

'GREATER ALBRIGHT' BUILDING PLANS PROGRESSING

Contract For Girls' Dormitory And Science Building Let And Ground Broken For Erection

SEMIN. NEARLY COMPLETED

Building plans and projects of the Greater Albright are becoming well under way, as is shown by the progress already evident on the campus at Reading.

The contracts for both the Girls' Dormitory and the Science Building have been let, and work has been begun on each.

The Theological Seminary building is practically complete, and plans are under way to hold the Dedication Service on the morning of Monday, June 3rd. These plans are merely temporary, and subject to change if found necessary.

The two buildings which have recently been begun are to be of finished brick and will be in harmony with the other campus buildings. The foundation of the Girls' Dormitory as far as the main floor, has been completed, while the excavation has been made for the science building.

The Girls' Dormitory will be built to the present dormitory, both sections will be well equipped and modern. An attractive court will join the two sections, in which a sparkling fountain will be the main feature of beauty, around which will be paths leading to and from the buildings. The dining room of the new Girls' Dormitory will be not only bigger and better equipped, not only for serving meals, with an accommodation of three hundred persons, but will be well equipped for social functions and

SENIOR CLASS PLAY TO BE GIVEN ON MAY 18

A few lines and a howl of laughter; a few more lines and a greater howl of laughter and the Senior Play practice is on. But what are those dignified seniors laughing so uproariously about? It must be something unusual. You're right. It is something unusual and they are laughing at "Old Man" Simmons and Mrs. Simmons in another of their side splitting arguments about their daughter, Ethel, who is having an awful time trying to decide who she wants to marry. She has shaved the prospects down to only two; the dapper Mr. Shields, of Chicago "and" Paris and the ignorant, uncouth, stingy Chester Binney, partner of Mr. Simmons and at the same time partner in crime and in "women of affairs."

The seniors want to announce that they will give the one and only rendition of this play on May 18, 1929, in the College Chapel. They are

DEAN WALTON ADDRESSES EVANGELICAL CHURCHES

A growing interest is evident in the Greater Albright project. Members of our Faculty and persons especially interested in this great educational step on the part of the Evangelical church have proven this fact.

During the weekend of April 21st, Dean Walton delivered two addresses in the interest of Albright College, in Berwick. On Sunday morning Dean Walton spoke in the Bowler Memorial Church, and after extending felicitations from the college itself, delivered a very inspiring address on "The Message of the

PRESENT BULLETIN STAFF ENDS REGIME GIVING WAY TO NEW ADMINISTRATION

Harry Houseal Chosen To Succeed Retiring Editor With Carl Young Directing The Financial Affairs In The Capacity Of Business Manager For Ensuing Year

NEW BOARD TOTALS TWENTY-FOUR MEMBERS

HARRY A. HOUSEAL
Editor-in-Chief

With this issue the present Bulletin, with Blanche McCauley as Editor-in-Chief, and Benjamin Wilkes as Business Manager, goes out of existence, and a new staff has been elected to carry on for the rest of the year the fine work which the present staff has done this year. The Bulletin has tried to live up to its editorial policies, of fair treatment for all, full support of all student enterprises, athletics, progress in all respects—curricular and extra-curricular, increased student activity and honor, and an Albright individuality in all of its issues published.

Harry A. Houseal has been elected to guide the staff through the next few weeks, and to him will be the pleasure of helping to unite the Albright Bulletin and The Schuylkill News. Harry has worked on the staff for the last three years, the first year as a reporter. This was done so well that he was rewarded by being chosen as Managing Editor in his Sophomore year, a place generally given to a junior. He successfully filled this position for the past two years, and can well manage the editorial policies of the Bulletin. Besides this he was elected by his class to be the Editor of the 1930 Speculum, which will appear shortly on the campus. His interests are not strictly bound by the college publications, but he has taken part in Class activities, being elected President in his Sophomore year, in class athletics, and also in the college orchestra.

CARL E. YOUNG

To direct the finances of the Bulletin as Business Manager Carl Young has been elected. He is well qualified to assume his new duties, having been on the business staff for three years this year he served as Associate Editor. He also served in that same position on the 1930 Speculum, much of the success of that publication being due to his untiring efforts to secure ads.

Norma Michael and Harry Wray have been advanced from the position of Editors, which position they have filled very credibly, to Associate Editors.

The Managing Editorship has fallen upon Lester Williams, who this past year has served faithfully as an assistant Managing Editor. Besides this, he served during his high school career on the high school paper.

