ALBRIGHT  COLLEGE

MOHN HALL

MAIN HALL

Foreword

IN this volume of the "SPECULUM" the class of 1923 has tried to "mirror" the events and activities of the college year. If it merits the interest of its readers, and if, in the far days of the future, it may cause the reviving of old memories, the living over again and the renewing of the friendships of these golden days, we shall feel well repaid for our efforts.

The different phases of college life and student activity are grouped under the following departments: Board of Trustees; Faculty; Classes; Athletics; Organizations; Literary; and Ads.

As we stand here, in the midst of the years of our Alma Mater, we sense the breaking of a new day for the college. We would, therefore, regard this volume of the "SPECULUM" as the precursor of a greater era for ALBRIGHT.

To you who have aided us, materially or otherwise, in the production of this volume, we extend our sincere thanks.

Senior Class History

As seniors, we are conscious of the fact that our school days are near an end. Combined with a feeling of impatience to take up the work of the promising future, there is a reluctance to sever the bonds that have been forged, and a tendency to live again the years of the past, which we have spent together here at Albright.

The freshman year was a year of adjustment and of striving to show our mettle. Tho' inexperienced and often weak, individually, a unity was acquired in that year which made success possible while freshmen, and presaged success for the following year.

When we entered Albright as Sophomores, there was a feeling of elation, because we had advanced to our second year at college. The outstanding features of that year, which fill any member of the class of '22 with pride, were the Soph. Banquet and Soph. night.

Following that year of work to show our ability, our Junior year dawned upon us. We have carried out our duties and responsibilities as upper classmen, not by a display of authority, but by quietly taking our place in the life of the college and never flinching, tho' often discouraged. The goal we have desired to reach appeared faintly, now, on the horizon, and with renewed courage we came to the end of a year of work and duty with a feeling of pleasureable success.

Now we are Seniors, with only the work of the future to look forward to. The recollections of past years fade in the light of the new day which is about to dawn on us. However, the thought of our own future is eclipsed by the thought of our Alma Mater. We desire a success for her as fruitful and bright as that which we pray our class as a whole may enjoy, if there is no shirking of the duties that fall to their lot.

 ALBRIGHT SPECULUM COLLEGE 1923

Myerstown, Pa.
Feb. 9, 1922.

Dear old pal,

By this time, you are doubtless eager to hear from the class of '23. You remember well, I suppose, how in our freshman and sophomore years, we took great interest in the "doings" of our college. We entered into everything with a vigor: into athletics with a fine representation on varsity teams and with class teams of which we are justly proud; into musical activities with members who are of inestimable value to them; into literary work; upon social activities, sociability between classmates as well as with members of other classes; into scholastic training with resulting reports which were very satisfactory to ourselves and to our worthy instructors.

Now we are Juniors. As in former years, we are well represented in athletics, musical organizations, literary work, and social activities, and rank high in scholastic work. To begin at the beginning of our history as Juniors, nearly all of the former Sophomores returned and several new names have been added to our list, so that we are about the same in number as we were last year.

The first few weeks, we did as much as we were able to make our new class cousins feel at home, and to save them from the wiles of the wicked (?) Sophs. Then came the Senior reception. Here we played the part of introducer. Old pal, you should have been here to hear the speakers the night of the Junior Oratorical Contest. Talent of no low order was displayed, for the orations were of splendid composition and very well rendered. We have also furnished members of the Society debating teams, and of the Intercollegiate teams. As to our scholastic standing, each member of '23 is trying to do his or her best.

The foregoing facts are few in number. However, we can say, the class of '23 has never lost interest in the activities of its Alma Mater. It is ever our greatest desire and highest ambition to manifest this interest, and if in any way we have failed at any time, may we, in the remaining year of our college career, perform such illustrious deeds in recompense that Albright will be proud of us, and her best interests subserved. We mean to advance.

Sincerely,
Verda M. Wetzel, '23.

FRANK POSEY KYLE.

Z Ω E

*"None know him, but to like him;
None name him, but to praise."*

Due to some mysterious dispensation of Providence, Frank became a member of the class of '23. This serious but cheerful lad hails from Red Lion, Pa. He is full of ambition and determination to accomplish whatever he undertakes. This was evident when he returned in our sophomore year with a marriage certificate tucked under his arm, the only one of which '23' is able to boast. He is now the proud father of the class mascot. Frank is an untiring worker in all school activities, and figures prominently on the debating rostrum and in the various musical organizations. He is our highly honored class president, a distinction he justifiably merits. Since he has decided to enter the teaching profession, the class of '23 wishes him a most successful career.

MABEL MARION WEIGEL.

"Qui vent, pent."

Marion, as she is known to us, is a graduate of Shamokin High. She came to college a rather demure little Freshman and we feel somehow that she has kept that trait. The saying "laugh and grow fat" doesn't seem to apply to her for although she laughs, she certainly doesn't grow fat. Conscientious? Yes! Ambitious? Yes! These two characteristics have made her a student of whom '23 may be proud. Her ambition now is to become a teacher-of French. We can easily imagine Marion in the class-room, using her ability in directing and teaching her pupils. However, she does not devote all her time to work, to the exclusion of play. Sometimes she tries to appear to us as a man-hater but we know better. The "School-marm", even though we don't expect her to teach pupils "parler" very long.

LLOYD VICTOR KRUEGER.
*"Jolly the fellow that is down to-day,
 Give him a smile for his sorrow;
 For this old world has a funny
 way—
 We may all be down to-morrow."*

Lloyd is better known to us as "Rip", a graduate of Bethlehem High, and is a hail-fellow, well-met. He is happy, care-free, and loyal to the core. "Rip's" laugh may be heard ringing through the halls of OLD MAIN at almost any hour of the day or night. He is a sure cure for the "blues".

"Rip" is a member of the Glee Club. His greatest delight is to have a large, enthusiastic cheering section with which to exert his energy. During this year we find Lloyd growing quieter, and almost moody at times. Of course, there is a reason, and that reason is to wi-NONA. Here's wishing him success and happiness in whatever he may take up as a life's work.

VERDA MAY WETZEL.
*"Lark-like her song it trills—
 Over the dale and hills,
 Hark! how her laughter thrills
 Joyously joking."*

The above verse characterizes Verda. All of us who have heard her sing avow her invaluable to our class. Whenever a mellow contralto voice is heard near us we may almost be assured that Verda is trying her trills. She is not as studious as we would expect of one of her ability, but she readily adapts herself to her surroundings.

Verda, or "Wetz" as we call her is full of fun. Ask some of the girls at Mohn Hall and they will tell you all about it. Her sweet and charming voice has won her the position of contralto soloist on the Glee Club. Verda's chief ambition is a career in the musical world. The members of the class of '23 wish her a joyous, nappy career.

RAY BENJAMIN LACKEY.

ITB

*"A charming way and a winning smile,
That can't be found for many a mile."*

These words express Ray at all times and in all moods. He believes in the fact that a sunny temper gilds the edge of the darkest cloud. Ray hails from Carlisle, a city in the beautiful Cumberland valley. He graduated from Carlisle High in 1918.

In high school Ray won the reputation of being a basketball and football star. He has served excellently at guard on the college eleven during his three years stay with us. Judging from appearances he is equally as proficient in love as he is in football. "Suit yourself to the occasion" may rightly be said to be Ray's favorite motto, for he can be serious with the thinker as well as humorous with the jolly. Ray is an earnest student, a hard worker, a sincere friend, and, since he is every inch a man, a leader. A man with these qualifications can not help but win success as a contractor, in which sphere of activity he has our best wishes for success.

ROSALIE ELMIRA CAMP.

*"We attract hearts by the qualities we display;
We retain them by the qualities we possess."*

This quiet little girl comes from the coal regions. After her High School course at Mt. Carmel, Rosalie came to Albright and enrolled with the class of '23. Although to the casual observer she appears to be very quiet and reserved, her intimate friends will bear witness that she can talk and take her part at any time.

Rosalie does not live in the "Hall", but she is always on hand and willing to help when there is a class or student affair at hand. She is a diligent student, who displays her ability particularly in the departments of mathematics and Spanish. She is preparing to teach, altho she says she doesn't know what. However, we wish her the best of luck in all she undertakes.

