

College to Fete Would-Be Coeds Dance, Tour, Films Will Take Spotlight

Seniors of all the high schools in Berks County are invited to be the guests of the administration of Albright College on Saturday, May 19. Guest Day, formerly referred to as Sub-Freshman Day, is being sponsored by the Student Council and Office of Public Relations. Marie Bonner, chairman of the committee for Student Council, is assisted by Shirley Sperans, Kenneth Good, and Warren Pfof. Rev. Lester L. Stabler is chairman for the administration.

The program will begin with registration and presentation of voca-

May Day Called; Paper Vacation

Because of the threat of inclement weather, as forecast by Professor Green and the weather bureau, the bigwigs of May Day decided to postpone the affair until Saturday afternoon. The festivities in honor of Queen Madeline Gable will be carried on as scheduled.

Will you miss us? "The Albrightian" is taking a week's vacation. We're hoping to catch up on our term papers and do a little extra cramming before exams start. However, "The Albrightian" will hit the street again May 29 for our last issue.

tional applications of various groups. At 3:30 in the college chapel, Jack Teger, senior class president, will talk to the group on extra curricular activities, and sometime during the afternoon a get-acquainted program will be held. All the college buildings and dormitories will be open for inspection by the guests in the afternoon.

Following dinner at 5:30 and speeches by college officials, movies of campus activities will be shown in the chapel. As a conclusion to their day, the group will be special guests at the Bond Rally Dance held that evening in the dining hall.

Mu Election of Schofer Announced at Dinner

Phi Beta Mu election results, announced at the Combined Sororities Dance last Saturday evening, named Mary Beth Schofer as president of the organization. The new vice president is Christine Schweimler, and corresponding secretary, Louise Trostle; Margaret Ball was re-elected as recording secretary; Ruth Rehr will assume the office of treasurer, and Elizabeth H. Pot-tieger that of chaplain.

Besides the election, the Mus at their last meeting inducted Ruth Homan, who had been ill at the time the other pledges were installed.

Girls' Glee Club Gives Last Concert of Year

The Women's Glee Club gave its last concert of the year last Sunday evening at the Ebenezer Evangelical Church. A Mother's Day theme was followed. Among its other selections, the women sang MacGimsey's "To My Mother."

Schubert's "Ave Marie" was played as a flute duet by Betty Mae Berger and Marian Gerberich. Soprano soloist Betty Fielitz sang "Where'er You Walk" by Handel, and "Prayer Perfect" by Stenson.

Albright Triples Goal For 7th Bond Drive; Cash to Buy Planes

Saturday, May 19, at the War Bond Dance, the 7th War Loan Drive at Albright College will officially come to an end. Up to the time this issue went to press, Albright College has sold War Bonds and Stamps totaling $20,986. Our original goal was first $6,000 and later on, $15,000. Both goals had been raised and both goals had been overshot. The drive lasted one month, during which two chapel programs were given, one dance, and one radio program. Faculty and student representatives of the various organizations on campus did their utmost to make this drive a success. It is therefore expected that these representatives will be rewarded with an official Treasury Citation at the dance this coming Saturday. To the many others who have given a boost towards our Albright sponsored "Flying Jeeps" most go the feeling of satisfaction to see that they have an active interest in these planes. Instead of the original one plane that Albright was to launch, we can now have three of them, and still another addition to it, something like two jeeps, one weasel or anything that will be needed in the drive towards the Pacific, where the score stands: TWO DOWN—ONE TO GO!

Play Casts Chosen Dominos to Produce

Casts for the four one act plays chosen from a group of twenty plays written by Dr. John B. Douds' creative writing class have been chosen by their student directors. The plays will be presented May 25 by the Domino Club.

Appearing in "Farewell, Comrade," by Geraldine Wentzel, directed by Joyce Moyer, are Harry Gruber as Father Johann; Jack Shaffer as Paul; and Walter Hayum as Krueger. "Taxi, Taxi," by Miriam Kramer, includes the following cast as chosen by Marie Bonner and Jeanne Miller, directors; Phyllis Stock as Susan; Jean Jaglom as the mother; Humbert Manzollilo as the father; Marjorie Christ as Aunt Jennie; and Robert Sokol as the taxi driver.

