6 Seniors Elected To May Day Court As 291 Cast Votes

Two hundred ninety-one students cast their votes this week to elect six senior women to the May Queen's Court of Honor.

Winners in the election were Annetta Deussen, Nancy Lou Hawman, Dolores High, Julia Leinbach, Marilyn Miller and Patricia Schearer.

The race was a closely contested one, with Miss Schearer polling the highest number of votes. The six women will attend Queen Elizabeth Martin, '53, when she is crowned on Saturday, May 9.

Patricia Miller, Maid of Honor, Patricia Kennedy, mistress of ceremonies, and Phoebe Hunter, Custodian of the Crown, will also take part in the coronation ceremonies.

Majority Proves To Be Local

Miss Deussen, a blonde, blue-eyed home economics major from Bloomsburg, Pa., is president of Women's Dormitory Council. She also serves as treasurer of the Pi Alpha Tau sorority and is a member of Women's Student Senate and HEO club.

A Readingite, Miss Hawman serves as vice president of the Pi Alpha Tau sorority and social editor of the Cue. A home economics major, she is also a member of HEO club.

Blonde-haired, green-eyed Miss High comes from Reading and acts as president of La Sociedad Cultural Espanol, Spanish club. This language major is also vice president of F.T.A. and a Cue staff member.

Miss Leinbach, vice president of the Women's Athletic Association, serves as co-captain of the basketball team and a member of the hockey and tennis teams. She is treasurer of the Phi Beta Mu sorority and is a social science major from Earville.

Another Readingite, Miss Miller, is corresponding secretary of the Pi Alpha Tau sorority and a member of HEO club. She is a home economics major.

Miss Schearer serves as Cue editor, president of Pi Delta Epsilon, honorary journalism fraternity, and president of F.T.A. She also acts as vice president of Delta Pi Alpha and the Spanish Club and is recording secretary of the Phi Beta Mu sorority. An Albrightian reporter, she is a language major and comes from Reading.

Stunt Night Date Changed

The date of Stunt Night has changed from Friday, March 6 to Saturday, March 14, announced Robert Bieler, chairman of the Student Council Social Committee. He explained that this date was changed due to the fact that the Glee Club tour is scheduled for the week-end of March 6 and therefore many who wanted to participate in Stunt Night wouldn't be able to attend. Another reason for the change was that a Saturday night is more convenient to outsiders who will want to see the show and also for parents, relatives and friends who will have to travel some distance to get here.

Stunt Night is an annual event given by fraternities, sororities and any other organizations who wish to put on an original skit purely for the entertainment of the audience. The skits can be either comic, musical or in a serious vein. The organizations compete for a first, second and third rating, which are decided upon by several outside professional judges.

Chapel To Hear Speaker On Samoa

Paul Dieffenderfer, manager of the Reading branch of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, will address Albrightians in Thursday's chapel, February 26. "Trip to Samoa" will be the theme of his discussion. In addition, special slides will be shown. This is a Student Council program.

On Tuesday, February 24, the Public Relations Department, under the direction of Dr. Samuel B. Shirk, will be responsible for the program. Doctor Shirk will explain the public relation policy of Albright. Job questionnaires will be distributed for the purpose of correlating school work with intended careers, academic standing and extra-curricular activities. Then preliminary summer school forms will be passed out by Anna R. Benninger, registrar, in order to formulate a temporary schedule. All students are urged to attend this chapel period, according to Doctor Shirk.

This week the programs were based on Christian vocation discussions. Dr. J. Allen Ranck, director of young people's work, was the principal speaker on Tuesday.

Lions Overcome Moravian Cagers, 93-56, For 7th Win

A point-conscious band of Albright Lions registered their second victory of the season in Middle Atlantic States Conference competition when they thoroughly trounced the Moravian Greyhounds, 93-56, last Wednesday night in the 13th and Bern gym. It was also the seventh victory of the campaign as a whole for Eddie Gulian's cagers.

The contest was tight for the entire first half, with the visitors showing a 12-10 margin after the first quarter. The count was tied at 8-8 before Dick Zahn and Pat Petruny connected for the Blue and Grey to open up a 12-8 margin. Mike DePaul's one-hander reduced this edge to 12-10 at the period.

In the second period, after Albright's George Conrad and Coravian's Ed Barreiro had traded fouls, DePaul, who was the evening's high point producer with 22, registered a lay-up to knot the count at 13-13. Kenny Nase followed with a one-hander for the Lions and Albright had a lead which was never relinquished.

