'Albrightian' Staff For 1956-57 Selected

Meals For Millions Drive Starts Monday

Student Council will be showing its concern for the needy peoples of the world on Monday as it begins its annual Meals for Millions campaign on campus. Meals for Millions is an organization in California that is making a food compound that is cheap and yet filling and nourishing. The bouillon-like broth food is made from a tablet produced by the west coast company for only three cents.

Three Cent Meals

These three cent meals are used in countries where rehabilitation from war is taking place and in areas where the dense population makes normal food production insufficient. From Nov. 1, 1955, until Feb. 18, 1956, 306,940 pounds (2,455,520 meals) of Multi-Purpose Food have been consigned to nineteen different countries including Israel, Korea, India, China, and parts of the United States.

Donation containers will be placed at various locations on campus and the funds will be sent to the Meals for Millions office in Los Angeles. Student Council committee co-chairmen are Mary Ellen Appleman, '58, and Clair Matz, '58.

Joel May To Head Parents' Weekend

Joel May, '57, has been named by Student Council to head this spring's Parents' Weekend Committee. May, a junior business administration student from Reading, is a member of the Glee Club, the band, and the Alpha Pi Omega fraternity.

Joel May

Parents' Weekend, scheduled for May 5 and 6, will feature the crowning of Barbara Burbank, '56, this year's May Queen, and traditional May Day ceremonies. Also on the agenda are a special banquet, a concert by the Glee Club, and a Sunday morning worship service.

Committee chairmen appointed by May include: reception committee, Albert Ellis, '58; registration, Clair Matz, '58; luncheon committee, Raymond Horan, '56; May Day, Alma Grove and Sylvia Greul, both '56; banquet committee, Charles Moyer, '56; concert, William Gerrit, '59; worship service, Allen Hoch, '57.

Fashion Showing To Be Wednesday

Dianalee Dye, fashion commentator of Mademoiselle magazine will be a guest at the college in connection with the "Century of Fashion" show to be presented by Women's Student Senate Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. in Krause Hall.

The fashion show, being held in cooperation with Mademoiselle and Pomeroy's Department Store, will feature fashions from each decade of the last hundred years as well as current spring and summer styles.

Music appropriate to each era will be provided by Velma Van Liew, '58, pianist, with Shirley Schaefer, '56, as soprano soloist and the APO Quartet, consisting of Joel May, '57, John Mosko, '57, John Myers, '57, Thomas Pollock, '57 and Kenneth Artz, '58, accompanist.

Male Models

Male models include George Lewis, '59, Ralph Swenerton, '59, Lawrence S. Stout, '59, Bernard Krick, '56, and Gerald Delet, '59.

Female Ditto

Junior girls modeling are Kathleen Forry, Jeanne Palm, Barbara Ross, Sylvia Schiavo, Eleanor Snyder, and Marilyn Wertz.

Tickets are now on sale and can be obtained from WSS representatives for fifty cents.

Second Election Scheduled For Y

The all-campus Y election held this week has been declared inconclusive by the elections committee of Student Council. This indeterminacy was brought by a very close vote between candidates for both YWCA and YMCA presidencies, plus a large percentage of votes declared invalid because they were cast in both the women's and men's elections. According to present regulations, only men may vote for YMCA president, and only women for the YWCA head.

William Davies, '56, head of the elections committee, stated that a new election will be held next week after Tuesday's and Thursday's Chapel programs.

Sandra J. Goepfert Will Be Editor-In-Chief Philip Eyrich, Jack Linton To Hold Key Posts

The new staff will assume full responsibility for the publication April 27. The present staff will serve on the paper in advisory capacities.

Classes Elect 2/3, 1/3 Still To Go

Class elections during the past week filled eight of next year's offices and left four indeterminate, with the key post of senior class president still undecided.

Special action will be taken by Student Council's Elections Committee, headed by William Davies, '56, on the following indeterminacies: for senior class president, Thomas Pollock and Richard Ebricht; for sophomore secretary, Elizabeth Smita and Mary Bray; for sophomore treasurer, Thomas Grant and Merrill Eckhart; for junior treasurer, Frank Fisher and Richard DeLong.

