William Carson, Doris Chanin, and Richard Dexter attended the banquet at the Retail Merchants' Association of Reading, on Thursday, February 10 at 6:30 p.m. in the Walnut Room of the Berkshire Hotel.

The procedure of the Purchase Card System was explained by Richard Dexter, Chairman of the Albright Purchase Card Committee; Doris Chanin explained the workings of the N.S.A.

Mr. Syme officially informed them that the Reading Retail Merchants declined the request to accept the purchase card system for two reasons. First, it would place the merchants at a disadvantage causing them to discriminate among their customers. Second, the College in its expansion program will be asking for more funds, and the merchants feel that they will be contributing heavily to this.

Trustees Approve Erection Of 3 Buildings on Campus

A decision to erect three new buildings on campus was reached at the opening meeting of the Board of Trustees held at the Berkshire Hotel on February 9. Dr. Harry V. Masters, President of the College, summarized the achievements of the College in the last year and gave the annual financial report. Rev. Dr. J. Arthur Heck, President of the Evangelical School of Theology, made the Seminary report; committees were chosen following the election of Board officers.

Dr. Masters, in his financial report, pointed out that the financial worth of the College has increased $122,000 during the year ending June, 1948 and more than $1,500,000 in the last ten years. Funds on hand and pledges which have been earmarked for new buildings total more than $480,000. He also stated that the faculty personnel now at Albright is adequate to carry the number of students although there has been a 5% increase in enrollment over that of last year.

Activities for the coming year will begin with commencement exercises to be held during the first week in June, Saturday, June 4 will be Alumni Day, with baccalaureate and commencement scheduled for Sunday, June 5.

Summer School

Dr. Masters revealed that a new summer school plan has worked out under which a single term of school rather than the two six week's terms which have been given for the last seven years, will be conducted.

"Albright should be able to look forward to an enrollment of between 700 and 800 for a number of years to come, and the need for additional buildings at the present time is pressing," said Dr. Masters. The physical education building will be the first to be started. The tentative site for the new gymnasium is the area north of the stadium, on land already owned by the College.

Two other major improvements which the College Trustees feel are urgently needed are the men's dormitory and the chapel. The erection of these three buildings is part of an overall development plan intended eventually to give Albright students one of the finest campuses of any small college in the East.

Trial Editors Work For Staff Positions

Resulting in the appointment of a new Editor-in-Chief and departmental editors of The Albrightian, a series of trial editorships will begin with the next issue and continue until March 18. During these weeks, editor aspirants will take charge of the paper under the supervision of the present editorial staff.

Doris Chanin and Robert Hoffman will try out for the position of Editor-in-Chief. Patricia Poore, William Heck, and Barbara Miller will compete for the job of News Editor; while Jane Reynolds, Patricia Pierce, and Cleta Rein will vie for the duties of Feature Editor. Trying out for the job of Sports Editor will be Raymond Schlegel, Terry Connor, Martin Rosen, and William Hutchinson.

Newspaper Survey Planned Next Week

Questionnaires covering various features of The Albrightian will be distributed during the Chapel periods next Tuesday and Thursday. Students will have an opportunity to voice their opinions on various columns, policies, and new ideas; they will also have an opportunity to offer any suggestions they might have concerning their newspaper.

It is sincerely hoped by members of The Staff that Albrightians will help to make their newspaper what they want it to be by answering all questions and making all comments constructively.

Now or Never

Once again, as the second semester of our college term rolls along, we approach many of our college events which annually are looked forward to by both students and faculty alike. One such an affair is Student Council's Stunt Night to be held on April 1. This year, as in former years, we are faced with the complex and challenging problem evolving around the quality of the presentation and skit material of the participating organizations. As far back as October 1948, your Student Council REQUESTED from our advisor, Professor Harding, the privilege of alleviating this situation by taking full responsibility of any degrading material that might be presented this year. As of October 14, 1948, we were granted by the Faculty Committee on Student Organizations and Activities the following OBLIGATIONS to fulfill:

"The Faculty Committee relinquishes its control for this year, however, with the understanding that if decent standards are not maintained by the Council, the Committee reserves the right to assume control next year. . . . The Committee hopes that this addition to the responsibilities of student government will give to Stunt Night a long and flourishing future."

