'Do-It-Yourself' Fashion Show Theme

The Home Economics Department presented a fashion show at a meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of Albright College last Wednesday in Krause Hall. The theme of the show, "Do-It-Yourself," was designed to prove that any college girl can dress like a queen if she knows how to sew.

The show opened with simple fashions and continued through more advanced clothes. Miss Ernestine Elder, assistant professor of art and home economics, was the narrator and chairman.

Coeds Model

The following girls modeled: Lois Levan, '56, Thalia Voigt, '56, Lois Anderson, '57, Lynn Hagenbuch, '57, Marie Lorach, '57, Frances Stauffer, '57, Marilyn Wertz, '57, and Mary Jo Wolfe, '57.

Also, sophomores Marilyn Dinsmore, Sandra Goepfert, Sheila Greene, Ella Miller, and Elva Zarefoss.

KTX Will Present 'Friendship Journey' World Travellers

Mrs. Dorothy Hutchinson, one of two participants in a round-the-world journey of friendship, will be the speaker at a Kappa Tau Chi open meeting Thursday, March 15, at 7:30 p.m. in Krause Hall.

Mrs. Hutchinson is a graduate of Mount Holyoke College. After graduation she visited Europe and North Africa and then entered Yale University, receiving the Ph.D. in zoology in 1932. Several of her papers on international affairs have been translated and published in foreign languages. She is the mother of three children and her husband is the associate professor of anatomy at Jefferson Medical College.

Quaker-Sponsored

The Quaker-sponsored "Journey of Friendship" in which Mrs. Hutchinson and Miss Hazel Dubois, an eighteen year old Negro, participated, was designed to promote better understanding between Americans and other peoples. It included eleven countries and covered 25,000 miles in three months. The travelers were guests of families in France, Germany, Israel, West Pakistan, India, Thailand, the Philippines, and Japan. In Turkey and in Hong Kong, the closest they got to Communist China, they stopped at public establishments.

All students, faculty, and area residents are invited to hear Mrs. Hutchinson.

APO's, Mu's To Visit Veterans' Hospital

The trip will be sponsored by the campus Y's. Two buses supplied by the hospital will leave the parking lot in front of Selwyn Hall at 6:30 p.m.

Dorothy Englert Named Chairman For Church Day

Dorothy Englert, '57, has been appointed general chairman for Church Day, announced the Rev. Robert S. Smethers, coordinator of church and community relations. Church Day, to be held Saturday, April 7, will provide an opportunity for EUB young people throughout the church to visit the campus and become acquainted with the college.

Begun in the spring of 1954 and continued in 1955, Church Day will be a bi-annual event after this year. Last year, 44 young people attended.

New Organization May Be Formed

The organizational meeting of a new cultural and service society for both boarding and day women will be held Thursday at 12:30 p.m. in the Blue Room of Selwyn Hall. At that time a constitution for the group will be drawn up, in order that the society may request permission from the Faculty Committee on Student Activities and Organizations to organize formally.

Sophomore Test Program Measures Three Areas

Sophomores are participating in a five and one-half hour national testing program begun yesterday and continuing today according to Dr. Milton G. Geil, professor of psychology and director of the Psychological Service Center.

Developed by the Educational Testing Bureau of Princeton, N. J., these tests measure students' attainment in general culture, English and contemporary affairs.

According to national records compiled from last year's tests, Albright students ranked in the top 30 per cent of the more than 23,107 students tested in contemporary affairs. Other ratings, Dr. Geil reported, show Albright sophomores in the top 20 per cent in general culture and the top 43 per cent in English.

211 Colleges Included

A total of 211 colleges and universities, located in 37 states, the District of Columbia and Hawaii, an increase of 13 per cent over last year, will participate in this evaluation program.

The contemporary affairs test is designed to reveal how well students are keeping abreast of world developments in public affairs, science, medicine, literature, and the arts, and to determine how well they understand the underlying ideas and trends.

"Life Is Commitment" will be the general theme of Centennial Religion-in-Life Week, March 19-22. Dr. John Oliver Nelson, professor of Christian vocation at Yale University Divinity School, will be the speaker.

This spring, for the first time, music provided by Albright students will be featured at the noon meditation in Teel Hall Chapel.