Elected were senior officers Dale Yoder, vice president, Barbara Ross, secretary, and John Mosko, treasurer. Thirteen students left for New York City this morning on a French Club field trip. They include Barbara Ross, '57, Sylvia Schiavo, '57, Jane DeWald, '56, Jacquelyn Walton, '58, Harold Bachman, '57, Robert Reeser, '56, John Ramsay, '58, Wilma Rieser, '58, Shirley Fox, '57, Virginia Mangin, '57, Margaret Allen, '58, Marian Schiller, '57 and Jacqueline Moyer, '58. Dr. Edith B. Douds, associate professor of French, organized the trip and will serve as guide and chaperone.

Itinerary

The group will visit the Morgan Library, St. Patrick's Cathedral, Rockefeller Center, the Museum of Modern Art, The Cloisters, and the UN public buildings.

Also on the itinerary are the play The Lark, the French movie, Diabolique, and various French restaurants, bookstores and churches. The group will return to campus Sunday afternoon.

Frosh-Soph Hop April 20

The Frosh-Soph Hop, an all-campus, semi-formal dance, will be held April 20 in the Masonic Temple Ballroom in downtown Reading. The music will be supplied by Wes Fisher and his orchestra. The tickets, at $2.50 per couple, have been on sale since Monday. They are being sold by class officers and representatives among the day and dormitory students. The advisors of the two classes will chaperone.

The committees are as follows: business, David Petit, '58, Wilbert Wollenhaupt, '58, and Richard DeLong, '58; publicity, Samuel DeWald, '58, John Luckenbill, '58, and Barbara Pachell, '59; dance program, Clair Matz, '58; and refreshments, members of the freshman class.

A Good Showing

According to William Davies, head of the Student Council Elections Committee, the 80% balloting turnout in the recent all-campus election set something of a precedent. The 60% specified in the constitution as being necessary for a legal election was based on averages from past years, which puts this spring's turnout 20% over past years.

Unfortunately, many voters apparently did not realize that any ballot cast for both the YWCA and YMCA presidents was automatically invalid, since only women may vote for the former and only men for the latter under present stipulations.

The result is another election, scheduled for next week. The misunderstanding raises an interesting question, though. Why can't every student vote for both? True, each student is a member of only one group, but the Y's on campus do not function as two separate organizations. They work as a unit through the combined Y cabinets which in recent years have come to be spoken of as "the Y Cabinet." Since the leadership in either branch thus affects the entire student body, it would be a good idea to revise the election procedure to correspond with the actual functioning of the campus Y.

Of special interest in the campaign for the Student Council presidency were the well-thought out and constructive platforms presented by the three candidates, Lee Hagginbothom, Joel May and Clement Cassidy. Points stressed were an improved customs program, better student-faculty relations, improved assembly programs, a Friday Night Program which would alternate quality movies with all-campus dances, and a non-profit book exchange.

Also noteworthy was the interest expressed by the members of the student body in the various candidates and their platforms. Various points were discussed and debated in bull sessions all over the campus. The general awareness and concern evidenced by most Albrightians was a testimony to the possibility that we will yet see an educated electorate in our day.

A Foot Forward

Last week Albright took one more step in the obvious progress being brought about by the demands of a growing student body filled with new ideas. The old idea to have a literary magazine has now been fulfilled and a precedent has been established.

The first issue of The Agon contained interesting works from our own students, but due to a limited budget it was impossible to present a fair sample of the creative ability that lies latent on our campus. Next year it is hoped that the quantity of material will equal the quality of the work that was published this year.

This will only be possible if adequate appropriations can be secured to finance a magazine that will be representative of Albright's total abilities. We thank this year's Agon staff for a finely and tastefully prepared literary magazine.

