Owen J. Davis To Speak

Honor Student Selected As Senior Orator

Owen J. Davis has been chosen student orator for the Albright College commencement exercises, June 7, Dean George W. Walton announced today.

A member of the graduating class, Davis is an honor student, president of the Zeta Omega Epsilon fraternity, and a member of Pi Gamma Mu and FTA.

A social science major, Davis has been awarded a fellowship to Syracuse University for next year. He is married to the former Judith Ann Flickinger of West Reading.

Davis served in the U. S. Army for a year and a half, returning to Albright for his senior year last September. He is presently residing at 1533 Perkiomen Ave., Reading.

Campus Groups Enter Mardi Gras

The annual Mardi Gras is scheduled for tonight from 8:00 to 11:00 on the parking lot across from the physical education building, it was announced by Jim Barrett and Jack Fetterman, co-chairmen. Twelve campus organizations have announced their intention to participate in this student council sponsored event.

Included in the evening's festivities will be games of skill and chance and refreshments. Along the midway will be found the following: Home Economics Organization—pizza pie and birch beer; Kappa Tau Chi—Hot dogs and french fries; Dormitory Council—ice cream sandwiches and candy apples; Daywomen's Council—root beer and pretzels; Daymen—duck throw; Phi Beta Mu—hot dogs and birch beer and argyle socks; Pi Alpha Tau—barbecue and cake and lemonade; Zeta Omega Epsilon—nickle pitch, cane toss, dart throw, ball roll; Pi Tau Beta—nickle pitch, ice cream and waffles, car shoot; Kappa Upsilon Phi—shuffleboard, baseball throw, ping-pong throw, dart throw; Alpha Pi Omega—tomato toss, penny pitch, golf, shot-put, and show; Chemical society—basketball throw.

All students and friends are urged to attend and support the organizations.

FTA Plans Banquet For Master Teachers

All student teachers, master teachers, and principals of high schools in the vicinity of Reading, numbering 65, will be entertained at the F.T.A. banquet, Wednesday, May 20, in the college dining hall at 6:30 p. m. A well known educator will be speaker.

New officers of the year 1953-54 will be introduced. They are: Jacquelyn Zwoyer, president; Jean Hook, vice-president; Phyllis Gruber, secretary; and Neal Krape, treasurer.

The purpose of this banquet is to maintain friendly relationships between student teachers, master teachers, and school administrators.

Dean LeVan P. Smith is the club advisor.

Senior Prom Tickets Can Now Be Purchased

Tickets are now on sale for the senior prom, Jane Lausch, the general chairman, announced today. The price of the dinner-dance tickets are $3.50 for steak and $2.75 for fried shrimp; the dance tickets are $2.00 per couple.

The ticket committee includes Jane Lausch, Carolyn Moyer, Dorothy Kuettel, William Himmelman, William Masters and Carl Stohler. Miss Lausch also stated that the tickets must be bought before the last class.

Dean To Schedule Calendar Changes

Meetings of organizations and groups for 1953-54 will be scheduled for the same time and place as this year unless a written request for a change is presented to the Dean of Women during the week of May 11-15. Requests for changes must be signed by the president and advisor of the organization.

Dates for extra social events, such as banquets, dances, etc., should also be submitted during the week of May 11-15 on blanks which may be secured from the Office of the Dean of Women.

Men To Receive Honorary Degrees

J. Lee Bauscher, Hartwell H. Fassnacht and Reed O. Steely will receive honorary degrees at the Albright College commencement exercises, June 7, President Harry V. Masters has announced. Andrew W. Cordier, previously announced speaker for the occasion, will also be so honored.

Bauscher, of 1802 Hill Road, is president of the Manufacturers' Association of Berks County and vice president of the state group, chairman of the Reading City Planning Commission and president of Infants Socks, Inc. of this city.

Fassnacht, of Wenonah, N. J., and alumnus of Albright, is an authority on explosives, having achieved the formulation of a plastic demolition explosive used during World War II. He has been employed by E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co. since 1930.

Steely, of Williamsport, Pa., has for the past seven years been superintendent of the Central Pennsylvania Conference of the Evangelical United Brethren Church. He is presently a member of the Council of Administration and of the Board of Christian Education of the general church.

A graduate of Dartmouth College, Bauscher is chairman of Governor John S. Fine's Textile Study Commission in Pennsylvania in addition to his many local church activities and social affiliations. He will receive the LL.D. degree.

