College Band Requests More Trumpet Players For Football Season

There will be no Albright band to play at this year's football games unless three or four musically inclined students display some school spirit by joining our band. This distressing news was disclosed by Hans Nix, conductor of the band.

Prof Nix stated that the band is in desperate need of at least three more trumpet players and a snare drummer. In addition, there are openings for a cymbal player, saxophonists, and clarinetists. It is a known fact that there are at least ten trumpet players on our campus who could relieve in this situation which can prove embarrassing; for if there is no band for the games this year, it will be the first time in Albright's history!

Student musicians willing to aid Prof Nix are asked to see him today in the Music Studio so that they can take part in the band rehearsal tomorrow. If no students answer this appeal, Prof Nix will refuse to let the other band members perform because he feels that the band should be in perfect condition to play at the games.

The orchestra, however, will present a concert at Christmastide with the college choir.

Brothers and Sisters

PI TAUS

Gilbert Feeg, newly-elected president of the Pi Tau Beta Fraternity, revealed that other officers elected at the last meeting of the fraternity are Heber Yeagley, treasurer; Charles Stump, secretary; and Allen Fisher, chaplain.

Kenneth Faylor was appointed representative to the inter-fraternity athletic council. Feeg also said that the frat is organizing a football squad for the intermural season.

PATS

Plans for the informal rush party to be held on November 4 were discussed at the meeting of the Pi Alpha Tau Sorority held on October 7 in the Lower Social Room. The first rush party will be followed by a dinner on November 18, announced Betty Burnett, president. Rushing will be concluded on Saturday, November 23 with a semi-formal dance, the arrangements being in charge of Jeanne Schlegel, social committee chairman, Lynne Parr, Eileen O'Neil, and Margaret Walton.

APO'S

Paul Kimmel, Herbert Loyer, Kenneth Leib, and Irwin Solomon were the veterans welcomed back by the Alpha Pi Omega fraternity last Monday. Eugene Barth, former active member and present secretary of the alumni association, attended the meeting in the fraternity social room.

December 7 is the approved date for the fall rush dance announced George Morfogen, president. The orchestra and place of the dance will be announced in the future.

Student Y's to Hike To Bernharts Dam For Doggie Roast

There won't be a shortage of meat tonight, at least not at Bernharts Dam, where the combined Y's will hold an "All-college Doggie Roast". This evening at 5:45 the college faculty and students will meet in front of the College Chapel for the hike to the dam. Doris Hicks and William Marlow, chairmen of the Y.W. and Y.M. recreation committees, are in charge. Because of the preparation which had to be made only those persons who signed up last week will be able to attend.

The menu will include, in addition to the wieners, all the trimmings, potato chips, apples, and soft drinks.

The Rev. Paul R. Wert, pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical Church, Lebanon, delivered the address in the Y Frosh Recognition Service last Tuesday in the College Chapel. He spoke on the subject of "Orientating Oneself to the Y Program". During the service which was conducted by Newell Wert and Agnes Snyder, presidents of the Y.M. and Y.W., the freshmen men and women were received into their respective organizations and were presented with their Y membership cards.

Sophists Receive Advisor Haskell

Melvin Helfrich, president, conducted the first meeting of the Philosophy Club last night in the Lower Social Room. Helfrich discussed plans for the year with the members.

Professor Ellery B. Haskell, instructor in philosophy, was welcomed as new advisor to the club.

Newell Wert is vice-president of the club; Agnes Snyder is secretary; and Margie Handy is treasurer.

Four Years Ago

Four years ago in October there were 120 Albrightians serving with Uncle Sam in all branches of the service.

Dr. Geil was heading night school for the second straight year.

Albright's gridiron players beat F. and M. 6-0.

Edward Nicolai, who was later killed in action, was commissioned as an ensign in the navy.

Joe Levin wrote Albright's football song "Sing the Praise".

Young Filipino, Carlos Romulo, Jr. To Appear In First Cultural Program

Carlos Romulo, Jr., son of the famous Philippine general, will appear in the College Chapel to present the first of four cultural programs scheduled so far of the annual series sponsored by Albright College at 8:00 p. m. tomorrow evening. His speech is entitled "Philippine Youth Views the Future", announced Dr. Milton W. Hamilton, chairman of the committee arranging the programs.

