Janet Kitzmiller Named Head Of Home Ec Group

Fashion Show Follows Meeting In Chapel

Janet Kitzmiller was elected president of the HEO club an organization of home economics students, at a meeting in the chapel last night. The business session was followed by a fashion show presented by models from Whitner's department store.

Other officers elected were: Vice president Katharine Taylor; secretary, Dorothy Zieber; and treasurer, Natalie Brant. Miriam Hershey is the retiring president.

The fashion show drew a relatively large audience. More than 50 girls—divided equally among home economics and non-home economics students—saw the display of what a college wardrobe should contain.

As the clothes were modeled, Mrs. Williams, a representative of the store, explained when and where they could be worn. She also reviewed current style trends.

Offers Shopping Hints

Preceding the show, Mrs. Williams told the girls what is involved in retail buying of clothing. She gave them some helpful hints to make the buying process easier on the pocketbook and to give the purchaser a full-dollar value.

After seeing the display of wearing apparel the girls enjoyed refreshments served in Sherman cottage.

She attended Colgate University, and has been affiliated with a national photographic agency establishing studio personnel in the East.

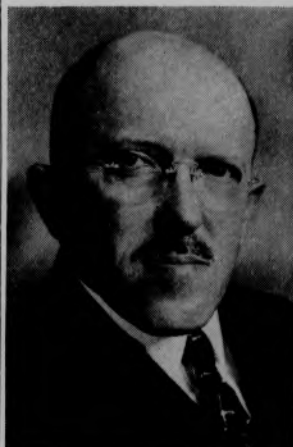

Professor Buckwalter, well-known on the lecture route as well as at Albright, is a Franklin and Marshall graduate who received his M. S. degree from Columbia University.

The couple will live in a newly-renovated apartment at 1318 Union Street. They "honeymooned" in Richmond, Va.

Convoys — Now

War now? Or convoys? Or simply lease-lend, cart-it-away-yourself, Britain?

We have the lease-lend now. Convoys are an embryonic possibility. War still has a big publicity campaign ahead of it.

The British say they are thankful for the opening of our storehouse to them. The American manufacturers say "Don't think anything of it, John dear," meanwhile tucking millions into their hip pockets. Labor watches the greenbacks slide out of sight, and then demands that it get a share of the profits.

Isolationists of the Lindbergh-Wheeler specie yell for appeasement. Hitler's bloodthirsty Nazis move into Greece, trampling under them the Balkan appeasers. Britain's African campaign bogs down as Wavell says his equipment isn't sufficient.

Meanwhile, tons of British shipping, including the precious bombers, tanks, guns, and ammunition rolling off American production lines are going to the bottom of the ocean as a result of ruthless campaigns by Nazi U-Boats and Goering's Luftwaffe.

The United States has annexed Greenland, at least for the duration of the war. Military authorities—persons who should know what they're talking about—have said that the Danish island will become an advance base for Hitler if the democracies do not hold on to it. So, Uncle Sam has begun to fortify Greenland.

The position of the American people in this war is definitely on the side of Britain. The United States has shown this by giving money and material aid to the Isles; it has taken over islands along the Atlantic coast which once were Britain's, and is fortifying them; it has appropriated Greenland; it has declared the Red Sea out of the war zone, to allow shipping to reach the British; it has hated Hitler ever since he proved his cold-bloodedness and utter disregard for human life.

And now the American people are watching Britain wage a losing battle on two fronts—Greece and Africa. They are holding their breath for the attempted all-out invasion of the small island in the North Atlantic. And they are hearing of much-needed steel toys of death, made by the sweat of American labor, being sunk in mid-ocean.

In the face of all these facts, there is only one logical step to take—convoys. The British do not have the ships to provide adequate convoys. Hitler most of all recognizes that fact and is, for that reason, working all the harder to sever the Anglo-American life-line. Convoys will help to take death-carrying airplanes to Britain. Death-carrying airplanes will help to defeat Hitler. A dethroned Hitler will mean a triumph for democracy. LET'S HAVE CONVOYS NOW!

Au Revoir

This week marks the exit of the 1940-1941 staff of the Albrightian. A new regime will take over for the May 9 issue. Undoubtedly there will be some change in policy. There always is.

We hope, however, that one thing does not change—the right of every student to voice his opinion through the Albrightian. We insisted on that all last year. We tried to stimulate discussion on pertinent issues. We offered the editorial columns for an intelligent review of facts and presentation of arguments on collegiate as well as extra-collegiate affairs. Some of our editorials were caustic, but to the point. There was no pulling of punches, but a direct statement of what we were driving at. We tried to present a position with all available force. We offered the same opportunities to the other side. Usually they did not accept, preferring instead to criticize by word of mouth.

