Debbie Gunderman, '64, and Linda Wertenberg, '64, enjoy last work camp with two town children. Why don't you join? Come out for tomorrow's camp.

UF Requests Tomorrow's Work Camp

Tomorrow the Campus Chest will hold another work camp on request by the Council of Social Agencies of Reading and Berks County. The Council plans to have an article appear in the national publication of the United Fund complete with pictures telling what can be done by a small college in cooperation with the United Fund. The Council also plans to buy television time to further convey the project.

Council Committee

A five man committee has been organized to work with the County Social Agencies to find work for the next program. Those on the committee are Raymond Sommerstad, '63, N. Patricia Oldham, '63, Barbara Buchter, '63, Steve Lipkins, '61, and John S. Weaver, '61. The committee stated that once a person signs up for the work camp, attendance will be compulsory because of pictures and other specific details which will be used.

Campus Committee

The campus committee consists of George Reagan, '62, equipment; Carol Conway, '62, publicity; Eunice Roush, '62, food; Paul Duhamel, '61, and Audrey Schropp, '62, assignments; and Linda Rieck, '62, program.

After all the work is finished, the students will return to the YWCA where dinner will be served and a discussion of the day's work will be held. Later in the evening all Y facilities, including the swimming pool, will be open exclusively for use by the participants. "This Way Out," a film about a weekend work camp in Philadelphia, will also be shown.

Blue Horizon," by Waring; "We Kiss in a Shadow" by Rogers and Hammerstein, and "Shwanda Polka" from Weinberger's "Shwanda." The male chorus will sing "The Creation" by Richter and a "Pastoral Prayer" by Sykes. The female chorus will sing "O Sacred Head" and Foster's "O! For a Closer Walk With God." The accompanists for the concert are Sandra Rothenberger, '64, and Myles Edwards, '61, who will also play solo numbers.

George Reagan, '62, shows some high school volunteers how to use a roller brush at last work camp.

Glee Club Circles Penna. With Three Day Tour

NCCD Sends 90 Albrightians

More than sixty-five students and twenty-five members of the faculty and staff of Albright College will participate in National Christian College Day services next Sunday in sixty-seven Evangelical United Brethren churches throughout a four-state area.

College Day is sponsored by the Department of Christian Higher Education of the National Council of Churches of Christ so that local churches can become better acquainted with the educational opportunities of their own denominational colleges.

Direction For Event

Albright's participation in the event is being directed by the Department of Church Relations and members of the National Christian College Day Committee composed of Robert S. Smethers Jr., director of college relations, chairman, Joanne Leber, '64, secretary, James Adams, '63, Lenore Barth, '62, John Bishop, '64, Ronald E. Cocroft, instructor in religion, Vance Dimmick, '62, Barry Lewis, '62, Dorothy McCash, '63, Agnes Oaks, '61, George Reagan, '61, George Seighman, '62 and Jay Wonder, '64.

Briefing

Important briefing sessions for everyone sharing in National Christian College Day will be held Tuesday, April 11 and Wednesday, April 12, at 4:00 p.m. in the Blue Room of Selwyn Hall. Participants are urged to be present at one of these two sessions.

Churches were asked some weeks ago to send in requests for faculty and student speakers, singing units, and teams of student speakers with the understanding that most of these would make presentations at morning services.

Forty members of the Albright College Glee Club, directed by Lester R. Yeager, assistant professor of music, will leave tomorrow for a three day spring concert tour.

The tour's itinerary, all within Pennsylvania, includes performances at the Methodist Church Home, Cornwall; Grace E.U.B. Church, Bellefonte; Calvary E.U.B. Church, Oil City; North Clarion Joint High School, Leeper; Punxsutawney; Trinity U.C.C. Church, Berlin; Lower Dauphin Area High School, Hummelstown; and Bethany E.U.B. Church, Berwick.

Program Selections

The program includes the following selections: "Psallite" by Oratorius; "Chorales" from the cantatas of G. S. Bach; Handel's "Coronation Anthem;" "Pilgrim's Chorus" by Wagner; "God Is My Shepherd" by Dvorak; "Praise the Lord" by Caesar Frank; "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," arranged by Earle Blakeslee; "Russian Picnic" by Enders; "Beyond the

Rodos, Vogt Up For SC Prexy; Compulsory Elections Thursday

Myron Rodos

Next week will see a new method of electing school officers at Albright. Candidates will be presented to the student body during the assembly program Tuesday, and the four classes will poll separately Thursday. Attendance will be taken at each of the four class meetings making voting compulsory for the first time. Those to be elected include Student Council officers, "Y" officers, "Cue" editor, and class officers. Students will also have a chance to vote on the revised Student Council constitution Thursday.

