Mrs. Good Announces Homecoming Schedule

Plans for the fall homecoming schedule for Saturday, Oct. 26 have been completed, according to Mrs. Mary Fry Good, executive secretary of the Alumni Association.

Cecil P. E. Pottier, '45, president of the Alumni Association, appointed Norman E. Dettra, Jr., '52, as chairman of the student-faculty planning committee.

Highlighting the program for homecoming day, will be the Alumni Luncheon, a football game with Franklin and Marshall and a victory celebration after the game.

Harrisburg Area

The Harrisburg Area Alumni Club will be in charge of morning registration in the library. Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m. and continue until 11:30 a.m. A coffee hour will be held during registration by members of the Lebanon County Area Alumni Club. Guided tours of the campus are also included in the morning program.

Following the luncheon in Krause Hall, fraternity and sorority alumni and active groups will meet in their respective houses or designated places.

Preceding the football game, the annual float parade will take place. Prizes will be awarded to the first and second place float winners by Student Council.

After Game

Following the football game, an alumni, faculty and student get-together will be held in the fieldhouse. "This will be an informal gathering," said Mrs. Good, "with the purpose of having 'one activity for all.'" She expressed hope that this new format would eliminate "catering to individual groups." Presentation of the prize-winning float trophies and The Haps Benfer Most Valuable Player Award for the most outstanding Albright player of the game will take place at this time. ### 'Rocky' Albright Profs Find Hobby In Hills

By CLIFFORD FRANKS, Assistant Editor

During the course of our conversation, it was jokingly said that rock collectors perhaps have more rocks in their heads than can be found in their collection. This was one of the many humorous remarks passed on by Ronald E. Cocroft, instructor in religion, as we chatted about the hobby that he and Marcus H. Green, associate professor of biology, Dean George W. Walton, dean of the college, and Dr. James D. Reppert, instructor in English, have very seriously undertaken the study of rock hunting and collecting.

A Pastime

Just as some of us enjoy listening to good rock and roll records or watching the World Series on television, these Albright professors enjoy traveling hundreds of miles over highways and paths in quest of mines or rocks.

Cocroft explained that, strangely enough, he first became interested in rocks back in 1949 when he took

Health Group Discusses Flu

After a meeting of the college health committee Tuesday, Dr. Clarence A. Horn, professor emeritus of biology, issued the following statement regarding the group's discussion of Asian flu: "There has been a committee of the faculty and administration which has considered the possibility of an epidemic of Asian flu on campus. All possible arrangements have been made to cope with the situation as it arises."

Further details of the extensive plans made by the committee will be disclosed if the situation on campus warrants.

China Start

The wave of Asian flu now found throughout the world was first detected in northern China and quickly spread via major trade routes to other sections of the earth. Even before its arrival in this country on a large scale, Congress had appropriated $2.8 million to help combat it.

At present, with the disease prevalent in many spots, the World Health Organization, a specialized agency of the United Nations, is cooperating with the U. S. Public Health Service, headed by Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney, to work out effective curbs for the influenza.

A vaccine has been developed for use in preventing the flu, while antibiotics are used in treating it.

Fall Retreat Begins Saturday At Mensch Mill

The fall Y retreat will be held tomorrow and Sunday at Mensch Mill with the theme of "Frontiers of Christian Living." The Reverend Mr. James Phillips will be the speaker.

There will be two seminars held tomorrow and one on Sunday. The theme of Saturday's seminars are "Living on the Frontier: Higher Education" and "Christian Homes." Frank Fisher, '58, and Larry Bergstresser, '60, will be the worship leaders of these seminars. Louise Reid, '59, will be the worship leader of the Sunday seminar, which has the theme "The World Christian Mission." There will be discussion groups and a meditation by the Rev. Mr. Phillips at each seminar.