Marian Latta, director of "A Night with Snookie," written by Virginia Hallacher, has selected Bohdan Procko as Frank Miller; Lloyd Schwartz as Pete White; Dorothy Scheib as Mrs. Miller; Herbert Hyman as Mr. Jones; Leroy Hertzog as Dr. Brown; Betty Claire Voeste as Mrs. Fisher; and Verner Hertzog as Mr. Fischer.

Jeanne Hartranft's play, "My Bleak Heaven," is being directed by Jeanne Schlegel, who has cast the following members: Shirley Sperans, Rose; Minnie Silberman, Mag-nolla; Barbara Pearsall, Catherine Hand, and Betty Jacobs, Angels. The parts of the "hero" and Mose had not been cast when "The Albrightian" went to press.

Enrollment System

A new schedule of registering for the fall and summer sessions will be followed during examination week, according to Miss Anna R. Benninger, secretary to the dean. Instead of having one day only for registration, the dean's office will be open for registration every day from May 25 through June 1, from 3 to 4:30 p. m., except Memorial Day.

Because registrations must be completed by June 1, students should arrange to see their advisors to have their schedules approved, and should make early applications for conferences with Dean George W. Walton.

Dominos Will Stage "Earnest" As Final Production May 18-19

Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest," will be staged in the college Thursday and Friday evenings, May 17 and 18, at 8:30 p. m. Professor Ruth Shaffer has directed the spring production of the club. The admission charge will be fifty-five cents.

Student Council Heads Of Standing Committees Appoints Their Aides

Appointment and approval of standing committees for 1945-46 was the main business of Student Council at its last meeting. Agnes Snyder was named chairman of the chapel committee. Irene Fisher, chairman of student activities, announced Edwin Biehl and Marian Fiedler as members of her committee. The publicity committee, headed by Mary Jane March, is composed of Geraldine Wentzel, Robert Holtzapfel, Mildred Kaufman, Betty Berger, Virginia Woerle, and Walter Hayum.

Social Committee

The social committee, with Marybeth Schofer as chairman, is composed of Warren Pfof, Ruth Rehr, and Reed Fredericks. Marie Bonner chose Homer Angstadt, Kenneth Good, and Phyllis Stock to aid her on the frosh orientation committee.

Faculty Advisors

Professor Anna H. Smith was appointed to act as an advisor to the social committee and the rights-in-service committee. Dean Helen L. Cunliffe will be advisor to student activities, while Rev. Lester L. Stabler will be faculty advisor to the publicity committee, and Professor Lewis E. Smith to the dining hall committee.

Pastor to Head Chapel; Hill Gives Inspiring Talk

The Rev. Frank Radcliffe, pastor of Holy Spirit Lutheran Church, 4th and Windsor Streets, Reading, will deliver the message in the chapel program this coming Thursday morning. This morning a March of Time film on India was shown.

One of the most unusual chapel programs of the year occurred last Thursday when Edward A. Hill of Fleetwood showed a picture, "Invisible Motion." The movie and stills revealed growth of plants and flowers, the development of butterflies, and activities of birds and insects, which would be indiscernible to the naked eye.

Hershey, Zerr Will Get Degrees At Graduation

Albright will award two honorary degrees at the Commencement exercises on June 3: a Doctor of Laws degree to Major General Lewis B. Hershey, who will deliver the commencement address, and a Doctor of Divinity degree to the Reverend Levi Hoffman Zerr, an alumnus of Albright and a district superintendent in the Philadelphia Conference of the Methodist Church.

A native of Berks County, Rev. Zerr was raised on a farm and attended a one-room schoolhouse. He attended the H. Y. Stoner's Business College in Reading, but when he was called to the Christian ministry enrolled at Schuylkill where he graduated from preparatory school in 1919. He received his Bachelor of Science degree from Schuylkill Seminary in 1922 and his Bachelor of Divinity from the Evangelical School of Theology in 1923. Since that time, Rev. Zerr has taken graduate work at various times at Lehigh University, Moravian College, Crozer Theological Seminary, and the Ocean Grove Graduate School.