Granted the Ph.D. degree from Columbia in 1931, Fassnacht holds patents on accelerants for gelation of nitrocellulose by nitroglycerin. In 1950 he was awarded an Albright Alumni citation for achievements in science. He will receive the Sc.D. degree.

Before entering the full-time service in the Christian ministry, Steely was trained in business administration. He has served as Juvenile Court Officer of Centre County and Chaplain of the Pennsylvania State Senate. He will be awarded the D.D. degree.

Elizabeth Martin To Rule As Queen At Parents' Weekend Festivities

Coronation Set For Tomorrow

78 Albright Women To Take Part In Event

The spotlight of Parents' Weekend will fall upon Elizabeth Martin as she is crowned Queen of the May at the annual festival to be held tomorrow afternoon at 1:30. 78 of Albright's women students will participate in the ceremony which will take place on the campus in front of the library. Attending Miss Martin as Maid of Honor will be Patricia Miller. Patricia Kennedy and Phoebe Hunter will direct the affairs as Mistress of Ceremonies and Custodian of the Crown respectively. In the W.A.A. sponsored elections, Annetta Deussen, Nancy Lou Hawman, Dolores High, Julia Leinbach, Marilyn Miller and Patricia Schearer were chosen to reign on the Queen's Court of Honor.

The traditional procession will be headed by the pages, Barbara Bliss and Barbara Burbank. The group will also include the crown bearer, Margaret Kane; train bearers, Jeanette Mayer and Joan Nielson; senior women; junior women; the Ballet dancers, and Patricia Upezak. Following the crowning of the Queen, the group of freshmen and sophomores will perform a ballet. Miss Upezak will do a solo number to be followed by the Maypole dance which will be done by the junior women.

Activities Include Banquet

The other activities scheduled for the parents and friends on Saturday will be numerous and varied. From 9:30 to 12:00 a. m. all the buildings on campus will be opened for visitors. Coffee will be served in Selwyn Parlor from 10:00 to 11:00 a. m., at which time the visitors will have time to become acquainted with one another.

After the coronation, the Lion baseball team will play Seton Hall on Kelchner Field.

At 6:00 p. m. a banquet will be served in Krause Hall to the parents, friends and students. Jack Sudol will M.C. the program which will include two guest speakers. The parent speaker will be Mrs. Luther Weik, mother of Ann Weik, a junior day student. Talking for the students will be Owen Davis, '53. The faculty and administrators' address will be given by Dr. Harry V. Masters, president of Albright College.

Saturday's full day of entertainment will be concluded in the evening by the music festival, which will be held in the gymnasium at 8:00. The music will be brought to the audience by the combined Drexel and Albright Colleges' Glee Clubs.

Chapel Service To Be Held Sunday

The Pi Alpha Tau sorority will begin Sunday's activities at 10:00 a. m. with their traditional tree-planting ceremony.

Dean LeVan P. Smith, Dean of Men and head of the education department, will be the speaker at the worship service. Starting at 1:00 a. m. the service will take place in the White Chapel.

The noon dinner, to be served in the dining hall at 1:00, will end the Parent-Weekend activities for another year. The weekend has been dedicated to the pleasure of the parents and friends of all Albrightians.

Robert Bieler Elected Student Council Veep

At a meeting of the student council on Tuesday afternoon new officers for the coming year were elected. Robert Bieler, '54, was elected vice-president. Corresponding secretary is Leda Mas-yotis, '53, and Carole Anhouse, '54 is the newly elected recording secretary. Also elected was James Hall, '55, as treasurer.

Student Council passed approval on the new constitution after it had faculty revision. The constitution is now awaiting approval by the student body.

Graduation Exercises To Be Held Outside

At the last meeting of the senior class William Schmidt, president, announced that commencement exercises will be held in front of Selwyn Hall, as it has been in previous years. A request was made by the senior class to follow the tradition that has been followed after announcement by the administration that the exercises would be held in the new gymnasium. The administration considered the request of the students and consented to the change as they felt the class would appreciate the outside atmosphere and scenery.

Music Festival Program Listed

The Spring Musical Festival will be held tomorrow evening, May 9, at 8:00 p. m., in the physical education building. The event will be presented by the combined vocal and instrumental groups of Albright College and Drexel Institute of Technology, of Philadelphia, under the direction of Hans Nix and Dr. John Duddy of Albright, and Dr. Wallace Heaton of Drexel Institute.