Upon receipt of this letter, Student Council appointed a special committee to investigate the various phases of the problem and try to reach some definite conclusions for carrying out our responsibilities. At a meeting held last February 8, attended by several organizational presidents, the whole matter was put up for discussion and the conclusions reached were very encouraging. It was decided: 1) that in order to have the best entertainment value possible, each organization should put every effort behind the rehearsals, the writing of the dialogues, etc., and 2) to relieve the faculty of its burden of serving on the judging committee by asking several prominent community leaders to act in this capacity.

In taking our stand, Student Council felt that it could count on each of us as students to support this program. It felt that all of us were truly desirous of having Stunt Night continue not only for the clean fun that is derived from it, but for the keen competition that is put behind it.

Signs of the Times

The recent decline in food and clothing prices was heralded by the American as a relief from our post-war inflation. That was at the beginning of the decline. Right now, more serious-minded citizens are keeping a finger on the economic pulse of the nation. They are watching signs which will aid in avoiding another depression.

According to Dr. Edwin Nourse, chairman of President Truman's Council of Economic Advisors, we can relax and enjoy reasonably priced food and a new suit of clothing, that is, for the time being at least. The increase in unemployment which coincidentally accompanied price breaks is still less than it was a year ago. Dr. Nourse attributes the leveling off of prices to last summer's large farm crops.

No decline in enrollments is evident at Albright College. But John M. Daniels, chairman of admissions at Pittsburgh's Carnegie Institute of Technology, recently stated that colleges are faced with a buyers-market. Colleges that want top-notch students will have to compete for them as in the pre-war era, said Daniels.

Maybe tuition rates will begin to drop. Fees might not be so large and numerous. We might even be able to get through a college-year's tuition, books, fees, room, board and spending money on a thousand dollars.

But hold on there. We're only dreaming. Mr. Daniel's statements are only one man's opinion, and even if correct, take time to take effect. Furthermore none of us wants to spend more than four years in an undergraduate school.

Cupid Carousels Courting Couples

Frosh-Soph Ball Memorable Affair

Hearts and flowers were in style when approximately seventy couples enjoyed an evening of smooth dancing to Jimmy Carl's smooth music in the Abraham Lincoln ballroom Friday night, Feb. 11.

Orchids are due the various committees for the hard work and skillful planning that was evident throughout the affair.

"Lover's Nook"

The decorations not only set the theme but afforded a topic for much conversation, for they were very clever. A latticed arbor, gaily decked with hearts and flowers, shaded a low stone bench beside a fountain which sprayed delicate streams of water upon clusters of carnations and a daisy chain, arranged in the basin. The "Lover's Nook," as it was appropriately named, was in the center of the ballroom, bathed in a soft blue light. One tuxedoed gent was overheard offering to water his lady-love's corsage in the fountain, when another swain dared him to take a drink instead. To round out the festive decor, cut-out hearts and cupids surrounded the lights on the walls of the ballroom and brightened the tables and counters in the adjoining refreshment room. Speaking of cut-ups, a certain class president was seen cutting a mean cupid at the pre-ball decorating meeting on Friday afternoon. "Nuff said. Cheers for the entire committee.

Unique Programs

Equal praise is deserved by the program committee for the unique heart-shaped programs, with Doris Chanin's original poem on page 2 and a "Dear Diary" note to be filled in on the last page.

Novelty Dances

The prizes awarded for the "spot dances" kept all the couples "on the spot", and the Orchestra! Nothing but favorable comments from all sides for Jimmy Carl, his vocalist, his orchestra, and his arrangements, both sweet and swing.