This margin gradually was widened as Nase, DePaul, Conrad, Connie Dettling and Jim Cooke kept pecking away. Jim Smith, who had 17 points for the visitors, tried to keep the Greyhounds in the contest, but two consecutive buckets by Nase finally opened up a 29-20 bulge, which was shaved by one point at half-time, 35-28.

Lions Pull Away

In the third period the home club began hitting much more regularly and managed to roll up 33 markers to give them a commanding 68-40 advantage at the quarter. DePaul, scoring on sets and one-handers, racked up six field goals and a foul in this frame for 13 points. Conrad garnered seven of his evening's 12 points in the frame as he tallied two long one-handers from the left side, plus a lay-up and foul. Smith had six of Moravian's 12 points in the stanza.

The Red and White added another 25 points in the final period, although they weren't needed to decide the outcome. Both Gulian and Gil Gillespie of the invaders cleared their benches and the fracas wound up with the reserves of both teams opposing each other. Every Albrightian except Co-Capt. George Amole hit the scoring column.

February Degrees Awarded To Seven

Mid-year commencement of Albright College was held in Pres. Harry V. Master's office on Friday, February 6 at 10:00 a. m.

President Confers Degrees

The program began with remarks by President Masters at which time he gave the charge to the class in return for their pledge of loyalty. Dean George W. Walton presented the Candidates for degrees, and President Masters conferred the degrees. The ceremony was concluded with an Alumni induction by Fredrick A. Howard, '12, Alumni trustee.

The candidates for degrees were: Bachelor of Arts, Galen Norman Klingler, Jerry Martin Schwartz, and Edgar Elwood Wanner; Bachelor of Science, Jean Lois Shellabear; and Bachelor of Science in economics, Donald John Hallas, Luther Warren LeVan, Jr. and Earl LeRoy Snyder, Jr.

Just A Few Comments

It seems that it is time to make just a few comments about various happenings at Albright recently—this will include bright spots as well as the not-so-bright ones. Obviously, the brightest event of recent times was the brilliant win staged by our basketball team at the expense of Lebanon Valley College which WAS one of only six unbeaten teams in the entire country.

This was one of the best played and hardest fought games the editor has been privileged to witness. All members of the team looked anything but the 20-1 underdogs that Albright was rated.

The team played brilliantly, and the fans and students cheered likewise. We make this comment because we were beginning to believe that all the student body had contracted a case of chronic laryngitis. This, however, is apparently not the case and we hope that the students will take the cue from the obviously helpful effect that cheering had in the Lebanon Valley game when we should cheer in the future.

One other comment we feel we must make, however. This is in reference to the attitude and actions of the students in respect to the cultural programs. Granted, some of the students may not like them. But this does not excuse the obvious showing of this dislike to the cultural program guest or guests as the case may be. If for no other reason than out of respect for the rest of the students who are embarrassed by this juvenile display of a lack of culture and manners, please refrain from talking, loudly shuffling books and papers, and even groaning when the guest is introduced as has been done in many recent programs.

We Are Grateful Too

The following letter while being written primarily for the chess club is of enough interest to the general student body that we are going to print it in full.

February 12, 1953

Dear Chess Members,

I suppose you are surprised not to find me at our meeting today. Since our last one, many things have happened. The main reason why I won't be with you for some time to come is that I will be leaving for a Rehabilitation Center in order to improve my condition, so that I will be able to walk again. I am grateful that I am given this opportunity to go. Therefore, I must say good-bye.

At this time I want to thank all the members for cooperating with me and supporting me in establishing the first chess club of its kind in this institution. I am also grateful for Professor Haskell's advice and assistance, especially when our club was organized.

I feel confident that all our members will continue to support the "Albright College Chess Association" and keep it an active club on our campus. Until we see each other again, I wish to extend to you all the best of luck for the future.

Sincerely yours,

Adolph S. Butkys

We sincerely wish the best of luck to you as well, Adolph.

The staff speaking for all of us at Albright

100 Per Cent Or Bust

Yes, 100% or bust. Let's get behind the World Student Service Fund drive completely. Let's show that Albright can do other things as well as knocking off top notch basketball teams. Let's all give something, even if only a nickel, to tomorrow, for it is true that today's students are tomorrow's leaders.