ORVILLE B. BENNETT.

"Few things are impossible to diligence and skill."

Bennett hails from Columbia Co. He was graduated from Bloomsburg Normal School, and, after teaching for some time in Northumberland High, came to Albright to further his education. He joined the unit, but returned home when it disbanded. However, he came back the next fall, joining the class of '23.

One chief characteristic of this man is his original dry humor. Although, to a casual observer, Orville seems to present a stern, unfriendly exterior, we know that this exterior conceals an extreme sensitiveness, and great capacity for friendship once one succeeds in penetrating his reserve.

While Bennett appears as a "woman-hater" about the college, his close friends know differently. The class of '23 is fortunate in having him as a member, for he has proved to be an asset to both by his diligent school work and by his strong character. The class wishes him success in his chosen vocation—that of teaching.

JENNIE RUTH CURRY.

"Oh girls, my mind is a perfect 'Blank'."

Her mind is not a "Blank" as far as intelligence is concerned for Ruth is one of the music students of whom our class is very proud.

When Ruth came from Johnstown last year we thought she was one of the most bashful girls who lingered on the "duck path." But now we know differently since we have learned to know her. We can hear her gay laugh ringing through the Hall, and not only her laugh, but her song too—"I love you truly." Just whom is she referring to when she sings this little piece of sentiment? We often wonder.

What her future work will be we haven't been able to ascertain, but whatever it is we know she will be successful if she throws into it the "pep" and ambition she has displayed among her fellow students. The best wishes of '23 attend her.

JAMES GOOD BROWN.

I T B

"Study, work, love; and the greatest of these is love."

In Bellefonte, on July 13, 1901, there was born a child named James Good Brown. Being the son of a minister, J. Good was destined to a nomadic life. His education was finally completed at Berwyn High.

He came to Albright, and after a fairly unsettled life, became more established in his Sophomore year (?). Brown is an artist with the violin. Between his musical talent, studies, and—, his time is very well utilized. We wish him the best in the pursuit of his life's work.

ETHEL F. DIFFENDERFER.

*"The great were once as you,
You envy them their proud success?
'Twas won with gifts that you possess."*

This little brunette came to join the class of '23 from the little town of Pottsgrove, near Milton. She is one of our jolliest girls; her laugh may be heard throughout the halls, and, on some occasions, even in classes. She is always ready to her part, when it comes to the duties of the class and other organizations of the school.

Ethel is not sure of what she is going to do after leaving Albright but whether she teaches or takes up domestic science in her own home, we wish her the greatest success.

GORDON S. BURGETT.

"Good nature and good sense united, the product—a man."

These calm features are the personal property of none other than Gordon Burgett, who hails from the beautiful Cumberland valley, near the city of Carlisle. After graduating from the Carlisle High School, he came to Albright as a member of the class of '23.

Although his features seem to indicate a peaceably inclined nature, we grieve to say, as is often the case, appearances are deceiving, for beneath his quiet exterior lies a very purposeful nature. Therefore the above quotation characterizes him in every respect. Gordon has always been a loyal member of the class of '23. He takes a prominent part in the different organizations of the college. Gordon has already chosen his life's work, that of the ministry, and in that sphere we wish him the greatest success, confident in the fact that he will make a name for himself.

SARA F. MCKEE FAUST.

*"Pretty Mickey! Pretty Mickey!
Can you blame anyone
For falling in love,
With you?"*

Like her namesake of the movies, "Mickey" possesses the happy faculty of endearing herself to everyone with whom she comes into contact—at least she has done so since she joined us in our Freshman year. In addition to this, she enjoys the distinction of being the "class baby."

A member of an Evangelical minister's family, Frances has claimed several towns as her home during her short school life. She will tell you that this has had its disadvantages—"those three year high schools, especially"—but nevertheless, it has served to widen her circle of friends.

Our youngest member is as yet rather undecided as to what her career shall be after graduation, but whatever she chooses, wherever life's current may draw her, she may be sure the heartiest good wishes of her class-mates follow her.

PAUL TRUMBOWER DECH.

K Y Φ

*"He's a regular fellow;
The gold in his soul
Is all that is yellow."*

"Deckie" is an all-round fellow; a regular "guy". Although he doesn't sleep in the dorm, the greater part of the day he may be found in the "gang's" room, studying, or waiting in the hall after supper for—? But then you cannot blame Paul, for "it's just his way."

As an athlete, Paul ranks as one of the best in the class, being a three-sport man. His playing is gritty, and of the highest order. He never fails to put all his energy into the game, even playing so hard at times that he was afflicted with migrains. May success and honor crown his efforts, is our parting word.

IRENA SUSAN IBACH.

*"—The best is yet to be,
The last of life for which the first was made."*

Irena started her college career at Wilson. Having remained there but a year, she came to Albright and entered the loyal ranks of '23.

She firmly believes in the motto "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you", and as far as she is able, she lives up to it. Her outstanding characteristic, good-naturedness, has resulted in many warm friends.

One sad thing about Irena is, she does not enjoy school very much, for she has her mind set upon outside things and her heart on (?). Considering the future her friends agree with her that a course in a different profession would be more profitable. For instance, we think a nurse would be an admirable partner for a doctor.

If, however, she follows her present course, we wish her the best of success.

PAUL JONATHAN DUNDORE
*"Bashful and quiet the whole way through,
 But steadfast, kind, sincere, and true."*

This is our friend Dundore, a native of Lebanon county. He received his early training in the rural schools of the county and graduated from Myerstown High in 1918. The next fall he entered A. C., joining the S. A. T. C. When that organization disbanded, he returned home, but realizing his mistake, he came back in 1919, becoming a member of our class.

Altho Paul does not stay in the dorm., and is not privileged to be with us on all occasions, yet he is a loyal member of the class. It is said that when he receives his sheepskin, he will enter a seminary to continue the preparation for his life's work, the ministry. The best wishes of the class for success go with him.

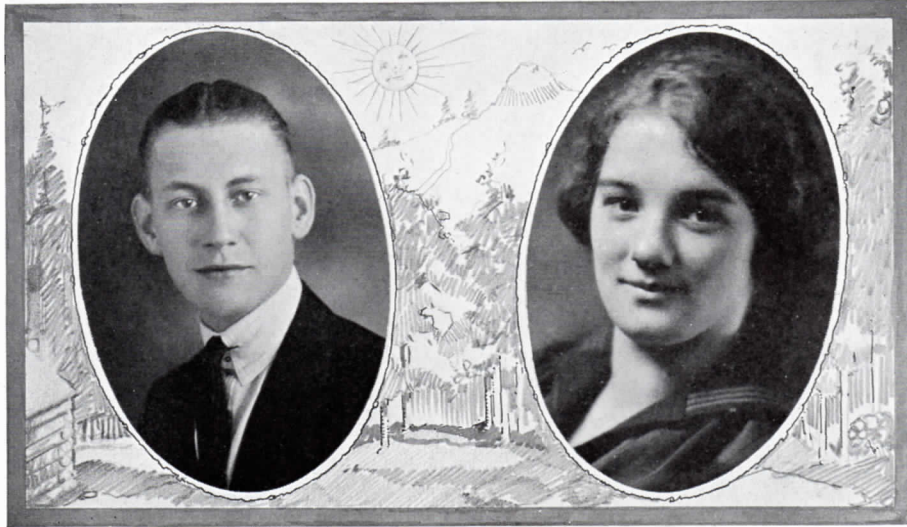

MARY DEBORAH KIESS.

*"A sunny temper gilds the edge
 of life's blackest cloud."*

Well here is Mary, just fine and jolly. Smiling and happy, she is the best friend you've ever found. She is always willing and ready to help the other fellow who is in need. No time to waste, always on the wing.

Mary is a real good sport, always eager to do her part in whatever the task may be. When called upon to recite, in class, Mary never lets the opportunity go by. But that isn't all she can do, for she is just the best housekeeper you've ever seen, and excels in the culinary art. She can bake the best pies and cakes. She has our sincere best wishes for success in all future undertakings.

