15 Appointed To Staff Of Albrightian

12 Frosh Gain Posts; Exchange Head Named

Twelve freshmen and three upperclassmen were appointed to The Albrightian staff this week, William A. Heck, '52, editor-in-chief, announced.

Others Selected

Nancy Geissler was appointed exchange editor. Other new staff members are John Schmidt and Theodore Tietge, artists; Vera A. Graff, Jean Schaeffer and Patricia Upczak, typists; and Dean P. Frantz, radio script writer.

All are freshmen except Miss Lafferty and Frantz, sophomores, and Schmidt, a junior.

Tryouts Held

Formal tryouts for the 22 candidates who applied for staff positions were held between October 5 and October 19. Appointments were made on the basis of ability, interest and dependability.

Eleven of the new staff gained experience in high school journalism. The others worked for church and government publications or received training in other ways.

Edits Chatterbox

Frankhouser was associate editor of the Shillington, Pa., High School Chatterbox and senior editor of the yearbook. Ettinger served as co-editor of Reading High's "Poetry '51," a compilation by English classes.

Four other staff members worked on Reading High publications. They are: Miss Weiherer, feature editor of The Red and Black; Miss Geissler, business manager of the same publication; Miss Upczak, sports editor of The Arxalma; and Miss Lafferty, Arxalma staff member.

Mogel Suggests Student Control

Recommendations for greater student control of the freshmen orientation program were put forth in the final report of Oscar Mogel, '52, this year's orientation chairman, to student council last Tuesday.

Mogel recommended that the division between the program sponsored by the public relations office—the week before upperclassmen return to school—and the follow-up program sponsored by student council be abolished. He urged that a student chairman be appointed for the entire program and that the program be under student council supervision, though cooperation with the public relations office would be maintained.

The frosh customs period, he believes, should continue until after the final football game. A committee will be appointed to consider Mogel's suggestions and ways of putting them into effect.

Library To Remain Open

The motion of Richard Witmoyer, '52, that council rescind its action requesting the library to remain open until 4:30 p. m. was defeated. The library has complied with council's request, but Miss Josephine E. Raepel, librarian, informed council that the library badly needs the half hour from 4 to 4:30 p. m. to carry on without interruption its "behind the scenes" work. Science students who have laboratories from 1 to 4 o'clock would be allowed to take out reserve books at 1, Miss Raepel said. Nonetheless, council felt that the heavy schedules of some students made it advisable that the library continue open until 4:30.

Dean Ruth E. Williams reported that she and Dean Levan P. Smith

Debaters Seek Help

If the Albright debate squad is to keep its commitments with other schools, more students must join the squad, Russell F. Wiegley, student manager, said Wednesday night.

Weigley urged interested students to contact him at once.

Dignitaries Lay Cornerstone For Gymnasium

Edward A. Reider, Jr., contractor, is shown lowering the cornerstone for Albright's physical education building into position as George C. Bollman, chairman of the college athletic council, Bishop George E. Epp, representing the Evangelical United Brethren Church, and Hobson C. Wagner, '22, president of the alumni association, look on. The ceremony took place on homecoming day, October 20.

Speaker Lauds Work Of Local Citizens

Late on Saturday afternoon, October 20, the cornerstone laying ceremony marked a new step forward toward completion of Albright's physical education building. Bishop George E. Epp of the eastern area of the Evangelical United Brethren Church and James Dickson of the Consolidated Stone Company, Inc., laid mortar on the supporting stone while Edward A. Reider, Jr., contractor, lowered the cornerstone into position.

The program followed Albright's 6-0 football victory over Franklin and Marshall. Frederick H. Klein, Reading manufacturer, gave the address, stressing that the occasion was the result of the combined efforts of President Harry V. Meters, the college board of trustees,

Sadie Hawkins To Invade Campus On November 16 As Albright Goes Dogpatch

Dedekind and Parsons To Take Leading Parts

By Dottie DeLaney

When Sadie Hawkins hits campus, the fellas had better watch out. For she brings with her a crew of women out to get their men . . . and anything can happen!

Sadie is due at Albright on Friday, November 16. She decided that this year she and Daisy Mae would need a little help in their chase, so they called upon Women's Student Senate for a helping hand. Always willing to oblige a worthy cause, WSS rolled up their sleeves, pitched in and prepared a bang-up program in honor of Sadie and her day.

First of all, it was decided that to keep things moving in true Dogpatch style, everyone should dress the part. In order to give the girls (and the fellas, too!) a "fair" chance, they would stage a race from 11 to 12 o'clock in front of the science hall, whereby the biggest catch (male) would go to the fleetest runner (female).

