Student Council Elects Officers

Long Debate Settles Freshman Controversy

The newly-elected Student Council met for the second time this year on Tuesday, May 11. James Hall presided. Since officers were not as yet elected, Hall gave the treasurer's report. He explained that each member of the student body pays $.50 a semester towards Student Council. About $50 will be carried over to next year's treasury.

Elections for Student Council officers were held. Jerome Lengel, '55, was given the position of vice-president. Corresponding and recording secretary positions will be filled by Sylvia Greul, '56, and Andree Schmoeyer, '56, respectively. Donald Wise, '56, will handle the financial end of Student Council next year as treasurer.

Hall Appoints Two

Two appointments were made by the president and were approved by council. Arthur Saylor, '57, was appointed as parliamentarian. The Freshmen Orientation Committee will be headed by Paul Hetrich, '56.

At a special meeting held on Thursday, May 6, a petition was presented to Student Council by Arthur Saylor. The petition signed by fifty-eight members of the freshmen class appealed for a re-election of the freshmen class officers. Various reasons for this appeal were stated on the petition. Thomas Pollock, president of the freshmen class, acted as defendant. Each point of the petition was discussed separately, and the two sides, Pollock and Saylor, were allowed to produce witnesses and ask questions.

Re-election Barred

After the hearing, a vote was taken to determine whether council thought it necessary to allow the freshmen class a re-election of class officers. The motion was passed in favor of a re-election but the motion, later, was discovered to have been out of order.

Seniors To Embark On Future Careers In Graduate Work

As of May 11, nineteen June graduates had reported definite plans for the future to the placement office. Three of them reported acceptances to medical schools, one to graduate school, and four to theological seminaries.

Those receiving acceptances to medical school are Eliot Percelay and John Sudol—Hahnemann Medical School; and Thomas Shultz—Temple Medical School.

Graduate school admissions include Carl Killian to the University of Pittsburgh School of Retailing.

Ivan Moyer, Max Nuscher and John Russell will continue study at the United Seminary at Dayton, Ohio. Robert Walker has enrolled at the Gettysburg Seminary.

Those who have accepted positions upon graduation are Carole Althouse, Lancaster General Hospital; Patricia Eisenbise, Pennsylvania Power and Light Company as a home economist; Barbara Farris, Family Service in Reading; Ruth Fry, United Gas Improvement Company; Janet Gehres, Reading Hospital as a nurse; Shirley Haskin, Public Health Work in Newark, N. J.; Joseph Kierstead, Proctor and Gamble as a salesman.

Carl Killian will study retailing at the University of Pittsburgh. Alan Schlegel has accepted a position with Reading Tube Company, Donald Yeager with I.B.M. Sales Training Program and Ann Weik with Atlas Powder, in Wilmington.

Frankhouser To Lead Daymen's Organization

David Frankhouser, class of '55, was chosen president of the Daymen's Organization for 1954-55. Other officers elected recently are Richard Ebricht, '57, vice-president; Robert Bowers, '56, secretary and John Catalano, '56, treasurer.

Commencement Activities Set For June 6

John E. Smith Will Address '54 Graduates

Yale Professor To Be Speaker

John E. Smith, Assistant Professor of Philosophy at Yale University, will deliver the commencement address to the graduating class of 1954 on Sunday, June 6, President Harry V. Masters has announced. His topic will be "Education, Vocation, and Life's Aims."

Mr. Smith was born in Brooklyn, New York on May 27, 1921, the son of Joseph R. and Grace (Dunn) Smith. He received his B.A. degree from Columbia University in 1942 and a Bachelor of Divinity degree in 1945 from the Union Theological Seminary in New York. His Ph.D. degree was taken at Columbia in 1948.

He served as an Instructor in Religion at Vassar College in 1945-46 at which time he joined the faculty of Barnard College as Assistant Professor of Philosophy and Religion. He came to Yale last year as Visiting Assistant Professor of Philosophy.

Besides his book, Mr. Smith is the author of numerous papers on American philosophy and the philosophy of religion in various journals.

He is a member of the American Philosophical Association, the Charles S. Pierce Society, and the Metaphysical Society of America.

In Memoriam

On behalf of the entire student body, the Albrightian extends deepest sympathy to the families and friends of Andrew F. Janiszewski, late member of the graduating class, and to those of Bert Pergola, a former alumni of the class of 1953. Mr. Janiszewski passed away on May 10 after a brief illness. Surviving are his parents, his widow, Josephine D'Agostino Janiszewski and a daughter, Kathleen.

