STUDENT COUNCIL SPONSORS CARD PARTY, NOV. 28

Affair to be Held in Co-operation
With Y. W. and Y. M. C. A.;
Stabler Heads Committee in Charge

A card party will be held in the college dining hall on Tuesday evening, November 28, at 7.30. The party, which is for all members of the faculty and student body, is being sponsored by the Student Council as one of the various social functions to be put on throughout the year by the same organization with the co-operation of the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A. The committee in charge of the social activities offered by the Student Council consists of Dorcas Haines, Madge Deiffenbach, John Haldeman, and Le LeRoy Stabler. Miss Wittman is in charge of the social program for the Y. W., and Mr. Stabler is chairman of social functions for the Y. M.

Let's all co-operate to make the party a success. Those of you who were here during the quarantine last year remember the fine spirit shown at that time. We want this same spirit to be made still more evident this school term. It is your party; it is up to you.

FIRST OF HISTORICAL LECTURE SERIES WELL RECEIVED BY STUDENTS

The first of a series of lectures on early Pennsylvania history was given in chapel on Friday morning, November 24. J. Bennett Nolan, a prominent local historian and member of our lecture staff, was the speaker.

Mr. Nolan emphasized the fact that letters form a strong basis for compiling historical data. Newspapers are also an indispensable guide in writing history. The Algonquins were early inhabitants in Pennsylvania, and not until 1615 did the first white man appear here. The Swedes gradually pushed from Cape May, New Jersey, into Berks County. They made the first permanent settlements in the state and preceded William Penn by three decades. Only once did Penn visit Berks County and then it was at Douglassville.

Mr. Nolan has written along with other volumes two books concerning the local city. They are "The Reading Town" and "The Reading Militia in the Great War." Both of these books are in our college library. Mr. Nolan will continue his lectures for the next three Friday mornings.

CHEMISTRY STUDENTS ORGANIZE NEW CLUB

Under the sponsorship of Dr. Cook, students of the Chemistry department have formed a club which will be known as the Alchemists Club. It will maintain its program in conjunction with the Reading Chemistry Club and will enjoy the privilege of being considered a subordinate of that organization. Dr. Cook, who is a member of the Reading Club, informs us that this connection will afford the college chemists many opportunities and advantages that otherwise would be denied them.

The club will meet every third Tuesday of each month, the first meeting being held last Thursday, Nov. 16. Officers of the club are as follows: President, John Harner; Vice-President, Paul Fye; Secretary-Treasurer, Claude Felty.

HIGHLIGHTS OF TODAY'S PROGRAM

- 2.00—Albright versus Lebanon Valley. Stadium
- 6.30—Buffet Luncheon—College Dining Hall. Alumni and friends.
- 7.15—Program followed by social period. College Dining Hall

DR. PAGE ADDRESSES LOCAL CHAPTER OF SIGMA TAU DELTA

The Rho Beta Chapter of Sigma Tau Delta, National Honorary English Fraternity, held its regular monthly meeting in the parlors of Selwyn Hall on Monday evening, November 20, at 8 o'clock P. M. The purpose of the meeting was for the discussion of new members as well as for discussion of literary events.

The fraternity was indeed honored to have as its guest speaker of the evening, Dr. Eugene R. Page, head of the English Department of the college, who spoke on the subject of "Books and Their Relation to Literary Experiences." Not all books will give a literary experience. He mentioned the advice given by the great American author Emerson in reference to the finding of good books to read. Emerson says: "The best way to find a good book is to wait five years after its publication and then see if you can find it anywhere." Good as that advice may be, most of us are too anxious to read and do not wish to wait that length of time. We prefer to read it "hot off the press." It therefore becomes our duty to select a wide variety of reading—that is, not to confine ourselves to the reading of fiction and that alone, but to read essays, biography, philosophy, religion, politics and science as well. The subjects of the readings will be drawn from every conceivable source and about every imaginable theme. Reading will then be a most vital part of our education.

The fraternity wishes to publish its purpose to the entire student body as "the encouragement of worthwhile reading, the promotion of mastery in written expression, and the fostering of a spirit of good fellowship among teachers and students of the English language and literature."

Membership into the fraternity is offered to English majors of character, scholarship, and general promise. At later meetings during the year, it is hoped that noted speakers in the field of English will be present. This should offer a unique literary experience to all who are privileged to hear them.