Foresight

By Billie Williams

Now is the time when advertisements for summer job opportunities are appearing on the popular bulletin board in the Ad Building and students' minds are again turning to the subject of what to do during those months of vacation. It would be nice to kid ourselves and say we don't have to work and that we can just laze around and read all those books the professors subtly mention in class throughout the year. But, alas, we are growing up now and must begin to look to the future instead of being content to live for the present.

Summer Offers Opportunity

Summer is the time when we have an opportunity to safely test the independence of adult life without having to make it a serious project. We always have the secure feeling that we are still being protected to some degree by our parents and that no one is relying on us for support. At this time, we have the experience of making our own money and being able to budget it to suit our needs. It is important for us to have this raw experience along with the vicarious training we receive in the classroom.

Students Have Responsibility

We also have an obligation to our parents to relieve as much as possible the financial burden we have placed on them for many years. Although they are willing to assist us, they are also appreciative for any consideration we may show them. It is frightening to think how indebted we are to these people and it is a privilege to repay that debt in part.

A purely selfish aspect of the advantages of summer work can be found in the availability of social contacts. It is possible to meet all types of people in certain jobs and we learn a lot about ourselves as we become more acquainted with others. As Alexander Pope said: "The proper study of mankind is man."

Connect Job With Future

A student is wise who goes into a summer job that corresponds with the occupation he wants to enter upon graduation. This will give him an idea of what will be expected of him and he can decide if the demands of the job meet with his qualifications. He can also determine whether or not he enjoys the job, for the person unhappy in his work will usually be unhappy in life. It is of prime importance that the individual be adjusted to his environment. Of course, summer work is no magic formula for future success. It is merely a guide post that can be heeded or disregarded.

This year perhaps it would be a nice change, when selecting our summer jobs, to use some foresight and intelligence in our choices. At this stage in our development we should be forgetting about what we want and should be paying more attention to what we need. We cannot pass up the opportunity to improve our chances of survival in the competitive world of America. "The world waits for no man!"

Albright Personality

Helen Zielinski

The Science Hall is about the best place these days to look for Helen Zielinski. Helen is a pre-med student and also an assistant in freshman chem lab.

Hailing from Reading, Helen has been a day student for four years. This year she is president of the Daywoman's Association. She is also a member of Day Council and Women's Student Senate and has been a member for three consecutive years.

Since she is a pre-med student and interested in science, Helen has been a member of the Skull and Bones for four years. During her first three years she was also a member of the Chemistry Club.

When Helen first came to Albright in 1952, she had more time for other activities. She joined the German Club and was a member for two years. In her sophomore year Helen played on the basketball and tennis teams.

One of the nice things for Helen was being one of the only girls in science labs. That might make some girls especially happy, but Helen has her future hubby picked out. The nicest birthday present she ever received was given to her on December 3, when she became engaged to Herman Zweizig, a '55 graduate of Albright. A former chem major, Herman is now employed by Atlas Minerals.

At the present, Helen and Herman are undecided about when they are going to tie the knot. Helen plans to attend medical or graduate school after she has finished her last year at Albright.

On 'The Agon' Critic Praises 'The Crucible'

By Dr. Edith B. Doubs,
Associate Professor of French

By Barbara Pelkus

The creative power of each human being lies dormant or grows dynamic as he himself wills. The editors and contributors of The Agon are to be commended for the effort they have put into Albright's first literary magazine for many a year, for the caliber and variety of the work presented, and for the attractive format and careful editing which make the magazine a delight to read. This creative activity, which gives pleasure to many, makes Albright a more vital place in which minds can expand and explore.

In The Agon one finds a wide breadth of interest and talent. Striking phrases in prose and poetry abound, these, for example, among many:

"Do not think me sullen though
I may be silent"

and

"Yes I have seen the magic shadow-shapes painted in liquid lines on the wall of the cave"

and

"Man gains from his commitment the greatest of rewards. He gains himself."

Striking also is the diversity of mood and idea. Humor, satire, conventional form and experimental form, conventional idea and the Eternal Question—all these rewards and many more fulfill the promise implied in the title of the magazine, for the Greek root agon contains the double idea of striving and attainment. We who enjoy the rewards congratulate and thank you who have made the effort.

