

LIONS STRIKE WINNING STRIDE IN BASKETBALL, BEAT PRINCETON 34-25 AND URSINUS 42-24

Smithmen Show Great Improvement For New Year As Season Gets Under Way; Haines and Karlip, Stars of Both Games, High Scorers; New Combination Formed

GETTYSBURG NEXT!

The Albright basketball team showed its class Wednesday night by trimming Princeton with a 34-25 count. The Tigers put up a determined battle but were unable to stop the flashy offensive as staged by the Lions. This is the second straight year that Albright has taken Princeton's measure. Princeton started well with a 4-0 lead, but in a few minutes the Lions had rung up 13 points and from then on Princeton was decidedly out of it. At half time the score stood 20 to 11 in the Lions favor. The second half was closely contested each team gathering fourteen points. Albright only used five men and each had a hand in the scoring.

Haines was high scorer of the evening with 16 points, dropping seven double-deckers and two fouls. Capt. Karlip featured with his brilliant floor work and tallied 10 points from his new position at forward. Lislalo again played a nice defensive.

For Princeton, Low played a brilliant game, getting 11 of the Tiger's points. The Albright combination Lord also put up a hard fight for his worked smoothly and this second straight victory was rung up.

URSINUS GAME

On Saturday the Lions defeated Ursinus 42-24. With Abe Karlip leading a clever passing attack against the Bears, Albright rolled up a 25 to 6 count as the half ended. During that period the Lions outshot the Red and Black quintet 10 to 3 from the floor and netted 5 of their tosses from the free line, while Ursinus' lone foul try, by Captain Don Sterner, was missed. Abe Karlip netted four field goals, two of which were spectacular long shots. Charley Haines, Vick Vickery, and Bud Osliso each sank a pair of double-deckers to help the Smith clan.

For Ursinus, Captain Don Sterner and Claude Lodge did the scoring in the first half, the former sinking a pair of long shots.

The varsity five which defeated Princeton, again worked smoothly as a unit and played wings around the visitors, who seemed to have an off night, missing many shots. This was the third straight win for the Lions and defeats from now on should be scarce.

In the preliminary game the girls' team were by Shillington 29-17. Mrs. Mosser who starred last season for Albright was too much for her former teammates scoring 25 of her team's 29 points. Kutz with eight points led the Albright lassies.

Y.W.C.A. Active As New Year Starts

The regular meeting of the Y. W. C. A. was held on Wednesday evening, January 7, in the "Y" room of Selwyn Hall. Lydia Schober, who had charge of the meeting, read the Scripture and lead in prayer.

The program consisted of several interesting numbers. Mildred Wissinger and Flora Gross, accompanied by Irma Stahl, sang a duet. Reba Topper read several original poems, entitled: "To Forget" and "Forgive." "I'm It," "Stranger" and "A Cottage Lamp." Debate Schedule Is Almost Complete

Manager Bell, '33 Announces Present Schedule; Topics To Be Interesting

Albright's Debate program will be completed within a few weeks, with the possibility of Western Maryland and Ursinus being added. Up to date, five intercollegiate meets are on the list.

Due to Faculty restriction, there will not be many forensic battles this year. The season will probably be limited to about six or seven debates. All of them however, will be dual ones.

Dr. Raymond Houli of the English Department is coaching. Douglas Cloud, '31 is acting as Student Coach. John Bell, '33 and Paul Vaness, '34 are taking care of the Managing end of it.

The schedule to date is as follows:

- February 10—Elizabethtown, Free Trade Question.
- February 27—Washington College, Free Trade Question.
- March 5—Susquehanna University, Free Trade Question.
- March 13—Juniata, Unemployment Insurance Query.
- April 3—Bucknell University, Unemployment Insurance Query.

Both these subjects for argumentation are sure to interest the students. Come out and support the teams. If you yourself are interested to take an active part in debating this year, report to Dr. Houli or Doug Cloud. We want our forensic season to be the best it was last year.

English Singer In Haage Concert

Miss Austral, Soprano and John Amadio, Flutist, Appear

Another fine Haage Concert, the third in a series of five, took place last Wednesday evening, January 7, at the Strand Theatre. Miss Florence Austral, dramatic soprano, and John Amadio, flute soloist, presented a varied program.

At the last minute, due to the many request numbers, Miss Austral was forced to change her program somewhat. She sang an aria from a German opera, and a number from the opera "Aida." To the great applause of her audience, she responded with three encores, "Battle Cry," "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes" and "The Sleigh."

The large audience was entranced by her power and by the sweetness of her voice. Her personality, already rated high in her first visit here some years ago, was again voted pleasing.