Men To Sport Radishes

Friday night the gals will get a chance to show off their winnings by taking their captives to a dance in the S.U.B. Again Dogpatch reigns supreme, when the fellows are escorted in, sporting carrot and radish corsages from their ladyloves. And as a special reward, they get to eat—which to a male's way of thinking, makes the whole thing seem worth while. If Daisy Mae is successful in her pursuit, Marrison Sam will be on hand to tie the knot.

Now for the cast of characters, who are all of the class of '55, by the way. Daisy Mae will be played by Cynthia Dedekind, L'il Abner, by Charlie Parsons, Mammy Yokum by Nancy Imlay and Pappy Yokum by Ray Stoneback. Moonbeam McSwine, the gal with the perpetual wright, will be Pat Upczak and Pat Wright will be the Wolf Gal. Sheila Samuels will take the part of Sadie Hawkins and Dimitrios Zaferos will be the knottier, Marrison Sam.

Y Group to Meet At Reading Church

The World Relations Commission of the Y's will meet next Tuesday evening, at 7:30 p. m. in Zion Reformed Church, Washington and Cedar Streets. Members of the commission will be guests of the School of Missions of the Evangelical and Reformed churches of the Reading area.

Marie Kaputo, '52, commission chairman, has announced that the Rev. Dr. Paul V. Taylor, who has been a member of the faculty of Central China College, Wuehang, will speak on the topic, "China, Communism and Christianity."

All students who are interested in attending this meeting have been urged by Miss Kaputo, registrar for the school, to contact her.

The racial equality commission will spend the evening at Reading's Fellowship House, where they will hear various talks on the racial problem.

With Those Who Know Statistics Best, It's Men 2 to 1; More Students Choose Business Than Any Other Curricula

Lutherans Outnumber Other Church Groups

By Patricia A. Schearer

Has anyone ever asked you, "About what is the ratio of girls to boys at your school?" or "How many dorm students does Albright have?" "Are most of your class mates members of the E. U. B. church?" Naturally, unless you're Miss Benninger or one of her co-workers, you probably won't have the figures at tongue's tip. But if you're mildly curious, here are some fascinating figures about Albright, which probably even you don't know.

Pennsylvania claims the majority of Albrightians, 437 to be exact, with New Jersey and New York following with 68 and 27 representatives. Maryland, Washington, West Virginia, Ohio, Illinois, Jamaica and Bermuda each have sent one student to our campus. Two hail from Germany, two from Massachusetts and three from Kentucky.

Two Men for Each Gal

An interesting figure and a happy one for the girls is the ratio between men and women. There are exactly 382 men and 163 women, which means about two men for every gal or about 70 per cent of our student body, men.

The day students outnumber the dorm group, 298 to 248, but in the freshman class, there are 85 boarding and only 80 day. There are 179 students from Reading itself and 123 from Berks County, the senior class contributing the highest number of Readingites, 49.

Business Course Leads

A break down by courses is interesting. The business course claims 108, 105 of whom are men, with teaching and pre-med running second and third with 90 and 47 students respectively. There are 43 pre-theologs and 31 chem majors. Thirty-four students are undecided, 11 of them seniors.

There are no women enrolled in the pre-dental, pre-theological, advertising, sales, or physics curricula. There are 196 students in the arts curriculum, 167 in science, 137 in business administration and 46 in home economics.

Many Churches Represented

Albright has a variety of churches and creeds represented in its 546 students. The Lutherans have the largest number of students on campus, with members of the Catholic faith and the Evangelical United Brethren church running close behind. About 15 different church creeds are represented with only 19 students stating no religious preferences.

Now when the occasion presents itself, you can roll off these figures at a moment's notice. And for you staticians, who are just raring to go after those means, medians and standard deviations, the figures are available in abundance in the office of the dean.

Pi Taus Elect Nine Fall Pledges

Nine fall Pi Tau pledges were announced at the fraternity's last meeting. They are: Jerry Greth, Michael Scarpignato, Raymond Smith, Robert Ravetz, Al Schlegel, Arthur Hilt, John Bicher, Barry Leinbach and Patrick Boccagno.

Also announced at the meeting was the dance committee for the fall dinner dance on Saturday, December 1. The committee is composed of William Schmidt, '53, James Hilton, '53, and Harry Houck, '54.

An alumni meeting of the Pi Tau was held at Bowers Country Club before the alumni homecoming dinner dance on October 20. At this meeting the Pi Tau Beta alumni association was organized with John Wise, '51, elected to the presidency and Harold Altenderfer, '52, named secretary-treasurer.

Gene Baltastine, '51, was named to the executive committee with Wise and Altenderfer to further organize the association.