Ann Weik To Speak On Man, Science At Commencement

Ann Marie Weik, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Weik, 114 N. Miller Street, Shillington, will deliver the student oration at the commencement exercises, Sunday, June 6.

An honor graduate at Albright, Miss Weik, a chemistry major, will speak on "Man's Responsibility to Science."

Recently awarded the American Chemical Society prize, Miss Weik has accepted a position as technical sales correspondent for the Atlas Powder Co., in Wilmington, Del., beginning this summer.

She was graduated from Shillington High School in 1950. Winner of the chemistry award in her freshman year and the mathematics prize in the sophomore year, Miss Weik served as secretary-treasurer of the Albright chemistry club this past year.

Miss Weik was elected to membership in Phi Delta Sigma, Albright alumnae sorority, and during the past year served as publicity chairman of the Junior Woman's Club of Shillington.

Banquet To Highlight Alumni Day, June 5

Activities for the ninety-fifth annual commencement program will begin on Saturday morning, June 5 at 8:30 with a breakfast given for the seniors by the Deans, Priscilla Morton, George Walton and LeVan Smith at the Green Valley Country Club. Informal chats with faculty members and a farewell address from the deans will climax the breakfast.

Alumni Day will begin Saturday morning with registration in Krause Hall from 10:00 a. m. to 12:00. The Alumni banquet will be served at 12:30 in the college dining hall and will be followed by the annual business meeting. At 3:00 p. m., college films will be shown in Krause Hall.

'4' and '9' Hold Reunions

At 4:00 p. m., the alumni tea will be held in Krause Hall. At this time, the class reunions for classes '4' and '9' will be held.

Commencement Day on Sunday, June 6, will begin with the academic procession of the Baccalaureate Service at 10:45 a. m. Dr. David T. Gregory, Bishop, East Central Area, Evangelical United Brethren Church, will deliver the sermon at the service, which will be held in Krause Hall.

The commencement program, which will be held in front of Selwyn Hall, will begin at 2:45 p. m. The commencement address will be given by Dr. John E. Smith, Department of Philosophy, Yale University.

Honorary Degrees Conferred

Honorary degrees will be conferred upon Dr. John R. Spannuth, John A. Smith, Dr. David T. Gregory and Fred W. Druckenmiller. Ann Marie Weik will be the student orator representing the seniors.

In case of inclement weather, the commencement exercises will be held in the Physical Education Building.

Althouse, Nielsen To Direct May Day

Mary Althouse, of Robesonia, and Joan Nielsen, of Fords, N. J., were recently chosen by the junior women to serve as Mistress of Ceremonies and Custodian of the Crown, respectively, for the 1955 May Day program.

Miss Althouse, a home economics major, will also act as president of the Womens Student Senate. A member of the Phi Beta Mu sorority, she is a member of the Home Economics Organization and Womens Athletic Association. Miss Nielsen, also a home economics major, is a member of the Phi Beta Mu sorority and the HEO Club. Both women are active members of the Future Teachers of America Club.

HEO Holds Dinner

A buffet dinner was held Monday by HEO for the senior members. The dinner was planned by the freshmen and the officers of HEO under the supervision of Mrs. Smith. Leda Paszyotis presided at a business meeting held after the dinner. The officers of HEO are working on programs and committees for next year.

Dean Morton Renames Selwyn Social Rooms

The parlors in Selwyn Hall will be newly decorated for next fall and have appropriate names, Priscilla Morton, Dean of Women, has announced. During the daytime these rooms will be reserved for girls who are residents of Selwyn Hall only. Mixer social hours will be held each evening from 6:30-7:30 p. m. in the Pine Room, formerly called the Lower Social Room. After 7:30 p. m., the parlors will be open for the girls and their guests.

Glee Club Chooses Four New Officers

New officers for the Glee Club were elected at its final rehearsal last Tuesday afternoon. David Serfass, '56, is the president; vice-president, John Myers, '57; secretary, Kathleen Forry, '57; and business manager, David Lubba, '56.

The choir will have an afternoon and evening outing Saturday, May 22.

May Day Celebration Triumphs Over Weather

Our Best To You . . .

To the Seniors, those who have only another week of classes and a few exams before gaining those coveted diplomas, we wish good health, good luck, and happiness. For every memory they take with them, a memory of them will remain here. Memories of their work, their smiles, their serious moments, will stay with the friends they have made during the years. They have contributed much, both as a group and individually, to the spirit that is Albright.

After four years of work, they are ready to go on to other places and other tasks. May they profit from all they have learned here, not only from their classes, but from all phases of college life. For their contributions to the school, Albright thanks them; for their future works, extends sincere good wishes.

