran Club President at Smith College which the club feels has some practical suggestions that can be used at Albright. Miss Beauriethal spoke for a few moments concerning the Russian Mission to which the money of the club is sent.

It might be well to mention that the primary interest of the club is missions, but another valuable purpose is to relate the student to the church at home and away from home.

Stabler and Basom Attend the Retreat

Student Volunteer Union Meets at U. of Penn.

The Fall Retreat of the Eastern Pennsylvania-New Jersey Student Volunteer Union which has held at the University of Pennsylvania's Y. M. C. A. camp was a great success. There were twenty delegates present including William Basom and Lester Stabler from Albright. At this retreat, plans were made for the coming year. The purpose of the Union for the year was defined as being: Spirituality, Education and Membership. It was decided to hold the Spring Retreat at Princeton. You will remember that the Spring Retreat last year was held at Albright and was a great success in many ways. There were one hundred and seventy-two delegates expected, seventy-nine being from Albright and ninety-three from twenty-two other colleges.

Anyone desiring to become a member of the Union may do so by procuring a membership card from Lester Stabler and checking any one of the three divisions presented. They are: first, I am a Student Volunteer; second, I am interested in becoming a Missionary, but am not a Student Volunteer; and third, I am interested in Missions, but do not plan to be a Missionary myself.

Quite an extensive program for deputation work at Albright is being Albright is being planned for the year by the Y. M. C. A. It is intended

Seminary Prof. Present Paper

Preaches on "Virgin Birth" in Annual Matriculation Thesis

The Evangelical School of Theology in Reading, Pa., had its annual Matriculation Day Exercises on Thursday, October 13, 1932. Each year on this occasion one of the Seminary Professors presents a paper on some special research topic in his department.

This year the Rev. M. E. Ritzman, Ph.D., Professor of New Testament and Missions, took for his thesis: "The Virgin Birth of Christ."

To quote in part: "By the Virgin Birth of Christ we mean that our Lord did not have a human father, but was begotten of the Holy Spirit and born of a virgin. The belief that the mother of Jesus was a virgin is not held in isolation from the belief that God is his Father. His supernatural birth was the method by which God became man without ceasing to be God."

"The miracle of the Incarnation has in every age been denied or explained away and is denied today because (1) it involves the supernatural; (2) the

Int. Relations Club Holds First Session

Prof. Evans Speaks on Foreign Conditions; New Books Received.

The International Relations Club held its first meeting of the school year on Thursday evening, October 20.

A most interesting talk was given to the Club by Professor Evans of the department of Business Administration. Professor Evans spoke on the "Economic Situation in Europe," as he found it, this Summer, in his travels through England, Belgium, France and Germany. Belgium, being highly industrialized, is suffering from a high tariff and from the whole economic let-down. Conditions in Germany are not as severe as in Belgium. However, the Germans are demanding economic liberty. England, being desperately dependent on foreign trade, is saved by the dole. Of all the countries in Europe, France is the most fortunate. She is self-sufficient in providing her raw-materials and since she has just about all the labor she needs, feels the depression least of all.

The following books were received from the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace: "The Unseen Assassins," by Norman Angell; "Compulsory Arbitration," by Helen E. Gory; "The Society of Nations," by Felix Morley; "Far Eastern International Relations," by Morse and MacNair; "Recovery, the Second Effort," by Sir Arthur Salter. The Club now boasts a rather fine library.

F. HATTON AND HINO SCORE

Pease Makes Lone Count For D. and E. Team; Visiting Coach Compliment Red and White Squad.

Herm Suydam staged a brilliant exhibition of speed and power Saturday afternoon as he whipped a battered and weary band of Albright football men to the super-heights of a well-won victory over the Scarlet Hurricane of Davis-Elkins, by the score of 13-7.

