Fund Started For Eckhart's Medical Costs

Fraternities, sororities and independent organizations on campus are now contributing funds to help defray the medical costs of Merrill Eckhart, '59.

Eckhart, captain of the basketball team, was injured in an automobile accident while returning home for the Christmas holidays, Friday, Dec. 20.

Compound Fracture

The accident occurred in West Chester County. Eckhart resides in Ellendale, Del. As a result of the accident, he suffered a compound fracture of the leg.

Eckhart recently returned to campus after being hospitalized in the West Chester County Hospital, and is recuperating in the infirmary.

The drive for funds was initiated by the Alpha Pi Omega social fraternity. Eckhart is president of the APOs. The monies are to be used for surgeon's and hospital fees in addition to the costs incurred while he is in the infirmary.

Student Insurance

Although each student is covered by a college insurance policy, the $500 received as the maximum amount of coverage for a single accident, is reportedly far below the cost of the Eckhart's injury.

William Corrigan, '58, of the APOs, is co-ordinating the drive. Dr. Charles E. Kistler, faculty solicitor, feels, "The co-operation of the students, faculty and personnel

Y Announces Semester Plans

The YMCA-YWCA cabinet met recently to complete plans for the organization's second semester activities.

A "Student-Faculty Blast", Tuesday, February 11, the annual Sports Night program, Friday, February 21, and a Prayer Chain on World Day of Prayer, Friday, February 21, will highlight February's activities.

WUS Week

Sports Night will culminate World University Service (WUS) Week, Monday, February 17 to Friday, February 21. WUS is an international organization of college and university students dedicated to helping others.

A Depth Bible Study, Tuesday, March 11, and talks by a rabbi (Tuesday, February 4) and an alcoholic (Tuesday, February 25) are also on the program.

Events Scheduled

An Easter Sunrise Communion will be April's feature, plus the movie "Broken Mask" and a travel talk. The annual spring Y retreat will take place Saturday and Sunday, May 3 and 4.

The final meeting of the year will be in the form of a doggie roast Tuesday, May 13. Y officers for 1958-59 will be installed at this meeting.

Vesper speakers are now being chosen by a joint committee from Kappa Tau Chi, pre-ministerial fraternity and the Ys. James Gieselman, '60, will be the speaker at Vesper services in Teel Hall Chapel at 7:15 p.m.

Semester Registration, Final Exams Highlight Current Albright Scene; Tests Will Begin Today At 1:10 P.M.

Second semester registration and the beginning of semester final exams today highlight the closing calendar of academic events for the first semester of the current college year.

Registration will take place today from 8 a.m. to 12 m. in Krause Hall. Anna R. Benninger, registrar, is in charge of the procedure.

Exams will begin today at 1:10 p.m. with some English (freshman composition), history, mathematics, French and business administration tests on the schedule. Semester finals will continue through Friday, Jan. 24.

College Issues Finance Report

Listing the total assets of the college at $4,804,520.29, the financial report for the fiscal year July 1, 1956 to June 30, 1957 was recently released by the administration.

Printed in booklet form as Albright's December bulletin, the report was distributed to trustees, alumni and friends of the college. It shows Albright's financial condition, along with an operating statement for the fiscal year.

In Comparison

Figures for the previous year are also listed for comparative purposes.

The total assets of the college increased $468,032.40 over the previous year. The bulk of this increase was in the form of endowment and other non-expendable monies. Such funds increased $325,487.35.

Gifts and grants received to assist in meeting the expenses of operation totaled $3,249.39. The total budget for the college was $985,375.35. The Missions and Benevolence Budget of the Evangelical United Brethren Church contributed $34,603.85.

Increase Of 100

Due to the addition of 100 contributors to the Alumni Loyalty Fund, an increase of $3,907.11 over the previous year was attained. Six hundred and eighty-seven alumni contributed a total of $6,636.49.

All items of educational and general expense except operation and maintenance of the physical plant exceeded those of the previous year. The largest increase, $43,180.07, was in instruction and resulted from increases in faculty salaries.

