

Noted Actress Featured In Cultural Program

The first cultural program of the year will be presented next Tuesday in Chapel when Ruth Chatterton, one of the great ladies of the theatre, presents a program of dramatic entertainment.

"Ruth Chatterton On Stage," as she calls her diverting program, is designed to show her audiences some of the true meaning of the theatre and why it continues to endure despite intermittent threats from other and newer forms of entertainment.

Miss Chatterton traces the influence of the theatre through the ages by presenting excerpts from the great plays of classical and modern dramatists. From Sophocles and Aristophanes, through Congreve and Sheridan, to O'Neill, Barrie, Shaw and Christopher Fry, she performs scenes from their plays to demonstrate the indestructibility of the living theatre.

Miss Chatterton's own career in the theatre has been no less brilliant than any of the masterworks she performs in her platform program. A star of the theatre at an age when most actresses would have been content just to be on Broadway, she has gone on to international fame not only on the stage, but also in the movies, radio and television.

First Lead

Her first leading role was in Henry Miller's production of "Daddy Longlegs." Quickly recognized as one of the finest young actresses of her generation, she followed her initial triumph with equally brilliant performances in "Come Out of the Kitchen," "Moonlight and Honeyuckle," and the smash hit "Mary Rose."

Following her stage successes, she went to Hollywood. Her stage training proved invaluable and during her eight years in the screen capital, she was the top star at Paramount Pictures, performing in such famous movies as "Madame X," "Frisco Jenny," "Sarah and Son," "Tomorrow and Tomorrow," "The Constant Wife," and "The Rich Are Always With Us."

Perhaps her most famous film role was as co-star with the late Walter Huston in the memorable Samuel Goldwyn production of "Dodsworth," which is still being shown around the country.

Theatrical Productions

More recently, Miss Chatterton has been appearing in theatrical productions of such modern comedies as "Pygmalion" and "Private Lives," as well as in the highly dramatic play, "The Little Foxes."

On television, she has re-enacted her memorable performance in "Dodsworth," starred in "Old Acquaintance" and "Allison's House," and appeared as the Queen in Maurice Evans' widely viewed production of "Hamlet."

In 1950, Miss Chatterton joined the list of theatre celebrities who have turned their talents to literature. Her first book was "Homeward Bound." It became a best-seller and was soon followed by another novel, "The Betrayers," a book about Senate investigations in Washington. Her third novel, "The Pride of the Peacock," dealt with divorce and its effect on the children of broken marriages.

Open House

The Phi Beta Mu sorority and the Alpha Pi Omega fraternity will sponsor an open house tomorrow night at 1616 Olive St. between the hours of 8 and 11:30 p.m. Everyone is invited to attend.

Charles Smith Voted Frosh Class Prexy

Charles Smith was elected president of the freshman class, William West, '58, chairman of the Student Council elections committee, announced this week.

Other officers include: Arthur Younkin, vice-president; Marianna Wonder, secretary; and Sandra Strickler, treasurer. Leslie Wolff, who tied with Alan Kutner for the representative to Student Council post, won the run-off election and will assume that position.

Smith, a civil engineering student, is a native of Asbury Park, N. J. Younkin is a native of Holsopple, Pa., and an industrial chemistry major. A graduate of Coneyaugh Township High School, he was president of Student Council and took part in many other student activities. At Albright he is a member of the Glee Club.

Class Secretary

Miss Wonder is a graduate of Johnstown Central High School, Johnstown, Pa., her hometown. She is also a member of the Domino Club, Glee Club, the Heo Club, and is a home economics major.

Miss Strickler is a native of York, Pa., and is a graduate of William Penn High School. She is a member of The Albrightian staff and a liberal arts major.

Wolff is a business administration student from Camden, N. J. In high school he was a member of the football team, the dramatics organization, and the school magazine.

Fraternities Send Out Bids For Membership

Three of Albright's four social fraternities have issued bids to 13 men for membership. Pledging began on Wednesday.

The Alpha Pi Omega fraternity has issued bids to Leonard Bilger, '57, Thomas Fries, '59, and William Lykens, '59. Tyler Hunting, '57, is the pledge master.

Bids were extended by the Pi Tau Beta fraternity to Ronald Brown, '59, and Arthur Oplinger, '59. The pledge master for the Pi Tau's is Myron Hallock, '57.

The pledges to the Zeta Omega Epsilon fraternity are: Robert Wenger, '58, Albert Costello, '59, John Frank, '59, and John Mishko, '59. Robert Florindo, '57, will serve as the pledge master.

The pledge list of the Kappa Upsilon Phi fraternity is awaiting the approval of Dean George Walton and has not yet been released.