Robert "Red" Waldner, president of the Kappa Upsilon Phi fraternity, might be better called "Mr. Moneybags." He is treasurer of Student Council, Inter-Fraternity Council and Future Teachers of America.

Originally from North Bergen, New Jersey, "Red," a mathematics major, is at present student teaching ninth grade algebra and general mathematics at Northeast Junior High School.

As a German minor, he presides over Der Deutsche Verein and Delta Phi Alpha, honorary German fraternity. While traveling through Germany and Switzerland in the summer of '51, Bob had the opportunity to use his German practically, but he confesses that sign language proved more effective.

In the realm of grease paint and footlights, "Red" serves as secretary of Domino Club and is a member of Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatics fraternity. Among his hidden talents is an ability to play the violin.

Home Economic Girls Take Note

One of the newest books (it's really one of the oldest) in the library is "Dr. Chase's Recipes or Information for Everybody." It was published in 1866 and is supposedly "indispensible to merchants, grocers, saloon keepers, physicians, druggists, tanners, shoemakers, harness makers, painters, jewelers, blacksmiths, tanners, gunsmiths, furriers, barbers, bakers, dyers, renovators, farmers and families generally." My, sounds impressive, doesn't it?

One glance at the book tells all, stamping the manuscript as a modern day storeroom of witch's remedies. Really, I could almost see a boiling cauldron and on old woman with a wart on her nose stirring a vile mixture. (Sadistic, am I not?) One of the brews which claims to be a "Salve for Fever, Sores, Abscesses, etc." goes as follows:

Thoroughly steep 1/2 oz. tobacco in some water 1 pint straining out from the tobacco and boiling down to 1 gill; then have melted lard, rosin and bees-wax, of each 1/2 oz. simmering to a thick salve, then stirring in 1 gill of old rum, and if necessary continuing the simmering a little longer. To be used as other salves.

Well I don't know. It may work, but it must be awful gooey. Home Ec. students should be delighted since there are many cooking recipes in the book. The Apple Meringue intrigued me particularly. (It made me so hungry that I had to run out to the dreggie for a Tasty-cake.) And of course, should any of the frats be planning a party, they will no doubt get some hints in the advice to saloon keepers. Oh well, enough of this nonsense.

Another oldy that the library just got is "Smith's Geography," published in 1841. At that time, the population of the U. S. had hit the astronomical heights of 13 million. The northern frontier was according to the book "still unexplored because of immense masses of ice which preclude all possibility of approach, either by land or sea." Then the Wright Brothers came along sixty years later, and they had to throw the book out because it was hopelessly behind the times.—G.Z.

Another One

C. M. T. O. A. C.—Part 489
 Krause Hall

Among the alarming edifices on the Albright campus is the wooden wonder known as Krause hall. (I have turned in my rebel flag and stopped burning crosses on hill-tops. The thing's gonna be Krause hall, come what may, and the Student Union Building, a name which represents the only indication that the administration ever conceded that there was a student body at Albright, is gone. Requiescat in pace, if my high school Latin supports me. Latin which I learned, incidentally, under the expert guidance of Dr. Edith Douds, a few years ago. See, kiddies, it pays to go to high school.) After that, I feel I need a few more )()('s. Anyway, Krause Hall is a large frame building, covered with shingles unconvincingly patterned to resemble brick. Like Caesar's Gaul, it is divided into three parts; the auditorium, the men's and women's locker rooms, and the bookstore. These I will attack one at a time.

I imagine that, if I said something nice about the auditorium, quite contrary to my usual practice of insulting the joint in a shameful (but accurate, no??) manner, the powers-that-be in the Albrightian office would like it a bit more, but in the ever-more-bitter battle between the typewriter and the blue pencil I am at a disadvantage, usually running out of words before the Feature Editor (Tinny fanfare at this point would be appropriate.) runs out of blue pencil. Thus I continue in my old, obnoxious way, and let the bricks fall where they may.

Seriously, the auditorium contains on the order of 450 hard, uncomfortable seats, designed to keep the occupants awake and alert during the chapel programs, a precaution quite unnecessary, since most students are suffering from insomnia anyway. The end opposite the main entrance is cluttered by a stage, a piano, an organ and various other instruments of destruction, to be trite. These are brought into play to amuse the students when the faculty despairs of ever drumming religion into their pointed little heads. There are offered also a number of cultural programs. I might make some nasty comment about these, but I am supposed to be on my good behavior. Besides, they were good. Surrounding the main floor (at least on three sides, if you can see three quarters surround some—

Coronation In Fashions

There's a sure sign that Spring is just around the corner. And what could be more exciting than a quick glimpse at the fashions that will be flying high during the coming season.