Frosh Rhubarb Has Moral

"His Majesty's Loyal Opposition" is as indispensable a part of any form of self-government as is the secret ballot. It is the job of this important minority to keep a close watch on the group in power to see that everything is done comme il faut.

It is no secret that quite a ruckus was stirred up recently when a few vigilant watchdogs in the freshman class questioned the validity of a pretty peculiar-looking class election. The Student Council immediately held an investigation, which disclosed that there was quite a bit to be said on both sides of the matter. True, the election was held under rather strange circumstances, but this turned out to have been due to a misunderstanding over a new form of holding all-campus elections begun this year. True, the election probably was conducted in a rather careless way, but then, so are many other elections on campus. It is possible that the ballots were passed out in such a slipshod way that there was a slight discrepancy between the number of freshmen present and the number of ballots counted.

The fact remains that none of these peculiarities was intentional. The chairman in charge of the meeting, to the best of his ability, was trying to run the election in a fair and just manner. The Student Council investigation revealed that his integrity and honor are above question. It also revealed that the loyal accusers were doing what they honestly felt to be their duty in challenging the election.

The important lesson to be learned from the situation is that no class at Albright has any definite rules governing elections or meetings. No specific set of rules for Parliamentary Procedure is designated as a reference. Tradition and custom, passed on from year to year and remembered differently on different occasions, are the only guide. As a specific example, it was brought out at the investigation that a quorum for the election of officers or conducting of business consists ("by custom") of as many class members as happen to be present. The ridiculousness of that system is immediately obvious. Four, five, or six people could, were they so inclined, call a class meeting all by themselves and decide anything they wanted to.

This, of course, would never happen, because our class officers are invariably too honest and straightforward to stoop to such tactics. Still, this lack of a standard set of rules is a gaping weakness in our class systems.

We would like to see the Student Council schedule for its first meeting of next year a session devoted to the standardization of all class elections on the Albright campus.

'About Nothing' Writer Retires With Due Honor

Yes, Jackie, we shall indeed retire your About Nothing headline to an honored place on our bulletin board. Columnists and columns may come and go, but no one will ever be able to fill that weekly five inches as you have done, so About Nothing will pass into the sacred annals of Albrightian history.

We almost wept all over our typewriter as we read your last bit of copy this week. All of a sudden it hit us how much we are going to miss you, and your incomparable way of mixing that sad-mad college humor with the expanding and broadening of the intellect that we're supposed to be here struggling for.

About Nothing has been the high spot of page two all year, Jackie. You were always clever—always witty—and always on time for deadline. Thanks an awful lot, and good luck!

Saludos, Dorm Prexies

One of Albright's lankiest lions is Max Miller, whose 6' 3" frame is a familiar sight on campus, especially in the Science hall. Max, a biology major, lists the physiology of coordination and biology as his favorite classes, but refuses to reveal which class he likes least of all before exams are over.

In addition to working in the library and the dining room, he takes an active interest in Skull and Bones, and lends his mellow bass to the Glee club. His job as president of the Men's Dormitory council also helps to keep him busy.

Much of his free time in nice weather is devoted to tennis, but spring showers often force him to be content with a fast game of ping-pong. Although Max is not so active in basketball, he is an ardent fan of the Albright team and missed very few games during his four years in school.

The Glee club tours and "Y" retreats recall memories of humorous incidents and good times, but his memories of comparative anatomy (classes that is) are not so pleasant.

High on his list of favorites are chicken, dancing, the "great outdoors," and the color red. In fact, he secretly longs to marry four red-headed Mormon women and have 29 kids!

Max spent several summers working on a game farm, the Pennsylvania State Game Commission, near Williamsport. (Anyone know of any openings for a pheasant keeper?)

Since he is 1-A (poor guy!), he must wait until he is drafted, rather than enlist immediately after graduation. Until the army hauls him in, Max is anxious to get a job in laboratory work, and after he leaves the service he would like to go on to graduate school.

Happy landing, Max, both in the Air Force (we hope you make it) and in your future career!

Our Dandy Lioness this week is none other than that blonde with the merry, slightly ironic laugh, Shirley Haskin.

Shirley comes to us from Newark, New Jersey, detouring Dorney Park, since last year (ask her about that one).

For the last four years, she has spent most of her time in the Science Hall where she smiled her cheery greeting to every white rat, king snake named George, and Endamoeba Histolytria she met.

The rest of her time was passed in the psychology department to train her for the job of analyzing that little bundle of precocious neurons, Sister Brenda.

