

FACULTY DEBARS PICNIC PROPOSED BY JUNIOR CLASS

Deems It Inadvisable Because of Expense To Students As Well As Unwise Policy

SUGGEST BANQUET INSTEAD

For many months, many if not all of the students at Albright College have been looking forward with a great deal of anticipation to the Junior Prom. But this year, because of the growing desire of the students for something better, a plan was suggested. It was largely due to the Faculty that the Prom was declared ineligible. The plan was that there should be a School Picnic at Hershey Park.

For want of a better plan the picnic became popular with the students. But even with all arrangements made the Faculty had to give their consent to the proposition. They were to decide at the last Faculty Meeting. They did.

The representative of the Bulletin interviewed a member of the Faculty so this is official, so far as the Faculty is concerned. They placed the "taboo" on the plan for two reasons.

First, because they thought that there were a great many students at Albright who couldn't afford the few dollars that would be needed for the expenses of the Picnic.

Secondly, because they believed that it would not be a wise policy for the college to make a precedent of a school picnic. As a counter-proposal, the faculty suggested a strictly Junior Banquet.

Since there are no other plans to take the place of the two already rejected, only one thing remains. The school will not have any spring social affair whatsoever.

Albright College has few enough

FROSH CROWNED KING OF MAY IN GALA EVENT

Grand Coronation Accompanied By Buckets Of Mud And Water—Throne A Barrel

Out thru the silent stillness of the star-dimmed moon-lit night rang the imperious cry, "All Freshmen out in Scotchmen's full-dress suits!" (meaning pajamas). With many a sigh and undeniable yawn the grand procession slowly assembled and marched majestically behind the campus fivers. Excitement ran high, for the long-awaited gala time had come—the coronation of the May King!

After a brief excursion around the town the formerly prepared spot was reached; on the Mohn Hall campus could be seen the glittering May Pole and when all was ready a brilliant white flare of light signaled the commencement of the preliminaries.

Various talented victims of the class of '30 gave exhibitions of their unquestionable skill in fancy dances.

MOHN MEMORIAL HONOR ROLL

Since the last plea for funds has gone out, only two responses have been received. The total that must be raised before Commencement week is forty-five dollars. 45 IRON MEN. There are about ten days left. THE COMMITTEE MUST GET THE MONEY. ALUMNI AND STUDENTS! A little support, and the trick is done—a few dollars here and there and the prize is won. We won't admit defeat, will we? It's up to us! The two contributors are: Lloyd Kruger. A. Frank Ziegenfus.

NO PROM! NO SPRING SOCIAL EVENT THIS YEAR

Faculty's Decision To Can The Junior Picnic Leaves College Without Substitute For Prom

The recent decision of the Faculty which cans for once and all the College Picnic which the Junior class was planning to marshall instead of the usual Junior Prom, which had outlived its usefulness, leaves the college without its spring social event.

Unfortunately as this is, it is nevertheless too true. Were it not so late in the season, something could probably be substituted, but not now. In the face of the Faculty's objections, it will be hard to find a good substitute for the Prom, which to maintain school spirit, and keep up the College social life, is necessary. Another problem for the class of '29.

ALBRIGHTIANS ATTEND I. N. A. CONVENTION AT LEHIGH UNIVERSITY

Heckert, Gottshall, and Houseal Represent Their Alma Mater At Newspaper Conference

12 COLLEGES REPRESENTED

Ernest Heckert, Editor, Russell Gottshall, Bus. Mgr., and Harry Houseal, Managing Editor, attended the Annual Convention of the Inter-collegiate Newspaper Association, held at Lehigh University, May 13th and 14th, as representatives from Albright. The convention opened on Friday at 12 o'clock with registration of representatives. In the afternoon reports from all member papers of the association were given and all newspaper problems discussed. J. G. Ridsdale, Business Manager of the Brown and White, last year, of Lehigh presided over the meetings. Friday night the entire convention attended a banquet given at the Sunlin Hotel, Bethlehem. At this banquet Dr. Neil Carothers, Director of College Business at Lehigh gave an interesting talk on his ideas of journalism. The next speaker, Mr. Royal J. Davis, Political Editor of the New York Evening Post, spoke on editorials. In the course of his talk he defined what an editorial is, and he explained what part an editorial should play in the college paper. He stated that it should show the spirit of the entire staff and not merely the ideas of the writer himself. Prof. J. M. Lee, Executive Secretary of the I. N. A. followed with a humorous talk on "After Dinner Speeches."

