

I. R. C. To Send Four Delegates To Model U.N.O.

A Model United Nations Conference will be held at Lafayette College, Easton, Pennsylvania. The three-day conference, to be held from Thursday, March 28 through Saturday, March 30, will be attended by approximately fifty colleges and universities.

Delegations are limited to four student representatives, plus the faculty adviser from each college. Each delegate will serve on one of the four commissions: legal, political, economic, or social. Each commission will discuss that specified aspect of the countries represented by each delegation.

Albright has been assigned to represent Saudi Arabia; Ursinus, whom the I.R.C. has recently visited, will be the Australian delegation.

The administration of Albright has signified the importance of the conference by paying the thirty dollar entrance fee. An additional charge of three dollars per person will cover expenses at Lafayette.

Dr. Milton W. Hamilton, adviser of the International Relations Club, urges those who are interested to contact him immediately.

TRUSTEES TO HOLD ANNUAL MEETING IN SELWYN HALL

Selwyn Hall Parlors will be the scene of the annual meeting of the Albright College Board of Trustees on Wednesday and Thursday, February 13 and 14. The standing committees of the Board will meet on Wednesday morning, and the first joint session will convene at 1:30 the same day.

Committees of the session will meet in the evening at the Berkshire Hotel and make reports in preparation for the Thursday morning meetings. Two of these committees are the Faculty and Curricula Committee and the School of Theology Administrative Committee.

The Board of Trustees includes thirty men from six conferences of the Evangelical Church: Atlantic, Central Pennsylvania, East Pennsylvania, New England, New York, and Pittsburgh. President of the Board is Judge Fred A. Marx of Reading.

P. R. Office Sponsors Publicity Conference

A two day public relations conference will meet on Albright's campus on February 12 and 13, announces Public Relations Director Lester L. Stabler. Attending the conference will be the district superintendents of the six conferences of the Evangelical Church in this area, the directors of Christian Education and the student secretaries from the same area.

The purpose of the convention is to coordinate the public relations program of the College with that of the churches in securing new students for Albright. The sessions will open in President Harry V. Masters' office, and other meetings will occur in Selwyn Hall Parlors.

Daymen Will Crown King and Queen Valentine

Coronation of King and Queen Valentine will be the highlight of the Daymen's informal Valentine Dance, to be sponsored by Student Council on Friday, February 15, from 8 to 11 o'clock in the College Dining Hall.

Everyone is to drop into the box in the Administration Building a valentine to the man or woman he would most like to have for his valentine, the men sending valentines to the women and women sending them to the men. The man and

E. R. C. History Adds Another Chapter

Sixty Veterans Likely to Enroll In Second Term

More than fifty additional men will swell the enrollment of Albright when the second semester begins on February 6, according to the number of fairly definite prospects listed by the Dean's office. The exact number of new students will be determined on February 4 when registration will be held for them.

Probable Induction

The increased enrollment will be partly balanced by the loss of about a dozen men who expect to be called within the next month or so. The present list of those who may have to leave includes Glenn Bailey, Peter Bohren, Leland Cappel, William Cappel, Joel Gilbert, Frank Hodgkins, Russell Millard, Gerald Opfinger, George Schnabel, William Simmons, Richard Thomas, and Rudy Wallenta.

Servicemen Return

About thirty of the new men are those who were attending Albright before their induction. An additional twenty-five or more new students, most of whom are veterans, are also expected to enroll. Those former students who are expected to register on next Monday are Philip Angstadt, Richard D. Bertolette, Robert Bilinski, James F. Busch, James Bunn, Gilbert R. Feeg, Gerard R. Felter, Russell Guensch, Richard Hagmayer, William R. Hechler, Robert W. Hertzog, Paul Jensen, Paul Johnson, James E. Kase, Raymond W. Kent, and George Lamberson.

New Veterans

College to Welcome Students at Dinner

An all-campus Fellowship dinner to welcome new students entering in the second term is being sponsored by the Combined "Y's", Student Council, and the Administration. The banquet will be served in the College Dining Room on the evening of February 12.

Approximately 230 students and faculty members will participate at the dinner at which all new students and their wives will be guests of the school. Although the final program has not yet been arranged, it will probably include as speakers President Harry V. Masters, Dean George W. Walton, and Public Relations Director Lester L. Stabler.