Serves Pastorale

After serving Methodist pastorates in Coventryville, Elverson, Hamburg, Bethlehem, and West Chester, Rev. Zerr was appointed district superintendent of the West District of the Philadelphia Conference by Bishop Ernest G. Richardson in March, 1943.

'Y' to Hold Song, Dance Fest Tonight

Songs, folk dances, and games from various countries will make up the Music Fest to be sponsored by the combined Y's in the lower social room tonight at 7:30 p. m. The program is being planned by the chairmen of the music committees, Marjorie Christ and Robert Holtzapfel, and the chairmen of the recreation committees, Mildred Kaufmann and Warren Pfof.

Thirty-one students and faculty members packed 1,188 kits for convalescent soldiers at the Metropolitan Edison Light Company last Tuesday evening. As women stationed along the conveying belt put stationery, socks, wash cloths, cigarettes, books, and many other articles into the boxes, the men packed the filled kits into large cartons and prepared them for shipment to hospital ships.

Next week's meeting, to be held out-of-doors, is being planned as a farewell to seniors. Jean Harer and Newell Wert, chairmen of the worship committee of the combined Y's, are in charge of planning the service.

Sigma Tau Delta Holds Induction and Banquet

Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English fraternity, will hold a formal induction ceremony and banquet for its new members tomorrow evening at 6:30 p. m. at the Thomas Jefferson Tea Room. The new members are Jeanne Schlegel, Martha Herrick, Marion Fiedler, Mary Briner, John Howard Smith, Dorothy Scheib, and Hazel Calden.

Under the direction of Felice Epstein, chairman of the pledges, each of the pledges wrote a satirical poem of fourteen lines about some member of the faculty or administration. The best one will be read at the banquet.

Dr. John B. Douds, Professor Clyde Harding, Professor Ruth Shaffer, Professor Elsie Garlich, and Miss Ann Benninger, have been invited to the affair. Lura Heverly is in charge of the arrangements.

A special meeting of the S. T. D. will be held next week to elect officers for next year. The present officers are Madeline Gable, president; Mary Jane Weber, vice-president and chairman of the social committee; and Rachel Willauer, secretary-treasurer.

Pats Conduct Annual Tree Planting Ceremonies

At 3 p. m. last Sunday, the Pi Alpha Tau Sorority conducted its annual tree planting ceremony on the front lawn of the campus. The tree this year was planted in the sorority's grove on the front lawn. Margaret Hendricks, new president of the sorority, presented the tree which was accepted by her mother, Mrs. E. Raymond Hendricks, in behalf of all the mothers.

Music for the ceremony was provided by a vocal trio composed of Judy Scheiner, Dorothy Moyer, and Joyce Moyer. The program was closed with a prayer offered by Marie Bonner, the P. A. T. chaplain.

The Home Front

Last week some thirty students went downtown to the Metropolitan Edison Light Co. to pack kits for the comfort of convalescent servicemen returning to this country. Arranged on a conveying belt, the kits were packed with soap, washcloths, stationery, cigarettes, and other small but powerful reminders of home. It was evident that everyone there had a nice feeling inside as he visualized a sick, bewildered soldier receiving the kit on his arrival back in the United States. This dominant thought in the back of everyone's mind set hands to flying as the students packed 1,188 kits.

This is an original and fascinating type of war work. It engrossed the attention of everyone participating. It gave everyone a unique feeling of satisfaction. Albright groups could do well to emulate this experience in Red Cross work in the future. Earnest, interested workers are just what the Red Cross and other civilian groups want, especially now, with the huge job of rehabilitation in Europe facing us.

The coming of summer will mean more leisure time for many of us—time which could be spent in a most satisfying and useful manner; namely, giving blood, rolling bandages, packing kits, and endless other wartime tasks. All this may sound boringly familiar to you, after almost four years of war. Yes, it's familiar, but it will have to continue to be familiar until the last shot is fired in this global war, and even beyond that time.

Scoop!