Spring's most enjoying newcomer is the slim suit with its slender skirt accented by a fly front or a kick pleat and topped with a hip length jacket. It resembles the middy but is boxier and shapelier.

Another newcomer is the suit look that encloses a slim, sleeveless dress. The straight jacket can be removed to expose a carved neckline or can be worn buttoned as a smart-looking suit. Whether of wool or linen, it's a most practical outfit—a dress when occasion calls for a dress, a suit when you need a suit.

Fashion's sharp turn to jersey can be noted in the worsted jersey fitted coat, which is tailored smoothly for the look of a dress. The new narrow look comes in jersey also, when an elegant version of the coolie coat covers a straight sheath dress.

England's coming coronation has a noticeable effect on America's fashion world. The glittering crest will set a sparkle on hats, suits and sweaters, as well as coats and dresses too.

A look at accessories shows that in shoes, it's the polished look, especially patent leather and polished calf. Hats are shaped to the head. Gloves are of kid, suede or string; and for added smartness, are the same color of your outfit, unlike the usual contrasting color. The long slim line in bags gives a sleek, tailored silhouette. To be in style, try either a rectangular or a cylindrical one.

The final word for spring is color. The final navy blue will probably rank first, followed closely by varying shades of the pinks and reds. The grain colors will also be high in popularity.—S.C.

Not Unusual

"Seven persons are in three Fremont County (Wyo) hospitals and scores of others were taken ill with what doctors said was a form of 'ptomaine poisoning' after a Republican rally yesterday. Some 2000 persons attended the rally and were addressed by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy . . ."—From the Washington Post.

Lion Basketeers Upset Flying Dutchmen, 82-74

by Pete La Rocco
Surprise!

On Valentine's Day the roaring Lions presented the Flying Dutchmen with a great big surprise valentine. The win streak of the Valley basketeers was brought to a screeching halt. Going into the game with the psychological advantage of the underdog, the Lions utilized a combination of accurate shooting, effective rebounding and a tight defense to tumble the Dutchmen from their lofty perch.

There was no joy in Lebanon on Saturday night. Lebanon Valley had sent a delegation of athletes, male and female, to our campus with the prime intent to humble Albright. Their thirst for victory remained unquenched, however, when they dropped four consecutive contests. Two to the Lionesses and two to the Lions. Your editor guesses that it was a sadder and wiser band of athletes that started on the long trek homeward.

The current scoring crown rests on the shoulders of Mike DePaul. Considering the fact that he was held scoreless in the game with top seeded La Salle, Mike's per game average of points for games seems impressive to this spectator. Add to that a quartet of ball hawks such as Jim Croke, George Conrad, Conrad Detling and Ken Nase and you will find an improved team taking the floor for the last stage of the current campaign.

Cheers and Jeers Department

Jeers to the overly enthusiastic "fan" who tried to vent his frustrations on the capable official who refereed Saturday night's tussle with the Dutchmen.

Cheers to Coach Eddie Gulian who risked another attack from the arm chair strategists who make a coaches life so difficult at times. Coach Gulian knew he was taking quite a chance by starting his second string. He also knew that, had the game turned out otherwise, the Kibitzers would have placed the direct blame on his shoulders. Nevertheless, he went ahead and executed his well-planned gamble that proved to be the deciding factor.

Sports Night

It's that time again! Yes, Sports Night is here. For three hours the Albright gymnasium will be emerged in total war. Five fraternities, two sororities and three independent organizations round out the list of contestants who will vie for the Sports Night trophies. High school abilities and talents are being dusted off and rusty techniques are being reoled.

Last year the freshmen team nosed out the A.P.O.'s in a play-off tie. May the best team win and remember, whether you win or lose holler at the referee anyway.

Special Message

Note to Mr. Eugene Shirk! The football letter men are patiently awaiting the arrival of their sweaters. Couldn't you take some action on the people responsible for the delay. The boys would like to wear their sweaters before they have to leave for the service.

Scranton Hands Gulianmen Second Circuit Loss, 59-54

Scranton University's Royals fought off three desperate last quarter rallies by the scrappy Albright College team to eke out a 59-54 decision Monday night.