Princeton Grad

A native of Pittsburgh, the Rev. Mr. Phillips completed his undergraduate work at Princeton University and his graduate work at the Yale Divinity School. After completing his graduate work, the Rev. Mr. Phillips was a teacher-missionary for the Presbyterian Board in Korea. Last year he was the youth director of the First Presbyterian Church in Princeton, N. J. and is now studying for his Ph.D. at Princeton.

The general chairmen for the retreat are Sheila Greene, '58, and Ronald O'Reilly, '58, Nancy Heilman, '60, and Harry Humphreys, '60, are the assistant chairmen. Clair Matz, '58, and Miss Reid are the chairmen of worship and Mary Ann Sherk, '59, is in charge of food.

Mu Social Sorority Plans Rush Party

An invitation to the Phi Beta Mu social sorority rush party, which will be staged Monday from 7:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. at Schlegel Park, was issued to all freshmen girls Monday night. The invitation was given by costumed sorority members serenading the freshmen in the dormitory halls.

Guests must come to the party in costumes which are related to the theme, "Alice in Wonderland." Decorations will also correspond to this theme.

Amelia Pottier, '59, is heading the general planning committee, aided by Rachel Hinman, '60, and Mary Lou Speicher, '60, while Marion Hutchins, '60, and Carole Weber, '60, are planning the decorations. Ann Purvis, '60, is in charge of planning a skit for the party.

The president of the Mus is Mildred Folk, '58.

Satire Opens In White Chapel Based On Gilbert And Sullivan

"The Faculty Flame," a two-act campus satire, will be presented by the Albright College faculty Wednesday and Thursday at 8:15 p.m. in White Chapel Hall.

Patricia A. Hostetter, Domino Club director, and Charles A. Raith, assistant professor of political science, will portray the romantic leads in the musical which features a cast of seven principals and a chorus of faculty husbands and wives.

Raiding Pact Signed By York

Following a conference with student leaders at Muhlenberg College Tuesday, Frank York, '58, president of Student Council, signed a no-raiding agreement with the president of the Muhlenberg Student Council, Luis Torres. The text of the "Peace Pact" follows:

Peace Pact: 1957 Resolution

In the desire to preserve the long tradition of friendly rivalry between Muhlenberg College and Albright College, the following joint resolution will be adopted:

The respective student governments agree to accept the responsibility for a positive program in their campuses to prevent rowdiness and vandalism in the respective campuses.

Each school newspaper will feature — whenever possible — articles emphasizing the nature of this agreement.

Responsibility for maintaining law and order, for disciplining refractory students and for financial reparations rests squarely upon the student governments of the two institutions. It has been further agreed that the minimum penalty for any person apprehended in the act of creating violent or felonious damage to either campus will be payment of damages and, in the case of excessive vandalism or crime, recommendation by the respective student governments for severe disciplinary action.

FRANK YORK—President Albright Student Council
LUIS TORRES—President Muhlenberg Student Council

Along with this agreement, that is intended to forestall the raiding of either campus in connection with tomorrow's Albright-Muhlenberg football game, a second agreement was signed in which Torres pledged to investigate allegations that property taken from an Albright fraternity house last year is now located on his campus.

The administrations of both colleges have pledged their support to the "Peace Pact". Albright's fraternities have also sided with the agreement.

New Cheering Squad Set For '57-'58

The new cheerleading squad led by Captain Celia Petrucci, '59, has been announced. Those re-elected to the squad are Sheila Greene, '58, Elizabeth Smith, '59, Rachel Hinman, '60, and Patricia Cush, '60. New members are Anne Hadney, '61, and Diane Andriella, '61. Betty Williams, '58, and Mary Rohrbach, '61, are the alternates.

The group made its first appearance at the Albright-Scranton football game recently. In addition to introducing new cheers they also displayed their new uniforms.

Based on Gilbert and Sullivan operetta music, the play will trace the efforts of the mythical Tulpehocken College faculty to direct $5 million from a wealthy alumnus, Homer T. Rich, played by Ronald E. Cocroft, instructor in religion, to raising faculty salaries. The resulting activities reveal life on the Tulpehocken campus.