Mr. Stabler is representing the administration in making plans for the dinner, while Irene Fisher, Y.W. president, is handling the combined "Y" part of the work. Herbert Hyman, as chairman of the Student Council Orientation Committee, heads the Student Council share in the planning.

Three Will Graduate At Ceremony Feb. 6 In Prexy's Office

Three students will qualify for their degrees at the end of this semester and will receive their diplomas at a ceremony held in President Harry V. Masters' office on February 6.

Eleanor Wentzel, an accelerated student, will receive her B.S. as a history major; she plans to enter teaching. Jesse Newcomer will receive his B.S. in social science. He is enrolled at the Evangelical School of Theology and is a minister in the Central Pennsylvania conference of the Evangelical Church.

Ray Thorpe, who will receive his B.S. in social science, has been outstanding as a Navy flier since the beginning of the war. Operating as a squadron leader from an aircraft carrier, Thorpe is the most decorated of all the Lions in the Ranks. He is now testing new planes for an eastern plane production company.

Sadie Hawkin's Dance Another Feb. Feature

The Women's Dormitory Council will sponsor its annual "Sadie Hawkins' Dance" in the College Dining Hall on February 8. Women have this annual opportunity to choose their dates from the male population, call for them, escort them to the dance, see that they have a good time and escort them home again. The women also pay the admission price which is $.50 per couple.

All decorations, entertainment, and refreshments will be in the hill-billy style. Girls will provide their dates with vegetable corsages and some dressed in the Daisy May and Lil' Abner tradition.

Grace Miller and Gloria McKittrick are the co-chairmen for the affair and their committee consists of the Dorm Council. The membership of the Dorm Council includes Joan House, Eileen Schell, Betty Jane Leinbach, Shirley Rekoon, Mary Alice Lippert, Joy Cutler, Marjorie Christ, and Rita Duncavage, president.

Woman receiving the highest number of valentines will be crowned king and queen at the ball, after the names of the winners are announced. Warren Pfost will deliver the valentines.

The valentine theme will prevail with appropriate decorations and heart thrones for the king and queen.

It was a blustery February day three years ago (when this year's seniors were freshmen), that President Masters shook the hand of Bob Shapiro and twenty-two other Albrightians who left in a body to enter the U. S. Army. Few seniors have forgotten the bewilderment they felt when they heard that the E.R.C. was being called to active duty. Never will anyone who sat in that chapel on February 17, 1943 forget the lump in his throat and the mist in his eyes as twenty-three men marched away to war.

Now another February is almost here—February 1946, and another chapter of the history of this picture is about to be written. For President Masters may again shake the hand of some of these very men now returning from the Ranks to become Albrightians once more. Little by little these men are becoming re-absorbed into civilian life and the history of the picture is being completed.

Albright cherishes this picture, for it is symbolic of what has happened to Albright during the war years. True, there were many other Lions who answered their country's call, and they went slowly by two's and three's. We did not always notice their absence immediately, but then suddenly it was there—that empty feeling, that sense of irreparable loss, that saddened wondering whether we would ever see them again.

The story of what has happened to the men in this picture is typically the story of what has happened to all of Albright's heroes under the colors. Some will never return; some have already come back and received their degrees; more are coming this semester; others will remain in the armed forces and a few we may lose sight of.

Beginning at the bottom of the picture, left is George Manderbach, one of the veterans who plans to re-enter Albright in February. Next is Bob Bilinski who has just been discharged from the Army and is still uncertain as to his future plans. Behind Bob is Reed Frederick who was discharged in time to re-enter in September 1944; he hopes to graduate next summer.

Bob Shapiro, shaking hands with President Masters, is stationed at Bolling Field, Washington, D.C. Behind Bob and next to him are Alexis Zervos and Walter Keller, the first of whom was in the Pacific at our last information and had hoped to return to Albright for this semester; Keller is still overseas in Germany.

Eugene Pierce is present on his way home from Germany and may be lucky enough to get back in time to start second semester. Walter (Chick) Melick received his degree in May 1943, having earned enough additional credits in Army training to qualify him for graduation. Behind him is Paul Kimmel who recently turned up in civilian clothes and announced his intention to return either in June or next September. Saul Pokrass, standing beside President Masters, is one who will never return; he was reported killed in action in the South Pacific in July 1944.