RAY A. HIMMELBERGER.
*"What so foolish as the chase of fame?
 How vain the prize! how impotent our aim!"*

Born at an early age, in the city of Harrisburg, this brilliant, effervescent young man was for thirteen years a prominent citizen of Wintersville, and foremost among its ten farmers. Aspiring, however, toward higher things, Ray decided to take his father and mother to Myerstown and further his education.

Thereupon he entered Myerstown High, from where he was duly graduated. He then joined the class of '23 at old Albright. One of the most popular members of the class, "Himmie" has gained a reputation for his merry disposition, pleasing manner, and cheery smile. His one ambition is to go to "Florence," and in this "journey," as well as in all other undertakings, the best wishes of '23 are his.

PAULINE REBECCA KURTZ.
*"A friend no truer can be found,
 Nor yet a better one."*

You have heard of quiet though active little streams, that flow along their courses in such a way that they will reach their destination, no matter what obstacles they meet? Such a one is Pauline. She is industry personified, calm, systematic, and very business-like, capable of sincere sympathy and warm, true friendship. Having set for herself a certain goal—that of becoming a "school-marm", she directs all her activities toward that end.

Beneath her quietness, however, there lies a deep sense of humor. Many have been the innocent victims of tricks whose origin may be traced to this fair co-ed. Thus she spends her days, now laughing, now serious, now chattering nonsense with the day-students,—a typical care-free college girl. Good luck to her, is the sentiment of her classmates in everything she may undertake.

HARVEY JAMES KLINE.

K Y Φ

*"Not too sober, nor yet too gay;
Just a regular fellow in every way."*

This debonair youth is doubly fortunate in that his father is a minister and in that he came to us from Nazareth,—Pa. Taking part in all school activities, especially athletics, in which sphere he excels on the gridiron and in the cage, this man is a universal favorite, and has made many warm friends. His sparkling wit and droll comicality are infectious, while who could withstand his irresistible grin? Apart from his love of a good time, "Happy" has also a serious side. Earnestness and sincerity mark his attitude toward the things he undertakes. Although we would like to see him on the stage, at some future time, gladdening the hearts of thousands, we are certain that he will attain that for which he strives. The best wishes of '23 for his success in the realm of his chosen activity follow him.

MIRIAM ARNITA MILES.

*"These are the days of my life,
These are my golden days."*

Although she came to us from Somerset, Pittsburg is now 'Nita's home. She was here but a year and a half when "Happy Days" came into her life to stay. Her chief ambition after graduating was to specialize in teaching, but we are rather skeptical as to her career at present. It appears, however, that she has chosen for herself the "road of companionship" in which to find her real happiness.

'Nita has a splendid capacity for scholarship and no mean literary ability. She has already regaled us with numerous stories, literary articles, etc. We predict for her a long, happy and successful career.

HAROLD P. LANDIS.
Z Ω E
"What is life, when wanting love."

"Hap" is a native of Myers-town and a product of the local high school. He entered our class in the fall of 1920 and studied hard for two weeks, after which time he decided not to let his studies interfere with his social aspirations. Accordingly, he became a frequent visitor at Mohn Hall and we will not hesitate to vouch that his attendance there is better than that of his eight o'clock classes.

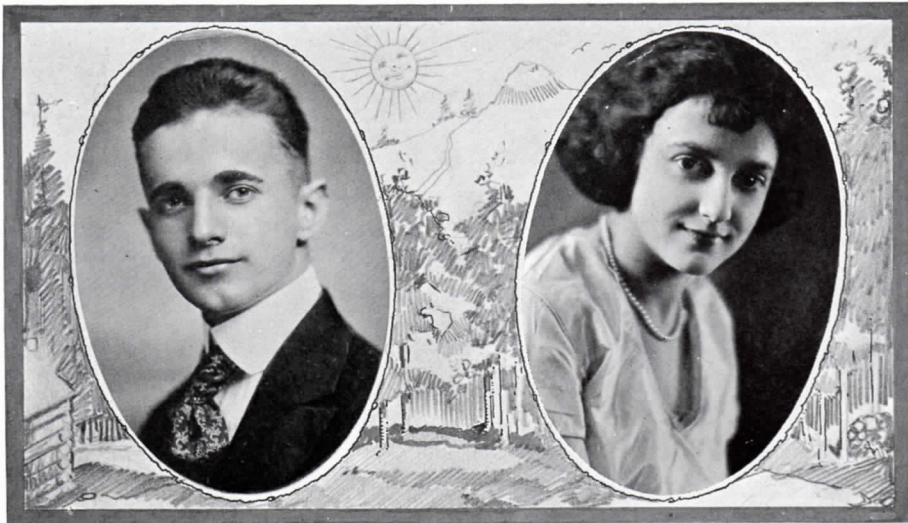

Harold is always in an optimistic mood, and his friends are many. In the class-room he is wide-awake and always ready to engage in argument with Dr. Bowman or Prof. Keller. "Hap" claims he is an auto-mechanic, for he says, "Not anyone is capable of making the 'ol' Buick' go." However he does not lose sight of books entirely, for he is frequently seen going to class with a pile of them under his arm—Most of them ar-Nita's. We will always remember him as a good fellow and the class of '23 wishes him the best of luck in whatever walk of life he may enter.

GRACE A. REESEY.
*"My true love has my heart,
 And I have his."*

Grace comes to us from Johnstown, another of the Cambria county members of our class. She joined the class but a short while ago, and we are proud and glad to have her one of us.

Before coming to Albright, Grace was a trained nurse. Ever since she has been living in the Hall, she has cheerfully given her counsel and aid in all cases of illness. Her ever ready smile and adorable dimples would win her case anywhere. Indeed, she has won for all time the heart of one of our mutual classmates. All of us concur in saying that Grace will make a splendid minister's wife, and with her clear soprano voice, is well-fitted to lead the choir in the church in which her husband preaches. The well wishes of '23 for success and happiness speed her.

FREDERIC E. LUCKENBILL.

Z Ω E

*Whom neither shape or danger
can dismay;
Nor thought of tender happiness betray.*

"Lucky", a native of Fleetwood, entered Albright in the Fall of 1918 as a member of the S. A. T. C. unit. Realizing the advantage of a college education, he continued his college course after the unit disbanded.

In the time he has been with us, "Lucky" has established quite a reputation for himself along various lines of activity. Chief of these, perhaps, is his success in the field of music, as evidenced by the fact that he has been a member of the Glee for the past four years. As a student, he ranks among the best. He has also made good on the gridiron, having gained a berth as one of the "first-string" men during the past successful season. In fact, there are few phases of student activity in which Fred is not prominent. The class wishes him the best success in the sphere of activity he chooses his vocation.

SARA MARIE STATLER.

*"A sunny temper gilds the edge
of life's blackest clouds."*

Sara is truly one who upholds the motto, "Smile and the world smiles with you." We are very fortunate to be able to claim her as a member of our class. She came to join the ranks of the A. C. students this year as a "music student"—and that alone speaks for itself. Sara has remarkable talent in the field of music, both instrumental and vocal, and has won a place in the hearts of all as one of our favorite soloists.

Most important of all—we dare not forget that Sara is proud to be counted among the Cambria county students. She graduated from Johnstown High in the middle of the 1919-'20 term and substituted in the public schools until coming to Albright. After graduating, her chief ambition is to continue her studies in music. In whatever sphere her life-work may be, we, together with Paul, wish her success and happiness.

 ALBRIGHT SPECULUM COLLEGE

C. E. RAFFENSBERGER.
"He that by the plough would thrive, Himself must either hold or drive."

Charlie has long since learned the great lesson, that it is much better to be happy and never to be infected with a grouch. So no matter where you see him he is the same old chap.

He came to us during our present year, after he had graduated from Shippensburg Normal school with the class of '21. There he had the honor of graduating fourth in a class consisting of one-hundred twenty-five. The qualities that made this honor possible are now being manifested here at Albright. He is an excellent student, industrious, a sincere friend, and above all he has the welfare of the various organizations of the school at heart.

MARY LISBETH WOODRING.
"Her cheery smile wins the hearts of all."

Mary was not a stranger about school when she came to join the ranks of '23. She attended the Myerstown schools and learned to know many of the students and people of Myerstown. After she was graduated from the Ephrata High School she came to Albright to join us.