The last war training program will leave Albright's campus on June 30, 1945, announces Dr. Milton G. Geil, head of the night school program. The E. S. M. W. T., known in full as the Engineering, Science, Management, War Training Program, has been in existence at Albright since its organization in 1941. Dr. Geil has been administrative head of the program since its inception and the school has trained approximately 5,000 students for work in the war effort during that time. The school has met four nights a week, Monday through Thursday, and in the summer carried on a daytime course as well. At its fullest enrollment, the program had a faculty of 34 members training 871 students. Although students of Albright's regular curricula may not always have realized the significance of the lights in the Ad building and Science Hall at night, they may now recognize with pride that Albright is completing one more important phase of its part in the war effort.

P. S. As Dr. Geil strolled out of the Office of Student Publications after giving us this scoop, he mentioned the fact that he is now open for suggestions as to what to do with his evenings. If his office is swamped with ideas, he can't say we didn't warn him how times have changed since 1941!

THE EDITORS.

"Our Felice" is the object of Dandy's affections this week and he has a happy grin on his face and he opens his whiskered old mouth once more to roar his praise. Every pie that this gal's competent fingers dabble in turns out successfully. Her deftness in mixing every ingredient with just the right touch can't be beat.

Felice Epstein's pies are many and varied. First, there's the Domino Club. Whether behind the scenes or out on the stage she turns out an "Oscar" performance. At present, she can be seen burning the midnight oil in Selwyn Hall studying her lines for her part in Domino's spring production, "The Importance of Being Earnest."

"THE ALBRIGHTIAN" and "The Cue" are two marks of her keen interest in writing. In her junior year she served as feature editor and this year was raised to the rank of associate editor of "THE ALBRIGHTIAN." As a member of the "Cue," she devoted much of her time and talent helping to produce that yearbook.

A psychology major and English minor, Felice holds membership in both Pi Gamma Mu and Sigma Tau Delta, national honorary fraternities. Chairman of the S. T. D. pledges, she has them hard at work on a poem. She is also an active member of the French Club, Men-in-Service Committee, and the War Bond Drive. Not only is she working for the bond drive, but she had a part in the radio play broadcast over WRAW last night.

Felice loves slacks, men's shirts (especially G. I.), long red fingernails, lobster, and any size, shape, or form of reading. Her most violent dislike is an early morning class.

When this week's Dandy Lion (who grew in Brooklyn), receives her A. B. degree, she'll head for New York—and a job in advertising. Dandy nods his approval, and throwing back his head, he roars his praises across campus applauding her work here and wishing her a flourishing future.

Albright About Town . . .

Once again, the Embassy theatre is to be graced with that 20th Century Fox masterpiece, "Song of Bernadette." If you have not seen this screen triumph, which made Jennifer Jones an Oscar winner, be sure to see it, and if you have seen it, it is well worth seeing again. Jennifer Jones, Charles Boyer, Vincent Price, and William Eythe are only a few of the master performers.

"Brewster's Millions" is soon to relinquish its lower berth to "Keep Your Powder Dry." This WAC picture, starring Susan Peters, Lana Turner and Laraine Day is a refreshing story of the life of a G. I. from the feminine side.

"Mr. Emanuel," a Two Cities production, will replace "Delightfully Dangerous" at the Astor. The screen adaptation of Col. Scott's best seller, "God Is My Co-Pilot," is sailing through its fourth week at the Warner.

Two Clubs Will Picnic

Both German Club and Home Economics Club will hold their meetings in the form of a picnic tomorrow night in Hampden Park. Phyllis Carter and Mary Eschwei are in charge of arrangements for the German Club affair. A lunch and group singing will comprise the HEO picnic.

The Inquiring Reporter

With the approach of Commencement time, your Inquiring Reporter couldn't help but notice the hang-dog looks and frantic rushing around of all the seniors. Wondering whether college was worth this apparent agony, he asked the seniors, "Why did you come to college?" Here's what they said:

Betty Claire Voeste, liberal arts: As the saying goes, "I came to college to get an education." But I also received a host of wonderful experiences which I'll never forget:

Dorothy Sebeib, psychology: So I wouldn't have to work for four years.

June Ruth, lab tech: To get an education???

Ruth Ritzman, home ec: To prepare for life.

