CONCERT BY VARSITY QUARTET BIG SUCCESS

Only Beginning Of Busy Season Planned For Speculum Hirlings

Before a throng of over three hundred in the high school auditorium, the "Albright Quartet" made their initial appearance on Tuesday night in behalf of the 1926 SPECULUM which sponsored the venture, and which was very successful, from every indication. The quality of music rendered by the quartet was superb, both vocal and instrumental, thanks to the native ability of the accomplished pianist, Charles Lehman, who in addition to his skillful accompaniment gave a very beautiful exhibition of piano solo skill. The other members of the group were just as successful in their efforts. They need no introduction. At the mere mention of Garrett, Morris, McGuigan and Wilkes, nothing but a first class performance could be expected. They even outdid themselves last night.

The program was divided into three parts. The first was devoted entirely to classical numbers, for which the boys were arrayed in dark suits. Following this they recited off a semi-original comedy skit of college life replete with wit and humor. The last part of the program was devoted to the rendering of popular songs and ballads, which was easily in keeping with the high quality of the former numbers.

This appearance is only the beginning of a busy season mapped out for them by Warren Wadsworth, Speculum manager of the warblers. A number of other engagements have

Group Tries To Forget Disaster Of Afternoon By Making Merry At Hotel Berkshire

Following the football game with Schuylkill College last Saturday the members of Kappa Upsilon Phi enjoyed a banquet at the Berkshire Hotel, Reading. The banquet was held in one of the private dining rooms of the hotel and was served promptly at seven o'clock. Twelve couples were in attendance to enjoy the dinner, and make the affair a success.

All the guests of the fraternity attended the game in the afternoon and afterwards proceeded to the hotel where the banquet was served. The menu consisted of oyster cocktail, cream of tomato soup, roast duckling, French salad, peas, filling,

WHITE STUDIO PROOFS HAVE STUDENTS AGOG

Fair Representative Sells Six Hundred Dollars Worth of Photographs

True to form, but a week later than expected, the proofs of the photographs which the White Studio took about a month ago came last week. To take good care of the precious envelopes, and to sell as many photographs as possible, came the fair saleslady, as Mr. Weillert, the photographer, had promised.

Arriving here Thursday morning, the representative, Miss Maude Mills, who claims sunny South Carolina as her home, had a temporary office established in the phone room, and soon had the proofs ready for distribution which took place with a grand rush immediately. Naturally there was a big commotion and excitement as almost all of the hundred plus students crowded in the room to get the long hoped for proof papers,—and then—a close survey shows that although a few proofs were not so good, the great majority represented expert workmanship and were very satisfactory—far better than the average. This can be readily shown by the fact that in less than two days, Thursday afternoon until Saturday

MUSICAL RECITAL HOLDS RAPT DELIGHT OF THROG

Large Audience Attends First Event Of Year—Great Promise Displayed, Portraying Well Of Future

The first of the Students Recitals for this season, was held in the College Chapel on Tuesday evening, November 2nd. The varied program, consisted of numbers by both the pupils of the voice and piano departments.

The program was interesting and very capably rendered, for which praise is due to the heads of the music departments whose efforts were plainly visible in the performance last Tuesday.

The program was as follows:

False Rumors And Criticisms Hurting Reputation of Albright In Denomination

Undivided Support And Cooperation Of Students And Alumni To Expose These Unjust And Bitter Critics Needed. Many Are Our Own Denomination. Bulletin Challenges Verification Of Any Disparaging Statement

During the summer months, there appeared an article in "The Evangelical" written by some one (not in connection with that paper) who called himself a true Evangelical. The article was a severe criticism against the manner in which athletics are stressed in the colleges supported by this denomination. Anyone who knows anything about college athletics will laugh. This is the first real college team Albright has had for several years. We are on the map this year, and we shall soon see results. Athletics do not make the college, but they are the most effective means of advertising it.