Professors Khouri and Bishop, plus wives, represented the faculty most ably. To the Freshmen and Sophomores we say: Thanks, for a lovely evening!

DANDY LIONS

This week we take great pleasure in presenting the very lovely, newly elected May Queen, Miss Joyce Ruth! Joyce is the girl with the winsome ways and the engaging smile, who claims our own "mighty little metropolis" as home.

Evidently a firm believer in the old proverb about wise use of time, Joyce finds much to keep her occupied. A Home Economics major, she is now student teaching in Mt. Penn High School. Aside from that, she also tutors a girl in general high school subjects for several hours each day.

Here on campus, Joyce is president of the Pi Alpha Tau Sorority, serenely presiding over each "wild" meeting of tongue-happy females. She claims membership in that mysterious sisterhood of domestic science, the Heo Club. During her four years on campus Joyce has also contributed her fine able voice to the Women's Glee Club.

Among the memories of Albright which Joyce will take with her when she graduates will be the home management course at Sherman Cottage. Joyce planned and acted as hostess for the Thanksgiving Day Dinner, a good opportunity for practicing domestic skills. Slightly more strenuous was the week she spent as nurse to Linda, the baby at Sherman Cottage.

Joyce is fond of sketching and shows particular talent in costume design. Among her other likes are, visiting New York, preparing fancy foods, rising bright and early (?) every morning, and spending each summer at the shore.

To this very charming senior and possessor of the honor of May Queen which has become a tradition at Albright, we give a wealth of good wishes for each day of her future.

The Mystery of The Sacred Isle

Tradition of Seal Revealed to Frosh

Robinson's "European History" -Robinson, Robinson, I kept repeating as I stumbled into the library. "European History" by Robin-"Hey, Frosh, watch it." Now what did I do, I wondered as I came to a screeching halt and face-to-face with an indignant Albrightian who commanded, "Move, you, don't just stand there!" Much perplexed I tried to make my way to the desk, hoping this move would prove satisfactory to that domineering upperclassman! But no-"One moment please." (Hm-I'm improving; she didn't scream at me this time.) "Do you realize why I stopped you?" she queried. Humbly I acknowledged I hadn't the slightest idea.

What Have I Done?

With a forefinger she pointed down to the seal on the floor. I began to understand-evidently I stepped on it, but to me it didn't mean a thing; a seal's a seal, and I told her so.

"Oh, no," she exclaimed, "this seal is the official symbol of Albright as a legally incorporated institution and was placed here at this spot by the Alumni Association who donated funds for the Library Building. Look, see the motto? Veritas et iustitia (truth and justice) expresses the ideals for which the College stands. And the lamp is a symbol of light to guide the student through his various fields of study as is represented by the books above the lamp. The wreath of laurel is the symbol of distinction, honor, and achievement-our goals in life. You see, Frosh, a seal does have meaning and we never, never tread on it."

Amazed

I stood there utterly amazed at this student's wealth of information. Before I fully regained my composure, she dashed out the door. Slowly I ambled to the desk and got my copy of Robinson's "European History".

At a golf club the other day, a member was boasting about his strength on driving, when a puny fellow member bet him $25 that he could wheel a load in a wheelbarrow from the clubhouse to the street which the self-styled athlete couldn't wheel back. "You're on," said the boaster.

A wheelbarrow was brought up to the clubhouse. "All right," said the little guy, "Get in."

LIONS, GREGG POST TO TANGLE SATURDAY

FIRST HALF OF I - M CLOSES

Scranton Drubbed 69-45 by W. Division Leading Cats

Baby Lions Nose Out Royals; Edged By Chester Rams

Working on all twelve cylinders, Albright's basketball machine steamrolled over the visiting Scranton Royals last Saturday at Northwest on a 60-45 paving and made it three straight over conference competition. It was one of those nights when the Red and White could do no wrong; the steady offense was hotter than a box of July firecrackers while the shifty defense was tighter than a new giraffe. Ed Anlian's 18, Hops Guldin's 16, and Ossie Kriebel's 15 points headed the Albright scoring parade. Joe Lebeda, Bill Medvecky, and Jack Leighton topped the Purple and White's box score by splitting 25 counters.