Fred E. Clewell, pre-ministerial: Same as above.

Cecil "Deetz" Pottieger, pre-ministerial: To kill time—and prepare for the next step—the seminary.

Robert Deach, science: My parents wanted to get rid of me.

Jeanne Miller, lab tech: Primarily to get an education; secondarily, to have a good time.

Marilyn Jacobson, psychology: To light the lamp of knowledge.

M. J. Weber, social science: Because I wanted to.

Paul Deysher, social science: First so I could be a teacher; secondly to develop a well-rounded personality and thirdly, women!

Helen Brown, English: I thought I might catch a husband.

Campus Carrousel

Socially Speaking:

Student Council is sponsoring a warbond dance, in connection with sub-freshman day in the college dining-hall, Saturday, May 14 at 8:30 p.m. Remember this evening of fun music, and romance will reach you through Albright's own Student Council. Another thing—don't dress formal—just dress at your own discretion . . . For the best in college activities—remember STUDENT COUNCIL!

Broadcasting:

For the benefit of those who listened to the radio-broadcast that was given last night: Where one of the fellows complained about a history report and named a fictitious name, the name was Middleton. (No false ideas, history students)

Theatre and Ballet:

"The Importance of Being Earnest" is receiving its final polishing touches. Looks as if it will be another Domino hit. Jack Teger puts life into the thing. Even without uttering a word, he will delight you. Don't miss it. Co-starring are some of Albright's top entertainers. A "must" for the collegiate theatre goer. . . The "Corps de Ballet" will swing into action on Saturday, after road tryouts on the Albright campus lawn. Very impressive, ladies. . . The one-acters too, are in preparation for their forthcoming appearance. Perhaps we shall have some information on it next week. . .

Miscellaneous:

Some of our living "7th War Loan Posters" are still stiff from the strain of standing still for such long period of time. . . Tommy Price is an old hand at throwing hand grenades, and for that matter anything else that might resemble them. . . Jim Hedglin has been working overtime lately, (and it "ain't" no "Baseball Banter" or schoolwork) . . . And now, until next week, this is your campus carrousel reporter, reminding you that V. E. day does not mean V. J. day, so keep buying bonds and hasten the day of complete victory.

Lions In The Ranks

Let's see, I really don't have much to write about this week, but here I go, anyway. I hope I can keep awake long enough to type this, because I just came back from 2½ hours in the embryology lab.

Today I saw FRANK (RED) GABLE on campus. Aso PAUL CONNORS of NAP, Bainbridge.

CORP GUY L. WILDERMUTH, JR., Marine Service Squadron 11, FPO San Francisco, Calif., writes: "I am out here in the Pacific at the present in the not too glamorous job of weather forecasting. I received this training in the Marines at Lakehurst, New Jersey, and for two years now I have been faithfully trying to solve the mysteries of the weather. As it is with all weathermen, I and my colleagues are the butt for many a caustic remark and snickering side glances. But we have one consolation, there are no Dr. West's almanacs out here so they pay a little attention to us. They call it a science, but I will take my science in the form of chemistry any day. Thanks so much for "THE ALBRIGHTIAN" and the list of addresses that I just got."

In a letter from LT. RALPH BOWERS, dated April 13 from Germany, he said that he had just received The Cue. By the way, Ralph, the Cue was mailed in January of 1944. A little late, but I hope worth waiting for.

PFC. JOHN F. BRESLIN, 33 484 424; M. P. Det. 2nd Div.; APO 218 c/o PM New York writes: "I've been through all of the countries over here, but Holland, and as everyone else, the sooner we're back in the USA the better. I would appreciate it very much if I could only be back this coming May to witness the graduation exercises. I've been over here going on two years, and have always had the thought of being back in May of '45." Yes, John, Deitz and Jim Pottieger are still here. Also their brother, Ray. Jim is married now and has a daughter. Miss Kramer is now Mrs. Saul Rumaker. She was married in February, but is still going to school. John Cargill is in California at osteopathy school. Bob Kemp and Kenny Good weren't here when you were, so you probably don't know them. It's been a long time since we last heard from you.