Moyer Will Speak At Sunday Vespers

Dale Moyer, '59, will be the speaker at the vesper service Sunday night. Moyer, a pre-ministerial student, has chosen for his topic, "What Christians Believe About Jesus."

The speaker for Wednesday night's service has not been announced.

Elizabeth Reynolds, Ralph Carl To Play Leading Roles In Domino Fall Production

Discussing plans for the fall Domino production, "The Rainmaker," are the two stars, Elizabeth Reynolds, '58, and Ralph Carl, '57.

'Rainmaker' Listed For November 15

For the second time, Albright will see Elizabeth Reynolds, '57 and Ralph Carl, '57 in the leading roles of the Domino fall production. The play, "The Rainmaker," by N. Richard Nash, will be presented in White Chapel Hall on Nov. 15, 16 and 17.

Miss Reynolds's acting experience goes back to her first high school play for which she was given the best supporting actress award. Last year at Albright she played the sweet character of Dunreath Henry in "King of Hearts." In the role of Lizzie Curry, Miss Reynolds will play the part of a plain and lonely, but hopeful young girl in search for romance.

Different Role

In a completely different role from the obnoxious Larry Larkin of "King of Hearts," Carl will portray Bill Starbuck (alias a few other names), the loud braggard, but gentle dreamer. Carl's previous experience is with high school dramatics and Domino Club productions since his freshman year.

Two other names familiar to the Domino Club billboard are Vaughn Mervine, '59, playing the part of H. C. Curry, and Harold Bauchman, '58, as File. Alexander Wipf, '60, Arthur Younkin, '60, and Robert Sidman, '60, will be appearing on the White Chapel Hall stage for the first time.

Patricia Hostetter, instructor of English, is directing the cast of "The Rainmaker."

Groups Set Up New Scholarships

Four new scholarships have been opened to Albright students this year. The first is the Homer Adams Memorial Scholarship. To be eligible for this, the applicant must rank in the top fourth of his high school class. The recipient was John Alderman, '60. The Alumni Association Award went to Mary Ellen Hunsberger, '60.

The only new scholarship available for junior and senior women, the Beta Sigma Phi Award, went to Virginia Lee Hatton, '58. This is awarded for high academic standing in the freshman and sophomore years.

Finally, the Parish Pressed Steel Corporation has provided a scholarship for students entering the five year Mechanical Engineering curriculum. The winners were Stroud Custer, '60, and Robert Barbon, '60.

Sororities Bid Eleven Girls

Eleven girls were inducted into pledgeship by the Phi Beta Mu and Pi Alpha Tau sororities last Sunday.

The Phi Beta Mu pledges include Barbara Cox, '59, Elizabeth Henry, '59, Julia Karetas, '59, Margaret Raab, '59, Louise Reid, '59, and Barbara Rittenhouse, '59.

Pledges for the Pi Alpha Tau sorority are Dorothy Englert, '57, Mary Ellen Appleman, '58, Elva Zarefoss, '58, Nicole Donnay, '59, and Carolyn Stillwaggon, '59.

The sororities have also made plans for their rush parties. The Mu's rush party will be held Monday, Oct. 22, at the Friendly Association. Jean Weil, '58, is chairman.

The Pat's will hold their rush party this Monday night at Pandora Park. Suzanne Schick, '59, is chairman of the event.

German Newspaper Comes Off Press

The new German newspaper, Buntes Allerlei, came off the press this past Monday. This newspaper is a project of the advanced German class here on campus and is sponsored by the German Club and Delta Phi Alpha, national honorary German fraternity.

This experiment will be distributed to Berks County German classes and also will be available to students on campus.

The paper will feature German humor, philosophy and editorials written by students, German professors, and German notables in Berks County. Hans Gilde, '57, is editor-in-chief and Marian Schiller, '57, is assistant editor. Dr. Gerrit Memming, professor of German, is advisor.

Bonfire

There will be a bonfire and pep rally tonight in preparation for tomorrow's football game with Lafayette. The rally will be held at Kelchner Field, 7:30 p.m.

After the rally there will be a dance in Krause Hall.

Grad Courses Given On Campus This Term

Courses in graduate work will be offered this semester on the Albright College campus by the off-campus divisions of Temple University and Pennsylvania State University. Courses are held in Krause Hall in the evening and are open to all graduate students.

Temple University offers courses in education and psychology. Registration has taken place and classes began last week.

Penn State will hold classes for graduate study in engineering and science. Registration begins this week.

Larry Opdyke Voted President Of FTA

Larry Opdyke, '58, was elected president of the Future Teachers of America Association at the first meeting of the year, Oct. 3. Other officers elected include Virginia Hatton, '58, vice-president; Bonnie Orr, '58, recording secretary; Marilyn Wertz, '57, corresponding secretary; and Richard DeLong, '58, treasurer.

