Frosh Class Head Ascertains Loyalty Outdoor Ceremony Ends Freshmen Customs

"We realize our responsibility to the college and we pledge our loyalty to it," said Owen Henry, Freshmen Class president, in accepting the charge to that class last Friday morning at the induction ceremony. The activities in the form of an all-college convocation, were held on the field in front of the Mermer-Pfeiffer Hall of Science at 10 a.m.

With Jack Teger, Student Council frosh orientation chairman as master of ceremonies, the program opened with remarks by Paul Deysher, Council president, who welcomed the class "with eagerness and confidence." President Harry V. Masters sounded as the keynote of his talk "a cooperative endeavor in the class of 1948 for the achieving of things worthwhile."

"You are the stuff out of which better worlds are made," said the Rev. Lester L. Stabler, director of public relations, who presented the class to Dean George W. Walton. Dean Walton, in giving the charge to the class, told the class to be "true to yourselves, true to the college, and true to those who have made possible this education for you."

After Mr. Henry accepted the charge, the class members deposited their drinks on the science hall steps to signify the official end of customs and the program closed with the Alma Mater.

Refreshments, consisting of ginger ale and cookies, were served.

Chapel Program to Honor Students Killed in Service

Instead of the regular chapel program this Thursday, a Religious Emphasis service with Dr. Reuben H. Mueller as guest speaker will take place. Definite plans for Tuesday's chapel hour have not been announced. On next Thursday, Dr. F. W. Gingrich and Rev. Lester L. Stabler will be in charge of a memorial service in honor of thirteen Albrightians who have been killed in service.

Last Tuesday morning, Mrs. Louise Drysdale, expert on the Far East, spoke on "Flying Tigers—Fighters and Men" as a feature of the 1944-45 Cultural Series. Thursday's chapel featured Prof. Paul Schach in commemoration of Charter Day.

"Living victoriously" is the theme of the Religious Emphasis services being held this week. They are being led by Dr. Reuben H. Mueller, general secretary for christian education of the Evangelical church.

Both Morning and Evening Services The evening services began last night in the College Chapel at 7:30 and will continue to Thursday. This morning marked the beginning of the morning services held in the chapel from 10 to 11 a.m. The student leader of this morning was Ruth Ritzman. The student leaders for the worship service last evening were Newell Wert and Marian Barger.

Albrightians will remember that Dr. Mueller was the speaker at last year's baccalaureate service, and also spoke at a "Y" meeting last year.

Skull & Bones Meeting Features Dr. Quereau

Dr. Van Dyke Quereau, an ophthalmologist who studies at the University of Pennsylvania and the Wills Eye Hospital, Philadelphia, lectured to the Skull and Bones society last Wednesday evening, November 1 in the lecture hall of the Mermer-Pfeiffer Hall of Science. With the aid of moving pictures showing eye operations, Dr. Quereau informed the group about the methods of correcting eyes and of removing cataracts.

The former operation consists of shortening or repositioning the required muscles. The two methods of removing cataracts were shown and described. Only local anesthesia is required, permitting a painless operation lasting from five to thirty minutes.

The Skull and Bones society, at its next meeting on Wednesday, December 6, will see moving pictures about biology.

Student Council Arranges For Presidential Election

Student Council decided at its meeting last Thursday afternoon to sponsor a mock presidential election which was held on campus yesterday. Jane Teitsworth, chairman of the committee on student activities was instructed to prepare the ballots. Council, through its president, Paul Deysher, is completing arrangements on Dad's Day and Mother's Day which will be held during the year. Final plans for frosh induction, held last Friday morning were also made at this meeting.

Clang, Clang, Clang—Albright With Wheels

"Albright College" has taken to the streets of Reading. We mean that the famous Northeast Loop trolley now displays "Albright College" as its handle. Although conductors had to convince dyed-in-the-wool Readingites that the new car goes the route of its predecessor, we think the change is here to stay.

