Pledges Inducted By Social Groups; Officers Elected

Elections of officers and induction of 13 pledges highlighted the Phi Beta Mu Sorority meeting on Monday, May 7 at 7:30 p. m. in Selwyn Hall Parlor.

Officers elected were: Barbara Wrisley, president; Dorothy Deam, vice-president; Ramona Latorre, recording secretary; Jessie Nucci, corresponding secretary; Eleanor Williams, treasurer; and Doris Weida, chaplain.

Inducted into the sorority membership were Nancy Reed, Carole Althouse, Barbara Benner, Michelina Cacciola, Dorothy DeLaney, Eleanor Dick, Barbara Farris, Lee Hagner, Annjeanette Innis, Lenore Lonker, Carol Mickle, Barbara Ravel and Miss Nucci.

APO's Elect Gentle

The Alpha Pi Omega fraternity held an induction ceremony on Monday evening, May 7, when 14 pledges were inducted into fraternity membership. The new brothers are as follows: Herbert Mackler, John Sudol, Ivan Moyer, David Keller, Thomas Pope, William Masters, Thomas Shultz, Richard Stinson, Ernest Zelenak, Robert Bieler, William Himmelman, Thomas Masters, William Housum and James Barrett.

Y Plans Program To Honor Seniors

Next week's Y meeting will consist of a "Farewell to Seniors" night at 7:30 p. m. in the Lower Social Room. In charge of the meeting are Betty Martin, Robert Bieler and Lloyd Sturtz. Refreshments will be served.

Last Tuesday's meeting featured two speakers. Prof. John W. Khouri talked on "What Is a College Education?" sponsored by the social responsibility commission, and Prof. Harry A. DeWire spoke on "Christian Social Action," sponsored by the racial equality and Christian faith commission.

The appointment of Bieler to the cabinet as recreation head was announced recently. The presidents also disclosed that Prof. Lewis E. Smith would advise the world relatedness commission.

Ruth Tyson To Be Crowned Queen At Traditional May Day Ceremonies

Coronation Set For 2 o'Clock Tomorrow

The crowning of Ruth Tyson as May Queen will highlight the May Day ceremony tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Eleanor Spring will reign as Maid of Honor and Faye Bailey, Marjorie Gardiner, Louise Hoff, Virginia Kitzmiller, Alma Natanblut and Charlotte Winner will be in the Queen's Court. Selected last year by senior women, Nan Heckman will be Mistress of Ceremonies and Kathleen Guenther will be Custodian of the Crown.

Procession Planned

The ceremony will begin with the customary procession from the library to the front campus. The group will include the pages, Priscilla Cooper and Joan Flemming; senior women, who will form an aisle for the queen and her court; the dancers; crown bearer, Carol Mickle; the custodian of the crown; mistress of ceremonies; the court; the maid of honor; the queen and the train bearers, Ann and Catherine Girvin. Preceding the crowning of the queen, all junior women will take part in a May Pole dance and a combination of freshmen and sophomore women will present another dance.

The freshmen and sophomores who will participate in the dance are: Joan Boyle, Micheline Cacciola, Judy Canfield, Carol Charlton, Annetta Deussen, Priscilla Cooper, Nancy Lou Hawman, Pat High, Bernadette Kaluzny, Evelyn Hinkle, Carol Krecker, Judy Leimbach, Lois Levan, Nancy Loose, Lenore Lonker, Nancy Neatock, Pat Miller, Rhoda Marks, Nancy Reed, Harriet Sharp, Shirley Slivka, Camille Thorpe, Nancy Lou Walker, Annjeanette Innis, Joan Moore, Evelyn Weida, Carol Althouse, Eleanor Dick, Lois Hiltz, Phoebe Hunter, Pat Kennedy, Margaret Israel, Jane Katz, Betty Martin, Sonia Phipps, Barbara Ravel, Pat Scheerer and Lois Stockinger. Miss Heckman, Marilyn Russo and Jay Schraier will direct the dances. Gordon Farchast will be the trumpeter for the ceremony.

Lives in Northmont

Miss Tyson, a resident of Northmont, is president of the Pi Alpha Tau sorority. A home economics major, she is a member of the Home Economics Organization, Future Teachers of America and a pledge to Phi Delta Sigma, the honorary Alumnae sorority.

