For the first time in history Albright's coeds will play two games in one week-end. Miss Van has never before allowed her team to play on successive nights. There are two such week ends on the schedule this year. Aside from this new factor Albright is playing Moravian and Reading Y. W., both strong teams, for the first time.

The girls and their coach are bent upon making this a successful season, and are hard at work to make it so. Thus far the team has not been picked. Decie is going strong at forward, and Dot Stauffer is working up well as her co-forward. Rae Painter and Clara Wilkes will hold down the guard positions and are showing some of the best basketball on the floor. The center combination is at present the weakest section of the team. COLLEGE CATALOG MAY UNDERGO THOROUGH REVISION

It is entirely possible that the 1928-29 edition of the college catalog which is scheduled to appear next month may appear on the campus in a totally different form, beginning first with the cover, the color of which may be changed into a perfectly good blue hue, but far more important, all the obsolete sections of the catalog will be blue penciled, and in their stead, something new and up-to-date will appear.

There has been a long felt need for a radical change like this, and this information comes as good news

ALUMNI! ANSWER THE CALL!

Feb. 3rd and 4th, 1928
Are The Days Set For Our Annual Mid-year Get-together. It Ought to be "The Biggest Ever!"

President of the Alumni Association.

DR. J. A. HECK, PRES. OF ALUMNI ASSN. HAS MESSAGE FOR ALBRIGHTIANS

Asks That Grads and Students Cooperate To Make Mid-Year Alumni A Success And Not Simply Routine. Inviting Program Under Way.

My dear Fellow Alumni:

May I extend to each of you in this public way an urgent personal plea that you make every possible effort to attend the mid-year assembly of the association this year. The time is February 3rd and 4th.

I know of nothing spectacular or startling in the way of formal business, although I wish we might have the largest attendance at our business meeting on Friday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock that we have ever had. This hour is not the most satisfactory, I know, but we may hardly venture to change it without authorization by the association.

Far more important than our own formal business meeting, is the fellowship, both with alumni and undergraduates, that ought to be renewed and enjoyed to the full on these two or three days, and the inspiration and encouragement that our enthusiasm will bring to the present student body.

The general complaint in the past has been that nothing of interest was on the program of the school during the assembly. We are sincerely hoping to remedy this defect this year. The program committee is working. It is expected that big "doings" will be carried through Saturday. I am not yet apprised of details, but will likely be in a position to publish them in a week or two.

How would you like events such as these? Special alumni table at luncheon on Friday evening. Literary society anniversary program. Basket ball game. Frat reunions. An alumni pep meeting with the students on Saturday morning. Old-time Albright social in Mohn Hall, Saturday (Continued On Page Four)

Girls Make New Year's Resolutions At Annual 'Y' Event—Birthday Money Is Handed In

A Poverty Party was the annual Y. W. event. As the girls arrived they paid their birthday money. Stunts, New Year's Resolutions and Refreshments followed, making the party a jolly one. Here are some incites into the girls' resolutions:

Resolved not to compete for two fraternity pins on the campus at the same time, especially since the fraternities are rival ones—Catherine Steltz.

Resolved to be president of the W. C. T. U., as many years as Ella George—Peg Flexer.

Resolved not to send Evelyn Bowser to the post office more than once daily with a letter addressed to Jason Snyder—Mae Cooper.

Resolved to break her special record—Orpha Hangen.

Resolved not to scratch once this year.—Clara Wilkes.

REPORT ABOUT COLLEGE MERGER FOUND SPURIOUS

Bulletin Investigation Reveals Fact That Most Accounts Are Merely Rumors And Not Authentic

COMMITTEE DECISIONS SECRET

No Definite Action On Albright-Schuylkill Joining Until General Conference In Spring

During the past month there have been many rumors circulated about the proposed merger of Albright and Schuylkill colleges at Reading, which, it was said would be consummated in at least two years, if not next spring. However, a careful investigation by the Bulletin in endeavoring to trace these reports to their origin revealed that practically all of them were spurious and have no authentic backing whatever.