The Saturday program consisted of a talk "I. N. A. Past and Future" by J. G. Ridsdale. Mr. L. P. Beebe, Prof. of Journalism, Lehigh University gave a talk on "News Make-up." The rest of the morning was spent in additional reports of member papers, reports of committees, and election of officers. The officers elected for next year are as follows:

RED & WHITE QUARTET WILL HOLD CONCERT

Arrangements Completed With '28 Speculum Staff For Concert To Be Given June 4th

Final arrangements have been made between the Speculum staff and the "Red and White" Quartette for the concert to be given by the latter organization this spring. The date decided upon was Saturday, June 4th.

The arrangements were made so that the alumni and friends who visit Albright over Commencement week will have an opportunity to hear this noted group of artists, before they leave for New York, where they will all an all summer engagement.

COMMENCEMENT CALENDAR IS NOW COMPLETED

Bishop Bell of Harrisburg Will Deliver Baccalaureate Sermon—Rev. Gramley of York Speaks For Y's

BOTH HELD JUNE 5TH

The calendar for the seventieth annual Commencement has been completed. Some time ago it was announced that the commencement orator was Dr. Edwin Watts Chubb, alumnus and former president of Albright College.

The other speakers on the Commencement week program are William M. Bell, D.D., LL.D., of Harrisburg, a bishop in the United Brethren Church, who will deliver the Baccalaureate sermon, and Rev. A. D. Gramley, B.D., '94, father of Dale and Heil Gramley, both members of the class of '26, will deliver the Christian Association address in the evening. Both of these will be held on June 5th, the Baccalaureate service being scheduled for the morning, and the Christian Association service in the evening.

The decision to have Rev. Gramley deliver the association address was made by the combined "Y" cabinets in a meeting late last week held for that purpose. It has been the custom of these organizations to select speakers from each of the three Evangelical Conferences in Pennsylvania, alternating each year. As a minister from the Eastern Conference delivered the sermon two years ago, last year, the honor going to the Pittsburgh Conference, it was due for the Central Pennsylvania Conference to have a representative.

Ever since Rev. Gramley was graduated from Central Pennsylvania then located at New Berlin, Pa., he has been a staunch supporter of Albright. He has been a contributor to the Bulletin on frequent occasions, and has appeared on the chapel platform a number of times, so his appearance at Albright will be far from unfamiliar—in fact he has made several visits to the college this year. Central Pennsylvania Conference claims him as one of its best ministers. He has served a number of

MEN'S GLEE CLUB WILL CLIMAX SEASON AT HOME

Render Last Program of Year Before Local Audience Monday Night In Chapel Same Numbers That Pleased Thousands

The Men's Glee Club will make its last public appearance on Monday night, before their staunch supporters of the whole year—their fellow students.

From success after success, victory after victory, the boys will assemble in the college chapel at 8 o'clock on Monday to make the climax of their year a real climax—by making it the best one of the year. It is natural that it should be. This for several reasons. First, they will bring with them the practice and experience

HISTORICAL CONTEST CLOSES NEXT WEEK

The Bulletin Historical Contest will close next week. At that time, all answers must be turned in to the staff. The exact date has not been fixed yet, but it will be announced publicly the day before, to give all late comers a chance. There is still time to enroll and get busy and win the autographed Speculum. Take an interest with the others in the history of your college!

But hurry! The zero hour is fastly approaching!

MUSICAL RECITALS EVERY TUESDAY TO END OF YEAR

Senior and General Concerts By Music Students Will Occupy Part On Every Week's Calendar

From now until the end of the college year, or until Commencement there will be a musical recital by the students of the College of Music, every Tuesday, as there has been for the past several weeks. Every year these musical treats are some of the best attractions for the students of the college, both in an entertaining sense, and one which will be of great value to the participants.

The next recital will be one by the Seniors, with Cyrus E. Beekey, tenor, taking the leading part. He will be assisted by Harold Miles, piano. The recital will be held in the chapel at 8 o'clock as usual.

JUPE PULVIUS REIGNS SUPREME, PUTTING BAN ON ALL EVENTS

May Day Festivities And Baseball Game With Schuylkill Parsons Postponed Because of Rain

MAY DAY HELD ON TUESDAY

Jupe Pulvius was King over week end and Monday.