With a biology major and psychology minor, Shirley is well qualified for her office of Women's Dormitory Council president. She has met the many problems with a very wise approach and performed her many duties faithfully.

In addition, Shirley was a member of Womens Student Senate, Skull and Bones, and had the tedious job of helping to proof-read the Cue.

Not soon to be forgotten are many memories of Albright. Perhaps most outstanding were the hikes last spring, when she and several classmates scaled the "motorcycle climb" with agility, and descended into a dark, exceedingly damp cave. And then there was the night when Shirley and her cohorts, equipped with flashlights and hip boots, went hunting for frogs, salamanders and "owlie unfamiliaris."

To everyone who knows her, Shirley is regarded as being extremely capable and trustworthy. Her position as head of Dorm Council brings to her many problems, each met with equal understanding and sympathy. She's a good person to know and an even better friend.

Post-graduation plans are a little undecided. Perhaps she will utilize her studies in biology in the Newark Health Department, graduate school, or else travel that long road to the altar.

Shirt-tails, Bloomers, Head Fashion Parade

Popular on Albright's campus, as well as every other college campus this spring, will be the shirt-tailer, taken from the male wardrobe. Those elongated shirts will be stylish whether sleeveless, short sleeved or long-sleeved. Wear them in checks, stripes or a plain color and you'll be in style.

For a cool summer, nothing could be better than blue and green Mackenzie tartan plaids for dresses, separates, and sun clothes. A touch of white will add a crisp look to any of these.

Khaki once was meant for the army only. But this season it's meant for the smart dressed gals. Wear this new shade in shorts, shirts and dresses. It compliments a tan and is a "natural" with white.

In the line of accessories, shoes step into the spotlight. Capezios have two popular styles on the market: the ballerina and also the heelless, toeless slipper in all gay colors.

Sometime ago we told you about the little-girl dress; now it's little girl bloomers, just as charming. On the beach, the bloomer swim suit will be a favorite, especially if it is a plaid or stripe.—S.C.G.

More than one-fifth of the total American population will be going to school this year, according to estimates by the U. S. office of education. But colleges and universities are in for an enrollment decrease of about ten per cent. The reason: Selective Service.

Track Team Undeclared In Dual Meets

by Dave Widland

Albright's Only Undeclared Team

Albright's chess team ended the most successful season in its history by defeating Gettysburg College 6-1 in a four-hour match in the Harrisburg YMCA last Saturday night.

The team consisted of Adolph Butkys, captain and coach; Robert Berkstreser, Moshe Zirin, and Peter Manwiller. It was the first undeclared season for the team in its three years of competition.

Intramurals

A new era is being ushered into the intramural softball scene. This year will see the inaugural of an all-star game, played after the close of the regular season between the league champions and an all-star team chosen from the remaining five teams. The picking of this aggregation will be left up to the discretion of coach Potskian and the sports staff.

The final standings of the first half were:

Team	Won	Lost	Pct.
Pi Taus	5	0	1.000
Kappas	4	1	.800
Zetas	3	2	.600
APOs	2	3	.400
Titans	1	4	.200
Rebels	0	5	.000

Athlete of Year

After a great deal of thought and deliberation, the sports staff of the Albrightian has selected Jim Croke, a senior from Brooklyn, New York, as Albright College's athlete of the year.

Although not the high scorer of the basketball team, Jim was invaluable as a playmaker and was the stellar defensive man of the squad. His yeoman work in the season's finale against F&M did much to pull the game out of the fire. Being elected captain of the hardwood squad was an honor he more than deserved.

After the end of basketball season, Jim was elected co-captain of the thinclands, and so far has led the cindermen in scoring. Although there are many other fine athletes in school, we feel that Jim Croke is the finest. It is a great pleasure to bestow this honor upon him.

Diamond Dust

Coach Eddie Gulian has a right to be proud of his proteges after their 4-2 victory against Moravian on Tuesday. His strategy in moving Bob Sulyma into the number three slot in the batting order paid off, for Sully collared two hits. Seton Hall was the only other game scheduled this week, but was called off because of rain.

Honors

Since this is the last issue of The Albrightian to go to press this year, I would like to devote this small amount of space to all those athletes who have represented Albright in many hard-fought athletic contests. Also, I would like to mention LeRoy Brendle and Bobby Fox, two excellent sports-writers, who rarely saw their names in print.