A girl of sterling worth, Mary is a friend to all the girls, and they always find her a good sport ready for a jolly good time. Her admirers are not confined to the feminine sex, however.

Mary is fond of athletics, and is proficient in the major girls' sports. She is also one of our studious classmates, and is always prepared in her class-work. She says her ambition is to become a physical director. In harmony with "Emerson," we, however, predict a different career for her. The best wishes of her classmates attend her.

WILLIAM McK. ROLAND.
"Who doth ambition shun, and loves to lie in the sun."

Gaze upon the fair countenance of a sturdy son of '23, stranger to Toil, but an ever willing follower of Morpheus and the Goddess of Chance. Although he is a late addition to the class, "Bill" is no stranger at Albright. He entered in 1916 and during the spring of 1918, answered the call to arms. After faithfully serving his country, he is again with us to continue his studies.

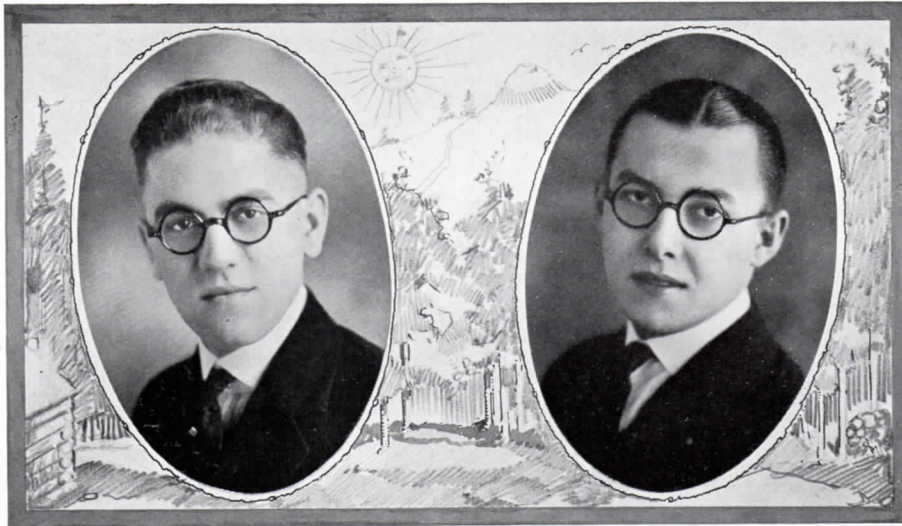

"Bill" is actively engaged in our musical and athletic organizations: in both baseball and basketball has he given his services. In music, he stands in a class alone, due to his proficiency on the clarinet and the guitar. The Band claims him as a charter member, and he is also a member of the string trio. The good wishes of the class are extended to him and in his endeavors toward fame and a fortune we wish him success.

MAGGIE LAURA YARNALL.
*"That she is timid and sedate,
 no doubt you will aver,
 But that really shows, how little you know of her."*

Maggie is one of the few members of the class of '23 who hails from Myerstown, and is indeed one of whom both the "burg" and the class may be proud. She has proved herself a very industrious and successful student, even tho' much of her time is taken up doing other things. While not very active in the social affairs of Albright she is a staunch supporter of the social life of Myerstown.

This member of our class is blessed with a sweet soprano voice, which we are sure will be a valuable asset in charming—(?). Those who are fortunate enough to be a friend of this damsel, find her true blue, all wool, and a yard wide.

MYRON ALFRED TETER.

*"Love lieth deep: love dwells not in lip-depths.
Love wraps his wings on either side the heart."*

This quiet, reserved young man, desiring to prepare to serve mankind more effectively, came to Albright in the autumn of 1919. Coming from a minister's home, Myron is well aware of both the lights and shadows that form a great part of the life of a minister. Hence the consecration of himself to the ministry manifests his fearless determination to accomplish his God-given task, in spite of any opposing force.

Here at college he has earnestly devoted his efforts to the laying of a foundation upon which the superstructure of his life-work may rest secure. Myron has won his way into the lasting regard of a large circle of friends thru his cheerful disposition, pleasing manners, and evident true worth. Withal; he has "that gentleness, which, when it weds with manhood, makes a man."

He has, moreover, been particularly diligent in his devotion to the one Grace of his life. With love and Grace as his boon companions, we predict for Myron a successful and happy life.

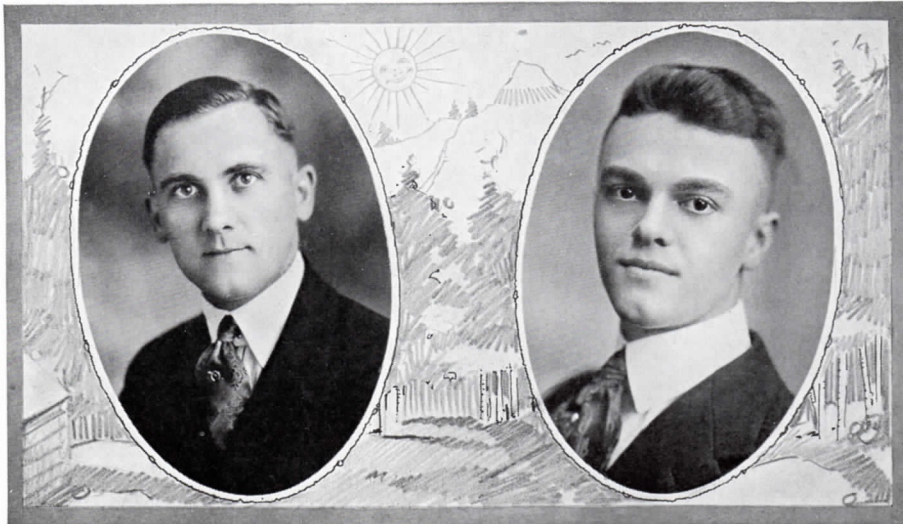

LESTER E. WHITMOYER.

*"He seizes the prompt occasion—makes the thought Start into instant action, and at once
Plans and performs, resolves and executes."*

Whitmoyer comes to us from Lebanon. However this is not the place which claims his birth. He was born at Klinefeltersville, Aug. 8, 1903, and has the distinction of being the youngest male member of our class.

During the first two years of his college life, "Whit" held the title of "college barber". Was he speedy? Don't mention the word, for it neither measures up to, nor even approaches his pace. If a fellow mounted the chair ten minutes before class time he would easily get his hair cut and be in the class room fully five minutes before the recitation began.

Although speedy, Lester is a very capable member of our class. Best wishes for the utmost success are extended to him by '23.

NATHAN E. ESCOTT.

I T B

*"The man who consecrates his hours,
By rigorous effort and honest aim,
At once he draws the sting of life and death;
He walks with nature and her paths are peace."*

Ellsworth came to us from the wild, rugged hills of western Pennsylvania where he started his school life by receiving his first bits of knowledge in the previously unknown, backwoods country school of Sterling. His energetic ability was too great for him to stop there and after a few years he was graduated from Woodward High.

After two years service for his country, he came to Albright as a ministerial student, and soon found his place among his classmates. He is known as a true and faithful friend, whether in the classroom, study room, religious or social activities.

For two years he proudly declared himself immune to the wily darts of cupid, but at last the critical moment arrived, and with the opening of the third year came "the one who waits," as he has frequently been heard to say, and now "the old order changeth, giving way to new." Although new interests have come to him, we believe that, with his excellent capabilities as a student, his capacity for sociability among mankind and the discovery of new friends, we can safely prophesy for him a bright and prosperous future.

DAVID LENTZ HOFFMAN.