The program will begin with the orchestra playing the national anthem, followed by the "Grand March from Aida" by Verdi. The combined choirs will then sing "Pacific Grandeur" by Olivadotti, Thimian's "Immortal Invisible," "Arioso" by Bach, and "Excerpts from Piano Concert #2" by Rachmaninoff will be the next presentations of the orchestra. Following this the choral group will give a series of numbers, including Christiansen's "Wake Awake," Noble's "Soul of the Righteous," Cain's "De Gospel Train," and Strickling's "Stodola Pumpa."

The orchestra and chorus will then present "Builders of America" by McDonald, and the orchestra will continue the program with "March Slave" by Tchaikovsky. The closing numbers will include the combined choirs singing "Russian Picnic" by Enders and Mendelssohn's "Cast Thy Burden Upon the Lord"; and the orchestra and chorus will conclude with "Gloria (From Mass in B flat)" by Farmer.

Education For Degree Only

The word "apathy" has been used so often to describe Albright's student government that it is becoming a hackneyed expression with no significance. Very rarely, however, are reasons put forth to explain this state of affairs which is deemed to be peculiar to Albright College. It is in fact to be found generally in colleges, graduate schools, factories, offices, churches, and any other place where people use an institution or establishment as a means to an end rather than as a value in itself.

The reason for campus apathy lies in our whole concept of education. Education is treated as a means to a degree which will act as an additional layer of armor in the ensuing struggle for success and recognition. Under such a philosophy the "mark" assumes distorted importance and the redigestion of facts are only a formality to insure the mark. Thought and reflection become unnecessary burdens and are often suspiciously regarded as "bown-nosing" and affectations.

Such an attitude is very understandable. Unless one is able to ascend to great intellectual heights, his success will be recognized only by his material gains. To this end a college education is unnecessary as compared to the diploma. To be sure the degree seves other purposes also. It provides the recipient with another reason to consider himself above average and elevated from the "masses."

This may seem like a rather obscure explanation for apathy but it is undoubtedly true, that "a college education goes too often to the head rather than the mind."

We're For The Idiots Too

(From The Hullabaloo, Tulane University, La.):

We're for the idiots, the poor, stumbling, stupid idiots who come to college every year unable to take care of themselves. We feel real sorry for them, but we still like 'em.

College administrations all over the country, and at Tulane, too, have in recent years developed a policy of caring for these "idiots." These poor guys and gals are unable to take care of themselves, university authorities believe.

Dormitory supervisors, counsellors, house mothers, and advisers are all being crammed down our throats to "help us, guide us, keep us on the straight and narrow."

The universities, rightly, point to the early thirties and late twenties when college youth was wild, wooly and completely irresponsible. Then they turn around, rightly again, and say today's college youth is more mature, more responsible, than his counterpart of 20 years ago. Why, then, do we need more supervision?

We believe a certain amount of supervision is necessary, sure . . . College students need guidance, we agree. They have a certain responsibility to their university and to their fellow students. And they should be forced to live up to these responsibilities.

But they don't need to be coddled, "mothered" or "babied" in the process. How are you going to teach them to stand on their own feet if you constantly give them an easy chair?

We have faith in these "idiots." Their less responsible . . . parents came through their college years fairly unscathed. We honestly think we can do it, too."

Ah, But It's Bliss!

Balmy breezes, pending sneezes,
Baggy eyes, weary sighs,
No ambition, failing mission—
Such is Albright's spring condition.

Tripping Through The Picas—

Inasmuch as you, dear reader, have gotten this far into this paper, whether inspired by morbid curiosity or just plain boredom, I feel that a few lines are needed to guide you on your way through with a minimum of effort. So we are going to take a painless, no-clutch-no-shift, all-wool-but-the-buttons, thirty-day-guarantee trip through this publication, in which you will be advised of the high points and pitfalls therein.

On the front page we find all sorts of news stories, such as who will say what when in some obscure Chapel Cultural Program (fanfare, please) in the distant future, and what happened last week around Albright, as if anyone is really interested. Also on the front page are results of elections, coming social events, and other things which any college paper should contain. The front page, we see, is like the front page of nearly any small-community newspaper. Now we turn to the second page.

The second, or feature page, is unlike any printed piece of paper anywhere in the world, or out of the world, for that matter. Here are the orphan articles which never get on the front page because they aren't news, and are never discarded because they are needed to continue on the last page and fill space. Part of the feature page is used for editorials. An editorial is, according to the well-thumbed dictionary leveling our pin-ball machine (short leg), "An article in a newspaper or magazine giving the editor's views or those of the person or persons in control of the paper; a leader."