Love Torn

Rich's daughter, played by Miss Hostetter, is torn between a professor disguised as a student, Prof. Raith, and the campus "bigshot," Hank Hardsause, portrayed by Robert H. Hohl, instructor in mathematics and physics. Meanwhile, the Dean, Clyde A. Harding, associate professor of English, and an inquisitive faculty wife, played by Mrs. Charlotte G. Price, graduate assistant in history, attempt to prepare for the traditional commencement exercises of the college. Dr. Samuel B. Shirk, assistant to the President, will portray Prof. Virgil P. Footnote, the symbol of academic conscience.

The play, directed by Dr. Shirk, is the first such production by the faculty open to students and the general public. It is being sponsored by the faculty social committee as a project to encourage candidates into the teaching profession. Proceeds from the musical will go toward establishing prizes to "two graduating seniors who show the greatest promise for a career in teaching," according to Eugene L. Shirk, faculty manager of athletics, who is production chairman. Recipients of the prizes, to be known as the "Albright Faculty Awards," will be chosen by the faculty committee on teacher education.

12 In Chorus

Members of the chorus in the production which includes a dozen musical numbers are: Ernestine Elder, assistant professor of art and home economics; Mrs. Marcus Green, Mrs. Consuelo R. Jordan, assistant professor of Spanish; Marie M. Kleppinger, secretary to the president; Mrs. Lewis E. Smith; Donald S. Gates, professor of business administration; Harold G. Jordan; Thomas G. Kane, lecturer in business administration; Thurman R. Kremser, instructor in mathematics and physics; and Lester R. Yeager, assistant professor of music.

Chapel Programs

Samuel C. Gundy, acting curator of the Reading Public Museum and Art Gallery, will be featured in the chapel programs Tuesday and Thursday. He will narrate a film on the natural history of snakes and will be introduced by the Rev. Mr. Eugene H. Barth, chaplain.

The Rev. Mr. Robert S. Smethers, Jr. spoke in the chapel exercises this week, also led by the Rev. Mr. Barth.

The Dining Hall: Period Of Transition

A groundswell of controversy has arisen recently concerning the changeover from waiter service to cafeteria style for the evening meal. The reason for the change is simple and direct; with the increased enrollment that has pushed the total number of boarding students to approximately 380, there are not enough seats to accommodate all of these students at the same time. With the passing of waiter service this college has now joined in the general college trend toward cafeteria service for all meals, but at the same time, has had to give up what for many years was considered an important, integral part in the life of the boarding students. The change has not been made without some apprehension on the part of both administration, faculty and students, but 1957-58 and the years in the near future will see the dining hall in a state of transition.

Short of enlarging the present dining hall or constructing a new building, one of which is included in the long-range plans for campus development, there is perhaps only one alternative to having all cafeteria service. This will be to serve the evening meal waiter style in two shifts, probably from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m. and 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. Several objections have already been raised to such a proposal, mainly 1. cost, 2. difficulty of administration and 3. the students working in the dining hall would have to eat too early.

On the problem of cost, Leonard Van Driel, steward, receives approximately $11 a week per student to cover the cost of board. Of this $11, $5.50 goes for food and the remainder for all operating expenses. On this fee, he must provide 21 meals each week. At present, it is necessary for the steward to count on a decreased expense for some weekend meals (due to students going home Saturdays and Sundays) in order to increase the quality of the food for other meals. Should the operating costs increase, the amount of money now devoted to food will have to be decreased.

There would undoubtedly be some confusion at the outset of a split dining hall period, however a fair but strong administering of the program would alleviate this difficulty. The problem of having the student help eat too early (say 4:15 p.m.) is definitely a real questionmark. At the present time about 17 students work two hours each for the evening meal. These 17 work alternating weeks with another group of 17. Thirty-four students are needed for waiter service for a minimum of two hours (split period) so that this operating cost would be doubled, along with raises in other expenses. If these students were able to work only one of the two periods it would necessitate the hiring of 68 students, amounting again to double the present cost of student help. This is the key question involved.