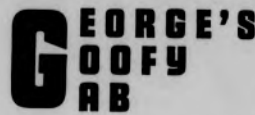

This freedom of speech is a potent thing. It makes men fight so-called human beings like Hitler who would take away that freedom. It makes democracy thrive.

But exercising freedom of speech is something that isn't learned over night. Germany after the last war showed that. It must be taught in the schools, it must be practiced continually, it must go through a period of growth.

The Albrightian can, in a small way, help to develop that freedom by being an organ of student opinion. Every Albright student should have the right to have his say in its columns.

That's what we stood for this year, and we hope that's what the new staff, and every staff after them, will stand for.

—Robert R. Gerhart, Jr.

THE END HAS COME...

"The time has come," the editor said,
 "To speak of many things...
 Of graduation, caps and gowns,
 Of au revoirs and dings"...
 "But poetry's not my style",
 I said in my amazement...
 "Just say good-bye for a while"...
 Kicks showed me what the place meant...

The rhyming may not be all right,
 The timing may be a sight,
 But if you think that it's easy,
 I'll show you it's pretty teasy...
 So I decided to greet her sane
 Starting out with an "Auf Wieder-sehn"...
 The odor of the poem grows
 But This Is The End, so here goes:

This is the famous saga
 To the Class of Forty-One...
 If it doesn't knock you gaga
 My victory won't be won...
 The cold world awaits without—
 Food, clothing, shelter, or jobs;
 But we'll not be so sad and pout
 We'll have our reward in gobs...

For years we've been studying here
 In Ad Building or Science Hall
 Spring, summer, winter, or fall
 Month after month through the year...
 Our green Freshman Class stooped to conquer
 Obliging Sophs then swooped to Konk her...

As Juniors we once held a startled
 Prom
 Seniors, we're back where we started from...

We'll swing out the graduate Blues
 As we commence to begin...
 We'll all try to get in the news
 We've enjoyed it from start to fin...
 It's been so long, so "so long,"
 Now it's over over here;
 So sing and dance a Senior song
 And have a glass of cheer...

Sixty strong we will stand
 Until the kitchen sinks
 Two in the bush are worth one in the band
 But doesn't this poetry stink?...

SO HERE'S A COLLEGIATE
 FINALE
 WITH A RAH, RAH, RAH AND A SOB...
 WE'VE ENDED THE FOUR YEARS FINALE...
 AND NOW WE'RE THROUGH WITH HOB-NOB...

 So long, everybody...

Kappas Take Over Frat Loop

The time has come to close up shop on this particular column which has endeavored for the past year to express editorially opinions and reactions relative to all phases of the athletic program of the school. Your reporter has favored certain aspects and criticized others with just one main thought in mind, that of adhering to a policy which would be the most beneficial to all concerned.

This strict adherence to what we thought was the best naturally commanded clear-cut stands on many issues that cropped up during the year. Of course quite a few of our arguments, pro and con, came into conflict with interested parties, for which we were criticized considerably. Nevertheless our policy was strictly maintained at all times.

Whenever an issue was favored, its fine aspects were pointed out and praised. And whenever an issue was looked upon with disfavor, its bad points were commented upon and suggestions for improvement made. Never did we simply criticize without offering a solution.

But, enough of this abstract mumbling. Just what, concretely, did your columnist favor or criticize and what suggestions did he make? Policies and acts favored:

1. The basketball policy of reduced admission prices and real basketball players of the local variety.

2. The continuation of friendly sports relations between the Reading School District and the College.

3. The contemplated change in offensive tactics of the football team as well as night football policies and acts criticized:

1. De-emphasizing inter-fraternity athletics and the present inter-fraternity setup.

2. The present football policy of high admission charges and few scholarship men.

3. The exclusion of Reading referees from officiating any league basketball games.

4. The policy of expecting football managers to work for nothing.
5. The seeming inability of athletic heads of the girls and boys to get together and definitely iron out mutual problems.

Suggested remedies:

1. Reduce football admissions, grant more football scholarships, and utilize the local talent.

2. An entirely new inter-fraternity setup with a responsible

The boys from the Kappa House way slipped into first place in the inter-fraternity softball wheel on Wednesday evening when they nosed out the Zetas in a nip and tuck game, 2-1. In the only other game played this week up to Thursday the A. P. O.'s edged the Pi Taus, 10-8.

A large crowd saw the powerful Zetas draw first blood in the big game. After Frank Bertino singled to left to start the third inning, Ray Shugard walked. Then Ray Spatz singled through shortstop to score Bertino.

The Kappas retaliated in the fifth frame to score their only two runs. Jimmy Kane began the uprising with a walk. When Gigli struck out, Kane advanced to second. "Plug" Eshelman then tallied Kane with a ringing double to left center. Mogel then lifted a fly ball to left which was dropped by Ray Spatz. Eshelman scored on the error with the winning run.