Sportswriter Commends Ten Graduating Seniors

by LeRoy Brendle

A Tribute to Seniors

It seems very appropriate that the last issue of the ALBRIGHTIAN should pay a final tribute to the graduating seniors who have given much of their time and energy to sports during the past academic year. It is outstanding enough to be successful on the varsity athletic fields, but it is more outstanding to be a success in both the athletic and the scholastic fields.

Football, Three and Six

Although posting only three wins against six losses the Lion football team did not lack a successful season. Probably the one senior which brought to Albright the most publicity was Jack Sudol. Along with Frank Gaglardi of Gettysburg Sudol was chosen by rival coaches as the most valuable player among the smaller colleges of the Eastern Intercollegiate Football Association in 1953. He placed fourth in the nation with his punting average of 41.2 yards for 47 punts, but he led the East in punting average—surpassing the highly touted Jim Clabby of Harvard. The East Rutherford athlete led the Lions in five departments, scoring with 12 points, total yards gained, yards rushing, passing average, and punting. He probably will be most remembered for his tremendous 92 yard punt against Scranton in the season's finale. The kick equaled an Albright record, a punt by Paul McCormack in 1935 against Ursinus.

The success of the football team was the result of teamwork, but the other participating seniors were Tony D'Apollito, Bruce Eickhoff, Herb Mackler, and Pete Nicholas. D'Apollito scored 11 points for the Lions, kicking three extra points in the Albright win over Moravian 21-13 and scoring a touchdown in the finale with Scranton. He was second in total yards gained and yards gained rushing, but he led the team in passes received which covered 147 yards.

Bruce Eickhoff, a speedy left end, was out for the rest of the season after he suffered a fracture of a bone above his right ankle in the second game, a 6-0 win over Muhlenberg. Herb Mackler at the tackle slot played his usual top brand of defensive ball and was one of the reasons that the opponents found the Lions hard to score upon. Pete Nicholas was one of Eddie Gulian's able substitutes at left guard. George Rankin, who participated in football during his first two years, also gave the followers many thrills. Rankin scored three touchdowns during his Freshman year.

Albright Golfers Lose To Moravian

Moravian College's golfers handed Albright's Lions their ninth straight defeat yesterday by a 6-3 score at Berkshire Country Club.

Albright wins were turned in by Bruce Mengel and Joe Czutno. Mengel downed Stan Banach, 3 and 1, and Czutno defeated Frank Scholl, 9 and 7.

Coach Paul Matten's linksmen journey to Philadelphia Thursday to meet LaSalle. Summaries:

Frank Paul, M., defeated Jack Lewis, 3 and 2; Pat Petruny, M. defeated Ernie Broadbeck, 2 and 1; Best ball, M.; Rudy Kresh, M., defeated Mike DePaul, 2 and 1; Joe Keigler, M., defeated Bill McHugh, 3 and 3; Best ball, M.; Mengel, A., defeated Bannach, 3 and 1; Czutno, A., defeated Scholl, 9 and 7. Best ball, A.

Basketball

No June-graduating seniors participated in basketball during the 1953-54 season, however Jim Croke, a first semester senior, was one of the outstanding members of an impressive young team. Croke was noted for his great defensive skill and leadership on the floor. He scored 135 points for a 5.4 per game average. That brought his four season total to 233 points in 67 games.

Track and Cross Country

Mahlon Frankhauser and Jim Rokitashel were members of Coach Gene Shirk's cross country team. Frankhauser finished sixth against Gettysburg in a field of 15 runners, and Rokitashel finished fifth against F & M.

The seniors on Shirk's track and field squad included Co-Capt. Jim Croke and Jack Fetterman, Jim Barrett, and Frankhauser and Rokitashel. Croke has been leading the Lions in scoring this year in his specialties, the hurdles, high jump and broad jump. In seven meets thus far Croke registered 19 first places and two ties for first. Fetterman has been adding to the large scores accumulated by the Lions by scoring in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Frankhauser and Rokitashel have been Shirk's middle distance runners, participating in the 440, 880 and hurdles. Jim Barrett specializes in the broad jump and he placed second, ahead of Croke, in the triangular meet against Bucknell and Ursinus.

Baseball and Golf

The two senior football stars, D'Apollito and Sudol, have also been outstanding members of the baseball squad. D'Apollito appears to be headed for his fourth consecutive season over the .300 figure in batting, another record in Albright history. He plays the outfield and is known as a heavy slugger. Sudol returned to the Lion baseball team this year after not participating last year, and has aided in the Lions' success.

Although sporting a disappointing record this year much credit must be given to the senior members of the golf squad. Mike Silberleit participated in the sport two previous years, however he did not join the team this year. Joe Czutno prevented shutouts in two of the matches by scoring the only Albright wins.