Tibbetts Winner Of Sales Contest

John Tibbetts, '59, with the sale of 10 reserved seats to his credit, was high individual salesman in the drive to sell tickets to the Albright-Muhlenberg game two weeks ago, according to figures released by Louis J. Rossi, '59, chairman of the Boost Albright athletics committee.

The Daymen's Association placed first as high organization with the combined reserved and general admission sale of nearly $300.00 worth of tickets. All told, the three day drive netted nearly $100.00 in sales.

Present Plans

Present plans of the committee included a meeting next Tuesday afternoon in The Albrightian office at which time details for a concerted two week drive to sell tickets for Albright's last two home games will be revealed. The drive will stress the idea that each student should sell at least one ticket to put the drive over its goal and special attention will be made to bulk sales to local business places and industries.

Members of the ticket committee and the organizations they represent include: Richard DeLong, '58, Pi Tau's; Arthur Saylor, '57, Daymen; Robert Durrwachter, '57, APO's; Barbara Ross, '57, Mu's; Jane Shay, '57, Daywomen; and Joseph Curcio, '58, Kappa's.

Speaker Announced

Rev. Kenneth Kline, pastor of the New Berlinville E.U.B. Church, will speak in Chapel Thursday, Oct. 18.

Support Needed

A new idea was proposed recently to the Student Council. The idea was accepted by the representatives and given to the administration for possible action. This new idea was a plan to have the SUB open evenings to provide a place for Albright's students to congregate after school hours. The Albrightian supports this plan and hopes that it becomes a regular part of life here at the college. There is no doubt about the fact that the students need such a place for co-educational recreation during the evenings. Having the SUB open nights would be a welcome addition to Albright's expanding social program designed to fit the needs of the modern collegian.

In addition to having the SUB open, Student Council also recommended that a juke box be secured for that place to make the plan more successful. While it is believed that the new idea would be successful with or without the juke box, nevertheless the degree of success could well depend on the inclusion of such a device. Certainly there would be no harm in placing a juke box in the SUB for the recreational uses of Albright's students.

The resolution also carried with it a proviso that would set up the new plan for a trial period to test its successfulness if the original idea is approved by the administration. This means that the future of the SUB's opening evenings would be placed squarely in the hands of the students. If enough students plan to spend some time during each week socializing in the SUB evenings, the plan will be a success. And, socializing is an essential part of being a successful college student. Those collegians who attain the highest goals are always those who can mix academic activity, and social life in favorable portions.

To go back to the original idea, however, The Albrightian firmly believes that the SUB plan as approved by Student Council would be a direct asset to Albright College.

Trial

School spirit has been the object of much discussion through the years. The discussion usually ends with the conclusion that Albright does not have enough. As far as suggesting ways to improve it, little progress has been made.

This year a group of students, headed by Sheila Greene, '58, took it upon themselves to do something about the matter. They decided to set definite aims and do everything in their power to see that these aims were carried out.

They endeavored to raise the attendance at all sporting events, to make the student body realize the importance of a good representation at games, to hold pep rallies, and to hire buses or some other means of transportation for those who wish to attend away games.

Thus far, the committee has made much progress. At the last home football game, they had a special cheering section roped off. They will continue to do this at all home football games.

They have also organized a pep rally and bonfire for tonight and have been contacting organizations to assist them by making posters and by encouraging their members to attend the rally.

Last of all, they have chartered a bus for the Lafayette game tomorrow.

If this committee is successful and reaches its goal, a constitution will be drawn up and it will become a permanent committee under the auspices of Student Council. This committee could not only talk up sports events, but all kinds of campus events. It could become an invaluable part of Albright.

Let's give it everything we have!

One of the more remarkable unpublished love stories was set to music in the thrilling "Lone Ranger Overture." This is the heart-breaking romance of Gioacchino Rossini—a three-to-one underdog—weighing 155 pounds from West Orange, New Jersey, and his opponent from Prospect, Canada, weighing 129 and one-half pounds, Margo Needleman. The part of Rossini will be played by William Tell and the part of Miss Needleman will be acted out by herself.

The Breathtaking Royal Philharmonic Orchestra of Moscow under the direction of Nicholas "Red" Dargomizhskv begins the brilliant "Largamente Non Too Mucho." The soft whispering sound of the oboe is echoed at first by the violins, then by the entire string section, picked up in turn by the woodwinds, the brass, and joined in finally by the percussions. A few minutes later, a tapping baton interrupts the musicians from any further tuning-up and the first movement of the "Lone Ranger Overture" begins to tell the story.