Attendance Urged At Student Council

Lack of a quorum, with only 14 of 30 members present, prevented student council from holding its scheduled meeting last Tuesday. President Russell F. Weigley, emphasizing the importance of regular attendance, urged those representatives who were present to contact as many other members as possible to remind them to come to council's final meeting of the school year next week.

The members absent without a known legitimate reason were Joseph Ustynski, sophomore class president; Robert Bieler, freshman class president; Richard Broadbelt and Thomas Stults, day men; Jane Brozene, Joanne Duffy and Barbara Ann Ravel, day women; Arthur Hilt, dorm men; Barbara Benner, dorm women; David Paschon and William Cohrs, Zetas; James Hilton, Pi Taus; Doris Hill, Pats; and Eleanor Williams, Mus.

Masters to Speak

Dr. Harry V. Masters will speak at the final chapel programs next Tuesday and Thursday. He will review the current year and present the outlook for the future.

Glee Club and Symphony Orchestra To Present Concert for Parents

A combined glee club and symphony orchestra concert under the direction of Dr. John Duddy and Prof. Hans Nix will climax tomorrow's program for Parents' Weekend. The concert will be held in the Northeast Junior High School auditorium at 8:30 p. m.

Following the National Anthem, the choir will present its first group of songs which will include "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee," Bach; "Go Not Far From Me," Maltzoff; "Praise The Lord," Frank; "Treasures in Heaven," Colkey; and "Regina Coeli" (from "Cavalleria Rusticana"), Mascagni. The symphony orchestra will play "Sarabande" by Bohm and "Queen of Sheba" by Gounod. For their second group of selections the choir will sing "Grant Unto Me the Key of Thy Salvation," Brahms; "Lonesome Valley," Lynn; "Were You There?," Burleigh; and "Seraphic Song," Rubinstein.

The orchestra will continue the program with "Themes from Concerto No. 2" by Rachmaninoff and Fourteen organizations will participate in Mardi Gras tonight, according to Harry Nelson, chairman of the event. Mardi Gras will be held on campus between the chapel and Union Hall. Among the feature attractions will be a faculty show, a combined show by the Pats and Mus and the traditional APO variety show.

The faculty show will be given for the benefit of Maria T. Hoen, adopted war orphan, and the Friday afternoon teas because both of these are all campus affairs. The program will feature a characterization of a peanut muncher, a typical Albright professor and a typical Albright student. The highlight of this show will be a play entitled "She Got in Dutch." The program will be concluded by the faculty singers.

Food To Be Sold

Along the midway food of various selections will be sold by the Home Economics Club, the German Club, day women and day men. A special feature will be the auctioning off of two three o'clock permissions for the dormitory women's committee. The Kappa Upsilon Phi, Zeta Omega Epsilon, Alpha Pi Omega, Pi Tau Beta and Kappa Tau Chi fraternities will add entertainment with various carnival games. The final event of Mardi Gras will be a dance in Union Hall from 11 to 11:50 p. m.

The Mardi Gras committee consists of Gerald Lakow, Gene Lang, Howard Platzker, David Keller and Nelson. "The Mardi Gras committee wishes to extend a hearty welcome for all to attend, and gives their assurance of a good time," Nelson told The Albrightian.

Arrival Date of Cue Delayed Until June 1

This year's Cue will likely arrive about Friday, June 1, John Savidge, editor-in-chief, announced yesterday. The delay has been caused by budget difficulties and the desire of the staff to keep up to date with baseball, track and tennis pictures.

Underclassmen who plan to leave Reading before June 1 should arrange to have their book forwarded by leaving their address for John Wise at the Cue box at the switchboard.

Special students and other students who must pay toward the book should do so at the treasurer's office before the publication date.

Dr. Charles Malik, delegate from Lebanon to the General Assembly of the United Nations, will be the speaker at the 92nd Albright College commencement exercises on Sunday, June 3, at 3:30 p. m. The program will be held on campus.

The speaker will be awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

In addition to his U.N. post, Doctor Malik is the envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of Lebanon in the United States and in Cuba. He represents Lebanon on the human rights commission of the U.N. and served as chairman during the 1951 sessions. Doctor Malik is also the governor for Lebanon of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development.