Mus Name Dance Committee

Further plans for the annual Phi Beta Mu fall rush dance were discussed at the last meeting. Chairman of the dance committee is Dorothy Deam, '52, with Muriel Bergren, '53, Patricia Kennedy, '53,

Structural Steel For New Gymnasium On Way

Structural steel for the physical education building has left the Bethlehem Steel Co., Bethlehem, H. Eugene Pierce, supervisor of buildings, announced Wednesday. The steel is being shipped to Reading Steel Products Co. for fabricating and will be ready for use by the end of November or the beginning of December.

At present the tile partitions in the locker and shower rooms are being completed.

We Plead Our Case

College students perennially ask "why?" They want to know the purpose behind things. Institutions, organizations, policies, even college newspapers, must justify their existence if they are to be accepted.

In an effort to answer the legitimate questions students have about the "raison d'être" of The Albrightian, we have chosen to use this editorial column this week to explain the purposes of a college newspaper as we see them.

Above all else, it is the duty of the student newspaper to inform its readers—students, faculty, friends of the college and others of what is happening at Albright. In short, it must print the news. Virtually everyone agrees with this.

Another very important purpose is to record what did happen in the not-too-distant past. The Albrightian is the official, permanent record of life at the college. A recognition of this vital purpose will help to answer the otherwise justifiable gripes of some students who have objected to the amount of space devoted to covering past events.

One of the more controversial functions of a college newspaper is to crusade, to mold opinion, to speak in favor of what it believes to be right. Indeed, this controversy seems to extend beyond the confines of collegiate journalism. Although we do not believe that this is the chief function of a newspaper, we do feel that it has its place.

In addition to these three functions, we feel that it is the duty of a college newspaper to entertain its readers, to represent the college adequately to its public and to furnish an outlet for the creative talents of students interested in journalism.

We hope that this explanation will help to clarify the role a newspaper has to play in the total life of the college. We hope, moreover, that The Albrightian may never falter in its efforts to fulfill these duties.

Support Mrs. Shirk's Campaign

It is rare indeed for The Albrightian to enter the arena of politics not directly related to campus life. Yet we felt justified this week in going on record in favor of Mrs. Annadora V. Shirk, candidate for the position of school director in Reading.

We do not care what Mrs. Shirk's party affiliations are. We simply feel that she is very well qualified for the position, both as a member of the Albright faculty and as the mother of a son who not too long ago began his public school career in Reading. We salute Mrs. Shirk for actually entering the political arena whereas most of us merely talk about what ought to be done.

Mrs. Shirk deserves the support of those of us who are eligible to vote in the coming election in Reading. She alone merits the support all of us can give by urging those whom we know in the city to cast their ballots for her.

Inquiring Reporter Politics Aired

What do you think will be the outcome of the next mayoralty campaign in Reading; and why?

Leda PasYotis, '55: Someone's going to be elected, I think.

Loring Emery, '53: That is silly; I don't have any opinions. I don't know from nothing.

David Frankhouser, '55: I'm a great Republican. I feel that Bamford will be elected mayor, so he can clean up the city.

Richard Eshelman, '55: I think that Davis is through, and I'd like to see Bamford win.

Sarah Aicher, '56: Bamford! He is going to keep crime out of Reading—Ha! Ha!

Herbert Wittmaier, '55: Whether he is a Democrat or a Republican, we should vote for the best man, and he is Bamford.

Ray Weitzel, '54: There is a third party in Reading you know. No one denies the fact that they gave us a good administration before. Maybe they will give us a good one again.

Tom Stults, '54: I refuse to answer on the grounds that it might tend to incriminate me.

Mariastella Kaputo, '52: The Democrats will win, because the people do not have enough interest to be concerned with the issues.

Robert Brown, '55: Since rackets and the Democrats go hand in hand in Reading, the Democrats will win.

Barry Koch, '55: It's a shame the Republicans can't offer better candidates, but they'll still win.

Richard Seesholtz, '55: The Republicans will win, since many people doubt the complete honesty of our present officials.

Donald Ermold, '53: Bamford naturally—it's perfectly obvious, I don't have to give the reason why.

Robert Hohl, '52: I think Bamford will take it because of publicity of the racket scandal.

Richard Adams, '54: I think the Republicans will win from Bamford to Shirk (I want to pass English.)

Vince

This week our senior personality is Vince Gentile, a business administration student from Philadelphia. Vince, who plans to become a full time Marine on graduation, is off to a good start with a lieutenant's rating in the reserves.

This dark-haired personality has had his share of prexie positions. At present he is APO and interfraternity council president. He was class president in his sophomore and junior years. Vince has been a member of student council for three years, and this year was named vice-president of council and social committee chairman.

This 5' 10", 165 pound senior also has charge of the Celebrities and adds his own musical ability to the band by playing the saxophone and clarinet.

Current Tides—

Not a Panacea

By RUSSELL F. WEIGLEY

The long-slumbering British lion will roar once again, and from Suez to Singapore British policy will at last regain a measure of its vigor of old. Thus the press of the world has hailed the return to power of Britain's Conservative party and Winston Churchill.