Candidates for Student Council president are Myron Rodos, '62, and William Vogt, '62. Rodos is the corresponding secretary of the Zeta Omega Epsilon fraternity and the Zeta representative to Student Council. He played J.V. basketball and intramural sports. He was co-chairman of the freshman orientation committee for 1960. Rodos is a sociology major and a psychology minor, and plans to become an

Eddie Allen's Band Featured For Dance

The annual Spring Dance, sponsored by Student Council, will be held April 15 in the college dining hall from 7:00 p.m. to 11:30 p.m.

The affair will be a combination dinner-dance. A roast beef dinner will be served at 7:00 p.m. in the college dining hall to students and their dates. Tickets for the dance and dinner are $5.50 per couple with deductions for boarding students.

Steve Lipkins, '61, Student Council president, said of the dinner-dance: "I feel the dinner-dance is quite unique, and the evening will be remembered as a standout of the current year."

Bright and Mellow

The orchestra of Eddie Allen will provide music for dancing after dinner. Allen, a native Philadelphian, formed his first dance band at seventeen. Some of the personnel of his early band were Warren Covington and Buddy DeFranco. The band, noted for its bright yet mel-

"Y" Seminars Start; Reading Is Invited

Starting next Tuesday, April 11, the combined Ys will sponsor a spring seminar series, featuring lectures and classroom discussions on pertinent subjects. This seminar series will continue on the 18th and 25th of April in the new chapel classrooms. The series will feature discussions and lectures on pressure groups, mental health, and a trilogy of the modern arts.

Because these topics have become so paramount in recent months on both the campus and in the city of Reading the Y is soliciting the aid of the people of Reading in making the Y project a joint college-town success. The Reading press and radio stations, in conjunction with the parents of day-students at Albright, are striving to provide the impetus for people in town to attend and support the seminar series.

Pressure Groups

Charles A. Raith, assistant professor of political science, will lead the discussions on the pressure groups. He will make more clear the position of pressure groups on the lives of citizens, lawmakers, and organizations of the United Nations.

For the trilogy of modern arts, a varied program of artistic aspects is being presented. Miss Carolyn Cox, head of the English department at Shippensburg State College, will present the first lecture on drama. She will illustrate her talk with dramatic readings.

Modern Art

Mr. Leonids Linauts, a Reading artist of Latvian descent, will lead a discussion on modern art. Mr. Linauts specializes in stained glass windows, oils, tile works, and sculpturing.

The final speaker for the modern arts is Ernest Giese, '61, president of the campus YMCA. Modern music is the theme of his lecture. A clas-

Student Council Proposes Constitutional Revisions

Students To Consider Changes Thursday

Student Council during the past several weeks has been revising its constitution. The revisions which follow will be voted upon during the coming all-campus election April 13. All the revisions, if passed, will become effective September 1962 with the exception of the one concerning membership. The membership revision, if passed, must be returned to Council for approval due to the lack of a quorum when it was formulated. The sections which appear immediately below this paragraph are the constitution before revision.

ARTICLE II (Jurisdiction)

SECTION 9. The Student Council shall have the power to approve or disapprove the selection of the editor-in-chief and the business manager of the Cue, contingent upon the approval of the Faculty Committee on Student Publications, and if these officers be negligent of their duties, to recommend their removal to the said committee.

(2) The Junior class shall elect the editor and the business manager from the slate of candidates presented by the retiring Cue Staff.

ARTICLE IV (Duties)

SECTION 8. Members. (5) Members of Student Council shall not be permitted to miss more than three consecutive or five non-consecutive meetings per year.

ARTICLE V (Meetings)

SECTION 1. The Student Council shall meet at least once every two weeks.

(1) Those meetings shall be open to any person who wishes to attend without voting privileges.

(2) The Student Council may vote to close a meeting to visitors.

SECTION 3. Parliamentary procedure shall follow Robert's Rules of Order, Revised Edition, "1915," except where this constitution differs.