The officers of the fraternity for this year are as follows: President, Marshall Brenneman; Vice-President, Sarah E. Hoffman; Secretary-Treasurer, Mildred Rothermel; Faculty Advisors, Prof. H. W. Voigt and Miss Elsie Garlach. The members of the fraternity are: Agnes Bittle, Madge Diffenbach, John Wyle, and Elliott Goldstan.

COLLEGE CHEF CONDUCTS CAFETERIA EXPERIMENT

A Cafeteria under the direction of Jan VanDriel is being held in the Spanish dining room of Selwyn hall. Day students are able to purchase for a small price a delicious meal.

This cafeteria is being conducted as an experiment. If it is well patronized, it will be continued.

COMMITTEE ANNOUNCES ALBRIGHT COLLEGE NIGHT PROGRAM, HELD AT MAIER'S BAKERY, DECEMBER 6th

Program to Feature One-Act Play Presented by Domino Club, Mixed Chorus and Men's Glee Club to Furnish Music; Proceeds Used for Improvement of College Dining Hall

INITIAL PARENT'S DAY PROVES GREAT SUCCESS

Seventy parents were present at the first Annual Parent's Day at Albright College, Tuesday, Nov. 21. The guests spent an enjoyable day visiting the classes, laboratories, and student gatherings.

Dean Walton was in charge of the morning chapel service. He gave a short interesting address on "The Challenge of Change."

The parents were guests of the college at the dinner served in the dining hall at 12.30. During the meal entertainment was provided by the students.

Olaf Holman, '37, gave a piano solo, "Humoresque." An harmonica duet by Gene Barth and Paul Ottey both of '37, followed. The mixed chorus under the direction of Robert Workman sang, "The King of Love My Shepherd Is." Willard Burger, '34, led the students in a pep rally closing with the Alma Mater.

The parlors of Selwyn hall were the headquarters of the guests. The Senior girls were hostesses for the day. Those serving were: Dorcas Haines, Catherine Winter, Martha Felmlee, Lillian Slater, Ethel Spinkle, Harriet Venus, and Catherine Yerkes.

The purpose of the day was accomplished in that the parents obtained a better idea of the daily life of their sons and daughters in the classroom and on the campus.

COLLEGE STUDENTS HEAR LECTURE BY DR. HARVEY NEVILLE

Students of the college were privileged to enjoy a lecture presented by Dr. Neville, professor of chemistry at Lehigh University, on Tuesday evening last. He was brought to us under the auspices of the Reading Chemistry Club, of which Dr. Cook is affiliated.

Dr. Neville's address centered on the real truths and actual facts which stand back of our modern scientific advertising. He expressed the idea that products which we really do not want were merely placed before our attention for inspection years ago; today we are led to believe that we are in actual need of these articles, and this end is gained by the means of hair-raising pictures and ridiculous and untrue statements. He stated that the American public are today buying millions of dollars worth of articles which are doing them little or no good at all.

In quoting a newspaper write-up of a similar lecture given by Dr. Neville, "The attempt to impress and mislead the unscientific public by taking liberties with chemistry and other sciences was characterized by Dr. Neville as 'Modern Alchemy.'" He defined this as the art by which common substances and simple concoctions are transformed, through the medium of high powered advertising, into remarkable cleansing, polishing and film-removing agents; powerful antiseptics, miraculous aids to health and beauty; and positive cures for ailment of long suffering humanity.

Entertainment for all will be provided in the hall of Maier's bakery on Albright College Night, December 6. The admission fee will be 35 cents for students and 50 cents for others. The proceeds from the evening will be used in improving the college dining hall. Jan. VanDriel, the college chef, is in charge of the affair. The program will begin promptly at 8 o'clock.

The main feature of the evening will be the presentation by the Domino Club of a one-act play under the direction of Miss Shaffer. The play will be the dramatic tragedy, "The Other Side," by Jack Stuart Knapp. The cast will include: Haley, the guard, Marshall Brenneman; Quinn, the reporter, Wesley Stevens; Coughlin, the warden, John Wyle; and Allison, the executioner, Bailey Gass. This play was given by a different cast last year during the quarantine and was well received by the students.

An interesting half-hour of magic will be provided by Albert Kuder, who has been associated with Thurston and Houdini. Musical numbers will be furnished by the Men's Glee Club and the Mixed Chorus, both under the direction of Robert Workman. William Maier, '31, will sing, accompanied at the piano by Professor Hunt. A piano solo will be given by Olaf Holman. Asher Gottschalk will make some crayon sketches.