In the back at the left is Bob Merkel who was discharged at Christmas time; he is enrolled at the Wharton School of Business in Philadelphia. The big fellow in the back is Harold Ulmer; he is now discharged and enrolled at Franklin and Marshall as a pre-med. Next are Robert Dombro and Kenneth Ness, both of whom are overseas, the former in Okinawa and the latter in Germany.

John Allen expects to be discharged in March and hopes to re-enter Albright. Beside him stands Jack Teger, the first of the E.R.C. group to be discharged; he returned to Albright and graduated last June. In front of Teger is Ralph Bowers, the only man in the picture whose whereabouts are unknown to us at present.

Kenneth Gebret, next in line, is now discharged and is attending Oberlin College in Ohio. Herb Loyer, according to our last information, was still in the Army serving as a surgical technician in a San Francisco hospital. He also counts on a discharge this Spring and a return to Albright.

Dick Major, who recently returned from Austria, is back in civilian clothes and will enroll for second semester. Marshall (Wash) Maholic expects to return in September. Roy Sharman returned to collect his sheepskin last May as a result of earning credits in Army training. Syd Disend, who was a part of this group but does not appear in the picture, received his degree in May 1943.

If the Shoe Fits . . .

Several weeks ago we wrote an editorial concerned mainly with the word "dependability." We rather apologized for bringing it up. Now we apologize for apologizing. We should have used a sledge-hammer; for the number of people who need to learn the meaning of the word "dependability" is rather shameful, and from all appearances is increasing rather than otherwise.

Look behind the scenes of any campus fiasco, any beautiful project that just didn't quite come off. Look behind the midnight oil bill of a few campus leaders. Look behind the frantic appeals for help and support coming from this and that worthwhile campus activity.

You will find the same Joe standing there, not quite able to look you in the eye. Countless Joes who volunteered for a committee and didn't show up for the meetings. More Joes who want to see their names in the headlines, but can't be found when the time comes to dig in and work. Joes who promise their time and effort, but when the pressure of an exam gets tight for them, will squirm out of the spot.

Some day each of these Joes will discover that it takes more than one grand burst of enthusiasm—it takes consistent plugging and hard work to accomplish anything and to hold his own. Until Joe learns that, we don't expect him to look us straight in the eye.

It's Here to Stay

Isn't it strange how many people are rank conservatives, how many people are against anything that is new? And just the people who want to be considered progressive too. Anything new is bound to meet opposition, and that is just what the idea of the Women's Senate did. The idea had been plugged for many years, but because we had always gotten along without it, it was generally assumed that it would be superfluous.

However, now we can safely say that Women's Senate has proved its right to existence. For by combining the already existing Dorm Council and Daywomen's Council, the Senate composes a joint administrative body which is capable of planning a program for all women on campus which neither body could well do alone.

For instance, take the Career Conference coming up in March. It is timely and significant for women training for careers, as many Albright women are doing. The completeness of the program and the caliber of professional women the Senate is bringing promises to make the Conference a memorable occasion.

The women's handbook put out last fall filled a very empty niche, and the Mardi Gras to be backed by Senate in the spring will hold up the social end of the program.

Congratulations to Women's Senate for promoting a program for Albright's co-eds which not only draws together all women in a common interest, but enriches their academic and social life.

That Others Might Live

It was a real thrill of accomplishment that went through us when we heard the results of the campaign that sent articles of food and clothing to needy families in Europe. It was more than a sense of satisfaction; it was a feeling of gratitude that there really was something tangible we could do to alleviate suffering over there.

For a total of forty boxes were filled and sent—twenty each to a family in Belgium and France. We like to try to picture what that conglomeration of small articles which we take so much for granted will mean to those war ravaged people.

LIONS IN THE RANKS

By JEAN HARER

Now let's see—who were among Albright's distinguished visitors this week?

First, BOB BILINSKI. Last week we said he was being discharged and the next day he appeared in the flesh. He is still undecided about what he is going to do.

GEORGE MANDERBACH has been seen around campus this week. He is getting ready to come back next semester.

JACK WITMAN is back from the South Pacific. Still in service, but home on leave, he dropped in to see about returning to Albright after he is discharged — when, he doesn't know.

