DOMINOS PLAN WORKSHOP PLAY

A Domino Club workshop play will be presented in the college chapel at 8.30 o'clock next Wednesday night. An extremely humorous drama, the play can be seen for the 10 cents admission fee.

Business Students Plan Field Trip

Students taking the first year Advertising course will make a field trip next Wednesday to one of America's largest advertising agencies, The N. W. Ayer and Son, Philadelphia. Professor Buckwalter's class will be guests at the annual educational seminar on advertising theory and practice at the University of Pennsylvania, that evening.

Professor Buckwalter attended a conference on credit at American University in Washington, D. C., over the past week-end. He addressed the Junior Forum Group in Philadelphia, Thursday, April 11, at the regular meeting of the Thursday night Young People's Group. His topic was "The Economics of the Cooperative Movement in Nova Scotia," based upon his personal experiences during the past summer. He also showed colored movies of the Gaspé Peninsula.

50 Zetas Attend Annual Banquet

Zeta Omega Epsilon Fraternity held its annual banquet for alumni and active undergraduate members at the Wyomissing Club, at 6.30 o'clock, last Saturday night.

With 50 Zetas present, the affair proved quite a huge success, despite the fact that Mr. Becker, the Zeta's alumni president; the alumni vice-president; and the alumni secretary-treasurer, who were to be the speakers of the evening, could not be present. There was, therefore, a rather short program, immediately following the banquet, after which several fraternity business matters were taken up.

By way of entertainment the Zeta "upper-trio", consisting of president Rettinger, scribe Petrucka, and pledge, Joe Laucks, gave their own choral arrangement of "The Missouri Waltz," with Quincin and Comstock supplying guitar and trombone accompaniments respectfully. After this the newest member of the House of Zeta gave an important presentation of several of his better known impersonations and imitations.

After the entertainment program.

The comedy of Conrad Seiler is filled with sparkling lines and hilarious situations for the cast of George Henry, Ada Gossler, and Arthur McKay to toy with. Robert Work will direct the production.

Research Grant Of $400 Given To Dr. Hamilton

Dr. Milton W. Hamilton, professor of history, has been awarded a $400. Grant-in-Aid of Research by the Social Science Research Council, to enable him to carry on his research in early American journalism. The specific work for which the grant is made is a study of rural journalism in Vermont, 1781-1850. The research will be done largely in the libraries of New England, this summer.

Dr. Hamilton is the author of a book, The Country Printer, New York State, 1785-1850, published by the Columbia University Press, under the auspices of the New York State Historical Association in 1936, which was a pioneering work in its field. He has also just published a bibliographical study of "Anti-Masonic Newspapers, 1826-1834."

The Vermont study is regarded as a continuation of Dr. Hamilton's research in rural journalism in New York; but Vermont was selected for special study because it was more typically rural in the early period.

The Social Science Research Council is a foundation representing seven national associations of the social sciences, namely: the Anthropological, Economic, Historical, Political Science, Psychological, Sociological, and Statistical Associations. The Grant-in-Aid are described as "available to mature scholars, whose capacity for productive researching has been effectively demonstrated by published work."

Analyzing the background of present conditions in Europe which he termed the "greatest crisis of all history," Dr. Sherwood Eddy spoke to students of Albright this morning under the sponsorship of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A.

"I fear that we're entering not only on a world war, but on a series of wars and revolutions that will change the map of the world," the student of international affairs told a highly appreciative audience.

He summarized the chain of events from Japan's seizure of Manchuria in 1931 to Hitler's recent march into Denmark and attempted seizure of Norway.

"I knew it would start," Dr. Eddy said after giving his views on why Hitler made his latest move. "By taking Norway, he can bomb England. Sweden will be helpless between Germany and big Russia. Then he can go into the Balkans, and finally break through Holland and Belgium or northern Spain where he has 80 airdromes."

