MID-YEAR ALUMNI ASSEMBLY HELD

Various Week-end Attractions Combine to Make Gathering a Successful Affair

BUSINESS SESSION IS OF IMPORTANCE

One of the most pleasant mid-year alumni gatherings that have ever been held was that of Feb. 2 and 3, 1923, when about thirty former students and graduates of the college availed themselves of the opportunity afforded by the mid-year assembly to renew old acquaintances and enjoy the program prepared for the week-end.

Rev. P. E. Keen, president of the alumni association brought a fitting word of greeting from alumni to the student body at the Friday morning chapel service. The business meeting of the association was held at 4:00 P. M. Very little business was transacted before supper hour, 5:00 o'clock. At the latter hour by previous arrangement, all the alumni partook of supper together in the private dining hall of the college. There were twenty-two persons who were thus privileged to enjoy this hour of fellowship together.

The alumni basketball game was played at 7:00 P. M. This contest lacked a certain degree of interest because there were only three alumni available for the team, which had to be completed by the addition of two undergraduates. The final score was 60-13 in favor of the varsity. There should be more interest taken in this annual contest by members of our former varsity teams, so that alumni may be more fully represented. The three men who played, Benfer '15, Becker '10, and Boyer '19, displayed skill in handling the ball, and are to be commended for making possible this contest.

Following the game, the association convened to complete its business.

On Saturday afternoon the Varsity Girls Basketball team went down to defeat at the hands of the Alumnae Girls—tune 10-8. This game was followed by the contest between Varsity and State Forestry. Accounts of these games will be found elsewhere.

A very pleasant social hour was enjoyed in Mohn Hall reception room.

FAST FRESHMAN TEAM LEADS IN CLASS GAMES

The Freshmen hold the upper hand in the Interclass basketball games, due to their three victories in a row without defeat. The Preps have a safe grip on the cellar position with three defeats. The classes show their spirit by the rivalry in cheering.

How The Classes Stand

	Won	Lost	P.C.
Freshmen, . . . . .	3	0	1000
Seniors, . . . . .	1	1	.500
Juniors, . . . . .	1	1	.500
Sophs, . . . . .	1	1	.500
Preps, . . . . .	0	3	.000

The scores of the games which represent the above standing of the teams are as follows:

Juniors, . . . . .	12	6-18
Sophomores, . . . . .	5	8-13
Freshmen, . . . . .	9	20-29
Preps, . . . . .	10	0-10
Sophomores, . . . . .	8	8-16
Preps, . . . . .	8	7-15
Freshmen, . . . . .	15	15-30
Seniors, . . . . .	6	10-16
Seniors, . . . . .	10	13-23
Preps, . . . . .	3	6-9
Freshmen, . . . . .	10	14-24
Juniors, . . . . .	5	11-16

SENIORS TREATED TO SLEIGHING PARTY

Last in the procession of sleighing parties, the Seniors nevertheless felt repaid for waiting when Saturday evening, February 10th, arrived. The night was perfect, the sleighing hardly less so, and everyone's spirits tuned up in harmony with the occasion. At the invitation of Miss Irene Ibach, a member of '23, the destination was her home in Newmantown, and eight o'clock found twenty-five Seniors together with the popular Prof. and Mrs. Zener, gayly greeting their hosts. "Rene" and her parents proved most delightful hosts. In harmony with the season, a scheme of Valentine decoration was used throughout the house and gay little Cupids and Hearts peered from every conceivable nook, from floor to ceiling. The earlier hours fed rapidly in informal game and song. Then at ten o'clock came the supper,—such a supper as is thought to have gone out of existence except in the memories of grandfathers. Ample evidence of its excellence is the fact that the big table was not finally cleared until 12 o'clock. After that crowning event, at a gentle suggestion from the "chaps" as to the lateness of the hour, and a rousing "Broom" yell for the Ibachs, the happy crowd piled into the sled for a quieter ride home. Needless to repeat, the class of '23 has noted Saturday night as the "best time ever" in her history—thanks to Miss Ibach.