Romulo was born nineteen years ago at Manila. There he lived like any healthy, active American youngster, joining the Boy Scouts, attending Christian Brothers School, and getting good marks because his allowance depended on them. Later he went to De La Salle College, where he served in the Reserve Officers Training Corps.

The Japs attacked the year he was completing his college education. Immediately General Romulo was called into service and Carlos volunteered. However, the efforts of the small band of Filipinos seemed futile as the Japs, who had landed at Lingayen and Mauban, approached the outskirts of Manila, and they disbanded to await help from the United States.

Then began three years of continuous hiding. Under an assumed name, Carlos enrolled at the University of the Philippines, which was run by the Japanese, in the hopes of learning the Japanese language in order to be able to translate captured Japanese documents and reports. However, the nervous strain became too great, and the young Filipino left to become a regular guerrilla.

At the present time Romulo is studying political and social science at Georgetown University. He feels a firm knowledge of economics is necessary to rebuild the Philippines, and it is to this end that his education is to be dedicated.

Although some musical events of the cultural series have not yet been scheduled, dates have been set for three additional programs. On Tuesday, November 19, Mrs. Esther Van Wagner Tufty will lecture. Mrs. Tufty, who has headed her own news (Continued on Page 2)

Alumni Clubs Discuss Future of Albright

Albright Alumni Club members of Harrisburg held a dinner meeting Friday evening October 11, at Boiling Springs, Pa. Speakers for the occasion included President Henry V. Masters, who spoke on Albright and the future, and Lester S. Stabler, executive secretary of the Alumni Association, who discussed the Alumni campaign for funds for the Alumni Memorial Swimming Pool and the proposed Physical Education Building.

The Philadelphia Alumni Club had a dinner meeting at 6:30 Monday, October 14. Guest speakers were President Masters, Coach Dave Strong, and Mr. Stabler.

Martha Herrick Reviews Book at STD Gathering

Martha Herrick reviewed Elizabeth M. Howard's "Before the Sun Went Down" at the informal Sigma Tau Delta meeting last Thursday evening in Selwyn Parlor. During the course of the business meeting, plans for future programs that will benefit the whole school were discussed. For entertainment, Geraldine Wentzel reviewed a magazine article. The officers of the organization are Marion Fiedler, president; Martha Herrick, vice-president; Lucy Smith, secretary-treasurer.

Artist to Star At Dogpatch Fete November 12

Committee to Plan Hillbilly Entertainment

Albright will turn into a miniature Dogpatch, Kentucky November 12 when Al Capp, originator and artist of the world-famed comic strip "Li'l Abner", will come here to star in a campus-wide Sadie Hawkins Day. The program will be drawn up by representatives from the Y's, Student Council, and the Women's Dormitory Council. The latter group staged previous Sadie Hawkins dances.

A skeleton program for the day has been outlined and will be elaborated by the committee. The program will feature a talk and skit by Capp in the morning. At noontime a Sadie Hawkins race will be run, when girls on campus may pursue the men of their choice. The College Y's will lead a Dogpatch recreation program in the evening.

The committee hopes that every student will come dressed Dogpatch style for the entire day, and that many will impersonate the leading "Li'l Abner" characters, Abner himself, Daisy Mae, Mammy, Pappy, Hairless Joe, etc.

Capp is appearing at a local club on the November date, and was secured for the College through the efforts of President Harry V. Masters.

Al-Al-Albr!

Hey, kids—Get that Albright spirit and come to the parade and pep rally on Friday evening, October 18. Let's cheer our team, gang, and show the fellows that we're behind them 100%. They've already won one game for us—now we've got to continue supporting them during the rest of the season.

As you know, the first home game is on Saturday, with the University of Scranton. These visiting boys are very strong, but our fellows will show them what Albrightians are made of. Just follow our cheerleaders up Penn Street and sing and cheer at the City Park Band Shell. So—come on gang—let's go!

Dr. Geil Visits Peace Conference In Luxemburg Palace; French Appear Eager to Foster American Friendship

Editor's Note: THE ALBRIGHTIAN presents the second installment of Dr. Milton G. Geil's adventures in his European trip this summer.

By Dorothy Seisler

Leaving England, Dr. Geil crossed the Channel by boat and landed at Calais. He found Calais a desolate place with its charred remains of houses and skeletons of ruined bridges.