Coach Neal Harris charged jumped to an 18-11 lead at the end of the first quarter, as Kriebel canned five baskets to put the Royals in a hole from which they never left. Anlian, regaining his scoring poise, and Guldin took over in the second period scoring seven and six points, respectively. Leighton and Lebeda tried in vain to keep up with the Red and White; but unable to penetrate the Harris defense, Scranton had to be satisfied with throwing up amazingly accurate set shots time after time. As the half ended, the Lion five was on top 35-25.

Davis, Kriebel Open Up

Two foul shots and two field goals by Elmer Davis and center Kriebel started the last half. A set shot by Anlian gave the Harrismen a comfortable 42-27 mid-distant shots by Pat McGeehan, Don Bartol, and Lebeda retaliated for Buck Freeman's five and put the count at 52-36 going down the home stretch. Holding the Royals to a skimpy nine points in the last period, Albright's second five racked up an easy 17 to send the Scrantonites back to their antiracite habitat (where something else recently fell through). We'll see more of Scranton on March 9 at their court in the Lion's final 1949 game.

Eighth Away Game Lost

Unable to solve the "why's and wherefore's" of foreign frogs, Albright made it eight straight out-of-town losses when they left West Chester town on the short end of a 59-46 score. Earlier in the year, the Red and White had rapped the Teachers 65-52 at Northwest. In the 59-46 debacle, the Lions took their almost customary first period lead, this time 19-11, but couldn't keep out in front as the Chesterites brought the total to 26-26 at half time. In the third quarter, Art Nazigan, Earl Voss, and Ed Malkowski gunned them for the Rams, while Bob Ruoff, who was high man for the Albrightians with 10, Hops Guldin, and Lee Cappel kept the visitors in the game with occasional deuces. The count was 42-38 at the third frame's end. The above mentioned trio of West Chester dribblers kept up the dizzy scoring pace in the final quarter as the Red and White could produce only a minute eight points in the last 10 minutes of play.

Earl Voss' 18 points were tops for the revengeful Teachers. Only Ruoff hit the double digits for the losing Harrismen when he garnered his 10.

Kittens Do Same

Our jayvee courtiers imitated their big brothers as they edged a strong Scranton frosh quintet, 49-46, and were nosed out by the neophyte passers of West Chester, 47-44.

The Baby Lions had to come from behind in the last minute of action to oulstart the Royals, as Oscar Mogan and Gerry Potts drove the Lion team home with fourteen points apiece. Dick Lee dunked four goals and a foul shot. The most unusual shot, and the most important, was that of "Sit-

FEMME SPORTS

The Albright Lionesses chalked up their first basketball victory for the '49 season when on February 10 they defeated Beaver College, 43-29, on the local floor. Big Marge Zeock took scoring honors with eleven field goals.

Albright's femme hoopsters were on their toes from the beginning to the end of the game as Jean Long broke the ice when she dropped the ball through the basket making Albright's first two points. Jean Schwartz then came into the picture and scored three more buckets.

Zeock Gets Hot

Marge Zeock sank the ball throughout the entire game until she achieved an overwhelming total of 25 points. Janet Price and Nancy Stump aided Albright's score by adding four and two points respectively.

Guarding tenaciously, Delores Bedding, Sylvia Hopppaugh, Anna Lauver, Jean Magee, and Barbara Wrisley blocked many of the feeble efforts of their opponents. Beaver's two highest scorers, Goodwin and Stiles, had to share nineteen points.

Coach Eva Mosser's Red and White jayvee passers had their high hopes of also posting the year's inaugural win jarred when the Bethlehem lassies upset them 38-11. Nothing seemed to hit for the scoring forwards.

The Women's Athletic Association will hold a meeting on February 24, in the Dean's Parlor at 7:30 p.m. Jean Schwartz, president will preside over the business meeting.