Receives Ph.D. From Harvard

Doctor Malik was born in 1906 in Bitirram, Al-Koura, Lebanon. He received the B.A. degree in mathematics and physics from the American University of Beirut in Lebanon in 1927 and the M.A. in philosophy from Harvard University in 1934. In 1937 Harvard awarded him the Ph.D. in philosophy. He was designated Honorary Rector by the University of Dubuque in Iowa.

The speaker began his professional non-diplomatic career in 1927, when he became instructor in mathematics and physics in the school of arts and sciences of the American University of Beirut. He subsequently attained other positions at that university and was an assistant in the department of philosophy at Harvard.

Begins Diplomatic Career in 1945

After beginning his diplomatic and international career in March, 1945, Doctor Malik achieved numerous positions within the United Nations. He signed the United Nations Charter for Lebanon in the spring of that year. In the General Assembly, Doctor Malik served as chairman of two subcommittees of the third committee of the second regular session dealing with trade union rights and illegal immigration, and was chairman of the third committee dealing with social, humanitarian and cultural matters of the two parts of the third regular session.

Doctor Malik was president of the economic and social council in 1948. He has been a member of other U.N. groups.

Numerous articles which the speaker wrote have appeared in Arabic, American and European papers and magazines. These have dealt with scientific, social, political, philosophical and theological questions.

Defeat Is Not the End

Defeat for the proposed student council constitution last week must not spell defeat for the revised government organization so desperately needed at Albright College.

The most obvious need is for the appointment by the council president of a new constitution committee. The second need is for the student body—particularly those members who voted against the proposed document in last week's election—to make known their reasons for opposing it. The third need is for a compromise to be worked out which will salvage the best parts of the defeated constitution and take advantage of new insights.

In our plea for a compromise measure that will enable the present antiquated structure to be replaced without too much delay, we do not mean to imply that the basic ideals intended by the new constitution should be sacrificed. We believe that the council membership should be changed so that each student is represented equally with every other one on the basis of being a boarding man, boarding woman, day man or day woman.

Furthermore, we believe that the campus fraternities and sororities should be treated equally with all other groups when it comes to the general supervision which council has over them. It should be re-emphasized that there is no scheme for council to gain control of the fraternities or to legislate them out of existence. So far as we know, no organization in existence at the time the proposed constitution would have gone into effect would have had to have its constitution approved by council. The provisions of sections two and three of article two, we believe, would have applied only to new groups seeking the right to organize after the document would have become effective. Moreover, as we noted prior to the election, the only condition under which council would have been able to request that the faculty refuse to permit an organization to continue in operation would have been if there were "substantial evidence against any campus organization as functioning against the higher interests of Albright College." It seems to us that the fraternities are placing themselves in a precarious position if they object to that.

We hope that it may work out that the defeat of the new constitution was a blessing in disguise. Certain revisions can be made in the light of recent developments which will give council even more prestige than it would have had. For example, we'd like to see a constitutional provision for placing disciplinary powers in the hands of council. Although council may not be able to attain in one jump the position of the governing body at Muhlenberg College, which administers almost all student affairs, our council should certainly have the power to take action against minor offenders.

Although we were distressed by the power which the fraternities wielded in materially helping to defeat the proposed constitution, we were even more disappointed by the utter apathy which kept close to 30 per cent of the student body from voting. Yet we feel that the plurality of votes which the new document gained and the fact that it fell only 48 tallies short of approval are a mandate to council to begin work immediately on a new revision which can be a milestone in our constant search for a better student government.

Welcome Parents!

This weekend we welcome our parents to Albright's campus, hoping that they will enjoy every minute of their stay and that they will be able while they are here to receive a genuine insight into the Albright spirit. Most of us are indebted to our parents for the opportunity to receive a college education, and it is fitting that we should set this weekend aside to introduce them to our college, its routine and its customs. It is fitting, too, that during these days we, the students, pledge ourselves to repay our indebtedness by taking the fullest advantage of the opportunities afforded us.

Do You Remember?

What freshmen said:

Sonia Phipps—"I've seen some 'lovely' men on campus."

Phoebe Hunter—(concerning men) that she didn't have time to find out yet but expressed the hope that things would change.

Joe Wolff—"The profs are nicer than I expected; I thought they'd be stricter."

Terry Connor and Walter Fox, that they were most impressed by each other.

The Senior "Pome" by Eugene Barth and Clyde Harding?

When the campus was calm before the MacArthur controversy?