DON BUXTON (Bob's brother), just home from the South Pacific and out of uniform only a few days, came back to see his Alma Mater. He is so busy getting acquainted with his baby daughter that he hasn't had time to decide definitely on what he is going to do, but he may go to graduate school.

BOB BATDORF is still in the Navy, but expects a discharge during the spring or summer. He hopes to return to Albright in September.

BOB GANSEL came out last week to say hello. He has been doing work training troops and was home for 10 days before being transferred to another camp. He was at the Kutztown-Albright basketball game too.

Also at that game were BOB SHAPIRO and NEAL HILL, not to mention those fellows who played in the preliminary game — JIMMY BUNN, FLIP ANGSTADT, GENE SHOLENBERGER and RAY CHELIUS.

GEORGE MORFOGEN was on campus for a short time the other day. He is just back from Europe and was out only four days. He'll be here at school next semester.

BRYANT SMITH was here on the same day. Now at Cherry Point, he still hopes to be discharged in time for the second semester. If not, he'll come back next summer.

SAM SEHL is now discharged. He was here with his brother-in-law, who is going to start work here in February.

DICK WEBER has just returned home from the Pacific. While in Saipan he ran into PAT NAPPI and also MARJORIE LEBO. When he was here he was still wearing his uniform, but he expected to be out by the 25th.

Last but not least, RALPH MILLER, out of uniform less than 24 hours, came in recently to make arrangements for the second semester here. He has been everywhere from North Africa to the South Pacific.

Lionizing

By MARION LATTA

When you're chugging up the steep hill past Northeast Junior High and you finally reach the top, you'll see a lone spectre etched darkly against the sky. It sits there alone and forgotten — its windows are cracked; its tires are flat. What is it? It's none other than the loyal, mistreated tin lizzy that once belonged to the partnership of Hyman and Sokol. Now it sits, forsaken and forsook, waiting for someone to adopt it. Suckers—the line forms to the right.

And here's a cheery little note to show you that even when things look the darkest there's a silver lining hiding somewhere. And it didn't take us long to find it. Socially, things will be really booming as soon as we hit campus again after semesters.

February 8th, the dorm women are sponsoring a Sadie Hawkin's Day dance. All of us remember what a great dance it was last year. No kidding, I think everyone will agree it was really "sumpin'". Everyone entered into the spirit of the thing wholeheartedly — Herbie Hyman came sporting a red-gold wig, with Marie Bonner as the bashful Li'l Abner. You'll have two days to grab yourself a man, that is, if you're counting on getting to know a discharged veteran. So come on gals—if Sadie Hawkin could do it, so can we!

Then the following Friday the day students are sponsoring a Valentine's Day Hop. Now the guys can return the favor!

And — something new has been added in the form of the Cue Ball coming up the following Friday, the 22nd. It's formal; it's in the dining hall; there's an orchestra; and it sounds like fun.

Okay kids, snap out of those exam day blues—a short vacation is just around the corner. Chin up — the prof won't eliminate your smiling face from that chem class — you know that!

Lord High Potentate of May Day Plans Snappy Dance Routines in Rainbow Theme

By JEANNE SCHLEGEL

"Ah yes, there's good news tonight"—the dance leaders for May Day are working out dances for that great day which threaten to change the entire pattern of choreography. To the accompaniment of such classics as "Clair de Lune," "Rustlings of Spring" and, Hoagy Carmichael would be pleased to hear this, "Sunrise Serenade," dances are being originated which will be really unusual—yes, they certainly will be.

Meg Hendricks, Lynne Parr, Marion Latta, Christine Schweimler, Pat Herrick, and Rita Duncavage, the "lord high potentate" of May Day, are in charge of the dancing. Since yours truly is doing the accompanying, I can vouch for the fact that they have worked out some lovely arrangements for the dances. However, such divine creating is not always—shall we say — simple. Ask anybody what happens when one attempts a touchette that doesn't quite touch. Ask me, I didn't try it, but one of the girls who did attempt that famous step one day almost landed on her head.

Oh yes, there is nothing like the life of an accompanist. I have played the first page of "Clair de Lune" until I'm likely to get out my B-B gun and take a shot at that orb the next time it comes sailing over Mt. Penn. Either that, or try a touchette myself.