Even though the United States has remained out of war thus far, there is no reason for being too smug about it, Dr. Eddy said. He told the filled chapel that this war has only started, and the United States is blindly drifting up to the precipice.

In summarizing several systems for building up the world today, Dr. Eddy said he would rather commit suicide than live Hitler's peace of slavery. Also he could never be at peace under the Communist government, because it denies civil liberties, upholds dogmatic atheism, and is in a state of continuous revolution.

Democracy, Dr. Eddy called "the easiest system to live under and the hardest to make work." The richest country in the world has condition of poverty unlike those of any other country he ever visited, he said. "In the Southern states, share-croppers have an income of only from $37 to $87 per person, per year," he said.

Vigorously denouncing color prejudice in general and lynching of negroes in particular, the world traveler said it was a dark spot on Christianity's record. "If atheists can get beyond color prejudice, are we the only ones who can't?" he asked.

Arthur McKay introduced Dr. Eddy. Margaret Savidge had charge of Scripture reading. Dr. Eddy will speak in the dining hall at 8.00 o'clock tonight, continuing his talk from where he stopped in chapel. A question and answer period will follow the address.

HEO TO ELECT

HEO named the following candidates for office: President, Virginia Jackson, Esther Sippel and Edna Bialek; vice-president, Miriam Hershey and Evelyn Belmont; secretary, Ella Propst, Natalie Brant, and Dorothy Gaul; and treasurer, Janet Kitzmiller, Olga Bitler, and Helen Markey.

Letter to the Editor

Just what is the purpose of the Civil Aeronautics Authority? Is it a civilian enterprise or is it a war-making project established primarily for military preparedness? Let the heads of the C. A. A. condemn themselves.

In a Congressional hearing, Robert Hinckley, chairman of the C. A. A. answered the question of Congressman Woodrum of Virginia:

Mr. Woodrum—The primary purpose of this program is to furnish pilots for the Army and Navy, is it not?

Mr. Hinckley—Not altogether.

Mr. Woodrum—It is one of the principal purposes.

Mr. Woodrum—What evidence is there that the Army and Navy approve of this method of furnishing pilots for their services?

Mr. Hinckley—When this plan was first evolved, conferences were held with the War Department and with the Navy Department, and both the War Department and the Navy, in communications to the President, approved the plan.

Mr. Edward Noble, former chairman of the C. A. A. wrote to Congressman Harter:

"One of the most important reasons for limiting flight training pilots to those between 18 and 25 was that this age group would be of maximum value to the Army and Navy air forces in any national emergency."

Mr. Hinckley again said: "The chief advantage to the Army Air Corps with these boys would be that they would have had this preliminary training and that it would eliminate the large number of wash-outs that they have in their classes every year."

Arthur Cook, Chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics of the Navy Department said, "My understanding of the purpose behind the bill is to give these students the elementary training which will shorten the time it will require to take them and make military pilots of them."

Barton Yount, of the War Department Air Corps testified, "The War

Other speakers on the program were Paul Gols, Margaret Hollenbach and Dr. Milton Hamilton. In a short speech entitled L'envoi, Dr. Hamilton announced that he will resign from the office of secretary-treasurer at the end of this year. He has been serving in this capacity for the last ten years.

All Bright Observations

By ALFRED COMSTOCK

Little snatches of overheard conversation can often be very interesting; if not revealing. On Sunday last, that perfect first real day of spring, I heard two very amusing little bits of conversation, in walking out Exeter street from the car barn to the college, on my way to the dining hall, for Sunday dinner.

I "tuned in on" program number one right across the street from the big brick street car stable. Two small seven-year-old girls were engaged in the beguiling pastime of jackstones, and as I passed I heard one say, as she looked over toward the campus: "Look at that big bridge!" Her face and voice exhibited genuine surprise, as much as to say: "I never noticed that over there before!"

"What bridge?" asked the other little girl. "Oh, that's the Albright stadium!"