But the matter that concerns us is the fact that reports are continually being spread which tend to cast a shadow over Albright. Not that the shoe fits. We are merely protesting against false rumors. When one once enters Albright, he has forever

EXCELSIORS OBSERVE 71ST ANNIVERSARY IN TYPICAL STYLE

Enjoy Lighthouse Exhibition of Society's Ability Is Displayed Before Appreciative Audience

PRETTY DECORATIONS AND UNIQUE PROGRAM FEATURE

Friday, November 5th marked the Seventy-first Anniversary of the Excelsior Literary Society. In order to celebrate this additional year to the history of this society, the Excelsiors prepared a special program to be rendered in the College Chapel at 8 P. M. and invited the other two societies, faculty and friends to attend. The result was that at the specified time a large audience had assembled for the celebration of this, the completion of another year of service in literary training.

A very appealing effect to the interest of the occasion was the manner in which the chapel was decorated. The decorations were very well selected for an occasion such as this, and the appearance was quite elaborate.

The Excelsiors rendered a simple, but very attractive program. The march by the participants of the program to the rostrum was very impressive.

Because of the illness in his immediate family, Dr. Fluck could not be present to offer invocation. Dr. Goble very generously and ably offered the invocation in his stead.

The anniversary was duly celebrated by an interesting program given by the Excelsiors to the students and friends of the college, which consisted of the following numbers:

March
Invocation _____ Dr. Goble,
Address of Welcome _____ W. K. Hosterman.

"Old Glory" Again Floats Proudly On Campus Breeze

Monday, Nov. 7th the flag was raised for the first time in little over a month. The pole has been freshly painted by the same men who trimmed the trees. A new rope has also been secured. We are now sure of having Old Glory floating proudly on campus breeze every day.

a feeling of sincere love and loyalty toward his Alma Mater, and it hurts him to hear his college unjustly criticised.

The surprising fact is that the most biting and harmful criticism comes from men of our own denomination—men who should feel it their Christian duty to help rather than deteriorate. They call themselves true Christians, true Evangelicals! Some have children who came to Albright, who didn't make good on account of their own attitudes toward the school and who returned home, and placed the blame on some fictitious delinquency of the school. This casts suspicion from themselves onto the reputation of the school.

We can cite one instance where an Evangelical minister refused to send his son to Albright because every-one learned to dance there! Really.

Indifference And Over-Confidence Allows Schuylkill Parsons To Overturn Dope In Biggest Small College Upset of Season

1st Heat of Checker-Chess Tournament Completed-- Second Well Under Way

The checker and chess tournament is under way, with the first lap completed and the second round nearly to the finish.

The winners of the first series in the chess contest to date are: Malone, Glosser, Martin, Kneller, Gibbins, who defeated White, Heckert, Hood, McCracken and Moyer respectively.

At this writing the winners in the checker fray show Hoffman, Koller, Hood, Olwine, Lundy, Able and Harris at the top. Koller made the best showing, beating his opponent, Sheldon 3 to 0. Hoffman, Harris and Lundy all had close contests.

Extempo Debate Features C. E. Program At Men's Meeting

The Albright Christian Endeavor Society met in the College Chapel, on Sunday evening, November 7th. The meeting opened with several songs, Scripture reading taken from I John 1:1-7, and Ephesians 4:1-6. Prayers were offered by several members of the society. The leader, Mr. Hood,

VARSITY DEBATING TEAM IS SELECTED

Ten Men To Represent Albright's Hope On Rostrum—Intensive Work To Begin Soon

The Varsity Debating team consists of Hartman, Fassnacht, Carl Gunther, Norman Hoffman, Ernest Heckert, Fred Hood, Harry Klingeman, Russell Loucks, Elwood McGuigan, Garrison Wilkes, and Albert White. The squad was selected last week after a series of three try-outs, in which about fifteen men participated, showing an unusual amount of interest. The committee of judges which selected the successful contestants was composed of Prof. Keen, Coach of Debate, Prof. Hamilton, head of the History department, and Doctor Chislett, professor of English.