Domino Club Selects Committees for Year

Louise Drysdale Addresses Student Body A. V. G. Antics Delight Albright Audience

Student eyes glanced admiringly and all ears listened attentively as a slight feminine figure hurried up the center aisle of the chapel. Breathless and late, she made her way to the stage. That was the beginning of the interesting lecture of Mrs. Louise Drysdale last Tuesday morning.

Silhouetted in a becoming Breton sailor hat and swaggered Persian lamb coat, she would probably have held attention regardless of her lecture material. But in addition to her smart attractiveness, she had a marvelous collection of anecdotes and adventure-packed stories of the Flying Tigers or A. V. G. as she called them. She had delightful way of making the audience love the men of whom he spoke as much as she so obviously did. Resting easily on the rostrum, he offered a new angle on every subject from the Flying Tiger to the patriotism of the Burmese.

Members of the International Relations Club entertained the charming visitor at lunch in the dining hall after her lecture. They were the interested listeners of additional tales of oriental intrigue. She explained the removal of General

211 Albrightians Turn In Ballots In Student Poll

211 Students Cast Ballots Monday in Mock Election Conducted By Council

After weeks of local campaigning, Albrightians cast their ballots and voted Thomas E. Dewey as the next president of the United States, in a campus-wide election held yesterday sponsored by Student Council. Whether Albright's choice is that of the nation remains to be seen.

Maintaining a confident lead, the Republican candidate polled 136 votes, while his rival took 75. This means that 211 of the 256 students cast votes.

Although Deweyites held sway among the boarding students, evidenced by life-size pictures, buttons, and literature that swarmed the dining hall, the day students were the question marks. However, a sufficient number went into the Dewey camp to give him a victory by a large margin.

We Gather Together

This week Albright is concentrating the doses of something that should be recognized a part of its every week—religious emphasis. The sets of service are of two kinds from the student angle—voluntary and compulsory.

To Be or Not to Be

Council members breathed a sigh of relief, at its last two meetings, when, after ten minutes of waiting, the necessary members showed up at the meetings to form the needed quorum.

Post Mortem

It's all over but the shouting—the campus-wide election, we mean. Because of our deadline, this part of the paper went to press before we saw the election returns—and maybe that's a good thing.

Behind the Scenes

Although corsages are out, we would like to give orchids to those loyal Albrightians who are responsible for the success of the Ivy Ball.

Don't Look Now, but—

Horatio will become a skunk of a different color this year as he becomes the trophy for a men's-women's basketball game to take place of the original hockey game.

Frosh Gossip

By WALTER HAYUM

The "Free Freshmen Movement" announced today unofficially that they had drawn up their blacklist of upperclassmen.

the more worried some people appear to be. It is, however, understandable when one hears of the tortures they shall have to take on themselves as a result of misjudgments.

Home Ec Omelet

At the meeting of the officers of the Heo Club last Monday night, the program for the coming year was received.

Committees were appointed for the year, with every member of the club having a definite duty.

Professor Florence Innis, head of the home economics department, was again asked to serve this year as news gatherer for the State Home Economics Association.

Beside the freshmen, we have two new members on the home economics department, June Hartraft and Lois Wheeler.

The Inquiring Reporter

Since the "Y" retreat was a much discussed event, the Inquiring Reporter queried "retreaters" on "What was most memorable event?"

Betty Davis, Liberal Arts, '48:—The canoeing.

Bob Holtzapfel, Pre-Ministerial, '48:—The closing service on Saturday evening.

Owen Henry, Pre-Medical, '48:—Getting up in the cold, cold morning!

Warren Pfof, Science, '48:—The cold water!

Mae Jean Picking, Lab Tech., '45:—The singing.

Jack Teger, Sociology, '45:—Hanging up notes for the treasure hunt.

Alice Albright, Home Ec, '47:—The significance of Rev. Barth's messages.

Marie Bonner, Lab Tech., '46:—Looking for the moon on a cloudy night.

Meg Hendricks, Lab Tech., '46:—That would be telling.

One day in the near future the fighting Lions of Albright will again make their appearance in the Northwest gym.

Known more widely as just plain "Deach," this all around athlete will be one of the few veteran players on this year's varsity.