The increase in faculty salaries and additions to the college's fixed assets were chiefly responsible for reducing the net working capital to $60,329.24 by contributing to setting the year's deficit in operations at $19,993.56.

Error

Due to an error on the part of The Albrightian, the greeting of Dr. F. W. Gingrich, professor of Greek, was omitted from the list of Christmas messages in the holiday issue of the paper.

Clair Matz Named To Merger Committee

Clair Matz, '58, was named to the merger negotiating committee of a proposed United Christian Campus Fellowship during the recent Third Quadrennial Student Conference of the Evangelical United Brethren Church.

The conference, held on campus during the Christmas holidays, was attended by approximately 300 representatives.

Four Groups

The proposed merger would consolidate the ministry to students on a campus basis of four denominations, Disciples of Christ, The Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, United Church of Christ and The Evangelical United Brethren Church.

It is hoped that the merger will become a reality on the regional and national levels by 1960-61.

The delegates to the conference, while not a legislative body, did give a vote of confidence to the merger by a large majority.

The aims of the merger are an improved ministry to students and, on large university campuses, efficiency in such ministry by the four denominations involved.

For Albright, it would mean a more involved relationship with other campuses and other denominations.

From Another Land:

Two Hungarians, After Year In United States, Comment On American Education, Revolution

By JAMES STILL

Peter Bazovsky and Steven Menyhart, Hungary's representatives to Albright, have been with us for nearly a year now. Long enough for them to have formed some opinions on American educational methods as they have experienced them. Long enough for them to have performed a comparative evaluation of the American and Hungarian educational systems. And long enough for them to have taken an objective look into the past.

They both state that America was their goal from the moment they considered leaving Hungary. They admit that one of the influencing factors was the abundance of food which they heard existed in this country. They were hungry Hungarians.

Key Question

Ask Bazovsky if the type and amount of freedom he finds in this country as compared to the type and amount of freedom he had in Hungary is worth fighting and dying for, and he will answer, "Yes!" Ask him the same question as compared to his idea of absolute freedom, and he answers, "This is absolute freedom. Here I can call Eisenhower crazy, and nothing happens to me. There, if I called the communist boss crazy, I would be shot or hanged. That is the difference!"

Appreciate Opportunity

Menyhart, whose family is still in Hungary, says that he took the chance of leaving because he felt that the Russians would not retaliate against the families of the departed. He believes that one or more members of half the families in Hungary left the country during the revolt.

He would like to return to his native land if and when the Russians lose control; Bazovsky wants to stay in this country and become an American citizen.

Menyhart, a pre-law student, and Bazovsky, a pre-dental student, are both very grateful for the opportunity which Albright has provided for them. It is their hope that by becoming useful members of the American community they can in some way repay the college for its faith in them.

Although they both admit to studying longer and harder than ever before, they point out that this is due to language difficulties and not course content. Bazovsky explains that in Hungary the students spend more hours per day in class, compressing more learning into a shorter amount of time.

He believes that a Hungarian high school (they call it a gymnasium) education is the equivalent of a high school education plus two years of college training in this country.

Menyhart feels, however, that "more people are more educated in this country." This, he believes, is what makes America strong. Our educational system, being what it is, affords the advantages of education to a greater percentage of the people. In Hungary only the top graduates of the gymnasium are permitted to go on to the universities.

'Weak' System

They both describe the American high school system as "weak", and the education they are receiving now as "all right". What they do appreciate, however, is the lack of "political science" in their courses. This political science, or Marxist indoctrination, affects all of the courses in the Hungarian schools.

Their top enthusiasm is reserved for the freedom of thought allowed to American students. It is this privilege to believe what they want that they value above all else in

Semester Vacation

Semester-end vacation will take place from Saturday, Jan. 25 to Wednesday, Jan. 29, inclusive. Second semester classes will convene for the first time Thursday, Jan. 30.

The five-day vacation period this year is a day longer than the four-day period between semesters a year ago. There was also a four-day vacation in 1956.

All of the exams have been scheduled with the exception of eight "by arrangement" tests.