On Wednesday at noon, Prof. Keen called the group together to arrange a definite time for a meeting every week. A number of other things were slated for discussion by the debaters, among which was definite action in regard to the Freshman team which will probably be established at Albright this year, the securing of material, and other things incident to the beginning of the year in intercollegiate debating. The Freshman team seems to be a reality. Already there are six men available for such a team, counting Gunther and White who will be available for both if necessary. If such a venture is deemed feasible at the meeting, a call will be issued for candidates for the several positions open on it.

Although there are only eight men on the regular varsity, Coach Keen thought it advisable to have several extra men on the squad, as in athletics, which will allow him more leeway in shifting the team when necessary. It will also give the chance to debate to more men.

WELLERMEN SHOW COMPLETE REVERSAL OF FORM IN DISASTER

Tendency To Fumble With Parsons Alerts Hurts—Boyle's Field Goal Turns Tide—Aerial Attack Not So Effective.

Schuylkill upset the dope among the smaller colleges when they handed the Albright crew a nine seven set back. Schuylkill had prophesied victory all week, but no one gave them a mathematical chance against Jackie Weller's boys, for Albright had only lost one game and that to Lafayette the probable Eastern Inter-collegiate champions, and Albright was being groomed for the championship of class B colleges, because of their six victories, but the best of plans will go wrong. The Schuylkill team was better than Albright Saturday, they are not better than Albright when she plays the type of ball that she displayed against Temple. In fact Albright is thirty points better than Julian's team. This article is not an alibi for defeat, for we admit that they had the better team Saturday, but we still contend they do not have the better team. Just glance over the comparative scores of the two schools and draw your own conclusions. The brand of football Albright displayed Saturday was way below the type of game they can play. If Saturday's game was a sample of the game they play Temple would have swamped them, P. M. C. would have smothered them under an avalanche of touchdowns, in fact they would not have won a game. What makes the defeat more humiliating is the fact that Schuylkill had the easiest team that we have battled with, their offense was terrible, and their line looked like a sieve, but

DEATH OF MOTHER- IN-LAW COMPELS DR. FLUCK TO MISS CLASSES

Dr. Fluck was forced to be absent from several of his classes this week due to the death of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Lucinda Ehl who for a number of years has been a resident at the Fluck home.

The funeral for Mrs. Ehl, who died last Saturday, was held at the home of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Fluck on Tues. evening, and on Wed. morning the remains were taken to Trumbauersville, where services were held in the Christ Reformed Church.

The Bulletin wishes to express its united and sincere condolences and sympathy to Dr. and Mrs. Fluck for their loss.

THE FIGHTING MARINES are about. When will the government station them on college campus? That is the question.

HARRISBURG REPORTS five men accidentally killed in Pennsylvania the first day of the hunting season. A killing instrument should be used with extreme care. All the 'bunny' suppers do not offset these five deaths.

THE NEW STUDENT has a front page headline entitled, "The Ph. D. Disease." Well we wonder now—get the doctors on the case.

THREE NUTS TO CRACK—Psychology, Sociology and Schuykillology.

WHY NOT TRY a new march to accompany the students out of chapel? "Onward Christian Soldiers" seems to be overworked, and is getting a little threadbare.

A PLEASANT HOUR awaits you at Christian Endeavor every Sunday night. Come out and see for yourself. This applies to the girls more than the fellows, although it is mutual.

HOW ABOUT BETTER ATTENDANCE when it comes to Literary Societies? Other school functions such as Halloween parties, etc., always seem to get full attendance. Things such as Literary Societies, which should really be of more value in our eyes, get smaller crowds and poorer attention. What is the remedy for it all? Do our programs lack pep and originality? Is it the fault of the presidents and secretaries? Do they forget to spend more than two or three minutes on programs, and ways and means to interest? Is it a habit of letting things slide until the last minute? Whatever the cause, I think it is time that something should be done. Let us work for better attendance and more enthusiasm. If we win that much, the attendance will increase.