Fortunately Paris escaped a similar fate. The only remnants of the enemy occupation were the bullet holes in the wall of the Cité University, where students tried to evict the Germans from occupied buildings.

In Paris, too, Dr. Geil saw evidences of the general poor conditions of France. The average man on the street was shabbily dressed. He shoes flimsy affairs of canvas or pressed paper, his body lean from the lack of proper food. Malnutrition is more conspicuous in France than in England. Food is much harder to get, and the black market flourishes. Dr. Geil dropped in on the peace conference at the Palace of Luxemburg and reports that our delegate, James Byrnes, seemed to command the respect of the entire assembly. Later he attended a session of the French Parliament when, for the first time in history, a woman, Madeline Braun, presided.

American Friendship

During his stay in France, Dr. Geil was impressed by the fact that the French earnestly desire American friendship. They are very grateful to America for all she has done for their nation and are anxious to have us know France as she really is. They are grievously concerned about the seeming misunderstanding that so many American soldiers have of France as a result of only short association with its people. They are very sorry that such misunderstanding developed, for American sympathy and friendship are their chief aims.

From Paris, Dr. Geil and party boarded a plane and flew to Sweden. Sweden, untouched by the war, seemed like another world. There was food aplenty, and the people looked happy and prosperous.

Island City

Dr. Geil found Stockholm, the capital, a beautiful city built upon fifteen or sixteen islands and blessed with remarkable scenery. The eating places of the city were unique for their beauty of structure and the excellence of their food. To the Americans, accustomed to the slim diets and dull menus of England and France, the restaurants were a constant delight. They visited a different one every night and found the smorgasbord a never-to-be-forgotten pleasure.

Swedish Medicine

Sweden is noted for its excellent housing facilities, and Dr. Geil had the opportunity to visit several centers. He considered them well-planned and built, his only criticism being that the Swedes crowd too many people in one living unit. Dr. Geil saw six or seven people living in a three-room apartment. Housing is expensive too, but then living in general is expensive in Sweden.

Socialized Medicine

The Americans were interested in the fact that the Swedish socialist government has established socialized medicine throughout the country. This means that the hospitals are controlled and operated by the government. Dr. Geil spoke to a prominent medical man, who declared that most of the doctors in the country seemed to be in favor of the arrangement, for they were allowed to keep their private practices in addition to their government-paid hospital work.

Education System

The Swedish education system does not compare very favorably with ours. Children are required to attend school only from the age of seven to fourteen. After that, boys interested in extending their education attend folk high schools, tuition free, but are, however, often financed by local institutions and voluntary organizations. Girls may at (Continued on Page 3)

Want a "Cue" This Year?

A very important matter came up on the floor for discussion in Student Council last week, the matter of having a yearly "Cue" instead of the biennial book we have now. It's not a new idea by any means. Students have been talking about it and complaining about the situation as long as your editors have been on campus, and probably for a long time before that. However, we think that Student Council's is the first concerted action that has been taken on the issue.

If we are to have a "Cue" every year, there are a few very important questions we'll have to ask ourselves: Do we want the same, beautifully laid out and executed, but very expensive, yearbook we have had in the past, or do we want a less expensive book? Also, are we willing to have our tuitions increased slightly so that we may have four copies of the "Cue" instead of two?

We have to think out the answers to these questions very carefully, because after the issue is taken to our individual groups and is then voted upon by Student Council, the matter will be settled, at least for this year. It will then be too late to complain because we are or are not having a yearly "Cue."

It goes back to the old story that if we want things changed or improved on campus, we have to make our voices heard, and the best method of doing this is telling it to Student Council. That's what it's there for.

Council Says

Consensus of opinion at Student Council meeting last Thursday was that the student body of Albright wants a "Cue" every year, instead of every two years, and that it wants a yearbook this year. Action was demanded on the matter by the representatives, and it was decided to take the issue to the Administration immediately. If a "Cue" for this year is approved, Council will appoint an editor immediately.

Student Council also decided to take action on the plan for establishing a point system for extra-curricular activities by appointing a chairman to investigate the details and ramifications of the proposed plan. Catherine Frantz is in charge of the committee, and has chosen as her co-workers William Hechler, Vilma Griesemer, and Robert Reed.