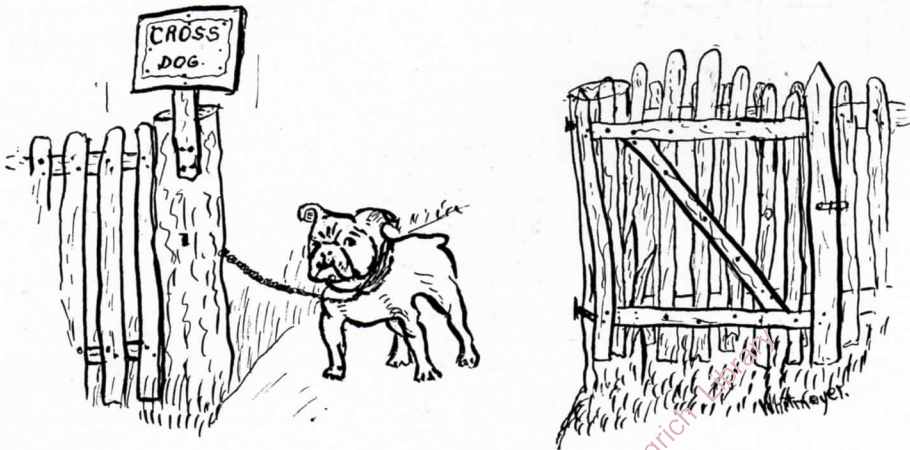

Z Ω E

*"In the lexicon of youth, which fate reserves
For a bright manhood, there is no such word as—fail."*

Better known about the college as "Dave" or "Hoffie", this young man came to us from the local High School, where he made a record for himself as a student. He is always ready for a good time, but knows how to mix fun and work in the right proportions.

"Hoffie" is a hard worker, a sincere friend, and one of the most loyal sons of '23. A large part of the success of this publication is due to his efforts as business manager. He is pursuing the Scientific course, with the view of becoming a teacher of science. Much could be written concerning the activities "Dave" has taken part in, but we shall leave him here with the assurance that the class of '23 wishes him well in whatever he may undertake during the course of his life's work, knowing that he is worthy of the best.

The class of '24.

WITH the curiosity of Pandora, the three upper classes of Albright gazed upon the class of '24 as it came into their midst for the first time. Green? Yes—as green as the tightly closed rosebud that grows in the garden. But the class, just like a bud, watered by the genial fellow feeling of the students, fed upon the bread of knowledge, and smiled upon the gardeners, opened its tiny petals and is now a growing bud—almost a half-blown rose.

In September the class of '24 returned to Albright with several new recruits. Although a few members who were with us last year have dropped from our ranks, we still have the largest class in college. Not only do we have quantity, but we claim quality as well. Ask the Freshmen about that. As Sophs, we immediately assumed our proper role of teaching the Freshmen just what Albright expects of them.

One of the big events of our life as a class was the banquet—or we should say banquets, for the Freshman banquet was just as interesting for us. That was the day the girls of our class played a heroic part in the little escapade with the Frosh girls. But originality and cleverness (?) were displayed when the members of our class at 4 A. M., with songs on their lips and victory on their brows, wended their way to the Berkshire in Reading to enjoy a banquet in peace and quiet. Never will we forget that banquet.

Another interesting event in which we played the leading role was the Hallowe'en party. The Sophs summoned the witches and fairies and nymphs and all to give the students a real party. Even the Prof's pronounced it one of the finest parties of its kind ever given at this institution. We were glad to give our fellow students a good time.

In the classroom and in all the activities of our school, our class contributes its share. In literary circles, in athletics, in musical organizations, we are splendidly represented.

"To be rather than to seem to be." A worthy motto! The class of '24, by being its true self, is aiming to give to Albright the best that it has. And when the bud has grown to a full-blown rose and is plucked from the garden to be carried into the world, may it bloom on forever!

FRESHIES

Freshman Class History

It was a very disappointed group of young people who assembled at Albright in September, to form the class of '25. We had come expecting to find a group of stately buildings, erected upon a beautiful, well-kept campus. Instead, we saw great piles of building material surrounding two unfinished buildings, and everything in disorder. But we were soon to find that however disappointing the external appearance, the Albright spirit was all that we had expected to find and more.

The other students certainly did all they could to make us feel at home. It seemed for awhile that the chief object in the life of some, at least, lay in keeping the Freshmen interested. They even carried the idea to the extent of staging a little Moonlight Ramble down along the Canal, inviting six of our number as guests. An impromptu program, consisting of races, songs, and speeches, was rendered by the six Freshmen, with all the numbers loudly applauded and some of them encored several times.

By far the most important event of that first week was our Banquet, held in the Brunswick hotel at Lancaster. We had determined to hold it before the Sophomores held theirs, and with this object in view, had completed all plans for the affair before Wednesday evening. The time for departure had been set for one o'clock Thursday afternoon, and we were just congratulating ourselves upon our success in keeping it secret, when the Sophs learned our plans. Of course this caused some delay in the proceedings, but finally an amicable settlement was reached, we climbed on our truck, and were off. The evening was one which we shall remember. Songs and toasts were rife throughout, and all too soon the time arrived for us to return. It was a tired but happy party that separated in front of Mohn Hall later in the evening.

Following the banquet, nothing of importance occurred until the eve. of October 15. Learning that the birthdays of two of our fellows fell on that day, we planned a surprise for them. We kidnapped them early in the evening and took them, bound and blindfolded, out into the country, where a "Weenie" roast had been prepared. Meanwhile, back in OLD MAIN someone discovered that all the Freshmen boys were away. Probably suspecting that we were having a good time, and not wishing to be outdone, he, together with some others, decided to have a little fun. Judging from appearances, their sport must have taken the form of a little game of hide and seek with the Freshmen rooms as a playground.

Next in order came the FROSH-SOPH football game. It ended in an easy victory for the Frosh eleven, thanks to Christ's splendid guidance and playing.

The first Semester is over now and we are all regular college students. That our class has been making good is shown by the number taking part in the various activities, football, basket ball, the "Y", and the Glee Clubs.

Just as those piles of material have been transformed into great buildings, so these forty-two young people have united to form the strong class of '25. Here's hoping that we shall continue to be a credit to Albright.

PREPS.

“Prep” History

In playing the role of historian, one is sometimes tempted to over-much reveling in, and recounting of, the achievements of the past. Today, however, the thought of the unfinished work before us keeps our pen within proper limits. Our failures and triumphs are recorded in the Book of Time; our tears will not erase the former, nor will time dim the latter. We profit from the first; and take courage from the last.

We have had triumphs; such as overcoming handicaps, mastering difficult subjects, and winning “moral victories.” Our class has ideals and aspirations of a lofty nature. We are in training for such spheres of labor as the ministry, missions, teaching, music, medicine. Our aim while here is to lay a foundation that will help insure our services in those fields.

Of course our class constitutes the smaller unit of Albright; yet our activities are interwoven with those of the higher classes. Do not creeks feed the rivers, and thus contribute to their greatness? How close the analogy! So our class has a place in, and is a part of, the organizations of the school, and the life of the institution in general. We heartily believe in united effort on the part of the classes for the promotion of the best interests of our school. This will enhance and not destroy class spirit or distinction.

Our class “came out” in favor of Student Government, which was so recently inaugurated. We pledge our support in the realization of so worthy an object as the betterment of student sentiment, the fostering of coordinated effort and interest on the part of the students, and the securing of mutual understanding and interest between the faculty and student body.

In closing—we are highly interested in the present material development of our school. However we believe that if we are to become a Greater Albright, academic and moral development must keep pace with material advances.

Football Resume, 1921-1922

NOVEMBER 14th closed the most successful football season in the history of Albright College in comparative scores and calibre of teams met on the gridiron. Altho the preceding season surpasses it in percentage of games won, yet the past season may be classed as a more successful one on the basis of teams met and teams defeated. The season's schedule was as follows:

F. and M.	7	Albright	0
P. M. C.	20	"	27
Swarthmore	28	"	0
Western Maryland	7	"	20
Juniata	0	"	41
Susquehanna U.	6	"	21
Muhlenburg	15	"	7
Opponents	83	Albright	116

Two of the three games were lost because the "breaks of the game" went to the opposing teams. Swarthmore is the only team that gained a clear-cut victory over the Albright varsity. The victories of F. and M. and of Muhlenburg were victories handed to them by the "jinx", and not victories won by superior playing or by out-fighting the red and white machine. It is unnecessary to tell of each game.

The season is remarkable in the light of the material from which the team was developed. Seldom were there two teams on the gridiron for practice at one time. Albright went into the F. and M. game without having had a real practice scrimmage. Instead, the few faithful subs and the varsity backfield scrimmaged against the line. This performance was a part of practice throughout the entire season. In other schools, the larger part of the varsity's success is due to the "scrubs". This was not so at Albright. Eighteen men was the average number on the squad. It was these men who made possible the successful record for the season of 1921.