There will be no regular classes during the final exam period. There will be three testing "periods" each day at 8:10 a.m., 10:10 a.m. and 1:10 p.m. Students only report at those times when exams are given in the courses they are taking.

Report Grades

Following the processing of grades, report cards will be issued by the office of the dean and registrar both to the students and to their parents. These cards will be issued after the second semester starts.

A list of those students that attained dean's list averages for the first semester will then be announced. There are two dean's lists, an "A" list and a "B" list.

Phi Beta Mu Elects Leaders For '58-'59

The Phi Beta Mu social sorority elected its 1958-59 officers recently. Mildred Folk, '58, out-going president, announced that Amelia Potteiger, '59, was elected the new president. Miss Potteiger is a home economics student.

The newly-elected vice president is Barbara Cox, '59, a psychology major. Celia Petrucci, '59, and Martha Richards, '59, were named corresponding secretary and recording secretary, respectively. Miss Petrucci is a psychology major and Miss Richards a home economics student.

Other Officers

Sarah-Anne Bell, '59, was named treasurer and Louise Reid, '59, was chosen chaplain. They are psychology and French majors, respectively.

Out-going officers, in addition to Miss Folk, are Sandra Geopfert, '58, vice president; Dorothy Spohn, '58, recording secretary; Betty Williams, '58, corresponding secretary; and Ann Miller, '58, treasurer.

85th Congress Faces Many Crucial Problems

The second session of the 85th Congress is now in session. Before it are the problems of the free world as well as the individual problems of the United States. Many of the problems are the same ones that have faced previous sessions of Congress since World War II, such as the challenge of Russia and taxes. But these problems have increased in intensity since the last session of Congress adjourned, largely because of the gains made by the USSR in scientific fields.

Now the problems are no longer ones to be discussed at length, mixed well with innumerable political prejudices and then "settled" in vague terms in the hope that somehow something will be accomplished. It is time for informed discussion and clear, concise, concrete action with a designed purpose. The new challenges Russia is hurling at the U.S. demand such purposeful action and an elimination of the old "leave it to chance" attitude.

As the new scientific advances of the Soviet Union have become public, there has been increased talk about the sacrifices that the American people will have to make if the U.S. is to remain the most advanced nation in the world. One of the biggest steps we can take in this respect is to cease making demands on our congressmen for pork-barrel legislation and favors.

Legislators have come to realize that, in the past, their re-election has depended on how many special favors they have done for their constituents. This pressure must be taken off of our congressmen. The nation can not afford to have 531 elected representatives in Washington working as individuals for local interests. Instead we must have our legislators working together toward worthwhile solutions to the grave problems that face us. Perhaps if voters across the nation were to let their congressmen know that the pressure was being switched from demands for local political favors to demands for concerted national action, Congress would be able to attain better accomplishments than has been the case in the past. Given the world situation today, such improvement in accomplishments are a must.

Responsibility for such Congressional action falls also on the legislators themselves. They must have the courage to turn away from the traditional road to pork-barrel legislation and start down the road where their time and energies will be spent on sound solutions to national and world problems.

Need Support For Fund

A Christian college in action. That is a fitting description to the efforts that have been contributed to organizing and carrying out the drive for funds to help defray the medical costs of Merrill Eckhart's holiday automobile accident.

All students, faculty, and in fact everyone connected with Albright now has the opportunity to participate in a campus-wide effort to help a fellow Albrightian. Let's all climb aboard the fund drive by contributing.

And to Capt. Merrill—a speedy recovery.

Cultural Capers

By VAUGHN MERVINE

Save your pennies. There is a terrific entertainment season underway and an equally exciting one coming up. If you like to travel, pack a lunch and hike to the Strand Theatre, "Around The World In 80 Days" is still playing. Don't run, though, it will be there for one more month.

I hope some of you were lucky enough to see "Sayonara" at the Warner, the rest of us hope they'll hold it over until we get a chance. Plan to see "Raintree County" at Loew's after you return from the mid-year vacation. It's said that this film may easily be another "Gone With The Wind." It runs three hours and features exciting Elizabeth Taylor and manly Montgomery Clift. If you can't afford it, stay home and listen to Nat King Cole's disc of the title song. It's a real smooth tune.

