Dance Trio Highlights Tuesday Chapel Program

Elena Imaz and her International Dance Trio will be featured in the second cultural program Tuesday, November 9, in Union Hall. Assisting Miss Imaz are Louise Ferrand and Wayne Lamb, with Oscar Kosches accompanying them at the piano in a program of classical Spanish dances, ballet, folk and character dancing.

Miss Imaz was born in Argentina of Basque parents and at an early age showed keen interest in the dance. In her childhood her parents took her on a tour of the Latin countries of Europe where, in Granada, she saw the Moorish-inspired dances and in San Sebastian, the Basque dances and customs of her parents' country. Back in Argentina she was graduated from the Teachers' College in Buenos Aires and the National Institute of Music and Drama. She began her professional career as a ballerina in the Buenos Aires Opera House. In 1941, the young dancer was selected as an exchange artist on the Institute of International Education scholarship to teach dancing at Mills College in California. Shortly thereafter she was engaged as prima ballerina of the San Francisco Opera Company where she presented her own version of the ballet "Amor Espanol."

War Star

During the war Miss Imaz was acclaimed as one of the outstanding artists of the Stage Door Canteen, in hospitals and various military institutions. Since then she has definitely established her reputation as one of the foremost proponents of the medium of the dance in this country.

The young and accomplished ballerina, Louise Ferrand, contributes to the program with her interpretations of character roles in the dances on Miss Imaz' program. A native of New York state, Miss Ferrand is also a fine

Grads to Come Back to Campus For Homecoming Day Festivities

Mr. Lester L. Stabler

Albright alumni will return to campus tomorrow to participate in the annual Homecoming Day festivities. A full program of activities, including the Albright-Otterbein football tilt, is included on the program, as announced by Mr. Lester L. Stabler, Director of Public Relations.

Beginning with registration at 10:00 a.m. in Union Hall, the program will include a concert by the College Glee Clubs at 10:45 a.m. in the same building. The concert will be under the direction of Dr. John H. Duddy, head of the vocal music department. All students are invited to the concert.

At noon a buffet luncheon will be held and at the same time, members of the Phi Beta Mu and Pi Alpha Tau Sororities will greet their alumnae members on the balcony of Union Hall.

Major Parties Conclude Campus Political Fracas

Before a small but enthusiastic audience last Monday afternoon in the College Chapel, Representative Frederick A. Muhlenberg presented an informal talk on the Republican Party and its place in today's world. Proposing that the meeting should be principally a question and answer period, the Representative proceeded to outline the three cardinal differences between the major political parties. "The first point of difference," he stated, "is found in their policies dealing with the relative merits of a strong centralized government and a less strong, more decentralized form of government." Secondly, anti-ethical to Republican concepts, the Democratic party has come to treat the people of America as groups of people, vets, farmers, labor, etc., thus overlooking a fundamental principal of Democracy. Thirdly, the foreign policy, as advocated by the Republicans, propounds that the answer to the problems existing between the east and west is to be found in their ability to live peacefully side by side and not in a fusing of the two opposing doctrines.

Opening the floor to questions, Mr. Muhlenberg was immediately swamped with such a multitude of questions as to hold the small audience present; the queries ranged from what his opinion was on Federal Aid to equalize Education to his favorability to unions. Following a lively session in which he endeavored to answer all questions

WSSF Needs Your Help; Aid Fellow Students Abroad

If a third world war were declared tomorrow, every one of us would be forced to make immediate, radical changes in our lives. Many of us would have to leave school to return to our war uniforms. All of us would have to prepare for bombings of our homes and towns. Food would become scarce; luxuries would be out. Many of the things which we think of as necessities would be sharply cut from us. Because this war would strike home, we would have to make terrific psychological adjustments so that we could still go on in the face of the complete leveling of our cities, the death of our families and friends, and the possibility of utter destruction and absolute defeat. If we would survive, our bodies would have to adapt to conditions of widespread disease and starvation.

Instant Changes

If we were declared tomorrow, tremendous changes in our lives would be demanded immediately. However, for over two-thirds of the world's population there would be few changes made. Most of the people in the world are living NOW and for years have been living the way we shall have to live when the next war comes.

It's true, there isn't much that we as individuals can do. But by chipping in a dollar or two to the World Student Service Fund we'll be able to extend a hand of friendship to a medical student in broken China, or to an engineering student in shambled Europe. A small gift of money would be a token of our concern and a symbol of home to a world-forgotten student abroad.