Centre College may call her team a "miracle team", but that right belongs equally as well to the Albright squad. Hardly an eleven in collegiate ranks could have faced the difficulties of Albright. At no time was sufficient equipment available. Men who might have been available for football would not "come out" because shoulder pads and head gears were not available and often the balance of the equipment was in bad shape. The season's success may be directly traced back to Coach Benfer, assisted by Captain Saltern. These two men welded the football squad into a fighting machine. It was Coach Benfer's system that made possible the fighting team that could outplay the opposing team because of superior endurance. Night after night the men of the squad were sliding on their stomachs in the mud and soggy grass or plowing furrows in the mud with their noses. The 1921 team was the essence of pluck, pugnacity, and perseverance. All credit is due the "wild cats" of 1921.

Albright's 1921-'22 Basketball Season

WHEN this article goes to print, the best basket-ball season since the days of '15 will have closed, and will be, by some, forgotten. But let us not, however, forget so soon the achievements accomplished and the victories won by the fastest little team Albright has placed on the floor within the past eight or ten years.

Review with me the records as they stand—a goal for future clubs to emulate. December nineteenth was our opening date. The state Forestry quintet stopped off at our courts on its way home for the holidays and received a good beating as the first gift of the season. This game was but a starter, a test of what really lay hidden in our team.

After the X'mas holidays, when we had returned to training again, the management accepted an invitation from the Navy to visit their court on January seventh. The least that is said about that game, the better. We are not ashamed of our defeat, for those sailor lads surely have a fast five and plenty of reserves. As a result of that game, a recovery had to be made which was not yet accomplished when we faced the Delaware quintet on their court just one week after the Annapolis trip. This game proved our superior qualities, but ended with the score against us.

From the Delaware game on to the end of the season, nothing stopped us on our pathway to victory. On January nineteenth, the fast University Club of Reading met defeat to the tune of 36-17, and were fortunate in going away with two field goals, while our two little guards, Miller and Kline, chalked up three.

Next followed our victory over Haverford on their floor, Jan. 27th. In this game our scrappy left forward, Dech, came thru from a lay off with five field goals. Miller, our left guard, followed well the example of Dech, and accounted for four counters from the floor. The Alumni game on Feb. 3rd was a chance for all of the men who had been out for practice. In this game, Kingsley and Wagner took the honors for the Varsity, while coach Benfer played the stellar game for the "has beens." The coach rung the bell nine times from the floor and eleven times from the free throw line.

We must stop here to say a word about the second team. With Knecht and Rafensperger in the forward positions, Zellers at center, Mehaffie and Schell at guard, and Leinbach shifting from forward to center, this combination seemed invincible. On Feb. 4th the Kutztown State Normal quintet were buried under by a score of 47-21.

On the evening of this same day that the reserves caused such a downfall to the Normal five, the first string men took the fast Lehigh squad for a wild ride in court-dom, leaving a trailing score of 34-14 to Albright's credit. With spirits high over our capture of Lehigh's scalp, we took on Swarthmore on their own court. When "the fastest quintet seen at Swarthmore this season" walked off the floor at the end of play, the glory of a 39-17 score was ours.

Juniata and Susquehanna closed our home schedule, giving us the two necessary victories for a seven straight record. Juniata came to us with the assurance of beating because of two previous victories on the same trip. Just as some one has said, "Someone is always taking the joy out of life," so we took the three victory trip from the Juniata five. Our game with Susquehanna was just an addition to our string of victories and to our opponents' defeats.

Throughout the season, our team played as a five-man club. Each man deserves credit for the glorious season. Kingsley's floor work and shooting made him a strong hub about which the team revolved, spelling defeat to eight out of ten opposing clubs. Wagner, upon whose shoulders the guiding reins fell, deserves nothing but commendation. His record as a foul shot is an envious one; his shooting from the floor was most consistent; and his floor work was fast and snappy. Dech, whose lot it was to fill the other forward position, played a fast, aggressive game at all times. He was always fighting, and tho' a small man, he kept the largest of guards guessing. Our two little guards, Miller and Kline, are not to be beaten. They can claim a record of thirty-one field goals, as opposed to forty-one scored against them.

The 1921-'22 Albright quintet has closed a season which will remain as a goal for future teams and which demands the praise and commendation of all.

Baseball Resume and Forecast

IN the baseball season of 1921 our team, when compared with numerous other college teams, commanded the admiration of those who followed it closely. With the closing of the Alumni game the season of 1921 became a thing of the past.

For the season of 1922, the prospect of a greater success looms forth. Nearly all of last year's infield will be back. This combination was one difficult to outclass, especially when they displayed the best of teamwork. Our greatest weakness, at present, seems to lie in the pitching staff. We regret the loss of our old stand-by, Troutman, who twirled many victories for his Alma Mater. Regardless of this great loss, however, we are encouraged by the confidence that Coach Benfer will be able to develop an invincible baseball machine out of the material now available.

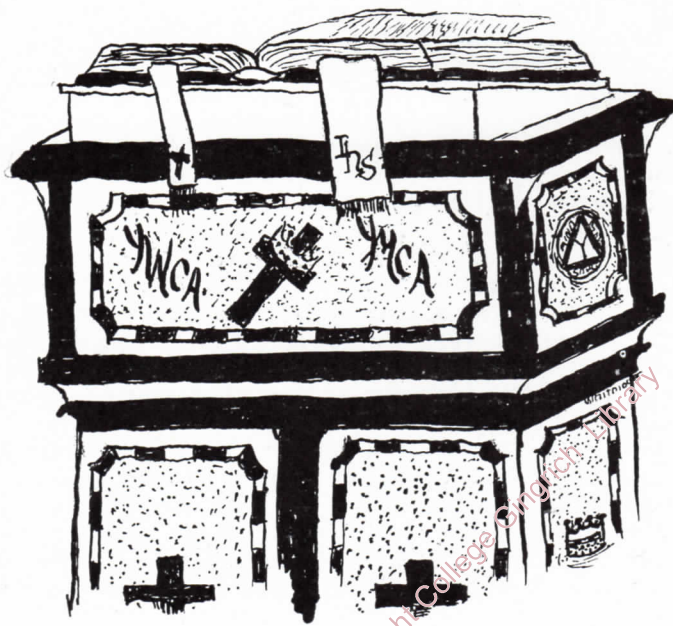

Our team, as shown by the schedule, will face some hard hitting clubs this season. A combination adequate to cope with this schedule can be produced only through the cooperation of each player, by the working together for victory regardless of personal glory. This team work, this cooperation which coach Benfer has always emphasized so much, is the keynote to the success of our team—nine men in each play, backed up by enthusiastic school spirit.

Getting the diamond into shape is by no means a small task, and tho' seemingly unappreciated, the present manager wishes to thank the present Sophomore class for their faithfulness in the performance of this duty under his supervision last spring. The calibre of the Freshman class is such that they will, by the time this article is perused, have done their part in making this baseball season a success.

So far this year, we have made splendid records in football and in basketball. The growing baseball spirit coming with the spring weather, the abundance of raw material available, the heavy schedule, together with the college spirit manifested, all seem to warrant the prediction that by the time our students, alumni, and friends shall have read this article, Albright will have experienced a spirited, successful 1922 season in baseball.

THE purpose of the great organization known as the Y. W. C. A. is four-fold development. This association at Albright aims to give to the girls an opportunity for more than intellectual growth—to develop a broader sympathy for humankind, a more thorough knowledge and appreciation of human needs, and a deeper insight into the things that are highest and noblest.

At the beginning of the school year a most impressive recognition service was held, at which time nearly all of the new, and a few of the old, girls joined the ranks of the Y. W. The legend of the lighted torch whose theme is "Let your light so shine—" was deeply instilled into every member's heart. At the same time the cabinet and the old members were reconsecrated to the work of the association.