These rumors were circulated during the conference of the Evangelicals and the non-mergerites at Reading during the Christmas holidays. The chief rumor was that the two colleges were to be combined next year under one management, and establishing two units of Albright, one at Myerstown as long as necessary and the other at Reading where Schuylkill is located. This was to have taken place at the beginning of the 1928-29 college year or the following year. Another report had it that the merger would take place next summer, and that the college (Continued On Page Two)

UPPER CLASSMEN WIN IN INTER-CLASS GAMES

The Inter-class league at Albright got under way last night, when the Seniors trimmed the supposedly strong Freshmen, and the Juniors walloping the Sophomores. Both games were featured by close guarding, and the scores were kept low, as a result. The Seniors look to have the class of the league this year, and by all appearances should romp away with the title, with only a little opposition from the Juniors.

The playing of the teams look better this year than ever, and as a result should draw good crowds.

The Seniors took the lead in the early part of the game, and was never headed, the yearlings seeming lost with the whirl wind passing attack that the Seniors launched on them, and the result of the game was never in doubt. Garrett and Hane were the big guns in the Senior attack, while Horn and Vickery played well for the first year men.

Gibbens' playing was outstanding in the Juniors play, he accounted for twelve of their twenty points. Sprague was the best the Sophs had to offer. (Continued On Page Two)

N. Y. ALUMNI TO HOLD BANQUET

Tomorrow the Alumni Association of New York and vicinity is holding a luncheon at Hotel Pennsylvania at twelve-thirty.

Secretary Harriet Woodring has sent out notices to all alumni in this district, and as a consequence a large delegation of Albright grads is anticipated.

This luncheon will be similar in nature to the "get-together" meeting last May, which was very successful, and which delighted the large number who attended it.

A few short items of business will be transacted, and questions of general interest to the college will be discussed, and after that the "good old college songs" will be revived.

FAREWELL CONCERT BY RED & WHITE THIS EVENING

Albright Song Artists To Appear In College Chapel For Final Concert In Myerstown

HOT PROGRAM ARRANGED

This evening the College "Red and White Quartette" is going to render its farewell concert for the "home folks." They have announced that this will be their last formal appearance in Myerstown, not only for this year, but for all time, since two of their members go with the class of 1928.

The quartette has made an enviable record for itself during the three years of its existence not only in the college, but thru the eastern part of the state, and in Maryland. They have broadcasted. During the Christmas Holidays they gave several concerts in and about York. Singing New Year's Eve in Louis J. Appell's big theatre. Last week end they went over big in the town of Schuylkill Haven with capacity houses. They have excellent recommendations from several noted music critics and have the reputation of being possibly the best College Quartette in the East. And beyond a doubt they make up the greatest singing organization Albright has ever known.

The college calendar and several outside engagements make it necessary to give their last home concert this week instead of later as they originally planned.

They have their programme arranged so that they can please their audience and give them the music and entertainment they crave, whether it be down, fancy, cross-stitch, catch as catch can, collegiate or Greco-Roman. (Continued On Page Three)

YORK COUNTY ALUMNI BRANCH HOLDS MEETING

Prof. Zener Speaks At Annual Meeting In York—Well Attended By Both Alumni and Present Students

The York County branch of the Alumni association of Albright college held its annual holiday meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Bailey, 729 West Poplar Street, York, on Thursday evening, Dec. 29, 1927. Approximately 40 persons were present. Miss Anna Bailey, of the class of 1916, was the hostess.

During a brief business meeting C. Earl Baumeister, '18, of the York High school faculty, was re-elected president of the branch. Other officers were re-elected as follows: Vice president, Miss Anna Bailey; secretary, Dale H. Gramley, and treasurer, Miss Janet Keltreider.