Her husband, John Amadio, delighted the audience with many flute selections. He too responded with encores, and was called back to the stage three times after the final one.

Next Concert
On Wednesday evening, January 28, an outstanding feature of the Haage concerts will be witnessed. None other than Sergei Rachmaninoff, world famous pianist, will appear. As usual, the concert will be held at the Strand Theatre.

Y. M. Cabinet Plans For New Year

At a meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Cabinet last Friday evening, January 9, plans were made for a very interesting Y program for the remainder of the school year.

Harry Paul, President of the local Y, announced that beginning with January, copies of The Intercollegian, a monthly publication, would be placed, free of charge, in every fraternity on the Campus. A copy will also be on the magazine shelf in the Library for the use of the day students. The Y. M. is using for these copies, knowing that the content of this monthly is of untold value to the student of today. The Y. Cabinet is to be congratulated for their generosity and thoughtfulness in supplying The Intercollegian to Albright students.

With the new year, Vespers will again be held every Sunday evening in the College Chapel at 5 P. M. Members of the Faculty and others will deliver the addresses from time to time. Watch the bulletin board.

Another feature of the Y. M. on our Campus is the weekly Tuesday night informal gathering, held at 6.30 in the Social room of the Theology Building. A hearty invitation to these meetings is extended to all students, who may take an active part in the many up-to-the-minute topics brought up for discussion and consideration every Tuesday evening, at 6.30 P. PUBLICITY FOR ALBRIGHT

An Albright booster met another in New York City during the Christmas holidays. The former expressed great joy at reading press dispatches concerning Albright, in the daily papers of that city, and gave the opinion that such notices served to bring to the attention of the people in that metropolis, the doings of our small Alma Mater.

The importance of publicity for Albright, at this time in her history, cannot be overemphasized. The direct effect of it could be likened to a tonic, taken by a person recovering from an illness. That publicity is important can be seen from the fact that nearly all colleges, even those the size of ours, have at least one man whose sole duty it is to see that his institution gets the right sort of publicity and plenty of it.

Here at Albright, we are behind times at bit. We have no Publicity Director and no Graduate Manager of Athletics. The latter is just as important as the former, and student opinion on the Campus seems to favor the creation of such a position. In fact, one man could easily handle both jobs, for they are very closely linked together.

Up to this time, we have depended for such work upon individuals who were busily engaged with other primary activities. They deserve a lot of credit, for they certainly have done wonders. But a job of such importance, it seems to us, requires the undivided attention of one person, who could manage all athletic affairs and who, at the same time, would be responsible for Albright obtaining the publicity she needs and which she rightly merits.

The carrying out of such duties, by a person well acquainted with our own institution, would be of immense value to Albright in her attempt to increase in size and recognition. J. A. L., '31.

At Albright In 1905

(Excerpts From Old Bulletins)

By The Editor

The January issue of The Albright Bulletin, (for it was still a monthly magazine) was an excellent edition and certainly a good beginning for the year 1905.

It contained three very fine essays, as well as the usual Alumni and Campus Notes. Of course, it had many "ads," but expenses, we suppose had to be met somehow.

An editorial of this issue, may well be re-printed in the ALBRIGHTIAN. This fine bit of advice stressed the importance of working hard while in College and of developing the highest moral character possible. The second part of the editorial was devoted to the much debated question, What should a college education mean? Permit us to re-print the gist of the whole thing, summarized so ably by President Roosevelt. "If a College education means anything, it means fitting a man to do better service than he could do without it; if it does not mean that it means nothing, and if a man does not get that out of it he gets less than nothing out of it. No man has a right to arrogate to himself the particle of superiority or consideration because he has had a college education, be he bound, if he is a true man, to feel that the fact of his having had a college education imposes upon him a heavier burden of responsibility, that it makes it doubly incumbent upon him to do well and nobly in his life, private and public."

During the month of January three non-resident courses were offered to "persons who have not had the benefit of a regular collegiate course, and to graduates who desire to pursue a non-resident course as a helpful means of advancement." These courses were open to all and were sent thru the mails. To receive credit for work done, exams were held, usually in the presence of an approved third party, to whom the questions were sent and who returned the exam papers to the College authorities. At the completion of a course, a diploma was awarded. The three courses offered were (1)—English Language and Literature; (2)—Sociology and Economics and (3)—Ethics and Theology.

The Rev. John D. Shortess, of Milton, Pa. delivered a lecture to all those who were planning to enter the ministry. The lecture was described as "intensely interesting and helpful."