When Peggy Ann Garner was the Lion's mascot?

Jack Snook said about the new look—"I wish I had a pair of scissors, a big pair of scissors."

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I was shocked upon reading the last issue of The Albrightian and noting therein that student council had voted down a resolution condemning the mutilation and tearing down of campaign posters on campus. As all well-informed students realize, there was considerable damage done to the signs which asked for favorable action upon the new constitution by the student body. Therefore, a proponent of this constitution introduced into council last Tuesday a motion which would have placed council on record as opposing the mutilation or removal of signs placed around campus to support candidates or other issues. Now, this seems a very sensible and noncontroversial proposition to me. It seems rather incredible that anyone would be so brazen as to place himself on record as opposing this resolution. But a majority of the council voted against it, thus tacitly supporting the illegal destruction of campaign material. Isn't this a pretty state in which council has placed itself, that it should flagrantly proclaim itself on the side of illegality and political immorality? And yet this is the position in which those members of council who voted against this resolution find themselves.

The lame excuse given by certain members of council is that council does not have the power to enforce any such regulation, and therefore no such resolution should be passed. But let us look a little deeper into the matter, and perhaps we can understand why certain members of council voted the way they did upon this issue. In the first place, many of these people did not behave the same way in a similar situation. As you may remember, a few months ago these students were advocating certain changes in dining hall procedure. As in this case, there was no machinery for the enforcing of council's resolution, but one was pushed through regardless. As you know, this particular matter backfired upon them. But now, in the simple matter of going on record as favoring political morality, the council retreats.

Why? you may ask. Well, it seems that the very same people who voted down this commendable resolution, designed only to increase political morality, are those who were most vociferous in opposing the constitution. Does it seem to you that there may have been some selfish reason in their actions?

The present composition of student council is a strong argument for the very principle of government which these people are fighting, namely democratic representation. At present we have the boarding students strongly represented in council, out of proportion to their numbers on campus. Another time the situation might be reversed. This seems to me an unfair situation to all concerned. The student government would function with more equality and less friction if students were represented in council not according to the social groups to which they belong, but on a more equitable basis, perhaps a combination of class and boarding-day categories.

Therefore, it seems evident that eventually some new and better system of student government must be adopted. It is you, the students, upon whom this task has evolved, to form some scheme which will reconcile the various factors of campus life. It is your duty—do your best!

Dear Editor:

It was my contention that college was a building ground for democracy. It was to build leadership and to interest students in those who govern them and in what laws govern them. It was with sad dismay that I read that 29 per cent of the student body failed to vote in the election concerning the new constitution. My impression of a college student dropped quite a few notches upon reading this. If the students won't vote on an issue which vitally concerns them, what can be expected of them in local and national elections?

The Secret Amendments

By RUSSELL F. WEIGLEY

At the close of last February, upon ratification by Nevada, the 22nd Amendment was added to the federal Constitution, limiting all Presidents after Harry Truman to two full terms or a maximum of ten years in the White House. It is obviously difficult to reconcile this action with the professions of faith in the democratic process and in the wisdom of the electorate which the legislators who passed the amendment so frequently utter.

Moreover, there is good reason to doubt that the amendment really represents the will of the people, that it would have received a majority vote if it had been submitted to nation-wide balloting. The voters who four times re-elected Franklin D. Roosevelt would not be likely so to commit themselves that ever in the future could they prolong the tenure of a man whose leadership they might believe to be vital to the national welfare. The 22nd Amendment, however, like all amendments, was never submitted to the voters directly; it became law by passing three-quarters of the state legislatures, and the nation is notoriously uninformed as to what goes on in those chambers.

Few people, for example, realize that 22 of the state legislatures have already acted to call a constitutional convention which would propose as a 23rd amendment a limitation of the federal income tax to a maximum of 25 per cent. Thus far all amendments to the Constitution have been proposed by the Congress and then ratified either by the state legislatures or by state conventions; but there is an alternative amending procedure whereby an amendment may be proposed not by the Congress but by the action of two-thirds of the state legislatures to call a national amending convention. If ten more states, then, act on the income tax amendment, it will become an officially proposed amendment just as if it had been passed by the Congress, and the way will be open for another quiet trip through three-fourths of the legislatures and into the Constitution.