There are many reasons why it is preferable for a college to serve its evening meal waiter style, all revolving around the educational concept of developing the complete person. Perhaps an idea different from the above one will be found, but if not a solid solution will have to be found to the above objections and in this way Albright's dining hall will be able to return to its traditional waiter-served evening meal, prior to the time either the present dining hall is enlarged or a new one is constructed.

Cooperation Needed

The Albrightian fully supports the action taken by Frank York, '58, Student Council president, in his signing of the "Peace Pact" with Muhlenberg College. Acting for the entire student body, he has placed the responsibility for heeding this pact on each Albrightian. The success of this agreement will be a step forward for the college and indicate the stature of its students.

Educational Horizons

By JOSEPHINE SEYFERT

In less than ten years most of us will be parents of extremely inquisitive children. Naturally, we will want the best education possible for them. I feel that the test of a worthwhile college education is whether or not we become good parents.

Are you going to vote to send your offspring to "costly palaces" as the author of a recent Reader's Digest article says? Is it necessary to have long, glass walled corridors from one end of the school to the other, auditoriums to which are attached three-stage theaters, and libraries with open fireplaces?

Physical Asset

A pleasant classroom is a definite asset to the teacher and student. The community must set the standard. If they vote to have a library with an open fireplace, it can cause no harmful effects. Of course, this should be the dessert. Higher teacher's salaries and better classrooms are the "piece de resistance". We need 200,000 rooms, claims the writer of the article.

You will want interested, sincere teachers — people who can teach Herbert that the American Revolution was fought with England and not the South; teachers who can make the soldiers at Valley Forge seem alive for him. "Jeepers, I'll bet they were cold," he should feel, if not express verbally.

Projection

As I gaze into the horizon, I can see a few of you sitting at school board meetings, perhaps you are even calling them to order.

Mr. Easy-Way-Out is pacing the floor. "Look here, men, we've got to decide. Now you all know that Mrs. Homemaker is a very efficient, well-liked person in the community. Besides that she is willing to accept the position of home economics teacher for $2,600 a year. I know that Miss College Graduate is better qualified, but she won't accept our minimum rate." How would you vote?

Segregation

You move to Arkansas because you have a good job lined up. The majority of students at the nearest school are colored children. What would you do? If you say that you are trying to be a good Christian, the answer seems obvious that you will co-operate in the integration program. Jesus never spoke for segregation of races in the Bible.

Foes of democratic education are constantly trying to suppress individual thinking. In this atomic age it is imperative that citizens know what to fear and what not to fear. It is true that this need must be met by the teachers, but the parents play a big part in encouragement and support of the program. To me, education is the process of helping the young adult to think for himself in all situations. Do you agree?

Albright Personality

Clair Matz

By BEVERLY BARTHOLD

Had it not been for the Rev. Mr. Elton Trueblood's message during the Pre-Centennial Convocation of Clair "Buddy" Matz's freshman year, the Christian people may have lost a great leader to the business world. Clair decided that day to enter the ministry.

Active Student

Majoring in psychology and minoring in sociology, Clair has been active in many campus clubs and organizations. In his sophomore year he became a member of the Alpha Pi Omega social fraternity. During his junior year, he was chaplain for this group, and at present he is the corresponding secretary.

Clair has also belonged to the Kappa Tau Chi pre-ministerial fraternity for four years and has served on Student Council for the same length of time. A native of Reading, he worked on The Albrightian his first three years, and held office as president of his class for three years.

With all these activities, Clair still finds time to enjoy golf, water-skiing, and radio repairing. This summer he worked as a houseman at Stokesay on the top of old Mt. Penn.

Future

In the summer of '56 Clair was a member of the "Youth Mission to Youth" group, which traveled the states to Minnesota.

As for the future, Clair plans to attend Dayton Seminary in Ohio. He hopes to take his post-graduate work at Boston University.