Suydam's sensational defensive play led to both, Red and White touchdowns against the heavy, mighty squad from West Virginia. The burly tackle created the first scoring opportunity late in the first half when he blocked an enemy punt on the Davis-Elkins 10-yard line, Captain Franny Hatton falling on the ball over the "visitors' goal. Again, in the third quarter, Hermie tackled Shelton, D.-E. half-back, so hard that he dropped Jake Orr's punt, with Yib Bolton recovering on the Southerners 10-yard mark. Hino scored on the second play afterward. Not only did Suydam create both touchdown opportunities, but also checked the Virginians' advance time and again especially in the very beginning of the game, when he knocked down a Davis-Elkins forward pass in Albright's end zone, after the visitors had proceeded to the Lions' 1-yard stripe on a 60-yard advance.

Freshmen Girls Lead "Y" Meeting

Attractive Program Given by the Freshmen Commission.

The Freshmen girls had charge of "Y," on Wednesday night. The meeting opened with the hymn, "He Leadeth Me." Jean Rosencranze read the Scripture and led in prayer. A poem on the greatness of God was read by Stella Hetrich. After the hymn, "Abide with Me," Mary Yohn, the leader of the Freshmen Commission, gave a talk on the purpose and work of this organization.

She said that the theme of the meetings for this semester will be Music and Dramatics. She reported that the Commission was progressing quite well and that a large per centage of the Freshmen girls were active members.

Betty Rosenthal gave the biographies of the composers of the two hymns that had been sung. She told many interesting facts about these men, and what inspired them to write these numbers.

A piano solo by Marjorie Beglinger was next on the program. This was followed by a voice solo by Louise Zener. The meeting closed with, "Follow the Glean."

Dorothy Dauterich was in charge of the program.

EDITORIALS

YEARBOOK SUGGESTIONS

The problem of publishing the "Cue" has been an acute one. The biggest difficulty has been of a financial nature. Each recent edition has been unable to escape the red ink column. The first cry in each case has been the familiar one of "someone made a haul." Far be it from us to even consider this unfair accusation. People who know the intricacies of yearbook publishing know that the trouble does not lie in any problem as simple as that.

The Junior classes of the past have usually contained sufficient talent to insure the publication of a worthwhile volume, considering the book itself. Our past annuals have been adequate summaries of school life, which is their main purpose.

Another thought is that the yearbook is a vital part of college life. Few students would approve of a movement to halt this annual publication. The students want a yearbook, in our opinion. The college needs the "Cue." It is of value as an advertising aid and as a student activity for the literary-minded students.

Furthermore, what is the result when the Junior annual does take a dive financially. We find the Junior class members required to pay for their annual three or four times, depending on the amount of the deficit. As a class activity, the class must pay. To say this is unfair is putting it mildly. But it is the only available solution to the problem of meeting the shortage. It remains for a better solution to be adopted.

For a few facts. It requires, roughly, approximately two thousand dollars to publish a respectable looking "Cue." This amount must be met by the money received from sales and advertising. It is hard to secure advertisers in normal times and especially hard at present. Then last year there was an overwhelming number of seventy-five of three hundred and fifty regular students who purchased yearbooks. So we see that with few subscriptions and poor advertising conditions, a financial deficit is the only possible outcome. Something must be done and just how long the Junior classes will meekly agree to meet this loss is problematical. Why should one class be singled out to take the rap for a college publication?

It is not our policy to criticize without offering something which to our mind is of a constructive nature. Since every Albright student, either directly or indirectly, receives the benefit of each edition of the "Cue," why not assess each regular student of the college for one copy of the "Cue" along with his college fee? College spirit should prompt each student to purchase an annual but evidently it does not. We think every student should have a "Cue" and an assessment at the start of the year for his copy would not be an imposition. This would give the "Cue" staff something tangible to work with and would even make possible the publication of a more expensive and better looking annual. We think a plan of this nature would put the "Cue" on a business-like basis and would make its publication a more pleasant affair for all concerned.