Cymbalist

William Tell, out in the big fat world at the age of eighteen, finds a job as first cymbalist in the Italian Opera House. There's no sense in looking behind the bush for more details, so it is here that he sees Margo for the first time. She is a second chair piccolo player and a rather good sight reader. Because of William's new outlook in life and his sudden interest in piccolos, he soon acquires the many symptoms of severe insomnia, nervousness, and eyestrain. This is indeed only the foundation of his troubles, for during a performance of "Claire de la Lune" he accidentally adds fourteen different cymbal crashes. The conductor in a somewhat angry condition—foaming at the mouth—puts William on probation for having played one smash too many.

The Moscow ninety-nine are now playing the theme from William's first composition dedicated to Margo, entitled "Hast du Bitter Hertz." Idiomatically this means "Don't Be Cruel, You Angel You." William eventually loses control of himself and decides to ask Margo if she wouldn't like to join him in a duet sometime. She agrees without much persuasion (mainly for the sake of our story) and this brings the conductor's stick down for a very entertaining first movement.

Intermission

A three minute intermission follows and the warning bell for round two signals the orchestra for the extremely slow "Poco Moderato Adagio Lento." Mr. Dargomizhskv modifies this a little by playing a rather lively "prestissimo."

William Tell and Margo are now seated in the large rehearsal hall just finishing Bach's concerto number 2 opus 689 for cymbal and piccolo. William has not yet made up his mind to tell Margo the way he feels about her and her piccolo. The two end together on a very wistful note and, of course, Bach loses again. William takes Margo's hand in his and says rather sweetly, "Margo, I've something to tell you... my hand is full of bubble gum!"

Margo takes William's hand and asks, "Bill, why are your cymbals so cold?"

Now William takes Margo's arm and the conductor decides to end this very inspiring second movement.

The final movement is the famous "Hi, Ho, Silver Ride" which is

Albright Personality

Joel May

By George Withers

Five feet eight inches, crew-cut and endless vitality describe Joel May—The Albrightian personality of the week. Joel graduated from the Milton Hershey School in Hershey, Pa. as an honor student. Every day he travels in his own car to Albright from his residence at 432 West Douglass Street in Reading. Joel is an outstanding student in the business administration course.

Since his arrival in the Lion's den, Joel has eagerly participated in many extra-curricular activities. Joel has a distinct flair for music which came out in his piano playing and singing ability. He has been a member of the Glee Club during his entire college career and has contributed to his fraternity quartet.

Retreat

By Billie Williams

The annual fall "Y" retreat last weekend was quite a success. Those who went enjoyed it for a variety of reasons. To some the fellowship was invigorating. Others found enjoyment at the waterfront. But everyone benefited from the three seminars led by Rev. Adolf Unger.

Singing was one of the more popular indoor sports. Since it rained all day Saturday, it was necessary to find sheltered amusement during free time.

Food

To save on expenses some Albright home ec students cooked all the meals. They did a fine job and topped everything off with a memorable ham dinner on Sunday.

Saturday night there was a doggie roast after the evening seminar. Then it was suggested that there be a silent period until the next morning for those who wished to meditate. This was voluntary.

Sunday started in reverence with communion before breakfast. Then the final seminar was held on the lodge porch overlooking the lake. After dinner everyone packed, cleaned, piled in cars and left Blue Mountain as lonely as when they had arrived there.

Until the spring a group of students won't have the opportunity to get together in a natural setting and worship as they did at the retreat. The gains from such an event are spiritual, emotional and social. All those who missed this one should plan ahead for the next retreat.

actually the stirring climax of William's romance. He tells Margo that he has fallen in love with her. Margo is convinced, however, that William loves her because she plays a "fine" piccolo.

At the final passages of the movement, Margo becomes violently angry and heaves her piccolo at William and walks out on him. William, standing there with his cold cymbals in his sticky hands, calls out in revenge, "Well I didn't love you anyway because you wore Bermuda shorts—so there!" The final curtain comes down and unfortunately hits Conductor Dargomizhskv right about... here.

fited from Joel's capabilities for the past two years. Last May he held the large responsibility of being chairman of Parent's Weekend.

Joel found time in addition to the above activities to be an active member of the Daymen's Association for four years and participated in the football marching band during his freshman and sophomore years.

Hobbies

His hobbies are model railroad-ing and playing the piano. Another of his main interests is the Alpha Pi Omega social fraternity. To this organization he has devoted much of his time and energy, doing the jobs that go by unnoticed, but that must be done.

During the past summer, Joel worked at the Reading Hospital. There he received experience in the line of work that interests him for the future.

His friendliness, helpfulness, and sincerity toward everyone truly make Joel an outstanding personality on the Albright campus. We are sure his ambition for a career in the business world will be greatly fulfilled without much difficulty.

Fashion Wise

By Sandie Gerhart

Sorry, fellows! This is for girls only. (But read it anyway, so you will be able to tell if your best girl is wearing the latest fashion.)