At daily Chapel services in Krause Hall, Monday through Thursday, Dr. Nelson will speak respectively on "Deepen Your Theology," "Quicken Your Discipline," "Widen Your Concern," and "Dedicate Your Career." Sophomores and seniors will attend Chapel on Monday and Wednesday, and freshmen and juniors on Tuesday and Thursday.

Evening Services

Evening Devotional Services will be held in White Chapel Hall, followed by informal discussion groups open to all students and faculty members. Sponsors for these discussions include the Pi Tau Beta fraternity and Pi Alpha Tau sorority in the Teel Hall lounge, and the Kappa Upsilon Phi fraternity and upperclass dormitory women in the Kappa house, Tuesday evening; the Alpha Pi Omega fraternity and Phi Beta Mu sorority in the APO house, and the Zeta Omega Epsilon fraternity and freshman dormitory women in the Zeta house, Wednesday evening.

Faculty Tea

A faculty tea and informal discussion with Dr. Nelson is scheduled for 3:10 p.m. in the Blue Room of Selwyn Hall Thursday, March 22.

Students participating in the music for noon meditation include William Garret, '59, organist; Betty Miraszewski, '56, soprano; Anne Young, '59, organist and alto; Sonia Flicker, '57, soprano; Barry Blatt, '58, baritone; Charles deBoeser, '59, organist; Adelaide Horne, '58, soprano; Janet Nagle, '59, organist; Josephine Seyfert, '58, organist; and Shirley Schaefer, '56, soprano.

The general culture test assesses the students general understanding in social studies, literature, science, mathematics, and fine arts.

The English test measures the level of achievement of sophomore college students in certain language skills, involving the expression and mechanics of written language, as well as knowledge of grammatical usage, punctuation, capitalization, sentence structure, style, verbal skill, organization, recognition vocabulary, speed and level of comprehension.

The Albright tests were administered by Dr. Geil yesterday afternoon and today in Krause Hall to 206 sophomores.

In every instance Albright students scored markedly above the medial when compared with results obtained in other colleges and universities. With a national medial of 50 for each major test unit, Albright students scored 57 in English, 70 in contemporary affairs and 79 in general culture.

SC Tells Why

The purpose of this editorial is to explain, on behalf of Student Council, what the proposed amendments to the Constitution are and why they are necessary. These have been passed by the Council and must next be approved by the Faculty Committee on Student Organizations and Activities plus the faculty itself. The final voice, however is in your hands, the students of the Albright community; a majority of you will either approve or disapprove them when they are referred to you within a few weeks.

Lack of space prevents the discussion of the amendments in toto; therefore, the text below will confine itself to the most significant changes. For the minor amendments, the reader is referred to the back page where all the amendments are printed.

One major change has to do with the nomination and election of the Cue editor and business manager (Article II). Under the present constitution, both these elective functions are performed by the junior class. This amendment would give the nominating power to the retiring Cue staff. The junior class would then elect its new Cue officials from the slate of candidates presented by the retiring staff. This would serve to provide recommendations for the candidates nominated, based on their past performances by those who worked with them, and would insure that each class would be represented by the best possible yearbook.

New Representation System

Another major change involves the membership of Student Council. (Article III) There are five main changes in this article. Under the rigid sections of the article as it now stands, day students are given ten representatives, boarding students are given four, fraternities and sororities are given two each (a total of 12) and each class sends its president—a total of thirty members.

No adjustment is provided for in the event of changes in enrollment affecting the ratio between boarding students and day students, which is at present approximately equal. Little consistency is evidenced for boarding students are not allowed to send fraternity or sorority members as representatives, whereas daymen and daywomen may send two fraternity and two sorority members as representatives respectively.

The result is that fraternities and sororities, with a combined student population of 228 at a maximum, have at least 19 representatives and the independents, with a student population of 472 at a minimum, have at the most 10 representatives (note: the freshman class president cannot join a fraternity until the latter part of his freshman year).

This situation would be greatly improved by the amendment which would guarantee the independents at least 14 representatives. These independent representatives would be portioned out to concur with the ratio between boarding and day students; moreover, the women and men would be proportionately represented in both the day student and dormitory student organizations according to their numbers. The amendment also provides for each class to elect a Student Council representative instead of automatically sending its president.

Petition System For SC Presidents

A third major change concerns the nomination of candidates for the Student Council presidency. Under the present constitution, Student Council itself conducts the nomination and presents two candidates to be voted on by the student body. Election is by a simple majority. Under the proposed amendments, all who qualify for the candidacy (all juniors who have served one year on Council and are academically eligible) could present Student Council with petitions stating their desire and qualifications for the office.