A suggestion was made at the meeting that freshmen be elected as representatives to Student Council. Heretofore, it has been the policy of Council that freshmen not be elected to the governing body, because it was felt that they are not familiar enough with the College and with student government to represent their groups adequately. However, the suggestion will be brought back to the organizations which Council members represent.

Professor Lewis E. Smith, chairman of the faculty committee on student publications, reported that THE ALBRIGHTIAN is in poor financial condition, and that if it is to continue to be published on the same schedule that is in effect now, the subscription price, which is included in the yearly tuition, will have to be increased. At a meeting last week with the committee, the editors of the paper and the business manager decided that the paper will have to have one extra dollar each semester from each student.

Kenneth Good, president, reported that every group is now represented by its allows number. Hereafter "Council Says" will print the names of council members and faculty advisors who are absent from council meetings, so that students may know who is and who is not fulfilling his duty as a student government representative.

SAILOR'S PRAYER

I been settin' here a-thinkin'
At the things I left behind,
An' I hate to put on paper
What's a-runnin' through my mind.

Cleaned most a million bilges,
Chipped near a ton o' paint;
A meaner place this side o' Hell—
Well, now I know just ain't.

There is one consolation:
You kin listen while I tell,
When we die, we'll go to Heaven,
'Cause we done our hitch in Hell.

Stood by in lines for hours,
A-waitin' for the mail;
Caught a million slow dog watches,
An' been on each detail.

Scrubbed a million greasy mess halls,
Leashed a million sprouted spuds,
Pead a million "blisterin'" hammocks,
An' scrubbed tons o' dirty duds.

Crossed tens o' million miles,
Hit many an' many a port;
Spent the night in dirty jails,
For tryin' to be a sport.

But when taps are finally sounded,
An' I've laid aside life's cares,
An' I've taken my last shore leave
Right up those golden stairs.

Why it's then we'll have St. Peter
Come an' greet us with a yell—
"Jes' take a front seat, sailor,
'Cause you done your hitch in hell."

All-Electric Kitchen, Textile Lab Renovate Home Ec Department

In order to train Albright women in commercial home economics, an all-electric kitchen will be placed in the Home Ec Laboratory, announced Professor Anna H. Smith. Included in the ensemble are a dishwasher sink, electric refrigerator, deluxe range, and a hotwater tank. The electric combination was arranged by a kitchen planner from Merrit Lumber Company, Professor Florence V. Innis, and Professor Smith. Armstrong Linoleum Company designed special flooring for the lab.

Also to be added to the Home Ec Department will be a textile laboratory, composed of a laundromat and clothing bins. Facilities for textile experimentation will be placed in this lab by Westinghouse.

Heo Club 'Picture Parade' Initiates New Members

A "Picture Parade" formed the feature of the first meeting of the Home Economics Organization last night in the Lower Social Room, with Joy Cutler, president, presiding. A prize was awarded to the member who guessed most accurately the identity of the women present from snapshots of her in childhood.

During the business session, standing committees for the year were appointed. Freshmen home ec majors were given their pledge pins and initiation assignments for the coming month.

Five Years Ago

There were 128 members of the freshman class, as compared with this year's 210.

Robert Work, former librarian, went to Harvard to become an assistant in the reference department.

Glenn Miller's orchestra played "A Serenade to Albright" on his coast-to-coast broadcast.

The Lions played Pennsylvania Military College on Albright Dad's Day.

A mid-semester check-up showed that 52% of the student body received "valentines".

Prof Green was sponsor of organized hiking groups in connection with the Albright Defense Council.

BY ANNE ONYMOUS

In the course of a conversation in the pre-flight division of the "angel factory", the reason for which Anne Onymous has yet to figure out, two members of the House Committee, offered to clean all the rooms in the men's dorm. The Home Ec. department is evidently expanding, like everything else.

A big man on campus recently received $1.00 from his mother, and is standing treat for the fellows at the Druggie. Isn't that sweet?

Heading — Resourceful Albrightian—One ex G. I. is planning (due to the housing shortage, natch) to pitch a tent in the chapel cellar. Well, maybe he likes skunks. Some people do.

Why the following landed in "The Snooper" instead of the sports section is dubious. Anyway, Dr. Scoles is now leading the faculty bowling team . . . according to reports, he has a terrific form. As for Dr. Jacobi—well, he knows his sociology.