Theatre:

Eugene Blumberg is directing Lillian Hellman's "The Little Foxes" for Community Players. It is an engrossing story of a Southern family at the turn of the century. Their cunning ruthlessness in amassing a fortune by conniving, double-dealing, and any other feasible means is the one quality that unites them. Regina, the most charmingly despicable character of them all, is played by Pat Hale, an Equity actress of many stage credits. The director of Civic Opera, Robert Bruce McLean is Horace Giddens, her morbid spouse. Other characters include Ben and Oscar's perennially young wife, Alexandra Giddens, a rose among the thorns, and Leo, Oscar's son who is a detestable dude. Yours truly plays this character. Hope it's not type casting! "The Little Foxes" runs January 22 to 25, 31 and February, 1 to 8. If you want a ticket send up a flare, I'll see it and "come a-runnin'".

The Domino Club will announce the spring play upon return from the mid-year vacation. Tryouts will be held immediately following this announcement. Production dates are set for March 13, 14 and 15. In addition to the concert plays to be presented following the spring play, a rollicking musical is in the offing.

Speaking of musicals you might like to splurge your bankroll some weekend soon to see the funny, gay musical, "The Body Beautiful." It is playing the Erlanger Theater in Philadelphia; some of Mindy Carson's songs in this show are terrific.

Lectures:

If you are on a budget and want an enlightening experience, take a stroll to Reading High on Friday, Jan. 17 or Friday, Feb. 7. Free lectures on "Argentina Smiles Again" by Eric Pavel and "France" by Kenneth Richter are being given.

Well, it looks like we're going to have an entertaining time in the next few weeks. Merry mid-year to all and to all good luck with your finals.

Compliments of The Society for the Preservation of Students' Nervous Systems by Means of Good Entertainment.

Little Man on Campus

Albright Personality

• Billie Williams •

By EDWARD TRAYES

Upper Montclair, N. J., as well as Albright College can be extremely proud of the achievements made by Billie Williams. In Billie one finds a girl who recognizes the value of socializing in addition to the necessity for attaining good grades. She achieves this end, which is evidenced by the frequent appearance of her name on the Dean's List and by her active participation in many campus activities.

Talent

As one of the more talented personalities on the campus, Billie's activities range from varsity athletics to those organizations of a literary, social, and professional nature. Feature editor for The Albrightian and assistant editor of The Cue are positions which she handles in addition to cheerleading, hockey and basketball.

Being elected corresponding secretary of the Phi Beta Mu Social Sorority along with being historian for Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English fraternity, show the trust and confidence vested in her by fellow students. Not neglecting her first love, languages, Billie is a member of the German Club, French Club and Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary journalism fraternity. She was elected to the homecoming Court her sophomore year.

Come summer one can find Billie working on the boardwalk at Ocean City, N. J., or pursuing her favorite hobbies of knitting, swimming and reading. Upon graduation in June, Billie hopes to teach conversational English in France—"Bon voyage.. Billie!"

Meditation

By CARL GOCKLEY

Have you asked yourself lately; "Why do I believe as I do?", or, "Do I believe as I do because someone has told me I should?" Perhaps you never thought much about this. Maybe the questions stump you. You may have mixed feelings about your answers, or have no answers at all.

Many times we feel our religious beliefs are deeply rooted within. However, in the light of reality we find we have only copied someone else's faith. In the speed of our daily activities we don't always stop to use our God-given minds for His glory, and to strengthen our beliefs in Him.

Most of us are horrified at what Communism does to the free mind and religion. We feel this is far from what God wants, yet, we let our minds rot, and never use them to help us grow in His love and grace. In this way we are killing God as much as the Reds are. Let us use our minds for Him and know what we mean when we say, "I believe in God," and know why we make such a statement.

fealist attitude of "Well, what could you expect?" Yet, if the game had been five points different in our favor, the whole tune would have been changed. They would have been praised as wonderful and the coach claimed as great!