In order for any petition to be considered by Council, it would have to be signed by fifty regularly-enrolled Albright students. All who so petitioned for the office would become candidates for the presidency, and the student body would elect from among them their choice. A plurality of 10% would be required for a candidate to win the election, and in the event that this plurality is not attained, a second election would be held in which the two candidates receiving the highest number of votes in the first election would be candidates. A simple majority would then determine the successful candidate in this second election.

It is also stipulated that 60 per cent of the student body must vote before any election for the Student Council presidency could be considered legal. This amendment is intended to prevent any pressure group on the campus from controlling the election and thus gaining an unfair advantage in the control of student government.

These amendments will be further explained in a special Assembly program set aside for that purpose later this spring.

ABSTRACTIONAL

By Phil Goldfeder

Probably one of the most spectacular television shows in the year 2000 was "The $2,000,000 Question." The program was transmitted over seventeen ultra-supersonic frequencies (AM and FM) and had received so many awards for popularity, originality, and generality, that it even won an award for having the highest amount of awards. The quiz show usually began about one in the morning—it was dedicated to kids who couldn't watch TV until they finished their homework—right up until the very time the Quiz Master got a heart attack.

It was about the third or fourth program when John Gyorgyi was a contestant. The QM interviewed him briefly and then asked him, "What is your category, Mr. Gyorgyi?"

"Gyorgyi, John Gyorgyi," the contestant quickly corrected. "I would like to have the subject of space travel."

The QM, satisfied with the choice, walked over to a huge machine bolted on to the middle of the stage. A metallic disk was placed in this electronic brain and after thirty-three red and yellow lights and a foghorn, four sets of questions came out on a piece of cellulose.

"For your first question," the QM asked in a rather painful voice, "why are you standing on my foot?"

"Can you tell me for $8,000, who was the first person to reach Mars successfully and start his own Mars Bars Factory?"

Without a pause in his breathing, the contestant calmly said, "Seymour Wisenhaulpter."

The QM shook his head like a pump and slowly pulled out the next question.

"What was Mr. Wisenhaulpter's description and what was he wearing?"

Again the contestant answered without hesitation, "He was wearing a light blue checkered Rober Hall suit and pants matching set, he was three feet tall, and spoke like a Doger fan."

"Do you still want to go through with this?" the QM asked while his own handkerchief went to work mopping up his brow.

"Yep!" replied the deadpan Gyorgyi.

"For $100,000, what were the last words of that daring man to reach the second satellite of the earth and what was his line?"

"Mr. Gyorgyi," you still have a chance. The QM went over to the electronic brain, put a wooded peg and a Wheaties box top into a slot and waited . . . and waited . . . "Who's the dope who pulled out the plug?" the QM shouted. Soon, some more lights and a buzzing noise was heard and this time a photograph came out.

"Now Mr. Gyorgyi, this is the picture of the man who is your exact duplicate and he will be given an opportunity to answer your question. Will the assistants please show this gentleman brought here?" In a matter of seconds the man, Jones, was carried up on stage in a toboggan and the question was repeated: "For $100,000, what were the last words of that daring man to reach the second satellite of the earth and what was his line?"

"His name was Alfred Roys, and he was a Utility Engineer for the B and O Railroad. He said that, if he had to do it all over again, he would kill himself."

"Right!"

"Mr. Gyorgyi, we usually have our contestants come back the following

Albright Personality

Sally Lanz

By Jay Price, '58

Attractive, likeable, and ambitious are the words which most amply describe our "topic for discussion" this week. She's that busy, senior home-ec major, Sally Lanz.

Currently, Sally is doing student teaching in Philadelphia, and is loving every minute of it! On campus, she's president of Women's Student Senate, vice president of the PAT's, a member of the Domino Club, FTA, and Heo Club.

During her four years at Albright, our gal has held several important positions. She was president of the home-ec organization for two semesters, treasurer of the Eastern District of the FTA while a junior, the PAT, representative to the Inter-Sorority Council, a member of the Women's Dormitory Council, a member of the Albrightian staff for two years, and pianist for the orchestra and the Octet throughout her freshman year. Most recently, Sally has been chosen to appear in our May Court; along with four other senior women, she has been pledged to Phi Delta Sigma, honorary alumnae sorority.