We're all hard-pressed for money. We know that the cost of living is high. Yet, in many parts of the world, what we pay for a carton of cigarettes or a half dozen milk shakes will provide a Greek student with a daily meal for a whole month. The price of two movie admissions will buy a Chinese student's mimeographed textbooks for a whole semester. The two dollars rung on Pete's

Sadie Hawkins To Invade Campus

Get on your running shoes, men. Starting at sundown Thursday, November 12, the women on campus will be out to get you in the traditional Sadie Hawkins' Day Race. The women are allowed to capture you by any means that they can devise. If a woman asks you to get hitched, it is the proper thing for you to get hitched.

Friday our campus will turn into a miniature Dogpatch. Everyone is to wear Dogpatch style costumes all day Friday. Albright females, when you capture your man you are obligated to do the following things: Mark your man so that all will know that he is yours; you are to get your license from Marrying Sam on Friday; then you are to get hitched; you must call for your date Friday night and take him to the dance; and you must present your man with a corsage that is to be made of anything but flowers.

All of the meals in the dining hall will be served Dogpatch style. Let's get behind Sadie Hawkins' Day. The dance will begin at 8:00 p.m. There will be big doings at the dance with a combination of square and popular dancing. Dress in style.

Domino Club Scores Another Hit; Casts' Performance Rated Excellent

By Dorothy Seisler

The Domino Club's production of All My Sons opened to a capacity audience Wednesday night. Paced by the top-notch performances of Norman Telsey, Morris Knouse, Violet Seibert, and Doris Chanin, the cast did very well by a difficult play.

Norman Telsey has always been a fine actor, but his performance as Joe, the father who ships defective parts from his war plant, is truly memorable. Violette Seibert as the mother who refuses to believe more welcome. Perhaps this explains why the audience chose to laugh at lines that could not possibly be construed as funny. It is regrettable that the performance of the audience, despite its college caliber, did not equal the performance of the players. Sometime, we should like to present the Domino Players, who really deserve it, with an audience that is completely sensitive, sympathetic, and intelligent.

We urge everyone who has not seen the play to see it by all means. The drama itself has wonderful things to say, and the Domino Club has indeed done justice by it. Mrs. Vesper is to be congratulated as are all those—the stage crew, set painter, make-up artists, property crew, ticket sellers, and publicizers—who helped make All My Sons the fine triumph that it was.

Johnstown Alumni Reorganize, Elect Livingston Pres.

The Johnstown Area Club, of Albright College Alumni, elected Mrs. Lester Livingston as president in its post-war recognition meeting at the Capital Hotel, Johnstown, October 28. Mrs. Livingston was secretary of the alumni group before it disbanded during World War II.

Dr. George W. Walton in his speech on "Now and Then" told the alumni about the College curriculum and the progress made by Albright since 1856. He disclosed that the enrollment at Albright is the largest on record—796 students.

A trustee of the college, Norman W. Hoffman, was an honored guest. An explanation of the purpose of the area unit was given by Mr. Lester L. Stabler.

WAA Outlines Term Program

The Women's Athletic Association at a meeting Thursday evening, October 21 outlined its program for this semester, announced Jean Schwartz, president.

The responsibility for decorating the stadium on Homecoming Day was accepted by the W.A.A. On Monday, November 8, Cleta Rein and Miss Schwartz will go to a conference at Temple University to schedule basketball games with other colleges.

The organization has scheduled intramural hockey games every Tuesday afternoon. If you desire to join a hockey team see your class representative; seniors, Betty Sarge; juniors, Cleta Rein; sophomores, Jean McGeer; and freshmen, Lois Gehris and Anona Serfass.

Welcome Home, Albrightians

Albright greets you as you return to campus this week-end for another Homecoming Day celebration. We're glad to have you back with us for a short while and hope you will enthusiastically participate in all the activities planned for you.

We are proud to present to you tomorrow afternoon our fighting Lions in the Albright-Otterbein football game. Our football team did a grand job against Lebanon Valley last weekend and we're counting on another victory to make our Homecoming festivities perfect.

As you return to your Alma Mater, we hope you will rejoice again in the true Albright spirit. Our students, faculty, and administrators are very pleased to have you here on campus to notice the changes, meet old friends, and again be reminded of the good things Albright stands for.

So, may we, The Staff, dedicate to you, our fellow Albrightians, this issue of our student newspaper, as a symbol of the spirit of Albright friendship we want to renew today.

N.S.A. --- Another Strike

Albright College IS a member of the National Student Association. Since we have voted to join this organization, The Albrightian has been trying in different ways to help the student body make the most use of the membership.

Within the last two weeks, literature on a plan to save students money has been received from the N.S.A. This plan is the N.S.A. Purchase Card System.