Little need be said of the undesirability of a 25 per cent limitation on federal income taxes. The national government is having a difficult enough time paying its way now—the need at the moment is for higher taxes, both in order to finance the defense effort and to help head off inflation. Not only would the proposed amendment render an adequate federal revenue practically impossible of attainment; it would also throw a tremendously heavy burden on the low income groups, almost certainly necessitating a federal sales tax.

The most significant point of all this, however, is that something needs to be done about our whole system of amending the federal Constitution. It is important that we maintain an amending process that provides adequate safeguards against hasty changes in our basic law; but it is also important—it is even more important—that our amending process be a democratic one. We cannot continue waking up in the morning to learn that a proposal which everyone thought had been forgotten has become part of the Constitution through the middle-of-the-night action of a legislature in some unimportant state. Perhaps the answer lies in a nation-wide referendum on proposed amendments after the Congress has approved them; whatever the solution, the present amending system can no longer be tolerated.

Hell Week

By MIKE LAFFERTY

Were they angels I saw
With their hair up in pins?
And Lucifer kept falling
From his bench—in his whites.
The celestial choir watched
The battle field below,
The soldier's brown helmets
And wooden rifles—you know.
Big Ben in his skivvies
Kept tolling the hour.
New widows in black
With bright parasols,
While their escorts in straws
Were tapping their canes.
Both mortals and angels
Their lot is the same,
By the end of the week
They'll all have seen hell
To be members of groups
The campus knows so well.

Dandy Lion

When the May Day ceremony is presented tomorrow, this week's Dandy Lion, Alma Natanblut, will be present in the role of a member of the court of honor for the May queen. A petite miss with dark flowing locks, Alma hails from Stony Creek Mills.

During her four years at Albright, Alma has been a very busy co-ed. She is the associate editor of the '51 Cue, secretary of the Domino Club and a member of Sigma Tau Delta, The Albrightian staff, radio workshop, Future Teachers of America, German Club and the Phi Beta Mu sorority.

Miss Natanblut entertained professionally this past summer in the Domino Club's production of "Red Carnations" and "Cup of Tea." No one will ever forget her roles in "Good-Bye My Fancy" and the other plays in which she has appeared throughout her years at Albright. After graduation Alma intends to teach English. Of course, the future will hold more than that. You see, there happens to be a lucky boy by the name of Marty in the picture. (I understand the Domino Club is hoping that Marty and Alma will donate some clothing from his store for future Domino productions.)

Alma can usually be found in the daywomen's lounge playing pinochle. And can she play pinochle! Wow! She's actually a card shark.

To that sweet girl with the infectious giggle, may I wish all the success in the world and also to that lucky boy, Marty.

Lions Sneak By St. Joseph's, 8-7, At Philadelphia

Cappel, Brenner Lead Thinclads On Victory Road

Potts, Zellner Score Doubles in 87-38 Win

Co-Captains Lee Cappel and Lou Brenner scored triples, while Gerry Potts and Charlie Zellner contributed doubles, as the Lion thinclads topped the Juniata track team, 87-38, last Saturday at Albright Stadium. In racking up their fourth victory as against one loss, Coach Gene Shirk's proteges took all but two first places and swept four events from the visitors.

Howard (Lou) Brenner started the Red and White trackmen on their victorious afternoon by coping the century in 10.3 seconds, his best time of the season, and followed up by capturing the furlong in 24.0 seconds and the broad jump with a 20 foot, 11 inch leap. Lanky Leland Cappel took both hurdle events, in times of 16.3 seconds for the 110 highs and 27.5 seconds for the 220 lows, and the javelin throw with a 194 foot, 8 inch toss. He also placed second in the pole vault.

Potts Captures Double
Gerry Potts won the shot put and the discus throw, catapulting the iron ball 43 feet, 10 inches, and slinging the platter 124 feet, 10 inches. Charlie Zellner poured on the coal and breasted the tape first in both the mile and two mile runs, with times of 4:51 and 10:52.5. The other Albright winners were Mahlon Frankhouser, who snared the half-mile in 2:09.8, and Rae Hoopes, who cleared 5 feet, 6 inches to annex the high jump.

The visitors' Fred Stauffer and Coy Hicks took the 440 and the pole vault, respectively, with performances of 52.5 seconds and 11 feet.