Bob is majoring in chemistry, his eye fixed upon future industrial lab work.

A fraternity lad, Bob is president of the Pi Taus, upholding their reputation as one of its four members left on campus.

Though he often appears quiet and unassuming, don't let it mislead you. Bob is always an instigator for a good time.

His appetite is famous among dorm students, but then he's a big boy, or perhaps he's just trying to catch up to "Tiny".

Bob came from Freeland, Penna., to our campus in 1942, but through acceleration has become a member of this year's senior class.

Biology labs of all kinds present an interesting course in finding that which is difficult to find.

The first requisite in analyzing our microscopic friends is, according to embryo biologists, to regulate the microscope so that the proper light spot is discovered.

In preparing the specimen to be analyzed great care is taken in dropping the tissue thin cover glasses onto the thick ooze.

Albright About Town...

For those of you who are interested in attending illustrated lectures, we recommend the excellent series of such lectures which will be held throughout the winter in the auditorium of the Reading Senior High School.

The first of this series of ten lectures was given last Friday evening by Edward A. Hill.

The second of the series, "Lapland Adventure," is scheduled for November 17, and will be delivered by Francis R. Line.

Lions Five Will Play Mules G-Burg In 20-Game Schedule for 1944-45

Continuing some old rivalries and starting some new ones, the 1944-45 Lion cage squad has begun practice in preparation for the twenty-game schedule facing them for this season. According to information received from Coach Neal O. Harris, basketball mentor, the Albright team will play its first game on Saturday, December 2, when it takes on the U. S. Coast Guard. The season will extend to March 3.

Beside the two "name" teams that Albright will bump up against, the Pantathlon Militar of the University of Mexico and the University of Detroit in the Boston Garden, the Lions are scheduled to play two games with Muhlenberg College, Running neck and neck with the Mules last year as outstanding team of the state, the Lions traveled to Allentown to take a 57-26 defeat as the Mule's snapped the locals 8-game winning streak. The return engagement for Northwest was cancelled by the Mules at the end of the season.

Another favorite foe that will face the Lions in a two-game series is Franklin and Marshall. The duel was a tie last year, with the Lions taking a 3-point thriller, 28-25, on their home floor, but losing in the Lancaster gym, 44-38, later in the season. The Lions will also meet again this year, Gettysburg College, who split even on last year's series, with the Red and White again losing on the foreign floor. Lehigh and Elizabethtown will also be on this year's schedule as familiar faces.

Basketball fans will see some new teams in action as games are arranged with Kutztown State Teachers College, Dickinson, and Ursinus. Two service teams will meet the Lions on the northwest hardwoods; the U. S. Coast Guard and the U. S. Marines.

Twenty-one candidates, including three holdovers from the last year squad, reported for the initial workout last week. At the first meeting Coach Harris started the boys in conditioning exercises after which he talked to the squads on basketball, in general. He discussed court situations and basic problems concerning the hoop sport.

The three musketeers that will form the basis of this year's team are last year's first stringers, Bill Landi, Bob Deach, and Bill Wagner. Landis, a sophomore, gained a reputation last year as the tallest member on the squad—6 feet, 8 inches—and was second high in individual scoring honors.

Under the basket - man is Bob Deach, a senior this year. Deach's capable services as defensive guard were noted throughout last year's campaign. Wagner, joined the squad in the last half of its season last year, made a name for himself first in the Muhlenberg game and came through the season in sixth place in the individual scoring honors column.

Four members of Reading High's squad from last year have also reported to Coach Harris: Jim Braun, Steve Beyerle, Forrest Saylor come to the Lions from the 1943 Kutztown High varsity and from the Clover Farms five, city league champs of last year, Franklin Seyfert and Hampton Pullis, freshmen, were on the Wilson igh School varsity.

Other high school varsity members include Bill Miller, a sophomore, who played for Muhlenberg High; Dick Dexter, a freshman, from Wellsborough. Two Reading City League players include Herb Hyman, freshmen and Chick Crozier, sophomore. Other members of the squad who have seen action of the hardwoods are Bill Harting, Bob Buxton, Bohdan Procko, Chauncey dePugh, Gene Weeber, and David Voigt.