'All Out'

Pictured above is Jack Fetterman going all-out as he finishes first in the 220-yard dash in the triangular meet against Bucknell and Ursinus.

Croke Still High Scorer, Sets Record

Co-Captain Jim Croke paced the Albright cindermen to victory in a triangular meet last Saturday against Bucknell and Ursinus. Croke established a new stadium record for the 120 yard high hurdles. Freshman Ken Greenawald contributed toward the victory by running the grueling 100 yard dash in ten seconds flat.

Bill Shirk, top distance man for the Albright Lions, set two meet records, copping the mile in 4:35 and the two mile in 10:14.2. The track was soft underneath the previous night's rain, making all the running events more difficult than just ordinary competition. The Albright College team was strong in the running events with great support coming from the weightmen in the field events.

After such a fine exhibit of the ability shown in last Saturday's meet, we feel that it is safe to say we expect to see Ken Greenawald beat 10 second hundred yard dash, and Bill Shirk better his fourthirty-two mark, not to forget Rudy Becker's sensational half-mile of 2:2.9.

Mahlon Frankhauser is also to be commended on his fine performance in probably his last college quarter mile. He was spiked on the first turn of the quarter, but continued running, finishing in a glorious second. Kretzing finished first in the quarter mile.

Tennis Team Loses Two; Schiavo Stars

Albright College's netters hoped to get back on the winning path this week after suffering their fifth and sixth defeats last week against their opening victories over Elizabethtown and LaSalle. On Tuesday the Lions played hosts to Moravian and on Thursday they traveled to Gettysburg to meet the Bullets. Tomorrow the Bloommen will take on Juniata on the home courts.

Mules and Dips Win

Last Tuesday Muhlenberg College handed the Albright tennis-ers a 7-2 lacing at Wyomissing as Dave Carr and Mike Egan won singles matches as well as a doubles match. Franklin and Marshall gave the unhappy netmen from Reading their sixth straight defeat by an 8-1 margin. Roger Davis and Jim Davis starred for the Diplomats by defeating Jack Rosen 6-4, 3-6, 6-4 and Nick Pasayotis on a forfeit respectively. The pair teamed for a doubles win over Rosen and Lee Hagginbothom.

Schiavo, Daugherty Star

The only Lion victories in the Muhlenberg meet were scored by Johnny Schiavo over Ron Shane 6-1, 8-6, and the team of Schiavo and Mike Daugherty 6-0 and 6-3 over Shane and Martin Aker. Although Schiavo lost to Bob Foster of F & M his record in the singles is five wins against three losses.

Schiavo and Daugherty have a three and four record in the doubles. Daugherty scored the only Lion tally against F & M by defeating Joe Fasnacht by 6-2, 6-0 scores.

The Lions close their schedule next week by meeting Dickinson at home on Monday, and traveling to Philadelphia to meet St. Joseph's on Thursday.

At Albright vs. F&M TENNIS SUMMARIES

Singles—Bob Foster, F., defeated John Schiavo, 6-2, 7-5. Daugherty, A., defeated Fasnacht, 6-2, 6-0. Roger David, F., defeated Jack Rosen, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4. Jim Davis, F., defeated Nick Pasayotis, forfeit. Kent Martin, F., defeated Lee Hagginbothom, 6-1, 6-1. Mort Feldman, F., defeated Jack Clopper, 6-4, 4-6, 6-1.

Doubles—Foster and Fasnacht, F., defeated Schiavo and Daugherty, 5-7, 6-4. David and Davis, F., defeated Rosen and Hagginbothom, 6-3, 6-3. Feldman and Martin, F., defeated Clopper and Lee Snyder, forfeit.

MASC Championships Today And Tomorrow

Today and tomorrow the Middle Atlantic Collegiate Track and Field Association's Championship meet will be held at LaSalle College's McCarthy Stadium, at 20th Street and Olney Avenue, in Philadelphia. Over seven hundred entries from nineteen Association colleges are expected to take part in the 42nd annual championships, which are being held for the first time in Philadelphia.

Lehigh Favored

Seven defending champions will be on hand for the sixteen-event program. Lehigh, St. Joseph's, and Lafayette are the favorites to dethrone La Salle, defending 1953 champs.

Today's program begins at 3:30 p. m. and includes time trials in the 100, 220, and 440-yard dashes, the 880-yard run, and the 220-yard low hurdles. Tomorrow's events, beginning at 1:30, include finals in the above as well as in the mile and two-mile runs, 120-yard high hurdles, shot put, javelin, discus, high jump, broad jump, and pole vault. The freshman medley and mile run events are scheduled for Saturday also.