I - THE ZONE DEFENSE

In this first article of two on basketball defenses we will put the zone method, the newer of the pair, under the microscope to see what it is and what it does. Next week we will do the same for the familiar man-to-man system.

A simple explanation of the Zone Defense is that each defensive player has been designated a portion of the court and is responsible for the offensive men who enter his area whether they have the ball or not.

Of the variations of this basic situation, the "shifting" zone is the most common. Here, when the ball is on one side of the court, every defensive man shifts to that approximate zone position. When numbers are given such as 2-3, 2-1-2, or 2-2-1, they merely mean that the first number is the number of men assigned closest to the backcourt or the farthest away from the man goal; the next number is the middle man; and the last numbers are the defensive men directly closest to the offensive team's basket.

As the first half of the intramural basketball season was concluded, the high flying Kappas and Pigskins remained in the driver's seat in their respective leagues.

Rolling to their fifth straight triumph in the American League, the talented Kappas easily conquered the Pi Taus. Gene Shollenberger led his mates with 12 points, being ably assisted by Red Seifert and Mark Guss, who scored 10 and 9 points. Bruce Reber led the losers with 11 tallies.

The up-coming A.P.O.'s climbed into a second-place tie with the Red Rockets and the Zetas by virtue of their 63-30 rout of the winless K.T.X. combine. Paul Muller, Jerry Pedota, and George Baumgarter led the winners with 14, 13, and 13 points respectively, although the high scorer of the game was Dick Stinson of K.T.X., who came through with 17 points.

In a thriller from beginning to end, the Zetas edged the Red Rockets 30-29. Ken Wagner, Ted Batdorf, and Bill Skinner each scored 8 points for the Zetas, while Flemming poured 15 points through the hoops for the Red Rockets.

Stars Routed

Chalking up their fifth triumph in the National League, the Pigskins drubbed the Shooting Stars 51-12. Pete Sperryak and Joe Czutno scored 12 and 11 markers for the Skins, as Janikowski led the losers with 10 points.

Trailing 31-28 at the half the Sleepers pulled ahead in the third period and beat the fading Furious Frosh 55-47. The Sleepers kept their second place position intact due to the shooting of Dick Stealy and Carl Deeser, who had 13 and 14 tallies. John Newpher and John Angstadt headed the Frosh aggregation with 15 points apiece.

The Hot Shots put the A.P.O.'s "B's" deeper in the cellar with a 11-36 victory. Rod Haas hit the hoops for 17 points and Harry Nelson scored 6 goals.

Gerber Schafer Charities to Be Recipient of Admissions; Local Stars on Legion Squad

J.V. and Monarch A.C. in Prelim; Harrismen Hope to Clinch Title at Lebanon Valley Next Wednesday

Tomorrow night's doubleheader basketball card at the Northwest Junior High floor will feature a contest with an all-star Gregg Post American Legion team of Reading, who will tangle with our Lions for the total benefit of Gerber Schafer Charities Fund, Inc. Facing the J.V. Kittens will be a strong Monarch A.C. aggregation.

Gerber Schafer, a World War I veteran, has personally directed the distributing of the funds by telephone from his bed at St. Joseph's hospital here in Reading, where he lays completely paralyzed and blind. Still alert in mind and spirit, Schafer has aided others in the same situation as himself and also well-deserving projects in this vicinity. Many are indebted for help received from these efforts of our nationally known citizen.

The student admission price of 35 cents will go altogether for the continuation of the Schafer Charity cause.

Activity Ticket and 35c Must Be Given Here for Admission

No activity book tickets will be accepted at the Northwest doors for student admission to the Albright-Gregg Post game tomorrow night. Students must exchange their activity book tickets at the Treasurer's Office today and tomorrow for regular admission duets. An extra charge of 35 cents will also be made as a contribution to the charity fund of Gerber Schafer Charities, Inc. The regular admission tickets will also be good for the Junior Varsity-Monarch A.C. game at 7 p.m., preliminary to the main fray.