In choosing a dress remember that this fall simplicity is the keynote. At the same time, look for femininity and softness.

The "soft look" fabrics include wool jersey, silk and wool crepe. Wool jersey is a casual fabric which can be used for dressy fashions and can be worn any time of the day.

Color wise, Logan Green is the favorite color for fall. The "little black dress" will become very important and there will be the usual charcoal-grays, browns and reds. Beige will also reappear. There are two good reasons for including beige in your wardrobe. First, it casts a light on your complexion. Then, it can be worn with every other color in your wardrobe.

Dior

Dior and a few other famous designers have created an uproar in the fashion world by copying styles from the pages of fashion history. Styles of 1910 are being recreated all over the world. Sheath dresses are being made with waistline-to-hem draperies and waistlines are higher than normal to give you that "short-waisted" look. (Personally, I like my waistline just where it is.)

As usual, there are the Ivy League Bermuda shorts, which have been the campus fad for the past few years. But if shorts aren't permissible, skirts are also available with the Ivy League design.

The latest campus fashion to hit the news is the "campus coat". These fabulous coats are water repellent, wind repellent, washable, moth repellent and some are even boy repellent. They come in all shapes and sizes and the colors range from "baby blue" to purple polka dots.

But regardless of the color style or fabric, remember to choose a dress that can be worn with easy movement, because nothing is worse than discomfort. Always remember to buy wisely and economically.

Lions At Lafayette For Second Road Contest

IN THE LION'S DEN

By Phil Eyrich, Associate Editor

All Albrightians had good reason to be proud of their football team for its great showing against the Gettysburg Bullets last week. The Lions electrified the Gettysburg crowd with a passing attack and a defense that should have been able to defeat the Bullets. But in three key plays the Bullets were successful. On these three plays they scored, and thus topped the Lions 20-6.

The Red and White's passing attack was a tremendous feat in itself. With sophomore quarterback Frank Sudock "finding" his arm for the first time this year, the Lions drove the Gettysburg pass defense into the ground. Sudock completed 17 passes in the rain. Coach John Potskian also found his best receiver in George Flynn, and freshman Ted Mortsea showed enough ability late in the game to be capable of being the team's number two receiver.

Great Defense . . .

In addition to the passing attack, the Lions presented a defense, the quality of which Albright fans have not seen in some time. With center John Mishko, The Albrightian's Player of the Month for September, calling the defensive alignments, the Red and White were able to stall the Bullets ground game and rush their passer so many times that only rarely did Gettysburg get a pass off.

Albright varied its defense so often that the Bullets found it impossible to get set for any one pattern. A large amount of the credit here must go to both Potskian and Mishko, the former for devising the system and the latter for running it skillfully. The center of the Lions' line responded to the call and played magnificently.

John Setticerze, Ralph Cyphers, Charles Hoover, Norm Ruppert, Dick Napolitani, Jim Williamson, Jim Doremus and Mishko really outplayed their opponents, while Whitey Rightmire, playing as linebacker, also kept the Bullets to a minimum of yardage gained. Each of the above had their moments of glory in repulsing their hosts. Setticerze, Hoover, Ruppert, Williamson, and Doremus were alternated in the line throughout the game. Mishko and Rightmire played most of the game, while Cyphers and Napolitani came on in the second half to excel. Napolitani lived up to his advance billing by stopping the Bullets on a number of consecutive defensive plays late in the game.

Worst Yet To Come . . .

This week the Lions will meet their toughest opponent in their nine-game slate. Lafayette has rebounded in the grid sport over the past several seasons and has climbed to a position as one of the best medium-sized grid colleges in the East. Although Bucknell and Gettysburg were good, Lafayette is better. The Leopards have replaced mediocre Alfred on the schedule but must figure to be a tougher challenge than the Alfred team which dropped Albright last year 13-7. Lafayette was added to the slate to fill-in a gap in the Lions' slate. In this case it was like filling a size six shoe with a size 12 foot because the Leopards addition to the schedule just made an already over-loaded slate heavier.

Grid Rivalry Renewed After Season Lapse

Lafayette and Albright will resume their gridiron rivalry tomorrow after a lapse of one year.

Since 1913, the two teams have met a total of 13 times with the Leopards winning 10 games to the Lions' three.

Coach Steve Hokuf will continue to go with his two unit system which has racked up three consecutive victories thus far. The Maroons have defeated Muhlenberg, Temple, and Delaware, the latter by a 28-14 score last Saturday night. Hokuf feels that there is not too much difference between the two units. However, he is making frequent changes and has fielded a line which has held its first two opponents scoreless.