ARTICLE VII (Election procedure for College Officers)

SECTION 1. There shall be an annual all-college election on campus in order to elect the Student Council President.

(1) The all-college election shall be held in a period of three consecutive days, and conducted at a conveniently located public poll.

(5) A legal election shall exist only if a minimum of sixty percent of the student body casts its ballots.

Below are the revisions of the constitution which will be voted upon April 13.

ARTICLE II (Jurisdiction) REVISION

SECTION 9. The Student Council shall see that the editor-in-chief and the business manager of the Cue are selected in February of the year previous to the academic year in which they will serve.

The Student Council shall have the power to approve or disapprove the selection of the editor-in-chief and the business manager of the Cue, contingent upon the approval of the Faculty Committee on Student Publications, and if these officers be negligent of their duties, to recommend their removal to the said committee.

(2) The Junior class shall elect the editor, and the Sophomore class shall elect the business manager from the slate of candidates presented by the retiring Cue Staff.

ARTICLE IV (Duties) REVISION

Members of Student Council shall not be permitted to miss more than two consecutive or three non-consecutive meetings per semester.

ARTICLE V (Meetings) REVISION

SECTION 1. The Student Council shall meet at least once a month. If necessary, the President of Student Council may call special meetings to be announced at least 48 hours in advance.

(1) Those meetings shall be open to any person who wishes to attend without voting privileges.

(2) The Student Council may vote to close a meeting to visitors.

REVISION

SECTION 3. Parliamentary procedure shall follow Robert's Rules of Order, the latest revised edition, except where this constitution differs.

ARTICLE VII (Election procedure for Student College Officers) REVISION

SECTION 1. There shall be an annual all-college election on campus in order to elect the Student Council President, Class Officers, Student Council Representatives, and "Y" Presidents.

(1) The all-college election shall be held in one day. Each class shall hold a separate meeting at which time it will elect its officers and vote for the Student Council President, Class Officers, Student Council Representatives, and "Y" Presidents for the forthcoming year.

(5) An election is valid when it meets the provisions of ARTICLE VII, SECTION I. (1).

The following article which deals with membership was agreed upon by a number of Council members. The group did not constitute a quorum, but it was felt that this article should be presented to the student body with the rest of the constitution revisions. The Council still must approve the article which appears below as revised, if the student body approves the constitution.

ARTICLE III (Membership)

SECTION 1. Fraternities and sororities shall each elect one representative to the Student Council for every fifteen active members or portion thereof. The representation shall never exceed two in number.

SECTION 2. All non-fraternity and non-sorority students of the college shall elect, from among their numbers, fourteen representatives. These fourteen representatives shall be divided between boarding and day students to correspond with the ratio of each of these groups to the total number of non-fraternity and non-sorority students.

SECTION 3. After the number of representatives allotted to the day students is determined as outlined in section (2), these students shall elect their representatives. These representatives shall be divided between the daymen and the daywomen to correspond with the ratio of each of these groups to the total number of day students.

SECTION 4. After the number of representatives allotted to the boarding students is determined as outlined in section (2), these students shall elect their representatives. These representatives shall be divided between the boarding men and the boarding women to correspond with the ratio of each of these groups to the total number of boarding students.

SECTION 5. Each of the four classes (Freshmen, Sophomore, Junior, Senior) shall elect one representative to Student Council from among their numbers.

ARTICLE III (Membership) REVISION

SECTION 1. Fraternities and sororities shall each elect two representatives to the Student Council.

SECTION 2. The editor of the Albrightian shall upon taking office become a voting member of the Student Council.

SECTION 3. The non-fraternity and non-sorority students of the college shall elect, from among its mem-

Sports Night Tonight; Spring Varsity Out

Tonight the fieldhouse will host the annual Sports Night at 7 p.m. The physical education department announced that competition in the two types of contests, individual and team, will be restricted for members of spring varsity sports, due to the schedule of games tomorrow.

The women's events will consist of ping pong, badminton, volleyball, and a relay race. Ping pong, tug of war, high jump, rope climb relay, basketball relay, standing broad jump, wrestling, horse and rider, and a tag relay will be the activities for the men.