Refreshments will be served at the close of the program. Students are urged to come to this evening of entertainment. Tickets may be secured in advance from Ethel Sprinkle or Marshall Brenneman.

Maier's bakery is located at 640 Park Avenue. To reach it by trolley from the campus, obtain a transfer from the Northeast Loop car; at Fifth and Penn take a Lancaster Avenue street car and get off at Angelica Street. The hall is one block south from there.

ALBRIGHT SORORITIES TO MERGE IN NEAR FUTURE

The Phi Beta Mu and Phi Delta Beta sororities have declared their intention to merge sometime in the near future. The former recently made it public that an invitation to incorporate the members of the latter into active membership was tendered to them. This merger will eliminate one of the three Albright sororities, leaving only the Phi Beta Mu and the Pi Alpha Tau chapters.

DR. KLEIN SPONSORS GO TO CHURCH CAMPAIGN

At a meeting of the Fraternity and Sorority Presidents held in the Chapel, Thursday noon, Dr. Klein sponsored the idea that our school conduct a "Go to Church Campaign," which will work in conjunction with the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. The proposed campaign would be conducted through the aid of the fraternities and sororities. It was agreed that the idea would be greatly strengthened by the "Y" Conference, at which Albright will act as host, December 8, 9, and 10.

DE-EMPHASIZING

A subject that has received wide discussion and criticism, and one that is of vital interest to our school at the present time, is that of athletic curtailment or what is better known as the de-emphasized program. This editorial is being written with the express purpose of acquainting the student body with the true conditions and actual facts as they stand behind the present situation at Albright.

In accordance with the Middle Atlantic Association regulations, we have made our initial experiment with the so-called de-emphasized program of athletics. It has apparently failed. The criticism and abuse that has been hurled at our administration by the local newspapers, college alumni, and football fans in general have tended to formulate the opinion that this action alone is responsible for the absence of a winning team at Albright this year. This, however, is not the case, for many other phases combine to bring about the condition that is causing so much comment.

Had the school continued this year to support the athletic program in the same manner as it did in the past, would the results have been the same? Undoubtedly there would have been little difference. No school can hope to have a winning team every year, but they can expect to have a good team. With this attitude in mind and the proper arrangement of our schedule, need we fear the curtailment of our athletic program?

During the past few years figures prove that the great majority of our home games have been financial failures. This year in particular we have suffered from this angle, the only games netting the school a profit being those played away from home. Our schedule called for only two such games this year. This fact alone would provide sufficient reason for the action taken by our administration.

It is evident that Albright must be content to carry an athletic program of a lighter type. It is impossible for both a heavy schedule and a de-

Literary Column

Stella M. Hetrich

Are you a lover of animals—more particularly of animal stories? If so, and you have not had an opportunity to read "Flush: A Biography," you have missed what is, in my estimation, one of the finest stories of its kind in existence.

"Flush" is an imaginative biography of Elizabeth Barrett Browning's cocker spaniel, one of the most famous dogs in literary history. It was written by Mrs. Virginia Woolf, daughter of the late Sir Leslie Stephen. Not only has the author brought Flush bounding back to Wimpole Street: she has entered his brain and looked out upon the Victorian world through his eyes. In doing so, a new picture of the Barretts and the Brownings flashes before us.

All this Mrs. Woolf describes with vivid and delightful charm and with a deftness in calling up living pictures of the past. Flush, as well as the personalities of his master and mistress, is made very alive and if, at times, he "thinks" in a more human than canine fashion, it is only thus that the author has been able to succeed in describing his environment and his life.

Flush's mistress wrote two poems to him, referred to him again and again in her letters; he shared her invalid loneliness, lay unnoticed during those many visits, those long conversations with Mr. Browning, but honored always by the mistress he adored, and the master whom at last he had grown to love.

This irresistible book will endeavor to humanize dogs as Felix Salten's "Bambi" has endeavored to humanize deer.

It is chiefly the style which makes this book so entertaining and agreeable. You cannot help but enjoy it!

"Flush" would serve as an excellent Christmas gift for that particular friend who must, of course, appreciate dogs. The Atlantic Monthly published this story in four recent issues, but now it can be secured in book form.