As Bobby Burns says, "The best laid schemes o' mice and men gang aft a-gley and lead but grief and pain for promised joy." And Burns is right. The stage and campus were all set for great things over the week end. Albright was going to have a triumph—rather one more than she did. Albright was going to have fun. Albright was going to witness the coronation of a May Queen.

There was weeping, wailing and gnashing of teeth in the Albright ballroom over the week-end. There were visions of a lost opportunity—visions of chances for vengeance. The Albright sticksmiths were already sharpening their spikes—oiling their gloves, and swinging their trusty bludgeons, which to date have manufactured base blows at the clip of 340 which means that every third man pounds out a baseball in safe territory—not bad in any league—

BASEBALL TEAM SHOWS CLASS IN FIRST HALF

Team Bats For High Mark of .349 And Fields At .986—Score 57 Runs To Opponents 8

Albright has finished the first half of their season without a defeat charged against her, six games have been played and six games have been won, and if the hitting and pitching keeps up should not lose a game.

The pitching staff is perhaps the strongest in college ranks, Sherrid, Shoap and Strickler have each won two games and they have all turned in brilliant victories. Haney has proven to be a valuable relief man. The hitting of the team has been hard and timely, and the team average for hitting has been .349, which is remarkable, considering the type of pitching the team has faced.

Shoap is leading the team in hitting, gathering an average of .720. Below are the averages of the first five hitters of the club.

	G.	A.	H.	R.	Av.
Shoap	6	25	18	9	.720
Griggs	6	23	12	8	.521
Brown	5	8	4	3	.500
Kerns	6	23	9	10	.387
Angle	6	26	7	8	.308

Kerns and Clemens are tied with sacrifices, each having five, Kerns is leading the team in run scoring with ten, also in stolen bases, with eleven. The team fielding average is .986.

LINCOLN U. QUARTET BOOSTS SENIOR MEMORIAL

Fund Increases By Forty Dollars As Colored Musicians Please Large Audience With Negro Spirituals

Thursday evening, May 12th, the Lincoln University Colored Quartette gave a concert in the College Chapel under the auspices of the Senior Class. A large crowd was present to enjoy the concert of Negro Spirituals, Lullabys and Popular Songs.

The Negro Spirituals were very well rendered. The Quartette was greatly appreciated by the audience, which was evident by the hearty applause which they received. The blending of the voices of the Quartette was wonderful. It seemed as if their voices were made to sing together, so great was the harmony, especially in the Negro Spirituals, which were their best numbers. The bass singer was exceptionally good. His deep bass the leading part in many of their selections.

This concert was held for the benefit of the Senior Class memorial. A handsome profit was realized which amounted to about forty dollars.

IMPROVEMENT IN ORDER

Since the State Supreme Court has decided that Albright belongs to some one and will be under a capable management and will beyond doubt remain in Myerstown, we can begin to look for some lively step when the Alumni meet this Commencement time, and when the Trustees decide to improve the old place and when the Class of '27 leave their memorial to the school.

The Alumni now can safely go ahead with their plans for the New Gym for which plans were made and work begun when the merger dispute knocked things in the head.

The trustees can make many permanent improvements in the old buildings and about the campus, such as side-walks, painting, grading, tennis courts, equipment, etc. They can start a campaign for a greater Albright—a new library, new studio, and new dorms to accommodate the larger student body which will be attracted.

The Seniors are working hard, and will have funds enough to place a real honest-to-goodness memorial on our campus.

Things look good for Albright. Let's start things booming. What do you say?

IT WAS rather unfortunate the way that the weather insisted on spoiling our May Day plans this year, in view of the psychological fact that when one is ready to act, not to act is very disquieting. So when we were all ready for a lovely May festival, we were naturally disappointed in having to "put it off." Since we cannot order the weather as we please, we recognize a superior hand that guides our destinies.

But this is the point in mind. Why not have the festivities at an earlier hour in the day. Five-forty-five is rather late when the Spring is still very cool. The campus becomes treacherously damp by the time mentioned, and a good many folks are unnecessarily exposed to the cold, not only the dancers and other participants, but the spectators as well. Suggestions on this subject have been voiced previous years, and perhaps it would be wise to make a change to an earlier afternoon hour.