Set Design, Costumes Good

The set design and costumes were reduced to an effective simplicity so that the audience would concentrate on the dialogue which was handled with great skill and comprehension by the entire cast. The leads, Thallia Voigt, as the vengeful girl, and Robert Miller, the repentant husband, both played their parts with magnificence, especially in the court scene where John Proctor has to reveal himself as a lecher in order to protect his accused wife.

The most spell-binding moment was the scene played by Adelaide Horne as the frightened maid. With only a red spot-light shining on her darkened face, she bobbed up and down on her knees, casting dark, rhythmical shadows while she ranted off insane lies about seeing the devil.

With practically a full house every night, there was what seemed to be the epitome of Albright talent on stage and behind the scenes. This year Domino Club has given two great productions—last fall's King of Hearts, a romantic comedy, and this spring's The Crucible, a moving drama. Both Mrs. Shirk and the technical director, Robert T. Burcaw, deserve a loud ovation along with both casts.

END OF AN AFFAIR

The merry-go-round has stopped forever.

The last two riders stumble.

One behind the other.

To the firm ground.

The grotesquely painted smiles.

On the worn wooden horses.

Long to droop and relax . . .

An occasional discordant melody

Is coughed from the nickelodion.

Sounding like a trampled forgotten accordion.

Baseball Team Defeats Wilkes For First Win

Swarthmore Edges Lions In Track; Mishaps Cost Shirkmens Victory

IN THE LION'S DEN

By Phil Eyrich, Sports Editor

Albright's spring sports season began during the past week on an optimistic note. After waging a nine-inning scoreless tie with Temple University in their opener, the baseball squad then defeated Wilkes College. The Lions showed promise in their first two engagements of the season. In addition to the veterans of last year's team who have turned in creditable performances, newcomers Fred Dietzel, LaVerne Engle, and Terry Reber have played well.

Coach Gene Shirks' trackmen, although they dropped their opening meet to Swarthmore, seem to have better balance than the cinder team of a year ago. The squad is definitely stronger in the field events, especially in the pole vault and high jump.

Court Rule Changes . . .

Several revisions in the basketball rules have been made for the 1956-57 season by the National Basketball Committee. This group's rulings affect colleges, high schools, AAU teams, and YMCA squads. Eight rules have been added or changed by the committee.

One rule addition that will benefit teams like Albright, who do not have a predominance of tall players, is that henceforth only defensive players will be permitted to stand in the alleys while a free throw is being made. The alleys are the zones marked H and V on the basketball court. This change will definitely be to the advantage of a squad which is playing against taller opponents.

A second new rule will prohibit a person shooting a free throw or a player in the alleys from crossing the foul line or the alley lines until the ball has hit either the rim of the basket or the backboard. The foul line will be widened to the width of two inches; it was formerly only one. The second change will also pertain to jump balls, in that no player will be allowed to cross into the circle until the ball is actually tapped by one of the players jumping.

More Additions . . .

Still another change in the regulations is aimed at preventing a player from guiding the ball shot by a teammate into the hoop, ala Bill Russell. The new rule outlaws such a practice, in that a player may not guide the ball into the basket after it has been shot. At the same time, it will also be illegal for a player to deflect or guide the ball if his hand is above the rim of the basket. This, of course, pertains to interference with another player's shots and not to that of the person himself.

Beginning in 1956, a player will have to throw the ball inbounds from on either side of the foul lane if he is doing so from the end of the court.

To combat the stalling type of game, two new rules have been added. A player dribbling the ball within 15 feet of the center line for more than five seconds will be penalized. An offensive player will be penalized also if he holds the basketball for longer than five seconds anywhere on the court. Perhaps these new regulations will help the officials to bring "life" into a stalling game and forestall the adoption of a 24- or 36-second limit on offensive play.