As you all must know by now, the rainbow is to be the theme of May Day. The dances and costumes have been keyed to work in very closely with it. However, we'll be quite happy with just our theme that day. No real rainbows with accompanying showers, thank you.

The May Day dancing classes begin after the semester vacation so if you are planning to follow or falter in the footsteps of Pavlova, we know you will really enjoy the rehearsals. The leaders are all set to swing out with some excellent dances. Swing out, that is.

This week Dandyllion emits a loud and slightly wolfish roar in honor of Mary Beth Schofer — recipient of Dandy's prize poetry.

Mary Beth is a student who accelerated not only academically but socially as well. Yes, the present seniors put her through her freshman paces only to find that she's gonna graduate with the very ones who called her a "lowly frosh." And when we said she accelerated socially as well we meant it. Just ask the Mu's of whom she's president, for proof of that.

Then, you could ask Student Council, too. 'Cause it's Mary Beth who is in charge of all that organization's social functions—the Ivy Ball was under her capable hands as well as scheduling all the Friday night dances.

Then just take a look at the young lady in the red and white skirt and sweater leading the rest of the cheerleaders as well as the students in rousing cheers, and you'll begin to see what we meant by the expression "socially accelerated." Yes, Mary Beth, or "The Duchess" as she is known by some, has her finger in just about every social pie on campus.

The possessor of a sparkling personality, Mary Beth has an enthusiasm and spontaneity about her that is extremely catching as well as pleasant to watch.

Do you wonder that this week Dandy roars so loudly?

Socially Speaking

The much advertised "Janus Jog" sponsored by the freshman class, was pronounced a huge success by all who attended. And that "all" amazingly enough, was a good number of students, freshmen predominating. Evidently the pep talk given to the freshman class during their recent class meeting did some good, and it's a shame the other classes couldn't have reaped its benefits, for upperclassmen were conspicuously absent. Sitting among the cheerleaders, who were Dean Helen Cralice, Librarian Josephine Bayl, and Professor Ernestine Elker, was Miss Rodriguez who even mainly because she considers herself a member of the enterprising freshman class.

The entertainment for the evening included the Glove Quartet made up of Don Sailer, Gerry Hertzog, Frank Hodgkins and Pete Bohren, who sang "Water Boy" and "A Little On The Lonely Side" with much horse play and many corny jokes. Next, the versatile crooner of the freshman class, Rudy Wallenta, sang "Hong Kong Blues," and "I'm in the Mood for Love," accompanied by Gerry Oplinger and Dorothy Seisler. Gerry also played a solo number or two. Then Dorace Hornberger sang "It Might as Well Be Spring" and "Night and Day" with Dot Seisler accompanying her. The program was concluded by a Romeo and Juliet skit done in Berks County Dutch dialect, with Elaine Huber as Juliet and Dorothy Holl as Romeo. More corn.

The dining hall was attractively decorated in red and white and refreshments could be obtained at a gaily decked "bar" in one corner.

Hearty thanks to Jeanie Long and her various committees for a wonderful dance. Fun!

Council Says:

Ruth Rehr, chairman for the Parent's Day program has appointed four new members to her committee: Mildred Kaufman, Gayle Haupt, Ferne Allen, and Jack Shafer. Members previously announced are Christine Schweimler, Newell Wert, and Glenn Bailey.

Council voted to send out letters to organizations when their representatives have missed six Council meetings.

The bonfire previously planned for the Pep Rally preceding the Lebanon Valley game has been cancelled. In place of it, Council will sponsor a pep rally in the College Chapel at noon on February 8. A bus is to be chartered to take Albright students to the Kutztown game, not to the Lebanon Valley game as announced last week.

Council voted to share in the cost of a Combined "Y" and Student Council fellowship dinner for new students in February.

Members absent from last Thursday's meeting were faculty members Professor Anna H. Smith, Professor Lewis E. Smith, and Dr. Harold P. Tripp; Glenn Bailey, Edward Daniels, and Fred Perfect, representing the daymen; Thomas Price and Dick White, representing the Zetas; and Reed Frederick, Pi Tau.

BOY SCOUT ELECTION

The Daniel Boone Council of the Boy Scouts of America have re-elected President Harry V. Masters as their president for another year, in an election held last Wednesday. The Daniel Boone Council is the Reading and Berks County organization of Boy Scouts.