For the sake of accuracy we look up "leader" and find "A guide; conductor." Conductor leads us to "One in charge of a public conveyance." Anyway, you get the idea. That part of the feature page not devoted to conveying the public is used for feature articles. Feature articles include science fiction, political arguments, science fiction, jokes, science fiction, debates on communism, debates on smoking somewhere on campus, and science fiction. In addition there may be an article or two like this one, designed to fill the 836½ word space left late Monday afternoon when the paper goes to press. I have often argued that some useful utilization of the space would be preferable, a picture of Marilyn Monroe, for instance. However, the decision is not mine.

The third page of the paper is devoted to sports. A very accurate and well-written account of each sport activity may be found there, and with some a clever reason why we lost to Weybelee Normal, etc. or Carpet Tech. A must for the sports addict, especially if his five spot was riding on A. C. instead of Weybelee.

The last page contains news of goings-on among the various organizations on campus. Now and then there is an advertisement for chlorophyll shaelaces or odorless perfume. From time to time there is an article informing us that the school library has just received a

Science Slants

We have finally returned from our laboratory high in the Canadian Rockies to unveil some startling facts concerning poly-dimensional technology. The sudden spurt of scientific advances at Albright as evidenced by recent lunar explorations and poly-dimensional studies has been for the most part hidden under the cloak of ultra-governmental secrecy, but we would like to give you an idea what we are doing.

Dr. U. B. Long and Dr. A. Tome have been experimenting for years in conjunction with the ultra-secret Department of Quasi-Physics at Albright in the realm of poly-dimensional technology.

The obliquity of a fourth dimension was felt with the invention of the first trans-telechirograph. This instrument recorded handwritten messages which became distorted when used with high frequencies. Later, the high frequency distortion was proved to be effected by the elliptic clipping of Z-waves which apparently originated in another realm of activity now known as the fourth dimension. This discovery (1939) was superseded by the formal announcement that Albright Quasi-Physicists had assembled the first (still highly secret) telanthropic transducer which successfully "shifted" or "blasted" an object into the fourth dimension. This was discovered entirely by accident by scientists who were attempting to fabricate a better wireless transcending system, utilizing an old telechirograph. Actually, human beings were not yet shifted into the fourth dimension by this earlier mechanism.

"Why bother with all this," you may ask? To answer this, let's consider a two dimensional world. In two dimensions, we may en-

The Brando Look

Many months of classes have passed and with them the days of cutting classes, holding gab sessions in the SUB (pardon me, Sarah Krause Hall) and all the general festivities of being a college student. I can't say that I'm sorry to see spring approach, but it just makes me realize that a deadly and crucial time in the life of all college scholars is about to take place. I do not call "them" or "it" by their classification for even thinking of "them" makes my hair stand on end (if a poodle cut can stand on end) and a slight groan escapes from between my clenched teeth.

You know what I'm referring to—when the women forget lipstick, have uncombed stresses, wear bobby sox at half mast, and exhibit a perpetual frown; and when men slouch around with bloodshot eyes, wrinkled and stained clothes, unshaven faces, and blank stares. All students become brothers of the same fraternity, whose motto is "Together we cheat and pass, divided we study and fail." Bleary eyes showing coffee cups instead of pupils glance up from open books as people collide on Maple Lane with a familiar phrase whispered from half-closed mouths, "Must get the bags under my eyes initialed as soon as possible." Household pets receive many vicious assaults as students see visions of their professors leering before them. All in all we're the most persecuted and plagued people in the world and the season creates more complexes than those at Wernersville.

Yes, you'd better exercise your fingers and fill your pens for final exams are here again with more reality than the dreams we had of carefree college days.—D.K.

V-Day Moratorium

With Apologies To Byron

The Valentine came down like the wolf to the fight,
And his cohorts were gleaming in scarlet and white;
And the weight of their power made students unfond
Of the environment around shallow Selwyn Pond.

Like the leaves of the campus when Spring is in preen,
The students with their smiles at sunset were seen:
Like the trees of the forests when Winter is bleak,
The students on the morrow stood barren and peak.

For the Angel of Sorrow spread his wings o'er the mass,
And breathed in their faces his miserable gas;
And the eyes of the students waxed deadly and chill,
And their hearts heav'd softly 'til they almost were still.

And there sat a flunker with his nostrils all wide,
But through them barely rolled the breath of his pride;
And the sound of his gasping lay thick in the room
As solemn as the hought of his prevailing doom.

And their lies another so distorted and pale
With the sweat on his brow and no thought to be hale.
And the Dorms were all silent, the books all alone,
The pencils unlifted, the owners so prone.