In my book, the team and coach did win; they won a moral victory. But the students couldn't even reach the backboard.

Spirit Of Basketball

By BEVERLY BARTHOLD

As Lehigh's No. 31 dumped his third consecutive shot through the basketball net, Albright's spirit (what little there was) sank with it.

Although we students had walked into the game with more enthusiasm than we actually displayed, it had been with mixed emotions and doubt that we arrived. Two of Albright's usual starting team were out of the line-up due to physical difficulties. Even with these two important losses, Albright was still able to maintain a close ball game.

If one were to have guessed the heavy odds on which Albright entered the game by the team, rather than its spectators, there would have been question as to our handicap.

Geared Team

If our team was geared for such high competition, then why weren't the Albrightians? My answer is "Are we ever?" As long as we are losing, the students remain unduly silent. When the cheerleaders try to evince some organized noise, most onlookers display poker-faces throughout. While the game is in progress these same people find everything wrong with the coach and the team.

At the completion of this Albright-Lehigh game, the Lion "rooters" left the fieldhouse with a de-

Cagers Meet Swarthmore Saturday

IN THE LION'S DEN

By LEE SWARTZ, Sports Editor

With the first 10 games of the season in the record books, Albright's cagers have compiled a 4-6 log. Without the unfortunate loss of Merrill Eckhart and Wayne Hudson, the record might easily be reversed or even better.

At St. Vincent's College, the Lions played in their first Christmas tournament. After dropping the opener to their hosts, the Albright team salvaged the consolation game. This game was anything but consoling, however, for Hudson's injury has put the team at a rebounding disadvantage. Since the LeMoyno game Albright has been badly outrebounced by its two succeeding opponents, Lehigh and Bucknell. Also the loss of Eckhart hurts the Lions in scoring as well as rebounding, for they miss the long rebounds their captain consistently pulled down from the outside and the 15 points a game that he could be counted on to score.

Eckhart Returns To School . . .

Eckhart, incidentally, is now in the college infirmary, resting well and in good spirits. He is looking forward to a practice run on the crutches as soon as possible, but is definitely lost for the rest of the season.

With the official statistics of the first 10 games having been compiled, Fred Dietzel is leading the team with a 21 point-per-game average. Greatly improved over last year, Dietzel has learned some fine offensive moves and boasts a 45 percent shooting average. His jump shot has been Albright's most consistent offensive weapon. Stan Kaminski is runner-up in scoring with a 13.7 average. In rebounding, Bruce Storms' 10.7 per game average leads the bunch with Kaminski pulling down eight per game for second honors. Dietzel's 32 points in the Gettysburg game mark the high output for the Lions this season.

Lions Vie For Conference Honors . . .

One bright hope for Albright is in respect to the Middle Atlantic Conference race of which it is a strong contender. The team boasts a two and one record with a loss to Scranton and victories over Lebanon Valley and Gettysburg. With 11 more conference games remaining, the Lions have a good chance to finish high in the standings. They play conference games at home on two successive Saturdays meeting Swarthmore this week and Juniata the next. Last year Albright's conference record was eight wins and seven losses.

In the past few years it has certainly been evident that Albright plays consistently better basketball at home especially before large crowds. The players of the Albright team give the fans their best. Let's come on out to the gym on Saturday and cheer the team to victory.

Dietzel Chosen Jayvees Record By Albrightian Two Victories

Jumpshot artist Fred Dietzel has been selected by the Sports Staff of the Albrightian as the Player of the Month for December. The six foot Junior hails from Ephrata, Penna., where he starred in basketball and baseball. Dietzel currently leads the team in scoring, both from the floor and the foul line. Last year he scored 287 points, to tie Merrill Eckhart for second in team leadership.

Biggest Thrill

"The Seton Hall game gave me my biggest thrill," said Fred, "Winning that one meant a lot." He feels the toughest team he ever faced was the 1956 Lafayette contingent which went to the Eastern finals of the NCAA. His biggest goal is to play on a great Albright team, a championship team. Dietzel's biggest night was against Scranton when he scored 32 points. As Fred Dietzel says, "I hate to lose just as anyone else. We've got a good ball club and we are going to be real tough in the future." A coaching job is eagerly looked for by Fred when he graduates from Albright in June, 1959.