Participants

The Phi Beta Mu social sorority, Pi Alpha Tau social sorority, Selwyn Hall women, Teel Hall women, and the Daywomen's Organization will be the participating women's groups. The men's groups will consist of Alpha Pi Omega social fraternity, Kappa Upsilon Phi social fraternity, Pi Tau Beta social fraternity, Zeta Omega Epsilon social fraternity, the Dormitory men, and the Daymen's Association.

Faculty members will be the judges for the event and trophies will be awarded to the winning women's group and the winning men's group. The winners of last year's Sports Night were the PATs and the Independent Dorm men. Beverly Barthold, '61, is the chairman of special events for the YMCA-YWCA. The co-chairmen for this event are Eileen McCracken, '61, and Claude Lynch, '61.

acial pianist, he has an extensive record collection and has lectured abroad. He will illustrate his talk with several piano selections.

The third seminar, of particular interest to Berks County residents, will feature a discussion on the problems of mental health. Dr. Elmer Horst, chief psychiatrist of the Reading Hospital, will open the series with a lecture on the general patterns of the mental health problem.

The second week, Max Silverstein, executive director of the Pennsylvania Mental Health Incorporated will discuss the role Pennsylvania is playing in the mental health field. A climax to this series will feature a lecture on the career opportunities in the field of mental health. The speaker is expected to be named later.

HEO Visits Gas Co.

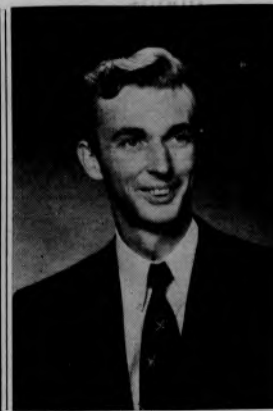

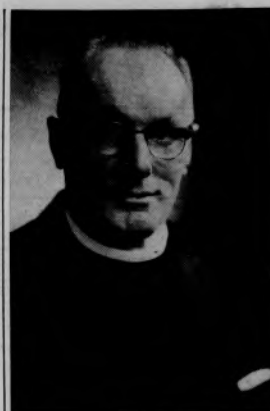

April 10 the Home Economics Organization will tour the United Gas Improvement Company of Reading. A bus provided by the U.G.I. will leave from Bern Street at 7:00 p.m.

The program will include a foods demonstration "From the Pantry Shelf," a film featuring gas home equipment, and a tour of the service building. Refreshments will be served following the demonstration.

bers, three (3) representatives—three (3) from the daywomen, three (3) from the daymen, three (3) from the dormwomen, and three (3) from the dormmen.

SECTION 4. The remainder of the Student Council shall be made up of eight representatives elected at large. Each class (Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, Senior) shall elect, from among its members, two representatives.

SECTION 5. The eight class representatives and twelve independent students shall be unpledged at the beginning of their term. If they pledge, the group they represent shall have the prerogative to recall them.

CHAPEL-ASSEMBLY SPEAKERS

Edmund A. Steink, of Lutheran Theological Seminary, on left, will speak April 18. Dr. Charles L. Hosler, of Penn State University, on right, will speak April 20 on "A Career in the Sciences? Why Bother?"

During the four separate elections, the freshman class will meet in the Chapel-Auditorium, the sophomore class will meet in White Chapel, the junior class will meet in Krause Hall, and the senior class will meet in room 100 of the chapel. The suggestion for the new style of election was made in consultation with William R. Marlow, Chaplain, and was approved by Mahlon H. Hellerich, dean of the college, as a temporary method contingent on its success next week.

College Appropriates $5000 Dupont Grant

Albright College has been honored to receive a gift of $5,000 from the Dupont Foundation. Annually Dupont gives varying grants to colleges, but this is the first time that Albright has received a grant.

The money will be split to fulfill two purposes. The library will receive $2,000 for replacing missing volumes in journals and reference books. The remainder of the grant, $3,000, will be used for the purchase of modern instruments for the science department. Upon the completion of the new wing of the science building, a course in instrument analysis will be introduced. The modern instruments are needed for this course.

If Dupont is satisfied with the college's use of this grant, announced in December, Albright may be in line to receive another such grant next year.

Just In Passing...

As we take typewriter in hand this week, we don't feel especially compelled to expend the power of the pen with vehemence at any particular target, but instead we would like to make just a few observations in passing.

First, regarding the library situation which we featured in March, the students have followed through on the suggestion put forth by the Albrightian. The senior class voted last week to appropriate their class gift money toward a book copying machine, much needed by the library. Now we would like to see the administration act on some of the suggestions put forward to them. Thanks, seniors!