OUR CRITICS IN ETHICS ANSWERED

We are frequently confronted by people who are very prone to brand the modern American College Student as immoral as well as intemperate. We believe that those people are for the most part uninformed and should be really taught or "set aright" on this subject. We believe that many persons are confusing what has been termed this "New Freedom" with "immorality."

A recent survey of several schools made by persons to whom everything was open and all facts obtainable failed to reveal most of the immorality claimed by some who judged by outward appearances. It was admitted that there were isolated cases in different groups but that these were only a very small percentage of each enrollment.

At Albright we believe that conditions along this line are even better than at many of the schools considered and persons with a wrong code of ethics will not remain long from the fact that they will be out of harmony with the general atmosphere. We dare not brand the school and its graduates by the character of those who have at some time or other attended the school, but must consider the persons who are sticking to the daily grind and finally graduating and making a success of life. We are certain that vice of all forms is less rampant than some would have us suppose it to be, and frequently those who accuse are in the same rut as the accused.

To those who persist in calling our students immoral we issue a challenge for facts and figures as proof and evidence of their case.

MODERNISM

Of late there seems to have been a great deal of discussion about the campus, with reference to the Modernistic question. Many sessions have been held in various rooms. Arguments have flowed too and fro, some rather foolish, others of a better nature. Some who never open their mouths in a class can surely throw a line in a bull session. Well, that's what a bull session is for, anyway.

Who is right? Who is wrong? Far be it from this writer to say. There are however a few observations which might be made concerning the struggle between the two groups.

In the first place there appears to be too much 'mud slinging' on either side. Railing and calling one another names. Boisterousness and vain boasting never denotes good manners. It is this type of speaker who may cause more misunderstanding than understanding. It is the method of petty politics and might well be kept out of religious and scientific circles.

Then again we might all do well to keep a reasonable open mind on both sides of the house. Some who are very open on one side of the house close up on the other. An understanding cannot be reached in this manner. Keep an open mind and yet is there not the possibility of having a mind too much open? Shall we take all the rubbish and filth of the world in. It is a well known fact that if you handle a dirty black kettle you will yourself get black. It does seem that some things might well be rejected without much consideration.

Well, where will it all end? This is not a prophetic message but of this we are certain. 1. That the Bible is true. 2. That science searches for truth in a truthful field. 3. All truth is one. 4. Hence there must be a meeting place some where.

: Campus Chatter :

By The Parrot

Parrot seems to find mid-semester quizzes coming back into vogue during the past few weeks, and poor Parrot got a very severe case of examinitis. This is the way Parrot's head felt after the trying ordeal:

Imagine one's brain likened unto a mass of pure mercury placed in a large white crucible. Now take up a large iron mallet in the form of mid-semester quizzes and strike the mercury a terrible blow. Immediately a thousand fragments will be scattered to all parts of the container, and small bits may even splash out if one is careless. Now view this picture of devastation, and compare it with the condition of your mind at the critical aftermath of a quiz. Parrot thinks there is a striking similarity; but do not think your brain, or Parrot's, was permanently dismembered as a result of the vicious blow, for such is not the case.

Toss aside the hammer, and, with your right forefinger, coax the tiny bits of mercury together. One by one the pieces will unite to form the same original mass of grey matter, and save for the unfortunate particles which chased each other into infinity, your brain, and Parrot's, will once again be the "perfect whole."

An' so Parrot says: "Ain't it awful?"

Yes, and "ain't it awful" that we dared to let Schuykill College beat us last Saturday! Parrot can't understand it yet, so he'll keep his head under his wing for awhile. Anyway, the least said the better, but does that mean that Parrot must see Albright College licked on Thanksgiving Day? That would be the cruelest blow of all—

Parrot sure had a great time the other day strutting around in the leaves. They came falling down like great big drops of rain. The little kiddies had lots of fun playing on the campus, and even Parrot felt so good kicking thru the leaves. Just like the days when Parrot was young, long, long ago!