LITERARY

Lives and Letters

(Rudolf Shook, '33)

Mazo De la Roche's new novel is quite unlike the Julva Saga. The Lark Ascending of the title is a pleasant allegory referring to the release from bondage of Fay Palmas, a vivid widow of thirty-eight, and her son Diego, nineteen. Escaping from a bakery shop, the legacy of an unfortunate marriage, Fay and her son set out to see the world, accompanied by a traditionally devoted and patient admirer of hers (who marries, as usual, someone else) and her young second cousin Joie, who is in love with Diego. On a day when the rest of the tourists have gone ashore Fay meets, and promptly falls in love with, a handsome young Sicilian count. She marries him, though he is poor, and they open an antique shop in his beautiful old house. When, after a number of years, he is casually unfaithful she dismisses him and lives on in the old house with her son, with whose lover, dramatically enough, her husband has intrigued.

Fay has become, by this time, one of the old Italian nobility. Her dark beauty has made her internationally famous, and her love of glamour has led her to imitate the manners of her husband until, in an amusing epilogue, she is able to make herself completely credible as the last of noble but impoverished Sicilian family, and thus to intrigue two librarians from the States into begging her to allow them to buy some of the treasures with which she is forced to part. A beautiful dramatic woman, and one fully conscious of it, Fay also possesses Chameleon-like qualities which make her at once appropriate and exotic in an surroundings. Miss De la Roche paints her with humor and brilliancy. Her interesting story is fast-moving and colorful in detail. But its satiric, and witty character is what makes it unusual.

The concert season had a brilliant opening last week when Rosa Ponselle gave the first of the Haage concerts. Despite the depression and the tax the house was packed with an enthusiastic and occasionally noisy audience. Local luminaries swarmed about the lobby, a lot of new clothes were seen, and the balcony groaned under the weight of those whom a Times writer recently dubbed "the poor but cultured." The press commented upon Ponselle's personality as well as upon her lovely voice. Dressed in grey lace with a band of fur on one sleeve of the jacket, glittering with rhinestones, and with her pet hair worn like Garbo's, she was a vivid and impressive figure. She accompanied her songs with a lot of pantomime (in this she is entirely different from Lily Pons). She had a good program, and her encores were well calculated to leave the audience in a state of breathless wonder and admiration. The highlight of the evening for me was her singing of the Habanera aria from Carmen, a number peculiarly appropriate to her, and allowing her the pantomime in which she seems to delight.

Friday Chapels

A most enjoyable informal half hour was spent at the "Student Sing," Friday morning in the chapel.

Irene Fray played the piano and Prof. Hunt led the assembly in singing. The Students were allowed to choose the songs they cared to sing.

A "Student Sing" will be held every second Friday morning in the chapel, and everybody is invited to take part.

On Friday morning at 10.00 o'clock in the chapel, Professor Smith will deliver a talk on the present Presidential Campaign. Economic factors and problems of elections will be given special consideration. It is advisable for all students to turn out to hear Prof. Smith's talk as it is a very timely subject and one that should be of much interest at the present time.

Seminary News

The faculty of the Evangelical School of Theology, Reading, Pa., entertained its students at an informal social on Thursday afternoon, October 20, from 4:30 to 5:30 P. M. The reception was held in the social room of the Theological building. Both faculty and students enjoyed listening to the radio which was recently presented by the Divinity Society. Light refreshments were served.

Another of the Seminary professors is ill. Prof. R. W. Albright is detained from meeting his classes for two weeks. His heavy cold and sinus trouble is gradually leaving him. The men who are substituting for Prof. Albright are Rev. Smyth of the St. Luke's Episcopal Church in Reading. Also Prof. L. E. Smith and Dr. Morris Greth of the Albright College faculty.

Dr. A. J. Heck, who has been seriously ill for several weeks, has improved quite considerably. He is expected home from the Reading Hospital by the middle of this week.

Green Guild Club Name Committees

A regular meeting of the Green Guild Dramatic Club was held October 20, at 8:00 o'clock in the lower social room of Selwyn Hall. The meeting was called to order by President Garrison. Due to the absence of the secretary, Miss Betty Rosenthal was appointed as secretary. The President appointed two important committees: The social committee, which is to take care of the entertainment and social functions at each meeting, and the production committee, which is to look after a play for production by the club.

Discussions concerning the payment of dues and penalties for unexcused absences were then heard. Election of a stage manager was held over until the next meeting, November 3.