Though Religion-in-Life Week has been over a week now, we didn't have space in the last issue to strew some garlands we feel were deserved. We would like to add our appreciation to the many other compliments we have heard on campus concerning the interfraternity-sorority choir. We would like to see more of this group, and of this sort of project by our fraternities and sororities. We would also like to record for posterity that a great man was on this campus—Dr. Mordecai Johnson—and left a deep and lingering impression. Dignity, sensitivity, depth of resources, great ideas, wisdom, and overshadowing all, love, all these seemed to merge in the character of this man. Without a long eulogy on him, we might most fittingly sum him up by quoting one of his own illustrations: "I don't have any little manuscript to pull out and read about Jesus; I is saturated with the spirit of Jesus."

While we're on the subject, without being didactic, we might comment that perhaps the experience that occurred with Dr. Johnson in chapel might stimulate us to hold in check the tendency toward quick, unfair, and superficial judgments we are so prone to make as college students (it's showing up again in the dining hall situation). Let's try giving speakers at least a chance to be heard by us in chapel. Maybe there is also some sort of moral to be drawn from the fact that Dr. Johnson was expelled from school for playing cards, and two years later was acting dean of the college.

And finally, without having prepared any massive charts or statistics on the subject, we feel reasonably safe in commenting that most of the other colleges we know have either an extended Easter vacation, or a separate Spring vacation. We hadn't unpacked one bag at home when we found ourselves repacking our other one. We check next year's catalogue, and Albright's Easter vacation will be equally and disappointingly as short as it was this year. We feel we speak for all the students when we ask, "Is there not some way to rearrange our college schedule to lengthen this vacation just a bit?"

The "Awful" Alamo

By Richard Bolig, '64

The movie industry is in trouble if it rates a disappointment such as "The Alamo" as an Oscar contender. Producer-director-star John Wayne's epic of the siege of the American-held mission by the Mexican army in 1836 is a long, expensive, but not very powerful production. It is ample proof that bigness for bigness's sake does not necessarily make a good movie.

From beginning to end, "The Alamo" seems to be groping for something it never finds. In a movie, officially clocked at three hours and ten minutes, this is a painfully long time to grope. There is never an air of sustained interest lasting more than eight or nine minutes. The film runs about eighty minutes before we even catch a glimpse of Santa Anna's troops marching north to eventually engage their American foe in combat at San Antonio.

Dialogue, Dialogue

Presumably the delay of action is designed to build up an engrossing tension for the inevitable, climatic battle sequence. A more skillful artist might have successfully created an effective mood of tense and untrained regulars. We are made participant, but novice-director Wayne most ineffectively fills the screen with roundabout dialogue, little action, and more dialogue.

We are exposed to an officers' meeting at which the merits of drunken Colonel Bowie's (Richard Widmark) troop of 27 erratic volunteers are compared with those of noble Colonel Travis' (Laurence Harvey) army of 100 loyal, well-aware of the reciprocal hatred of the two men (they're for the same good cause, though). We see the arrival of Colonel Davy Crockett's (Wayne) rowdy Tennesseans, whose stated purpose of coming to Texas is to "hunt an' get drunk" (they'll be for the good cause, though). We spend about twenty minutes with Crockett as he woos intriguing Senora de Lopez (intriguing Linda Cristal), who, for her own safety and against her will, is soon sent away from San Antonio and is never heard from again (even if she's not there, she's for the good cause, though).

Slightly Outnumbered

The American force, under Travis, lacks sufficient manpower. Staunch Travis, not too keen on telling his men that the ever-nearing Mexican army outnumbered them about 37 to 1, insists that a reinforcement flank will arrive any minute. Practical Bowie says that the Alamo is indefensible under the circumstances. Patriotic Crockett resolves the dispute by exhibiting a letter, ostensibly from Santa Anna but really forged by Crockett himself in which the Mexicans accuse the Americans of cowardice. With their honor at stake, the men decide to stay and defend the Alamo.