All red and brown
With a bit of green,
The leaves, half gone,
Have been splashed with gold—
A wonder land,
Is this world so cold,
To greet with cheer,
Fairest Autumn's queen.

Well, well, well—things is movin' so fast on the campus that Parrot will have to flutter around with a notebook and pencil in order to not miss anything. Guess Parrot'll have to go now—see you next week—

ABBREVIATED MEETING OF THEMISIANS PROVES VERY ENJOYABLE

The meeting of the Themisian Literary Society on Friday evening, Nov. 5th, was considerably shortened, due to the many delinquencies. However, the numbers given were very much enjoyed. They were a vocal solo by Miss Kathryn Kulp and a piano solo by Miss Thelma Kreiser. Following the critic's report, by Miss Blanche McCauley, the meeting adjourned.

morning, six hundred dollars worth of individual photos were sold. Of course this includes no organization pictures which will be sold later by the Speculum staff.

Miss Mills told the Speculum chiefs that the proofs were as good as any that she had ever seen done by White, which is saying something, as the White Studio is easily one of the foremost photographic concerns in the country. Miss Mills, although editing her Coker College year book in South Carolina last year, has had considerable experience in this line of work. After having been associated with the photographic end of the Coker annuals for three years, including her last when her book was given special note by the Artcraft Guild, in judging Women's College annuals, White having made the photographs the whole period, she spent last summer in the Studio learning the work, and since has been engaged in her present occupation.

With the assistance of Miss Mills, the Speculum bosses worked out a plan which will insure complete uniformity and similarity in all the photographic sections of the book, besides agreeing on some other features which will add to the appearance of the book. Before leaving for Virginia Poly, Blacksburg, Va. Miss Mills expressed her appreciation for the hospitality shown her by the students and the way which the students patronized her employers, which was about average or a little better.

Now that the proofs have arrived, and only one individual scheduled for a resitting, which is really remarkable, and the organization photographs promised in a few days, if not here already, and which can be expected to be equal to the high grade work already done, it can be said that White studio treated the Speculum boys, and the college in general "white."

mashed potatoes, applesauce, ice cream, cake and coffee. Everyone enjoyed the dinner, which was served in an elaborate manner.

Following the banquet, the party proceeded to the Rajah theatre where the entire group enjoyed the Saturday evening performance. The group was entertained until eleven-thirty when they left for Myerstown, tired by the numerous events of the day.

Those in attendance were, Fratres Coach H. D. Weller, Jason S. Snyder, Stein S. Griggs, Cyrus E. Beckey, Harold Frock, Glenn Garrett, George Bowman, Franklin Hartzell, Ruel Dubs, Elwood McGuigan, and Messer, Harold Miles, also Mrs. Weller, Miss May Cooper, Miss Mary Welker, Miss Mabel Ketchner, Miss Catherine Yeager, Miss Margaret Flexer, Miss Caroline Mowry, Miss Rachael Painter, Miss Margaret Thompson, Miss Mary Mohn, and Miss Margaret Neast.

Coach Weller and his wife proved adept chaperones and all thoroughly enjoyed the afternoon and evening. The party was conveyed in the machines of Coach Weller, Franklin Hartzell, Jason Snyder and Cyrus Beckey.

Some pre-season practice tilts are under consideration at the present time, although the details of which are unavailable for publication at the present. However Coach Keen is planning a successful season coupled with the heavy schedule which now seems a probability, and the boys are on edge waiting to get a start and make history on the forum for Albright.

No matter how cheap political talk may be, the candidate who says the wrong word at the wrong time usually finds it pretty costly.

POETS' CORNER

INDIAN SUMMER

Summer ran away,
So tired of languid hours
And party frocks, and teas and things
And huge bouquets of flowers,
She knew not what to do,
So when she found herself
Alone and free, she loosed her hair,
And danced like some small elf,
Then not content with that
She made two braids to hang
Across her shoulders, Indian style,
And laughed aloud, and sang
As happy as some bird
That never knew it's name;
Then fitted by, and hurried back—
Thus Indian Summer came.
—Blanche McCauley.