CPL. ROY C. BLOOM, JR., 33 762 864; 511 Med. Coll Co.; APO 218 c/o PM New York, writes from somewhere in Burma, saying that the Muhlberg-Albright feud is carried on even in Burma. Bessie Kness's brother-in-law is in the same unit and gets his alumni issue of the paper from Muhlberg, so Roy and Russ discuss the basketball teams. Roy said that he has been able to record much of the travel on film.

PVT. HAROLD W. LUEDERS, 13 178 719; 1261 SU Med. Det. SIASH; Staten Island 6, New York, writes: "At present I'm working in a hospital on Staten Island. It is not a large hospital but ideally located right on the beach. Right now I'm working on a psycho-neurotic ward—also a confinement ward for garrison prisoners. Lucky for me I get all kinds of experience in the ward ranging in all kinds of cases, since prisoners are not particular as far as illness goes. The psycho-neurotics are not violent, although some have gotten spells occasionally. Everyone in the ward is behind bars including the ward personnel, so in the future it could easily drive me batty, too. I was really surprised to meet BOB BOLAND on Broadway about two weeks ago. He's a midshipman at Ft. Schuyler—he'll graduate in about two months." Harold said that through the list of addresses he was able to reestablish contact with some of the fellows. Harold is also a member of the class of '45. Golly, I wish we could all be together, instead of being spread all over the globe. Remember the fun we had in quant lab, Harold, and how long it took you to weigh out the crucible? I used to waste more time waiting for you to finish so I could get my work done.

Blossoms and Bugs

Science held sway in the chapel program this past Thursday morning. A fascinating lecture by Edward A. Hill, under the sponsorship of Student Council's "Little Cultural Series," interested the Liberal Arts students. Home Ecers, and all other types and species of students as well as the Science majors. We were informed at the beginning of the lecture that absolutely no trick photography had been employed in the filming of the pictures shown. However, if no trickery was involved, then it took endless patience and remarkable ability to get those very unusual effects of buds opening, plants shooting up, and nature in general accomplishing things in a few seconds which ordinarily take weeks. Mr. Hill accompanied his moving pictures and slides with a lecture that was informative, and interjected with touches of humor. He seemed to regard the plants and insects which he discussed as interesting characters with lives and personalities of their own, rather than biological specimens to be studied in a purely technical manner. The films shown had unusual color and beauty, and as one student was heard to remark when leaving chapel, "Why not conduct the biology labs like Mr. Hill's lectures?" How about it, Professor Green?

SCIENCE SLANTS

JUNE FLOWFIELD

It is only when an Albright Fighting Lion returns to the campus that some students realize the necessity of starting now to aid the veteran to re-establish himself in civilian life. The familiar face of an old friend should not be the ONLY time for our students to think about such a needed program.

Nevertheless, with the hope that some students will heed the call for the aid of veterans, this week's laurels go to a sergeant of the famous 101st Airborne Division overseas. Before receiving his greetings our sergeant was one of the many frosh to pass thru initiation after entering Albright in the fall of 1941. Here he tackled with the many problems confronting a pre-medical student, while at the same time learned how to make friends and have a good time. Then as 1942 came, Uncle Sam needed the youth more, therefore, the paratroopers claimed our hero.

In due time the new pattern of life became familiar, and overseas orders were given to our boy in "khaki." He was one of the many to participate in the D-Day invasion, and it was there that he learned the true meaning of a bloody WAR. Suffering a severe head injury during combat, our hero returned to hospitals where four white walls comforted him as he lay gazing at his Bronze Star, Purple Heart, and the Presidential Unit Citation while thinking of his hometown and the "old gang."

Following eight major operations, the sergeant had a metal plate installed in his head. In addition, our hero found that he could no longer use his one hand for very many things as the nerves no longer functioned. Thus our hero realized that an M. D. could no longer be his goal.

At the present time this Albright Lion is home on a ninety day furlough—a furlough which he is spending by working in the office of a war plant. This furlough, after which he may be permanently discharged, is the one where the paratrooper hopes to find the answer to his problems and to the problems that millions of others will confront. . . . that is, mainly, how to forget the past and live each day with a hope for tomorrow! This is what we as Albrightians should help to solve for "our boys!" Let's start now, fellows and girls, to install an Albright organization to work on this vital problem. In that way our Lions in the Ranks can readjust themselves more easily by returning to real friends.