NEOCOSMIANS HOLD 65TH ANNIVERSARY

Program Presented Reveals Great Ability and Talent

In the College Chapel on Friday evening, February 9th, a most interesting literary and musical program was rendered. The occasion was the Sixty-fifth anniversary of the Neocosmian Literary Society. The program was quite varied and the numbers well selected. It revealed much talent and much preparation. As to its rendition, the "Neos" do certainly practice their motto "Onward," for it was rendered even better than was last year's program. On the whole, the program was the "best yet."

The following was the program: March—"Cincinnati" (Cook)—College Orchestra.

Invocation.—Prof. Zener. Address of Welcome—Charles Raffensperger.

Vocal Solo—"My Open Fire"—(Spross)—Myron Teter.

Discussion—"The Secret of Lincoln's Greatness" Quartet—Selected.

Fred Luckenbill, Myron Teter, Frank Kyle, and Charles Yost.

Oration.—N. Ellsworth Escott.

"The Challenge of To-morrow."

Music—"Rigoletto" (Verdi)—College Orchestra.

Reading—"Out to Aunt Mary's"—(Riley)—Charles Yost.

MISS MARY KIESS ENTERTAINS SENIORS

On the evening of January 26 the Senior Class was delightfully entertained at the home of Mary Kiess.

The evening was most enjoyably spent recalling interesting incidents and events relating to the Class during its four years. Sara Statler and Myron Teter rendered very pleasing vocal selections, and Miss Statler also entertained at the piano.

The refreshments were especially enjoyed. Daintily arranged sandwiches, salad and ice cream and cake were served at the end of a very pleasant evening. Each member of the Class left voting Miss Kiess a very charming hostess.

DR. STOBER KEEPS INTEREST IN A. C.

In Spite of Illness Grants Interview and Contributes Article To Bulletin

WAS FORMERLY HEAD OF DEPT. OF BIOLOGY

Former students and old friends of Albright will be delighted to read the following article by Dr. Stober, Professor-emeritus of our college. We are doubly grateful to Dr. Stober for his kindness and thoughtfulness, when we are reminded that he has been an invalid for so many years, and was forced to dictate this article to Mrs. Stober from his bed. The Bulletin wishes to express its appreciation for his kindness and loyalty to Albright as expressed by his voluntary contribution. We feel sure that we express the sentiment of his many friends both in and outside of the college, when we extend sincerest thanks and best wishes to both Dr. and Mrs. Stober.—Editor.

I recognize the fact that this is a very broad subject to discuss in a limited article for a college publication. It is not my purpose to discuss this subject exhaustively, but rather to divest myself of certain thoughts that I have in mind along this line.

In speaking of the function of anything, we have in mind the use of this term as it is employed in the organic sciences. When we speak of the function of an organ in the body, we have reference to its use or its activity in relation to other organs of the body with which it must act harmoniously in order to secure the health of the individual. Thus, when we speak of the function of the heart, we have reference to its use in propelling the blood through the body; at the function of the liver whose distinctive office is to secrete bile and to convert sugar into glycogen and also to probably secrete certain hormones which are essential.

SCIENCE CLUB HOLDS AFTERNOON PROGRAM

At the meeting of the Science Club at four P. M. Monday, the following program was enjoyed:

Current Events.—Violet Kinsinger. Miscellaneous.—E. Fred Dice.

Lecture.—Fred E. Luckenbill. Miss Kinsinger gave many recent events of scientific import. Some of these were the manufacture of leather from shark skins, the recent use of weeds, how electricity causes death, the production of alcohol from acorns (shelled acorns contain forty per cent of starch) for industrial purposes, and the progress of the use of electricity.

Mr. Dice discussed the manufacture of alcohol.

SOME DATA ON OUR Y. M. C. A. SOCIAL ROOM

For several years our predecessors have been laboring for a Y. M. C. A. Social Room. It is true that this was partially realized, after the breaking up of the Albright College S. A. T. C. in December of 1918; but the idea was abandoned at that time on account of the poor location and inadequate entertainment facilities.

So it was with great joy that the present Y. M. C. A. cabinet greeted the opportunity of having that splendid room west of Dr. Bowman's and Dr. Gobble's Class-Rooms. It took a long time to get this Social Room into proper shape, for it must be remembered that all the furnishings have been donated.