Bozik Star

The Lafayette team is counting heavily on the services of quarterback Joe Bozik, a sophomore from Donora. Bozik, who was forced to miss practically all of the opening game because of injuries, was the hero of the Temple contest, scoring on a 64-yard pass interception and chucking a 30-yard pass for another touchdown in Lafayette's 20-0 conquest. Also spearheading the backfield will be halfback Dave Clauss, who scored two touchdowns and two conversions in the Delaware game.

The Albright Lions, still looking for their first victory, have lost to Bucknell, Muhlenberg and Gettysburg. However, at times the Lions have shown real spirit. Frank Sudock's passing last Saturday provided the fans with plenty of thrills.

Same Eleven

Coach Potskian will probably come up with the eleven which started last week's game, a backfield consisting of Frank Sudock at quarterback; halfbacks, Tom Pollock and Willie Smith; and fullback, Whitey Rightmire; ends, Frank Hoffman and Don McCarty; tackle, Joe Kremer and John Setticerze; guards, Charles Hoover and Joe DeMeno; and center, John Mishko.

Lafayette's Leopards are slated to start in addition to quarterback Bozik and halfback Clauss, halfback Jack Slotter and fullback Roy Geiss. The line will consist of ends Don Dilley and Gordon Gibson; tackles, Ray Dahms and Jim O'Brien; guards, Bob Burcin and Bob Brougier; and center, Norg Ellison.

For The Record

Albright's football records against its current opponents are as shown below. The composite record is 60 wins, 107 losses and eight ties.

- vs. Bucknell—won 1, lost 13
- vs. Muhlenberg—won 13 lost 20
- vs. Gettysburg—won 2, lost 11, tied 4
- vs. Lafayette—won 3, lost 10
- vs. F. & M.—won 8, lost 16, tied 2
- vs. Moravian—won 15, lost 4
- vs. L.V.C.—won 16, lost 15, tied 2
- vs. Lehigh—won 0, lost 9
- vs. Scranton—won 2, lost 9

Gettysburg Stops Lions; Albright's Line Stars

By Mike Teitelman, Albrightian Sports Writer

Capitalizing on several big breaks, the Gettysburg Bullets subdued an inspired Albright eleven 20-6 before 2,000 fans at rainswept Memorial Field in Gettysburg last Saturday.

The Lions showed from the first whistle that they were going to be tough. The Bullets lost 13 yards the first time they had the ball, 34 yards the second time. The center of the Lion line, consisting of John Mishko, John Setticerze, Chuck Hoover, and Jim Doremus were brilliant as they turned back the heavy running of the speedy Bullet backs.

The first quarter was scoreless, although Albright had the pigskin in Bullet territory repeatedly. Joe DeMeno was hurt on the first play from scrimmage and sat out the rest of the game. Constant backfield in motion penalties kept the Bullets in hot water throughout the first quarter.

After Don McCarty had made a beautiful tackle of Chuck Heverly to force the Bullets to punt, the Lions started their only successful touchdown drive of the season. Quarterback Frank Sudock, who completed 17 out of 29 passes for 265 yards, started the march by firing a short pass to John Kopp, who raced down the sidelines for a 33-yard gain to the Bullet 34 yard line.

Sudock took to the air again, hitting George Flynn for a 20-yard gain. Once more Sudock threw the pigskin this time again to John Kopp, who raced for the score. Whitey Rightmire's attempted conversion was wide and the Albrightians led 6-0.

Gettysburg could go nowhere in the three plays following the kickoff, and Frank Capitani went back to punt. He got the kick away, and it bounced on about the 40, took a crazy bounce and hit Frank Sudock on the leg, while Dave Lichtenfeld pounced on the pigskin. It was ruled a fumble and Gettysburg had the ball on the Albright 40 yard line.

Bad Break

It was a bad break for the Lions, but John Mishko and John Setticerze slammed in and stopped the Bullets on four downs. With only two minutes left to go in the half, Albright leading 6-0, Floyd Rightmire went back to punt for the Lions. But a bad pass from center eluded him and he was tackled on the Albright 35 yard line.

It was another break for the Bullets, and this time great line play could not stop them. With just 20 seconds remaining and a fourth down, third string quarterback Jim Stravolo fired a pass to Hailey on the Albright 15 and he raced over for the touchdown. Harry Binger converted and Gettysburg stole the lead 7-6.

The Bullets received the second half kickoff and marched to a quick six-pointer. With the ball on the Albright 40 yard line via long runs by Ed Yost and Capitani, a fourth down pass, Heverly to Capitani, fooled the Lion secondary and the swift Gettysburg back sped to a touchdown. The attempted conversion was never made because of a high pass from center.

The Lions were far from done as pitching Frank Sudock threw the pigskin. Despite the fact that it was raining, the Soph quarterback hit George Flynn six times and John Kopp or Frank Hoffman were also frequent targets. A weird penalty was called on Gettysburg that put the ball deep in Bullet territory.