Another lecture was given by Rev. E. H. Romig, of Lancaster, Pa., who suggested a very comprehensive outline for the study of Church history. Both addresses were well attended.

Rev. A. I. Ferch, a missionary in Japan, sent the College a beautiful Japanese banner, a fine specimen of Japanese needlework. It was accepted for the College by the President and a vot of thanks was extended to Rev. Ferch. The banner was framed and hung in the College Chapel.

A DESIRE

Why do I want it to be Spring?
When other years—
I always loved the icy tangle of cold winds—
The crimson that crept into my ivory face—
The long white stretch of snow,
Shining like teardrops with the gleam
Of the midnight moon.

I loved the Winter—
But now
I want it to be Spring—
With fragrant nights of love and happiness—
A violet bed—
A bunch of pink arbutus at my throat—
Violets outside my window—purplish-blue—
The happy ring
Of tiny runs of water.

It must be You—
Because last year—
I didn't want it to be Spring.

LITERARY

By David Savidge, '32

"N by E"

(By Rockwell Kent)

This man, most distinguished for his etchings, has turned to other spheres for expression. Answering the urge to discover, which has been the underlying cause for all great voyages, the author with two others made a voyage North by East in the good ship "Direction." The skipper was Sam Allen, an experienced seaman. Kent describes him as "tall—over six feet, strong and lithe; slow moving, slow and courteous of speech, and calm." "Cupid" was the mate, a big fellow with curly golden hair, a face like his name, and the expression of a petulant potato. He proved grand, humanly offensive, financially a disappointment, and, at last, a liability. The navigator, the remaining element of the crew, was the author, a typical American with average possibilities but immense realization of those possibilities.

Now, a word about the boat. Its length over all was thirty-three feet; its beam eleven feet four; its draft six feet. Truly a small boat for a venture such as these men were to undertake. It had been built by an office man who, feeling the call of the sea, wanted to sail for the South Seas but ran out of money. Arthur Allen, Sam's father, bought this boat for $8,000.00 and the official sail started from Nova Scotia on June 17, 1929.

The first day out was calm and warm. The crew experienced no difficulties. At night however, cold overtook them, along with several winds, while seasickness overtook the mate. The second day was stormy, with constant falling of the barometer as well as of the goods stacked on the shelves and the men themselves. Besides being navigator, the author was cook, and established rather frequent contacts with the stove itself.

Continuing N by E, they passed Newfoundland and sailed on into the Saint Lawrence Gulf, thru the Strait of Bellefleur, around Labrador, and across to Greenland. In this last passage gales really struck them for the first time. No sign was visible for observations as to position. Icebergs had to be dodged. They finally reached Greenland with no idea as to where. Trying to get inshore they were thrown on a granite ledge, on July 15th. They had time to drag their duflie to shore before the waves made an end of the "Direction."

Here the author left the others. He trekked along rivers and thru them until he finally reached Narsak, where a native picked him up. July 17, word was sent to the Governor at Godthaab who immediately sent out to rescue the others. On return to Godthaab the mate and the captain left the author and returned to the States. The author stayed behind, and had to pay the rescue for their time. He eventually traveled across Greenland and sailed to Denmark. Thence he traveled homeward.

The latter portion of the book is rich in folk-tales and songs.

A ja-ah, a ja-ha
I was out in a kayak and went ashore
a ja-ha, a ja-ha;
here I found a drift of snow,
and it had begun to melt.
A ja-hai-ja, a ja-hai-ja.
Then I knew it was spring
and that we had lived through the winter.
A ja-hai-ja, a ja-ha.
And I was so afraid that my eyes
should be far too weak, far too weak
to see all the beautiful things.
A ja-hai-ja,
a ja-hai-ja,
a ja-ha.

SPORT LIGHTS

(By Russell N. Bonney, '33)

Once again "Little Albright's" court representatives visited Princeton and returned with the Tiger's scalp. They seem to be making a habit of this sort of thing and we'll say it's a mighty good habit. When Albright defeats a larger school or a strong team we naturally get the deserved publicity. The boys brought home a tale about several of the fellows being lost on the Princeton campus, and couldn't find the gym! In their search they even visited the hospital, but succeeding events proved this unnecessary. In looking at the score we'll guess that Princeton wishes that the boys hadn't found the gym.

Football may be past and perhaps (but we hope not) forgotten, but we cannot refrain from making this comment on recent events. It is the opinion of many students that the last bunch of athletic publicity left a bad taste in the mouths of loyal Albright followers. The press notices concerning athletic changes in schedule etc. were written up in various papers with unstated implications reflecting on the school's athletic policy and management. Over the holidays we were "put on the spot" by several alumni to clear up their mistaken viewpoint which was gathered by reading the above mentioned articles. Incidentally we don't like anonymous letters.