Most of the Western world would rejoice to hear again the roar of the lion. Many of the West's ills of the past six years have resulted from the disintegration of British power in critical areas of the globe. For a century and more Britain had been throughout the world the protector of the peace and the guarantor of the balance of power. Then the winter crisis of 1947 forced Britain to curtail her commitments abroad. The United States and Soviet Russia were left the only powers of real consequence, facing each other across the vacuum of Britain's decline.

Doubtless Winston Churchill's Britain will speak with a new firmness in the councils of the nations. Not even Churchill's dynamic leadership, however, can enable Britain to assume her old diplomatic responsibilities in a world domin-

I see that in this busy town one building rules the rest, A brewery, tall and proud, with wings flung east and west, Whose innards ever seep, whose bowels never rest— Its thirsty servants stretch from shore to shore. Some little distance to the north, quite humbly By a hill, a dwelling, slight and silent stands, Its stunted spires and flattened arches Calling echoed Gothic reveries. Can this mute structure be the House of God, Whose children once, in forcing all hearts Heavenward, threw towers to the clouds And rolled His Word o'er continents? The town clock, as of old, no longer drops From steeped spot. Witty Intellectuals? No! Draft-Dodgers and Dear Devils

We, as college men and women, realize and appreciate our characteristics as a group, namely: personal attractiveness and vitality, intellectual awareness, savoir faire, wit wit, bright-eyed intelligence and a surprising amount of modesty . . . not to mention the touch of weary cynicism we all achieve by our senior year. Oh, yes, this is how we see ourselves, but how do others see us? Let us eavesdrop and hear some of their opinions:

A serviceman selected at random—"?!!h?" draft-dodgers!"

A biased opinion, you say? Then let us hear what our profs, who really know us, say. Their comments are kinder, ranging from "There must be an easier way to make a living," to "Bless their little pointed heads." Hmm. And what do our parents say? Doting mother—"They're dear young things who deserve their fling!"

Father (fingering flat wallet)—"They're dear, all right!"

We now approach some persons in our age bracket for their opinion of Albright students. First we have a man from Lafayette.

Man from L: "Wimmen!" (followed by drools).

Er . . . yes. And now we present Sadie Longbeam from Cedar Crest:

Sadie Longbeam: "Men! What did you say the ratio is here?"

Of course, we cannot forget, in our wanderings, the alumni. Let us consult a few.

Ex-football man—"They don't raise guts teams like we had in '03. Why I remember one game when . . ."

Thank you, Eddie Mayhoff. Then there are the alumni who deplore our being a decadent generation, and the alumni from the roaring twenties, who suspect that college kids don't have as much fun as they used to.

You may ask, "Is there no one who likes us for what we really are, namely, the things mentioned in paragraph one?" To the men on campus, we answer yes. Take a short walk to a high school and you will find a group that considers you the ultimate in mysterious sophistication (yep, even you freshmen). These creatures are known as high school girls.—P.D.W.

Gridders Gun for Upset Victory Tomorrow

In the Lion's Den

By Tom Masters

Statistics

After last week's 7-6 Lebanon Valley victory over Albright there seems to be an increasing tendency for the statistics to lie. The week before Albright stopped Franklin & Marshall, 6-0, while being out-rushed by 45 yards. Then last week the Lions outgained the Flying Dutchmen but found themselves the losers by the closest of all margins.

This "battle of the statistics" is, of course, very incidental to the true outcome of the contest. That any football game cannot be reduced to a mere set of figures is probably admitted by all, but there is still a leaning on the part of some toward the conclusion that the statistics give the truest picture of the game. These last two Albright games should be all the evidence that is needed to disprove this idea.

If last Friday night's game proved anything, it was that the Lion defensive platoon still holds a good margin over the offensive. The defensive line had the L. V. running attack in hand all night long, and, when the Dutchmen were depending completely on running plays so as to run out the clock, they stopped the visitors cold. But when it came to rushing passer Lou Sorrentino, that was a different question. The small but hard-charging L. V. line blocked low and effectively, giving the clever Sorrentino lots of time to throw.

The offense, meanwhile, was gaining well at mid-field, but when the Lebanon Valley goal came in sight, it was a different matter. The Dutchmen hung on grimly in the second half, turning back two definite Albright threats. They were a tired but determined crew, and must be given the credit for stopping an Albright offensive which was clearly superior in the second half.

Tomorrow

In tomorrow's trip to the coal regions, Albright will be looking for its first victory over the Scranton Royals. In so doing, they will again be up against a powerful, well-balanced club. But it is our own opinion that the odds this year are not nearly as great as they have been in the past.