In the pilot card-project operated in Buffalo, N.Y., it was found that students substantially reduced their costs of living last year. Business sales increased sufficiently to offset discounts offered to students. The idea behind the plan is simple. The project at Albright would work something like the following: First, a formal Area Purchase Card Committee would be established here at school and registered with the national N.S.A. office.

The whole system is designed to help students make college a full-time project, to help those of limited expenses to gain admission to college, and to lessen students financial burdens thereby producing a better grade of graduates and citizens. The card would reduce costs on most of the major necessities from shinola to sugar, from slips to side rules, from books to beefsteaks.

This, in the face of peak-prices, is indeed a welcome plan. In these times when every other organization asks for donations to help the "less fortunates," this plan is uniquely fitted to our needs.

So how are we going to get it? Our college deals with N.S.A. through our Student Council. We've got to talk up the idea and have our Council representatives act on it. Who are our representatives? They are the people we voted into office. Get to know them, and get them to serve us some money too!

soprano and accomplished musician, but has devoted her artistic talents to the dance. Among her professional experiences in the dance, she has appeared in Broadway productions of "Make Mine Manhattan," "Seven Lively Arts," "Follow the Girls," "Marinka," and many others.

The masculine touch is added to the International Dance Trio by Wayne Lamb. It was quite a jump from the wheat fields of Kansas, where he was born, to the Broadway stage. But after settling down to study at the Humphrey Weidman School of Dancing, he began to make a name for himself in the field of professional dancing.

Mighty "Mike" Plaskonas from McAdoo, capable captain of our football team is this week's Dandy Lion.

Mike, modest of power and ability, is well known on the Albright campus. A member of the honored voluntary class attendance group, he excels in studies as well as football. A social science major, Mike claims member-ship in the Kappa Upsilon Phi fraternity, and F.T.A. We might mention here that he swears he's not married, divorced, or even involved. Of course his 5' 11", 190 lbs. blue eyes and brown hair are definite assets, but around the opposite sex, Mr. Plaskonas practices none of the aggressiveness he displays on the football team.

It has been said, and we all agree, that Mike is one of the best defensive ball players in Albright's history. The combination of Mike's congenial personality, intelligence, and outstanding ability on the football field, makes him one of our most respected all-around Albrightians.

Although you might think those daily grinds in the stadium would give him his fill of sports, Mike claims his other favorite pastimes are basketball and baseball, but he'll take time out any time to put a sizzling steak through a disappearing act.

Mike has some definite plans for the future. After graduation he hopes to teach high school history. If he displays the fine leadership to his classroom wards that he has displayed to the Albright eleven, there are going to be some very smart history students in the near future. Good luck Mike!

Miss Elder Honored At Birthday Fete

Miss Consuelo Rodriguez entertained at her Eleventh Street home Saturday evening, October 23, in honor of the birthday of Miss Ernestine Elder. Guests were Dr. and Mrs. Harry V. Masters, Mr. and Mrs. Donald S. Gates, Miss Marie Kleppinger, Mrs. Elder and Mrs. Osmond.

There've Been Some Changes Made

When you stride (or glide) up to welcome an alumnus tomorrow please don't be offended or alarmed if he should gaze past you and your beaming face . . . Remember it's been y-e-a-r-s since he's last visited 'ye old campus.' Take this into consideration and you'll still be smiling as he muses bewilderingly. . . "It doesn't look like the same place . . . what happened?"

Why, he probably remembers Albright when the tennis courts were still inbetween the Ad. building and Selwyn Hall, and the driveway came right through our main campus. When he looks around tomorrow and sees that we now have six tennis courts at the side of Selwyn Hall and driveways around the campus instead of through it . . . well, you can't blame him for being bewildered.

Upon seeing our new Union Building he'll probably check to see if he's still on the Albright campus . . . for only two years ago, where the Union now stands, was nothing more than grass. If perchance our old alumnus suggests going somewhere for a coke, take his hand and show him where we brew deluxe Albright specials . . . right in our own soda-fountain.

He'll probably notice the steps leading from the science hall to Selwyn Chapel, and ask when they were installed. Some difference from the days when he used to slide down the muddy embankment.

And that pretty little pond (excuse me . . . Selwyn Lake) what a change there. The landscaping . . . 'tis beautiful.

After our guests have accounted for the improvements and additions on the campus itself, they'll probably notice the difference within the buildings.

No more will them frosh fellows call the Ad. Building their home; no longer will the walls crack and quake from the "friendly bouts"; no more, for the third floor has been converted into offices and classrooms.

There've been some changes made alright . . . and there are more on the way. Before next semester we'll be seeing the addition to the library, and new landscaping around Selwyn Hall . . . So don't feel hurt if our alumni gaze dumfoundedly about when they first arrive . . . have patience and explain that we're just on the road to a bigger and better Albright College.