Addresses were made by Prof. V. C. Zener, head of the education department at Albright college, and the Rev. J. W. Thompson, of York, a member of the trustee board of the school. Elwood McGuigan and Glenn Garrett, present students at Albright sang several duet numbers. H. A. Bailey led in singing college songs and medleys. (Continued On Page Two)

Speedy And Thrilling Contest Lost To Fast Juniata Club In Closing Minutes Of Play

SENSATIONAL SHOTS FEATURE

Red And White Shows Good Form In First Game of Season—Sherid and Karlip Lead Scoring For Albright

Juniata staging a strong second half finish, nosed out the Red and White in the opening game of the season on the home floor.

Albright had the game well in hand for the first half, but the Juniata passers began to locate the basket in the second half, and gradually pulled away from the Wellerites. Only one varsity man from last year was in the starting lineup for Albright, Sherid, the big center, who was the high scorer last year was the only veteran to start, Karlip and DeBolt two newcomers were the starting forwards with Slaughter were the starting guards.

Practically the whole squad saw action in the game, and all put up a good game and with a little further seasoning should develop into a good combination.

Albright took the game in the first minute of play, when Karlip shot one through the cords. Juniata tied it when Berry sank a long one in. Sherid put them in the lead again with a pretty shot under the basket, and from then on Albright had the game in hand for the first half, holding a nine point lead at half time. The passing attack of the Red and White could not be stopped in the first twenty minutes of play, they swept the opposing team off their feet, but the second half was another story. Juniata started relying on (Continued On Page Two)

COACH WEBER NAMES VARSITY DEBATE LINEUP

Veteran Team Will Represent Albright On Rostrom—Flory, Wadsworth, and Shaw New Members

START SOCIAL PROBLEM CLASS

Last Thursday, Coach Weber announced his varsity debate team for the coming season which will open shortly after mid-years, instead of during mid-year week as happened last year. The teams as they will debate this year are as follows: Affirmative, Leon C. Hood, (C), Warren B. Wadsworth, Ernest L. Heckert, and Bill Shaw, alternate. Negative, Russell D. Loucks, (C), B. Garrison Wilkes, Elwood J. McGuigan, and Jay Flory, alternate.

This team represents more veteran material than an Albright debate team has had in a number of years. For the affirmative team, Hood has two years of varsity experience, with Heckert one. Wadsworth is the only (Continued On Page Three)

PRES. BOWMAN TO ATTEND CONFERENCE AT ATLANTIC CITY

Also Invited To Become Member of American Council of Education

The college presidents of the Evangelical Church are holding their annual session at Hotel Chalfonte-Haddon Hall, Atlantic City, this week. The association of American Colleges is also in session at the same place. President Bowman will attend both sessions.

The President of Albright has also been invited to become a member of the American Council of Education, Washington, D. C.

WE GREATLY ENJOYED the chapel service conducted by Dr. Fluck, last week.

"MINNIE" HAD a splendid meal for us, last Friday noon.

THE "RED AND WHITE" Quartette has done a lot by way of advertising our college and we should show our appreciation this evening by attending their concert.

DR. J. A. HECK, president of our Alumni Association is a real worker, and is showing himself to be a loyal Albrightian. He spent all of last Monday here in Myerstown, making arrangements for the annual Mid-Year Assembly, so that there would be some attractions here to bring our Alumni back. He seemed to have succeeded very well and received the pledge of the student body to make this function the best yet.

NO CAUSE FOR ALARM

Despite the fact that a number of anonymous rumors have been floating around the campus that Albright will be moved to Reading next year, etc., still there is no reason for alarm. All fears arising from this source can be quieted, and any fears for the future mollified. It is possible since it is believed that this college will not be kept here much longer that a general attitude of indifference and listlessness may appear. However, it should not. As long as the college remains in Myerstown, there is no reason to give up the ship or toss up any sponges. The old Albright spirit can be maintained.

It is true that an ultimate merger of the two Evangelical schools, Albright and Schuylkill is inevitable. Time is sure to consummate this joining. But it can not be accomplished in one brief year. A million dollar drive is to be launched at Schuylkill soon, but it will be a matter of years before any tangible results of this will be materialized. And until this happens, a certain number of students will be spending their evenings in the Taste Good Shop rather than in high opera. So while we are here let us revive the old spirit, and live as intensely as possible while we have the chance. It will be with us for a while, but not for always.