Last year Scranton's team was even stronger than it is this year, and the Lions still managed to give the northerners a tough 34-13 battle. If the Red and White are ever going to give the Purple a run for the money, it will be this year.

Cross-Country Team Defeated By F&M and West Chester

Seltzer Finishes First Against Diplomats

By dropping two meets in a row last week Albright extended its losing streak to three. At half time of the homecoming game the visiting Franklin and Marshall squad defeated the Lions by the score of 16-46. The team then traveled to West Chester only to come out on the wrong end of a 23-58 score.

In the F. & M. meet, the Lion's Don Seltzer finished first with a time of 19:44. Ray Higgins and Tom Rignin, both from F. & M., finished in a tie in 20:27.6. Mahlon Frankhouser, 20:42, finished second for Albright followed by two Dips who finished in a tie also. John Keener and Bill Sutton tied for fifth place with 20:09. The Blue

Scranton Will Rule Favorite In Sixth Game

Gulianmen Point To Fifth Win of Season

The Albright Lions will travel to Scranton tomorrow to take on Coach Pete Carlesimo's Royals at 2 o'clock. The Royals are currently sporting a 5-1 record following last week's defeat at the hands of St. Vincent's, 21-14.

Carlesimo, in his eighth season at Scranton, had one of his best teams last year with a 7-2 record. Lost through graduation were Captain John Woodbridge, a pivotman, and Al Applegate.

Ends and Tackles Strong

The ends and tackles are exceptionally strong this year. Captain-elect Ed Romanowski, a senior, is one of their hardest-running backs. Last year the six foot, 250 pound fullback was on practically everybody's all-small college team. He was on the All-Pennsylvania and All-Catholic teams of 1950. Ed played equally well on both offense and defense. He averaged 4.1 yards in rushing per try and led the Royals in scoring, shared the punting duties and kicked all the extra points.

Other lettermen are Red Lydon, a 60 minute guard, Steve Knight and Stan Zebrowski, tackles, Paul Burak, a back, and Stan Russin, end. Carlesimo's field generals are Dan Shea and Lou Konal. The defensive line is solid and experienced, but sophs will play the center and guard positions on offense.

Lions Must Hustle

Eddie Gulian's boys will have to be on their toes tomorrow if they hope to avenge last year's defeat at the stadium by the score of 34-13. The Purple and White proved too strong for us partly because of Dan Shea's passing and the fine running of Pete Mondati. The Royals scored early in the first quarter, but we came back to deadlock the score on long gains by Bruce Tenley and a one-yard quarterback sneak by Chauncey Krout. Whitey Rightmire's kick for the extra point was good. Albright's second touchdown was made by Tenley, who returned a kick to his own 31 and then broke into the clear for 69 yards and a TD. Tenley led all backs in the individual honors with 175 yards to his credit.

In the series, which started in 1946, the Lions have yet to win a single contest. The closest they came was in the first year, when the Royals won, 34-19.

TERMINAL STALWART

Bruce Eickhoff, rugged defensive end, uses every inch of his 6' 3" frame to turn back attempted enemy end runs. He has been very successful at this since taking over the defensive end position against F. & M. He is also capable of holding down the offensive end slot, the position at which he started the season. (Albrightian Staff Photo.)

Flying Dutchmen Edge Lions, 7-6

Cardone's Extra Point Decides Night Contest

Holding on by the skin of their teeth, the Lebanon Valley Flying Dutchmen eked out a 7-6 victory over a scrappy Albright team last Friday night.

The outcome was decided late in the second quarter when Valley flinger Lou Sorrentino retreated from the Albright 25, fumbled momentarily, then recovered and threw to end Bob Oxley who ran 10 yards into the end zone. Pete Cardone then stepped up and booted a perfect placement, which amounted to the winning margin.

Go 80 Yards

A fired-up Albright team took the field for the second half and soon marched 80 yards for 6 points with Bruce Tenley taking a 39 yard pass from Tom Savage. But when Tony D'Appolito attempted the tying point, he was rushed so hard that his kick was hurried and went wide.

Albright continued to put on the pressure throughout the remainder of the contest, but the Lions could never consummate their drives into a winning score.

Get Inside 15

Twice in the fourth quarter the Lions penetrated the Dutchman 15 yard line, but each time they failed to carry it over. Early in the fourth quarter, D'Appolito fumbled on the L. V. eight yard line, and it was recovered by the visitors. Then, with three minutes remaining in the game, Chauncey Krout heaved a 55 yard pass from his own 30 yard line to the Valley 15. Here the Albright attack stalled, however as Krout was thrown for a loss and his fourth down pass to Gerry Potts was short of its mark.

Lions Outrush L. V.

All in all the Lions outrushed the Dutchmen by 25 yards. The Lebanon Valley offense was sparked by Sorrentino, who connected for ten completions. He was helped immeasurably by the protection he received from a low-blocking, rugged line.