Savidge, Bird Tie Nuptial Knot Sat.

The couple will leave for a honeymoon Saturday night. They will be back in school Tuesday. Our best wishes, Frank and Esther, for a very happy life as Mr. and Mrs.

HOMECOMING GAME WITH OTTERBEIN

DUTCHMEN CRUSHED 19-13 BY LIONS

Krouse Scampers 95 Yds. To His Second and Deciding T-D

Krohto Scores on 47 Yd. Run, as L. V. Blocks Kicks to Tally

Albright's rejuvenated Roaring Lions upset the experts' apple cart last Saturday when they clawed a heavily favored Andy Kerr-Lebanon Valley football team 19-13, before a Home-Coming Day crowd of 6,000 partisan fans at Lebanon. Fleet-footed Johnny Krouse did most of the fireworks, accounting for two of the Red and White touchdowns, with one of those coming on a deciding 95 yard return kickoff jaunt. This was the second time in the last two weeks that LeVan P. Smith's inspired crew lowered the forecasters' averages, since one week earlier they held the favored F & M Diplomats to a 0-0 deadlock.

Krohto Dashes

It all started when scat-back Billy Krohto dashed 47 yards on an off-tackle play for the initial score of the game in the first quarter. Charlie Martone booted the extra-point and Albright led 7-0 before the Flying Dutchmen knew what happened.

But in the second quarter Bob Fischer, Lebanon Valley end, broke through the Lions' line and blocked Al Harnly's punt. Tom Quinn, another LVC stalwart, pounced on the loose ball at Albright's 24 yard line. Several plays later big fullback Hen DJohnson skirted left end for a host TD. Walt Gage's conversion made it 7-7 and the score remained tie as the half ended.

The third quarter saw two goose eggs racked up for both sides, but not until the Albrightians received a score when the Valley gang had the ball on the Red and White 19 with a first down. But 4 Herb Eckenroth passes missed their goal and the possibilities of another "moral victory" tie started moving through the minds of the Red and White followers.

However, a thrilling 31-yard pass from Harnley to Krouse soon dispelled this idea as Krouse gathered in the pigskin and took it over to put the Lions ahead 13-7. The try for the extra point was blocked. But, alas and alack, Fischer again gave a poor example of hospitality as he blocked another Harnly kick and recovered it on the Smithmen's 17. Then Herb Eckenroth heaved a 15 yard pass to George Rohm which tied the score 13-13. Gage failed to gauge the conversion properly so the count remained knotted.

Krouse Scores

Again the reminiscent Red and White rooters remembered the F&M contest. "But before you could say '0-0', something whizzed by the stands, the Lebanon Valley eleven, and 95 yards in the form of Johnny Krouse, as he carried the LVC kickoff the length of the field to put the Lions permanently ahead 19-13, and produce one of the biggest victories in recent Albright football history. To say the least the Albright marching band indicated the feelings of the Albright enthusiasts as they paraded down the center of the field in a victory march through a despondent Lebanon Valley team.

Although the Lions probably won't be favored in all four of the remaining games, the football crystal gazers at least will think twice before scribbling down the Red and White opponents as favorites. Since the Lions ruined two Alumni Days in as many weeks, they plan to have a successful one in their own stadium tomorrow when they meet Otterbein, the visiting Ohioans. How about win number three, gang?

Kappas Take I-M Crown, Defeating A.P.O. Team 7-0

Zetas in Second Place Position

By winning a hard-pressed victory, 7-0, over the fighting A.P.O.'s, an unbeaten Kappa intramural football combination took the league crown on Tuesday afternoon on the Bern Street field. The Kappas had beaten all the other teams, previously, nosing out the Zetas, whose only defeat was at the hands of the champions

It was the last exciting three minutes of play, when Hops Guldin snagged a pass from Mark Guss and jumped over the goal line. The official decision was heatedly contested briefly by the A.P.O.'s, who felt Guldin had been tagged before going over. As an anti-climax, Johnny Yocum scored the extra point on a Guldin toss. Evidence of the tenseness throughout the game, was the friendly enmity between Fred Rosen and Gerry Schaefer of the opposing lines. (Rosen sends his apologies to Gerry.) Blaine Schmehl and Elmo Davis officiated.

On October 28, the Kappas overpowered the K.T.X. 25-0, as Beyerle, Diaz, Yocum, and Schaefer scored. The A.P.O.'s beat the Byes 6-0; the Zetas defeated the Red Rockets, who drubbed the Pi Taus on Monday 19-6, and had a forfeit with the Byes. The Pi Taus whitewashed the Frosh 25-0, Irvin, Ward and Chelius scoring. A Frosh-K.T.X. game was forfeited by the former.