OUR BAND

Let me call your attention to one organization that has continued to function one hundred per cent., unmindful of the many reverses with which our team has met, throughout the entire fall season of football. I refer to our college band, which has made an admirable showing and displayed exceptionally fine spirit at every home game. Under the capable direction of Robert Workman, the band has made definite progress this year. May we take this opportunity to thank this organization for the splendid contribution they are making toward a better Albright spirit.

emphasized program to exist in a school of our size. We cannot and do not intend returning our scale of athletics to where they began years ago. On the other hand, we could not have adequately functioned had we continued to carry out the program customary to our school during the past few years.

The question is one for every student to consider. Contrary to general opinion, student views concerning this matter will carry much influence in determining the action of the administration in the future. Personal views and opinions on the matter are welcome and should be written and mailed to the Editor.

The "Y" Column

Unfortunately a typographical error in this column led to a misunderstanding which I am sure was not intended. The program referred to was the Y. M. C. A. program, not the Y. W. C. A. However, the general content of the article is not to be mitigated in the least degree. To clarify the situation, the Y. M. C. A. still very emphatically states that the dining room conduct on behalf of both the women and men is far from ideal. The Christian organizations on this campus are dedicated to the task of taking a definite stand on such issues and will continue to do so.

Rarely does one find such a vital and concise understanding of life as found in the following quotation:

"It is the inner life that matters. How to feed it: (1) The pursuit of truth; (2) the attempt to create beauty; (3) The venture of love; (4) Reaching out for God which is Religion."

The Albright Y. M. C. A. is to be host to the Student-Faculty "Y" Conference. The problem of housing is one of large proportions. We ask the day students particularly to co-operate in this project. If you feel you would care to entertain one or more delegates the week-end of Dec. 8, 9, 10, please notify Woodrow Bartges or Otho Hoofnagle. Your co-operation is anticipated, and an excellent opportunity would be provided for you to meet and exchange points of view with students from many of other Pennsylvania colleges.

Wednesday evening Paul Gottschalk gave an inspiring talk upon that most interesting subject "Leadership." In all forms of society, in every group, there must be a leader to urge, to push, to direct, if that group is to progress. Young leaders are the pillars in the Temple of God. There are two types of leaders, each performing its respective type of work, the one performing the minute work, personal religion; and the other doing the exterior work, the practical religion. Another type of leader we hear little of and often fail to recognize is the leader who works behind the scenes, is backstage. This leader directs and advises.

Qualities which make for leadership may be summarized as follows: (1) mental latitude, open-mindedness, (2) enthusiasm, (3) assert fundamental beliefs, (4) discernment, (5) enterprising, (6) respect.

The theme of the Vesper service last Sunday in charge of the Y. M. C. A. was "Prophecy," and the speaker was Rev. G. F. Schaup, pastor of the Christ Evangelical Church, known to college students as the college church. Rev. Schaup was greeted by a fair group of young people at this service. A trio, composed of Messrs. Robert Hollinger, Joseph Ehrhart, and Marshall Brenneman, favored those present with the selection "Dear Lord and Father of Mankind."

How many of you have given a fair test to these excellent Vesper services? You cannot decide by going to just one meeting. The committee in charge of arranging the programs endeavors to present interesting speakers on topics which interest youth. Won't you come out this Sunday and share some fine experiences with the rest of us?

School spirit featured the Y. W. meeting last Wednesday night. The rivalry between Lebanon Valley and Albright in past years was explained and it is hoped that we may bring home the traditional victory again this year. Dorcas Haines and Peg Wittmann sang a song, "What Are We Going to Do to Lebanon Valley?" This was so well received that the rest of the girls have learned it for the coming game. Catharine Yerkes rendered well two humorous musical readings.

PROMINENT PEOPLE . . .

CATHARINE YERKES

In this prominent Senior girl we find the sterling qualities of personality plus campus leadership. If one word could adequately express the many characteristics of which she is the possessor, it would be "efficiency." For the past two years "Kay" has been a member of the Student Council, Senate, and an ardent supporter of the Science Club. Outstanding also in the literary field, she successfully edited the 1933 edition of the Frosh Handbook, and this year is Associate Editor of The Albrightian after having served on the staff for two years. The 1934 "Cue" saw her as feature editor of that publication. Other than this, "Kay" has maintained a decided interest in the religious organizations of our campus, having served as a member of the Y. W. C. A. Council. Her many extra curricular activities have not stunted her scholastic work, and she has been able to maintain a high average throughout her college career.