Some students are now bringing horse chestnuts to Miss Rodriguez. Poor, ignorant, things, not to know that apples are in order. But then some people just must be original, even if they have to flunk for it.

Freshmen, bless their hearts, are hitting a new low in excuses for appearing without dinks—the latest—One innocent, when queried on her unadorned coiffure, said she had been late leaving home that morning, and had not had time to get it (the dink). Hats aren't that valuable, dear; you don't have to keep it in a safe.

As Anne Onymous struggled out of the wastebasket after the first meeting of the enormous new The Albrightian staff, she concluded that the paper this year should have the force if not the genius of a literary society.

Well, well, we now have our own Steve Wilson with Bill Ebbert dictating his brain waves to a scintillating blond secretary. We gently refrain from mentioning another of his accomplishments.

Does anybody know who the president of the Alchemists Club is?

It must have been a naive soul who first said, "It's the woman who pays". One co-ed who recently was being instructed in the fine sport of archery, said, "Oh, I've been stringing bows (spell it the way you want to) all my life."

tend these schools, but few of them do. English is now the second language of Sweden, being required in the schools after Swedish. This could probably be interpreted as a strong bid for American friendship.

Concerned with higher education is the University of Uppsala, which dates from the twelfth century. It was there that Dr. Geil saw the famous silver Bible, a Bible written entirely in silver ink.

Dr. Geil also visited the botanical gardens of Karl Linnaeus, famed for classifying botanical specimens.

An interesting sidelight on Dr. Geil's stay in Sweden was the appearance of his picture and a story concerning him in a Stockholm paper. Evidently the Americans were as interesting to the Swedes as the Swedish people were to Dr. Geil and his party.

After two delightful weeks in Sweden, the Americans boarded the Gripsholm and sailed for home. On board were the Gift sisters and Greta Garbo, who, contrary to her reputation for aloofness, was very charming and friendly.

After ten and a half days on the ocean, the Gripsholm slipped past the Statue of Liberty and into New York harbor, the end of an enlightening and fascinating trip.

Frigid Water Didn't Stop "Y Retreat" Campers From Swimming and Dunking Schoolmates

This year's "Y Retreat" at Blue Mountain Camp has been heralded as one of the greatest successes yet.

As the fifty people drifted in Saturday afternoon, they were met by the opportunity for canoeing and boating and the water front was the scene of busy excitement all week-end. The highlight was the unexpected dunking of Art Lockner into the icy depths of the lake. Dave Bailey followed suit the next day. Those catches have a way of providing a certain degree of excitement. They were a source of water for braved the frigid waters and went for a very brief, although somewhat invigorating dip. Several of the boys found this outing was an excellent chance to demonstrate their prowess in a boat and the girls were duly appreciative.

Evening Fun

The evening entertainment, which consisted of stunts, brought gales of laughter from the audience. One of the cleverest was a series of baseball pitches, some of which will never be duplicated. One of the other groups, consisting mostly of freshmen, decided to have a line-up. Oh, how sweet is revenge!! Rumor has it that John Fausnaugh has been receiving many offers from Broadway to play the villain in "Arsenic and Old Lace". Among the other celebrities present was a swami who turned out to be none other than Harold Matter.

Cozy Lodge

Throughout the entire week-end there was the quiet activity in the lodge. The cozy fire attracted people from the wintry blasts and the friendly sound of the piano and the joyous singing also did their part to keep the lodge filled with happy people. The spirit of singing carried over to the dining room where the hilarity of the group increased until when the football score was announced, the entire group resembled and Sugar Bowl. And now for the thought for the week. In the interest of good, clean, football, why not a Wash Bowl? The usual run of complaints on this column's humor may be addressed to The Albrightian.

Anne Anonymous has nothing but admiration for the spirit of Selwyn Hall contingent. It seems that the boarding men didn't approve of the sloppy (that's what they said) attire of the women at dinner. So the girls, dressed up in evening gowns and trooped in in full regalia the other evening. "Never underestimate, etc." The only rub is, now the men want them to keep it up. Did I say rub?

Perusal of Frosh Orientation Shows "Gentling" Policy

As per administration policy, frosh orientation is being "gentled" this year so that none of our new students will be unduly discouraged by the loving attention of the "upperclassmen". The words "tribunal" and "haze" are being relegated to the dim past in company with the pterodactyls and the dinosaurs. Many of us worry that the only memory our freshmen will have of their beginning at Albright will be a dirty red and white "dinky" and a much smeared celluloid button.