Through the efforts of Dr. Hunt and the Executive Committee we secured four Splendid Mission Rockers, one 9x3 ft. reading table and a 2x4 ft. writing table. The School also furnished three 2x2 ft. checker tables and we secured three splendid marbled slate checker boards from a Bangor Slate Company. Mr. Wilhelm the Hardware man, presented two sets of checkers, followed by "Rip" and McFall each with a set. The climax in decorations for the room came, when Mrs. H. A. Benfer donated three sets of beautiful long curtains for the windows, and Coach Benfer scouted thru Old Main producing six athletic pictures, 16 pennants borrowed from members of various classes, Frats.

"COACH" KELCHNER IS SPEAKER FOR THE Y'S

Delivers "Game of Life" With Much Pep and Enthusiasm

The combined Christian Associations, as well as the people of the town, enjoyed former Coach Kelchner's lecture, "The Game of Life," delivered in the local church on Wednesday evening. Prof. Kelchner drove home his points with numerous analogies and illustrations from various sports, especially from baseball, his major sport.

The speaker began by asserting that Christianity has not failed. Loyalty, training and self sacrifice are needed; one wishes to play his best in the game of life. An athlete representing the Red and White will win if he is loyal. The game of life differs from sports in that here, every one plays on the varsity. Besides, the latter game is for eternity. Do we play it fairly, cleanly, and do we give our best? If a baseball player does not accept a chance for a "put out," he is open to the accusation of having "sold out," of "having money on the game."

The development of soul in the game of life is analogous to the development of physique in sports.

Many a game is lost because the players do not know all the rules. The rule book in the game of life

KAPPAS ENTERTAINED BY DR. AND MRS. BOWMAN

On Tuesday evening, February 6, the Kappa Upsilon Phi Fraternity was royally entertained by Dr. Bowman. Even though there was great difficulty in reaching Faculty Heights through the raging snowstorm, each one seemed to enjoy himself immensely. Sara Statler entertained the happy bunch with a vocal solo and encore. After a bit of coaxing "Daddy" Miller sang "She Is Mine, All Mine." In a short time the doors were thrown open and a table was awaiting for the party in the adjoining room. The places were soon found by means of dainty place cards. There were

ALBRIGHT ADDS THREE MORE WINS

Alumni, State Forestry, and Moravian Defeated By Our Fast-passing Basketeers

ROLL UP 155 POINTS TO BUT 45 FOR OPPONENTS

ALBRIGHT 61—ALUMNI 13

The Alumni quintet led by "Haps" Benfer himself proved to be an easy match for his speedy varsity in the annual Alumni game. The pace set by the younger boys was too much for the old timers who went down to defeat by the score of 61 to 13.

In spite of defeat the Alumni put up a pretty game. Becker, who practices law in Lebanon, left his office and came down to engage in his favorite pastime. The long lay-off seemed to have no effects on him, for time and again his long accurate passes brought cheers from the crowd. While he was in the center position he invariably got the jump on Zellers. Benfer was off form. The big star had difficulty in locating the basket. Most of his shots landed near, but not near enough to count.

Dech led the Varsity in scoring, the clever forward getting nine field goals. Raffensperger came next with seventeen points. Thruout the second half the varsity played a defensive game entirely. Numerous substitutions were made on both sides.

Varsity	Alumni
Dech	Abel
Raffensperger	Benfer
Zellers	Becker
Miller	Mechaffie
Hollenbaugh	Boyer

Substitutions: Miller for Raffensperger, Ziegenfuss for Zellers, Derr for Miller; Boyer for Benfer, Benfer for Becker, Becker for Boyer.

Field Goals: Dech 9, Raffensperger 7, Miller 5, Zellers 6, Hollenbaugh 2, Benfer 2, Boyer 1, Abel 1.

Foul Goals: Raffensperger 3 out of 4, Benfer 5 out of 10.

Referee: Rohland.

ALBRIGHT 54—FORESTRY 20

State College of Forestry was an easy match for the Red and White in the game played Saturday. Albright won 54 to 20. The Albright tossers piled up 27 goals from the field against the visitors 7. In passing, shooting and covering up, the home boys easily excelled the visitors.

