—Ted—

When Ted Tietge was approached for this interview and asked to talk about himself, his first comment was, "Gee, I don't know." The unassuming answer covers many things, some of which include this year's presidency of the Phi Gamma Mu, membership in APO fraternity, Domino, Philosophy Club, KTX, and Pi Gamma Mu.

Within the next few minutes the past, present and future of Ted Tietge were summed up in a few short sentences; he's an ardent rebel from Baltimore and is sure, along with 85,000 other confederates, that the South will rise again; he thinks that Albright is great and if he had it to do over, would come back again; Ted enjoyed public speaking very much, since he's a yacker from way back; and now he's looking forward to Yale Divinity School and marriage to Nan Phillips.

As Ted walked down Maple Lane his last words were: "Don't quote me." We hope that someday, somewhere lots of people will be quoting Ted.

Six girls have been appointed to serve as counsellors for freshmen boarding women next year. They are Virginia Hutton, Barbara Smith, Corrine Blanset, Rosalind Naugle, Evelyn Neuberger and Adelaide Horne, all of the Class of '58.

Knees Are Emancipated!

This week another blow was struck in the campaign of that famous feminist, Amelia Bloomer, who one hundred and six years ago introduced pants as proper apparel for women. Albright women are now allowed to wear Bermuda shorts anytime, anywhere on campus, except at dinner.

Why the line was drawn at dinner is anyone's guess. We suppose they are held in the same light as tossing mystery balls from table to table. Terribly gauche, y'know.

An incident last week especially set off the girls' desire to wear the pants. A group of men on campus, presumably as part of a preconceived plan, (dig that alliteration!), appeared on campus in men's apparel that the girls couldn't wear—to wit, Bermuda shorts. All over campus, girls' eyes grew green with envy. "They look terrible! Awful!" some cried. "Look at those bony knees," thought others.

But the ground swell had begun. If the fellas could do it, the girls ought to be able to do it too, they reasoned. And so the final impetus was given to a drive that originated years ago.

We predict that in a short while, an untanned knee will be as passé as twenty-three skidoo and sloppy Joe sweaters.

Just you wait till the faculty and administration start wearing them!!

Diamondmen Win 8-3, Lose Two; Tom Pollock Beats Hawks Here

Netmen Triumph Twice

The Lion netters won two matches and lost a third in two home and one away contest last week to boost their season's record to 4 wins and 3 defeats. Next Tuesday's Assembly, the last of the year, will feature the presentation of honors and awards. Absence from this Assembly will count as a double cut.

Golf Team Wins

Albright College won their second straight golf match last Friday by whipping a favored LaSalle team 9-0 at the Reading Country Club. Previously, they had beaten St. Joseph's 7-2. It was only the second win in two years for the vastly improved golf squad under coach Paul Matten.

Seaman, Sulyma Homer

Led by two homers by Bernie Seaman and Bob Sulyma, the Albright baseball team under Coach John Potskian broke a three-game losing streak by drubbing St. Joseph's 8-3 at Ketchner Field last Saturday. The Lions led off their attack with two runs in the initial frame, when Seaman drilled the ball over the rightfielder's head, and Ray Stoneback scored late in the inning on a single by Sulyma.

Score Five

Sulyma's homerun came in the third inning, and was also hit to rightfield. Already leading 3-0, Albright unleashed their final scoring effort in the fourth frame as the Lions loaded the bases before Bob Florindo walked to force in the fourth tally of the game. A single to center by Stoneback and an error produced three runs and George Conrad followed with another hit.

Nine Hits

Tom Pollock went the distance for the diamondmen, allowing seven hits, walking five, and striking out six. Albright collected nine hits, two each by Roy Dragon, Conrad, and Sulyma. The latter was forced to leave the game in the fifth inning with an ankle injury.

Drop Two

The Lions played two other games last week, losing to Muhlenberg 7-2 and to Juniata 13-9. Duane Goldman and Bernie Krick absorbed the losses as Stoneback and Conrad starred offensively.

Travel To Lafayette

Two-day competition for the Middle Atlantic States Conference Track and Field Championships will be held this weekend at Lafayette College. Today, the qualifying heats will be held, while tomorrow the semi-finals and finals will be held in all events. Albright will be looking forward to a good showing in view of their excellent record thus far this year. The Lions have won six dual meets and placed second in two triangular contests.

Greenwald Returns

The Shirkmen will depend on their balanced running events and the field events of the discus, javelin, and shot put to spearhead their hopes. Ken Greenwald, returned to the team after an injury suffered in the Penn Relays, will be entered in the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes, while Don Gottshall will test the competition in the quarter, half, and one-mile runs. Paul Gehriss will also compete in the quarter-mile.

Frosh Mile

In the distance events, Bill Shirk will compete in the mile and two-mile races, and Rudy Becker will join him in the one-mile run; Becker also runs the half-mile. Freshmen George Mack and Dick Thrasher are entered in the Frosh Mile, and it is expected that with the fine showing thus far this season of Mack in the two-mile run that Albright will be strong in this event.

Huntzinger Sets Record

Bob Krize, Jack Huntzinger, and Norm Klingerman are the tentative standard-bearers for the Lions in the field events. Huntzinger, who has broken his own Albright record in the discus several times this season, last week set a new field record at Bucknell University in a triangular meet. Willy Smith and Bob Wetzel will also compete.

INTRAMURALS

The first half schedule of the intramural softball league ended last week with the Pi Tau fraternity taking the championship. The APO and Kappa fraternities finished in a tie for second place honors. The Kappas, off to a good start by winning their first three games, faded in the stretch as the Improved Pi Tau and APO teams closed the gap with terrific last-ditch playing. The belated second half schedule got under way this past Monday, with the APO-White Chapel and Kappa-Titans game. The remaining schedule follows:

May 16
 Pi Tau vs. White Chapel
 Zeta vs. Titans
 May 17
 Zeta vs. Pi Tau
 Kappa vs. APO
 May 18
 APO vs. Zeta
 White Chapel vs. Titans
 May 19