LION TALES

Bob Hoffman

Elsewhere on this page you can find articles praising our football squad, which praise and publicity it certainly deserves. But right here we're taking time and space to commend this year's running of the intramural football league that closed its season on Tuesday.

Its rules and organization directly set by team representatives of the Intramural Council, Hops Guldin and Blaine Schmehl, president and vice-president respectively, the leagues eight participating teams played twenty-seven contests with only two forfeits and no defaults. That record in comparison with the past few years of intramural sports at Albright is remarkable. There was very little quibbling or disregard for rules and the officials' decisions.

Team members and team captains alike deserve a real slap on the back for a program enthusiastically carried out.

The weather held out better than could be hoped; and the two fields were marked to greatly aid officiating. Right here and now we thank Directors Harris and Parsons for overseeing the affairs.

As to the particulars, the Kappas and Zetas proved that they still are the "Yankees" of intramural football around here. Both have fine teams as their records show. Personally, we'd like to see them meet in a post-season battle. The A.P.O.'s were hot and cold, finally ending up near the top.

Special mention should be made of a spunky Bye squad. At first the league schedule was perforated with "Bye games." Fortunately some zealous individuals got together and formed the eighth team and for want of a better name called themselves the Byes, filling those empty spots on the schedule.

Disappointing to many were the showings of the Pi Taus and Red Rockets, supposedly tough opponents. Of course, the Frosh were lacking in experience what they had in spirit. But they fought admirably just the same.

An early rumor of "watch out for those K.T.X." failed to mushroom and fell flatter than grand-ma's pancakes. Nevertheless, they never gave up.

Prospects for a great intramural basketball season to rival last years fine play are riding high. So fellows, shift your gears for the coming league competition on the courts.

Lions Seek Third Victory Against New Foe; Capacity Crowd Expected in Stadium

In tomorrow's Homecoming Game at 2 o'clock, the Otters of Otterbein College will provide the afternoon opposition for Albright's rampaging Cats, who will be seeking their third win of the year. A thrilling contest is in store for the crowd of Alumni, visitors, and students who come out to see the Tan and Cardinal eleven from Westerville, Ohio, open relations with Albright for the first time.

Head Coach George Novotny, Arnold, all three Ohio State Alumni, hope to stifle Levan P. Smith's surging football combine in their spirited bid for another victory, after crushing Lebanon Valley last Saturday, 19-13.

Next Tuesday Coach Gene Shirk's cross-country harriers meet Shippensburg for their first home competition, after travelling four times this season, compiling one win and three losses to date. Fred Roland will lead the Lion contingent to what they hope to be another win.

Shippensburg Here Tues. With Harriers

This past Thursday saw Muhlenberg play host to the Shirks. This meet was run too late to enter this week's issue.

Last Saturday had Albright's cross-country team join with LaSalle and Lafayette in a triangular meet at Lafayette in which the Explorers came out the victors 27-33-60. The Lions were out of their company, ending up in the third position.

First Lion runner to hit the tape was Capt. Roland, in eighth spot, clocked at 20:01. In the lead of the pack of 24 was LaSalle's Louis Damengues at 19:29. The Explorers also garnered 3-4-9-10 places, while for Lafayette Jim Madara followed Damengues at 19:32. The Leopards took 5-6-7-13 slots, also.

Among the first fifteen for the Red and White were Roy Bausch, eleventh, Ed Anlian, twelfth, Joe Reeves, fourteenth, and Dave Roland, fifteenth.

Huyett Cops Fall Tennis Tourney

After a delay of over two weeks, Albright's annual fall tennis tournament finally came to a close last week when Mel Huyett defeated Paul Kissinger 6-3, 6-4 in the finals on the wind-swept Albright courts.

The dominance of the final round by freshmen came as a surprise when Kissinger, former Reading High standout and Huyett, city junior champion and ex-Shillington High ace, set down two Red and White veterans, Jim Mengel and John Dohner, respectively, in the semi-finals.

Huyett eased through the field by taking Walt Fox 6-0, 6-0, Bill Sailer by the same score, and Dohner 8-6, 6-3 in the semis before knocking off Kissinger.

Kissinger entered the finals as he first won by default from Paul Siegfried, defeated Bill Bitler 6-3, 6-4, and topped Mengel 7-9, 6-4, 7-5 in a grueling semi-final round match.