Versatile

Our hats are off to Clair for proving that along with overcoming the challenges of the more serious tones of college life, a person can have a lot of fun and be an active leader as well.

Meditation

By BOB PERLESS

The disturbed society in which we live has lost the meaning and realization of sincere peace. We have fearfully seen the threat of communism expanded, have acknowledged the horrible menace of nuclear warfare and have shrunk from the despotic power of dictators, but we have failed to realize that in spite of all these perversities, God remains omnipotent and omnipresent. He never changes.

We won't find the eternal peace of Christ in frivolous living, or in all the education and knowledge of our world. God is a Spirit, and we must come before Him with a contrite self, confessing and repenting our sins and shortcomings, and asking Christ for His eternal peace and salvation.

Christ is able to transform our life and cast out fear with His perfect love. If we obtain this eternal peace of God, then we need not fear any hardships or adversities that might befall us.

Customs

By SCORRA STRICKLER

Although many frosh may not have noticed, customs have been in effect for the past three weeks. Some spirited upperclassmen are trying to do their share of initiating the frosh to college life by subjecting them to supposedly embarrassing situations. There has been a ridiculous name applied to these dedicated students. They are known as "frosh beaters." What this year's freshman class doesn't seem to realize is that customs, and all that is involved with these traditions, are for their benefit, so that they may become healthy, happy citizens of the Albright community.

Categories

It has been observed that the complaining frosh have split up the general term "frosh beater" into smaller, more descriptive categories. The following is a frosh's guide to some types of upperclassmen.

SOPHOMORE SNEAK—This is the most terrifying group and is usually comprised of a large crowd of sophomore girls who travel together to boost confidence in their newly gained superiority. They are easily recognized by bellowing voices and fierce expressions. Actually, if one of these girls is encountered alone, she will give a murmured "hi" and hurry to her next class. She definitely believes that there is strength in union.

OVERLY FRIENDLY—These are usually upperclassmen who can be bought off with the promise of a date with a frosh girl—but the frosh fellows can't get off so easily, they still have to know the Alma Mater.

Albright Faces Veteran Mule Eleven

IN THE LION'S DEN

By LEE SWARTZ, Sports Editor

After the first two games of the season, Albright's record stands at 0-2. The other day, a "frosch" was asked to button: His reply was "Yea, Albright, score against Muhlenberg." This is quite disrespectful, but it must be admitted that it illustrates the point perfectly, for the Lions have failed to cross the goal line of their first two opponents. Against Scranton they did drive to the eleven yard line, but could go no farther. Against Bucknell the total offense was less than 100 yards. This could be perceived due to the ability of the tough Bison defense. However, Scranton's team, which cannot be placed in the same category as Bucknell's Thundering Herd, held the Red and White with equal ease. It seems that only one conclusion can be drawn from this evidence. Albright's offense is sadly lacking. The greater amount of the Lions progress has been made in the air with the combination of Frank Sudock to Pete Wagner accounting for a large portion of this. Take away these two and the yardage per game drops to less than 70 yards.

Royals Boast Speedy Attack . . .

In the Bucknell game, Albright's defense was praised strongly despite the 16 points scored against it. Don McCarty, Joe Kremer, Harry Miller and Frank Sudock were among those players lauded for defensive ability. Against Scranton, however, the Lion forward wall presented little problems to the slashing Royal backfield. Had it not been for some fine line-backing, the score of the game might have been more lopsided. On the subject of offensive blocking, on one play Sudock was hit by eight Bison defenders. He must have felt like he had encountered a steamroller head on. Here could be the solution to the offensive problems. Without a strong blocking attack, even the best backfield men are in trouble. Perhaps a lot of the kinks will be out when the team meets Muhlenberg tomorrow. Let's hope that the frosh will shout "Beat Lycoming" next week instead of the "Score on Lycoming" cheer.

Tough Road Ahead . . .