The departmental editors are as follows: Boys' News Editor, Richard McLain; Girls' News Editor, Irma Stahl; Sports Editor, John Davis; and Feature Editor, Myrtle Wolf. McLain has served diligently and well for the last year as an as-

CHAS. A. MOCK, PH.D. CHOSEN AS ALBRIGHT COMMENCEMENT ORATOR

President of Western Union College And Graduate of Central Pa. College, '98 To Speak Here

The program for the final Commencement Week, of Albright College, Myerstown, is practically complete, speakers have been secured and programs planned. Since this is to be the last it is only fitting that the best possible provision be made.

The combined Alumni Day will be held in Reading, on Saturday, June 1st. Special exercises will be held, and a public merging of the two institutions will take place.

On Sunday, June 2nd, the Baccalaureate Sermon will be preached to the combined Senior classes. No public announcements have been made regarding the speaker.

Monday, June 3rd, will be held in Reading the final Commencement exercises for the Reading unit. Tentative plans are made for the Dedication of the new Theological Seminary to be held on Monday morning. The Seniors of the Myerstown unit will devote both Monday and Tuesday to special Senior exercises on the local campus. As yet these plans are not entirely complete, but will include the Sr. class play, "The Whole Town's Talking," Sr. Class Day, a Glee Club concert and baseball game.

The Commencement exercises will be completed on Wednesday morning, June 5th, in the college chapel. An Albright alumnus, Dr. Charles A. Mock, a graduate of Central Pennsylvania College in the class of 1898, and at present President of Western Union College, La Mars, Iowa, will deliver the Commencement address.

1930 SPECULUM SOON TO COME FROM PRESS

Will Be Ready For Distribution In About Another Week—Contains A Number of Important Features

The 1930 Speculum Staff has been very busy for quite some time reading the printers' proof of the book. Everything has been sent in to the printer several weeks ago, the staff was greatly relieved to know that practically everything was done.

The staff this year has worked hard to make the publication one of the best ever to have been edited at Albright. In it will be found various new ideas which have made considerable improvement. Careful attention has been given to the grouping of organizations under their proper headings in order that the book's readers may follow thru the book in an easy manner, and may at a glance know where any organization is to be found. MATHEMATICS HEAD SUFFERS SEVERE STROKE

On Tuesday morning, April 23, Prof. H. A. Kiess, Professor of Mathematics, suffered a severe stroke at his home on Park Ave. He has been in poor health for quite a while, having suffered a slight stroke this summer, which did not fully prevent him from meeting his classes. At the time of his stroke he was alone except for a painter who was renovating the interior of the home.

After a few days he is somewhat improved, but still unable to be

RED AND WHITE NINE GARNERS TWO VICTORIES

Philadelphia Osteopathy And Western Maryland Checked As Team Turns In Initial Runs

SCORES 3-2; 3-1

Albright vs Osteopathy

Myerstown, Pa., Sat. Apr. 26.—The Albright College nine subdued the Phila. College of Osteopathy this afternoon by a score of 3-2. The game was played at Myerstown and under excellent weather conditions.

Savidge, who was twirling for the Albright aggregation, allowed the Philadelphians only two hits, and was credited with eighteen strikeouts. Ferren, who was on the mound for the "Doctors", allowed the "collegians" five hits, and was given nine strike outs. The game was a fast one, and both pitchers had the hearty support of their teammates.

The runs, were in no way, easily acquired, as both teams worked very hard and earnestly to secure their points. The winning runs were scored in the sixth inning by Karlip and Clemens. A home run was the first score of the game. It was hit, by Abel, the Albright first "sacker," McKevitt and Hartzell were the scorers for the Osteopaths.

Play By Innings

First Inning. McKieth struck out. Parker fled out to Able, who ran deep back of first base to snare the ball. Secor singled into short left field. Ellis struck out. 1st Inning. Clemens the first man up for the Red and White walked and was sacrificed to second by Paul. Cruttenberg fled out to Corwin in right field. Karlip struck out.

Second Inning. Ferren walked. Corwin struck out. Warren sacrificed and Thomas struck out. 2nd Inning. Able hit a home run high over the right field fence, on the first ball thrown him. The next three men struck out in order, Vickery, Hanen, Brunner.

Third Inning. Hartzell walked, and McKieth was safe on an infield hit. Parker struck out. Secor was safe at first on Able's error, while on the same play the two men on the paths scored. Ellis struck out. 3rd. Savidge popped to the first baseman. Clemens on first by an error at shortstop. Out at second by fielders choice, while Paul was safe at first. Karlip struck out.