LOCAL PATHOLOGIST

Dr. George P. DesJardins, pathologist at St. Joseph's Hospital, will speak at an open meeting of Skull and Bones on Wednesday, February 6 at 8:00 p. m.

Margaret Hendricks, Rita Duncavage, and Herbert Hyman form the committee in charge of plans for a banquet to be held some time in the spring.

MUSICAL "Y's"

A program of classical music was enjoyed at the meeting of the combined "Y's" which was held last Tuesday evening, January 22. Robert Holtzapfel, co-chairman, introduced each number with appropriate remarks.

Marjorie Christ, who collaborated with Holtzapfel in forming the program, reported an attendance of about twenty-five students. Candy was served and the meeting disbanded about 9:00 p. m.

Editor Urges Support Of 'Cue' and Dance

Support of the "Cue" and attendance at the Cue-Ball, to be held February 22 in the College Dining Hall, was the theme of the talk which June Plowfield, editor of the yearbook, gave to the junior and senior classes last Thursday.

Miss Plowfield outlined the difficulties which the editorial staff of the yearbook is having, and asked any members of the two classes who are able to offer their help either in the office or in soliciting advertisements and patrons. She urged anyone interested to apply to herself or to Joy Cutler, business manager of the "Cue," immediately.

Final plans for the Cue-Ball, which will be a formal affair, have not yet been completed.

program last Tuesday morning. He pictured the earth as it might be viewed by scientists from a distant planet in the day when the destructive power of atomic energy is released.

In view of the critical world situation, Professor Green pointed out, man must learn to recognize the existence of a Higher Power in order to find the love necessary to live at peace with his fellow men.

PLEDGE PLANS

The Pi Tau Beta fraternity has drawn up a tentative list of pledges for whom they are planning a luncheon and a "smoker" to be held about the second or third week of February. Fredrick Perfect is in charge of that program. Plans are still in progress for the Alumni Association.

FRATERNITY TALK

Kenneth Good was in charge of a cultural meeting held by the APO fraternity. His topic was "Square Living." The high lights of his speech were religious, physical, social, and educational sides of living.

Jo College Learns Secrets of Job-Hunting

"What should I wear to apply for a job? What questions is the interviewer going to ask? Should I name the salary which I would like to receive?" All these questions and more were aptly answered by Miss Elouise Buck, vocational guidance director for the Katherine Gibbs school, in a half-hour talk last Thursday with the junior and senior women of Albright.

A charming advertisement for her own advice, Miss Buck, in a smart black suit trimmed in gold, told the women of the points which, in her experience, have proved essentials in the conduct of a job interview. Illustrating her remarks with personal stories, she emphasized the importance of wearing that correct, well-pressed suit, fresh blouse, immaculate gloves, and hat, but definitely, a hat. Even the way an applicant wears her hair may be very important to her chances of getting the job, said the tall, attractive counselor, as she told the story of an office girl who almost drove her employer into nervous fits with the way in which her long, flowing tresses were always on the verge of being caught in the typewriter keys.

Miss Buck next underlined the importance of being prepared for every eventuality in the interview. For the job applicant, she advocates cornering her dad the night before and making him impersonate the interviewer as she rehearses practically her every moment from the time she enters the reception office until the moment she leaves by the same door. The girl who walks in with poise, speaks with quiet assurance, and even returns a handshake with a firm grip will undoubtedly go up considerably in the estimation of the prospective employer.

As she filed out after the lecture Josephine College said to herself, "There's a gal who really knows her stuff! I hope I can remember all she said."

Albright to Meet Scranton Squad In Return Game

On Saturday, February 2, the Albright Lions will face the cagey Scranton University quintet on the Northwest gym floor. The Scranton five are out to avenge the 41-35 defeat they suffered at the hands of the rejuvenated Lions when they clashed with Albright on their stamping ground.

Albright nipped the Tomcats for their second victory with some classy maneuvering in the last quarter. At first, the Kelly-Griglock-Svetalovich combination outpointed the Lions, but as the score mounted in favor of the Red and White, assuredness pulled the Albright squad ahead to win the neck-in-neck contest. Lillis, Cappel and Thomas collected the buckets for the winners while Denia, Kelly and Griglock shared honors for the losers.