The funny part of it is, that the boys were luckier in their choice of a May Night. However, we are inclined to believe that the girls' performance would be judged the better one, wouldn't it.

IF SO, WHY NOT?

The decision of the faculty that the proposed Junior picnic to be held at Hershey Park could not be held came as a mixed surprise and disappointment to the students of Albright who were really looking forward to this event with great anticipation.

The reasons given, it seems are hardly sufficient to warrant this decision. The first objection was the cost. Yet, it would have cost no more than the Junior Prom would have cost, or did cost in former years. For two dollars, a pretty fair time could have been held in Hershey Park any day.

As for the affair being taken off of the campus, what difference does that make? The Albright-Juniata football game was taken away from the campus, last fall. And where, it is reasonable to ask, could the students be chaperoned better? On the Hershey Park Picnic Grounds, AT DAY, where there would have been faculty members or on the campus, or in Myerstown AT NIGHT with no faculty members around, as was the case at the proms in other years?

Would it have been made a precedent? If successful, probably so, and justly so. If not, or if it did not work out as it was supposed to do, it would not have become a precedent, and the faculty could have seen to that.

As for the argument that there would have been dancing, the pavilion would not have been available for that purpose by day, and it was not the intention of the students to stay there all night. But for the sake of argument, is dancing any worse than necking?

The fact of the matter is that the students are suffering a distinct loss. First they take athletics from the mass of the students. Now one of the chief social functions of the year, which, goodness only knows, there are few enough around here now. Scholastic and religious life is not enough. Our social life, nor physical, which a college must develop, must not be neglected.

ATHLETICS FOR ALL

One of the cherished policies of THE BULLETIN is "athletics for all." During the past several months, or years, for that matter, we wonder whether this has meant any more than the room it occupies in the editorial box above. Conditions have been steadily growing from bad to worse. Yet several years ago, there was some semblance of this condition, when the non-athletic (professional) had a little chance to indulge in sports. But as Rube Goldberg says, "them days are gone forever"—apparently at least. There was a time when physical education was offered in the gym. There was a time when the athletic association took an interest in the tennis courts and saw that they were in a usable condition—which was, and still is, though nobody could guess it, the association's prerogative. There was also a time when there was room on the athletic field for the layman athlete—but that day likewise has departed to the great beyond.

In this respect the college catalog is misleading. Things sound good enough, and perhaps some who are not acquainted with the real situation think they are, nevertheless, the fact remains that they are not. Athletics, instead of being available for the masses have been delegated to the chosen and paid few. The present system is highly undemocratic.

By the present system of specialization, a squad of men who are already as near physical perfection as can be found is gathered together, and then all the money is lavished, and all the coaching and training is concentrated on these few, in order to evolve a winning team. We specially feed them, transport them in special trains, yell for them, bet on them, and weep over them. Were it not so serious, it would be humorous—the sight of our professional coaches running around after their charges, codding them, and feeding them, denying them and massaging them, tucking them in bed, and turning out the lights, and even praying for them in a fashion all of their own, and get them excused from classes on fictitious reports of injury.

And where does the great mass of students come in? Why, they are left to develop lung power on the bleachers. They are not even wanted on the field—the coach has no time for them. Yet they pay ten dollars gym fee and read in their college catalog that 100 hours of physical education shall be a graduation requirement, and that each student is encouraged to learn and take part in some game or games, wherein plenty of physical exercise of much variety is required. That much time is given to individual advice in helping to correct physical mistakes of various kinds. The advice, however, to these "Willy-Boys" consists in exhorting them to develop a false "pep" for this sort of a thing, to develop a greater lung power for use in the games.

All of this is contrary to the natural order and sequence of things—Under this system, college defeats its own ends. Mental and Physical development is our slogan—and we really are foolish enough to kid ourselves under the hallucination that we are getting both of them—when the fact is that we are getting neither. It is evident that the mass can not get athletics when here are none to be had, nor any way of getting any. It is just as evident that for the mind to develop and function, it must be anchored in a good, sound body. But how in the world can one develop a good sound body when the only athletics available are parlor gymnastics, cards, and tidley-winks?