Hailey Scores

Don Hailey wrestled the ball out of a Lion end's hands and ran through the whole team to score. But the referee saw the infraction and ruled it interference, giving Albright its only break of the game, and the ball on the Bullet 14 yard line. Kopp and Smith brought the ball to the one yard line when the third quarter ended, Gettysburg leading 13-6.

The referee marked the ball one foot from the goal line on fourth down. Kopp tried to go around the left side but was stopped short of the goal line.

Don Hailey provided the clincher for Gettysburg when he took a Rightmire punt and raced 86 yards down the left sideline to score. The touchdown and conversion made the score 20-6 in favor of Gettysburg.

Fumble Found

With two minutes remaining, Frosh Jim Williamson recovered a loose ball and Al Benesky came in to relieve Frank Sudock, who played a magnificent game. Benesky completed a pass to Ted Mortsea on the Bullet 29, who lateraled to John Setticerze for an extra five yards. After another pass was blocked by one of the Gettysburg linemen, Benesky threw a pass to John Cunningham; it bounced off one of the Bullet defenders and into Cunningham's arms for a gain of 10 yards.

Frank Sudock came in to throw a long pass; he completed it to Mortsea but time ran out before the Lions could get another play off.

Gottshall, Mack Set To Pace Lion Runners

With Captain Don Gottshall leading the team through practice runs, the Albright College cross-country appeared ready for its first meet of the season with Haverford last Wednesday.

The team will be led by Gottshall and George Mack, who ran second and third respectively last year. For depth, the Lions will depend on lettermen Dick Throshier and Dick Ami. The team is rounded out with Freshmen Randy Hertzog and Knute Anderson. In last year's meet with Haverford, the Shirkmen dropped a rather close race over a rain-soaked course at Haverford.

The team will be trying to better last year's record of 3-5. The team as a whole appears set and should better last year's record.

APO Paces Grid Competition

Intense action was recorded during the second week of the football intramurals. Front-running Alpha Pi Omega recorded two wins to keep a perfect slate. APO beat Kappa Upsilon Phi 21-6, and routed the Daymen 40-0. A tie for second place exists due to the fact that Pi Tau Beta won both of their games, while Zeta Omega Epsilon split.

Pi Tau recorded wins over Zeta, which was the upset of the week at 19-7, and the Dorm 20-6. Zeta salvaged one win with a victory over the Dorm 20-6. In the remaining game, Kappa moved into a tie with the Dorm by defeating the Daymen 20-6.

The standings and scoring records as of October 5 are:

Standings:	Won	Lost
APO	3	0
Pi Tau	2	1
Zeta	2	1
Dorm	1	2
Kappa	1	2
Daymen	0	3

Scoring:

Greenawald, Pi Tau	20 Points
Hallock, Pi Tau	19 Points
Brodbeck, Zeta	18 Points
Reber, APO	14 Points
Dietzel, Zeta	13 Points
Moyer, APO	13 Points

There are five players tied with 12 points each.

In tennis, five men recorded first round victories. Ted Gabriel defeated Randy Hertzog 6-3, 6-0; Dick Steffy topped Lee Molnar 6-0, 6-1; Jack Reinhart over Jon Bradshaw 7-5, 6-2; Nelson Haller defeated Gerard Knapp 6-0, 6-0; and Lee Swartz topped Bob Carlson 6-2, 6-4.

W. G. Renken has posted notices to the effect that the volleyball intramurals, which will also be a single elimination tournament, will take place sometime between Thanksgiving and Christmas, and will last for one week. He would like to see a large number for this event. All men who like to play volleyball, watch for notices as to when and where you can sign up for the tournament.

Four Albright Alumni Complete Graduate Studies Recently

Albright alumni have contributed much to the community and to the world through the years. In order that we might be more aware of the activities of recent graduates, a regular alumni column will appear in The Albrightian.

A few recent alumni have completed their graduate work. They include Frank Guenter, Jr., '54, Emma Seifert, '54, Patricia Weitzel, '55, and Robert Schoenbrun, '55.

Guenter graduated from the State University of Iowa, with the master of science degree in actuarial science. During the past year he taught algebra, trigonometry, analytic geometry and differential calculus at Iowa. He is now associated with the Berkshire Life Insurance Co., Pittsfield, Mass.

Home Economics Degree

Miss Seifert received her master of science degree in home economics at Drexel Institute of Technology, Philadelphia.

Miss Weitzel received the degree of master of science in library science at Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio.

Schoenbrun recently graduated from the New York Institute of Chiropractors.

A few recent alumni have accepted church pastorates. Theodore Tietze, '55, is the pastor of Salem E.U.B. Church, Brooklyn, N. Y. Max Nuscher, '54, is the student pastor of the E.U.B. Church in Pymont, Ohio.