Elizabeth H. Pottieger has been chosen editor of the 1945-1946 "Compass" and Agnes Snyder has been designated business manager, according to an announcement by the combined "Ys," who sponsor the publication of this booklet. The "Compass" is published as a guide to new students to the activities, customs, and personages of the Albright campus.

Mrs. Pottieger is currently serving as co-editor of "The Albrightian," and is a member of the Women's Gte Club, as well as Phi Beta Mu sorority. Miss Snyder is chairman of the social actions committee of the "Ys" and chairman of the chapel committee of Student Council.

APO's Defeat Pi Taus Lange, Shafer Star Butch Harting Wins No. 1

Standings in the Intramural League
as of May 9

	W.	L.	Pct.
Zetas	3	0	1.000
A. P. O.	1	2	.333
Pi Tau	0	2	.000

An underdog and undermanned A. P. O. team scored an upset, 29 to 12 victory over the Pi Taus in a game played between rainy days, Wednesday, May 9.

Although having ten men to the A. P. O.'s seven, the Pi Taus never were in the running as Eddie Lange socked a round tripper his first time up. The A. P. O.'s added three more runs in the second to take a 4-0 lead before the Pi Taus were able to score on Deach's single and Winter's double.

In a wild and woolly fifth inning, the A. P. O.'s scored seven runs on an error, a home run by Albie Loesch, a double by Eddie Lange, and four singles. The Pi Taus came right back by scoring six runs on a walk, three singles, and four doubles.

In the sixth the Pi Taus threw a scare into Butch Harting's men by pushing four runs across, but the A. P. O.'s stopped the rally and held the Pi Taus scoreless in the last half of the seventh.

The two big guns for the A. P. O.'s were Jack Shafer and Eddie Lange who had two home runs, one double and two singles for his afternoon's efforts. He hit safely his first five times to the plate. Shafer had a home run, four singles, and a walk.

The win on Wednesday was the first for Butch Harting and his teammates, who were defeated twice in previous engagements by the Zetas.

Baseball Banter

By JIM HEDGLIN

Because of the great importance of his position and the far-reaching effects it will have, this column this week will be a brief review of the life of the new baseball czar, Albert Benjamin Chandler. He has the tremendous job of fitting the shoes of the famous Kenesaw Mountain Landis.

Like Abe Lincoln, Chandler was born in a little log cabin at Corydon in the hills of Kentucky. The youngster soon learned to shift for himself, and, being blessed with a fine tenor voice, he soon acquired the nickname "Happy," because he was always laughing and singing. When he graduated from Corydon High in 1917, he and the other members of the class were handed a prophecy. His read, "Work hard while you wait and you will be governor of your state." Hard to believe that by the time he was thirty-seven years old this prophecy would be fulfilled! With his worldly possessions consisting of a five dollar bill, a red sweater, and a smile, he entered Transylvania College in September, 1917. While working his way through college, he also was active in sports, winning letters in baseball, basketball, and football. Graduating from Transylvania in 1921, he entered Harvard Law School. After completing his course at law school in 1924, he practiced law and coached baseball on the side until 1926. He entered politics three years later and eventually reached the top by being elected governor of his state.

When he was elected commissioner of baseball, he was serving as senator from his state in Congress. "Happy" has readily taken the responsibilities of his office and has expressed his views on several important issues. He believes that everybody should be given a chance in baseball, regardless of creed or color. He is determined to keep "race track gambling" out of baseball. This statement has brought criticism from the big time New York newspapers. His most recent attack has been on the Selective Service for drafting 4-F ball players simply because they were athletes. The War Department is investigating this at the present time and is finding that his accusation is true. Yes, Commissioner Chandler has been very out-spoken and certainly far from spoken out. If that's what baseball men want, they were wise in choosing a politician. A baseball man could never get away with it. All we can say is, "Good luck, Happy!"

Sports Ala Gemma...