RED AND WHITE GIRLS DEFEAT ALUMNI 10-8

The Albright Girls won a hard fought contest from the Alumni Girls in their annual Alumni Day game by the score of 10 to 8. Miller's goal in the last half minute of play broke the tie and saved the day for the younger set. Sutton and Cully played the best game for the Alumni. Hoffman and King, two former Myerstown High stars, excelled for the Red and White Girls.

Albright Girls	Alumni Girls
L. Hoffman	M. Cully
I. King	R. Sutton
E. Curry	M. Willard
A. Ritter	G. Long
M. Miller	C. Cole

Substitutions: M. Woodring for E. Curry.

Field Goals: Hoffman 2, King 1, Woodring 1, Miller 1, Cully 2, Sutton 1.

Foul Goals: Hoffman 0 out of 2; Sutton 2 out of 5.

LEADERSHIP

One of the great deficiencies in society to-day is that of leadership. Go where you will, there is a scarcity of real leaders. Efficient leaders are needed in the religious, economic, political and industrial worlds.

Take for instance the religious world. We are looking for a leader or leaders who can head the forces of righteousness and unite them in one spiritual unity to battle evil. But where is the Moses, the Paul, the Wycliff, or the Luther? Leaders like these men are not to be found.

Look into the economic and commercial world. Someone is needed to stabilize the great economic unrest. Business is at a standstill in many places. Commercial relations are at very low ebb. A leader is needed to harmonize all agencies in the operation of these great social forces.

Let us set ourselves into the political world. Where is the man who can wield his powerful influences and say, "Follow me?" Politics needs someone to lead its forces into a status compatible with the best interests of the state.

Glance at the industrial world. One dreads to mention the deplorable situation in our own country. One hesitates to speak of it lest he reveal the calamitous situation in our national organism. But, we need leaders to rebuild the broken walls and brace the trembling structure. If men do not arise who are capable of adjusting this calamity, the whole world will again be submerged in another war.

Thus, everywhere we look there is a lack of real leadership. Of course, we do not deny the fact that there are efficient men at the head of the various departments, but we need more men of the same caliber. We need men fibered with the material of which Washington was made.

In the person of Washington we see an unparalleled leader. Perhaps no other American was as great a leader as Washington. He was a man who was able to mold human thought. He had the ability to sway public opinion. He held American sympathy, feeling and co-operation as no other American ever did. The entire public eye of our nation was focused upon this man and listening eagerly for his word of command.

Here was a leader. The American nation needs another of his type. We feel, moreover, that these leaders must come from the colleges; and, that it is the duty of every college student to be a leader in the respective world of which he makes himself a part.

A REMINDER

We have become so used to the variety and large number of cultural opportunities open to us here at Albright that we no longer give them any particular thought. But when we stop to reflect,—do we not enjoy innumerable privileges for a town so small as Myerstown?

Within the past year alone we have heard Paul Alt-haus and Elsie Baker who are numbered among the foremost artists of our Country. In the near future we are to hear Arthur Middleton an artist of equal rank, as well as the Harp-Vocal Artists. Among the lecturers have included Judge Lindsay and Russell Conwell. We have seen high-class presentation of Shakespearean drama to say nothing of the excellent Lyceum and Chautauqua programs offered.

All these we have accepted and enjoyed with perhaps little or no realization of the fact that we are peculiarly fortunate. Is it not altogether fitting that we awaken to an appreciation of our debt, of our gratitude to the local high school authorities and the patrons who are responsible for a large per cent of the pleasure in our life at Albright?

"A grateful mind
By owing owes not, but still pays, at once Indebted and discharged."

—Milton "Paradise Lost."

Campus Chatter

BY THE PARROT

The big event of the mid-winter season, the Alumni meet, is over. Since that is past, things will seem a trifle dull for a while. There is always a lull about this time of year, and one naturally turns his thoughts Springward. The Spring promises us big things.

Shall we look ahead a little? There will be the Concert trips, a recital by the students of the School of Music, several parties are hoped for, perhaps a play or two, (who knows?), and, far, far ahead, the Junior Prom, always the event of the year.