WOMEN DEBATERS CLOSE SEASON WITH VICTORY

Affirmative Team Triumphs Over Beaver Falls Girls In Splendid Debate On Rostrum in Chapel

The inter-collegiate debating season closed for the Albright debaters for this year, with the Albright-Beaver debate, held in the local chapel, Thursday evening.

Regardless of the intense rain storm the Beaver team arrived by machine and the debate was in session promptly.

The Affirmative team was composed by the Albright girls, who in the order of their appearance, were: Irma Stahl, Maud Sittler, Norma Michael and LeNora Hemstreet. The Negative team was composed by girls from Beaver College. The question for debate was: Resolved that the American Jury System should be abolished. Orpha Hangen, Capt. of the Girls Negative team, acted as Chairlady of the debate.

The judges for the debate were:

EDITORIALS

OUR POLICIES

1. Fair treatment for all.
2. Full support of all student enterprises.
3. Athletics for all.
4. Progress in all respects—curricular and extra-curricular.
5. Increased student activity and honor.
6. An Albright Individuality.

SO WE COME to the end of the way. It has been a pleasant way and a profitable one. There were, of course, some rough spots, (what pleasant and profitable way doesn't have them?) but the going, with the co-operation and commendation that has gone with it, has been of the kind to leave a pleasant memory.

There has been a feeling of failure at times, that is as far as our plans, aims and methods were concerned, and yet we feel we have succeeded even beyond what we had hoped for, because these were troublous times and the channels a trifle stormy for inexperienced helmsmen.

To the new staff I would wish a splendid co-operation such as the old staff has shown, ideals that know fulfillment and an Albright Bulletin that will be as great as the Greater Albright.

WITH THIS ISSUE of the Bulletin the 1928-29 staff hands over its jurisdiction to the newly elected staff for the Greater Albright. We pronounce the present year successful—that is as successful as possible under the many adverse conditions. We feel that the entire student body has worked and striven under trying circumstances, but we also feel that they have ultimately triumphed. Sorrow we know has come very close to a number of the student body, as well as to the Faculty members, but our lives and experiences have been enriched because of these persons who have left sacred memories and living monuments. We have enjoyed the work this year which for many of us is our last school year, and we inform you, staff of '29-'30, that if your work is as enjoyable as ours has been, the memories you store will be pleasant ones.

"HAIL ALMA MATER"

On the eve of the ending of a career at Albright College, and at the same time in the occupation of writing an editorial for the readers of the Bulletin, the average person, as I, finds in his throat something that only real emotion can arouse. In his head are many thoughts of past days. Past pleasures, past contests, past conquests and past defeats all rise before him as he sits pounding away at this dilapidated typewriter.

Dilapidated like many other things at Albright. Dilapidated like many of his dreams of things to accomplish and visions to make real. And yet it is a good old place and a hard place to leave when the final reckoning comes and Albright is no more in more than one way. Many things have been rudely undertaken and fallen to the abyss of past defeats, there to be numbered among the things, called, "I wish I had."

Every one has his own impression of Albright, but aside from these individual ideas there lies within all of us a love, deep, and seared into our hearts as by a white hot iron, which not even years cannot erase. Each wall, each hall, each piece of furniture reminds us of something that impressed Albright on our hearts. Alma Mater means something more to us than merely words and phrases. We salute her, honor her, and extol her and now we must leave her.

We have learned here, we have played here, we have loved here, and our love will ever be intensified with each passing year. Good-bye Albright! Hail Alma Mater!

SENIOR CLASS PLAY TO BE GIVEN ON MAY 18th

anticipating a large crowd and are preparing to take care of them and give to them the greatest evening of entertainment they have ever received at Albright College or any other college. The play is "just one howl after another" and is sure to be well liked by old as well as young, amateur as well as critic, and boy friend as well as girl friend. It has some real dramatic scenes, too. For example, the "fight in the dark", the "wrath of Don Swift", and the "love-making of Letty Lythe."

But more of this later in the next edition of the Bulletin next week. Don't forget to make your arrangements now. You are coming to the Chapel of Albright College, on May 18, 1929, at eight o'clock to see the funniest, most exciting, most dramatic play you have ever seen.

The visiting foreigner is not expected to violate the American laws. That is a privilege which America reserves exclusively for its own citizens.