As things stand now, the future looks as bright as the noonday sun for Albright's tennis prospects next spring. It will be interesting to note how the team will shape up when Kissinger and Huyett and other freshmen start to rival last year's holdovers for a spot on the net squad. One sure thing is that you can bet your bottom dollar on the 1949 tennis squad to produce a winning combination during the regular season, if not an undefeated record.

Summaries:

First Round

Jim Mengel over Vincent Gentle 6-2, 6-2; Paul Kissinger over Paul Siegfried, default; Bill Bitler, defeated Darwin Gropes, default; John Dohner defeated Herman Idler 6-1, 6-1; Tom Kane over Wilfred Bancourt 6-2, 6-2; Mel Huyett over Walt Fox 6-0, 6-0; Bill Sailer over Jay Shenk, default.

Second Round

Mengel over Alex Zervanos, default; Kissinger over Bill 6-4, 6-4; Dohner over Kane 7-5, 6-1; Huyett over Sailer 6-0, 6-0.

Semi-Final Round

Kissinger over Mengel 7-9, 6-4, 7-5; Huyett over Dohner 8-6, 6-3.

Final Round

Huyett over Kissinger 6-3, 6-4.

Lebanon Valley Beats Hockeyettes 7-1

Although the Flying Dutchmen couldn't produce a victory on the gridiron last Saturday, the lassies of Lebanon Valley made the Homecoming a little brighter for their guests when they bowled over the Albright Hockeyettes, 7-1. The Lionesses were apparently in the best of spirits for the tussle when they took off for Annville with "Beat L.V." signs and loud cheers emitting from their every minute of the way. But the spirit didn't seem to be enough for the Albrightians, found themselves on the defense through the entire game.

An exception came when Marge Gardiner, taking advantage of one lone offensive attack, scored for the Red and White. No other exceptions proved to be the rule, however, as the Lionesses relinquished the ball to the hosts without tallying.

Kramer, left inner turned out to be the big gun for the Dutchesses, when she evaded the Albright defense for four goals. Weaver, the center forward, added another for the hosts and at half the score read 5-1. The second half perked up for the underdogs as Ellie Williams stopped the Kramer spree, and the Albright defense held, permitting only two more markers.

Seniors Drop Sophs 6-5 In I-M Hockey

Last Tuesday, October 26, a spirited sophomore hockey team collected five goals in their attempt to down the champion seniors. But their victory bound ideas were squelched, when Vi Siebert knocked in the last important goal for the triumphant seniors, 6-5.

Siebert started the first senior scoring spree by edging the ball over the line early in the game. The sophomores flashed back, Marge Gardiner tallying a point. Then Siebert came through with another goal before Nancy Stump took over the situation for the sophs by rushing in with three consecutive goals. The score then stood at 4-2.

Trailing, the seniors recovered the lead as Siebert, Joyce Schieffer and Jean Schwartz scored one each. Sophomore Ruth Bray knotted the score at 6-5. Not to be denied a victory, Siebert speedily registered her fourth goal and iced the game for the seniors 6-5.

Starring on the defense for the sophomores was Jean McGee and for the seniors left half Anna Lauver.

"Y" to Present Play, Discuss Interest Sheet; Riddell Reviews Trip

The "Y" meeting on Tuesday evening will be an outgrowth of the interest sheets filled out by the students. "The Trial," a play, will precede the introduction of the work of the three commissions—World Relativism, Social Responsibility, and Religious Activities. The group will divide and go into a meeting of one of the commissions to understand the work, research, and future action of the commission on campus. The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the College Chapel.

WSSF Speaker

Last Tuesday evening, Nov. 2 in the College Chapel, Miss Gretta Riddell spoke to the "Y's" about the World Student Service Fund. Miss Riddell, who went to Germany to establish work camps, stressed the point that we must come to grips as Christians and recognize our world responsibility. She reminded her audience that although students are a minority group in the World they have a definite special responsibility to their fellowmen and that our gifts must be really sacrificial. After her talk, Miss Riddell answered questions about conditions in European universities.

Movie Shown

Preceding the talk was a movie "Seeds of Destiny" which presented a good picture of the conditions in the devastated countries and showed how meager, but extremely helpful, improvements are being made by relief organizations.

WSSF Needs Your Help

cash register will stave off tuberculosis and possible death from malnourished Italian student.

$1,000 Goal

When we think of contributing to WSSF in terms of lives saved instead of in terms of dollars gone we'll all want to do what we can to reach Albright's $1000.00 goal. For those who have temporary financial difficulties, provisions have been made whereby individuals are able to sign pledges for payment at a future time.

For a dollar or two and an attitude of concern for one's fellow man, one is started on the road that leads away from the third world war. If we make enough of the minor adjustments in our lives now, maybe we won't have to make major adjustments to war later.