Four Contests Slated For Track, Baseball Squads

Thinclads Seek Upset Over St. Joseph's

The track and field and baseball squads will each engage in two contests during the coming week. Juniata, St. Joseph's, and Franklin and Marshall will provide the opposition for the thinclads, while the diamondmen will meet the University of Pennsylvania and Juniata.

The Lions will travel to Philadelphia tomorrow for a triangular track meet with Juniata and St. Joseph's. Last year, the Hawks, who are a perennial power in track and field, amassed 80 points to Albright's 39 and Juniata's 35 in a triangular meet at Juniata.

Albright's thinclads edged F & M by a 65-60-4 count during the 1955 season. The F & M meet is Wednesday.

Coach John Potskian will take his 15-player baseball squad to Philadelphia tomorrow also to meet Penn, a newcomer to the Lions' schedule.

The squad consists of: Bob Kovack, Roy Dragon, Terry Reber, Fred Dietzel, George Conrad, Bob Florindo, Bernie Seaman, Dale Yoder, Tom Pollock, Merrill Eckhart, Frank Hoffman, Bob Moller, Bill Esterlund, Al Castello, and LaVerne Engle.

Juniata will be host to the Lions on Thursday at Huntingdon.

Cindermen Capture Eight First Places; Greenawald Injured

The 1956 edition of Coach Gene Shirks' track team started the season by losing a close 67 1/3-59 2/3 dual meet to Swarthmore on the winner's track. Although the Lions swept to victories in eight of the 14 events and placed 21 out of the 42 men that can place in a meet, they lacked the depth to gain the victory.

Ken Greenawald, the Lion's ace sprinter, copped the 100-yard dash in 10.4 seconds, but pulled a leg muscle while in the lead during the 220-yard dash and failed to finish. He will be out of action for a week.

Double Win

Ed Skeath of Swarthmore was the meets only dual winner, taking both the 220- and 440-yard dashes.

Don Gottshall won the 880-yard run and Bill Shirks the mile run for Albright in a time of 4:57.5 minutes. Shirks, MASC two-mile champ, was defeated by Knowles Dougherty, a transfer from Colorado, in the two-mile run in a time of 10:21 minutes.

Bob Wetzel ran away with the high hurdles' laurels, but fell during the 220-yard low hurdles and failed to finish. He was far ahead of the field when the mishap occurred.

In the field events, Albright took four victories in six tries. John Settercerze, Jon Bradshaw, Tom Faust, and Norm Klingerman scored firsts in the shot put, pole vault, high jump, and javelin respectively.

Final Event

The meet was actually decided in the last event, the broad jump, with Bill Nelson of Swarthmore winning with a leap of 19 feet, one inch. Jack Huntzinger, the Lions ace discus man, failed to qualify for his event.

Coach Shirks was satisfied with the showing of the team in view of the fact that the competition took place during extremely inclement weather, which accounted for some of the Albright mishaps.

Pitchers Star For Albright; Reber Paces Lions In Batting

Coach John Potskian's baseball charges came up with a tie and a win in their first two games of the 1956 season. After battling the visiting Temple Owls to a scoreless tie in their opener, the Lions defeated Wilkes 2-0 Monday on Kelchier Field.

Pitching was the Red and White's forte in both contests, as the opposition was held scoreless in all 16 innings of play. The Temple stalemate was a nine-inning affair, while the Wilkes contest was an abbreviated seven-frame encounter.

Tennis Squad To Play Three Home Matches

The Albright netmen will play three matches during the next five days, all of them on the home court. Having opened the season this past week against Lycoming and Bucknell, the Lions will be seeking to defeat Dickinson, Juniata, and West Chester in their initial home encounters.

Dickinson will invade Albright today, Juniata on Monday, and West Chester on Wednesday.

Will Renken, who replaced Leo Bloom as head tennis coach this year, will lead ten netters in their efforts to improve on last year's seven-win, six-loss record. The ten squad members are John Schiavo, Ted Gabriel, Dick Steffy, Charles Sample, Jack Rosen, Carl Witonsky, Jack Rickenbach, Lee Hagginbotham, Ernie Firestone, and Lee Swartz.