In what will probably be a sizzling ball game from start to finish, the hot Harris hoopers, currently running way ahead of the Western Division pack and also sporting a 9-10 record, will fight it out with the luminaries of Gregg Post, who have upon their fold Jimmy Bunn, past Red and White great, and Jesse Ervin, an Albright court ace.

Eyrich Has Veterans

Coach George Eyrich will not be at a loss for more good basketball. Other collegiate and scholastic veterans will be added upon. Among these are ex-Reading High star, now with Kutztown S.T.C., Kenny Hovert; Dick Giles, Cornell; Zeke Gallacher, Reading Catholic High grad; and Bernie Kasko, Sock Anthony; Joe Sadowski, Bob Leibel, and Mickey Lewis.

Not only do these names speak for themselves, but also does their record of thirteen wins in eighteen starts.

All the regular employees at Northwest will contribute their services Friday and Saturday night. Hagan will do the announcing.

Lions Journey to L. V.

Wednesday night, February 23, the Lions will journey to Lebanon to play their second league tilt on a foreign court, facing their old rivals, the Flying Dutchmen from Lebanon Valley. Since the Dutchmen have the bad reputation of avenging earlier defeats on their home court, the Lions may meet a highly determined Lebanon Valley quintet.

In their initial meeting on the home floor at Northwest, the Lions dashed away to a 17-3 first quarter lead which they built up to 59-41 at the end. High scorer for the visitors was forward Kin-sella who piled up 11 markers.

SIDE LIONS

Roses: The Scranton contest at Northwest last Saturday was perfect in more than one way. Not only did we squash a supposedly dangerous team but the officiating was almost a dream. Congratulations to Harry Sherman and George Erb for setting an example of good refereeing.

Obvious to all, spectators and players alike appreciated the unbiased, accurate, and even-toned method shown. You didn't hear much hecking or griping, did you? May we see duplications of this kind of officiating in the near future.

Thorns:

A note on intercollegiate sportsmanship—

Our breath was taken by an article in the Rider News which, along with superfluous praising about "pulling a major upset" over their "befuddled, hush-league" rivals, accused Albright of trying to pull a "quackie" by our protesting the use of Frank Otway just before the game began. Supposedly this was the maneuver that cost the Lions the 64-46 defeat at the hands of the Rider cagers, who were incensed at such Albright "sportsmanship".

Actually, we wonder who showed poor sportsmanship. I should say "has shown" throughout the whole season. Other teams of no mean reputation absolutely refused to meet Rider as long as they put alumni, illegal transferees and pros on the floor. Albright had every right to protest also.

If it were not for the alertness of an Albright player who had a good memory the Roughriders would have again succeeded in using one more illegal hoopster whom they need to help boost their mediocre outfit on to more victories.

We cannot condone any deliberate neglecting of collegiate basketball rules even by an independent team. More careful watchdogging seems to be necessary to control the few who try to get by the boards. Better yet — better ethics and sportsmanship.

Foreign Missionaries Speak On Christian Vocation Needs

From Wednesday of this week and continuing until this evening, a Christian Vocation Conference has been held on Albright campus. A team of three members, working under the Auspices of the Board of World Missions of the Evangelical United Brethren Church, are conducting this conference, which is the second of its kind to be held at Albright. The members of the visitation team are Rev. Woodrow A. Bariges, a former missionary to the East and presently in the local ministry at York, Pa., Dr. Walter Schutz, Superintendent of the West Africa Conference in Sierra Leone, who is now home on furlough, and Miss Lucy Rowe, a member of the Sudan Mission of our church, located in Nigeria, West Africa, who also is at present home on furlough.

Opportunities

The major emphasis of the conference has been that of bringing to the minds of the student body the many opportunities in our world today for workers in all vocations and professions. Having their headquarters in the Alumni Room of the Library, the visitation team has held individual sessions with about fifty students who availed themselves of this opportunity for counseling. This was the core of the work of the conference and was thought to be very successful in helping Albright students to find their way into Christian-motivated vocations.