Again, just as certain that Albright will be eventually moved to Reading, just as sure is it that the name "Albright College" will be retained. As much of the Albright tradition and old student lore and customs will be retained. The Albright literary societies, organizations and fraternities will not lose their identity. On the other hand, it is to be expected that after the college which has changed location a number of times moves into a permanent location it will grow with a renewed vigor and vitality. It will take root in fertile soil and will grow much more than it has done here, it is probable.

A "Greater Albright" is within our reach now as never before. Let us not jeopardize these potentialities by laying down on the job now.

IF YOU CAN'T BOOST DON'T KNOCK

In the opening court game of the season with Juniata on the home floor there was evidenced a spirit of poor sportsmanship mingled with a tinge of disloyalty as a number of rooters who should have been rooting and boosting the local team started razzing several of the players on the team. For all practical intents and purposes, the Red and White might as well have been playing on a foreign court. The fact is that most schools show more hospitality and razz the visiting team far less than the Albright five was razzed on their own floor.

Such an attitude manifested by their own schoolmates must be extremely disconcerting and discouraging to any players who are at least trying to do all their best. And despite the fact that the Wellermen did not win, they must be given great credit for leading the veteran Juniata team, every man with only one exception is playing his fourth year of basketball, throughout most of the game, losing only on a series of long and lucky shots in the closing minutes of the game. Besides, the invading five has played several games this year, which was another disadvantage for the locals.

We owe it to our team at least to give them all the moral support we can. We must give them credit for trying their best, even though they don't invariably win. And let this fact be considered: That before anyone is justified in razzing and criticising another he must be sure he can do better than the one who can play better, then his place is on out there is something wrong again. He is a quitter and a slacker for his college.

REPORTS ABOUT COLLEGE

MERGER FOUND SPURIOUS

In an endeavor to get the correct information for the readers of the Bulletin, many of whom are anxious for authentic information. The truth of the matter is that there is nothing authentic at the present time. Practically all of the articles which have appeared in the press are at best newspaper stories, and have very little truth in them. The committee, composed of members of the trustee boards of Albright and Schuylkill are keeping whatever decisions they have reached under cover, and are not available for publication. The fact is that some of the reports which appeared in the dailies were even surprises to the members of the conference, and caused them considerable chagrin. They were news to the authorities at Schuylkill, as well as at Albright, neither of whom seem to know anything about it.

Ever since the merger of the Evangelicals and United Evangelicals in 1923 it has been a foregone conclusion that Albright and Schuylkill, being controlled by the same denomination would be joined because of their juxtaposition. This is true, though it is equally true that nothing definite about the time or details of this merger is known.

According to Professor Zener there will be nothing definite done until the general conferences of the Evangelical church this spring. It is probable that the matter will be thrashed out then, and possible that some definite conclusion will be reached. However, until this occurs, there is no cause for alarm or litigation around the Albright campus. At least it seems likely that none of the undergrads will need to bother themselves about making reservations for Reading next year.

BEBE DANIELS IN "SHE'S A SHEIK" IS SURE TO AMUSE

It's laugh week at the Myerstown Theatre. Bebe Daniels is there Friday and Saturday, in her funniest film, "She's A Sheik", and she's literally spreading happiness in hand-fuls. Manager Kreiser swears that though people may enter the theatre with long faces, when they emerge, smiles beam forth.

"She's A Sheik" presents Bebe in what is said to be the best role of her cyclonic life before the camera. As Zaida, bewitching granddaughter of Sheikh Yusif ben Hamad, Bebe is given a chance to indulge in all the rapid-fire action and laugh situations that Clarence Badger, the director, could devise.