An Open Letter to "The Albrightian"

On Saturday morning, October 30, at 11:00 a. m. the football team of Albright College piled into its bus to leave for the historic game with its traditional rival Lebanon Valley College. Lined up on both sides of the entrance and milling about the bus were many students with an intense school spirit and earnest desire to help in promoting a win to win.

This same group had done the similar thing on the preceding Saturday before the football season had begun, but this time something new had been added. At least twelve faculty members, whose interest in the welfare of Albright's athletic program encouraged them to be present, joined the students in the send off. It is a gratifying and stimulating experience to the squad and its coaches to know that both students and faculty are responding to our efforts in this heartening manner. The results of the two contests before which such demonstrations of true spirit were made speak for themselves. We were able to tie E. & M. and (most pleasant memory now) beat Lebanon Valley. It is only too evident that the send off we received and the spirit and enthusiasm with which the team played those two games were not mere coincidence.

More of that type of personal interest will keep the squad at fever pitch. This week from President Masters, Dean Walton, and more and more of our faculty the squad has received words of praise and encouragement. I have spoken to many of the faculty personally and they have assured me that had they known about the demonstration Saturday morning, they too would have been there. This is a fine indication of cooperation among the administration, faculty, and students in the building of a feeling of mutual interest that must underlie real school spirit.

Lebanon Valley expressed itself rather forcibly in another painting episode. To many people this is a manifestation of real spirit. But spirit is not vandalism—true spirit is intense interest; and when the whole personnel of our campus shows such interest in what is being done as has been shown in the past weeks, then true spirit has begun its trek back to our campus.

Your football team pledges itself to play its remaining games with an intense desire to win. We know we shall receive your enthusiastic support and interest.

LEVAN P. SMITH, Head Football Coach

Baldauf Discusses Amphibians At Skull and Bones Meeting

Last Wednesday's meeting of the Skull and Bones Society opened with a business meeting which was followed by a short film, "Men of Medicine," a "March of Time" production. The film portrayed a young doctor, getting his education and his start as a doctor.

Illustrated Lecture

The main feature of the evening was a lecture illustrated by slides given by Richard J. Baldauf, senior biology major. The lecture and slides dealt with amphibians of Berks County. Baldauf pointed out that amphibians are peculiarly interesting in that a full development of the animals from the egg through the larval stage to the sexually mature level can be observed without great difficulty.

Memorial Service Planned in Chapel

In tribute to Albrightians who died during World War II, a Memorial Service will be held in Chapel next Thursday at 11:10 a.m. Student Council will have charge of the service.

Miss Gretta Riddell, traveling secretary of the World Student Service Fund, told the juniors and freshmen in chapel last Tuesday that the progress of the World Student Relief movement depends upon the contribution and initiative of American students. Her analysis of the problems of foreign students keyed the Albright W.S.S.F. drive.

The speaker, who recently returned to this country following an inspection of conditions abroad, stressed the fact that whether or not one likes to believe it, this is one world and the events in other countries will directly affect the lives of Americans. "If one student generation in any country suffers, the result will be a lack of leadership in that country in the future, and all of us will be affected," she said.

Poor Medical Facilities

Among the major problems confronting foreign students today are the prevalence of tuberculosis and lack of adequate hospital facilities, the lack of textbooks, hunger and exceedingly poor facilities for studying. Miss Riddell told her audience that in spite of the handicaps, young people in other countries are eager to learn. She spoke of certain Chinese students who had walked over 1,000 miles in three years so that they could attend school.

"Destroying students and centers of learning is one of the best ways of preventing resistance movements to dictatorial ideologies," said Miss Riddell. She urged that American students continue to make it possible for the World Student Relief Organization to carry on its work.

The speaker has received degrees from the Universities of Toronto and New Zealand. She formerly taught at Western Reserve University.

Radio Workshoppers To Entertain Domino

At the Domino Club meeting on Wednesday evening, members will be entertained by the Radio Workshop at Station WEEU at 7:30 p.m. There will be a discussion conducted by Walt Hayum on radio plays.

Major Parties

tions with the utmost sincerity, this rally, on the eve of our great national election, was reluctantly brought to a close.

A small group of supporters turned out for the Democratic campaign on Thursday, October 28 in the College Chapel at 3:15 p. m. Walt Hayum introduced the two representatives of the Democratic party, Mr. Harry Guldin and Mr. Albin Readinger, attorney. Mr. Guldin spoke from the American workers viewpoint and explained why everyday workers have supported the Democrats. "For," as he said, "the party has been concerned with helping the working people, and it is to the Democrats that they will look for future assistance."