Albright College's Junior Varsity quintet notched its record to four wins and three losses with wins over Bortz's Chocolates and Croll and Keck, and a loss to Bucknell. Chuck Quinn and Richie Greene spearheaded the Albright attack.

Quinn Leads Scorers

Against Bortz's in a home encounter, three Albrightians scored in double figures as the Lions raced to a 66-54 victory. Chuck Quinn scored 26 for the Lions. Four Albrightians scored in double figures as the Lions trounced Croll and Keck, 70-57. Quinn had 14, Charlie Smith 13, Dick Moylan and Dick Greene both scored 12 each.

Traveling to Lewisburg to meet a tall Bucknell squad, the Lion yearlings had tough luck on their shooting and bowed, 87-55. Greene had 15 and Quinn 14 for Albright.

The Lions meet Swarthmore on Saturday night at the fieldhouse.

Coeds Prepare For Competition

The women's basketball team has begun preparing for the 1958 season, which opens Friday, Feb. 14, under the coaching of Mrs. Eva Mosser, women's physical education director.

Veterans Return

Prospects are bright this year since none of last year's squad graduated. The entire squad has returned along with several promising newcomers.

Promising Newcomers

Returning forwards are: Bonnie Orr, Mary Ellen Appleman, Ruth Shaffer, Rachel Hinman, Claire Vogel, and Martha Richards. Coming back at the guard position are Millie Folk, Betty Williams, Amelia Potterger, Ann Pervis, June Ramsey, Janet Weber, Ginger Young.

Newcomers are: forwards: Beverly Yanick, Eileen McCracken, Suzie Schick, Doris Ulrich, Doris Shock, and guards: Janell Reid, Judy Miller, Barbara Teets, Sandy Frey, Peggy Young, Sue Yeager, Marilyn Catlow and Jackie Pezdire. The coach has decided this year to concentrate on a few good plays until they are almost second nature. In this way, the plays will probably be put into more use than before.

Eckhart, Hudson Loss Weakens Lion Squad

Hit hard by two key injuries over the Christmas vacation, the Albright Lions play host to two Middle Atlantic States Conference foes, Swarthmore Saturday and Juniata Saturday, Jan. 25. The Lions will hit the road against Hofstra and Army on Friday, Jan. 31 and Saturday, Feb. 1, and return home to host St. Joseph's on Wednesday, Jan. 5.

Captain Merrill Eckhart will be forced to sit out the rest of the basketball season, as the result of an automobile accident at the beginning of the Christmas vacation. Eckhart sustained a compound fracture of the left leg. To make matters worse, freshman Wayne Hudson injured his right knee during the second game of the St. Vincent's Tournament at Latrobe, and will be lost for an indefinite period.

Merrill Eckhart

Three Veterans

Hofstra coach Bill vanBredakoff has only three veterans on his squad, but one of them is 6-8 Henry Schwab. Ray Cuneen (6-0) and Bill Rathje (6-3) are the other vets, while a 6-1 sophomore, Bill Peet, is to play a big part in Hofstra's plans.

Soph Squad

Army will have to depend on three sophomores, among them Jim Klosek and Darryle Koons, both 6-5. Captain Don DeJardin averaged 9.6 points per game last year, and he'll have the support of Gene Fisher and Chuck Darby, who averaged 12.7 and 11.3 points per game, respectively. Koons averaged 24.5 points last year with the Plebes and set a new Plebe record of 44 points in one game last year.

St. Joseph's will depend on sophomores for the most part. The big man of the squad is 6-8 Bob Clarke, who will get rebounding help from a trio of 6-5 boys, John Hoffacker, Joe Reilly, and Fred Slaveski.

A pair of 6-4 boys will also help on the boards. The only vet is 6-1 Joe Spratt, who was fifth in team scoring last year.