And the parents of students are loud in their wail
That their hopes are broken as their protege fail.
But the might of the instructors stands high in accord
Still supported as usual by the Red Pen's Sword. J.W.

Albright In Review

Diamondmen Oppose Seton Hall Tomorrow

by Pete La Rocco

In case you are wondering why the "Albrightian" wasn't published last week, allow us to explain that insufficient news worthy happenings and a schedule overloaded with hell week caused a postponement. However, we are back again, bigger and better than ever . . . Onward!

Owls Over Lions

The Lion baseballers raised quite a few eyebrows in their hard fought battle with Temple University. The boys from Diamond Street in Philadelphia are rated as an Eastern Baseball Powerhouse. Although we were humbled to the tune of 4-2, the G-men gave a very creditable account of themselves. Outstanding in defeat were Mickey Harbach, who made many fine plays at second base. Ed McNeill allowed only three hits and lost, while the Temple hurler gave up eight safeties and won. Is there any justice?

Tony D'Apollito, veteran center fielder, tried his best with a two hit for four times at bat effort, but it was in vain. Did you know that Tony is leading the Lions with a .464 batting average?

End Of A Streak

After winning thirteen consecutive dual meets, the Lion Thinlineads succumbed to the St. Joseph Fliers. The Joe's, where special emphasis is placed on the cinder sport, had too much depth for the home team.

Although Coach Shirk figured to annex at least 50 points, poor performances in the running events lowered our final point score to 42. Albright's strength was concentrated in the field event.

Lassies Lose

The Lion Lassies suffered a humiliating set back in their opener with the Ursinus Amazons. Cheer up girls, it isn't whether you won or lost, it's the score that counts . . . 37-6 ouch!

Court News

The tennis team has elected Bruce Weeber as captain. The team has lost the only three matches played so far.

Question of Week

Question of the Week!
With the booming homers being hit by Mantle and Adcock and all this talk in the majors about the lively ball, your editor want to know why Albright doesn't buy its baseballers a 100 doz. of these to produce more and longer hits?
Simple. Huh? I should be a coach. So long.

Football Forecast

With only one game yet to be scheduled for next season's football roster, the Albright card is practically complete. The list of opponents includes Muhlenberg, Scranton, and Lebanon Valley, our traditional rival.

Gulianmen Snap Two Game Slump To Batter Mules

Cohrs Tallies Third Victory On Mound

Coach Eddie Gulian's diamond array snapped a two-game slump by downing Muhlenberg College, 12-7, April 30 at Allentown with mound triumph. Albright collected 19 hits to 17 for the Mules.

Bill Kern, the first of four pitchers used by Muhlenberg, was the loser. It was the fifth loss for the Mules, who have won three and tied one.

Detting Clouts Triple

Albright was scoreless until the fourth when they took a 2-1 lead. The Mules tallied three runs in the sixth to cut the Lions' edge to 6-5, and each side scored once in the seventh. Capt. Connie Detting clouted a 400-foot triple to left center in the eighth to drive in two runs. George Amole's outfield fly brought in another run and Roy Dragon later singled to account for Albright's fourth run of the inning.

Tony D'Apollito led Albright's hit parade with four singles, while Dragon, Detting and Mickey Harbach each had three hits. Cohrs was the lone Lion unable to hit safely.

Lions Drop Close One

Temple University's baseball team used its three hits to good advantage here May 2 to defeat Albright College, 4-2, at Temple Stadium. John Lario scattered eight Lion hits to post the victory.

A three-run fifth inning was the clincher for the Owls after Ed McNeill, Albright righthander, had blanked them on one hit through the first four frames. Bill Hall opened the inning with a single and went to second when Mark Seifer was hit by a pitch. Connie Miller then bunted, and when McNeill overthrew first, Hall came around to score, Seifer going to third and Miller to second. Lario then helped his own cause with a single to score Seifer and Miller.

Albright Takes Lead

Albright opened the scoring in the first inning, bunching three singles by Mickey Harbach, Tony D'Apollito and Connie Detting for one run. The Lions tallied another singleton in the sixth when Ray Stoneback reached third on Bob McCreary's wild throw on his grounder to second. Detting's long fly drove in the run.

Temple added an insurance marker in the eighth. Hall singled with two away, and then stole second and third. Ed Headley walked, and in attempting to steal second was caught in a run-down. Hall scoring before the tag was made.

The Lions, who suffered their third defeat in seven contests, will play three times next week. They traveled to Lebanon Valley for a postponed contest Thursday, and take on Seton Hall at home tomorrow.