Eight Lions To Compete

Track and field coach Gene Shirk has named Jack Fetterman, Rudy Becker, Bill Shirk, Jim Croke, Jim Rokitashel, Jim Barrett, Hal Kretzing, and Jack Huntzinger as Albright entries. Fetterman will compete in the 100 and 220-yard dashes, Becker in the half mile and mile, Shirk in the mile and two mile, Croke in the 120-yard high hurdles, 220-yard low hurdles, and the high jump, Rokitashel in both hurdle events, Barrett in the broad jump, Kretzing in the 440-yard dash, Krise in the shot put, discus, and javelin, and Huntzinger in the discus.

Co-captain Croke is the only veteran of last year's meet, in which he placed fifth in the 220-yard low hurdles.

New Women's Dorm To Be Named

The Evangelical School of Theology building will be used next fall as a women's dormitory. The new name for this building will be announced in June. New classrooms will also be furnished there and extensive changes will be made during the summer recess.

Forty To Live In New Dorm: Women Name Representative

About 40 women will reside in the new girls' dormitory, formerly the Evangelical School of Theology, next year. The new name for this building will be announced in June when the Board of Trustees meets, Priscilla Morton, Dean of Women, declared recently.

Dormitory officers for next year will be Jean Filbert, president of Women's Dormitory Organization and house president of the new dorm and Rachel Kaebnick, vice-president of the Dorm Council and house president of Selwyn Hall.

Representatives Chosen

Secretary and treasurer will be elected in the fall by the executive council from their members who include, besides the president and vice-president: junior floor representatives from the new dorm: Sally Lanz and Karen Saul; sophomore floor representatives from the new dorm: Jeanne Palm and Cynthia Winner.

Selwyn Hall sophomore representatives and freshman counselors are Sally Bubeck, Jean Hagenbuch, Nancy Hitchner, Mildred Tims, and Janet Weinstein. The class of 1958 will elect floor representatives after induction. Mrs. Ella Lesher will be head resident (housemother) in the dorm.

Auxiliary To Decorate

Formal social rooms will be to the right of the entrance in the new dormitory. These will be newly furnished by the Women's Auxiliary of Albright College. During the daytime they will be used by residents only. In the evening the girls may entertain guests here.

In the basement there is a recreation room for girls and a combination kitchenette-laundry.

The use of other rooms will be announced in the summer.

Lang Vesper Speaker; Wolf To Lead Service

On Sunday evening, May 16, Ehrhardt Lang, freshman pre-ministerial student, will speak at the vesper service to be held in Sylvan Chapel. Lang, who is of German background, is the son of a missionary family stationed in Japan.

Mary Jo Wolf, freshman home economics major, will lead the devotional period on Wednesday, May 19. The theme of her talk will be on the idea "He went forward a little." The topic is based on the material covered by Koffman in his book, "Christ in Gethsemane."

Dean Morton To Plan Next Year's Calendar

All presidents of organizations will receive listings of suggested times and places of meetings to be held next year, early next week. Dean Priscilla Morton requests that these persons see her in her office from 1:00-4:00 p. m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday and all day Tuesday and Thursday to verify calendar dates and activities. The parlors and room 103 will not be available for meeting places for the next college year.

Campus To Have Many Renovations

When Albright students return next fall, they will notice many and extensive changes in the buildings and grounds. The maintenance crew has already started to work on repairs and improvements.

The largest project will be the converting of the School of Theology building to a girls' dormitory. A new hot water tank will be installed, the lavatories renovated, sound conditioning worked on and blackboards installed. Other rooms in the building will be used as classrooms, recreation rooms and lounges. The girls' rooms will be furnished by new steel dormitory furniture. The large washrooms and shower rooms in the present girls' dormitories will be redecorated.

Many Buildings Painted

A new kitchen has been installed in President Masters' home and the wood trim on the exterior of the house has been painted. The wood trim on Sylvan Chapel and Sherman Cottage has also been painted, along with part of the exterior of Krause Hall.

Recently all of the roofs of college buildings, especially those of the fraternity houses, were repaired.

During the summer, the Administration Building will be redecorated in regards to its office set-up and new floors will be put down.

Bob Morawczynski Wins State Trophy

Robert Morawczynski, class of '57, placed second in the Mr. Pennsylvania contest at Easton last Saturday. A halfback on the varsity football team, Morawczynski, known to his friends as Bob Morris, had previously won the Junior Mr. Philadelphia title in 1952 and Mr. Berks County in 1953.