At the Thursday Chapel program the members of the team were introduced to the student body. Miss Rowe addressed the chapel on the topic, "Experiences in Sierra Leone" and elaborated on the work of the Nigerian Mission. The "Y's" held a tea Thursday afternoon from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. in Selwyn Parlor where both students and faculty met the team informally. In the evening, Dr. Schutz and Miss Rowe presented two color films, one on the Sierra Leone Mission, and the other on the Missionary Field of Nigeria.

Seminary Talk

This morning the team spoke on the work concerning the World Missionary Board. It stressed the fields of work presented by the individual members of the visitation team.

At West Chester the tables were turned on the Kittens when Al Piccone, who, all told, gathered 14 markers, put the Rams in with a deuce, and two minutes were left to play. Gerry Potts, leading point maker with 16, had just put Albright in the lead 44-43 a couple of minutes before Piccone's goal.

With Mogel and Lee dumping in 17 points' worth, the J.V.'s had overcome a 19-4 deficit given them in the first period. In a previous meeting at Reading, the Rams were barely trimmed 36-34.

Heo Club Names '49-'50 Officers

Discussed during the business meeting were the plans for the March meeting at which time Dr. Oscar Granger will speak on "Family Education." The sending of money to the international scholarship fund which aids students and foreign students was also explained.

Greek Statesman Suggests We Make Ideas Contagious

"The Great Democracy and the Smaller Nations" was the subject presented by Andre Michalopoulos in last Tuesday's Chapel. Michalopoulos was well received by all, although it must be admitted that many statements which he made were a little too deep for the audience. His informal and friendly spirit, along with a cultured speaking voice, captured our attention from the start.

"American Historical Tradition and Democracy," states Michalopoulos. He went on to say that we of the younger generation have vigilance and wisdom in present day affairs. "The small nations of western Europe are in fear of Russia, and do not know how much help they will receive from the United States. . . . There is a direct peril from Communism. There is not, however, a conflict of ideologies in the world today. Russians have no ideology, they change their meaning under different circumstances."

Successful Policy

The speaker went on to pose the question why the Russian policy is so successful. He explained by showing how the Nazis did a thorough job of destroying the fibres of democracy throughout Europe; how Hitler broke down the capitalistic system which is so essential to democracy; and how the people in these countries accept the statement by Russia that our government is rotten. Michalopoulos said, "Communism thrives on the misery of people."

A vacuum has been created and it must be filled with something. "Either Communism will fill it, as it has been doing, or democracy will fill it," stated the speaker. We are called upon to lead the Western World, and the powers

As Old Man Winter Came to Campus

I.R.C. Hears Talk On Korean Affair

The International Relations Club of Albright met with its counterpart from Ursinus College on Wednesday evening, February 16, at 7:30 p. m. in the Lower Social Room. Dr. Harry F. Weber, administrative head of all colleges and universities in the American occupational zone in Korea, was the guest speaker.

"Asia's Thumb" was the topic of Dr. Weber's address in which he first gave a brief historical review of the political and social development of Korea up to the present day. "The Japanese have long considered the Korean Peninsula, the Thumb, as a dagger in their backs," said Dr. Weber. As a result the Japanese have used this as a pretense for their domination over Korea for forty years preceding the Second World War.

Key to Asia

At the present time the Russian Government occupies all Korean territory north of the 38th parallel. Korea is democracy's key to Asia and it is important the United States retain this small land area which is at the present seemingly insignificant, because the natural wealth of Korea is largely under Russian control in the north.

China, as a democratic nation, is lost, and our zone of Korea is only foot hold we have from which to extend democracy in Asia, explained Dr. Weber.

The Pi Gamma Mu, honorary social science fraternity, and the Christian Visitation Team attended the meetings. Doris Downes was in charge of the refreshments which were served after the meeting.