Some editorials in the last issue provoked much comment and dire criticism. That is the purpose of editorials—did you not know? If the shoe that is offered fits, why not put it on?

A popular in-door sport is being laid up with gripe, tonsillitis, severe colds or other kindred winter ailments. Whoever will not welcome Spring and warmer weather will please hold up the right hand.

Among those former students and friends whom everyone was glad to welcome during Alumni Assembly were: "Sixty" Christ, Ruth Sutton, "Bill" Spangler, and "Jake" Jacoby, all '21; Grace Pewterbaugh Long, "Peg" Willard, both '22.

Miss Alice Whiteman, a performer on the Swarthmore Chautauqua, was a guest at the Hall during the Myerstown engagement. She is a friend of Verda Wetzel '23, both being from Mount Carmel.

The students were unusually privileged at the Chapel service on Monday, February 5th in hearing Mr. Hertzalis, manager of the Swarthmore Chautauqua, speak on "Student Values in Life." The speaker is a man of wide experience and brought his observations right down to student terms. The talk was keenly enjoyed.

We've noticed three Alumni Sorority pledge pins being proudly displayed. Phi Delta Sigma was on the job during the Alumni Reunion. Those pledged are: Mary Woodring, Frances Faust, and Sara Statler.

High society flourishes in Mohn Hall these days and shows itself in "feeds." Nita Miles was the hostess at a Senior "feed"; "Kay" Billman celebrated her birthday by entertaining the Juniors, and Ruth Hostetter proved her affections for the Juniors by a big "feed" one night.

"Deb" Long again distinguished herself by getting in this column. One Friday night all the members of the table were late. She and Weiss sat "a deux" for quite a while. Later, at the Hall she was heard to remark to one of her friends, "Gee, I liked that mush at supper to-night." Did we omit the information that mush and milk was on the menu?

Eccentrix

It has been suggested, since the inter-class basketball games began, that the Queensbury rules before attempting the inter-collegiate code.

We may not be enjoying these sudden storms and thaws, but cheer up, it won't be long until the campus will be green with leaves, grass and Freshmen.

Dice suggests that since Gov. Pinchot is going to have Prohibition rigidly enforced in Pennsylvania, we might be able to get some cheap swinging doors to take the place of the ones that are always open.

We fail to understand why the basketball team of the College of Osteopathy refused to rub elbows with our team since rubbing is the art they are perfecting.

When a certain Freshman was told that the new piano in the Chapel was of the Adam design, he replied by saying that he didn't know that Adam had a piano.

Now that the season is about half passed, isn't it about time for the basketball schedules to be distributed?

If Pope's statement that "A little learning is a dangerous thing" is true, some students here are in immediate danger and apparently making no effort to protect themselves.

SOCIETY AND CLUB

Y. W. C. A.

The meeting for the evening of February 2nd was in charge of Grace Otto. The subject of the evening was "The Choir of the Centuries".

The subject and its treatment was unique and interesting. The leader gave brief biographical sketches of the great hymn writers and their hymns. Solos composed by the various writers were sung by the girls.

Some of the most interesting Writers discussed were Martin Luther, Isaac Watts, Bishop Kerr, Chas. Wesley, and John Greenleaf Whittier. An interesting feature in the study of these writers and their hymns is that the hymns are expressions of different religious beliefs. However, they appeal to the highest religious feelings of all of us. This proves that the finest religious feelings are common to all, regardless of our difference in the details of worship.

FRATERNITY NOTES

Kappa Upsilon Phi

The Fraternity entertained the following over the week-end of the Alumni Mid-year gathering:

Frank Wray '17, Chas. Smith '17, Wm. Spangler '21 and Truman Jacoby '21.

Zeta Omega Epsilon

The following fraters were entertained by the Fraternity during the week-end of the Alumni mid-year gathering:

Clarence D. Becker, Esq., '10.
Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Boyer, the former '19.
Mr. and Mrs. Eugene A. Long, '18 and '22 respectively.

and two literary Societies and a long panoramic view of the school. At the present time this social room is in excellent condition. The Cabinet has borrowed Prof. Benfer's victrola and fifty entertaining records, so that the boys have splendid entertainment for leisure moments.