The other rare bit of conversation that assailed my auditorys, as I passed the 13th and Union Grade School playground, came from one of two ladies—the one holding on to a baby carriage, with a chubby infant reclining inside. Said the lady: "Why is it? I could break every bone in his body! He knows how affectionate I am, and how much I crave affection."

On the same notorious Reading street, in the same notorious neighborhood one passes the "N. R. A. Club," another paradox in Socialist Reading. (At least it was before the last election).

And now to make several brief All Bright Observations—Patrons of the library magazine rack have come to the conclusion that "Esquire" jokes should be "obscene but not heard."

Apparently one of our seniors, teaching P. A. D. at the high school this term, under Miss Deck, has become very popular as a "Sojal Science" teacher.

What is the newest pastime of Albrightians? Way, wayback in my freshman year, when I was an inmate of Selwyn Hall (now no-man's land) I can remember one stargazing across the Court, but today that opportunity is gone, and we now find ourselves craning our necks into the firmament to spy on our Albright fledglings; soaring around over the airport and above campus.

Inasmuch as a lyrical young lady, gong by the pseudonym, Anne Onymous, interrupted me while I was writing this column, at the page's desk in the library, by handing me this bit of poetic dross, I include it in my column:

PROEM TO A FIEND

Mr. Comstock is a dope.

He tells about the Zeta dog,

While all the time he's in a fog.

(He'll graduate in June, I hope!).

He said "you should see her scoot,"

And thinks the pun is very cute,

While in our minds there's no dispute

He's incorrigible (which means, no goot).

He hates himself as a spy,

And I think that I know why.

Don't look yourself in the eye,

Unless you want to see a lug go by.

—Anne Onymous, 4-9-40.

SPORT SHOTS

By CARL MOGEL

Bailey Gass, former Albright star athlete, has advanced another notch in the field or radio announcing by accepting a post at WBAL, Baltimore. Bailey, you remember was the sports announcer as well as a commercial announcer at WEEU, Reading for the past few years. The ex-Lion great broadcast most of Albright's football games, last fall for the Atlantic Refining Company who sponsored the gridiron airings.

Victor Gigli, the winner in the 160-lb. class at Tamaqua last week, will compete in the National A. A. U. Boxing Championships at Philadelphia today and tomorrow. The freshman pugilist figures he must fight in three or four contests successfully in just two days in order to cop the championship.

As spring training ends its third week at the stadium, the first string positions have changed slightly. Marshall Popelka has returned to his familiar fullback position and Waldo Eshelman has replaced Paul Michaels at the center post. John Gasper is waging a fierce fight for a first string end position while Wash Moholick is making a strong bid for the right-half slot now held down by Joe Gillis.

Jake Hydock is now recuperating from his knee operation, performed at the Temple Hospital, in Philadelphia, at home in Mahanoy City. The big tackle had some cartilage removed from his right knee.

Basketball Coach Neil O. Harris was elected president of the Eastern Pennsylvania Collegiate League at the semi-annual meeting of that body at Lancaster. This is indeed a tribute to the college and to Mr. Harris.

The softball schedule will appear in full in next week's issue, six teams competing for the championship now held by the Kappas; the four fraternities, the Day Students, and a team composed of the Freshman Dorm, the off-campus boarding students and the 2nd floor Theology students. The league will open on April 22 and close on May 24, with 37 scheduled contests listed. All games will be played in the evening right after supper.

Ken Hopkins, Chin Rhoades, Dick Shollenberger, and Bill McKinney, were given a fine ovation in the chapel for their part in bringing the second straight International Y. M. C. A. championship to the Reading Branch. Don't be too surprised if the Frankie Burns and George Dracha combination make their appearance at Albright next fall.

Al Ditman, president of the Zeta's Jersey alumni; Irish Conway, another very active member of that group; Reverend Kachel, Dutch Enders, and several other members of the fraternity made some very constructive suggestions toward making the fraternity a more active group after graduation. The fact that the Zeta Alumni in Jersey had organized themselves into a very active group was cited. Reverend Kachel suggested a similar organization for Berks County, and Mr. Enders for the coal regions.