What can be done about it? We can drop all pretense of amateur sport and admit a Bachelor of athletics, and Bachelor of pugilism into our curriculum and give them sheepskins; or we can adopt outright prohibition. But we can find something more intelligent. What we need is a conviction of sin and change of heart. The present system is not one of choice, but of blind drifting. Then let us awake and watch where we are drifting. Let us adopt saner standards. Our creed is to win at all costs. Let us ask you, is this a good creed? Are athletics, as constituted at present worth while? Does the end justify the means? The answer must be "NO." Let us therefore abandon this blind worship of athletic idols, and get back to a normal basis. Let us indulge in athletics for love of contest rather than of conquest. Let us have clean amateur sport, and let us have simplicity, economy, and above all, sports for the many.

FROSH CROWNED KING OF MAY IN GALA EVENT

But because of complaints to the management, that the flickering headlights of the campus flivvers were inadequate the rest of the performance was transferred to a position nearer the watching galleries.

Because of the limited amount of space a mere mention of the events needs necessarily to suffice. The wrestling and tumbling act was much appreciated by the audience, as was also the Spanish poem by Issy Goldstein. The other events were bore by the gracious spectators as something which must be gone thru for the ultimate good of all.

Now comes the great occasion! In the absence of the duly elected (by popular opinion) candidate who passed the nite at the home of his fairy godmother, two others were speedily agreed upon. It was decided best to have the fortunate two fight a duel to determine who should have the coveted position. After combatting furiously for several minutes (each candidate being urged on by his backers) the weaker succumbed and the mighty king arose, wiped the blood and mud from his face—and smiled!

He quickly climbed into the throne and blind-folded, because of the sacredness of the transactions about to precipitate themselves upon him, stood up triumphantly to receive his crown. And almost before the dodging crowd could scurry to safety he had been crowned several times.

Such was the most glorious event of fiscal year! Never can we hope to see it outdone in point of beauty, variety, splendor, excitement, gaiety, happiness, humor, etc., etc., for never can a class such as '30 ever hope to exist again! (at least we hope such a thing is impossible.)

Shoop is out in front with extra base hits, getting eight doubles and one triple. He has hit one double in every game played to date.

"KING'S CORONATION MY STORY"—I. WASHAR

Describes Mud Slinging and Pillow Fight On Campus—Rabble Was Conspicuous

By I. Washar

Photograph of the Coronation of Freshman Wray As King of the May.

(Special Staff Correspondent)

King, first, then Queen. That was the order of events for years back and it still is, as could easily be seen last Thursday evening. There were all kinds of pajamas there and some night shirts, too. I don't know where they came from. Probably from the mountains, for that's the only place they still wear them, I'm told. Then there were horns and symbols and paddles and pillows and lest I forget there were buckets. But what was in the buckets? That's my story.

It was the night of the King's crowning and all the pages were there—the rabble, too. Preceded by an automobile—pardon me—I parade started for the town. Followed by shrieking sleepers the automobile—I have been pardoned—rolled down the main drag. The townsmen who didn't know were informed that a May King was to be crowned on the Mohn Hall Campus. Crowned with what? That's my story.

Finally they reached the campus and then the fun commenced. Who were those funny fellows who danced around the May Pole, yelling as they danced? Freshmen. Who barked at the moon? A Freshman. Who recited for the future King's benefit? It was Abie. Who wrestled for the King's pleasure? That would be telling. But this is my story.

Then the rabble began to cry for the King. It was decided that two contestants should battle for the honor. Getz and Wray battled. What a battle! The rabble decided that Wray had won.

After his short and snappy speech of acceptance he was crowned. What was in the buckets? Mud. And he was crowned with it, too.

"All hail the King," shouted the rabble and the sound echoed down the campus, but will not be heard until next year when by popular demand a new King of May will be crowned.

charges, reaping as rich an experience as wide as any in the conference. In 1910 he received the degree of Bachelor of Divinity from Temple University. His last charges have been at Williamsport, where he built the beautiful First Church, one of the finest in the Denomination, and after serving the limit of seven years there, was changed to Trinity Church at York, this being the third year that he has been located at that city. In addition to being one of its noted preachers, noted for his fluent command of the English language, Rev. Gramley is one of the prominent writers in church publications. He is a regular contributor to the Evangelical, the official church publication, and has been the joint editor of several books, one of them being The Centennial Celebration of 1910, the other editor being J. D. Shortess, another alumnus of Albright.