Wanna Visit?

In case you have the urge to visit your roommate who has got himself "stuck" in the infirmary, here are the hours for "receiving guests": 11 a.m.-12 noon; 1-2 p.m.; 7-8 p.m.

Frosh Pick Owen Henry As President For Class

At an election held last Monday, Owen Henry, pre-medical student from New Berlinville, Penna., was chosen to head the Freshmen Class. Elected to serve with him are Herbert Hyman, who is class vice-president; Marjorie Christ, secretary; and Jack Shafer, treasurer.

Mr. Henry is a member of the college orchestra and a waiter in the dining hall. Mr. Hyman, who started at Albright during the summer under the veterans' program, is a pre-medical student major from Reading. Miss Christ, an honor student at the Oneida, N. Y. high school, is a member of the college glee club and orchestra, majoring in liberal art. Mr. Shafer is a pre-theological student from Williamsport, who is active in the chapel choir and assists Fred Clewell in the college bookstore.

Socially Speaking

The campus was really buzzing this week as many old Albrightians came back to reminisce. Some of them were Pfc. and Mrs. Jerry Bentz, Pvt. Rudy Rudzinsky, John Soja A. S. and Phil Mertz.

Hunting season was officially opened as Jim, Deetz, and Ray Potteger, Charles Russ, Jim Hedglin—with Pat Kramer as the added attraction, charged through the woods. How did those pheasants taste, hunters?

That was a nice looking blue convertible that Gloria Salfetty was riding around in this weekend. Smooth.

We almost thought that football was back at Albright when John Durko arrived last Thursday. He's a one-man team. Nice going, fellow.

Congratulations to the new freshmen officers. Looks like smooth sailing for the class of '48.

Notice that new shiny bracelet on Jeanne Miller's wrist? There'll always be an England and a Fletcher.

What happened to Bob Gale on the "Y" retreat. Now in the infirmary, he's become a devoted listener to Ma Perkins.

See that moon, fellows? Think we could get the science department to keep it that way?

Quite a few people on campus are wondering whether or not Skunk Day will be continued this year. Skunk Day was first sponsored by the sports department of THE ALBRIGHTIAN last year and made quite a hit with the student body. For those of you who were not here to witness the event extraordinary, Skunk Day was different from the other 364 days in the year in that a team composed of men defeated a women's squad on the hockey field, 3-0. The winner of the contest was then awarded Horatio, the Skunk, till next year, which made quite a stink on campus at the time.

This year when the athletic department of Albright, namely Coaches Harris and Mosser, were called in for consultation in scheduling the contest again it turned thumbs down on the idea because of the possibility of injuries occurring. We agree with the aforementioned department in that it's just a bit too rough a game for a mixed group and asked for suggestions as to what could be done.

New It's Basketball

The highly original athletic department countered with the idea of having a basketball game between the opposite sexes with Horatio as the target-for-the-day. We also felt this was worthy of consideration, and not to put on "airs" about Horatio, said we would lend our support to the matter.

Coach Harris then suggested that in order to keep the affair on a more even basis, the men be given handicap. Of course the game would be played according to women's rules, but this was thought to be too small a handicap for the fellows. An added handicap is to be given to the men (those lucky people); by having one hand kept in a sling for the entire game. Which brings to mind the old adage of "One in the hand is worth—" but no I guess not.

Anyway—It Stinks!

After all this banter hither and yon, we seriously feel that a basketball game is just the thing to fill in for Skunk Day if the hockey game is impossible. We also feel that that Horatio wouldn't object. He probably thinks the idea is on the "ball." Hmmmhmhmhm?

HOCKEY STICKS

Thirteen members of the women's varsity hockey squad with Coach Eva Meyer, attended a hockey sports day held at Cedar Crest College, Allentown, last Saturday afternoon. Each team played a 15-minute game with every other team there: Moravian, Kutztown, Cedar Crest and Albright. The local lassies tied two of their matches, 0-0 with Moravian, and 2-2 with Kutztown. The Albright squad dropped a 2-0 game to Cedar Crest. Cedar Crest was the only team that won any games, the rest of the contests being ties.