Those in charge of this room will appreciate very much the kindness of any student or Faculty member who will be willing to place used current magazines or any literature in addition to that placed there by the college Y. M. C. A. All literature placed in this social room will be used exclusively in this room for the male students' reading.

At present we are unable to determine the future policy for conducting this room. But now we are very desirous of starting a Y. M. C. A. Victrola Fund. We are open for suggestions for raising money, and hope that everyone will co-operate with the Y. M. C. A. in attempting to give the male students a proper kind of recreation room for spending the leisure moments in the proper manner.

AROUND THE TOWN

Interesting, educational, entertaining from beginning to end, was the unanimous verdict of the large crowd of people who attended the fourth annual mid-winter Chautauqua on the first four days of February. The Victorian maids delighted the audience with readings and music, while Walfred Linstrom, a man of wide experience, presented a splendid lecture on the "Magic Circle." On the second day the Festival Artists rendered an exceptionally fine program and in the evening, Frank B. Pearson, former Commissioner of Education of Ohio and who is nationally known in educational circles, delivered a lecture on "World Building." On Saturday afternoon the Juniors presented their pageant and a company of actors presented Tarkington's play, "The Ghost." In the evening Myerstown received a treat when a talented caste of players presented the comedy drama, "Cappy Ricks."

Dr. Bowman had charge of the Sunday afternoon services. The Chautauqua superintendent, Mr. Kurtzog, spoke on "Our American Ideals." Miss Sara Statler, of Albright College pleased the audience by a talented rendition of "Come, Ye Blessed," and Braga's "Angels Serenade." She was accompanied by Miss Otto, pianist, and Mr. Brown, violinist.

The Chautauqua was a decided success as was evidenced by the fact that more than twice the number of guarantors necessary for a return engagement were secured before the Chautauqua was over.

The Harp Vocal Ensemble Company have been secured by Professor Davenport for the evening of February 22nd. They appeared in Myerstown several years ago. Tickets can be secured at the local High School office.

On Monday evening, Feb. 5th, the Pellitt players presented a modern play entitled, "The Conflict." Between the acts a representative of Reifsnnyder's music store in Lebanon entertained the crowd with selections from Arthur Middleton, on the latest model Edison Phonograph. Middleton, who is a famous singer, will appear in Myerstown on the fifteenth of March.

MID-YEAR ALUMNI ASSEMBLY HELD

Saturday evening at 6:00 P. M. An informal program had been arranged by a student committee. Quite a number of alumni (chiefly alumnae) were present.

Business Meeting

The following is an abstract of the minutes of the business meetings held Friday, Feb. 2, at 4:00 P. M. and 8:00 P. M. respectively:

Meeting opened with prayer by Rev. C. D. Huber.

Minutes of last meeting read for information.

Presentation of several bills and orders for same drawn upon the treasurer.

The chairman of the program committee reported for his committee. Report was adopted.

Prof. H. A. Benfer reported for the special Committee on Gymnasium Plans and Site. Several architectural plans were submitted for the scrutiny of the association.

Tellers were authorized to count the ballots for alumni trustee and to report at the evening meeting.

Motion to meet again at 8:00 o'clock P. M.

Adjourned.

8:00 P. M.

Pres. L. C. Hunt addressed the association informally, laying special stress upon the efforts to raise the standards of the college.

The secretary announced the election of Mr. Abram H. Young, '08, as alumni representative on the college board of trustees for a term of two years.

Prof. I. C. Keller offered the following resolution, which was adopted: "That it is the thought of the Alumni Association that the action taken by the Board of Trustees in recent session looking forward to meeting the standards set by the Association of Colleges and Preparatory Schools of the Middle States and Maryland be approved, and

That we enthusiastically get back of any action looking to this end."

Rev. J. A. Heck presented the following resolution, which was adopted: "That the Committee on Gymnasium Plans and Site of the Alumni Association be authorized to meet with the Building Committee or Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees of Albright College with a view to fixing the site of the proposed Alumni Memorial, and that the Board of Trustees of the college be petitioned at their next regular session in June to ratify and approve said site and to authorize the erection of said memorial according to the plans adopted by the Alumni Association."