The racqueteers are scheduled to meet 15 teams during the course of this season's schedule. Eight of the matches will be played on the Albright campus, against Adelphi, Franklin and Marshall, Muhlenberg, Elizabethtown, and Scranton, in addition to those schools mentioned above.

Linksmen Open Slate With Win

Paced by the winning performances of three members of the team, Albright topped back the Western Maryland linksmen 6-2 in their season's opener on Monday. The match was held at the Reading Country Club.

Willie Smith, Mike DePaul, and Frank Galden were the victors for the Lions, while Ernie Brodbeck halved his match with his opponent. Norm Blake and Paul Urquhart were the winners for the visiting Green Terrors from Westminster, Md.

The golfers, under Coach Paul Matten, are seeking to better their four-win, seven-loss record of a year ago. Last year the linksmen crashed the victory column for the first time in two years, and the team appears to be continuing its climb toward a winning season.

Eight Vie

Golfers who tried out for the team were Bill Breneman, Bernie Krick, Barry Rich, Saul Winstein, Smith, DePaul, Galden, and Brodbeck.

DePaul is captain of the team, which includes five lettermen from the 1955 squad: DePaul, Brodbeck, Krick, Smith, and Breneman. All home matches are played at the Reading Country Club on Monday afternoons.

Juniata and Lafayette will provide the next opposition for the Red and White; the former will be a home match.

Mike DePaul, A, defeated Al Urquhart, 4-3; Paul Urquhart, WM, defeated Bernie Krick, 3-1; Albright won best ball. Ernie Brodbeck, A, and Don Brawley, WM, halved their match, and Frank Galden, A, defeated Bob Jones, 1-up. Albright won best ball.

Tom Pollock, the starting pitcher, and Fred Dietzel, who came on in the sixth inning, limited the Owls to three hits in the game. The Lions amassed eight safeties and threatened to score several times, but in each instance the Temple hurlers recovered to blank their hosts.

Terry Reber, with three hits, was the Lions chief threat in the contest as he collected two singles and a triple. His ninth-inning triple with only one out brought visions of victory to the Albright side, but, after

In the Wilkes game, LaVerne Engle, a freshman, received credit for the win as he shared pitching chores with Pollock and Dietzel. Pollock started the contest and held the visitors hitless in the three innings he worked. Engle pitched the next three innings, and Dietzel finished up in the seventh. Each allowed one hit.

Score Two

The two Red and White runs came in the sixth frame. With one out, Bob Kovack walked and advanced to second on a balk. Then, following Roy Dragon's strikeout, Reber lined a triple to deep left-center field and the Lions led 1-0.

Against a new Wilkes pitcher, Dietzel tipped the ball towards the pitcher and, when the catcher fumbled the ball in his attempt to field it, Reber scored the final run.

2 Librarians Go To Meetings

Dr. Josephine E. Raepfel, college librarian, and Helen L. Kloz of the library staff, attended the eleventh annual Eastern Pennsylvania School Library Conference held at Kutztown State Teachers College last Friday.

Chief speaker was Dr. Donald Berwick, author, editor and lecturer, whose topic was "Jane Austen, John O'Hara and Life." "Books," said Dr. Berwick, "aren't out of date just because they weren't written yesterday. Some of the most exciting things imaginable gather dust on the library shelves."

Old Books Often Best

He spoke of the enjoyment which he received recently in reading Eliot's Mill on the Floss, Austen's Emma, and other books which are also gathering dust on our library shelves. He stated that many of these are far superior to some of the best sellers of today.

Dr. Raepfel and Miss Kloz also attended a meeting last Saturday at Gettysburg at which they represented the Reading branch of the American Association of University Women. The purpose of the meeting was to plan the program of the forthcoming Neighborhood Conference of AAUW to be held in September. While in Gettysburg they visited Elsie Garlach, professor emerita of French, who retired in 1952. Dr. Raepfel reports that Miss Garlach sends her regards to all her friends at Albright.