Nineteen years old and weighing 173 pounds, he would like to go on to win the Mr. America prize, he stated recently to a local newspaper. He embarked on his physique-building program as a result of being tagged with the nickname "Peanuts."

The next contest he is entering is the Junior Mr. America contest to be held tomorrow in Norfolk, Virginia. Strict training and diet are observed before entering these events.

1954 Cue Editor Reviews Book

by Margaret Locher, Cue Editor
The "fifty-four Cue" was planned with a different view in mind from the views of previous years. In addition to a change of publisher, the chief aims this year were informality and a true picture of Albright.

It is realized that no yearbook is complete without its flaws and we humbly acknowledge ours. If the staff were given another chance—many improvements could be made. But another chance is not to be had. Improvement rests in the hands of the staff of 1955.

It is sincerely hoped, however, that the senior class and the students of Albright have enjoyed their Cue and will continue to enjoy it as time passes.

Twelve Will Enter Nurses' Training

Six sophomores will enter the Reading Hospital next fall to be enrolled in the nurses' training program. These girls who have passed entrance tests are Lorraine Johnston, Dorothea Lang, Sharline Heath, Elissa Swisher, Margaret Kane, and Lucille Hummell.

Also, six freshmen have passed their examinations taken last month and will enter the hospital in the fall of 1955. They are Nancy Cashin, Barbara Cruttenden, JoAnn Yopp, Jean Hagenbuch, Shirley Henry and Catherine Phillipson.

Upon completion of three satisfactory years at the Reading Hospital the girls will be awarded their R.N. and B.S. degrees.

Students To Register On Monday, May 24

Registration for the first semester of next year will be held Monday, May 24, in Krause Hall. Classes will again register separately with the juniors starting at 8:30; sophomores at 9:30; and the freshmen at 10:30. Registration will close at 2:30 p. m. Students failing to register on this day will be charged the regular late registration fee.

Students who have schedule difficulties or need curriculum advice should consult their advisors some time before registration day. A schedule of faculty office hours is listed on the bulletin board in the administration building.

Council Debates

since the officers had already been installed. At the last meeting, a new motion declaring the freshmen class elections illegal according to the Constitution was defeated because of the lack of a two-third's majority.

James Hall is organizing a committee to look into the matter of setting aside a chapel period each month for class meetings.

President Hall invited the new members to join former members at a picnic on May 20. The place for the picnic has not been selected yet.

Dr. Masters Speaks At Last Assembly

Dr. Harry V. Masters will address Albrightians next Thursday in the last chapel period. On Tuesday, Miss Laura Mauk from Tokyo, Japan, will speak to the students.

This week the Kappa Upsilon Phi fraternity presented the Thursday assembly program. Reverend Eugene Barth dedicated part of the Tuesday program to Andrew Janiszewski, former Albrightian. The rest of the program was presented by Professor Emily Haskell.

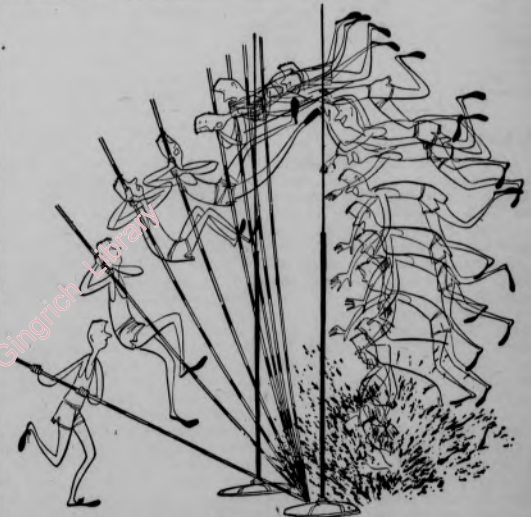

Domino Elects Cowen; Alpha Psi Omega Takes 2

Thirty new members were inducted into the Domino Club at its last meeting. Elections were also held and Roslyn Cowen was elected president of the organization. Other officers include Barbara Topken, vice president; Sara Jorammon, secretary; and James Rogers, treasurer.

At the same meeting Roslyn Cowen and James Rogers were inducted into Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatics fraternity. Miss Cowen was elected president of the fraternity.

1955 Compass Planned

Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary journalism fraternity, at its meeting last week elected Patricia Weiherer as president. Plans for the 1954-55 "Compass," the freshman directory, were also formulated and assignments made by Dorothy DeLaney, this year's president.