The Albright Lions who will face the Seton Hall nine tomorrow at Kelchner Field, will be running against a record of four wins and four losses. The diamondmen will be seeking to avenge a 12-4 loss suffered at the hands of their opponents last year.

Tee Men Recover By Edging Mules

Schiavo Shines For Netmen

After suffering three reverses following their initial opening win over Moravian 8-1, the Albright linksmen came through with their second win of the season on Monday by defeating the Muhlenberg Mules by a 5-4 margin. The victories were turned in by Jim Rutter, Ken Nase, and Ted Whitty.

In the match against West Chester last week, the only victory recorded in favor of the Albrightians was tallied by Mike Silberkleit. However, Jack Lewis split with Ron Blatt. The Albright golfers lost 7½ to 1½. They also went down to defeat at the hands of Juniata by an 8-0 score.

The linksmen will engage in the MASC tournament at Juniata College in Huntington tomorrow. Three regularly scheduled matches remain on the card.

Summaries:

Rutter, A. defeated Bob Lessel, 9 and 7. Pat Teta, M. defeated Mike Silberkleit, 9 and 7. Albright won best ball. Nase, A. defeated Ed Deibert, 8 and 7. Whitty, A. defeated Harry Ambrose, 5 and 4. Albright won best ball. Dick Ohlweiler, M. defeated Mike DePaul, 4 and 2. Bill Kaupp, M. defeated Jack Lewis, 8 and 6. Muhlenberg won best ball.

3 Straight Losses Net Record So Far

Rain has played havoc with the Albright Tennisers so far this season; however, they did manage to get in three matches, but all three resulted in defeats.

The Courtmen lost to Lafayette 7-2 and to Elizabethtown by a narrow 5-4 margin. Their third defeat was suffered at the hands of Franklin and Marshall College on Monday by a 7-2 score.

In the first match, Johnny Schiavo scored the only singles, but Bruce Weber and Don Foley teamed up for the doubles win. In the other match, Weber, Schiavo, and Brown scored wins in the singles and Schiavo and Grigsby, the doubles win.

The tennis squad also was scheduled to meet LaSalle on Tuesday, Ursinus today, and Seton Hall tomorrow. Dates for the postponed matches with West Chester, Moravian and St. Joseph's have not yet been announced.

Singles—Paul Weinstein, F. defeated Don Grigsby, 6-2, 6-3; Bill Lampe, F. defeated Bruce Weeber, 6-2, 6-0; John Schiavo, A. defeated Roger David, 6-2, 3-6, 6-4; Ed Elesh, F. defeated Don Foley, 7-5, 6-4; Joe Fasnatch, F. defeated Dick Stambaugh, 6-8, 6-1, 6-4; Paul Seaber, F. defeated Bob Brown, 6-1, 6-3.

Doubles—Grigsby and Schiavo, A. defeated Weinstein and Lampe, 3-6, 6-4, 6-2; David and Don Patton, F. defeated Weeber and Foley, 6-3, 6-3, 6-3; Elesh and Jim Davis, F. defeated Stambaugh and Brown, 3-6, 6-3, 3-9.

Cindermen Rack Up 13th Straight, Caught Short By Powerful St. Joe's

Albright's Cindermen showed much power over recent opponents by downing Franklin and Marshall 102-24 for their 13th consecutive dual track win over three years, however their great win-streak was brought to an end by powerful St. Joseph's College 84-42. The other significant win registered by the track and field stars was in a triangular meet. Albright tallied 68½ points, Bucknell had 48 for second place, whereas the host Collegeville team collected 37½. It was Albright's first triangular win of the year and they have a 3-1 record in dual meets.

Although the mile relay team of Mahlon Frankhouser, James Rocktashel, Bill Shirk, and Harold Kretzing, Elwood Albert in the pole vault, and Bob Krize in the javelin, all failed to qualify in their respective events at the Penn Relays. Bruce Tenley came through with a superb throw of 185 feet 5 inches—the best of his career—to take sixth place in the event.

Rudy Becker and Bill Shirk continued to shine in their departments (880 yd. run, mile and two-mile) with first places and good times. Despite his best effort of the year Bill Shirk was defeated in the two-mile event against St. Joseph, his time was 10:56. Becker finished second in the mile and third in the 880 against powerful undefeated St. Joe. Throughout their dual matches with F & M and St. Joseph and the triangular one, the field men have been turning in grand performances. First placers such as Jim Barrett, Jack Huntzinger, Bruce Tenley, Pete Albert, Jim Croke, Len Zahurak, and John Setticerze have turned in 13 first places in the 18 field events in the three meets.