WOMEN

It's dreadful to be caught
In the tangled web or net
Of the creatures who are caught
But cruel vampires, don't forget.

They may be large or small,
But they're all the very same;
If you answer to their call
You will surely come back lame.

Some are blonde and some brunette
But they are all alike;
For they'll catch you in the net,
Or they'll hit you with a spike.

Play Planned Before Christmas

At the Speculum meeting last week another venture was determined upon the rendition of a play to be held some time in December, before Christmas vacation. At the meeting Wednesday night the play was selected, and arrangements are under way already. There is not much time, and the staff can afford to lose no time. All the proceeds will be devoted to the financing of a bigger and better Speculum than ever appeared at Albright before, and the Staff is losing no opportunity to accomplish this objective. More definite announcement will be made about the play next week.

colous!!! If a prospective student doesn't already dance, he will never learn at Albright. But the funny part about it was that the minister finally sent his son to a school where a dance is held almost every week.

Of course all colleges have rumors which they must contend with; but all colleges do not have an atmosphere of morality and high ethics that Albright has. That is why we feel justified in protesting against false reports. WE CHALLENGE THE CRITICS TO VERIFY ANY HARMFUL STATEMENTS THAT THEY MAKE.

STUDENTS AND ALUMNI! We know Albright for we have experienced her. It is up to us to break down these false rumors. Albright has a stainless reputation, and we want the world to know it!

then gave a talk on the topic, "How Can We Promote Inter-denominational Fellowship?"

An extempo debate was then held. The question was "Resolved that different denominations are necessary." The affirmative was upheld by Mr. Klingeman and the negative by Mr. Heisley.

The affirmative argument was as follows: "We know that light is the compilation of many colors. In the spectrum of light there are seven colors. By the prism we are able to see that light is composed of the various colors and, also we are able to know just how light is formed. Christianity breaking up into its many denominations has shown the various phases of its work. Denominationalism has helped to keep and sustain, in the years gone by, the cardinal points that would have been neglected had we only had one large body that could care for and stress the necessary points at that time."

The following is the negative presentation: "Every creed and every denomination has its own place and has to perform its own work. If all churches were one there would be a greater power back of that church because there is strength in numbers. There are so many different creeds that there is a great deal of friction in many cases and there is also interdenominational strife. If the Christians of the world were all one great body the energy that is lost through this strife could be used in the cause of spreading the Gospel to all the world."

It was decided by Mr. Hood that it is necessary for the church to be divided into different bodies and that strife in the Church is ancient history.

Twenty-five fellows and only one girl were present.

President "Red" Morris than announced that next Tuesday the Y. M. C. A. would have a speaker here from New York who would talk to both men and women on racial problems.

The rest of the time was given over to Messrs. Heiser and Houseal who gave a report on the Christian Endeavor Convention held at Lebanon on November 4th.

At Forty

"At Forty" the housewife in some sections of Europe wears a black bonnet to signify the end of her youth. A quaint custom—you say—but it usually signifies a fact. Heavy tasks, indoors and out, have made her old—at forty.

Of all the uses of electricity in America, the most important are those which release the woman from physical drudgery. Electricity carries water, washes clothes, cleans carpets, cooks the family's food—better and quicker than could be done by hand.

A trip to town or an hour's rest in the afternoon pays a woman dividends in good health "at forty years." And what is youth but that?

Men and women who have had the benefit of college training and college life have learned to place the proper value upon rest and recreation. They appreciate the relief afforded by electricity.

Upon great generators which send out current to light the homes and carry the burdens of millions, you will find the G-E monogram. Upon industrial motors, on electric railway trains—wherever quality and un-failing performance are first essentials—the G-E monogram will be found.