While at home in Wyomissing Hills, Sally enjoys her three Siamese cats, her cocker spaniel puppy, and her "fella"—a '55 Albright grad. She has studied piano and ballet, and has served as a Berks County playground leader for several summers.

Sally's willingness and co-operation, together with her personality and gregariousness, have made her shine during her years at Albright, and we're sure that her success and happiness will continue as she enters the realm of homemaking.

TheBodyBeautiful

By Priscilla R. Musclebound

There is only one key to success for an individual in our competitive world, and that is good physical bearing and poise. In the light of this astounding fact, each Albright co-ed is given the opportunity to improve her posture and general physical appearance through the weekly Body Mechanics classes given in the Minor Sports Wing of the Physical Education Building.

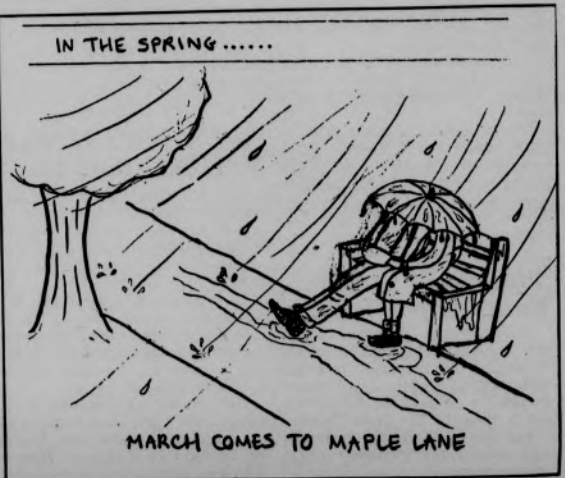

We should appreciate what a benefit this will be for us in later life when we enter business and must have good carriage to do our work well. A recent national survey shows that 98 per cent of corporation employers give raises to their executives, based on their ability to twist their trunks in a clockwise motion.

How To Be Very, Very . . .

This course could also be considered a lesson in popularity because one makes friends easily if she is skilled enough in sports to be a good companion for leisure hours. The only prerequisite for being a successful leader is the mastering of the thirteen basic exercises, thus enabling the Body Mechanics graduate to become a worthwhile citizen in her community.

The physical fitness gained from this course comes only through disciplined effort. Any discipline, whether self-imposed or inflicted by others, is guaranteed to produce only good effects on the spiritual development of the individual. Difficult tasks, like this one, are important building blocks for character when they are tackled and surmounted.

Therefore, girls, when you plod down to the gym on that special day, think of the opportunity that you are letting pass by, and be thankful that you have at least one Body Mechanics class each week.

Albright Edges Diplomats In Final Home Game

IN THE LION'S DEN

By Phil Eyrich, Sports Editor

With spring approaching rapidly, Albright is preparing to go into the final phase of its Centennial Year sports schedule. As was the case in former years, Albright will field four spring sports teams: baseball, track, golf and tennis. With these four squads lies the hope of bringing some brightness to the Centennial Year's sports programs. Last year the track squad was the only Albright varsity team that could boast of a winning record for the season.

The track team again looks like the strongest of the four spring sports squads, although the other teams could surprise, especially in baseball. The golf and tennis squads are also seeking to better their 1955 records.

Lettermen Return . . .

Spearheading the Lion thrincads will be several returning lettermen, headed by Bill Shirk, Don Gottshall, and Ken Greenawald, among many. Also expected to bolster the team are returning veterans and some fine freshmen prospects.

Last year the trackmen were particularly successful in the running events, but lost out in some of their meets because of a deficiency of strength in the field events. This situation is expected to be alleviated this year.

The highlight of this year's track season will be the Middle Atlantic States Championships, which will be held at Albright. Shirk, the Lions' stellar distance runner, will be out to retain his championship in the two-mile run.

The baseball squad is also in high hopes of compiling a winning record, and bases its hopes on numerous returnees from last year's squad. This will be the first full season for John Patskan as head coach.

Bernie Seaman, Bob Kovacs, Roy Dragon, Bob Fiorindo, Bob Moller, George Conrad, and Tom Pollock are among the veterans of the Red and White diamondmen expected to form the nucleus of this year's team. The loss to the team of Bob Sulyma, who is recovering from an operation, will be felt, as he was the regular catcher a year ago and wielded a big bat.