On Wednesday night Coach Resch announced his opening lineup for the initial contest. Ray Hain will play the No. 1 position followed by Captain Donald Burger, Dick Walton, Williard Husey, Bob Williams, and Donald Spatz in that order. The rest of the present squad will fight it out for the seventh position but it looks like Ray Sweat for the extra man.

Department is wholeheartedly in favor of the training program provided for in this bill. The college men to be trained under the direction of the C. A. A. will constitute the finest type of young manhood—the exact type we will attempt to recruit."

General Yount informed a Senate committee that he was perturbed to learn that there is so much propaganda and instruction in aeronautics going on among the youth in Germany and Russia "because we know they are simply building up potential airmen for the future!"

These, then, are the facts: The War and Navy Departments have helped to formulate the original plans for the C. A. A. The age limits were established with an eye toward those most useful in a "national emergency." Traveling Flying Cadet Boards from the War Department will visit schools to recruit the better pilots for advance training at Kelly and Randolph Fields (from Mr. Yount's testimony). In other words, the C. A. A. is to serve as a feeder for regular Army and Navy Air Corps schools!!

Why has it been necessary to hide a program of military preparedness under the guise of a civilian project? John Dewey, speaking of the C. A. A. writes:

"Under the name of defense, measures which have no sense un-

Night Games Are Potentiality

The Albright football schedule for 1940 was announced officially on Wednesday. The list of opponents for next fall includes Bucknell, who will replace Muhlenberg in the wind-up spot on Thanksgiving Day. New teams on the schedule are Kutztown Teachers and Catawba, who is returning to play the Lions on their home field after a year's absence from the schedule.

There is a possibility that a number of the games this year will be played at night under light since the American Legion is installing a lighting system in the stadium.

The completed schedule is as follows:

- Sept. 20—Kutztown Teachers—Reading.
- Sept. 27—Moravian College—Bethlehem.
- Oct. 5—Muhlenberg College—Reading.
- Oct. 12—Upsala College—Patterson, N. J.
- Oct. 18—Catawba College—Reading.
- Oct. 25—West Chester Teachers—West Chester.
- Nov. 2—Franklin and Marshall—Reading.
- Nov. 9—Dickinson College—Reading.
- Nov. 16—Lebanon Valley College—Reading.
- Nov. 28—Bucknell University—Reading.

less the American people are being prepared to engage in war. Since the American people all opposed almost to a man to this idea, it is necessary to put blindness upon them in order to lead them toward war."

The question is this—Are our colleges and universities to serve as peace time recruiting agencies for the Army and Navy? M. E. H.

The Lions Den

By ALAN R. DUKE

It is good to hear that Albright is going to do battle with Bucknell in football again this year. The addition of the game with the Bisons makes the Lions schedule a lot tougher—in fact, the 1940 season will be one of the most difficult sessions ever to confront an Albright football team. The boys will really have to play to win!

Just had a good look at the senior awards for football. Those white blankets are really "the goods" and are certainly well worth waiting for.

The track squad has been entertaining a noted athlete for the past few days. Gene Venzke, noted miler, has been working out on our track so that he will be in shape for the Penn Relays, which are to be run the latter part of this month. Gene has been "picking them up and laying them down" for quite a few years and is still gong strong. Perhaps our trackmen will pick up a few pointers from him. Incidentally, Gene is running another race at present—he is a candidate for the state legislature.

We haven't heard much about the men's tennis team this year so far. Let's hope, however, that Don Burger and the rest of the boys can give us a good season this spring.

Have you noticed that even the "profs" can't resist the call of the soft-ball these days? Some of them are swatting that ball around with "the greatest of ease."

Seen on the campus within the past few days were these former Lion grid performers. Bill Becker, who captained the 1936-37 basketball team and played end on the football team; Harry Van Tosh, center and "Babe" Korner, right halfback.