ALBRIGHT DEFEATS DAVIS-ELKINS

Franny Hatton, as usual, spent most of his time in the enemy's backfield and, with Suydam, made most of the tackles, although Albright's entire forward wall put up a concrete defense.

Radio DeFranco contributed some very slippery ball-toting his third period jaunt being the longest run of the game. Orr was also much in evidence with his skillful punting and smooth ball carrying. Tom Hepler, until removed due to an injury, gave a fine exhibition of blocking, tackling and plunging. Stan Hino's exceptional generalship, passing and speedy running again showed him to be the beau ideal as a quarterback.

When Albright's offensive bogged down with Stan Hino's 40-yard pass to Johnny Fromm, completed by a remarkable catch on the Southerners' 33-yard line, the Scarlet Wave launched an attack of their own which was stopped only by a stone-wall stand on the Lions' 1-yard line. After three line-plunges were stopped, Suydam leaped high into the air to knock down Capt. Corzine's pass into the end zone.

Early in the second quarter, a 90-yard Albright march was interrupted with the interception of a forward pass. Orr's 35-yard sprint through tackle started the parade, and subsequent line plays brought the pigskin to the Virginians 3-yard mark. But here Orr was hurled back for a 10-yard loss and Hino's pass was caught by Kapp, visiting center, on the 8-yard stripe.

It was late in this quarter that Albright secured their first touchdown. When Orr's long punt travelled to the D.E. 10-yard line, the Senators' were forced to kick after two short line plunges. Here Suydam broke through to deflect Pease's punt over the goal line, where Capt. Hatton recovered for the score. Hino's placement kick was low, so the count stood at 6 to 0.

Suydam again put the Southerners in hot water at the start of the third period, when he beat everybody to the ball after Hepler's punt travelled 70 yards to the Scarlet's 5-yard stripe. Although Albright returned Pease's punt to the 0-yard line, the Red and White attack was checked because of a 15-yard penalty for holding which was not quite made up by Hino's 25-yard pass to Bolton. Soon thereafter Radio DeFranco contributed a spectacular 38-yard gain on a pretty jaunt past right tackle. When Albright punted to Shelton almost on his goal line, the Davis-Elkins safety man was hit so hard by Suydam that he fumbled the ball, Bolton recovering for the Red and White on the enemy 11-yard mark. After a 3-yard loss on a line plunge, the Lions tallied when Hino cleared right end for a 14-yard dash over the goal. Bailey Gass made the extra point good with a placement kick, with Albright then leading to the tune of 13 to 0.

Davis-Elkins left no doubt as to their intentions in the final quarter, when they unleashed a determined onslaught which netted 43-yards on three line plays, but Suydam and Hatton smeared two plunges on the 31-yard line, and the Virginians punted after Bolton batted down the pass. The Scarlet made their only score of the day a few minutes afterward. After Co-Captain Corzine completed one first down on the Lions' 40-yard mark, Vest shot a 15-yard pass to Pease, who sprinted 25 yards more to scoring territory. Tinney's successful placement cut Albright's lead to 13-7.

But now the Red and White again launched their tricky offensive, and as their final gesture sped 75 yards on seven straight first downs, with the ball. Time came to Davis-Elkins' rescue, however, for the final whistle blew with the pigskin in the Lions' possession on fourth down and one-yard to go.

FROSH ELEVEN SCORES SECOND VICTORY; TRIP SHENANDOAH, 14-6

Coach Snyder's Boys Show Power in Triumph; Jefferson Stars; Fittipaldi, Ross and Moffett Also Outstanding.

The Frosh travelled to Shenandoah, Saturday afternoon and returned with another victory. Their victims were the fast Shenandoah High School Alumni who were set down 14-6.

Bob Jefferson, former Shenandoah star showed the hometown folks that he has lost none of his power on the gridiron. He was the main stay of the Red and White carrying the ball the majority of the time and being responsible for one of the touchdowns. Fittipaldi again proved his worth and crashed over the second marker. Fittipaldi handled the team very well and it looks as if he has the first call for signal calling.