The Y. W. this year has been moving forward and accomplishing great tasks. The regular weekly meetings have increased in interest and in inspiration so that they afford real opportunities for broadening on the part of the girls. We have just completed an interesting study of "The Ultimate Quest." The study was intensely practical and helpful. In it we discovered that the ultimate quest is to rediscover God in his world. The problems of women in other countries, the American woman and her new life, and many current topics were set forth in the series of meetings devoted to this study. Another interesting feature planned by the religious committee was a week of prayer. Meetings were held every evening during the week and special leaders were provided. Miss Emma Messinger, of Harrisburg, gave a most inspiring address on the last night.

One of the new things introduced into the Y. W. C. A. is the budget system. The goal set is three hundred-fifty dollars. One of the most important of the financial activities is the "eats" night. Every Thursday the girls make and sell sandwiches. The money thus made is added to the Friendship fund.

The social phase of the Y. W. has not been neglected. The first week of school the committee planned a week of activities—teas, parties, hikes and picnics—while other events have been held. An interesting feature of the Y. W. program was the Christmas party for the foreign children of the community. The social service committee canvassed the town and invited a number of youngsters to the party. A real Christmas tree and real gifts for the "kiddies", together with nuts and oranges and candy gladdened the hearts of the new little friends.

Considering all things, the blue and white triangle is a great asset to the life of the girls at Albright. May the high aims and ideals of the association ever aid in the moulding of noble character.

The Y. M. C. A. Cabinet had this three-fold purpose in mind as it began its work in the spring of 1921: to entertain; to instruct; and to draw Christian ideals to the fore in the minds of the boys at Albright. With these three things in mind we offered such programs as: "An Evening in Music Land"; a "doggie roast" in the Gym.; a Y. M. and Y. W. corn roast. Lectures on such subjects as: "The Formation of the North American Continent"; "The Pre-eminence of the Mind"; "Social Ethics"; "Greek Religion" and "The Chinese Government of the Present Day" were given by faculty members and other speakers.

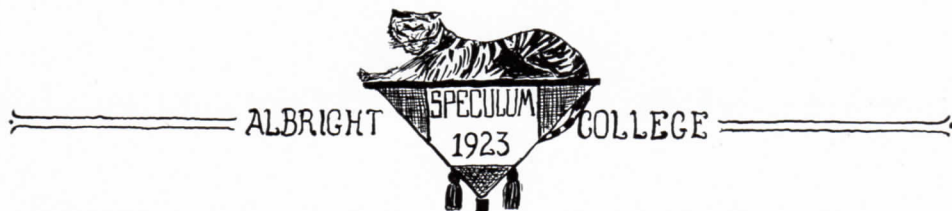

Challenges for instituting Christian ideals were flung out to the students in such messages as "The Challenge to Young Men", "The Street Called Straight", "Good Gardening," Dr. Hunt's "Thanksgiving Message," as well as his address—"The Humanity of Christ," and Dr. C. A. Swift's lecture, "Christian Fibre in Government."

We ask ourselves whether or not we have accomplished our ends. We answer that to a certain extent we have, in that we have supplied the students with that which will aid in rounding out their characters. We have tried to feed him mentally and spiritually, and as a matter of fact, physically also. Dr. Johnson has said, "Life, like every other blessing derives its value from its use alone." So also will the student have enhanced his own character in proportion as he appropriated to himself the benefits which the "Y." afforded him this year.

We are frank to state that more programs of a type equal to those listed herein might have been scheduled, but other engagements on the part of such speakers as Dr. Russell Conwell, Gifford Pinchot, the Hon. Gabriel Moyer, and Judge Henry, the latter two of Lebanon, made it impossible to enjoy their services.

Among the various organizations of the college is the cleric, an organization of that group of students who are preparing for the highest type of service, namely, the ministry. The purpose of this organization is to instil in the minds of these men a deeper sense of their present and future responsibilities and to keep alive their enthusiasm and zeal for Christian living and Christian service.

The Cleric is of exceptional value both to its individual members and to those who attend the meetings as visitors, because in these meetings practical work and information are presented. As it is a practical and positive aid to its individual members, the cleric is, of necessity, also a positive value to the college.

A new interest in the work has been aroused and due to this growing interest, more practical and inspiring meetings are being held. Ministers from the active field are invited to present the problems we, as ministers, will have to face as we take our places in the active work. On the other hand, sermons are delivered by members of the Cleric and criticized from every angle by able critics. By such activities, we hope to strengthen our faith and increase our zeal, thus fitting ourselves for able and worthy service to God and to humanity.

Sixteen years ago a wave of feminism swept over Albright, leaving in its wake a small band of enthusiasts who originated the Themisian Literary Society, a thoroughly feminine organization. "Great things from small beginnings grow"; the society has become a great factor in the college life of every co-ed., offering opportunities for practise in almost every course of work.

Each Friday night we have a most delightful program, in which the girl is given a chance to display and develop her talent, whether it lie in music, reading, literature, public speaking, humor or originality. Debating is popular, extemporaneous speaking is encouraged, and open forum is held quite frequently. Thus, society work keeps current history before our eyes, introduces new books and poetry, and keeps alive what is classic and worth-while of the past; while expression of these promotes self-confidence and real ability in the individual.

A friendly but intense rivalry exists among the three literary societies here at Albright, along the line of debating, especially. This year, the preliminary or eliminative debate between our society and the Neocosmians was won by the Themisians, through the effort put forth by our fair representatives. The final debate, to be contested between the Excelsiors and the Themisians, is being earnestly prepared for, and each Themisian is confident that her team will win the Mudge Silver Cup, which is offered as an incentive to interest in debating.

It seems fitting, in these pages, to record our appreciation of the services of our splendid corps of officers, to whose work, as well as to that of the various committees, the success of the society is largely due.

With such a splendid record of past achievement to support our society, we are inspired to go on and on—

"To follow knowledge like a shining star, Beyond the utmost bound of human thought."

On February 18th, 1922 the Neocosmian Literary Society celebrated the 64th anniversary of its beginning as a student organization. We do not mean to say that with sixty-four years of earnest effort on the part of former members, we have derived so much benefit from the experiences and mistakes of the past, that we have reached the goal of perfection. But since our motto is "ONWARD", we are ever striving to reach that goal.

The loss of the Inter-Society Debating Cup was a temporary set-back for the society at the beginning of this collegiate year but we have recovered from that and are ever advancing "ONWARD", as evidenced by the fact that seven of the eight berths on the Inter-Collegiate debating team were won by members of the Neocosmian Literary society. This is an accomplishment to be proud of, since this year marked the very successful inauguration of Inter-Collegiate debating at Albright.

The presence of the Neocosmian Literary society is strongly felt at Albright. Our society takes the lead in movements for improving conditions about the college. As proof of this, it was thru our efforts that the student body now enjoys more adequate library privileges than were accorded us prior to this year.

The pendulum of progress sweeps onward—ever gaining momentum—ever bearing all opposition down before it. Our progress may be slow, but it is sure. There is no retrogression; the goal, toward which we are steadily moving, lies before us—"ONWARD."

The year 1856 saw the birth of an organization that was to determine, in some degree, the calibre of the men that were to go out from the doors of Albright College in the future. On September 26, 1861 this organization was incorporated by the Court of Common Pleas of Union County as the Excelsior Literary Society.

In 1902, Central Penna. College and Albright College were united. Since then the Society has experienced a rapid, tho' fluctuating, development. In the few years preceding 1921 the membership of the Society was not very large. We then boasted of quality, and justly so. However, our membership has suddenly increased to a marked extent, its present enrollment being forty-three, and we are now able to boast of both quality and quantity.

Indications of our thorough and rapid growth and development are the winning of the Mudge Debating Cup by the Excelsior Debating team in the Inter-Society Debate of 1921; our public entertainment which was rendered in March of the same year and our annual banquet of this school year, previous to which feature twenty-two men were initiated into the society.

We aim, as a society, to develop sound, clear, and orderly thinkers, and effective public speakers and orators—qualities both of whose possession, our founders realized, are invaluable assets to our lives after graduation. We realize we cannot reach a stage even bordering upon perfection along this line, but we strive toward this ideal.

We look to the future with great hope and expectancy. "Excelsior," our worthy motto, beckons us ever upward over the many difficulties that confront us. Following the gleam of that motto thru the yet dark and mysterious years that are to be, we will eventually reach the goal of our endeavor.