Both hurlers, George Manderbach and Carl Mogel, allowed but five hits each. Brilliant fielding on both sides, especially by Nick Schneider of the Kappas, made the game extremely tight throughout.

The varsity tennis squad continued its losing ways Wednesday afternoon, dropping a 9-0 decision to Muhlenberg on the 11th and Pike courts.

This defeat was the third straight suffered by the local team, which has yet to capture even one individual match from the opposition. Last Saturday Ursinus trimmed the boys 6-0 in an abbreviated match at Collegeville.

Kappas Place First In Inter-Frat Meet With 65½ Points

Daymen Second; Zetas, APO's Fail To Appear

The Kappa Upsilon Phi Fraternity won the annual inter-fraternity track meet last Saturday afternoon in the stadium by assembling 65½ points. The Daymen aggregation took second place honors with 44 points, while the Pi Taus captured third and last place with 8½ markers.

The only disappointing feature of the meet was the failure of the Zetas and the A. P. O.'s, perennial powerhouses, to place teams in the big event. The Zetas were the defending champions.

The superiority of the Kappas was ascertained by the capture of seven firsts and a tie for another first out of eleven events. John Killiany, of the Kappas and Sammy Larue, of the Daymen, tied for high individual scoring honors with 14 points each. Raymer Kent, a Kappa lad, placed third with 12 markers.

The Albright "chem" majors—Carl Yoder, Leon Steckley, Donald Leman, Francis Roupp, Willis Heisey, Tom Frystak, Michael Dutger, Richard Walton, and Professors Graham Cook and Newton Danford, were among the 250 people in attendance at the Intercollegiate Student Chemists' Convention at Villanova last Saturday.

The group was present at the readings of various papers by students and later attended an excellent banquet. The dinner was unique, in that there was no after-dinner speaker. (Walton says the girls from Porto Rico were cute!)

The students then were taken to the planetarium of the Franklin Institute, where they heard a lecture on spring constellations. They also saw a working model of the Sun Oil Company plants which showed the refining process from the drilling of the wells to the distilling of the fine oils.

The boys had quite a trip, we hear—it seems they lost their way and had a time getting their directions straight.

One of our junior "chem" majors and "lab" assistants has had the extremely good fortune to secure a summer position with the Dupont Company at Philadelphia. Ferril Miller is the lucky one!

Hear ye, all "chem" students—don't forget the gala affair next week at Egelman's Park. All who have paid their dues by Tuesday, will be allowed to attend the Alchemist's picnic and see or participate in that "game of all games"—the "Chem" Major—"Pre-Med" game. Tom Johnson assures us that none will go home unsatisfied from the food angle.

Anyone interested in the C. A. A. flight training for this summer, contact Prof. Oliver George at once. Prof. George would like to see about 50 or 60 persons (girls included) sign up for the course.

The above is just a summary of contents of this column which tried to look at the athletic issues from every and all angles and present them to you. We hope we have measured up to the title. 'Gone With the Wind' Gets Plug From Campus Information-Pleasers

By SEYMOUR MENDELSON

"Hi-yu-all, Honey Chile, did you all answer our confedentshul questions? You didn't! Well, well, step right up and try you-ah luck, Buck."

That's how the pledges of the Pi Alpha Tau sorority coerced (with a smile and twinkle of the eye) the students into selecting Albright's own Miss Scarlett and Mr. Rhett.

Jerry Ross came way out in front of all her feminine rivals to earn the hypothetical title of Albright's typical Scarlett O'Hara. And who do you think the pretty coeds chose as their soldier of fortune and blockade runner? None other than Dick Zeigenfuss, that strapping he-man from the A.P.O.'s. Prof. Danford was in the running, too. Four hundred Albrightians couldn't be wrong (or could they?)

and so the rest is all up to Hollywood or Walt Disney.

Attention, girls!! Men at Albright prefer natural nail polish over any vivid reds, purples, oranges, or blacks. By some mistake, five men replied that they were opposed to any disfigurement of the feminine hand by artificial paint. All girls are warned to beware of these reactionaries.

Miss Coed, do you like kissing a man with a moustache? The result was 2 to 1 for kissing men with moustaches. The cause for this unusual trend toward handle-bars would make an interesting term paper. Data, of course, would have to be secured by personally contacting all coeds. The Kappas should be consulted for this work. Bob Hope was the choice of the

The PAT pledges also tabulated the color of Albright men's eyes, or at least the eyes of those who allowed the girls to gaze into the masculine pupils. The Zetas and the A.P.O.'s have predominantly brown eyes while the Pi Taus go in for blue. Green and gray was sprinkled here and there, but by some misfortune pink eyes could not be found. Are yours pink?