Rev. Gramley has been a trustee of the college for a number of years.

MILLER AND DUNDORE STAR IN SENIOR RECITAL

Show Technique In Piano and Voice Respectively—Numbers Well Received

Last Tuesday evening two Senior girls, Kathleen Miller, Pianist, and Esther Dundore rendered a very pleasing music recital in the College Chapel before a medium sized crowd. It was one of the series of musical recitals given by the seniors in piano and voice.

Miss Miller gave her second recital for a few weeks ago she gave a voice recital. Her piano selection was very well rendered, her technique showed much training. All her numbers were well received by the audience.

Miss Dundore did her part very well showing much ability and training. Both Piano and Voice selections were very well received and appreciated.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB WILL CLIMAX SEASON AT HOME

which they have acquired out in the conservative western part of the state, the jolly, care-free and lively coal regions, and the industrious Central and south of the State. The Glee Club was a grand success this year—as usual.

The boys have been practicing and rehearsing their numbers ever since school began in the fall, and by now have every part of every selection down pat." This fact alone assures the success of the concert on Monday night. Then, too, it will be the first time their fellow students heard a complete program of the 1927 edition of the glee club. The same holds true for their equally as enthusiastic well wishers—the citizens of Myerstown.

The program will be the same as the club has been giving in its last concerts, and those on the Easter tour. This includes club numbers galore, solo numbers, duet numbers, selections by that famed Red and White Quartet. These will be interspersed by instrumental numbers, such as instrumental trios and a "uke" duet. Probably the feature number will be a comedy-skit, "Two Gentlemen in a Fix" by Hood and Asper, the two comedians (among others) on the club. Yes! It will be a great event! The same which brought rounds of pleasure and laughter, as well as appreciation for the aesthetic to almost ten thousand people this year.

Among the places included on the 1927 itinerary are Johnstown, Altoona, Lewistown, Sidman, York, Wrightsville, Stewartstown, Port Carbon, Ephrata, and Aristes, besides a number of others. The last appearance they will make is at MYERSTOWN.

social affairs during the year for a school of its standing. Now we are to abandon our most important one.

If the students wish an affair badly enough they can have one. But the students must express themselves and do it quickly. What say, students?

QUARTETTE JOURNEYS TO MT. CARMEL

Give Two Sacred Concerts In St. Paul's Evangelical Church—Will Observe Men's Day

On Sunday morning before most of us are awake the Red and White Quartette will have left in the Ford for Mt. Carmel, where they are to give two sacred concerts in the St. Paul Evangelical Church of that city. The trip is a long one, but the boys are going to attempt to make it in one day.

The first concert will be given in the morning and the second in the evening. The occasion is the observance of Men's Day in the church of which Rev. J. F. Gross is the pastor. The Quartette made an enviable record for itself this year, both in sacred and secular concert work. A few months ago the Quartette rendered a similar concert in Trevorton which was very well appreciated by the congregation.

In the concert the boys will alleviate the monotony of continuous singing by the Quartette by solos by all the members of the Quartette. All the men are capable soloists and have had experience in this kind of singing.

Then, too, there will be duets and instrumental numbers for Morris is a violinist of no mean ability. It is also possible that he will accompany several of the solos by playing the obligato.

The boys go to Mt. Carmel with a reputation already established and they are going to live up to it to the best of their ability.

This will probably be one of the last trips for the Quartette, but the beginning of school in the Fall will see them hard at work for they expect a big season next year, and are going to prepare themselves for it.

JUPE PULVIUS REIGNS SUPREME, PUTTING BAN ON ALL EVENTS

But it was all useless and wasted energy.

Blame It On Jupe

Yes, blame it on Jupe. He could not have selected a more inopportune time to resurrect his old springling can and drench the earth beneath, almost as bad as the Disappointed Demons drenched Kid Wray the night before. But ill, indeed is the wind which blows someone no good. Down at Reading there should have been rejoicing and shouting when the sky clouded up, and the aqua pura began to descend on both the just and unjust. It is not known exactly how strong their ball club is, or just how they stack up against other college nines, but it is known that unless they are not so far below the calibre of the Cards or Giants their chances would not have been worth a nickel. The way the Flying Wellrites have been going ever since the beginning of college diamond season. T. U. S. Albright's loss was their gain, but we can't play the role of the selfish Shylock all the time, even though the sound of a good hard clamping of the Parsons would have been sweeter music in our ears than even the Lincoln University colored quartet's rendition of "Moonlight on the Ganges." But, O well, let it go. It can't rain all the time—next week, Wednesday, to be exact will soon come around, as will another chance at the Parsons. The only trouble is that the boys won't be able to enjoy the vengeance in expiating and atoning for the lucky football game. True, two would have been better than one, but even then, a lot can be done in nine innings.