A little more than three years ago a group of students who were interested in science organized themselves into what is known as the Science Club. Since that time the club has been growing, not by leaps and bounds, but by a steady growth which is the foundation for any successful organization.

Its meetings, to which all students are invited, are held every alternating Monday evening. In these meetings not only careful research work is discussed—general current scientific topics are also dwelt upon, topics which are of interest to every individual. From time to time speakers of note are procured to give to the club and its many friends lectures on various subjects.

Just as a scientific student needs to have a knowledge of subjects outside the sphere of science, so also must the classical student possess knowledge along general scientific lines. During the past this fact has been recognized by a number of the classical students who, consequently, have joined our ranks.

This June most of the charter members of the club will be graduated. Therefore it is up to us, the remaining members, to take upon ourselves the responsibility of seeing that the club continues its growth and development. If every member will bear his or her part of this responsibility—secure one new member in the coming fall—the science club will be bro't to the fore in school activities, and students, regardless of classification, will recognize it as one of Albright's most beneficial organizations. This can be done by 100% cooperation. Will you do your part?

Debating

Inter-Collegiate Debating at Albright, prior to this year, was a dream—a hope of a future reality which had as yet not materialized. However, with this year, through the efforts of Prof. Keller, this dream became a reality. Albright at last joined the ranks of Inter-Collegiate debaters.

In Our debates with Ursinus, Juniata, and Gettysburg, the teams acquitted themselves well and with credit to their Alma Mater. In fact, we may well be proud of the debating record “hung up” this season, for out of a possible eighteen points we gained fourteen, thereby winning the League championship with one of our competitors a close second. This is especially remarkable because this year marks our entrance into this field of Inter-Collegiate activity. However, we believe that with careful, diligent work in this field, Albright will continue to lead off in debating circles. Our hopes are that with the coming years our Alma Mater will have to her credit many other championship records.

Members of the York County branch of the A. C. Alumni, especially, will be glad to know that the York Co. undergraduates at Albright have again effected an organization. If any of our friends are further interested in the specific work we are doing, we invite them to consult the remaining pages of this annual.

Interest in our Alma Mater here stimulated will make the transition to active alumni membership generally, and to membership in the York Co. branch particularly, facile. We subscribe to our home publications and thus keep in touch with the events transpiring at home. We are devoted to the interests of our Alma Mater, whose welfare it is our desire to further.

Although for many years Cambria County has been well represented at Albright, until this year her sons and daughters had not effected an organization. Upon arriving at Albright in September we formally organized the "Cambria County Club" with this two-fold aim: as a unit, to be able to do more in furthering the interests of Albright in Old Cambria; and to keep ourselves in touch with events transpiring at home.

We have already contributed to the success of several social gatherings held this year and have remembered the students with greetings during the holiday recess. Nor are we, individually, nonentities. One of our number, Mr. Escott, has been elected football manager for the 1922 season. Three play instruments in the College Band, while no less than six have earned berths on the Glee Clubs.

The organization has proved successful. We have members from every class, a fact which assures us that it will be possible to maintain a permanent organization.

We hope that we will be influential in boosting the College. We aim for a "Better and Greater Albright" with a larger representation from Cambria County.

"Doc" Frankhauser: "No, I don't have to, I write my own."

Visitor: "Why do they exhibit such crazy looking fish in this museum?"

Freshman Guide: "Can't say, but they tell me they can be caught only when they go in seine."

Prof. Walton: "Sedentary work tends to lessen the endurance."

Percy Frey: "In other words, the more one sits, the less one can stand."

Prof. Walton: "Exactly. And if one lies a great deal, one's standing is lost completely."

Beckoning woman (To man on scales): "Henry, now come!"

Henpecked Henry: "No. This time, at least, I am going to have my own weigh."

Warning to College Boys.

"When a co-ed begins to call you by your first name, watch out—she likes your last one."

Sad Associations

Fair Co-ed (Thoughtfully) after being asked: "I wish you wouldn't use that expression, 'launching on the sea of matrimony'."

Sentimental Senior (Solicitously): "Why not?"

She: "Well, you know what kind of a time I always have on a voyage."

The Secret Ear.

He (Passionately): "Darling, I have a sweet secret to whisper into your ear—Where is it?"

Hard Job.

"Father is glad he has finished working his son's way through college."

No Cause for Worryment.

Freshman: "Some of the laws you helped to formulate have not been rigidly observed."

Member of Student Council: "I'm not complaining. Even Moses could not insure a strict enforcement of so simple a set of rules as the Ten Commandments."

Pretty Warm.

"A farmer from Texas tells us it is so warm there that he is obliged to feed his hens cracked ice to prevent them from laying hard-boiled eggs."

The Difficulty

Father: "You ought to go to work now; you have reached your majority."

Grad.: "Yes, but mine isn't a working majority."

"A large number of snakes have reached London from the New York zoo. Now that the country is settling down to prohibition, the Americans can no longer bear to see them."—London Punch.

No Danger.

"I hope you are not afraid of microbes," apologized the paying teller as he cashed the 1922 Grad. school-marm's check with soiled currency.

"Don't worry," said the young lady, "a microbe couldn't live on my salary."

Consistency?

Hartzler: "Can I have the $5 I lent you?"

Landis: "You can have it next week."

Hartzler: "You told me that last week."

Landis: "Sure, do you think I'm a man to say one thing one day and another the next?"

Miss Bower: "Most people admire my mouth. Do you?"

Blank (Absent-mindedly): "I think it is simply immense."

Those Men—

Snyder: "I hope Prof. Hardup explains his bankruptcy like a man."

Miss Marquardt: "He does. He blames the extravagance of his wife."

Notice to Freshmen: "The elevator to success is not running. Take the stairs."

Freshman (To Christ, who, in early practice, had tackled the dummy unwisely and too well): "Broken arm?"

Christ: "Yes."

Freshman: "Accident?"

Christ: "Oh no, just fun. Trying to pat myself on the back."

Freshman: "What for?"

Christ: "Minding my own business."

Father (Reading letter from college son to Mother): "Herbert says he's got a beautiful lamp from boxing."

Mother: "I just knew he'd win something in his athletics."

A. Henninger: "Oh gee, I don't know what to do with my week-end."

Shaffer (Sympathetically): "Put your hat on it."

Bennett: "That fellow's the busiest man in Espy; He has a Waterbury watch and the itch."

Prof. Eisenmenger (In Chemistry): "Well who was Mouissant? Contemporary Theda Bara or a George Washington?"

"How far will that project your soul on its lone way?"

"Write it up here where the natives can see it."

"The Yanks are coming," hummed the dentist as he prepared for an extraction.

Prof. Zener: "Can anyone tell me what makes the Tower of Pisa lean?"

Miss Mengel: "I wish I knew, I'd like to try it."

From Frosh Story: "She held out her hand, and the young man took it and departed."

Strategy.

Prep. to teacher (a senior): "Teacher, can anyone be punished for something they didn't do?"

Fuhrman (impatiently): "Of course not."

Prep. Student: "I'm glad, 'cause I didn't do my algebra."

"President Harding has installed a radio outfit in the White House. The next thing in politics will be wireless—pulling."—Life.

"That gas among the American war inventions which causes violent sneezing would play a large part in bringing matters to an 'ishoo."

Heller (Poising his shears): "Shall I go over the top?"

Weary Student: "Yes, as soon as your gas attack is over."

Finished Art.

Edith Trostle: "Harvey, you make love like an amateur."

Harvey Kline: "That's where the art comes in."

The Calendar

- Sept. 5—Football squad back for early practice.

From Bangor, Maine:

Flory Milling Co:

Gentlemen:— Replying to yours of the 2nd, inst., in my opinion you have the very best developing mash on the market. I have bred White Wyandotte Poultry for the past 25 years, and last season I had much better success with the chicks than any previous year, and I feel that it was all due to feeding your mash. It simply puts them at 2 lbs at two months of age which I cannot say for any other food. This I have not used your laying mash so long, still it has proven very good for the trial it has had on my plants.

It might interest you to know that every one of my Madison Square Garden winners Jan 1921, were grown on the above food. Thanking you and that others may learn of ~~your~~ the value of your foods, I am,

Yours very truly,

Chas. Nixon