Albert Absent

Elwood (Pete) Albert, Albright's pole vaulter, was out of town on business, and missed the meet. The four events in which Juniata failed to place a single man were the high hurdles, the shot put, the discus and the javelin.

The next meet will be at Anville with Lebanon Valley on May 16, and the following meet is scheduled with Scranton on June 2.

F & M Thinclads Cop Little Three Crown

Franklin and Marshall College won its fifth Little Three track and field title last Saturday at Carlisle by capturing 70 points. Gettysburg was second with 43½ points and Dickinson last with 42½.

The Diplomats' Bill Dixon captured the 880 and the mile run and finished second to Dickinson in the two mile event for a total of 13 points. Gettysburg, which overcame Dickinson by only one point, copped the next to last event, the discus. F&M has now won all the Little Three championships since it was instituted in 1947.

DOUBLE WINNER

Gerry Potts

Albright Thinclads To Enter Hopkins' Track-Field Meet

The Albright thinclads will travel to Baltimore to compete in the Middle Atlantic track and field championships next Friday and Saturday at Johns Hopkins.

Faculty manager of athletics, Eugene L. Shirk, announced that Lee Cappel will compete in the javelin, high and low hurdle events, Lou Brenner in the 220-yard dash and the broad jump and Gerry Potts in the shot, javelin and the discus.

Bruce Tenley will run the 100 and 220-yard dashes, Kenny Kohl will also toss the discus, Charlie Zellner will participate in the two mile run and Pete Albert will compete in the pole vault event.

Athletic Teams to Hold All-Sports Banquet

The annual all-sports banquet will be held at 6:00 p. m. on Monday evening in the dining hall and will honor all athletic teams, both men's and women's, that participated at Albright. Terry Conner is chairman in charge of programs. Charles S. (Pop) Kelchner will be the speaker.

Golfers Face Two Meets; Defeat Scranton, 4-3

Next Tuesday Coach Paul Matten's golfers are slated to engage Bucknell on the Bisons' court at Lewisburg. They will meet the Explorers of LaSalle on the Reading greens on Thursday.

The golfers defeated Scranton U., 4-3, last Tuesday for their second win. Bob Batdorff scored a low 75.

Albright Diamondmen to Engage LaSalle, Lebanon Valley and Drexel In Next Week's Baseball Battles

LaSalle, Lebanon Valley and Drexel, the next three foes on the Albright baseball card, all lost to the Lions last season and were the victims of identical marks.

Tomorrow the Guliannmen will face the Explorers of LaSalle on the 15th and Bern Streets diamond. Last season the Lions vanquished their Philadelphia foe by an 8-4 count with George Baumgaertel doing the hurling for the victor.

Anville will be the setting for a battle with the Dutchmen of Lebanon Valley next Wednesday. Paul Muller, who set down the Dutchmen, 8-4, last year, came back again on April 25 of this season to reverse them, 6-3, on the home diamond. Next week's battle promises to be a thriller with Charles (Hook) Martone slated to take his turn on the mound for the Albright tossers. The Guliannmen will travel to Philadelphia the following day to meet the Engineers on Drexel's diamond. The Cat diamondmen trounced the Drexel nine, 11-4, last year behind the tossing of Hook Martone. Albright scored all eleven

Martone Clouts Third Homer In Helping Own Cause; Cats Tab Five in Seventh

Drop Battles to Moravian and Bucknell; Muller Handed Initial Losses of Season

The Albright College baseball team lost two of its three frays played during the past week. The Lions fell victim to Moravian and Bucknell by narrow margins but was able to squeeze by St. Joseph's College in a thriller at Philadelphia. The Guliannmen have now recorded seven wins against five defeats.

Coach Eddie Gulian's charges scored five runs in the top of the seventh inning to sneak by St. Joseph's College, 8-7, at Philadelphia last Saturday. Both the Albright nine and Charles (Hook) Martone, who tossed for the Lions, broke their losing streaks. Martone aided his own cause with a mighty four-base hit to deep right center field in the seventh frame.

St. Joseph's Takes Lead
St. Joseph's scored one run in the third inning after two men were out on three successive singles. However, Albright replied with three in their half of the fourth to grab the lead. Lefty Leitham drove a ball to center, Jay Sherloch doubled to right and Tony D'Apollito drove in Leitham with a timely single. Sherloch tagged at third and scored when George Amole sent a fly ball to short left field. D'Apollito stole second base and later scored on Blackie Moyer's double to end scoring in that stanza.