Coach Eddie Gulian started his second stringers, but quickly yanked them out as the Royals piled up a 13-1 lead. The regulars whittled away at this lead, and the first quarter ended with Mike DePaul hitting from the side to make it 17-9.

Midway in the second frame, the bulge was cut to 6 points, but the Royals broke loose to make it 26-14. Bob Bessior, Royal center, matches Jim Croke and Connie Detling for the rest of the quarter and the half ended with the score 32-19.

The third quarter saw the Lions outscore Scranton, 18-12, but the Royals maintained their lead and entered the fourth quarter boasting a 44-37 advantage.

The finale opened with a bang as Ken Nase and Detling narrowed the gap to three points. Jerry Hugler and Bossier hit with one marker before Detling, Nase and Croke again slashed the lead to three tallies.

With the count at 48-45, DePaul and Ryan matched deuces, and then the hosts scored five on fouls by Ryan and Bossier and a bucket by the latter, to seal the verdict.

Detling narrowed the Scranton bulge to 55-52 with a minute to go, but two quick buckets put the Lions out of contention. DePaul sank Albright's final field goal.

The defeat was the tenth in 16 outings for the Lions while the Royal's record stands at sixteen wins, 12 losses.

The Zetas clinched first place in the "A" loop on Monday when they downed the Frosh by an overwhelming 56-17 score, sparked by the sharp shooting of Robert Krize and John Peiffer with 18 and 12 points respectively. It was their sixth win of the season with only the Kappas standing in the way of an undefeated season. The intermural basketball season will close its schedule this coming Monday with a full slate of eight games.

In the games on February 9th the Zetas captured their fifth win with a 35-25 decision over the APO's. The Pi Taus acquired one of last two wins over KTX, 45-41 and then advanced into a tie for second place with a 55-51 win over the Aces on Feb. 16. James Sherman and Louis Hallock were the high scorers with 21 and 16 digits respectively. On February 9th the Kappas defeated the Rebels 36-35 and the Aces took home the bacon for the first time by upsetting the Frosh, 39-33.

In the rest of the games last Monday in the "A" loop the APO's held second place by squeaking past the Kappas 30-29 on 10 points by Raymond Stoneback while the Rebels were holding on to a three-way tie with the Kappas and Frosh for third place with a 40-21 win over KTX.

Action in the "B" circuit was somewhat in the upset nature, and when the two weeks of playing was completed there was a four way tie for first place, each team having five wins and a single tie feat. This tie was accomplished by

DePaul Scores 23 Points Reserves Shine at Outset

Coach Gulian's Strategy Proves To Be Deciding Factor As Cats Saddle Valleyites with First Loss

Playing inspired ball, the Albright College basketeers upset a highly-favored Lebanon Valley College five, 82-74, last Saturday in Albright's gymnasium to avenge a previous 74-49 defeat. The Flying Dutchmen had had a 13 game victory streak and were one of the six undefeated college teams in the nation prior to the Lion encounter.

Cagers Face F&M Tomorrow; Two Games Next Week

The Lions go on the road for this week's games. On Saturday night they face Woody Spangole's Diplomats with Gus Lonett as the main scoring threat. The Lions have already been conquered by the hosts to the tune of 99-80. This was the eighth defeat of the season for the G-men.

The 99 points were only two short of the gym record of 101 set by La Salle. Albright outscored the visitors in the second half, but the deficit of 51-29 in the first half was too much to overcome. The home floor advantage presents an added obstacle for the upset-minded Lions.

Albright boards the bus again for the first of two meetings with the Moravian Greyhounds. Last year Gulian's squad journeyed to Bethlehem where they met the Greyhounds in a M.A.S.C. contest. They scored a 78-63 victory over the hosts in a last quarter spurge. With the lead narrowed to 63-51 at 69 all with 3:14 to go. Miller then put the Dutchmen in the race again with two more charity tosses. Nase was then ejected from the game via the personal route and was replaced by co-captain, George Amole.

Spaide Adds Foul
Freshman Bill Spaide then chipped in with a foul and with 2:42 to go DePaul gave Albright a lead that they were never to lose as he added two charity tosses.

L.V. Girls Lose Twice To Lionesses, 54-33, 26-17

The Lionesses will attempt their second victory of the newly started basketball season tomorrow when they will travel to Kutztown for a playday.