May Dayers Foiled Twice

Hard as Jupe was on the batsmen, he was even harder on the girls who had been practicing for weeks to present the best May Day Fete in five years. As if it wasn't enough to foil them on Saturday, the scheduled day for several months, the Old Boy showed he was no respecter of persons when he caused it to rain and be damp on Monday, which the girls found it expedient through the force

Officers Elected And Constitution Drawn Up—Chapter Room Rehabilitated—Banquet Next Week

TO BE PERMANENT SOCIETY

As the number of Day Student girls increased each year, the need of government manifested itself more and more. Such a large group demanded some form of union to insure its general welfare. Popular feeling became so strong that by unanimous consent they were organized as the Chi Sigma or Commuters Society. The following officers were elected:

President—Margaret Haak.
Vice Pres.—Elizabeth Bittler.
Secretary—Pauline Swanger.
Treasurer—Dorothy Dunlap.

The impetus which marked the first movement toward organizing did not relax and the Day Students' room was attacked with such zeal that it was shortly transformed into a pleasant and charming center for study and social hours. A constitution, embodying the principles and laws of government of the society was drawn up and adopted. All Day Student girls were invited to join.

The Society is now justly proud of the accomplishment of so much during the short period of its existence and feels that it is well on the way toward being one of the permanent organizations of the institution. Most of its success has been due to the untiring efforts of the president, Miss Haak, who has proven capable and praiseworthy in overcoming the difficulties and apathy that always beset such an undertaking.

The first annual banquet of the society will be held May 24th.

second and eighth that ruined Woodcock's chance for victory. Sherrid was only in trouble once in the fifth inning when two scratch hits and an error filled the bases, but here Sherrid tightened and retired the next three batters without any damage being done.

Visitors Field Well

Mt. St. Mary brought one of the prettiest fielding clubs that ever performed here, their outfield committing highway robbery on sure hits in their territory, and their infield grabbing anything in sight. Dooley and Brenner robbed Kerns and Brown of extra base hits by clever fielding, while McGarrigan covered acres of ground at short.

Gasull and Griggs were the high lights in the infield for Albright, both cutting off sure hits in their territory. In the first inning Gasull had three assists. Angle was a tower of strength behind the bat in holding up Sherrid's slants.

Shoop the Babe Ruth of College baseball came through with two base hits again, one being a double. Griggs and Angle were the other two punches in the Albright attack, both getting 2 hits, one of Angle's being a double and one of Griggs being a triple over the right field fence. Campbell, the first sacker was the only one of the Mt. St. Mary hitters to analyze Sherrid's offerings with success, getting two of his teams five hits.

How They Scored

Albright scored their first run in the second inning when Shoop in the first hitter doubled to center field. Griggs the next hitter singled to right, Shoop taking third on the hit. Clemens laid down a bunt to the pitcher, and in trying to throw him out at first hit him with the ball, Shoop scoring when the ball bounced back of first base. This ended the scoring until the eighth. Brown the first hitter was robbed of a sure extra base hit by Dooley, Gasull came thru with a hit over second, stole second and scored on Angle's hit to center. Kerns lifted one to left field for a sacrifice fly, Angle scoring after the catch, Shoop hit one to short, who fumbled it, and Shoop reached first, where he scored a minute later on Griggs triple over the fence. The

SCRAPS

Saturday, ah, who will ever forget it? It dawned, gloriously gloomy, woefully wet, a splendid day for the May Fete. Like so many mermaids the girls burst from Mohr Hall in multi colored bathing suits and rainbow-hued slickers, twirling gorgeously decorated silk umbrellas. They tripped daintily about the campus with their galoshes unbuckled. What a sight to behold! "How original!" everybody exclaimed. But, do Albrightians ever lack originality?