Coming next week—Monday, Olive Borden in "The Secret Studio," Wed. and Thurs. John G. P. in "Twelve Miles Out," Fri. and Sat. Ronald Colman and Anna Banky in "The Winning of Barbara Worth." Coming, Feb. 9-10-11—"Ben Hur."

YORK COUNTY ALUMNI

BRANCH HOLDS MEETING

Prof. Zener, in his remarks, congratulated the alumni branch on the organization it has effected and the interest it shows in Albright. He suggested that other communities throughout the state, where Albright alumni center, form similar organizations. He also made other timely suggestions for the good of the York County branch.

The genial education "prof" then reviewed events at Albright and gave thumb nail sketches of the several faculty members with whom most of the alumni are acquainted.

The Rev. J. W. Thompson spoke of the proposed consolidation of Albright and Schuylkill colleges and assured the members of the branch that the school would be called Albright. He said a commission is now engaged in a complete survey of the situation, and reports that it may have a definite plan to offer within the next two months.

A luncheon was served by Miss Bailey and her parents at the close of the program.

The following were present: The Misses Janet M. Kaltreider, Eva Laucks, Mary Kelly, Gladys Snyder, Anna M. Bailey, Caroline Illick, Mabel F. Crowell, Jennie M. Kline, Bertha Hartman and Eleanor Stover; the Rev. and Mrs. H. L. Flick, Prof. and Mrs. V. C. Zener, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Burg, the Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Welch, the Rev. and Mrs. I. E. D. DOCTOR TIBBETTS, FAMED ORATOR AT COLLEGE CHURCH

Speaks On Religious-Patriotic Theme
On Sunday Morning

Dr. J. M. Tibbetts, a distinguished orator on Religious-Patriotic themes, will give an address in the College Church on Sunday morning. He will also give an address in the afternoon and evening in other Myerstown churches.

Dr. J. M. Tibbetts was born and reared upon a farm located in the rough and rugged hill and timber country of Southern Minnesota. His parents were of that sturdy, verile type of American Christian manhood and womanhood from which come our most valuable citizenship. He is 100% American.

For the last twenty-five years he has distinguished himself upon the American platform as a preacher, lecturer, Chautauqua and Lyceum platform and business manager, as well as the director of great educational and patriotic campaigns throughout the nation.

Dr. Tibbetts was for five years the manager of the New England headquarters for the National Reform Association with his office at 408 Pierce Building, Boston. He is now the manager of the Field Work Department with headquarters at 209 9th Street, Pittsburgh.

He is considered a great orator, both dramatic and humorous. His ability to hold his audiences with his vital and gripping personality and his orator is proclaimed by many appreciations by noted men in the religious world. It will be worth while for any one to hear this lecture of vital importance.

COLLEGE WEARISOME TO FAMOUS AUTHORS

Many American Writers Expelled
From Universities, Later
Attained Success

DREISER FOUND ON LIST

Authors Not Generally Known in School For Scholarly Ability

Has the United States a distinguished kicker-out-of-college list? Oxford today reveres the memory of Shelley, John Locke, William Penn, Edward Gibbon and Walter Savage Landor. Yet these men were such unruly undergraduates that they were all expelled from the university, charged with such crimes as sedition, atheism, duel fighting and manslaughter. Has this country a comparable list?

The writer broadcasts this question for enterprising researchers. There was, of course, the next expulsion of John Fiske from Harvard in 1861. Young Fiske was one of the first to be stirred in America by the Darwinian discoveries. The faculty was frightened at this serious and exceptionally well-bred sophomore. And they finally got something on him. He was observed reading from a volume of Comte in church and was swiftly summoned for punishment. Taken before the faculty he was charged with disseminating infidelity among the students and with "gross misconduct" at church. Fiske denied the former allegation and admitted the latter. Although several faculty members wanted to suspend him for a year he was let off with a "public admonition." James MacNeill Whistler, like Poe before him, was expelled from West Point for poor scholarship. In his third year he was found deficient in chemistry. One Colonel Larned gives the following account of the incident:

"Whistler said: 'Had Silicon been a gas, I would have been a Major General.' He was called up for examination on the subject of chemistry. When called upon to recite he started: 'I am required to discuss the subject of Silicon. Silicon is a gas.' 'That will do, Mr. Whistler,' and he retired quickly to private life."