Last Saturday, Coach Mosser's teams helped to make the day a complete loss for Lebanon Valley by winning both the varsity and j.v. games. The varsity forwards were leading throughout the entire game. Patricia Upczak led the lassies with 24 points, while Judy Leinbach and Patricia Miller put

As The Dutchmen Were Grounded

Coach Eddie Gulian, seated on the left of Bobby Hicks, J.V. coach, appears elated as his Albright basketball charges go about the business of snapping a 13-game winning streak for Lebanon Valley last Saturday night at the gym, 82-74. Two of the reasons for his high spirits are shown on each side, as Ken Nase (11) and Mike DePaul (14) drive in for lay-up shots. Richie Furda (40) is the L. V. guard in each case.—(Albrightian Staff Photo.)

Three thousand cheering fans witnessed Mike DePaul lead the Lions to victory with 23 points.

Trailing at halftime, 39-33, the Red and White quickly knotted the count at 39 on field goals by Ken Nase, Connie Detling and DePaul. Bill Vought put L.V. ahead with two foul conversions, but with 5:50 to go DePaul again tied it up with a one hand jump shot from the key.

Howie Landa, who led the visitors with 19 points, dropped in a foul, but Nase quickly retaliated with a one hand stab from the side. Landa again evened it up at 43 all with another foul, but with 4:30 to go, Jim Croke hit with one hander from behind the foul line to give the Lions the lead, for the first time since Bernie Krick opened the scoring with a two pointer.

Nase, DePaul and George Conrad built the score up to read 56-49 at the end of the third quarter.

With four minutes to go in the final frame, and the score reading 69-63, Albright's Leon Miller dunked a jump shot which was followed by a lay up by Herb Finkelstein to make it 69-67. Finkelstein was then awarded two free throws when Nase fouled him. He made both of them good to tie the score at 69 all with 3:14 to go. Miller then put the Dutchmen in the race again with two more charity tosses. Nase was then ejected from the game via the personal route and was replaced by co-captain, George Amole.

Spaide Adds Foul
Freshman Bill Spaide then chipped in with a foul and with 2:42 to go DePaul gave Albright a lead that they were never to lose as he added two charity tosses.

Spaide, DePaul, Croke and Conrad all combined to build up an 81-71 lead before Richie Furda dropped a foul shot. L.V. vainly tried to press the Lions, but it was all over except for the cheering.

When the gun sounded the victorious Lions were mobbed by the fans, especially Jim Croke, who, though he hit for only four field goals, controlled the boards for most of the evening. You will remember that it was Croke who gave the Red and White a 77-75 overtime victory over L.V. last year at Northwest.

The game was marked with an unusual occurrence, Coach Eddie Gulian started his second five and kept them in the whole first quarter. When the regulars took over, the score was 14-19 in favor of the Dutchmen. L.V. hit on a great percentage of their shots in the second quarter, but could only manage a six point lead at the half.

This contest ended a victory famine for Albright and brought their present record to six and nine. The victory also takes the Lions out of the cellar of the Middle Atlantic States Conference race and puts them in second place, behind L.V.

virtue of a pair of wins by the former second-place Kappas and Zetas and a win and a loss by the Keglers and F.B.I. After completion of the season there must be a two way tie left, since the Kappas will be facing the Zetas, and the F.B.I. are pitted against the Keglers on Monday.

The FBI was first of the co-holders of first place to taste defeat. The Kappa "B" squad drubbed them by a 35-19 margin. However, they were not to be denied, since they rebounded this week and reversed the Hot Shots 36-26 with John Jones scoring 15 markers. The Keglers gathered in their fifth win one week ago by a close 32-28 score over the Rockets, but their record suffered its first loss this week a very close game to the Zetas "B" entry by a 27-25 margin. Despite John Mishko's 15 markers the Zetas won mainly through the combined shooting of Norm Ruppert and Robert Reller who totaled 17 points.

The Zetas collected their fourth win by subduing the APO's "B" team 34-27, and with their win over the Keglers they advanced into first place. The Kappas win over the FBI and their 47-25 rout of the APO's "B" squad also earned them a tie for first place. Nicholas tallied 14 points in their win over APO.

The Hot Shots and Rockets collected their first wins of the season by giving the Pi Tau B entry two reverses. The Hot Shots racked up a 67-24 score and the Rockets hit the baskets for 77 points and a 77-73 victory. It left the Pi Taus cemented in the cellar, the Hot Shots and Rockets tied for third place with a 1-5 record, and the APO's in second place with a 2-4 record.