The diamondmen play a large schedule again this year, which includes a game with the University of Pennsylvania.

New Coach . . .

The tennis squad will start the year with its new coach, Will Renken, a veteran tennis standout, at the helm. The netmen also have an experienced nucleus around which can be built a good team and will be in a fairly good position to compile a positive log for the campaign. Besides the veterans, it will be necessary for other players to come through for Renken in order to make the season successful.

The golf squad has, in recent years, been very weak. When they won their first match last year, it broke a long drought that had seen the team go several years without a victory. Improvement can be expected to continue this season, as the linksmen continue their climb out of collegiate golf's cellars.

Overall, then, the outlook for spring sports at Albright is optimistic for the forthcoming season. Between the four sports it is at least reasonable to predict winning records for two of the squads as they play their Centennial schedule.

Girl's Basketball Team Defeats Wilkes 37-21

Lionesses Beat Kutztown 19-14

The Albright College girls' basketball team traveled to Wilkes-Barre, Pa., for a contest with Wilkes College last week. The Lionesses were victorious 37-21. Alma Grove led the Red and White in the scoring column with 20 points, while Mary Ellen Appelman and Bonnie Orr had 9 and 8 tallies respectively.

Defensive players for the Albright team were Naomi Robenson, Helen Schoener, Martha Richards, Billie Williams, Amelia Pottelger, and Millie Folk.

Loss Game

The jayvee cagers were not as successful as their varsity counterparts, however, and suffered a loss by the score of 28-16. Susie Shick, Nickie Donnay, and Pat Schaffer started at the forward positions for the Lionesses. The guard positions were filled by Mary Ellen Wray, Ginger Young, Dot Orders, and Pat Mehn.

Kutztown and Cedar Crest were the guests of Albright at a playday Saturday of that same week. In the first game, Kutztown defeated Cedar Crest. Cedar Crest then beat Albright by the narrow margin of 19-18. Albright recovered in the third game to edge Kutztown 19-14. The offense during the two games was Grove, Appelman, Orr, Schiek, and Schaffer, while the guards were Williams, Folk, Pottelger, Schoener, Richards, and Robenson.

Losing Streak

The Lionesses then generated a three-game losing streak against Immaculata, Wagner, and Temple, all of the games being played on the Albright court.

Although the girls played well against Immaculata, Albright lost 46-35. Grove led the Lionesses in scoring with 19 points. Other scores for the Red and White were Appelman and Orr.

Wagner Wins

In the jayvee game, Immaculata beat Albright 57-20.

Against Wagner, only one game was played, as the Wagner girls won the game 49-38. Appelman scored 25 points and Grove 11 for Albright.

Again on the home court, the Albright girls appeared tired as they lost to the Temple squad 49-18.

Junior Varsity Boosts Record With Two Wins

The junior varsity basketball team added two more wins to their already fine 12-5 season's record when they defeated the Beryllium Athletic Club and the Franklin & Marshall Frosh last week. The scores were 93-60 and 72-66 respectively.

In the game on Wednesday, the jayvees had no trouble in disposing of the visiting Beryllium A. C. of a local city league. The Lions quickly established a commanding lead over their opponents and easily coasted to their 93-60 triumph.

Nine Score

Nine of the junior Lions crashed the scoring column in that game, with Merrill Eckhart and Dick Kelly dividing 42 points between them to lead in the scoring figures.

Eckhart lead the way for the Lions in the first half of the game as he registered 15 tallies, and the Guldmenn led at the halfway mark, 48-27.

The team as a unit hit on 53.5% of their field goal attempts, and tallied 65.3% of their charity tosses. The win added the visitors to the long list of city-league teams the jayvees have crushed.

Repeat Win

Seeking a second win over the F & M quintet, the junior Lions played the Diplomats in the Red and White's last home game. Although playing without the services of stellar forward Dick Kelly, the Lions managed to edge the visitors 72-66.

The absence of Kelly was noticeable as the Lions fell behind 32-35 at halftime. Sparked by the shooting of Art Oplinger and Fred Deitzel, who hit on 50% of their shots compared to the team's 38% for the second half, the Red and White roared back to claim their eventual 6-point decision.

Committee Plans To Reorganize Club

The Albright College Varsity "A" Club will be reactivated at a dinner meeting to be held next Saturday, Mar. 17, in the college dining hall. Reorganization plans have been progressing for several months.