Just to run over a few of Albright's future opponents' scores this past week: Gettysburg, 19-0 over a strong Bucknell squad; Lycoming 40, Dickinson, 6; and Lebanon Valley, a 21-0 victor; a total of 90 points scored. It must be mentioned, however, that the opponents of LVC and Lycoming are perennially weak and not too much can be concluded from the comparative scores.

On the basketball scene, Albright's players plan to get in shape early this year. Captain Merrill Eckhart has formed an intramural league with five teams competing. The squads are made up of veteran as well as freshman ballplayers. The games are played Monday and Wednesday with Eckhart's team having taken the lead in the tournament. Each team will play the other teams twice.

A new addition to athletic competition here at the college has been added. It is Albright's first annual fall golf tournament. The tournament will be held at the Rich Malden Golf Course Sunday, Oct. 13 and is played on a handicap basis.

Lion Pass Airbound

Lions Seek First Win Of Season

The Mules of Muhlenberg College will entertain the Red and White tomorrow afternoon at 2 p.m. in Allentown. Coach Ray Whispell's charges have a good crop of sophomores with some experienced lettermen in the backfield to face the Lions. About 45 aspirants will be on hand for Muhlenberg in an attempt to repeat last year's 18-0 success at the expense of Albright. Overall the Mules had a mediocre (4-4) record in 1956.

Senior letterman quarterback Art Wright and sophomore signal caller Jim Nonnemaker will perform the chores handling the pigskin. Lettermen Roy Madsen and Claude Wilson will fill the halfback slots with Charlie McCutcheon, another letterman, at fullback.

Veteran Team

Standouts from last year on the line are ends Don Herman and John Young; tackles Bill Carty, Bob Hietter, Clair Miller and Gerry Rehrig; guard Don Novek; and center Paul Whitcraft.

Tomorrow's game will be the second contest of the season for Muhlenberg and will be the home opener. Last week they traveled to Easton and were defeated 20-13 by the Leopards of Lafayette.

Last year the Mules' leading ground-gainer was Bob Lee. He has graduated now but the nucleus of Madsen, Wilson, McCutcheon and Wright in the backfield has offset the loss. The line suffered the most damage through graduation, however the experienced lettermen and some very promising sophomores backing them up put the forward wall in good shape.

Mules Lead In Series

Muhlenberg opened football relations with Albright in 1905 when the Red and White emerged victorious 23-6. In the 33 games played to date between the two schools Muhlenberg has won 20, while the Lions have annexed 13 victories. The most lopsided affair was played in 1947 when the men in Cardinal and Gray trounced the Lions 53-0. The closest scoring contest took place in 1937 when Albright squeaked through to win 7-6. The Lions last defeated the Mules in 1954 in a 12-7 battle.

INTRAMURALS

APOs Take Early Lead In Touch Football

Intramural football is now underway with six teams competing; four fraternities, one dormitory and one daymen's team. The games are scheduled for 4:15 p.m. each day with four teams playing. The officials are picked from the two teams that are not scheduled. The teams play in what is called a "round robin," which means that each team meets each other twice.

To date six games have been played, with the APOs in the lead with a 3-0 record, and the Zetas, Pi Taus, and Kappas with a 1-1 record.

On the tennis scene, the intramural tennis tournament began recently. The finals were held yesterday. Nelson Haller, the defending champion, was expected to be challenged strongly by Carl Witonsky who has returned after a year's absence from the tournament. Other team veterans participating are Ernie Firestone, Jack Reinhard, Charlie Sample, Norm Bennet and Ted Gabriel.

Scranton Royals Maul Lions By 20-0 Count

The Scranton Royals started off their 1957 football schedule on the right foot as they pounded out a lopsided 20-0 win over the Albright Lions last Saturday. Albright has a record of 0-2. This also marked the second straight game in which the Red and White failed to cross the goal.

Scranton scored their first touchdown in the second quarter on a 67-yard drive which was covered in four plays. With a first and 10 on the Scranton 33, the Royals' junior halfback Joe Belluci cut over left guard and went to the Albright 30, where he was finally brought down by Lion captain Don McCarty. Scranton captain and fullback John Potkul, of Taylor, moved the ball to the 28, but senior halfback Walt Perih of Scranton was hit behind the line for a two-yard loss, making it third and 10.