However, in spite of our sighs of what might have been, freshman line-up will continue for two more weeks on Thursdays at 1:00 p. m. The reception (or entertainment) committee is composed of Dennis Ertel, chairman, Donald Gittleman, Fred Perfect, Evans Keim, Betty Burnett, and Phyllis Stock Conroy.

All frosh class members are required to wear their customs during school hours and at all football games which occur during the orientation program. Frosh girls will go about campus without class hours. All the frosh will be required to appear respectful in their red and white ensembles. Upperclassmen, upon the greeting, "Button Frosh" will expect to hear them reply, "Yea Albright, beat Scranton (or whoever our next football opponent might be)."

The first freshman line-up was held Thursday, September 26. A pie-eating contest and hula dances were staged, and the grand climax was reached with a shoe scramble in which some "souls" were lost and some "heels" were found.

Frosh orientation promises to be quite a "picnic" for us all with the variety of games and entertainment to the past, frosh, but coats off for your future at Albright.

So many "new" men on campus: gone are the days when a high and mighty sophomore could stride up to a newcomer on campus and say "Hey, frosh, where's that button, hat and tie you're supposed to be wearing?" and receive meek apologies and immediate action. Today the new student will simply smile down benignly on the outspoken one and quietly explain, "Look, sister. I'm twenty-eight, I've got a wife and two kids and a brand-new discharge button. Do you mind?"

Yes, a lot of these men who weren't on campus last year were here when most of us were still slaving over first year Latin in high school and a lot has happened to those old-timers since they last set foot on Albright's campus. Our first step, then is to approach them and ask:

"How does Albright look to you now in comparison with pre-war Albright?"

Boy Snyder: Resembles a beehive.

Bill Bollinger: The girls are prettier.

Ralph Toberman: Bigger crowd, that's all.

Vic Gigli: This time I'm here for a real purpose. The thrill is gone. It's just the degree I'm after.

Bob Dombro: Room for improvement, especially in the dramatic department. The Domino Club has potentialities for being THE power in school dramas in the East. Cooperation between the administration and the student body could bring this about. (The co-eds are pretty cute though.)

Elmer Davis: It seems the same.

Bryant Smith: It's a human stampede.

Bob Morgan: Who looks at Albright any way? We just watch the women.

John Soja: The social activities at Albright have improved considerably and I'm taking advantage of every opportunity.

One of Albright's newlyweds speaking to the head of the home ec department, "I don't think those biscuits you taught me to bake are very good."

Home Ec Department: "Why?"

Newlywed: "Well, my husband ate some this morning and sat back and smiled."

Home Ec Department: "Isn't that what you wanted?"

Newlywed: "Yes, but he's still sitting there smiling."

Davis, Robert Reed, and Cliff Balmer into active membership after their stay in the armed services.

Gerald Laucks was appointed representative to the interfraternity athletic council. Professor Donald S. Gates, business administration professor, was chosen as faculty advisor.

Lions Maul Juniata In First Victory

By Bill Ebbert

Perhaps it is not proper at this time to do any Monday morning quarterbacking, but I'd like to make some general observations about football in general and our game with Muhlenberg.

As anyone who was there would know, the weather in Allentown during the Muhlenberg game was unbearable hot. (Also the green paint on the benches was wet—ask Ruth Homan!) This undoubtedly had considerable bearing on the game, for the team seemed a little green. But the main thing wrong, aside from the heat was our team's inability to run. And the heat undoubtedly had a lot to do with that. Our men, being much heavier than the faster and lighter Mules, suffered more from the heat than our opponents who continually out-ran them. But that was not all, for several times it was all too evident that Coach Dave Strong knew exactly what was coming but was unable to do anything about it.

Improvements Ahead

But we Albrightians should not be too discouraged. Muhlenberg at Allentown is always hard to beat, particularly in the opening game of the season. It is my opinion that as the season progresses the team will improve greatly. Perhaps in the next few games our weight will turn to our advantage instead of our disadvantage.