Syracuse Dismissed Crane

As might be expected the writers of the contemporary era revealed a more rebellious spirit in their student days than their Victorian predecessors. Some were dismissed, others left voluntarily, an atmosphere they found much to tiffing. With them should be classed Stephen Crane. Thomas Beer has this to say to Crane's year at the University of Syracuse. "He lounged at Syracuse in the back room of a restaurant, and other freshmen were impressed by a classmate who sold sketches to the Detroit Free Press and who assured them that the police court was the most interesting place in Syracuse. He got notice from the faculty by telling a professor that he disagreed with St. Paul's theory of sin and seriously shocked the wife of another authority by declining to meet Mrs. Willard at her home for the reason that he thought Mrs. Willard a fool. . . . As for college, it was a damned nuisance and he was glad to have done with all things academic in June."

One year was all that Theodore Dreiser needed of the University of Indiana. W. M. Toner wrote in the New Student, December 19, 1925. "He was a student here then, but he was not known through scholarly ability or athletic prowess. He plodded through his first year, then left, conscious only of an acute inapprehension concerning the polite usages of education in our factory of knowledge. His particular fire of intellectual power could only grow brilliant under the bellows of personal tutelage. As it was, this fire only smoldered under the cramping exigencies of the class room in the pursuit of a particular formula."

There was no place for Theodore Dreiser in the scheme of the university. To every one who knew him then, he was an intellectual misfit. He would wander aimlessly through the fields or sit in a chair at his rooming house tying and untying knots in his handkerchief. The university and life in general held for him nothing but bewilderment. He could find no philosophy that eased his mind towards the prosaic tragedies that surrounded and engulfed him.

Princeton Ousted O'Neill

Eugene O'Neill was expelled from Princeton at the end of his freshman year for a trifling offense. He might have returned in a year, but he was busy experiencing a world whose reverberations never penetrate the precincts of a rural campus. Years afterward he learned to transmute his stock of raw experiences in the fustle of tramp steamers on a gold hunting expedition in Honduras into plays as a student in Prof. Geo. P. Baker's famous 47 Workshop, then at Harvard.—New Student Service.

regular who is seeing his first year of service on the rostrum. However he has plenty of experience in literary society work, and other activities calling for speaking skill. On the Negative team, Loucks, McGuigan and Wilkes were all regulars on last year's team. For this reason the forensic outlook is bright, much more so than last year when an entirely green team took the floor.

In connection with the varsity debating work Dr. Weber is organizing a class in Social Problems. This will include all the debaters, and all others who are interested in this study. The class will meet every Thursday afternoon at four o'clock which has been selected as the hour for the regular weekly meeting of the debating team. In this class the election machinery and the nomination methods will be studied along with the question, "Resolved, That the Primary System for nominating federal and state officials should be abandoned." This class will begin at once.

AN IDEAL VACATION JOB

SHOULD BE PROFITABLE, ENJOYABLE, AND EDUCATIONAL

Students are earning exceptionally good wages selling Donald Brushes. In many instances students have earned more than a year's expense at College, during the three months of Summer Vacation.

Students find selling Donald Brushes a pleasant occupation.

Salesmanship as learned by actual experience in the selling field will be of great value later in your professional life.

The Donald salesman is able to offer real service to house wives as the highest quality material and workmanship go into the manufacture of all Donald Products. Every Donald Brush bears our trade-mark of Quality, is fully guaranteed and endorsed by the Good House Keeping Institute.

A letter of inquiry will bring details of our proposition to students.

"YEA ALBRIGHT AWAKEN"

During the Great World War some of the Sons and Daughters of Albright held themselves in the background whenever the conversation drifted to our ancestors. Well, why not? Didn't the Kaiser lay claim to Pennsylvania as being a part of the Fatherland?