Now that we got that off our chest let's turn to more pleasant subjects. The six team Fraternity League gets under way on Tuesday evening, with two games. Let's put the league over this year.

Coach Smith seems to have found a winning combination. With Smythe at center, Haines and Capt. Karlip at forward and Vickery and Osliso, the surprise of the Kutztown game, at guards, this club has been working nicely. Here's hoping the quintet gathers more athletic fame for Albright.

Interfraternity Teams To Play

As an added attraction to revive the spirit on the Campus, the Inter-Fraternity basketball season will start on January 13 with the Zetas and Pi Tau playing.

Heretofore the inter-fraternity games have aroused much interest and enthusiasm, and inasmuch as some of the groups boast of strong teams there should be some keen competition.

The schedule is as follows:

Girls' Varsity To Meet Beaver Sat

The girls' varsity were defeated by a team representing Shillington, as a preliminary to the Lions' game on Saturday night, score 29-17. Mrs. Eva Mosser, a former star on the Albright sextette was high scorer, caging 25 points for the Shillington squad. The Red and White squad displayed a fine fighting spirit in their initial game together but their floor game was rather slow and the shooting was far from accurate. The weak points in team play that showed in the game will be drilled on at practices this week and a good showing can be expected when the sextette meets Beaver next Saturday night at 7:30 in the Y. M. C. A. Those who saw action in the game were Porter, the newly elected captain, Deck, Immel, Kutz, Wittman, Marconi, Reddig and Sittler.

COLLEGIANA

Altho the co-eds at Swarthmore College are allowed to smoke in the dormitories and sorority houses, the Phoenix, Swarthmore weekly, has been refused permission to print cigarette advertisements. Probably the same principle which necessitates calling a dance a frolic or social, if you know what we mean.

Prof. Raboch, at Theosophist University, California, was initiated into Phi Beta Kappa, fifty seven years after his graduation from college. Delving into the records of the fraternity some one found he had been elected to membership in 1873. The notification mailed to him that year had been lost in the Post office since that time.

Students at the University of Michigan are required to carry identification cards to prove their right to attend classes. A check-up has shown that many outsiders have been attending classes free of charge. Most of us will still prefer to take the limit of cuts, however.

The College Chronicle of North Central College offers the following resolutions:

1. I will be a good sport in every sense of the word.
2. I will refrain from malicious and destructive criticism.
3. I will not stoop to gossip.
4. I will not be a hypocrite.
5. I will dare to tell the truth. When the truth may be harmful to some, I will keep silent.
6. I will earnestly try to be broad-minded.
7. I will be modern whenever being modern means advancing to a better way of doing or thinking.
8. I will cheerfully and conscientiously offer my assistance whenever it is asked of me.
9. I will try to develop a sense of humor.

According to Boston University men, if you like girl friends "smooth" go to the Garland or Erskine schools for them, if you like them "high-hat" try Wellesley; if you appreciate intelligence, seek out Mount Holyoke; if you crave a companion who is "rah-rah" and "hot" look for her at Smith; or, if you would choose a "nice" girl, you will find her at Wheaton; but, no matter what type of girl you prefer, don't look for her in a co-educational school. The girl of your dreams may be any-

Chef Travels
To Florida

During the past vacation period Albright's efficient chef, Jan Van Driel, and N. Wilson Carvell '34 enjoyed an interesting trip to Florida covering 3200 miles. The most remarkable part of the trip was not having any flat tires or other trouble. They made stops at Jacksonville and Miami along the Atlantic and Tampa and St. Petersburg on the Gulf of Mexico. Popularity for Miami has increased lately, the city being noted for its beautiful homes which are of a colorful Spanish type, surrounded by picturesque palms and a wonderful sea shore. Many coconut trees are also found along the shore line.

Oddities of the Everglades are the straight roads, one piece of which was fifty miles in length without a single turn or hill, the water fowl and fishes and the Seminole Indians. Among other places visited were the oldest house and fort in the United States at St. Augustine and Richmond, Va., probably the most historic spot of our nation. Virginia figures prominently in the first settlement of America and many of the Civil War battles were Probably the most interesting sight was the Singing Tower at Lake Wales, Florida and dedicated by Coolidge in 1929. The tower is built on the highest point in Florida and the chimera can be heard for miles around. The tower weighs 5500 tons. The entire trip was greatly enjoyed by the pair and Chef has many interesting tales to relate.

thing from the shy little blonde, who awakens the protective manly instinct in the boy friend, to the wicked woman who smokes incessantly and partakes freely of the boy friend's flask, but whatever else she may be, she is not a co-ed.