Last year the Lions lost to Juniata, Hofstra, Army, and St. Joseph's by the scores of 86-69, 81-71, 90-74, and 71-55. This is the first year for Swarthmore on the Lion schedule.

INTRAMURALS

The APOs wrapped up the first half of the intramural basketball "A" League competition with a 39-33 victory over the Pi Taus recently.

Dave Townley and Brooke Moyer paced the winners with 11 and 10 points, respectively. Ron Brown was high for the Pi Taus with 12 counters.

Twelfth Win

It was the fourth straight victory for the APOs this year and their twelfth straight over a two-year stretch.

Townley leads the APOs in scoring with 54 points in the four games. Moyer's 44 markers are second for the victors.

In "B" League competition, the Red Devils have won three in a row with Pi Tau and the Nuggies tied for second at 3-1.

League play will resume Monday, Feb. 3 as the battle for second place honors begins.

Albright Wins Two In Recent Play Court Record Now Stands 4-6

Gettysburg, LeMoyno Fall Prey To Lions

In their last five games the Lion trossers have annexed two wins and have dropped three encounters. The overall record for Albright's basketballers stands at four wins and six losses.

Against Gettysburg at home, the Lions roared from behind a 39-30 deficit at intermission to silence the Bullets in winning, 75-67. Fred Dietzel's late scoring spree and a total of 32 markers, coupled with Sam Preston's brilliant court maneuvering that turned the tide of the game were the big factors in Albright's victory. Stan Kaminski and Captain Merrill Eckhart contributed 19 and 13 points, respectively.

At Latrobe in the St. Vincent's Invitational Tournament the Lion passers dropped their opening encounter with the host St. Vincent's five in a 71-65 loss, playing without Captain Eckhart for the first time. However, they bounced back to smother LeMoyno in the consolation round, 77-67, and notch third place in the tournament.

Halftime Tie

Dietzel and Preston swished the nets for 15 markers apiece against St. Vincent's, while Wayne Hudson added another 12 tallies. The Lions held the Bearcats to a 31-31 tie at intermission, but dropped 10 points behind early in the second period, and never recovered enough to win.

It was a different tale against LeMoyno as Albright led all the way and copped the game, 77-67, with another tremendous scoring effort by Dietzel in garnering 27 points. Stan Kaminski and Dick Kelly each notched 15 tallies, while the only blotch on the game was the loss of freshman Wayne Hudson, who injured his knee in action.

The Lehigh Engineers, led by Tom Healy's 33 points, overcame Albright's late spurt in a bid for victory at the fieldhouse to win, 73-69. The Lions trailed 40-33 at halftime, but squared things away at 65 even with less than five minutes to play.

Dietzel Leads Lions

Lehigh spurred ahead to 71-67 with a minute to play, and Healy's closing foul shots ended the game. Dietzel and Kaminski accumulated 24 and 21 counters, respectively, in leading the Albright effort.

At Lewistown, the Lions were trounced by the Bisons of Bucknell, 100-76. Bucknell took a quick lead and remained ahead through the entire game. Dietzel led the Lions scoring with 20 tallies.

Campus Comments:

Students Give Reasons For Saturday Opening

A large majority of students interviewed recently by The Albrightian favor the opening of the college library Saturdays. The library is now being opened on an experimental basis Saturday afternoons. Four freshman reporters gathered the following comments on the question, "Do you feel it's beneficial and worthwhile to open the library to students Saturdays and why?"