Avalon: "Gosh, Golly"

The real star of "The Alamo" is the realistic Alamo set itself. It helps to make the final charge of the enemy a worthwhile segment. The conflict is handled with some deftness. But it doesn't make up for the sometimes unbelievable slowness of the plot's progression, nor for the often second-rate acting. Laurence Harvey, the biggest disappointment, gives an affected, over-enthusiastic portrayal of a man who adheres too rigidly to protocol and to his own pride. Frankie Avalon contributes less than nothing; he plays an ephebic teen-ager whose lines are mostly "Gosh!" and "Golly!" (Sports ed. note: Gosh O golly, gee whizz!)

Wayne is adequate for the production's standard of quality, but he's capable of something better. Perhaps the actors would have fared better, had scripter James Edward Grant given them more with which to work. "The Alamo" bears a vague semblance to something Disney did a few years back.

Do all Air Force Officers have wings?

Decidedly not. In fact most executive jobs are on the ground. Of course, all officers may apply for pilot and navigator training if they meet the eligibility requirements. There will always be a need for piloted aircraft. And it is foreseeable that in your working lifetime, there will be piloted spacecraft—piloted and navigated by Air Force officers.

But right now, there is also a big future for college-trained Air Force officers on the ground. New and exciting technical jobs are opening up. Important administrative positions must be filled as World War II officers move into retirement.

How can you—a college student—become an Air Force officer? First, there's Air Force ROTC. Then for college graduates, men and women in certain fields, there is Officer Training School. The graduate of its three-month course wins a commission as a second lieutenant. Other ways are the Navigator Training program, and the Air Force Academy.

Some benefits that go with being an Air Force officer. Starting salary plus allowances compare with the average in equivalent civilian jobs. Then there's free medical and dental care, thirty-day vacation, the chance to win graduate degrees at Air Force expense, and liberal retirement provisions.

No, Air Force officers do not need wings to move up. There's plenty doing on the ground. Perhaps you could be one of these young executives in blue. Ask your local Air Force Recruiter. Or write, Officer Career Information, Dept. SC13, Box 7608, Washington 4, D.C., if you want further information about the navigator training or Officer Training School programs.

BASKETBALL WRAP-UP

The time is long overdue for us to pay tribute to this year's Middle Atlantic Conference basketball champions. Coach Will Renken's ball players ended the season with 19 victories, tying a college record for the most victories in one season, and 9 losses.

Highlight of the season must be the winning of the college's first MAC Championship with a victory over nationally ranked Hofstra. The victory, a one point affair, was the second defeat the Lions handed coach Van Breda Kolf's Flying Dutchmen this season.

The weekend after the Hofstra victory, the college made history again as Albright entertained the NCAA Eastern Regional Small College Tournament. Our Lions made a fine showing against Fairfield University and then in the finals of the tournament, made a run against Mount Saint Mary's which fell six points short.

Followers of the Red and White will long remember three of this season's heartbreaking losses. The three losses by a total of four points left Lion fans limp and the coaches of LaSalle, Saint Joseph's (who, by the way finished third in the NCAA University Division Tournament), and Lafayette thoroughly convinced about the quality of this season's ball club.

Seniors, Ken VanDine and Sam Preston will be sorely missed next season—Preston for his fine playmaking and VanDine for the extra effort he gave under the boards.

Credit must go to high scoring sophomore Tom Pearsall who was selected to the UPI third team Little All-America, and to the small college All-East first team.

To the remainder of the squad, all of whom will be returning with Pearsall, we can only say "well done," and wish them all the success which hard work and hustle can bring.

Magee Leads Baby Lions To A 12-7 Season Slate

Coach George Conrad's Baby Lions, although losing their final two games to PMC and St. Joseph's managed to record a fine 12-7 slate for the 1960-61 season. The team finished the season with a total of 1,274 points for an offensive average of 67.0 while they kept the defensive average at 66.2 by giving up 1,258 points.

Top scorer on the team and a promising prospect for varsity action was Tim Magee, an 18 year old freshman from Matawan High School in Matawan, New Jersey. Magee finished the season with a total of 354 points for a 19.6 point average. Besides contributing 150 field goals, he was able to connect on 54 out of 78 free throws for a 69.2 average. (These figures are not exact because no official statistics are recorded for Junior Varsity basketball).

Other top scorers on the JV roster were Grant Krow, with an approximate total of 189 points for a 11.8 average, Will Kratz with 129 points and a 7.1 average, John Derr with 121 points and also a 7.1 average, and Craig Pearson, who scored 118 points for a 6.5 average.