The score: Lebanon Valley ... 0 7 0 0—7
Albright ... 0 0 6 0—6
Touchdowns: Oxley, Lebanon Valley; Tenley, Albright. Extra points: Cardone, Lebanon Valley.

KTX Forges Ahead In Intramural Race

Kappas, Zetas, Frosh, Tied For Second Place

After two weeks and ten games of the intra-mural league season, the only team still remaining with a clean slate is the KTX. The prems have defeated the Zetas, by forfeit, and the Pi Taus, 26-13. One of their games, against the APO's, was postponed.

Other high-ranking squads are the Kappas, 3-1, the Zetas, 2-1, and the Frosh, 2-1. The Kappas, led by the running and passing of Don Ermold, have been stopped only by the Zetas, 14-0. In the meanwhile they have stopped the APO's, 6-0, the Frosh, 16-12, and the Daymen, 12-7. The Zetas have lost only by forfeit to the KTX. The Frosh have shown power in stopping the Pi Taus, 19-7, and in a thrilling last minute 13-9 victory over the APO's. The APO's only victory so far has been at the expense of the Pi Taus, 28-0. Their two losses have come at the hands of the Kappas, 6-0, and the Frosh.

The first half of the season ended on November 2, with the Daymen meeting the Frosh and the APO's taking on the KTX in a postponed contest.

Lionesses Lose To Ursinus Girls

The Lionesses of Albright were defeated in their first game of hockey against Millersville on Wednesday, October 10, 6-0. Millersville took an early lead in the first half of the game. Pat Miller, the fighting center forward of the Lionesses, kept the team fighting hard throughout the second half. The Femmes were not able to score a goal in this game.

In the playday series the Femmes tied both games in which they participated. In the line-up were: Dolores Bedding, Eleanor Williams, Helen Hesselgren, Carol Althouse, Lois Gehris, Carol Ringler, Pat Miller, Dorothy Kuettel, Mona Latorre and Jean Filbert. Many freshmen took part in the game also. Seeing action was Jean Dirmitt, Lorraine Wagner, Barbara Smith, Kathleen Karls and Pat Upezak. The Lionesses stopped both Kutztown and Cedar Crest with a lone goal for each team.

The Lionesses took their second defeat against a hard fighting team of Ursinus girls. Albright held Ursinus scoreless in the first half, but the Femmes, however, could not stop the Ursinus team from scoring in the second half. They scored four goals to down Albright, 4-0. Jean Filbert, the left wing of the Albright team, was the only freshman to play the whole game. Coach Eva Mosser sent in substitutes who consisted mainly of freshmen.

This Saturday the team is traveling to Lebanon Valley to play their fourth hockey game of the season. The Lionesses should be a favorite to win this game. "They are showing improvement in each game they play," Mrs. Mosser stated.

SLIPPERY BACK

Tony D'Appolito, slippery halfback, has been responsible for many long gains for this year's Lions. Only a sophomore, Tony has shown great promise this year. He has set up many Albright touchdowns, although he has yet to cross the goal himself. (Albrightian Staff Photo.)

Gridders Conquer Diplomats, 6-0, On Homecoming

Willie Smith Scores In Second Period

Capitalizing on their only break of the contest, the Albright Lions scored their fourth victory of the season on October 20 when they downed the Franklin and Marshall Diplomats, 6-0.

The break came in the second quarter when tackle Walt Drazek pounced on a Diplomat fumble on the F. & M. 32-yard line. After two line backs, Tony D'Appolito reeled off a 24 yard run to the one yard line. Here freshman back Willie Smith hit the line and scored on the first play for the only tally of the contest.

Dips Get to 6

Up to the time of the score the Albright defensive line had been playing a stellar game in holding the hard-driving F. & M. backs in check. The Dips had driven to the six yard line in the first quarter, but were stopped there when halfback Jack Sudol made a sensational tackle.

The second half found the Lions holding grimly to their slim margin. Twice F. & M. was able to get concerted scoring drives in motion, but they were stopped both times within the 15 yard line. A yeoman defensive job was done by Sudol, who gathered in four Dip passes from the arm of Bobby Werst throughout the afternoon and ran them all back for considerable distances.

Albright Outrushed

The Diplomats were supreme in the yards rushing department, outgaining Albright by 45 yards. The Lions rolled up 245 yards to the Diplomats' 290. It was the first time in two seasons that the high-scoring Diplomats had been held scoreless in 60 minutes of play.

Outstanding backs for the Diplomats were Wally Witmer and Irv Jiras. These two picked up most of the F. & M. yardage by their rushing. Jiras also shone on defense as he knocked down many Albright passes and made some fine tackles.