Attending the meeting will be coaches, managers, and athletes who have served Albright in the past. Terrence Connor, '51, is head of the planning committee for the meeting.

It is hoped that through the establishment of an active Varsity "A" Club, the alumni would be brought into closer contact with Albright's athletic program, as well as with the school in general.

PLAYER

OF THE MONTH

The Albrightian's Player of the Month for February, 1956 is Bruce Riddell, starting center on the varsity basketball team of Coach Will Renken.

Riddell hails from Lansdowne, Pa. and is a graduate of Lansdowne Brown Prep. The tallest of the Lion courtmen at 6' 4", he is a 21-year old junior.

This three year veteran of varsity basketball at Albright ranks fourth in scoring with 91 field goals and 95 fouls for a 277 total and an 11.1 per-game average.

In the rebounding department, Riddell is second with 264 for a 10.5 per-game average. He leads the team in number of foul goals and is third in foul-shooting percentage with a 74.7 mark.

A fine team player, he hit his peak performance of 26 points during February, after a slow start at the beginning of the campaign. Although playing against taller centers in many of Albright's key games this year, he has been effective against them.

Stellar Play

Riddell began the February segment of the schedule with a very nice performance against the United States Military Academy and then followed with another good game against Dickinson at the Hershey Sports Arena.

He exhibited stellar play in the all-important games with Muhlenberg and Temple, and was a stalwart of the team in its other February games.

With another year to play for Albright, Riddell has given reason to predict that his senior year may well be his best for the Red and White.

Court Fans

Tomorrow night at the Penn Pleiastra in Philadelphia, basketball fans will be in for the rare treat of being able to see three major collegiate basketball games on the same night.

For the first time, sports writers in Philadelphia were asked to make the pairings between that city's four major court powers.

As a result, Temple will meet St. Joseph's and Villanova faces LaSalle, besides a previously-scheduled Ivy League game involving the University of Pennsylvania, all on the same night.

Owls Extended In Defeating Lions 86-75

Albright College won their final home game of the season last Saturday night, defeating Franklin and Marshall College 64-60. The Lions had played host to Temple the previous Wednesday and, after a close battle, were turned back 86-75.

In the Temple contest, most of the crowd came to see Temple's two All-American candidates Hal Lear and Guy Rodgers perform, but the final gong found the two back court aces out-scored by the Lions' two stellar performers, George Conrad and Mike DePaul. Conrad was high scorer for the night with 28 points, with Lear a close second at 26, with DePaul and Rodgers getting 21 counters apiece.

Two Lead

With Conrad and DePaul scoring well, the score was tied 25 all with 5 minutes to go in the first half, but here the Owls displayed a fast break pattern to take a 41-30 first half lead. In the second half the Lions moved to within 5 points of their taller opponents on numerous occasions, but could not get any closer, as Dan Fleming, who seemed to be the difference, scored 10 points in the final period on long one-handed stabs.

VARSITY SCORING

Conrad	23	588	23.2
DePaul	25	367	14.6
Foreman	25	282	11.2
Riddell	25	277	11.1

Firestone	14	51	3.5
Hoffman	11	22	2.0
Reber	9	16	1.7
Klingerman	11	9	.8
Moyer	8	5	.6

Against F & M, the Lions rebounded exceedingly well as Bruce Riddell grabbed 28, tops for Albright the past two seasons. However the rebounds were not used to advantage, as the Red and White could connect on only 25 of 82 attempts from the floor, and led in the first half 31-30. The second half was nearly the same with George Conrad's 13 for 26 field goal attempts the only respectable percentage on the team.

Records Fall

Conrad's 23rd point broke the Albright four-year scoring record of 1681 points set by Eddie Anlian. Conrad now has 1693, since he finished the night with 35 points to lead the Lions to victory. He has now literally rewritten Albright's scoring record book, having set the single game record of 47 points against Scranton last year, and several other standards.

CORRECTION— Last Straw Only Split Hair

In view of an ambiguous use of the word "production" in one sentence of the Stunt Nite rules, The Albrightian wishes to retract the statement which appeared in a February 24 review of Stunt Nite titled "Production Or Skit? That Is The Question," saying that "All in all, the APO's put on an impressive production—although the Stunt Nite rules specified 'Skit.'"

Although the word "stunt" is used throughout the rules, Section 1 of Article II states "Each organization is responsible for maintaining the secrecy of the group's production during rehearsals."