Rev. John Smith then moved that the Alumni Association request the Finance Committee of the Association to begin an earnest campaign to raise $50,000 or more, toward the Alumni Memorial for "Albright College at Myerstown, Pa." Motion passed.

Bill for alumni supper ordered paid.

Secretary announced that quite a number of members of the Association who mailed their ballots for trustee, had failed to pay or to enclose their annual dues, thus making it necessary to eliminate their ballot. Since these were probably instances of oversight on the part of the persons involved, the secretary was ordered to notify such persons with a view to ascertaining whether they desire to be listed with the voting members of the Association.

A motion was made that the Hon. C. D. Becker be requested to represent the alumni association before each of the constituent annual conferences, with whom he shall seek audiences, in order to convey to these bodies the feeling and attitude of the Alumni Association with regard to the future of Albright College. Expenses to be met by the association.

Adjourned.

MISS EMILY BRENNER,

Secretary.

ture of shale brick, with which process he showed himself thoroughly familiar. He traced the manufacture from shale to brick thru the pug mill, where the former is mixed with water, to the press, where the columns are pressed out, then over the conveyor belt to the cutter, from where the bricks are conveyed to a drying oven. Finally, the bricks are stacked, faces together, in the kiln and baked. The process is continued until the height of the stack indicates the proper shrinkage. The bricks are now ready for sale.

Mr. Luckenbill gave a very interesting lecture on the manufacture of silk. The different stages of the thread from the original filament, taken from the cocoon, to the finished product were outlined. Our present supply of raw silk comes from China and Japan. The throwing process or twisting the filaments until the proper strength of the thread is secured is carried on in this country. The filaments would not permit the silk to be used, being too weak, with out combining and twisting several together. The organzine silk is twisted harder, usually fourteen times per inch than the tram, which is twisted from four to six times per inch. The organzine is used in the warp and the tram for filling. The working parts of the power loom were explained in detail.

The different weaves of broad silk, messaline, satin, tafeta, necktie silk, canton crepe and georgette crepe, velvet and shirting were explained. The crepe effect is obtained by having the filling of the warp alternating with a right and left hand twist. This necessitates a loom constructed to accommodate the two shuttles, one having the right hand twist and the other the left hand twist. In georgette crepe the ends in the warp alternate, one, right twisted end, next a left hand twisted and besides the two types of filling to make the wool. A peculiar arrangement in weaving velvet was explained. The finished goods is cut by a knife into two separate pieces. Each half of the goods is then a finished product.

The process used in making the fancy effects on silk was explained. The Jacquard loom is used. The mechanism of this loom to produce the "flowers" and different shades is arranged so that a huge pattern in shape of an endless chain runs from ceiling to loom and raise the different ends in the warp to produce any desired figure on the finished goods. Besides the huge pattern, the loom runs with five or six shuttles, different color filling alternating at the proper time.

The lecture was quite technical in content. To see the real intricacies of the manufacture of silk, one must visit a mill during working hours. Nevertheless Mr. Luckenbill explained it in such a way that he held the attention and interest of all present.

ALBRIGHT 40—MORAVIAN 12

The Red and White made it six straight when they defeated Moravian College in a rather loosely played contest by a score of 40—12. Both teams were off in the shooting, altho at times the Albright team showed flashes that ran up the score.

Miller the star guard, was out of the game with injuries. Coach Benfer gave the Varsity a rest and used many substitutions during the contest.

tial to the well being of the individual. And thus, every organ in the body has its distinctive use or function in the economy of the whole.

Now the question is pertinent, What is the use or distinctive function of the denominational college in the scheme of the higher education of today? Is it a necessity? Does it have a distinctive work to perform which cannot be properly discharged by other higher institutions of learning, or is it merely a survival of the denominational colleges which flourished in the early history of our country, when the higher institutions of learning were established by one or another of the religious denominations and of course they were all originally small colleges? Some of these small denominational colleges in the course of time passed out of existence, while others have developed into large Universities of today. These large Universities have received very substantial bequests from a variety of sources and have become liberalized to such an extent that we can no longer recognize them as denominational colleges. But a large proportion of these early denominational colleges have continued as such to the present day, while others have been established within recent years and no doubt others will continue to be established from time to time.