The Score:

F. & M. ... 0 0 0 0—0
Albright ... 0 6 0 0—6
Touchdowns: Smith, Albright, 1.

Debaters Announce Schedule; Sigma Tau Delta to Induct 19

Hess To Speak To Future Teachers

A trip to the Temple novice tournament and participation in a packet debate against Lehigh and Dickinson are the main events listed on the tentative debate squad schedule announced this week.

Monday, November 5, and Wednesday, November 7 the debaters will hold intrasquad debates on the national question, which concerns a permanent program of wage and price control. The new members of the squad will debate each other on Wednesday, November 14, and arrangements are being made for a packet debate for novices to be held Monday, November 19, with teams from Lafayette and Ursinus visiting Albright.

On December 1 the novice members of the squad will journey to Temple to debate first-year teams from throughout the east, and on December 9 two Albright teams will travel to Lehigh University in Bethlehem to debate against Lehigh and Dickinson.

On Wednesday, October 24, Prof. Paul Rusby of the business administration department addressed the squad on the national topic.

English Group Plans Induction

The induction of 19 pledges will be the main feature of the November meeting of Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English fraternity. The group will meet next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the women's lounge.

Following the business meeting and the induction of pledges, Dr. Samuel Shirk, new member of the English staff, will speak to the members.

The 19 pledges who were sent bids are: Eleanor Dick, Ann Gerwin, Catherine Gervin, Phyllis Gruber, Dolores Hall, Phoebe Hunter, Margaret Israel, Mariastella Kaputo, Joan Lafferty, Michael Lafferty, William Meyer, Joanne Raffensperger, Ann Rentschler, Irene Saylor, Nancy Lou Walker, Miriam Werley and Jacqueline Zwayer.

F.T.A. to Hear School Head

The second fall meeting of the Future Teachers of America Club will be held next Wednesday at 7:30 p. m., Joanne Raffensperger, club president, announced. Anton Hess, principal of Wilson High School, will be the speaker.

Paul Kissinger has been appointed chairman of the program committee and James McLaughlin chairman of the publicity committee.

Dr. Geil Speaks to I.R.C.

Dr. Milton G. Geil presented observations on Germany and the Philippines at the October meeting of International Relations Club. He stressed the obstacle which diversity of languages presents to the unification and democratization of the Philippines.

Norman Dettra, '52, was elected treasurer to replace Annabelle Sanders, who has left school. Mahlon Frankhouser, '54, Richard Moyer, '52, and Thomas Stults, '54, were elected new members.

Actors To Modernize Shakespeare

At last night's meeting of the Domino Club, it was decided to divide the group into six small sections for preparing a skit from Shakespeare in modern version. These skits will be performed on a competitive basis, the group giving the best one receiving a prize.

Physiology Film To Be Shown

A film, "Physiology and Conduct of a Normal Child Labor" will be shown at the meeting of Skull and Bones next Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the science lecture hall.

Directs Rehearsals

MRS. ANNADORA V. SHIRK assistant professor of English, who last week began directing rehearsals for "The Silver Whistle," the Domino Club's three-act performance to be given late this month. Mrs. Shirk is a candidate for school director in the coming election in Reading.

James Buch Heads Blood Campaign

James Buch, '53, has been appointed chairman of the blood donor campaign sponsored by student council. Under his direction, campaign workers will visit student organizations during the next three weeks to solicit volunteers to donate blood on Thursday, November 29, when the Red Cross bloodmobile will visit Albright.

Students will be allowed to choose the time most convenient for them to visit the bloodmobile. They should allow at least 45 minutes to rest between the time of their donation and their next class.

Last Tuesday student council voted to recommend that all intramural football games be cancelled on the day of the bloodmobile visit and that no tests be scheduled for the following day.

There will be no chapel program on November 29.

Pi Taus Elect

Mickey Cacciola, '54, and Carole Althouse, '54, assisting. The dance will be held at the Woman's Club of Reading on Saturday, November 17.

The Mu rush party for the freshmen was held October 22 in Union Hall. Highlights of the evening were a perfume parade with door prizes, and the play "Sofapillio" enacted by Barbara Pomroy, Jean Maust, Eleanor Williams and Ramona Latorre, '52, and Barbara Ravel, '53. The theme of the party was "Mu Moments," with the show revolving around a television program.

Pats Appoint Group

The Pi Alpha Tau sorority announced plans for their fall rush dance to be held tomorrow night, in Union Hall. Margery Mansfield, '52, is in charge with Dolores Bedding, Ruth Ann Schaeffer and Joyce Snyder, '52, and Nancy Lou Hawman and Betty Martin, '53, assisting. Jack Kenny and his band will play for the dance.

The Pat rush party was held at Schlegel Park, October 29 with "Dave Jones' Locker" as the theme.