The Queen was beautiful. Drops of water glistened in her hair like diamonds, and her eyes shone like stars under her sky-blue pink umbrella. Her attendants wore red and white striped hip boots, and carried huge bouquets of dandelion flowers. The Queen's bouquet consisted of beautiful, rare sunflowers. Altogether, it was a colorful event.

The dance of the Rain Sprites was very effective, and the antics of the Bucket Brigade sent everyone into peals of laughter. The Umbrella Dance was interrupted when a gust of wind blew the participants to the farther end of the campus. But they came back safely, and their second attempt was pronounced a success. The orchestra played "Let it Rain, Let it Pour" during the entire program.

"Don't git sorry for yerself. That's one thing I can't stand in nobody. There's always lots of other folks you kin be sorry fer 'sted of yerself. Ain't you proud you ain't got a hairlip? Why, that one thought is enough to keep me from ever gittin' sorry fer myself."—Mrs. Wiggs.

"Don't do anything, till you do it; and when you've done it, stop doing it."—William Sillette.

next hitter was retired when he fouled one back of the catcher, who made a pretty catch of it. But the damage had been done, three runs had crossed the plate, running our total to four. Sherrid had little trouble in retiring them in their half of the ninth and one more ball game was chalked on the winning side of the ledger.

P. M. C. Set Back By Strickler

Strickler had little trouble in setting P. M. C. 12-0. Strickler pitched only five innings, and only gave them two hits, and Hanev, Albright's steller relief hurler took the task for the last two innings, and set them down in order, besides fanning three. P. M. C. was no match for Shorty Gasull and his playmates, and the ump fearing to miss his supper called the game in the seventh on account of darkness, when it was still light enough to play another game. With Albright batting it was just hit after hit, error after error, a 3 run after run, and enabled the Albright team to fatten up the averages. Kerns, Angle, Griggs and Shoop led the attack on the two P. M. C. hurlers, the four getting ten hits. While the combined efforts of the two men that they used got only two runs.

Y.M.C.A. SONG SERVICE POST-PONED—COMPETITION

Boys Forced To Call Off Special Feature Because of May Day Fete And Recital On Tuesday

The special song service which the Y. M. C. A. was planning to hold on Tuesday was called off, the announcement coming that morning when it was seen that there would be too much competition from other sources which needed the boys' support. The first was the May Day fete in the early part of the evening, and the second the musical recital in the chapel by Kathaleen Miller and Esther Dundore.

No plans for the following week were disclosed by President Morris, but it is probable that the song service will be held next Tuesday instead.

This service and the "Y" party that was held last week mark the beginning of the regime of the new "Y" cabinet. The cabinet aims to have interesting meetings so as to increase the attendance of the fellows at all the regular meetings and create more interest in the work of the "Y" in the school. The "Y" also plans to have better meetings and to have them more helpful than ever before. With these aims before them we are sure of good meetings, so "Fellows, let's start to attend the "Y" meetings for the rest of the year and then keep up the good work next year."

WORTHWHILE ADVICE

... Far ahead and near at hand
Are summons to the growing youth,
And many places must be filled
By those prepared and fit for life—
Are you and I to find ourselves
Not ready then to meet the world?
... Take fair warning while there's time,
And to your chosen work incline;
Each day to add some worth while things
To all you've learned in school before;
... Work away and waste no thot—
'Tis short enough the years will be
'Til we are men and women of the world!
There are no moments to be lost,
Oh, make each golden minute count.
—Virginia Zener '28.

SPRING RAINS

Spring rains have a different sound
Somehow,
Than those of the rest of the year;
They seem to have whispers of hope inside
Not echoes nor sounds of a tear.
They aren't as plaintive as rains that fall
When autumn is visiting earth;
They gurgle and laugh in the dead of night,
With never a cause for their mirth.

I've laughed at them dance, for they can't stand still,
I've smiled when they tapped at my door;
They do it to tease me than scamp-er off—
I wish they'd come back once more.

For rains in the Spring have a different sound
Than those of the rest of the year;
They seem to have whispers of hope inside
Not echoes, nor sounds of a tear.
—Blanche McCauley.

SAVAGE?

Hurried clouds and tossing trees—
The blue moon peeps and hides—
Star-light, stardust, floating-down—
The dark canoe so slowly glides
Into shadows, into moonlight,
Into lilies growing by the sides;
Whispers call from flutt'ring pines—
The Indian maid abides.
—Virginia Zener.