St. Joseph's deadlocked the count in its half of the fourth frame. Joe Leonard hit a long ball to the base of the stands that bounced into them for a ground rule double. A walk coupled with an error by Billy Krohto gave the Hawks one tally, and another crossed the plate on a timely double.

Martone Homers

With the score knotted at 3-3, Martone opened the seventh inning with his homer to give the Cats the lead. Connie Detting and Leitham followed with singles and advanced when Sherlach sacrificed. Tony D'Apollito then walked to fill the bases, and Detting and Leitham countered when Amole singled. Moyer doubled to score Amole and Krohto, who had reached first on a fielder's choice.

The Hawks answered with four more tallies in their half of the inning but came one short of deadlocking the count.

Greyhounds Win

Albright dropped its second game of a two game losing streak to Moravian, 4-3, at Bethlehem on Thursday, May 3. Paul Muller met his first defeat at the hands of his pitching rival, Johnny Seifert, who allowed the Lions but three runs and nine hits. Previously Muller had copped four straight victories.

for the Guliannmen.

The Greyhounds scored their four runs in the first five innings of play and held the Albright nine to two for the remainder of the game to insure their victory.

Bernie Lillis collected a triple for the losers in the fifth frame but was thrown out at the plate when he attempted to travel the distance. Detting, Sherlach and Lillis pounded pairs of hits for the visiting Lions while Moyer, Krohto and Detting entered the run scoring column.

The Albright tossers dropped their second fray of the week to Bucknell, 3-1, last Tuesday on the 15th and Bern Streets diamond. Paul Muller was on the mound for Coach Gulian's nine and went down to his second straight defeat. Previously he had won four consecutive pitching duels.

Bucknell scored their runs in singles, one in the first, third and sixth frames. Albright's only answer was one tally in the fourth stanza.

Martone opened the fourth with a double, and Detting followed with a triple to drive Martone across the plate. Detting then was caught at the plate trying to stretch the three-bagger into a homer.

Lionesses Lose, 9-6, To Temple Girls In Softball Finale

Playing their final fray of the season, the Albright College girls' softball team was defeated, 9-6, by Temple University on Friday, May 4, on the Science Hall field.

The Temple girls started on the road to victory by tallying one run in the first inning and adding seven in the third, climaxed by one in the fifth.

Miss Hart of Temple was the big gun in the Lady Owls' attack by knocking out a double and two singles. Her teammates helped the Temple cause with six bunched hits. Miss Hohenstein tossed scoreless ball for the Owl femmes until the fifth frame, at which time the Lionesses collected all six runs on four hits. Miss Stump was the losing Albright hurler.

The girls' P.T. classes held elections in classes last week for the Woman's Athletic Association for the purpose of electing officers. The officers chosen were: Dolores Bedding, president; Lois Gehris, vice-president; Dorothy Kuettel, secretary and Helen Hasselgren, treasurer.

APO's Surrender Lead in I-M Loop

Two Way Deadlock Develops For Top Spot

LEAGUE STANDINGS

	W.	L.	Pct.
Kappas	5	2	.714
Zetas	5	2	.714
APO	6	3	.666
Frosh House	2	3	.400
KTX	1	4	.200
Pi Taus	1	4	.200

Entering into the final week of play, the Zetas and the Kappas are deadlocked for the lead in Coach Bobby Hick's intramural league. Trailing by one game are the APO's with six wins and three losses.

Last Monday the APO's set the Frosh House down by a 10-2 count behind five hit pitching by Jerry Lakow. Bob Skinner played for the Frosh with a cracked wrist in this contest.

The game between the KTX and the Pi Taus, scheduled for Monday, was not played due to misinformation to the team captains. The following day action resumed with the Kappas knocking the APO's out of first place with a smashing 15-5 victory. Joe Ward took the mound for the winners and Tom Masters did the hurling for the losing APO's. In this battle, Tom Savage hit a four-bagger with two on for the Kappas. Mike Ronco also homered for winners.

Tuesday the Zetas defeated the Pi Taus on the baseball field which handed them top honors with the Kappas. On Thursday, May 3, the Kappas began their thrust for first place honors by defeating the future preachers, 17-4. Again Joe Ward took his turn on the mound and proved the winner. Kenny Kohl did the tossing for the losers. The Zetas also defeated the APO's the same evening behind the tossing of Pat Bieber.