St. Joseph, 84; Albright, 42

McNeill Selected For Mound Duty

Albright College's baseball team, seeking to regain its winning stride, stacks up against Seton Hall University tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 at Kelchner Field. Eddie McNeill, with two wins to his credit, is expected to hurl for the Lions who have four wins and four losses. The Seton Hall starter is as yet unnamed.

During the 1952 season, Seton Hall ended Albright's five-game winning streak, 12-4, in a contest at South Orange, N. J.

This will be the last of three games for Coach Eddie Gulian's Lions this week. They met Lebanon Valley in a postponed game Thursday at Annville.

Intramural Stars Chosen By Staff

The following players have been chosen by the sports staff of the Albrightian as the outstanding performers in their respective positions for the various intramural fraternity softball teams.

Pitchers—Lew Hallock, Pi Taus; Bill McHugh, Kappas.

Right field—Bob Kondrath, Zeta's.

Third base—Dick Jockmann, Zeta's.

Short stop—Bob Reller, Zeta's.

Second base—John Jones, Kappas.

First base—Bruce Eickoff, Kappas.

Catcher—Bill Masters, APO.

Only the fraternities are represented because the other aggregations have exhibited no concrete evidence of stellar performances and have forfeited many games.

Certain players have been shifted from their original positions because of their hitting capabilities.

WAA Buys Uniforms, Nominates Officers

At a recent meeting of the Women's Athletic Association, it was decided to purchase new uniforms for next year's basketball team. The new uniforms will consist of white tunics and red blouses. The project was financed through the sale of refreshments at basketball games.

Nominations for officers for the coming year were also made. They include Jean Hook and Ann Kocher, president; Carol Ringler and Lorraine Wagner, secretary; and Alma Grove and Stella Tryka, treasurer. Class representatives will be elected next week.

Carole Althouse and Virginia Marick were elected co-captains for next fall's hockey team. Jean Hook and Ann Kocher were chosen to be co-captains of the basketball team.

On Thursday, April 30, the lassies from Ursinus trounced the Albright Lionesses 37 to 6 in the opening softball game on the science hall field. The Albright girls were handicapped by too little practice and too much cold weather and rain. A follow-up game was played on Wednesday, May 6, at Temple.

Ray Horan Wins First Place In Annual Speech Contest

Raymond Horan, '56, received the first prize in the annual Charles S. (Pop) Kelchner Oratorical contest which was held Wednesday night in the White Chapel. Horan took top honors by speaking on Nehru of India. The theme of this year's contest was the current world leaders. His speech won for him an award of $15.

Second prize of $10 went to Robert Bowers, '56, who chose Chang Woo as the subject of his oration. Marilyn Hill, '55, speaking on Juan Peron of Argentina, was the recipient of the third place award of $5.

The speakers were chosen from each speech class in preliminary contests. Other contestants in Wednesday night's program included James Hall, '55, who also spoke on Peron, William Shirk, '56, whose topic was Dag Hammarskjöld, and Nelda Harting, '56, and Gerald Gervasi, '56, who both used Churchill as their subject.

Judges for the contest were Dr. John Douds, Prof. Clyde Harding, and Dr. Paul Smith.

Science Slants

close or trap an object completely by merely drawing a circle about it (as in a comic cartoon). In two dimensions an object has only one means of escape: to go around an obstacle while remaining in the same plane. By entering the third dimension, the entrapped object would merely go "over" the obstacle and escape confinement. The obstacle would be exposed to a much better view if observed from the third dimension (a rough analogy: a bird's eye view), which is another great advantage. With this knowledge, possibly intra-atomic secrets would be exposed if observed from a fourth or fifth dimension.

The problem of maintaining protoplasmic stability during transduction is a troublesome one, but its solution will mean actual human poly-dimensional travel in nebulous pseudo-worlds of ethereal origin. As of now only electronic and indirect exploration is making rapid headway. The heavier atoms have been photographed from the fourth dimension, but definite conclusions concerning tele-photography have not been officially disclosed.—T.G.

PDE Takes Five

Five new members were inducted into the Phi Delta Epsilon, honorary journalism fraternity, at its last meeting. They are: Dorothy Kuettel, John Schmidt, Nancy Neatock, Dorothy DeLaney, and Jacqueline Zwoyer.

Miss DeLaney was chosen president of the club and Miss Zwoyer as secretary. That group has undertaken the task of publishing the Compass, the freshman handbook, next year.