Mr. Readinger reviewed the differences of policy and philosophy between the Democratic and Republican parties, pointing out the fact that the Democrats have always tried "to represent the interests of the biggest group of people who counted on that party for their representation. Because the Democratic party keeps those people in mind, this party should have the support of the people."

A brief discussion period followed the speeches in which questions were directed to the speakers.

COUNCIL SAYS

Meeting of October 26, 1948 in Union Hall

Jack Gounder introduced the Student-Council-in-session program at last Tuesday's Chapel. The roll was called for the purpose of familiarizing students with their representatives. The meeting opened with the usual reading the minutes and chairmen of committees prefaced their reports with explanations of the duties and purposes of the committees.

Jean Long, of the Social Committee, explained the splitting of the committee into sub-groups. A Halloween dance and pep rally is on the agenda for Friday night reported Miss Long. The Ivy Ball came through financially with only a slight deficit.

The N.S.A. gave the suggestion that in the collection of class dues, the class treasurers personally solicit students and that an attractive program be presented reported Jerry Dersh, of the N.A.S. Committee.

Faculty Program

Kathleen Guenther announced a student-faculty talent program, a musical program featuring the "horn," and several speakers for the near-future chapel programs. Reporting for the Publicity Committee, John Weiss indicated that Wednesday would be the last day reservations would be open for the bus to the Lebanon Valley football game. The cost explained Weiss would be $1.25 for the fare and 35 cents with activity books, admission to the game.

In the absence of Hampton Pullis, band representative, Council president, William Carson, explained to the floor that a set fee of $10.00 is required for the use of the Celebrities.

Dorothy Rath reported that the matter of opening Union Hall to students, after dinner, had been taken up with Dr. Harry V. Masters. "The problem is being considered," said Miss Rath. The difficulty confronting persons in charge is in securing a hostess. However, the building will be open a few hours each evening in the near future.

Doris Chanin brought up the defacing of the Albright College campus by Lebanon Valley College students. Baldauf pointed out that the chief aim of the football team is to beat other teams. Ray Schlegel suggested we try our best to beat L. V. C. especially since Saturday is their Homecoming Day. William Marlow moved to send a letter reminding L. V. C. that there had been an agreement against vandalism between colleges, and to let them know that we will repay their "generosity" by our action on the ball field Saturday. The motion carried.

Beverly Bresler inquired as to how many people had signed for the bus. Weiss mentioned fifteen. Miss Long asked whether all students knew that guests were also able to use the bus. President Carson brought this fact to the attention of the assembly.

Professor Clyde

Professor Clyde Harding made mention of a World Federalists Club which had been sanctioned by the faculty committee on student organizations. Professor Harding explained that a group of students had petitioned last year to form this organization on the campus; during a discussion on the subject, students inquired what type organization the Federalists Club is. Darlington Hoopes, from the assembly, mentioned that approximately thirty people had signed a petition last year for the purpose of establishing this club at Albright. Stan Taub suggested, through representative Frank Bird, that student's interested in the club be determined before action is taken. Professor Harding explained that the group would meet in conjunction with the I. R. C. and that Professor Lewis Smith had assured him it would not take a great deal of the student's time. For lack of discussion time the item was tabled until the Thursday meeting.

Meeting of October 28, 1948 in Union Hall

At the second meeting of Student-Council-in-Chapel, the business opened with the usual call for committee reports. The reports were very much like the reports of Tuesday, with a few exceptions. John Weiss mentioned that the Publicity Committee was forced by lack of students to cancel the bus to the Lebanon Valley football game. Weiss announced that he still had not returned fares to three persons.

WSSF

Jay Shenk indicated that a drive for W.S.S.F. will be held during the week of November 1-7. Schenk is in charge of the Activities Committee of the W.S.S.F. campaign.

Under old business, it was mentioned that a letter concerning Lebanon Valley's painting the Albright Campus was sent to the L. V. Student Council. The letter said in effect that we would return their vandalic gestures by cheering for the winner, Albright.

The other piece of old business was a discussion on accepting a chapter of the World Federalists at Albright, Elmer Good had moved to accept the organization. Robert Reed said that at the last meeting, Stan Taub had requested that Council members inform constituents on what they were pointed out to vote. William Marlow pointed out that our membership in N.S.A. gave us the right to join any respectable group. Good pointed out that it was not a club in the true sense, but rather, a sub-committee of the World Federalists of Greater Reading. It would work in conjunction with the I. R. C. but it would be a separate organization. Good's motion carried.

Cultural Films

Beverly Bresler suggested to Council a proposition whereby the student body could avail itself of cultural, informational and documentary films at an approximate cost of twenty cents per student. The matter will be discussed at the next meeting.