Albright's winning streak will be tested on Saturday when the Red and White team will meet the University squad for the first return game of the season. Whether Albright can again turn the trick, and hold the fast veteran passers will show the strength of Coach Harris' inexperienced squad. The Lions are fast gaining the ways of college ball, and will be an even greater threat to the purple and white, while the Tommies will have a second chance to upset a close game.

FEMME SPORTS

The Albright girls dropped their second important decision of the season to Ursinus by a 28-10 score. Two sets of fast, sharpshooting Ursinus forwards outplayed and outscored the Lionesses all the way except in the final quarter when scrappy, alert guarding by the combination of Savidge, Schwartz and Borgstrom held forward opposition and enabled a 5-4 edge for Albright.

Score at half time registered an 18-9 lead for the Collegeville players and a second half scoring splurge put the visitors up to 28, allowing the hostesses only one point. Slow, shoddy passing and failure to convert foul shots marked the downfall of the Lionesses who had to pin their scoring hopes on Ginny Woerle's capable pivot shooting.

APO's Win 67-8 Zetas Take 2nd

Harting Collects 25 Pts. Buxton Stars for Zetas

Last Wednesday night the undefeated APO basketball team once more took undisputed championship in the intramural practice league by thrashing the Daymen 67 to 8. The Zetas retained second place by winning a victory over the Pi Tau-Dorm team 53 to 25.

For the APO's, Butch Harting was the star with 25 points and only one foul. Dick Gable and Jack Shaffer together garnered a total of 23 more points for the winning team. Al Fisher was top scorer for the Daymen. At the end of the first quarter the score was 13 to 0 in favor of the APO's making the outcome of the game certain.

In the Zeta, Pi Tau-Dorm game, Bob Buxton, captain of the Zeta "bare-backs," did some fancy shooting to add 14 points to the Zeta tally. Skippy Ertel and Bob Holtzapple were also high scorers for the Zetas. Abe Markowitz made top-scoring honors for the Pi Tau-Dorm team, while Steve Winter made top-fouling honors with eight fouls.

Side Lions

This is supposed to be a column on "sports." But how many of you readers really know what the word sport means? It is more than a game; it is not just a contest where success depends upon strength, skill, and luck, nor is it a system of training. Sport is a pastime... recreation, diversion; it is the frolic of an athletic game, any game of skill or anything you do. Sport isn't an activity entered into for competition; it is not the name of a game... it's the amusement of the seeing or participating. Yes, sport is fun... win or lose, if you've enjoyed the playing, if you've had pleasant pastime... then you've indulged in sport.

The foremost question on the minds of Albrightians these days is, "Who is going to get the post as football mentor at our Alma Mater next year?" As far as we know the Athletic Council has not as yet definitely decided upon the man to handle the coaching job.

After looking over the records we find that there are several alumni of the school who might well be able to take care of the coaching responsibilities. Dick Riffle, former Albright All-American has an excellent record both as a professional football player and as a coach. Riffle assisted former coach Bill Dietz on several occasions after his graduation.

Moose Disend, another member of the squad the year Albright defeated Georgetown, has also made a name for himself as a gridiron man. Moose, upon graduation, entered pro-ball and later coached the campus sport. In Disend's first year as high school coach his team won the New Jersey State Championship. Red Wood's former school quarterback has earned a fine record as high school coach at Roselle Park, N. J.

Ed Cammarota, also a former Albright luminary, has done almost phenomenal work at Wyoming High School. His team was one of the best in the county during the past season. Bill Firing another Berks coach has kept Shillington High in the running as Berks Champs for the last four years. "Scoop" Clemens, Albright quarterback of the 1920's, broke into the football picture last year by guiding his Muhlenberg team to a good year. Mike Bonner and Johnny Haldemen, are two other bright-lights who might figure in the football picture.

Coach Neal O. Harris has been giving talks on basketball throughout the county. Recently the Albright mentor spoke at the Wyoming Boosters Club. His talk covered styles of play. In another lecture at Sinking Springs High School the coach discussed the qualities of an athlete with the High Y Club.

Concerning the basketball team's coming trip to Buffalo, N. Y. Coach Harris made a suggestion which is worth noting. The director suggested that the team get a plane to go to Buffalo. He points out that the cost involved would not be nearly as great as if the trip were taken by other means.