The two former Camden High School stars, Ross and Moffett played a banged-up game on the line. These boys were in most of the plays and sure are showing that they are developing into first class line men under the able tutorage of Jimmy Snyder.

The Albright Yearlings have now two victories and one tie. They entertain the East Stroudsburg Frosh in the Stadium, on November 5.

The starting lineup for the Frosh was as follows: Plotts and Frey, ends; Riffe and Ross, tackles; Ries and Ebrard, guards; Moffatt, center; Fittipaldi, quarterback; Schwenk and Reigel, halfbacks; and Jefferson, fullback.

The lineup:

Albright Expects Little Opposition From Mt. St. Mary

Lions Have 4 Victories Against Visiting Team To Their Credit.

The Lions will face one of the weakest Mount Saint Mary elevens at the Stadium, Saturday afternoon, that they have ever played. The Maryland boys have won but one game this year from a weak St. Vincent eleven. They have been beaten by Lasalle, Georgetown, Western Maryland, and Gettysburg.

In losing to Gettysburg, Saturday, 6-0, does not mean that Mount Saint Mary has improved because the Bullets have a weak team this year. In both the Georgetown and Western Maryland games they were subdued by large scores.

There is no reason why Albright should not win by an impressive score unless Coach White gives his first string team a rest. It is probable that Hino, DeFranco, Karlovich, and Hepler will not see any action on Saturday unless Mount St. Mary should be able to stop Albright in the early part of the game. This game should be a breather for Albright in preparation for the Cornell game a week from Saturday.

Mount Saint Mary has only sent one team to the Stadium that has given the Lions any trouble. In 1930 the Red and White won by a score of 12-7 after Duke Weigle had fought sixty yards down the field in the last five minutes of the game. The Saints had one of their best teams that year and left a lasting impression upon the Albright fans.

The results of other years:

H. E. O. CLUB

Swimming Team Hold First Practice

The men to represent Albright in the tank for the coming year got off to a flying start at the Y. M. C. A., Monday afternoon. Under the tutelage of Coach Smith and "Smok" Morris, former R. P. L. aquatic luminary, the candidates were taught the fundamentals together with a few essential training rules.

The candidates are Clark, Bartholomew, Hafer, Doyle, Wrightmyer, Carpouzes, Fegley, Bush, Morris, James, King and Bagentose.

Coach Smith urges that more candidates be present at the next practice Friday afternoon at 4:00 P. M. An extensive schedule has been arranged, the major "swims" being against U. of Pennsylvania, Lehigh and F. & M.

Come on, you natators, let's put Albright on the swimming map!

Iowa State College has one of the first men's co-operative dormitories in any school in the United States. The sixty men who live in the dormitories are planning to do all their own house work except the cooking. We wonder if the "bachelor's hall" idea is so great after all.

for a WEEKLY THRILL

Remember...

HALF PAST EIGHT!

WHY not keep a regular telephone date with home? There's no greater thrill than a weekly chat for your Mother and Dad (and for you)!

All week they'll talk over your latest doings (and you'll be relishing the family news)! All week they'll look forward to the next "voice visit" (and so will you, as keenly as they)!

Tonight at half past eight, call and suggest the plan. After 8:30 P. M. the low Night Rates go into effect on Station to Station calls. By making a "date," your folks will be at home each week when you call. Thus you can always make a Station to Station call rather than a more expensive Person to Person call. Charges, of course, can be reversed.

Bible Class Meets Sunday Morning

Leroy Brininger led the opening song service and Otho Hoofnagle offered prayer. The Scripture reading from St. John's Gospel was read by Woodrow Barges. Irene Fray at the organ played the offertory.

Professor Speicher brought the message of the morning. He gave an interesting discussion of the "Problems in the Home." Three points which he spoke of were: home life in large cities, the problem of living together in the home, and child-training. His offered solution was that we should live constructive lives and thus uphold the principles on which the home stands. In this way the social institutions of the world, the home, church, and state, in dependence on each other will be built up.

The meeting closed with the singing of the hymn "Love in the Home."