Second Period Score

Sophomore quarterback Ed Zelinski of Glenolden, then tossed a pass to Perih for the Royal score. Potkul did the point after touchdown kick twice, with Scranton offside the first time, and both kicks were good. With 12:45 remaining in the second quarter, Scranton had taken a 7-0 lead.

Albright's freshman fullback Claude Lynch kicked off to open the second half and Perih returned the ball from the 18 to the 30. Potkul lost a yard, but senior quarterback Vince Cesare made this up when he hit Perih on the 45 for another Scranton first down.

With Perih and Potkul doing the running, and Cesare the passing, the Royals arrived on the Albright four yard line, where it was first and goal to go. Potkul took the hand-off and bulled his way into the end zone with 8:20 remaining in the third quarter. Potkul scored his eighth point when he made the PAT.

Royals Tally Again

Late in the last quarter the Royals scored again. Albright had a first and 10 situation on their own 20. Frank Sudock tossed an incomplete pass, then hit freshman halfback Phil Wandzilak with a pass at the 26. However, the play was nullified with a personal foul against the Lions, which moved the ball back to the three yard line. Sophomore fullback Gerry Bricker picked up two yards to the five, making it third and 22.

Sudock then passed incomplete. Junior halfback Harold Lightweis punted from the endzone to the 26, where Cesare made a fair catch.

Royal halfback Tom Toton plunged to the 21 for five yards. Sophomore halfback Tom Shoppie added seven more as he went to the 14 for another Royal first down. Scranton's quarterback Mike Melnick sneaked to the 12, and then passed to end Nazzarano Panfile for the score with 2:58 left in the game. Toton kicked the extra point to end the scoring for the evening.

Lions Move To Eleven

Albright's best penetration of the night came in the third quarter after Scranton had scored its second touchdown. The Lions had the ball on their own 40 when senior halfback John Cunningham was hit behind the line for a five-yard loss. This was nullified when Scranton was charged with unsportsmanlike conduct, moving the ball to the Scranton 38.

Bricker hit the line for no gain. Lynch picked up four yards and Sudock hit end Pete Wagner on the left sideline at the 16 yard stripe. Bricker went to the 11, which marked Albright's high water mark. Sudock then lost five yards, passed incomplete and finally had a toss intercepted by Potkul on the 10.

The Lion offense bogged to 33 yards rushing and 50 yards passing. The Royals proved themselves to be equally at home both on the ground and in the air, rolling up 181 yards rushing and 188 yards passing.

Sudock threw 20 passes and completed six, while Cunningham tossed one incomplete aerial. Zelinski threw one TD pass and hit another in four attempts for 33 yards. Melnick completed one pass out of three which was good for 12 yards and a score. Cesare completed seven of 16 for 109 yards, while Perih completed one out of two for 28 yards.

Bricker emerged again as Albright's top ground gainer, rolling up 20 yards in nine carries. Cunningham carried 11 times for 15 yards to place as runner-up. The longest Albright run from scrimmage was recorded by Sudock, who picked up seven yards on one of his carries.

PLAYER OF THE MONTH

Sophomore guard Harry Miller is The Albrightian's Player of the Month for September. The diminutive (he is 5 feet, 8 inches tall) Miller, although not a starter in the first two games against Bucknell and Scranton, has shown a great deal of desire and hustle as well as football ability on the gridiron. Miller went to Reading High School, where he was a standout performer in football on the line for the Red Knights. He also was a member of the wrestling team.

Business Major

At Albright, Miller is a business administration major. He is hoping to be a business executive when he receives his degree. Miller is a member of the Zeta Omega Epsilon social fraternity.

Asked what was his greatest thrill in football, Miller replied, "Playing against my buddy from high school in the Bucknell game." He was referring to Larry Mathias, the center of the Bucknell Bisons.