A series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for booklet GEK-1.

then again we looked worse than that. The Schuylkill backs fumbled time after time, but no one was there to recover them, not one pass was intercepted. The large crowd which packed the Schuylkill stadium came with the expectation of seeing Albright emerge triumphant, but instead they saw them beaten, largely by their own mistakes, and not by the superiority of the Schuylkill team.

Barkman, the Red Grange of the Schuylkill team might as well have sat on the bench as far as helping his team mates emerge victorious, he didn't gain a foot during the whole game, and he fumbled the ball time after time, but Albright was not lucky enough to recover them. Boyle, their big end was their best bet, he gave them their first points when he dropped back to the forty two yard line and booted a perfect placement goal. The Albright team worked the ball up and down the field, only to lose it by some break near the goal line.

Albright left the field at half time for the second time this year without being in the lead. It looked as though they had not found themselves, but as the game wore on one could see that it was a different team representing Albright than in former games. They lacked the fire and dash that made them stand out in former games.

Schuylkill was placed in position to score when Albright was penalized here the distance to the goal line. A pass from a placement kick formation placed the ball on the one yard line, it was a pretty play, and Kostos made a nice catch of the pass. Three attempts at the line failed to put the ball over, but on the last attempt Knorr crashed over for the touchdown. Boyle failed to add the extra point.

It looked dark for the Albright cohorts, for with only a few minutes to play it looked as though we could not avert a shut out. But soon after the kick of Griggs heaved a pretty pass to Kerns who ran the ball to the one yard mark, where Garrett took it over for our only score. Sherried added the extra point, with a drop kick. In the waning minutes of the game we opened with a forward pass attack but to no avail, and the game ended with the ball in our possession at midfield. It was a bitter pill to swallow, and the best of teams have their off days, and are beaten by some mediocre team. But the Schuylkill game is over. We lost. We will be idle for two weeks and the last time we will see our team in action this season will be Thanksgiving, when we meet our traditional rivals Lebanon Valley. Better we played the type of ball last Saturday that we did than play that type of game against L. V. C. We have two weeks to work up pep and enthusiasm over that game and if you don't think that kind of stuff helps—look at Schuylkill.

: Who's Who At Albright :

EDWIN B. HARRIS

"Pop" is a fellow who believes that a person can do two things at once—as proof just take a look at the fact that he is going to school and is also married. And the name "Pop" is not just a nickname, because he really serves in that capacity.

With that introduction to stand upon we shall proceed to talk of him in his relation to Albright. "Eddie" did not start his college career here but spent his first year at Lehigh, coming to Albright several years later for the remainder of his college course.

"Pop" is somewhat athletically inclined altho that doesn't occupy the major portion of his time by any means. His first year here he played football, but last year his football was confined to coaching the Frosh football team and he surely did turn out a winning team for the score was 41-0 when the game was over; it is quite likely he will again coach that team this year. In basketball he confines himself to interclass Basketball and quite ably does his part there, oftentimes to the extreme displeasure of his opponents.

But there is another, deeper side to "Pop's" life. He is very interested in the work of the Y. M. C. A. and as president he is getting his program across in fine shape. Every Sunday finds him on his charge occupying the pulpit and successfully so, too.

Then last year he served as Business Manager of the 1927 Speculum, and in this as in everything else we see evidenced his hard-working, cheerful nature. So if we may judge from this we would say that although when the problem of life confronts him this same ability to do things and do them well will solve the situation in the most logical and best way for all concerned.

AN OLD FRIEND RETURNS ON VISIT—STILL ONE OF THE BOYS

Karl K. Krimmel, former member of the class of 1928 blew into the college last Sunday to visit the boys. "Krim" looked happy and prosperous. Why not? For isn't he the proprietor of a flourishing fruit store in his home town, Port Carbon? Every month Krimmel is selling about two thousand dollars worth of fruit, vegetables, fish, oysters and clams to the thirty five hundred inhabitants of the town in face of the keen competition of one Jew, which he is gradually overtaking. He has been in business only since April, and already owns a truck, employs a driver, rents a store room and hires a clerk. He is to be congratulated in his success.