F. & M. Over C.C.N.Y.

Next weekend, while we are playing Scranton in our first home game, most of our future opponents will also be toting the pigskin. F. & M. will be hosts to C.C.N.Y. and should have little trouble with them. Gettysburg, victor over Lehigh 19-14, and loser to Western Maryland 18-6, plays host to the University of Delaware, undefeated in their last twenty-three games. Delaware most likely will make it twenty-four straight. Moravian plays Ursinus in a game that will give us our first glimpse of Moravian's team. West Cester is not scheduled, but last beat C.C.N.Y., 20-0. Penn Military should take Johns Hopkins, and Muhlenberg should maul Swarthmore.

Tennessee to Win

On the national front we will pick Tennessee over Alabama in a close game. Columbia undoubtedly has an excellent team but not enough to stop Blanchard and Davis. The Georgia-Okla. A. & M. game will be a battle between Charlie Trippi and Bob Fennimore. But after what Texas did to the Aggies we'll string along with the Southerners. Although Clarence Munn is doing a good job at Syracuse, still must pick Holy Cross, although we don't want to. We'll stick our necks out and pick Iowa over Indiana. Michigan should maul Northwestern. Navy should take care of North Carolina; Penn, Virginia; and Texas, Arkansas. But if you are wise don't put any money on these selections.

Bears to Beat Mules

Now to really stick our necks out — We'll try a hand at the local high school games. We'll pick West Reading to take Shillington, and to go on to take second place in the conference. On the strength of their overwhelming victory over Wyoming, we will pick Boyertown not only to beat Muhlenberg, but to win the conference title. And out of loyalty to Ed Cammarota and the old alma mater, we'll string along with Wyoming over Manheim Township. Central should take LaSalle, and we all hope Reading High will take Bethlehem, and believe that Hal Rock's boys will be equal to the task.

Albright Wins Cross Country Run at Juniata; Anlian and Delp Lead

Albright's harriers made good their cross country debut last Saturday by defeating the thin clads from Juniata over a rain-soaked 3 1/2 mile course 23-32.

Eddie Anlian, a speedy vet from Union City, N. J., carried the Albright colors across the line in first place fully 200 yards ahead of teammate Jimmy Delp, who ran second. The winning time was 24 minutes, 12 seconds.

Anlian held the lead throughout the entire race, although he actually got so far ahead of his competitors at one time that he lost his way on the unfamiliar course and had to wait until a Juniata runner caught him to get his bearings again.

Coach Gene Shirk had seven runners in the field as Albright participated in its first cross country run. Franklin and Marshall will have the next opportunity to see the boys in action on November 9. A contest has also been scheduled with University of Delaware, but the date has not as yet been set.

The summaries: 1. Eddie Anlian, Albright; 2. Jim Delp, Albright; 3. Tom Calhoun, Juniata; 4. Dick Grote, Juniata; 5. Bob Binder, Albright; 6. Frank Bird, Juniata; 7. Fred Roland, Albright; 8. Stew Beyerle, Albright; 10. Bill Hutchinson, Albright; 11. Clyde Mellinger, Juniata.

Side Lions

Albright campus took on a bit of its old color this week. Over on the new athletic field the gals were really mixing it up in their famous field hockey (?) games. . . . And right across from the hockey match some of our would be "Maid Marions" were vainly trying to sink some arrows in their "kingsized" targets. . . . Cheer up, gals, at least you have the biology profs on their toes.

Some basketball breezes are beginning to come our way. . . . Big "Tiny" Landis was on the campus last week. . . . Tiny has signed to play pro basketball with the Phila. SPHAS and while we're on the subject there are a few other little items. . . . Word has it that Jimmy Braun, Jesse Erwin and Forrest Saylor will be back by February. . . . Stew Beyerle and Ray Chelius are already in the fold. . . . These five lads were part of that immortal '44-'45 aggregation that took 19 out of 20 starts. . . . Gossip has it that the five will play together this year in a local City League. . . .

Lions Seek Next Victory at Home Against Scranton

Albright will be out for their second football win of the year next Saturday afternoon when they meet the Scranton Tomcats in the Albright College Stadium. This will be the first meeting between the schools on the gridiron. Last year Albright defeated Scranton twice on the hardwoods, winning 40-32 at Scranton, and 43-35 at the Northwest gym.