G. Kuecklich Attends University

Gertrude Kuecklich graduated from Albright this past year as a student on the exchange program under the auspices of the E.U.B. Church. Gertrude, who originally was to spend only one year at Albright, liked the college so well that she stayed for three years and a summer to complete her course.

Now back in Germany, she finds her life busy indeed. In addition to doing advanced work at a university, she helps out her father who is president of the Evangelical Seminary in Reutlingen. Added to that, Gertrude is sewing her about-to-be-married sister's dowry of linens and silk.

The Kuecklich family of Reutlingen, Germany recently sent Albright some original drawings of the German town in which they live.

Traveling to Scranton on Monday night, the Lion Cubs were handed their third defeat of the season by Scranton University's Baby Royals, 95-76. The sharp shooting of David Townley and Seaman, who scored 20 and 12 points respectively, was not enough to keep pace with Scranton's Donald Curtis, Jack Gallagher and Lester Gillard.

Just Another One!

thing) is a balcony, holding more chairs and last year's subscription to Esquire.

The locker rooms contain lockers. Little of note transpires there. (Two sentences to be proud of.)

The bookstore sells books. Little (with notable exceptions) transpires there also. One exception is the mad, gay rush to buy books following the first several classes of the semester. The bookstore staff prepares for this by hiding all the books so that a maximum amount of time is consumed in serving the customer, and by setting up a first aid station in a vacant corner.

The bookstore also provides a service of immeasurable and inestimable value. It serves meals, of a sort, to feed the stomach while the books feed the mind. It is legion, however, that most students look undernourished in both departments. Several requirements must be met, however, before the student may eat there. He must have a stainless steel stomach and an asbestos esophagus, the former to resist the corrosive effects of a balanced meal, (that is, containing balanced amounts of acid and alkali) and the latter to enable him to gulp down scalding coffee at 8:09 a. m.

The coffee served at the bookstore deserves a few lines in itself. It is what is known in coarser circles as stadium coffee, meaning, of course, that it can be heated up and watered down a whole season and still will taste like coffee and still will scorch a blistering course down one's plumbing on cold days. As this is the main purpose of campus-bookstore-early-in-the-morning coffee, it serves quite well. We are told that most really successful businessmen have college educations. We know that many also have ulcers. And we know that few college students can resist that cup of joe in the morning before the first class. Some conclusion may perhaps be drawn. Medical science forens ahead.

Another classic at the bookstore is the sub sandwich. This, for the uninitiated, is the same thing, with slight variations, as the well-known Italian sandwich of the Outside World. At any rate, and by any name, it is a sandwich. There is no intentional resemblance to any other sandwich, and certainly no accidental one either. A long, narrow roll houses the working parts of this devilish concoction, and I use the word "working parts" for a definite reason. While most sandwiches are content to lie in the stomach and be digested, a sub puts up a valiant battle to digest the consumer. That the wind doesn't blow through most people who consume these things is a tribute to the durability of the human animal.

The other foods served are quite palatable and digestible, and no comment seems necessary. Due to excellent organization the three or four people behind the counter do the work in about half the time it would take any one of them elsewhere. This brings us to another interesting facet of the problem of containing food.

This is, of course, the terrific crowd which storms into the place at lunchtime. Imagine, if you can, about thirty hungry people sparing for positions at a counter about a dozen feet long. Each is armed with a book, a hatpin or a slide rule, by which he attempts to fight his way to the counter. Imagine, also, fighting that solid wall of humanity to leave the counter and find a seat, especially when encumbered with all sorts of food-stuffs, each on its separate, flexible paper plate. It would be an interesting experiment in statistics to determine what percentage of the food which leaves the counter really finds its way into someone's stomach, and what percentage is lost in the shuffle and comes to rest in pockets and on the floor. To make the whole situation much worse, occasionally someone comes in and loads up with food for all his buddies in the Daymen's room. This is frowned upon, and it is quite cricket to relieve him, stealthily, of course, of whatever one can grab as he struggles past. Par for the course is four.

Well, I hope you have been enlightened by my little treatise. Perhaps it will bring about a greater understanding of this rather complex building, and perhaps, of its inhabitants. And now, if you will excuse me, I must get me some lunch. Fix bayonets! CHARGE.