"Parrakeet's Prattle"

A big splash and then Parrakeet knows someone's been swimming. Either that or fallen into a creek. But Harry Houseal can vouch for that. And these "Eds" from Main Dorm didn't go to the quarry either. No they went way off to Gretna. But the water was cold and the air was colder than the water, so they came back all covered with "duck bumps." Since then Parrakeet's seen them playing tennis, so they must be somewhat warmer—One of them is quite hot—at tennis of course. Anybody would to challenge him. It can be arranged. Ask Horn about it.

Parrakeet hears the student teachers are getting along very, very nicely. No wonder! It's always easier to work when one is interested in the task and in the teacher too. Isn't it, Mim? Yes, Parrakeet thinks so. And if Sally so desires, he'll do his best to see that she gets a chance to draw all the "pictures." He's sure it'll be O. K. to the class as long as there aren't too many of Roy.

Well, well, the girls' affirmative won a debate against Beaver at that! But what was Orpha's little secret? Or wasn't there any? Albright is a Christian institution, etc. And so on—let's keep it so. Who or what gave the Beaver girls their unusual impressions? Parrakeet don't know. Do you? hup!

The debating teams aren't the only things that are winning. Oh my, No! Look at our splendid baseball squad. Two victories last week, and more on the string. Ray, team and Coach, too. Parrakeet's backing you up and is clapping his wings for more victories like the last one.

Since Russ Asper has started elimination contests for chorus girls, things have been humming. Why aren't some of the girls eligible? Russ makes qualifications pretty still, doesn't he? Yes, folks, Walter Hangen has a new find. But who is she? Wait 'til the Pi Tau Banquet and you can see for yourself. Too bad, Dit. Parrakeet sympathizes 'cause you lost your ring. How? Well, Parrakeet'll let Dit explain that. Just who is Ace's real head? There's a $5. bet on it. Maybe somebody'll come across with the right answer.

The Girls' Glee Club had a dandy time at York. How did so many people make a mistake about the bus driver? Yes, he was good-looking, but that one happened to be enrolled at A. C. No question about Mil being proud, she sure was and Parrakeet thinks rightly so. Well, Fred, if you ever decide to follow out your present line of work, why not be a bus driver? Parrakeet thinks it's a good job, and you can get points from Elmer. He'll be glad to help out.

And now, folks, comes the sad part. You see this is Parrakeet's last chat with you. His work is done and he will soon fly away to the sunny south to pick up tid-bits of news for someone else. Perhaps President Hoover or even Babe Ruth. Who can tell? As his time to disappear draws nearer, he feels sad 'cause he sure has enjoyed gathering the news for you. Yes sirree! Every bit of it. If he has hurt anyone's feelings, he's sorry, positively so, and wants you to forgive him. He's ready to call it quits. Yes, "L" Abel too. But now he must stop as "Ye Editor" calls for copy, and the tennis courts call Parrakeet into action of a new type. So long, folks Station Parnment-A-Keet signing off—until a new bird invades the campus to take his place.

Remember when we first met in the revolving door at the Post Office. But that wasn't the first time we met. Well, that's when we began going around together.

Mr. Edgar Landis, Orson Ritzman, and Harry Honker.

Although circumstances seemed to be against the girls, they put up one of the best debates to be held here, on this question. Very good debating was done by both teams, the question was well analyzed and presented, constructive and composed. Although the final decision was 2-1, favoring the Albright team, it was a very well balanced debate.

THE HOMESTEAD LILACS

A humble home by the country side,
It has served its purpose true;
Ah, we love the old, old cottage,
And the blooming lilacs, too.

Never matters what the weather,
Storms, or pleasant spring,
The lilacs always make life easier,
With the bit of cheer they bring.

Seems they tell the old, sweet story,
Of the years and life well spent.
When every care has been diluted
With the lilacs liquid scent.

Storms of life are passing quickly,
Evening twilight gathers fast,
Autumn days will soon be coming,
For life's summer cannot last.

But the lilacs strong and sturdy—
Here have stood life's every test,
And will bloom with beauty ever
When the weary seek their rest.
—Norma Michael.

REMAINS

There is nothing left
In the world
Today,
But births, and deaths,
And the month
Of May.

—Blanche McCauley.

She—Do you think a man can love two women at the same time?
Him—(gallantly) yes if they were both like you.

Men's Glee Club Gives Recital In West Reading

Last Friday evening at 6:30 P. M. the Boys Glee Club boarded the large motor bus and motored to West Reading, where they gave a concert in the West Reading High School. Of course they were somewhat delayed in getting started because of Survey's inability to get himself together sooner. We wonder if the Baltimore trip may have influenced the situation. However he did finally arrive upon the scene of action and the boys were soon on their way.