Strong Team

Scranton was given a pre-game season rating of one of the strongest small teams in the east. However, the purple and grey has run into considerable trouble, losing to Detroit University 32-13 in the Motor City, and losing to St. Bonaventure of New York state 33-6. The same time Albright was taking Juniata in camp, Scranton was mauling a service team from Fort Monmouth, New Jersey, 39-0.

The Tommies are led by the same Mike Denoia who was a guard on Scranton's basketball team this past year. Denoia, the quarterback of the team, is a fast and shifty runner and an accurate passer. He will be the man to watch in next Saturday's game.

Since Coach Dave Strong hit upon a winning combine last Saturday, he most likely will send the same squad against Scranton in the hope of duplicating the win.

Out for Revenge

Scranton, after hitting its winning stride last Saturday, will be seeking to avenge the two basketball defeats handed them by Coach Neal O. Harris' hardwood team.

Young Briscow got a job in a bank. The cashier passed him a package of one-dollar bills and said, "Check them to make sure that there are 100." Briscow started counting. Finally he got up to "56," "57," "58." Then he threw the package in the drawer. "If it is right this far," he remarked to the man next to him, "it is probably right all the way."

Tennis Matches Start Kissinger Wins First

The men's tennis tournament got underway last week with John Kissinger defeating H. L. Zimmerman 6-1, 6-0 in the opening match. Unfavorable weather delayed further matches for the week but the finals and semi-finals will probably be played off within the next two weeks. Following this tournament a ladder will be set up from the field of thirty contestants. Standings will be established according to tournament results. However, the finalists and semi-finalists will start from the bottom of the ladder and will be allowed to challenge five ranks above themselves while all others will challenge the usual two above.

A similar tournament has also been set up for the women, matches starting this week. Eleven feminine racquetees have entered and include Jean Long, Jean Borgstrom, Elaine Schwartz, Mary Stokes, Elaine Huber, Josephine Stahler, Dotty Lou Moyer, Lillian Boyer, Beverly Bresler, Doris Chanin, Jeanne Fleckinger.

Albright's roaring Lions waded to their first post war football victory and their fifth over the Juniata Indians by defeating them 19-2 last Saturday at Huntingdon. If anything, the weather hampered the Red and White, as they had to slush through the mud to make their first score of the season.

Lions Threaten Early

The issue was in little doubt from the outset. The first time they got their hands on the ball the Albrightians marched to the rivals one-foot line, but a costly fumble ruined the scoring opportunity and the Indians recovered.

Davis to Morfy

At the beginning of the second quarter, after an exchange of punts, the Lions took over on their own forty. On the first play from scrimmage, Elmer Davis faked and tossed a pass to Tony Morfy, who took it on the fifty, dodged the Juniata secondary, and ran the rest of the way to paydirt. In the attempted placement kick, the ball was too slippery to handle and the boot never got away. The half ended with the Lions leading 6-0.

Kohl Scores Two

After the third period began, the wet pigskin slipped off the foot of Juniata's fullback, Don Everhart, and the boot was only good to the thirty-five. Al Harnly took over and carted the ball three straight times, getting a first on the eighteen. On successive plays Ken Kohl and Harnly carried to the one, where Kohl bulled it over for the second score. The kick was wide, and the third quarter ended with Albright leading 12-0.

Davis Tackled

Midway in the fourth quarter, Elmer Davis, attempting to kick from the one yard line, got a poor pass from center, and before he could get rid of the sopping pigskin, he was tackled behind the goal line for a safety. Those two points were the first Juniata scored on an Albright football team. Albright has scored 204 points in the five games played between the schools.

Albright's final score came shortly after the safety. Albright took over on downs on their own forty-two. On the next play Kenny Kohl circled right end, was almost nailed behind the line of scrimmage, then in a neat piece of broken-field running, went fifty-eight yards for the score. Benny Markowitz booted a perfect conversion for the last point of the game.

Albright Leads in Statistics

Albright held the upper hand throughout the entire game, and but for the rain could have scored several other times. Seven fumbles ruined at least three scoring drives. There was little difference in first downs, Albright having five, Juniata four, but the locals rolled up a net of 122 yards gained from scrimmage while holding their hosts to a minus 11 yards.

After taking several swings at a golf ball and missing, the golfer remarked to his friend, "You know, this course is about two inches lower than my home course."

She flirted with the butcher, playing for bigger steaks. (Balance Sheet)