At the University of Hawaii, the Frosh are required to carry at least two popular brands of cigarettes, and to pass them out when ever asked. Such a rule here would at least be a "break" for the few upperclassmen who aren't afraid of the Indian in front of the cigar-store.

A microscope is used for looking over the water from a submerged submarine, while "An optimist is an assertion to the contrary," is gleaned from a questionnaire given to freshmen at Michigan State. Who knows, maybe Rex Beach is a summer resort.

MUSICAL

WILLIAM E. MAIER

This outstanding member of the class of 1931 has won so much commendation thru his ability and campus activities that it would be truly difficult to enumerate all his 'good deeds.' Bill has a happy faculty of being able to do many things well. He has been the Business Manager of the 1931 Cue which was a highly successful edition. He was a co-manager of the 1930 football squad. He has been an unfailing member of the male glee club and varsity quartet during his four college years. Not only thru the glee club has his voice been heard but his solos are always an added attraction on the program and who does not recall the Atwater Kent and other prizes that his mellow voice has won. He is a member of the Alpha Pi Omega fraternity and a prominent member in Senior class affairs. Besides being a most essential member of the student body he has other matters at hand as the fact that he makes frequent early morning trips in the interests of Maier's Bakery shows.

Anyone with the vim, ability and earnestness that Bill possesses is sure to win his way in the world and the Staff wishes Bill everything that he deserves.

Who's Who Among The Alumni

DR. WARREN W. D. SONES

Not often do we find Alumni members of Albright College in the ranks of the nation's leading educators. Our college is yet too young to be a rival of Yale or Harvard, whose graduates take up more space in Who's Who in America than any other college. But he is an Albright alumnus who has achieved great things along educational lines, who is mentioned in Who's Who and who is regarded at Pittsburgh U. as one of their best men.

Dr. Warren Sones graduated from Albright in 1908. Further study at Pittsburgh University gained for him a Masters degree. At the same time he taught at that institution and worked for his Ph. D. which he obtained in 1925.

For many years he was Professor of Secondary Education and Director of Practice Teaching at Pittsburgh. But much of his time was spent in research work and survey studies in public school systems.

In 1928 the University opened up the Erie Center at Erie, Pa. Dr. Sones was elected as Head, which position he holds today. From a small student body he built up the Center to the two thousand mark.

Articles written by him may be found in several educational journals and magazines. Perhaps he is best known for his book, "High School Achievement Tests" along with Dr. Harry.

Fraternity Notes

PI ALPHA TAU

Pi Alpha Tau desires to thank the sororities and fraternities for their expressions of good will during the holiday season, and to extend to them its sincere wishes for a successful New Year.

The sorority extends sympathy to Miss Anna Heere, one of its Alumnae members, in the death of her mother. Announcement was made recently of the engagement of Ferne Kerst, an alumnae of P. A. T., to Augustus Heine.

The sorority wishes to offer congratulations to Margaret Wolf Bowman on the birth of a daughter.

The sorority supplied a poor family with a Christmas Dinner and several needed articles.

The members were very glad to welcome back Mildred Reichley, pledge, who visited the Campus for several days.

PHI BETA MU

The Phi Beta Mu announces its new pledges, Misses Anna Warner and Helen Blumberg.

After the pledging service on Tuesday evening the Sorority girls had a party in their rooms in Selwyn Hall. Refreshments were served.

Wednesday evening, December 17, the Sorority gave a Christmas party to a group of the children of unemployed parents, in the Christ Episcopal Church on Fifth street. Santa was present and gave dolls and candy canes to the children. Refreshments were served, stories told and games played. At seven o'clock the children were taken to their homes in automobiles provided by members of the sorority.

On Thursday evening, January 15, the Sorority is holding a closed affair at Gundry's Hall on Penn street. The affair is informal and will be from 8.30 to 11.30 o'clock.

BETA DELTA SIGMA

Frater "Ace" Wolbert represented Albright college recently at a dinner given by the Y. M. C. A. of Harrisburg, at which students from fifty or more colleges and universities throughout the country were present. Wolbert was asked to speak of the development made by our school. Several names of prospective students for Albright were secured as the result of the address. Devotions were also led by the Albright representative.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

The Heo Club entertained those students who took a year or more of a home economic subject on Thursday evening in Sherman Cottage.

Games were played and refreshments were served by the club.

The old massive colonial fireplace with its cheerful glow aided very much in achieving an informal and jovial atmosphere.