The usual program was given with the exception of two numbers, which were omitted by the Club, and one which was added. The inserted number was a piano duet, "The Rosary," played by Hodge Miles and Russ Asper. But what was that noise we heard, boys? Someone said it was a broken string. Yes it was, but that didn't spoil the number because Russ continued to play as if nothing had happened. After the program was over the boys returned to Myers-town, arriving there about 11 P. M.

traying the theme, "The Greater Albright" is another of its features. The theme chosen is one which bears very directly upon the school, which is one of the important points in year-book editing. Another note of import concerning the book itself is the dedication to Dr. A. E. Goble, who passed away two weeks ago. In connection with the dedication is a Memoriam to the dedicatee and a life-history and tribute to his fifty years of service to Albright College.

There will also be contained in the book a complete history of Albright College from its beginning as Union Seminary in 1856 until the present time, including the history of Schuylkill College, the merger of the two institutions into the "Greater Albright" and a short glance into the future, giving the present accomplishments at Reading and the plans for the future. The Speculum Staff has spent a very great deal of time in research in order that this historical sketch might be as complete as possible in every detail, as well as being correct. Much is disclosed in it which is known to very few, possibly none who are at present enrolled at Albright, and is unknown to the majority of the Alumni. This resume of the school's past will prove to be invaluable to any one who has the opportunity of obtaining it, as there is no other place where the information is compiled into one through the greatest of effort in looking up numerous sources of information, which is an unspeakable task, as was proven to the staff before they completed their compilation of facts. This feature is one of great import, making the book very valuable in itself, as well as to its readers, who can consider themselves rather fortunate in obtaining such information in a year-book.

Nearly all of the proof-reading has been finished, and everything in the printers' hands in readiness for publication. It is expected by the staff that the book will come off the press in about another week when they will be distributed to the students.

ELECTRICITY—
the modern prospector

A STOUT heart; a burro laden with pick, shovel, and the bare necessities of life; and the prospector was ready for the gold rush—Sutter's Mill, the Pike's Peak country, Cripple Creek, Klondyke. A scattered trail of half-worked claims marked his sacrifices.

To-day mining is a business, with electricity replacing wasteful brawn in mine and mill.

The deep mine, with electric lights, hoists, and locomotives; the surface mine with huge electric shovels scooping up tons of ore in a single bite; the concentrating mill with its batteries of electrically driven machines; the steel mill with its constant electric heat—here are but a few of electricity's contributions to the mineral industries.

So in every industry, electricity increases production and cuts costs. It is the modern prospector, leading the way into wider fields and tapping undeveloped resources—that we may enjoy a finer civilization and a richer, fuller life.

You will find this monogram on powerful motors that drive heavy mining machinery and on tiny motors that drive sewing machines. Both in industry and in the home it is the mark of an organization that is dedicated to electrical progress.

HARRIS BENNETCH LIGHT

There is at Albright a large number of students who seem to be especially interested in the social sciences, and who thru their persistent efforts have attained such a degree of scholarship as to warrant their admission to Pi Gamma Mu, a national social science fraternity. Among these students, not the least has been Harris Light, who has shown decided scholastic ability.

"Lighty" is a very likeable chap, with his light brown curly hair and grey eyes. His popularity among the day-students evidenced itself in their electing him president of the Steitz Collegiate Club. He is known over the campus as a friendly fellow, rather reserved, but none the less liked and admired for that.

Although Light has had some experience in the teaching profession, he has not definitely decided to what he shall devote his life's efforts, but Albright decries for him a brilliant future in the field that finally claims him, for he has proven his worth here.

Albright vs Western Maryland
Albright College hung up its second victory of the past week end by defeating Western Maryland, at Albright, 3-1. Pete Strickler, a Myerstown boy, allowed the Western Maryland batsmen only three hits, while his mates touched Lamb of Western Maryland for six timely bingles.

Strickler whiffed ten batsmen and walked only two. His was a very creditable performance, and he had the best of the bargain from beginning to end. Cruttenden led on the offense with two hits.

Keen, Western Maryland's lead-off man, scored the only hostile run, and also lined out one of the three hits. Score:

LESTER JAY ABLE

Whoopee and other expressions of introduction! Allow us to present Able, the Hellam Wild-cat! Able joined us in our Sophomore year and has shown his interest and ability along several lines. He is a pre-med student, and is anticipating entering Jefferson next year. Despite his plans he still takes interest in an occasional cut in chemistry.