Interclass schedule: November 7, sophomores vs. freshmen; November 14, seniors vs. freshmen.

The juniors took over the seniors, 2-1, in the second of the interclass hockey series. The game was short, the competition keen, and the goals few. Helen Ancona, the juniors' left inner, made the first goal, and Marie Bonner, their center forward, scored the winning point with a long and hard drive. The senior's capable manager and left wing, Jeanne Miller scored the only goal for her team during the second half.

The halves were ten minutes apiece. Judith Schierer, the freshman elven's captain, and Ginny Woerle, sophomore center forward, were the referees.

Masters Airs Albright Status; Discusses "G. I. Bill of Rights"

Albright College is off to another good year. There came to the campus as members of the freshman class 107 new students. These, in addition to a few transfers and students taking special work, make a total new student group in excess of the number which was expected up until a few weeks before school opened. The total enrollment this fall is a little larger than a year ago. The freshman class was given a longer period of orientation than heretofore. This year it involved six full days prior to the return of former students to the campus. This program has proved its effectiveness without question. The freshmen adjusted themselves much more readily to the college program than in previous years and evidenced a unity among themselves and a spirit of loyalty and cooperation which is a distinct credit to them.

Civilian School

The discontinuance of the army training program in which Albright and many other colleges participated has caused considerable concern from a financial point of view. The army program was operated on a cost basis, but the sharing by the army of many of the operating expenses made it possible for the college to operate without a deficit. This year there is no escape from a deficit except by direct contributions for the operation of the college for the current year. A plan is now being formulated which will, it is hoped, bring sufficient income to the college to care for this.

Returning Veterans

The adjustment to a full-time civilian program this year on the campus makes possible a more adequate use of college facilities for the civilian students and also provides opportunity to inaugurate such changes as may be necessary to provide very adequately for the education of returning veterans. A special committee composed of Dean Walton, Professors Miller, Douds, Geil, Greth and Horn is charged with the responsibility for making suggestions and working out details for meeting the needs of returning veterans.

G. I. Bill of Rights

The "G. I. Bill of Rights" should be thoroughly studied by men in the service. In order to assist in this study, we are placing in the few paragraphs which follow a brief interpretation of the "G. I. Bill of Rights."

Eligibility: Veterans having at least 90 days of active military or naval service, some or all of which was in the period since September 15, 1940, and prior to the end of the war, who are not dishonorably discharged from service. If the veteran is over 25 years of age when he entered the service, he will need to show that his education or training was delayed or interfered with by reason of his military service, in order for him to receive more than one year of education.

But the veteran is eligible for a year of refresher or retraining courses, regardless of age.

Any training must be started within two years from either the date of the veteran's discharge or the end of the war, which ever is the later.

Time Allowed for Further Education:

His first 90 days of active service entitle him to education or training, or a refresher course, at an approved educational or training institution for a period of one year. If he completes the first year satisfactorily, he is entitled in addition to as many years or months of training as he has served altogether in active service from September 15, 1940, to the termination of the war. That is, for example, a veteran having 90 days (or 3 months) of active service is entitled to one year and three months of educational training. One year's service gives him four. But in no case will the period of education exceed four years; and all refresher or retraining courses are limited to one year.

In computing his length of active service, the veteran cannot include the time he may have spent in the Army Specialized Training Program, or the Navy College Training Program, if such course was a continuation of his civilian course and was pursued to completion, or as a cadet or midshipman at one of the service academies.

Expense Allowance: The veteran's expenses for tuition, fees, books and equipment, up to $500 for each ordinary academic year, will be paid by the U. S. Government, through the Veterans Administration. In addition, he will receive $50 a month for subsistence if he has no dependents, and a total of $75 a month if he has one or more dependents.

Special Provision for Disabled Veterans: If a veteran is disabled because of a service connected disability and believes he is in need of vocational rehabilitation, he should consult the nearest office of the Veterans Administration, as disabled veterans, regardless of their length of service, are eligible for additional services under the provision of another bill.