Current Tides

ated by the American and Soviet giants. And ironically enough, it is probably thanks to the Labor government's accomplishments that Britain feels strong enough today to follow Churchill's leadership toward recouping a part of her lost glory. A vigorous foreign policy must rest on a healthy economy at home; only under the Laborites, it would appear, could Britain have made the economic progress that she has since 1945.

Britain is dependent on imports for more than half her food and four-fifths of her raw materials. Before the war she paid for them with returns from her investments abroad, with income from her tremendous merchant marine and with profits from the sale of her manufactures abroad. The war crippled two of these sources: foreign investments were liquidated to pay for the fight against Hitler; and the British merchant fleet, hard hit by sinkings, took a back seat to American ships when the United States made its foreign loans conditional upon our goods being shipped in American bottoms. Only Britain's industries remained to pay her bills, and if those industries were to do the job alone, production would have to be stepped up tremendously.

The Conservatives were probably incapable of doing the job. Their prime minister himself took little interest in economics; and those leaders of the party who were interested represented old-school British capitalism, a system far removed from the American idea of capitalism and founded on businessmen's organizations that worked to keep profits up by keeping production down.

Under Labor, Britain went to work with a will; but in time dissatisfaction grew as the government frequently bungled and more and more strangled individual initiative. Their high achievements were not enough to prevent the Laborites' defeat.

Now the Conservatives face a formidable challenge. If they fail to maintain the economy on an even keel, the government may fall to Labor's radical left wing. If they are able to reject the hidebound capitalism of the past, however, and while retaining what has been worthwhile in Labor's program seek to foster a new competitive spirit among Britain's private business leaders, then they may lead Britain to a new middle economic way from which she can again take a proud position in world affairs.

Playwrights, Directors, Actors, Receive Prais

Albright's Domino Club presented another high-class performance when it entertained a large group of students and friends with three one-act plays two weeks ago. The embryo playwrights and directors may be justly proud of their efforts.

We were especially impressed with the acting of Barbara Ravel and Dean Frantz in "What Price Virtue," Mary Ellen Greth and Robert Waldner in "Storm" and Michael Lafferty, Roslyn Cohen and Elliot Percelay in "Good God."

The evening was marred by only two minor incidents, the premature closing of the curtain in one of the plays and the delayed extinguishing of the lights in another.

charge of characterization. Evie Kressler will direct the race. Joanne Duffy has charge of refreshments and Barbara Ravel will take care of music and entertainment for the dance.

Note: Here's a good chance for cross-country to stage a comeback.

Enforced Pep Rally Flayed by Students

"School spirit is brought about only by freedom," declared the writers of an anonymous open letter which appeared on bulletin boards throughout the campus during the past two weeks. The letter criticized the policy of enforcing attendance at pep rallies by holding them during chapel periods, arguing that nothing can be accomplished by administration-sponsored rallies.

Referring in particular to the pep rally held Thursday, October 4, the anonymous writers stated that the rally started off in grand fashion, with the students "in a very gay mood, some even forgetting they were summoned to appear at the cost of a cut in chapel." Dean Levan P. Smith, however, showed "ill judgment" in the opinion of the writers when he attacked as "exhibitionists" the "boys in the last few rows," whose "witty and clever remarks" exemplified "the exuberance of the occasion."

Feeling their pride as Albright students hurt by the situation, the "exhibitionists" wrote the open letter to present their viewpoint to public scrutiny and "for the sake of freedom and justice."

Marching Band Plans Trip To Muhlenberg

Plans are being made for the marching band's trip to Allentown for the Muhlenberg game on Saturday, November 17, Jack Greenspan, student manager, said this week.

Greenspan commended the band for the spirit it showed at the Lebanon Valley game. He especially praised Jack Price, '55, who marched at the game on Friday night with a fever of 102 degrees.

Greenspan announced that there definitely will be an orchestra this year. However, it is still in the forming stage. Students who play stringed instruments are especially needed.

feel that poor attendance at the student social hour scheduled for each evening in Union Hall from 6:30 to 7:30 makes it undesirable to continue paying for a supervisor of the activity. She said that the deans want to know how the students feel about continuing the social hour, and accordingly council acted to have a committee look into the situation.

Violators May Be Cited—Student council acted on October 23 to investigate the possibility of making council an enforcement agency for various campus rules and regulations.

Adopting a motion offered by Jack Greenspan, '52, amended by Eliot Sauertieg, '52, council voted to establish a committee which would prepare a plan for bringing violators of campus rules before council, where appropriate action will be discussed. Greenspan has been appointed chairman of the planning committee.

Evelyn Nantz, '52, chairman of council's men-in-service committee, asked that any students having the addresses of men who left Albright to enter the service during the last year turn the addresses over to her so that her committee can send these men copies of The Albrightian.