In view of the modern universities and state institutions which number their students not merely by thousands but by tens of thousands, and in view of their splendid equipment and magnificent endowments, does the small denominational college which numbers its student body by some hundreds, with its usually meager equipment and comparatively small endowment still continue to perform a distinctive role in our educational regime?

It is probably still true that the essentials of a college consist of a Garfield sitting on one end of a log and a Mark Hopkins on the other end, the former representing the earnest student thirsting for knowledge and eager for truth, and the latter representing the thoroughly competent, inspiring, Christian teacher, while the log represents the material equipment.

In the earlier times of our civilization the log or material equipment was not emphasized to any considerable extent; it was not considered a distinctly necessary factor in the advancement of higher education. Thus, Socrates gathered his eager pupils about him and taught them the great truths of philosophy and the mysteries of life. Jesus Christ, the greatest teacher of all times, gathered his group of twelve apostles about him, and on the shores of the sea or on the mountain top, or while journeying from place to place, taught them the great truths of nature and of life and immortality and their relationship to God and their fellow beings.

LURE OF SLEIGHING

On Wednesday, Jan. 31st, the Sophomores journeyed by sled to Newmanstown. The party left Mohn Hall at about seven o'clock, under the chaperonage of Prof. and Mrs. Kiess. The sleds, two in number, were well packed, so that no one had need to complain of being cold. This would have been impossible anyway, for with the merry jingling of the sleigh bells, together with the joking, laughter and singing, no one had time to think of coldness.

On arriving at Newmanstown, they stopped at a hotel where they partook of a light luncheon, and then started back for Albright. The homeward journey was an exceedingly merry one, despite the light sprinkle of raindrops. It was impossible for any one to feel depressed when Prof. Kiess and Russel Zellers always had a joke or story ready. Bahney's blood curdling stories of ghosts kept every one wide awake. At about twelve o'clock the party arrived at Mohn Hall. After singing the Alma Mater and giving the Broom Yell, the party broke up, hoping that as good a time might soon again be in store for them.

GIRLS LOSE HARD FOUGHT GAME TO HERSHEY HIGH 8-6

The Albright Girls playing their second game of the year lost a hard fought contest to the Hershey High School Girls by the score of 8-6. Close guarding by both teams kept the score down. Buchanan, the Hershey flash, put up one of the best floor games seen here this season, but by close guarding by Ritter, Albright's star guard, she was held scoreless. Hoffman and King, former Myerstown High stars, put up the best game for Albright.

Dr. Gobble, Secretary of the Library Committee, instituted a new feature at Albright in the form of lectures on the use of the library. The lectures are to be given by members of the Library Committee. Dr. Gobble gave the first on the use of the card filer and readers' guide.

Prof. Dech was unable to meet his classes for two weeks due to a severe illness which kept him confined to his home. Monday, February 12th he again began his classroom work.

Dr. Bowman gave an interesting and instructive lecture Sunday, February 11th in his travels in the Holy Land last summer. The lecture was given under the auspices of the Mite Society of the local church.

is the Bible. Its rules are unalterable.

Prof. Kelchner also emphasized the fact that our lives must be open to inspection. He then developed the ideas of "assistants", "errors", "pinch-hitters", and "sacrifice hits". The greatest "sacrifice hit" of all times was made by Jesus Christ upon the Cross of Calvary.

In a baseball game three strikes put a man out. "Strike one" has been called upon some of us. "Strike two" has been called upon many of us. When the Great Empire calls "Strike three—you're out", what kind of a record will ours be.

The large audience present was deeply impressed by this lecture, given by one who is admired by all those who know him as a man who acts out the principles which he advocates.

with several thousand pamphlets and many papers and magazines ready for daily use, but the income of the Library is not sufficient to meet the growing demands. Since July, 1922 three Alumni have contributed sixty dollars—for the purchase of books, but again there is an appeal for good modern fiction. These two books have repeatedly been called for, viz., "This Freedom" and "If Winter Comes" by Hutchinson. Perhaps some reader would like to see the library have them and start them this way.