Madeline Gable, women's tennis manager, has announced that there are two scheduled matches so far. The first will be at Drexel on Thursday, May 17, and the second will be with Ursinus on the Albright courts, Saturday, May 19. Tryouts for team positions will be held this week and members will be selected from the following women who have signed up: Madeline Gable, Joyce Moyer, Marie Bonner, Marybeth Schofer, Helen Carol Wright, Fay Sheetz, Margaret Walker, Elaine Schwartz, and Jeanne Flickinger.

Some of the girls have been practicing vigorously for positions on the team. On Saturday, May 12, Marie Bonner tried out the new courts and her reaction to playing on the new court was: "Gee whiz, they're neat." Better get on the ball, girls, Marie's got a head start.

In the game with Ursinus the women's tennis team is going to attempt to avenge the softball defeat which they suffered in the early part of the season at the hands of that school. Reports have it that the Collegeville team is loaded and will be a tough opponent for the Albright net women.

Women's softball has been curtailed momentarily because of May Day dance rehearsals, but will be resumed as soon as the May Day program is completed.

Five Years Ago...

Five years ago this week, this is what happened in sports at Albright. Albright track team met St. Joseph's College team after losing to Ursinus, 82-44. Clem Boland and Jim Breen, then Sophomores, were the stars for Albright in the Ursinus Meet. Albright College's Tennis team met Susquehanna in attempt to gain second victory of season. . . Ray Hain was the tennis luminary. T. F. B. (Your guess is as good as ours what the letters stood for), was leading the Interfrat Softball League with six wins against one defeat. The Zetas also at this time were in the running with a total of five wins against one defeat. Time marches on.

By KENNETH GOOD

With the school year 1944-45 going into the home stretch we cannot help admiring some of the sports achievements of the year. In our opinion this year's basketball team was the greatest in the history of Albright and in itself marks the year as a red letter one. As a result of the wonderful work on the part of Coach Nes! Harris and his record smashing teams, Albright has become, in the last three years one of the nation's top basketball schools. The general public, when they hear Albright's name automatically thinks of basketball because the school has in the past years turned out top National basketball teams.

Side Lions

Students, keep your eyes open on Saturday, May 19, for you may get a glimpse at some of Albright's future basketball stars. It is rumored that Benny Lillis, Reading High school athlete, will matriculate at 13th and Exeter next year. If Benny is half as good in the court sport as the other fellows from R. H. S. who played for Albright in the past were, we are sure he will be a valuable asset to the team.

Berks County high school tracksters will travel to Lancaster on Saturday, May 19, to compete in the District 3 PIAA championships. It looks as if the Berks schools may be able to do something in the meet. Bill Kline, Oley; Tony DaDamio, Birdsboro, and Bill Beidler, Robsonia, have been recent meet stars and are favored to cop their specialties.

It seems that Kutztown State Teachers College is not doing too well in their new spring sports enterprises. The track team recently competed in the Penn Relays, however, they were unable to gain a place in that meet. The Kutztown tennis team was also on the losing side, 4-2, in a recent game with Ursinus. Incidentally, the Golden Avalanche is going to lose its player-coach, Johnny Dwight—this may be a serious blow!

Intramurals O. K.

Another thing which we think was successful in the last year was the Intramural softball program which was set up by the interfrat council and Coach Harris. In the last years the softball setups were not nearly as efficient as the one this year and in comparison to them. I think we can safely say that this season's league has become a success. It is true that in regard to the softball competition, not everything has been ideal as one would have it, but we must remember that we are living in abnormal times and under war time conditions which makes an intramural setup at a small college a real task.

Speaking of successful enterprises the newly finished tennis courts are brought to mind. Although it is a bit early to determine how the school will use them and how often they will be used, we are sure that the new courts are a step to bigger and better sports at Albright.

Zetas Favored

It looks like the Zetas are going to cop the Intramural title and in the opinion your writer we really think they deserve it. Jim Pottier, Bob Holtzapfel, Forest Saylor, and a few of the other teammates have been out on the field practicing almost every clear day.

It looks like the Zetas' practice is going to pay them dividends.