S. S. Tests To Be Given On May 21

Major General Lewis B. Hershey, Director of Selective Service, has announced to college students that applications for the May 21 Selective Service College Qualification Test must be submitted to the Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey, not later than midnight May 11.

The May 21 test is primarily for students prevented by illness or other emergencies from taking the test April 23, but General Hershey emphasized that this did not bar any qualified student from taking the test if his application is mailed before the deadline. He also stressed that students who have a certificate of admission for the April 23 test which they failed to use on the assigned date must submit new applications if they wish to take the May 21 test. The old certificates, he pointed out, will not admit a student to the May 21 test.

General Hershey said the May 21 test will be the last one given this school year.

Zillhardt To Prexy Skull And Bones Club

Officers for Skull and Bones for next year were announced at the club's annual spring banquet at Bowers Country Club on Wednesday, May 6. They are as follows: Curtis Zillhardt, president; Thomas Shultz, vice president; Carole Althouse, secretary; Patricia Boccagnor, treasurer. Howard Jacobs, janitor of the science hall, was taken into the group as an honorary member. General chairman for the banquet were Shirley Haskin, William Masters, and Carl Stohler.

The last meeting will be held on May 13 in the science lecture hall at 7:30 p. m. when Samuel C. Gundy, well-known lecturer on reptiles, will present an illustrated talk on snakes, other reptiles and amphibians. Included in the program is a diamond-back rattler which will be milked and which will devour live rats. The meeting is open to all students.

copy of Schtupp's "Advanced Taxidermy" or Hassenpfeiffer's "Flora and Fauna of Ganymede." Also Doctor Sturdley's collection of nacker bars, valued at 7500 drubels. What fun.

I guess we've seen most everything. Except, of course, the words "Serving Albright College Since 1904." I wonder what served Albright before 1904. If anyone knows, I would appreciate it if he would just forget it. No sense in living in the past.

Much more could be written about this ambitious publication, but my 836½ words are almost exhausted. However, I must say that ev—L.E.

Pi Tau Beta

Eleven pledges and an honorary member were initiated into the Pi Tau Beta fraternity on Monday evening. The new members are: David Serfass, Bill Davies, Richard Fox, Jasper Driebelbus, Kenneth Mango, Ronald Yeager, Rodney Bentz, Ray Horan, John Catalano and Mauro Paolini. Robert Hohl, instructor of mathematics, was inducted as an honorary member.

Thirty Students Attend Y Outing

Last Saturday afternoon about thirty students went to Egelman's Park to attend the Y Outing and Seminar. The leaders were Dean Eleanor Westerberg, Professor Ellery Haskell and Professor Louis Smith.

The first seminar was concerned with "The Meaning of Our Personal Faith." In discussing "Prayer and Worship" Prof. Smith said there are three types of prayer—low, middle and high. The low prayer is egotistical and personal. Middle prayer is when one prays not only for oneself but others and in high prayer one goes beyond self entirely.

Prof. Haskell in "Relating the Mind to Religion" spoke of two basic aspects, the first being instrumental value. Our mind is a tool to think with and one must remember to guide his actions with respect to the will of God. Intrinsic value, the second aspect, enables one to feel joy and blessedness which is cherished in and of oneself.

"Too many lives are led in the subjunctive, I may, I might, instead of I am, I will," said Dean Westerberg in discussing the "Relation of Personal Conduct to Religion." Many lives are staked just for time of conflict rather than on principles.

The second seminar, "Christian Responsibility for Social Order," was held in the Lower Social Room because of the cold weather at the park. In the areas of race relations, economics, and politics the Christian should feel his concern for transforming them.

Students Receive Awards For Outstanding Achievements; Newly Elected Officers Installed At Mantle Ceremony

Awards given for outstanding achievement in various campus organizations during the present term were presented to over eighty students during the traditional mantle ceremony exercises on May 1 by Dr. Harry V. Masters, president of the college.

At the same time, James Barrett was installed as 1953-54 president of student council by James R. Buch, retiring council head. William Schmidt, present senior class president, placed the red and white mantle which is symbolic of senior class leadership on the shoulders of John Fetterman, leader of 1954 class.

Also installed as presidents were Michelina Cacciola, Women's Student Senate; JoAnne Duffy, Daywomen's Council; Shirley Haskin, Women's Dormitory Council; Mahlon Frankhouser, Daymen's Organization; James Hall, class of 1955; and Robert Brown, class of 1956.