Catharine is a Math. major and aspires to the noble profession of teaching. May she be as successful in this field as she has been in her college life.

THEATRE COLUMN

LOEW'S—"Christopher Bean," features Marie Dressler in a picture that the critics call her best. Costarred are Lionel Barrymore and Jean Hersholt.

EMBASSY—"The Way to Love," a modern, jesty comedy starring the famous Maurice Chevalier.

ASTOR—William Powell returns as Philo Vance in the guess-proof mystery, "The Kennel Murder Case."

Starting Wednesday—The lowdown on the touchdown merchants!!! "College Coach," with Dick Powell, Ann Dvorak and Pat O'Brien.

CAPITOL AND STATE—These two theatres can always be counted on for a good show.

The Crimson Hurricane turned into a Typhoon on Saturday and gave the Lions something by which to remember them. Davis and Elkins produced one of the smoothest working elvens that has ever graced the Lions' den. Spinners, double, triple, and quadruple reverses, and from these they ran end runs, tackle plays, center rushes, forward passes, and laterals. There is no team on the Albright schedule this year who could have stopped this Davis and Elkins combination. Cam Henderson gave us an idea of what perfection in football looked like, and everyone must give him and his team all the credit that they deserve. Winters is without a doubt the most outstanding player to have performed on the local gridiron this year. "Whitey" Randour gave us an exhibition of great ball carrying, but Winters gave us a classic performance.

The past is forgotten and it is the present that we are interested in today. "Hooks" Mylin is here with his "Flying Dutchman" from Annville, and Johnny Smith has his Lions roaring. This will be a tough battle and the victor will realize that they have been playing football. Lebanon Valley comes to the Stadium with a good record, while Albright has won but one game. This means everything to the Lions—if they can take the Annville aggregation into camp, they will have the satisfaction of beating a team that has stopped all the colleges in our class. Albright holds the majority of wins over her old rival by the margin of one game, and today decides whether it will be tied or not. "Hooks" Mylin has been defeated for four starlight years and, like Cam Henderson, is out for revenge.

Did you notice those Davis and Elkins boys running laps after the game on Saturday? They broke training and were performing as a penalty. Cam Henderson stayed right there and counted them as they went around.

Lebanon Valley has a new line coach this year in the person of "Marty" McAndrews, of Penn State. He has taken over the duties of the line so that Mylin can spend more time on the backfield. He is also boxing instructor at the Pennsylvania State Police School at Hershey. He won the light-heavyweight intercollegiate title in the boxing season of 1930, and won his football letter for three consecutive years at Penn State. In 1930 he was voted the most valuable athlete in the school.

Lebanon Valley has two regulars out of this game in "Spud" Kandrat, who broke his leg in the Juniata game, and Russ Williams, star end for the past three years, who broke his shoulder in the Drexel tussel. Coach Mylin has depended a great deal on these two men and their loss will be felt today.

Albright has had one backfield man who has been outstanding in every game this year, and that is "Nick" Itesta. He has gained practically every time that he has carried the ball and he is responsible for a large portion of the yardage that has been gained. "Nick" has carried the ice this year as he has never carried it before in his college career, and without a doubt will receive the most valuable player award if he can keep it up. Lebanon Valley will see much of him today, as he will carry the ball plenty and give us another exhibition of hard tackling.

Albright fans hope to see Stanley Hino, the Lions' dynamic little quarterback, take the field today for the first time in two weeks. Stan has never directed an Albright team that has bowed to Lebanon Valley, and he hopes to keep his record clean.

DAVIS & ELKINS SMOTHER RED AND WHITE 53-0

Fast D. & E. Backs Run Rough-Shod Over Crippled Lion Aggregation

Seldom has a better-coached, smoother-working eleven than that of Davis-Elkins played in the Albright Stadium. The outcome was never in doubt once the Senators displayed their powerful offense, outwitting as well as outrunning the Lions in every manner imaginable. Albright's only creditable demonstration was made by the second string men, although several individual regulars played a good game.

Twice did the Red and White succeed in totting the pigskin within the ten-yard stripe only to lose the oval. The first trek was the result of "Fat" Lease's recovery of Tinney's fumble. From the eight-yard line "Red" Woods unleashed a pass which grounded in the end zone just beyond the fingers of Oslislo. A 75-yard drive constituted Albright's second bid for a touchdown, but the ball was lost on downs four yards from the goal line.