Not so with the ancestors of Albright College; they were a sturdy and a particular lot those early Evangelicals, so particular indeed that I sometimes wonder if they would have accepted us into their clan.

In the early days, the younger element, so I am told were inclined to overstep the social side of life. Our forefathers therefore in order to remove this evil environment from the children of these Particular Evangelicals, founded in 1856 Union Seminary, later Central Pennsylvania College, which were the forerunners of Albright College.

Albright held fast to these principles and it was not until April of 1926 that we let down the bars and became associated with perhaps less Particular schools and colleges of the Central Atlantic States, but the sacrifice was worth all it cost, in, that they immediately placed us on the "White List" just the place Albright belonged.

By a rather strange coincident this same year 1926 was the banner year at Albright so far as student enrollment was concerned as it reached the dizzy height of 350 students, but this year was the 71st birthday of A. C. All therefore was accomplished in 71 years. I am certainly glad this job is over with, but it sure did take a long time to put that across.

Of course, good things take time and traveling by Stage Coach did not compare with Present Day Transportation facilities, but now the question that arises is, "do we know where we are going, and who is going to take us?" You know we are a particular people. Does any one happen to know when the train leaves? What! Did I hear you say we are going to stick to the Stage Coach? Oh, I see, you believe in walking before you run; well, walking for 71 years is some walk.

Speaking of walking, did you ever hear of Russell Conwell? You know he never believed in walking here and walking there, he actually believed there were "Acres of Diamonds" just where he was, so that's why he refused to walk anywhere, and planted Temple University just where he was.

He unlike a great many of us Evangelicals, knew he could not run a college without money. You know there are pencils and school books to buy so he set about making his Budget. As badly as he needed money he would not for a such a lofty purpose take a chance on Uncle Sam's money, so he set out to make Millions out of his "Acres Of Diamonds" and of course you know you can make a lot of money out of Acres of Broad Street, Philadelphia. By the way, speaking of Temple University, this Fall I went to Philadelphia to see my old College (Albright) Foot Ball Team who had scheduled a practice game with Temple. You know all these young schools and colleges so like to get on the foot ball schedules of their older brothers, never the less I personally considered that it was a mistake to put a 71 year old college team against a 15 year old school, because, you know it is so discouraging for a new school to go against an old team like Albright, but not having any thing to do and as the old Albright spirit asserted itself, off I went to Philadelphia.

When I arrived on the Temple Field that Big Red & White team of Albright was already on the field running off some of her pet plays, and just raring to go. My! but I was sorry I couldn't get there in time to join Dr. Killian, that other faithful Albright Alumni to cheer our team as they went on the field. It certainly must have given the Albright team a thrill when playing so far away from home to hear Dr. Killian cheer them. They never expected an alumnus of Albright to take the time to go to the game to cheer his Alma Mater.

Next year I am going down to Philadelphia the day before so the team can have two Alumni give the Locomotive cheer as the team enters the field; how thrilling that will be to the team, I sure do hope that neither of us die before then, still they say you can never kill an Albright or Yale spirit.

Well, as I was saying while our team was running through its plays this young Temple team began to enter the field, and to my amazement Temple actually trotted out a player for every enrolled student at Albright, even including the girls at Mohn Hall.

I think I know now what killed Russell Conwell. Just think, every year he had to buy books and pencils for 13,000 students. Its strange isn't it over in New York we fly around as though every man and woman on the street was one of our creditors, and you know how we do try to get away from these unsocial quitters, but it seems this is necessary in order to earn enough money to buy pencils and books for our child or two. Well, when Russell Conwell died the University knew they couldn't expect a School Mom or School Pa to spend his own hard earned money for these 13,000 students pencils and books, so they did the sensible thing and looked around for one of the smartest business men who had lots of real banking experience, because they needed a man who was accustomed to handling big figures.

The breaks were with Temple, they found a business man and banker by the name of Charles E. Bury, to show you that he's a smart man he is already Dr. Charles E. Bury, this just goes to show what a good business man and banker can do when he makes up his mind, it is a well known fact that as successful as he was in banking business you could never find him in his office more than 24 hours or so a day.