Applications for G. I. Education: Discharged veterans should request "Veterans Administration Form 1950" from regional offices of the Veterans Administration.

It is not too early for those of you who are now in service to be making plans for completion of your college work. Albright College will give every consideration to the experience and training which you have had while in the armed services and will evaluate such training and experience in keeping with the principles agreed upon by regional and national accrediting agencies. Albright stands ready to serve all alumni and former students in every way possible.

Albright College has plans for increased service as adjustments to peace-time conditions are made. Plans for much needed new buildings are in progress. Your college will fill an ever increasing demand for service and will further broaden its influence. Place among those things you will do first, when you have the opportunity, a visit to the Albright campus.

HARRY MASTERS, President.

Swimming Pool Drive To Go Outside Berks

Through the gifts of 53 alumni and 29 non-alumni donors in Berks County, the receipts thus far in the campaign toward the $30,000 goal for the Alumni Memorial Swimming Pool in the proposed physical education building total $3,946.89. Receipts of $125 from alumni outside of Berks County bring the total to $4,071.89. This amount represents payments on pledges totaling $7,127.39.

Plans are now under way to bring the campaign in Berks County to a close. Simultaneously the campaign will move out to all alumni living outside of the county. It is hoped that once the campaign really gets under way the alumni will make a quick response so that it will not be necessary to continue the effort over too great a period. The committee is anxious to have the $30,000 pledged by the Alumni Association on hand when the availability of the materials, etc., make it possible for the beginning of the new building. Thus far no solicitation has been made outside Berks County. The $125 received in the Alumni Office from outside the county has come in voluntarily.

After studying campaign approaches of the alumni associations of other colleges and universities, the campaign committee has decided that the most efficient and effective approach can be made through class representatives who will be responsible under a planned program for the contribution of the members of their individual classes. All alumni are urged to plan now for the largest gift they can possibly make to this very worthy project. Bill Maier, '31, general chairman of the campaign, will also remind us that such gifts are deductible from income for the tax purposes.

Convocation Speech Defines "Greatness" As Albright's Goal

Addressing 252 members of the student body of Albright at the all-college convocation on September 27, President Masters urged them to set a personal goal which places maximum emphasis on ideas or ideals, truth, and justice and the development of their own personalities and characters.

Taking as his subject "A Time for Greatness," Dr. Masters pointed out that the word "great" has been used widely in one form or another. "One use of the word," he said, "is the one implying that which is beyond the ordinary as character or achievement or that which is of unusual excellence or merit."

Declaring that it is easy to confuse greatness of an economic or financial nature with greatness in character or achievement, he added that the western world has for decades talked as if civilization were a by-product of economic greatness and progress. "One of the disheartening facts that man has to face is that the world has not progressed spiritually and morally in keeping with its material and economic progress," said Dr. Masters.

"We should not be confused in believing that our resources of power, our size, our wealth and our strength will alone make us a great nation. They make us a great power, but there is something in our tradition which makes it difficult for us to believe that the quality of greatness in a people is the same as the quality of bigness for which the word 'greatness' is sometimes used synonymously."

Dr. Masters reminded the student body that Pericles at his peak of Athenian power had declared that what makes a nation great is not what it owns or even what it can do, but what it loves. "Our times call for greatness on the part of nations and of individuals," said Dr. Masters, "and our nation and the world need ideas and ideals and people to live by them. If the winning of the war is to bring a better world, we must have men and women with qualities of true greatness; men and women not content with their own security and well-being; but those who will be content with nothing less than a world with security, well-being and hope for all."

Declaring that the college students on the Albright campus this year have a great opportunity, he emphasized the fact that they have voluntarily associated themselves with Albright College, an institution that has qualities of greatness. "No college or university has higher ideals or is more devoted to the development of true greatness in its students than your college," he concluded.

With the freshman class 55 per cent larger than the class of last year, the chapel was filled to standing room only with both the first year students and the upperclassmen present.