Albright has nothing but praise for "Cam" Henderson and the Scarlet Hurricane which he brought to Albright to unleash his pent-up vengeance for the three years of defeat suffered at the hands of the Lions. He not only defeated Albright, but humiliated it in the eyes of the football world. Davis-Elkins soon proved why they were the highest scoring team of the nation with its clever reverses, illusive spinners, and fake line bucks, all of which further deceived the already bewildered Red and White. Argus Winters accounted for four of the eight touchdowns, but it is better to compliment the team as one, big, fleet, powerful machine in which private squabbles are taboo.

The Scarlet Hurricane reminded us of the teams Albright used to have, when the Lions could manufacture a touchdown almost at will and emerge glorious even in defeat. The Red and White Lion whose roar was once heard throughout the East has now become tame, toothless, and shorn of its claws; a gentle mimicked purring replaces the former battle roar. It was that Lion which the City of Reading fostered as a cub, encouraged to its zenith, and grimly accompanied in its defeat. Reading patrons as well as the student body and alumni of Albright shudder a bit in fear now as they view this present docile Lion and raise the question: Could this be a vision of the future Albright Lion, having no brain of its own and compelled to follow blindly?

Coach Mylin refuses to make any prediction on the outcome of today's game with the Lions, but without a doubt he knows that this is the year to stop the four-year winning streak of the Smithmen. If he doesn't come through on the winning end of the game today, it is doubtful if his "Flying Dutchmen" will do so for a great many years to come.

The Inter-Fraternity Touchball League came to a close last week with the Zetas winning the second half. The Kappas and Zetas will battle a three-game series in the play-off. The games start on Friday and will continue on Monday and Tuesday.

With this game today with our old rivals, I suppose you will expect me to pick a winner. I believe Albright will rise to its mightiest heights and send the "flying dutchmen" back to Annville praying that next year will be their year.

THERE'S ONE BEST TIME To Telephone Home!

YOU'LL agree, once you've tried it, that half past eight is the time to telephone home.

At half past eight the day's rush is over. Your time is free for a leisurely telephone chat.

At half past eight the same is true at home. It's the best time to catch the family all together.

At half past eight (and this is most important) low Night Rates go into effect on Station to Station calls. You can then save as much as 40% on your call. For example: If your home is 100 miles away, a three-minute connection will cost only 35 cents!

TO TAKE ADVANTAGE of the LOW NIGHT RATES . .

Call after 8:30 P.M., and be sure to make a Station to Station call.

That means, ask the Operator for your home telephone, but not for any specific person.

If you've fixed a date in advance, the family will be sure to be there.

Charges may be reversed.

The Kappa Upsilon Phi fraternity will hold its annual semi-formal Christmas dance Dec. 16th at the Iris Club. Prof. and Mrs. Horn and Prof. and Mrs. Evans will chaperone the affair.

During the last week a letter arrived from one of our more interested alumni reading:

Attention Doyle and Rimelspacher

Who is that handsome Zeta who took a certain Frosh's sister to the frat dance (a blind date at that) and last Saturday sent her a dozen chrysanthemums (Ed. note—he misspelled this word) for her birthday? Is it really love?

Very sincerely yours,

Altho we have withheld his name, it will be furnished to the interested party.

The Pi Tau Beta fraternity open house, which was held on November 17th, was pronounced a huge success by all those who attended. Chaperones were: Doctor and Mrs. Fenili, Mrs. Currier, and Miss Kulp.

That bespectacled Junior turned out to be a sissy after all. He wears long unmentionables to the football games and sits by gleefully chuckling at those of us who refuse to follow his example.

The Annual Inter-Collegiate dance for the Harrisburg district will again be held in the Penn-Harris Hotel, Harrisburg, Pa., Tuesday, December 26th. The arrangements are again under the general supervision of Raymond E. Best and Sidney Steele, former Penn State students. An honorary committee headed by these men will be chosen from the student body of different colleges throughout Pennsylvania. This item should be of interest to the students and alumni of Albright.

Rumor has it that the Selwyn Hall parlors are deserted on Saturday nights this year. Last year it was impossible to buy, beg or borrow a seat. Who remembers the depression?

The Misses Sarah Hoffman, Catherine Winter, Catherine Yerkes, Dorcas Haines, Betty Rimelspacher, Harriet Venus, and Mildred Reichly will be the guests of the Phi Delta Sigma Alumni sorority at a luncheon Saturday.