Well I know Dr. Bury is making good at Temple, because I noticed that every one of the 13,000 Temple students at the Albright-Temple game had a book and pencil to record the final score, Albright 0, Temple 13, it seemed no matter what Albright would do Temple team just insisted on making 1 point for every 1,000 students.

This old world is surely a funny place, it seems, that what one loses the other gains, well any way their was a man at the Albright-Temple game who spent too much time making money in North Philadelphia to be an Alumnus of a 15 year old school, but, nevertheless, the man who I learned after the game was a Mr. Erny, of North Philadelphia. Mr. Erny who like most well to do men is an enthusiastic lover of College sports, so he thought he would go to the game to see this big Red & White team of which he read so much about.

Just before the conclusion of the game I saw him edge his way through those 13,000 Temple students to the players bench on the side lines, where he saw President Bury seated, giving the team all he had, by way of encouragement. He made such an impression on Mr. Erny that this together with the fact that this young Temple team won a glorious victory over this 71 year old College, that he said to President Bury, "Dr. Bury you through your conspicuous loyalty to your Temple team inspired them to win this great victory, you have also inspired me to such an extent I want you to build an up-to-date Stadium for Temple team, for say 80,000 people and send me the bill, but I want you to build it the Temple way i. e. "build today for tomorrow."

I say—
Where is Albright's Russell Conwell?

Where is Albright's Dr. Bury?
Where is Albright's Benefactor, Mr. Erny?

afternoon or evening. I am hoping that all of these items and others will be included among events.

I know it will be most worthwhile for you to return, if genuine old-fashioned Albright blood still flows in your veins. Come! All who possibly can, come! The students want "pep"; we need it! We make this as big an occasion as our annual meeting at Commencement? "Let's go!"

UNDRGRADUATES!
GET BUSY!

You have no doubt read this letter. Much of the success of our assembly depends upon you who are at present students in the college. First of all, will you plan to remain in Myerstown over the first weekend of February? Then, see to it that there will be something of interest every moment of the time, at least on Friday evening and all day Saturday. Save some of your real good events for us! What is of interest to you will be to us. Finally, come out 100% for everything—meetings, games, socials.

The old Albright spirit won crucial football games last Fall. That same spirit surely can make this mid-year assembly the biggest thing in Alumni history.

Yours for "Greater Albright",
J. A. HECK, Pres. A. A.

THE VALUE OF EXTRA-CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES

The theory that indulgence in extra-curricular activities is fatal to scholarship has at length been relegated to its proper place among outworn superstitions and fancies. An investigation conducted by the sociology department of this university brought forth statistics which prove that those who are most actively engaged in work which is not included in the curriculum are also those who rank highest in scholars' ip. Good students are interested in these outside activities and honor students in four.

It is not hard to find reasons why this is so. In the first place, only capable students who are not forever grubbing through books, will have the time to devote to extra-curricular work. It is the capable student, too, who will have the talent to engage in such activities as dramatics, debating, etc. student government, or student publications. In most cases it requires ability to obtain good marks. It is therefore obvious that the same student will rank high in scholarship and in extra-curricular activity.

The time that an individual spends in college should result in his preparation for active competition in the world, after he has graduated. While in some degree the work that he does in scholastic courses helps to fit him for this, yet it does not provide as much as might be desired of competition between man and man. It is this alone which will result in his becoming capable of holding his own once he has entered the world of action. Extra-curricular activity and the work required to obtain success in it are the finest ways of acquiring such training while in college. The qualifications for a clerk specify that he be able to concentrate and to perform mental labor. They do not necessarily require that he be capable of making his way in the face if obstacles which present themselves when other men become ambitious. The qualifications for a successful business man require that he should both be able to perform difficult mental labor and at the same time be able to protect his own interests and the interests of those he represents.

—Money may not mean everything, but almost everything means money.