SPEAKS ON "VIRGIN BIRTH"

Criticism of the Infancy Narratives has cast grave doubts upon their truthfulness and genuineness, and, (3) the doctrine does not seem to be of any value theologically.

"Well, the thing is either false or true. If false, as honest men we must repudiate it, and we may have to admit that Jesus was bastard born, and doubt is cast on the veracity of the Bible as a whole. For if the Bible is unreliable here it may be unreliable in a thousand other places. For these no more reason, textually, to suspect the Infancy Narratives than any other sections of Matthew and Luke."

Later in the address Dr. Ritzman said, "That in the man Jesus Christ the divine nature was incarnate is the essential and fundamental part of the Christian belief. And so our biggest problem is not the Virgin Birth, but the pre-existence and Incarnation is absolutely supernatural. And if anyone accepts the fact of the incarnation, with all its inevitable complications, I do not see how anyone can deny the Virgin Birth on the ground of it being a supernatural birth. Granting the fact of a real Incarnation, is not the Virgin Birth the most reverent and fitting way to bring it about?"

The entire address will be later published and will be circulated among the friends of the School.

ATTENDS RETREAT

that teams be organized to visit Franklin and Marshall, Ursinus, Lebanon Valley, Muhlenberg, Moravian, and State Teachers College at Millersville. These teams will present the missionary enterprise to the student bodies of these institutions and endeavor to arouse interest in Missionary work.

This deputation work will not be carried out in Colleges only but will be extended to churches as well. Plans are also under way for the production of a play, "Ba Thane", which was given at the Buffalo Convention last year. This play presents the need for mission work in a very interesting manner.

Professor Zener Speaks at the Sunday Vespers

The regular Vesper service was held at 5 o'clock Sunday evening in the College Chapel. The meeting was led by Asher Gottschalk and the speaker of the evening was Professor Vergil Zener.

The opening song service was conducted by Robert Boyer. The first selection was "Softly Now the Light of Day," after which the Scripture, Psalm 121 was read by Catherine Winter. Paul Gottschalk led in prayer. Mae Caramanna read a poem expressing laws one may live by. It was followed by special music, a saw solo, which was played by Edwin Minnich, accompanied at the piano by Irene Fray.

Professor Zener used the scripture verse "Wherefore think ye evil in your hearts?" His theme centered about the influence of evil or negative thinking. He emphasized seven points, his first being that negative thinking is a waste of time since it soon becomes habitual. His second conception was that it is unhealthy an dlowers resistance. Moreover, negative thoughts have a disintegrating influence on the mind, luring it from a dependable standard. Also the powers and penetration of the mind are weakened by negative thinking. Destroyed companionship was another result mentioned. One of the most important points was the fact that evil thoughts destroy communion with God. His last thought was that it hurts others. Professor Zener ended with the positive note that we should stimulate kindly and wholesome thoughts in our minds.

The service closed with the hymn "Holy Spirit, Faithful Guide."

Seed For Thought

We are all seeking opportunities to better our present conditions. Are we finding them when they present themselves to us? Whether we discover them or not depends upon our ability to look beyond the veil which makes them invisible to the casual observer. Opportunities do not come to us with their values stamped upon them. Every individual must be challenged. One day may dawn, quite like another day; in it a single hour may come, quite like another hour; but in that day and in that hour the chance of a lifetime faces us if we but take advantage of it.

There are many opportunities presenting themselves in our college career. Words cannot describe their value to us if we would but accept them. The opportunity of an education alone is enough to challenge us, but beyond that, we have countless others. They not only make our lives pleasanter and more worthwhile during these four years but prepare us to out into the world to take our place among those millions who have gone before. To face every opportunity of life thoughtfully and ask its meaning bravely and earnestly as it comes to us, is the only way to meet the supreme opportunities when they appear. We must remember, however, that they are not always open-faced, but are sometimes disguised, and, for that reason we need to be alive at all times lest an opportunity pass by.

Are we meeting every challenge? Are we utilizing every opportunity presented to us? If not, let us resolve to do so.