Imagine my amazement when I saw the police car pull up in front of the school Tuesday. It seems the flatfeet were looking for that teacher who got a ticket for double parking on Penn Street and didn't go to City Hall when she was supposed to. Did you say she got a free ride in the squad car or was her countenance crimson?

The Alpha Pi Omega fraternity went in a body to the Sunday evening service of the Calvary Evangelical Church at Mohnton. Rev. Hyden, pastor of the church, is an honorary member of the fraternity.

Were those two football men burned up on Saturday night when they got word from back home that their babes would not be down for the dance? The one went to the dance and appropriated some one else's gal, while the other stayed here and wept bitter tears in his cup.

Peg Wittman will spend the week-end at her home in Elizabeth, N. J., on Saturday. She will attend the wedding of her sister, Frieda Wittman, who will be married to Doctor Nolan Baird, of Toronto, Canada.

Recently a Senior girl entered the library and started to sit down on one of the chairs. She didn't get far, however, for some Frosh calmly told her to move to another seat so that she (the Frosh) could prop her feet on the chair. Great stuff this class precedence.

Word has been received from Sally Varner, Cynthia Wallace, Ann Wetzel, and Mary Ellen Venus that they will attend the home-coming game this Saturday.

The torch of romance sizzled and popped on Saturday when that Senior usher and her boy friend went into a torrid clinch under the Stadium. To relieve any doubt in your mind, I might add that he is a very recent alumnus.

The Misses Helen Martin and Muriel Kerby were the guests of Newton Dandorf and Bailey Gass at the D. and E. game and at the non-fraternity dance which followed the game.

Scene in Selwyn Hall

Senior girl (in bull session)—
"Now, if you really love a man—"

Knock on the door. Enter young-know-who—"My, but the air is foul in here."

What worries the girls is the question of whether or not she heard the previous discussion.

Miss Betty Wolfgang, a member of the Pi Alpha Tau sorority, was the guest of "Pinky" Purnell at his home in Pottstown, Sunday.

Some of the Frosh girls are considering suing that Junior girl for shoe leather because of the constant phone calls for her from one of the campus dorms. Naturally they have to answer the phone and the calls are almost invariably for her.

Joseph Barrero spent several days at the Zetas as the guest of Alfred Cooper.

That curly-haired Sophomore is all wrapped up in that husky-voiced transfer. We've noticed a decided improvement in his personal appearance since he has assumed that Don Juan attitude.

Miss Marion Ortiz and Miss Charlotte Gregory were the week-end guests of Carl Buechle and James Garnet.

If you think that dark-haired Senior can't swing a paddle, you should get the opinion of his friend from New Yawk. He knows, or at least he should.

Clyde Mullen and Claude Felty have been elected captain and manager, respectively, of the A. P. O. basketball team. A tentative schedule is now being arranged.

That Senior lad who has been rushing a girl on the campus is reported to have come back to school by way of Berwick to see a girl he had met only once before. I wonder what his steady will have to say about that.

Mark Matz, an alumnus of the Kappa, spent the week-end on the campus. He was formally initiated into the Phi Beta Pi fraternity at the University of Pennsylvania medical school on Friday evening.

If that Senior day student's word is to be taken for it, he should give Clark Gable a real battle for supremacy in the heart of the American woman. He is constantly recounting his amorous adventures to an admiring group of Freshmen.

Klein and Harold Plotz, members of last year's freshman class, were guests of the A. P. O.'s over the week-end.

Stanley Van Ostrand intends to register as a day student the second semester. He claims it will save him seven rides a week carfare.

James Ross, Kappa, entertained Miss Mildred Walker, of Camden, after the D.-E. game.

A lady in Bordentown, who lived near a church, was sitting by a window listening to the crickets who were loudly chirping, the music from the choir being quite audible. A gentleman dropped in who had just passed the church.

"How loudly they sing tonight?" said he.

"Yes," said the lady, thinking of the crickets, "and they say they do it with their hind legs." G. A. R. Trenton, N. J.

Andrew Wassokovich, a member of the Lions Club, spent the week-end at his home in Franklin, N. J.

It seems to me that those gentlemen who conducted the Frosh inspection last Thursday exercised crude judgment and poor spirit in their treatment of Freshmen girls.

Charles Roberts, Kappa alumnus, spent several days at the fraternity last week.

Anita Comfort recently attended a dance at Stevens Institute.