Harry is looking forward to the wrestling team's second season (1956-57 was the opening season for collegiate wrestling at Albright). Last year he broke a finger in his hand during the early part of the year and was forced to miss the rest of the matches.

Boarding Students Reply To Dining Hall Queries

Boarding students were contacted during the week and queried on their reactions to the changeover from waiter service to cafeteria style for the evening meal. Robert Poff, '60, and Judith Burchardt, '61, received the following replies to this set of questions: 1. Do you like the idea of cafeteria service for the evening meal? 2. Do you think a split dinner hour would help the situation? 3. What other solution would you suggest?

Claire Vogel, '60: "I don't care for evening meals, cafeteria style, because it doesn't give the new students a chance to get to know everyone else. It seems to me that the same people sit together night after night leaving room for no one new. Also, I feel sorry for some of the fellows 'cause they can't get seconds. The split dinner would provide for the latter, but I still don't care much for the idea. Any suggestions?"

Pauline Ziegler, '59: "No, I do not appreciate the change in the method of serving the evening meals. I think it has taken away one of the few socializing times that are certainly needed in college life. As for the proposed answer to the problem—the split dinner hour—it is a partial solution, but that only begins the problems, for then we must consider how and into what groups we should split! No problem is answered by one or two comments; it can only be answered by mutual interaction between students and administration."

Chapel Girls: "We realize that the facilities available are inadequate to serve the dorm students properly. Therefore until better facilities are provided we see no other solution than cafeteria service. However, we think considerable thought should be given to this very pertinent matter by the administration so that we can enjoy our meals once again without getting ulcers."

James Schuman, '60: "No, but it is beyond our control, since the situation is that there are more people than there is room for in the dining hall. It is something which we will have to face until we find some practical solution such as a new dining hall. It would be impossible to have a split dinner hour since it would take too long to reset the tables. The line may be long, but the food is as GOOD as it was."

William Garrett, '59: "No, I prefer dinner in the 'homestyle' with waiters and waitresses. Cafeteria style dinners give much less chance to the students for quiet socializing and take away much of the beauty that can go into the evening meal. Because of the size of the student body and the fact that Albright is a small college, I would suggest the split-dinner hour."

Thomas Grant, '59: "Of course not. However, I don't think the blame should be put entirely on Lenny's (Leonard Van Driel, steward) shoulders. I feel the administration should have had the intelligence and foresight to make the necessary alterations before allowing such an increase in school enrollment. The administration should have foreseen the confusion and inconvenience that would arise in the cafeteria and in the dorms."

Agnes Smith, '58: "I do not appreciate having to wait in line for the evening meals. If the college plans to have as many boarding students in the future, they should enlarge the dining room space in order to facilitate all the students at one time."

James Geisleman, '60: "Yes."

Joyce McQuay, '61: "Yes."

Sharon Doey, '61: "No. Everyone is complaining about the insufficient amount of food and milk served. With two seatings we would receive more of each."

Margaret Brooks, '60: "Yes."

Customs

TIMID SOULS—When you see these characters headed your way, don't worry about a thing. They're scared to death of everyone, including freshmen.

This about covers the classification of upperclassmen. Now let's take a look at the freshmen, which, I'm afraid, has already been done. Most upperclassmen, questioned on their feelings about the class of 1961, agreed that proper respect for superiors was sadly lacking and that occasionally school spirit must be forced out of them.

Respect the purpose of customs. They were set up to unite the freshman class and make it pull together as a team to improve the school. Everyone has great hopes that the class of 1961 will be not only one of the biggest, but also one of the best classes Albright has ever seen.

the bare essentials like a kneecap for the discovered rocks, coal shovels and, of course, a lunch. The congenial instructor in reason confided that, "Green always packs the largest lunch, but I never seem to have enough water."

Most of us make it a practice to participate in one hobby or another, and Coeroff feels that rock collecting gives him and his colleagues a deeper appreciation of the world we live in, plus an opportunity to relax in the outdoors away from the tensions of life.