Albright Lions Face Ursinus Bears In Home Baseball Opener Tomorrow

Baseball Warm-up

Under the leadership of coach John Potsklan, the Albright College baseball team with a nucleus of returning lettermen played its first game yesterday. The season opened at home against the University of Scranton. Thirty hopefuls turned out for spring practice, sixteen of whom made the squad for the initial contest. According to coach Potsklan, this does not mean that the remainder of the group has been cut. The boys who didn't suit-up for the first game will still have a chance of making the squad by "showing what they can do in practice."

Prospects

The prospects by position as of the time this issue went to press are as follows: first base, Norm Bautsch, a powerful left-handed batter and fine glove man, seems to be the leading candidate. Last year's regular first baseman, Claude Lynch, is student teaching and has not been out for the team as yet. In the event that Lynch decides to play, he will probably be switched to third base to give added power.

Second base, Mike Matto, last season's regular second sacker, seems to be the leading candidate for this position, although he is being pressed by newcomer Jack DeLorenzo. Matto, a fine glove man, is expected to do well at bat.

Third base in the event that Claude Lynch finds the time to play, third base will probably be his. Gene Alfiero is also capable of playing a good game at third and has the powerful arm needed. Ken Goldblatt is also fighting for the starting job at this position.

Shortstop Gary Chapman, one of last year's leading hitters, has been switched from third to short. Besides his hitting ability, Gary has great range in the infield.

Outfield: an array of veterans and "rookies" are competing for the three starting outfield berths. The returning men are Jim Huie, Tom Kelly, Mike Marano, and Jim Diehm. Mike Weinholt, last year's leading batter, has yet to come out for practice. Craig Pearson and Steve Simon seem to be the best of the newcomers.

Pitchers Joe Wertz and Tom Katancik, last year's workhorses, will again be the mainstays of Coach Potsklan's mound staff. Mike Gross and Ralph Lindley will probably back up the two veterans.

Catcher: there are five candidates out for catcher. Harold Buck and "Howdy" Myers, who split the backstop duties last year, are again the ones to beat. Paul Beck, Paul Murray, and Jim Lebo round out the catching corps.

We wish coach Potsklan and his charges the best of luck in the ensuing campaign. Your attendance at the games will help the team towards a successful campaign.

Trackmen Open Current Season

The cindermen of Albright College inaugurated their current season of track and field competition last Wednesday afternoon when they played host to Delaware Valley and Lebanon Valley Colleges. The meet was a last minute addition to a schedule which includes five dual and five triangular meets. The Lion thinclads will also participate in the Penn Relays in Philadelphia on April 28 and 29 and will be represented at the ICAA Championships at New York City on May 26 and 27.

Hope To Improve

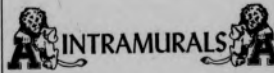

The Red and White will be out to improve on their record of last year when they finished the season at the .500 level with a 7-7 record. Coach Shirk is pinning his hopes for a successful season on a number of returning lettermen along with a crop of freshmen who have turned out for practice. The Lions will have their most depth in the sprinting events with Bruce Birkholz, John Derr, and Doug Deicke holding the most promise. The season has also turned out a number of quarter-milers, including Bill Salaneck, Grant Krow, Gerry Polyascko, Bob Melnick, Derr, Birkholz, and Deicke. In the high hurdles will be Walt Diehm, Tim Magee, George Kleiber, Polyascko, and Derr.

Coach Shirk's main problem is in the distances beyond the quarter-mile events where he will have to rely heavily upon Grant Krow, Bob Cotter, John Nilman and Krow. With the number of quarter-milers however, he feels that the team will be strong in the one mile relay which was added to the list of events this year.

Field Events

In the field events, the Lions find their strongest points. Paul Brown, Krow, Deicke, and Diehm will participate in the broad jump while Gary Sheeler, Will Kratz, and Fred March will be entered in the hammer throw. Kratz and March will also throw the discus, while Dave Smith, Bob Davis, March, Magee, and Diehm will enter the javelin events. In the high jump, Krow and Diehm should be very strong while Birkholz seems to be the only candidate for the pole vault. Birkholz and Diehm are the co-captains of this year's squad.

The next meet will be tomorrow afternoon when the Lions travel to Haverford for a meet with Haverford and Lycoming. The next home meet will be next Saturday with Ursinus.