Lions Win 4th From La Salle Cappel Leads Pace Garnering 26 Points

On Wednesday evening, January 23, Albright extended its winning streak to four straight wins against six losses by conquering LaSalle College at Philadelphia in the major upset of the season. It was the first meeting of the two schools.

Albright led the Explorers the entire evening, never being behind in the score. Lee Cappel, the Lions' tall, lanky pivot man, had a field day with nine basket and eight foul shots for a total of 26 points.

The First Quarter

The first quarter was evenly fought, the score being tied three times at 4-4, 6-6 and 8-8. Kubisen, Gross, and Cappel changed the complexion of the game with 4, 2, and 1 points respectively. McGuire a scrappy guard, Thompson, the spectacular basket-maker, and center Crawford accounted for LaSalle's points. Score at end of first quarter Albright 15, LaSalle 9.

Maintain Edge

Second quarter was very close with Thompson's photo underhand shot putting the score at 11-15 Albright's favor. Bobby Walters, LaSalle's contender for Philadelphia scoring laurels, collected two buckets, followed by Glass' one-hander. Thompson's follow-up shot raised the ante to 18-17. The rest of the quarter LaSalle came within one point again of the Lions, 20-21. Cappel and Kubisen made the Harrismen feel easier at half time by bringing the score to 26-22, favor Albright.

Lions Stack Score

The third stanza was a memorable period for Cappel and the Lions. Opening with baskets by Kubisen, Lillis on a fast break and Glass dribbling in from center. Albright attained a four-point lead at 35-31. Emrich and McGuire then contributing, made it 37-35. Here is where Lee Cappel glided with 10 points, 8 from baskets, 2 from fouls. McGuire and Thompson kept LaSalle fighting with a basket each. End of third quarter, 49-38—Albright.

LaSalle Comeback

LaSalle came roaring back in the exciting finale. With Kubisen out on fouls at the end of the third quarter, LaSalle collected two foul shots and a bucket by substitute Hauer. Score now 50-42. Witman hit the cords, followed by a barrage from the Explorers. Thompson sank the first basket, with Walters' two heart-breaking shots sailing clean through the cords, closing the gap at 52-48.

On double foul Hauer tallied, Seifert missed and then Thompson added insult to injury with a beauty,

Lions Down E-town, 49-32 For Fifth Win

On Saturday, January 26, Albright College's roaring Lions rolled over a stubborn Elizabethtown quintet for their fifth straight victory, 49-32. The Albright passers, led by guards Bernie Lillis and Joe Kubisen, had little trouble with the visitors after the first quarter.

Hectic First Period

It was mainly through Joe Kubisen's foul shooting that Coach Neal Harris' boys kept in the running in that tight first quarter, and it was Joe's five fouls that tied the score eleven-all at the end of the quarter, after Shirk and Hirver led the Liz-zies to an 11-8 lead.

Lillis Breaks Loose

The second quarter opened with Kubisen adding his sixth foul to put the Lions ahead to stay. At this point, Bernie Lillis took over and sank two nice one-handed shots. After Keith retaliated with a pivot shot to close the gap to 16-14, the roof fell in on the E-town passers as Lillis and Company scored thirteen straight points, and the half ended with Albright enjoying a comfortable 30-17 lead.

Dull Second Half

From the spectators' standpoint, the second half was dry. The Lancaster Countians solved the Albright offense, but they themselves could do little, as the Red and White outscored them in both the third and fourth quarters.

Bernie Lillis was hot and broke away for three nice sleeper shots. The Liz-zies were woefully weak on the foul stripe and only put six out of 23 tries through the hoop, while Albright converted for 17 out of 28.

ing the game at 51-52. With four minutes to go, Emrich dunked one from center of foul circle, with Thompson following through to delight the LaSalle rooters with 53-54 score. Cappel to the rescue again, tallied a goal and a foul. Then Witman had a tap in and McGuire a basket, putting the numerals at 59-55. Glass scored a lay up shot, Lillis fouled out and Cappel again shot from under the basket.

Desperation seized LaSalle—they scored a foul shot, 61-56. Then Ulrich for Lillis fouled Walters three times in a row to stem his lust for a basket. Taking the ball in mid-court, Walters in the last five seconds scored LaSalle's final basket and with the clock stopped for the end of the game, he sank a foul putting the final score at 63 for Albright and 59 for LaSalle.