Although here only one year, Krim made many friends, who are anxious his host of well wishers. Krim is reciprocating by manifesting a keen interest in the college and the student publications.

officialated. The ring ceremony was used. "Because," and "Oh Promise Me" were sung by Miss Deborah Long of the class of '26, accompanied by Miss Helen Froelich, also of the class of '26. Miss Froelich also played the wedding march. Miss Mildred Lackey of the class of '26 was the maid of honor. Homer W. Heisley, of the class of '27 was best man.

Immediately after a wedding dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Miller left for Heathville, where they will reside.

Other Albright representatives present were Harry Wray, of the class of 30, Frank Wray, '17, and Mrs. Wray '18, Miss Mary Crumbling '17, William Harris '26, and Miss Ruth Yeager, a former member of class of '29.

HEISER AND HOUSEAL REPRE-SENTED ENDEAVOR AT LEBA-
NON CONFERENCE—AL-BRIGHT LOSES BANNER

On Thursday, November 4th, the annual fall rally of the Lebanon County Christian Endeavor Union was held in the Seventh Street Lutheran Church, Lebanon. Messrs. Heiser and Houseal were the delegates appointed to represent Albright College at this Convention. A very interesting and inspiring program was arranged. The Convention Theme was "Personal Acceptance of and Allegiance to Jesus Christ."

The following was the order of the afternoon program: Registration, Devotional Service, Song Service, Address—"Our Christian Endeavor Pledge," by F. E. Manwiler, Treas. Penna. C. E. Union. This was an interesting talk on the origin of the pledge and what it means. Mr. Melvin Deets then rendered a mandolin solo which was followed by the three conferences, How To Conduct C. E. Meetings by Melvin Deets, Tenth Legion—Rev. C. E. Liebegott, and Quiet Hour by Rev. C. R. Longenecker.

Business Session was then held and Reports of Committees were received. The banner for the C. E. Society having the highest average attendance for the year was then presented. Last year this banner was won by Albright Society with an average of 80%. However, Bethany Evangelical of Palmyra received it this year. Their average was 76%. Our average for this year was 52%.

The evening session opened at 7:30 with a short song service, a selection by the chorus, devotional services, and a solo by Mr. Deets, Mr. B. A. McGarvey, of Williamsport, the main speaker of the convention then gave an address on "Keep the Home Fires Burning." This talk was very inspiring.

The convention closed with a song, installation of new officers and the benediction.

LUTHERAN STUDENTS ENTER-TAIN MISS PEPER, SECRETARY OF NATIONAL ORGANIZATION

Interesting Meeting And Discussion

On Friday afternoon, Oct. 29th, the Lutheran students had the pleasure of entertaining at a tea, Miss Mathilde Peper, Secretary of the Women Lutheran Students of the American Colleges. She spoke of the meaning of the L. S. A. A. and told of the work it was doing. The discussion was very informal and everyone felt free to express his opinion. She announced that the regional conference will most likely be held at Columbia University, New York City, and the national conference at Madison, Wisconsin. Miss Peper's annual visits are always enjoyed and looked forward to by the Lutheran students.

FRATERNITY NOTES

Zeta Omega Epsilon

The members of the Zeta Omega Epsilon were severely shocked when they learned of the mishap of Frater Sheeley. While at his home in Carlisle last week end, he in some manner was thrown from a truck and sustained a fracture of the skull. The Fraternity joins heartily in wishing their brother a speedy recovery from his exceptionally serious injury.

Fraters Kachel, Roland and Teter were among those present at the Schuylkill game last week.

Frater Kachel is attending Schuylkill Seminary and teaching in the College Department.

Frater Teter is the Principal of the High Schools in West Hazleton, Pa.

Frater Roland is teaching in Ephrata at which place he has been situated for the past few years.