- Marianne Angstadt, '61: "Yes. I am a day student and find it is difficult to come to the library evenings."
- Janelle Reid, '61: "Yes. I live off campus and it takes a great deal of time to drive from my home to the campus in the evenings. Saturday would suit me fine."
- Donald Price, '61: "No, I work Saturdays, but perhaps a few hours in the morning would be convenient."
- Malcolm Dietrich, '61: "Yes. There are no radio restrictions in the dorms Saturday, and therefore I would have a place to study."
- Leon Rabzak, '61: "Yes. I find it difficult to study at home and would then be able to use the library."
- Robert Nagle, '60: "Yes. Certain books are reserved and it is difficult for everyone to use these books during the week. Saturday would offer an extra day to read reserved work."
- Marlene Wentzel, '61: "Yes. Although I myself am a day student and use the Reading Public Library, I feel the dorm students would benefit by Saturday openings since it would be somewhat difficult for them to use the Reading library."
- Janice Hochhaus, '60: "Yes, because often the dorm is too noisy to study Saturday morning."
- Mary Ann Sherk, '59: "Yes, because often there is not enough time to finish a library assignment during the week and it could be done Saturday."
- Linda Hershberger, '61: "No, because those who work in the library would not have any time off."
- Marianna Wonder, '60: "Yes, because weekends are the times when students do work that is not immediately due and they need information from the library."
- Barbara Schaefer, '61: "Yes, because there are not many classes

- Saturday and it gives students more time to work than during the week when they have classes."
- Eva Damen, '61: "Yes, because that is one day you can accomplish a whole day of studying without having to attend classes."
- Pat Hutchinson, '61: "Yes. You can't study in the dorms on weekends and then people wouldn't put their work off until Sunday night."
- Sarah Dettra, '59: "Yes. Most colleges do have their libraries opened Saturday and most people would take advantage of this if it were opened."
- Anna Clemmer, '60: "Yes. This is the time of the year for term papers and Saturday is an ideal time to concentrate as there aren't any classes to interfere."
- Margaret Brooks, '60: "Yes."
- Mary Lou Frahn, '61: "Yes. You have more free time Saturdays in which to study one subject and you don't have to spend the time and money to go to the Reading library."
- Richard Reidler, '60: "I think it's beneficial but I don't think the students will avail themselves of the opportunity after it is opened."
- Milo Henderson, '61: "I think it's beneficial because many of the students have classes up to 4 p.m. and 5 p.m. and it makes it difficult for them to find time for the library. Also, some students are engaged in extra-curricular activities which are also important in rounding out one's education."
- Anthony Mazza, '61: "I think it's beneficial because during the week the athlete is unable to attend the library due to practice. Therefore Saturday mornings would be convenient to the athlete."
- Harry Humpreys, '60: "Due to the increased enrollment at Albright there are many students who do not have the immediate means of transportation to the Reading library Saturday afternoons, and I feel it would be beneficial to have it open for them."
- Fred Ogier, '60: "Yes, because it would benefit everyone. The people who really wanted to take advantage of this opportunity would get up Saturday mornings. They can at least try out the idea for a few weeks."

American education. They name the 20th Communist Congress and the subsequent political freedom permitted to the people, as a result of de-Stalinization, as the prime cause of the Hungarian revolution. But they believe that the Russians learned a hard lesson from the Polish and Hungarian uprisings, and that there will no longer be any opportunity for similar occurrences.

Bazovsky, who was a Hungarian soldier in a military academy at the start of the revolution, says that, in event of war, the Hungarians would fight against the Russians. He goes on to say that the Russians realize this and that they fear their satellite armies.

'No Bullets'

As evidence he points to the fact that Hungarian soldiers were issued "guns but no bullets." On the rifle range they received one bullet at a time, and as they fired an armed Russian officer stood behind them.

According to Bazovsky, all classes of people fought in the streets of Budapest, but it was teenagers, of a type similar to what we call juvenile delinquents, who accomplished some of the best street-fighting.

in this endeavor indicates a true college spirit. It proves there is a unity on the Albright campus."

Each fraternity and sorority is contributing to the drive. The Pi Alpha Tau social sorority has pledged the proceeds of program sales from the recent Albright-Moravian basketball game as well as a sorority contribution.

The Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity, led by Herbert Zakrison, '59, will contribute also. John Tibbetts, '59, has effected the co-operation of the commuting students.

Members of the faculty, administration, staff, the APO Alumni Association and the basketball team are supporting the drive.

It is hoped the contributions will reach $600. In addition to the monetary expenses, blood donors must replace the blood used while Eckhart was in the hospital. Several pledges have been received.

Eckhart is now under the care of Dr. Glenn A. Deibert, the college's orthopedic physician.