This year he is holding down the first base position for the Albright twirlers and batsmen. His height enables him to virtually grab the ball out of mid-air, and as a batter there are few his equal, and one usually expects a hit, nor is one often disappointed.

Then there are those frequent trips to York, but we doubt whether they are all for the purpose of seeing his mother, as he avers.

Girls' Glee Club On Trip Through Northern Penna.

Entertain With Concerts Of Unusual Merit In 7 Different Cities During Easter Vacation Tour

AT YORK SUNDAY

The Girls Glee Club appeared every night during their Easter tour, which started Monday, Apr. 1st, and closed Sunday night, April 7th. In most every instance they sang in a crowded church.

The means of travel was the big, gray bus from Lebanon. The meeting place was the Harrisburg station, where there was a scene of confusion when, as they were about ready to leave, the girls discovered that Jonesy was among the missing. After waiting about an hour for Jonesy, and a little longer for Guke, the bus took its leave, amid much shifting of gears and other noise.

The first stop was Danville, where a concert was rendered, in the evening, in the Evangelical church. The program was interesting and seemed to be enjoyed by some of the girls in the club, as well as the audience.

The next afternoon a number of the girls toured the grounds and buildings of the Danville State Hospital. Strange to say all returned safely—but then some of the members did not make the trip. About 3:00 they left Danville and made their way to Milton. The concert Tuesday night was a sacred one, and was presented to an overcrowded house.

Wednesday morning the club sang a few numbers in the Milton High School to a very responsive as well as appreciative audience. In the afternoon Miss Swanner and a few of the girls were driven to the Evangelical Church at Lewisburg, where, after seeing the grounds and buildings, they gave a short program for the old folks and orphans. The ride back to Milton proved to be very exciting and enjoyable, especially for Miss Strassner.

At 4:00 the girls said good-bye to Milton, and wended their way to New Columbia. That evening they again sang to a crowded house.

Thursday evening the club sang in Jersey Shore to a good sized audience. It was here that Flora decided to rearrange the order of one of the songs. The Club also sang in the Jersey Shore High School and visited classes on Friday morning.

Early Friday afternoon they left Jersey Shore for Lock Haven, where they spent the afternoon at the theatre, and almost lost two members—Guke and Eva. Again at Lock Haven the auditorium was crowded and a good concert rendered.

Saturday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock again found the girls on their way, this time bent for Milifunburg, where

MARGARET LORRAINE HIGGINS

Margaret is a New Jersey lass, from the town of Bordentown, but has made Albright her home for four years. We have come to know several sides of Marg and have found her a very clever and friendly person. Usually, however, she is quiet and reserved. We have learned, through the years, that Margaret is very capable along literary lines and she is very apt in phrasing and in description. French and History are her specialties, and we understand she expects to teach one of these.

Hockey and basket-ball are the sports into which she has entered during her college career and this year, she served as guard on the Senior Class team.

She is looking forward to her work next year, and as one of the Class of '29, we wish only the best for her.

The Club sang Saturday night and Sunday morning. Sunday afternoon the girls took their leave for Lewisburg, their last stopping place. There they found a chance to do a little act of kindness by visiting a former student of Albright, Miss Ruth Yeager, and singing a few selections for her.

Sunday night another very large audience greeted the girls for their last concert of the Easter trip. Monday morning found the girls up bright and early—the reason was a visit to the High School. As was the case in the other two High Schools, the students were very enthusiastic and anxious to hear more of the program.

The rest of the morning the girls spent amusing themselves in various ways. One o'clock found most everybody at the meeting place, even "Cricket" and Martha, ready to start back to school. The ride back was a beautiful one, as was the day, and everyone returned to school safely, except Cricket who left the company at Harrisburg, for some unknown reason.

Last Sunday morning the Girls Club journeyed to York, where they spent the day. The morning concert was given in the Grace Evangelical Church of which Rev. H. R. Wilkes is pastor. The club sang both in the Sunday School and church service. The evening concert was given in Trinity Evangelical church, of which Rev. Gramley is the pastor. Both morning and evening the churches were packed and the concerts proved very successful.

The girls returned to school after the evening concert, rather tired, but happy.

banquets. Two immense and beautiful fireplaces will add to its attractiveness, one in either end of the dining room. This can readily be turned into a social room or banquet hall, much to the delight of the students.

Impressing the fact that everything must be in readiness for the opening of the Greater Albright in Sept., the contracts which have been let, have in them specifications which require the completion of the buildings, so that they may be ready for use by Sept. 15, 1929.