Ivan W. Moyer, Jr. '55, and Charles Loveless, '55, both students at the United Theological Seminary, Dayton, Ohio, were on a seven-week concert tour with the semi-annual men's choir in Europe. They were two of 28 students making the five-country good-will tour.

Two alumni in the Armed Forces are Richard Cassar, '54, and Jerome Lengel, '55. Cassar was recently a part of the Third Army rifle and pistol matches at the Infantry Center, Fort Benning, Ga. He is regularly assigned to the 317th Chemical Company at Fort McClellan, Ala.

Navy Ensign

Lengel is an ensign in the U. S. Navy, attending supply school at Athens, Ga. Lengel recently was graduated from Officer's Candidate School in Newport, R. I.

Other '54 alumni in the news include Patricia Eisenbise Deal and A. Robert Walker. Mrs. Deal has been appointed assistant home economist for Berks County extension. Mrs. Deal was formerly employed as a home economist for the Pennsylvania Power and Light Co., and as a dietitian at the Community General Hospital, Reading.

Walker, formerly pastor of Jacobus E.U.B. Church, has just started United Theological Seminary, Dayton, Ohio.

Service Fraternity Set For Charter In National Union

Twenty-one Albright students applied for membership to the recently organized Alpha Phi Omega national service fraternity, Oct. 4. The fraternity has now filled all the requirements to become nationalized and can apply for a charter.

The Alpha Phi Omega fraternity, founded at Lafayette College in 1925, is now entering its thirty-first year of service to students, faculty, and community in more than 280 of its chapters throughout the country.

Dr. Paul Leininger, associate professor of chemistry, who introduced the Albright Chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, was also an advisor to the chapter at Lafayette. Dr. Edwin Bell, assistant professor of biology, is another advisor to the organization. The officers of the group are John Feick, '58, president; William Mays, '58, vice-president; Bernard Glissen, '57, secretary; and Clarence Hall, '57, treasurer.

Membership is open to all male students of Albright College until the national charter is received and pledging begins. The next regularly scheduled meeting will be held in November.

Domino Club Draws Large Attendance

A large gathering attended the first meeting of the Domino Club Thursday, Oct. 4, in White Chapel Hall. Patricia Hostetter, instructor in English and the club's new advisor, directed the meeting.

"Operation Domino Club," a series of sketches showing make-up procedures, stagecraft, try-out methods and other phases of a production, was staged and directed by officers of the group.

Sally Dettra, '59, Elizabeth Reynolds, '58, Janet Weber, '59, Thalia Voight, '57, Mary Anne Sherk, '59, Virginia Mangin, '57, Robert Peckham, '59, William Garrett, '59, John Luckenbill, '58, and Vaughn Mervine, '59, took part in the sketches.

A short business meeting was also held and refreshments followed the meeting.

Albrightians Comment On Suez Canal Problem

An important world question was the subject for this week's all-campus survey. "Do you think the United States should remain strictly neutral in the Suez Canal dispute or should the United States side with either Great Britain and France or Egypt?" The following comments were compiled by freshmen reporters Anne Purvis and Robert Poff.

Joel May, '57: "The United States, since it is a major power in the world and since it is directly concerned because it uses the canal for shipping, should definitely take a side in the dispute. This is a decision of the people running the country's foreign affairs."

Patricia Nein, '58: "I feel the United States should remain neutral on the question."

Patrick McFerren, '60: "The United States should remain neutral due to the fact that it would bring up the question of our control of the Panama Canal."

Robert Peckham, '59: "The United States should be neither neutral nor side with any country, but should take the initiative upon herself."

Dorothy Englert, '57: "I feel the Suez Canal should be run on an international basis, but what ever the United States decides, they should make a definite stand."

Philip Eyrich, '58: "The United States should side with Great Britain up to the point of using violence."

James Geiselman, '60: "The United States has tried to save its friends long enough. It is time to choose one side through our convictions and stick to that side regardless of the loss of so-called friends."

Betsy Smith, '59: "In order to divert a possible world wide crisis, I think the United States should take some action on the Suez matter. Pacifism will not solve this situation."

Frank Joseph, '58: "Leave the decision up to John Foster Dulles. He knows the facts."

Clement Cassidy, '57: "In view of United States' position of power and prestige in the world to remain neutral would be unthinkable. In short, United States would ignore its responsibility to the world by remaining neutral. Our position is one of active interest and advice-giving. We must referee."

Jean Fink, '59: "The United States should remain neutral unless there are definite acts of aggression. The action to be taken now should be left up to the United Nations."

Frederick B. Little, '60: "The United States should remain neutral on this question because it would be of more benefit to us to boycott the issue than to take an active stand on it."