Tenniseers Split Card; Hold 5-5 Season's Record

Coach Leo Bloom's netmen defeated Moravian, 7-2, on Thursday, May 3, to break a losing streak for the Lion athletes. The Albright racquetees won five of the six singles matches and two of the three doubles tilts.

Paul Kissinger defeated Bob Cannel, 6-3 and 6-4; Jay Shenk beat Don Newcombe, 6-3, 2-6 and 7-5; Don Ermoled trounced Al Barnes, 6-3 and 6-2; Don Grigsby overcame Don Sweeney, 6-2 and 6-2 and Dale Moyer defeated Bruce Weber, 6-4, 2-6 and 7-5. Don Ulrich turned in the lone singles victory for Moravian.

The Albright College tennis team split its card last week by defeating Moravian and losing to Bucknell. The Racquetee's record for the season now stands deadlocked at five wins and five losses.

The Albright netmen were reversed, 6-3, last Tuesday by the Bucknell Bisons on the home tennis courts.

Bob Ruoff defeated Nowell Robb, 6-1 and 6-1 and Walt Fox beat Bill Snider, 3-6, 7-5 and 6-4 for the only two victories in the singles matches. Don Ermoled and Jay Shenk teamed up in the doubles to whip Nick Schloeder and Joe Miller, 6-3 and 6-3.

The racquetees will engage LaSalle tomorrow on the Albright courts and will travel to Sellinsgrove to meet Susquehanna University the following Saturday.

Dr. Noss to Address Philosophers; French, Biology Clubs Name Officers

Dr. John B. Noss, professor of philosophy at Franklin and Marshall College, will address the annual banquet of the Philosophy Club on Monday, May 14, at the Thomas Jefferson Tea Room. He is the author of "Man's Religions," the textbook used in Religion 3 courses at Albright.

Officers for 1951-52 will be installed. Certificates of membership will be presented to the members who were inducted this year.

Officers Chosen

Officers for Le Cercle Francais and Skull and Bones for the 1951-52 academic year were elected recently.

Gordon Gockley became president of the French Club. Others chosen were: Vice-president, Marilyn Yatron; secretary, Sonia Phipps; treasurer, Albert Fiorini.

Skull and Bones members elected Jack Greenspan president. Named to assist him were: Vice-president, Elliott Sauerstie; secretary, Lois Gehris; treasurer, Lynn Russo.

Two Attend Heo Confab

Patricia Eisenbise and Evelyn Weida represented the Heo Club at the Pennsylvania Home Economics Association conference held at the Yorktown Hotel, York, on Friday, May 4. The two delegates will present a report of the conference at the May 14 meeting of the club. A "So-long Seniors" party has also been planned. The meeting will be held in Sherman Cottage. Doris Weida is in charge of refreshments for the affair.

The new officers for the coming year, who were elected in February, have assumed their duties. They are: President, Ruth Ann Schaeffer; vice-president, Joyce Snyder; secretary, Nancy Lou Hawman; and treasurer, Joan Fleming.

Bishop to Address I.R.C.

The final meeting of the International Relations Club will be held on Wednesday, May 16 at the home of Prof. and Mrs. William R. Bishop, Jr. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p. m.

Gerald F. Englehart, retiring president, will conduct the business meeting, during which the pledges who have been invited to be members of the club next year will be welcomed. Englehart will also induct next year's officers, who were elected at the April meeting.

Prof. Bishop, club adviser, will address the group on "Twentieth Century India." Members are asked to come prepared to participate in the general discussion that will follow. A social hour will conclude the evening.

Future Teachers Hear Reports

Following the induction of officers Wednesday, the Future Teachers of America discussed next year's program. The three delegates who attended the F.T.A. conference at Penn State on April 6 and 7 gave reports. These delegates were Joanne Raffensperger, Barbara Finch and John Savidge.

W.A.A. to Hold Dinner

The Women's Athletic Association will hold its annual dinner at the Thomas Jefferson Tea Room on Wednesday, May 16 at 6:30 p. m. All the present officers, representatives and officers for next year are invited.

Patricia Miller, secretary of W.A.A. for this year, is in charge of the dinner.

Patrons to Hear Talk About China by Dr. I. Lin

The next meeting of the Patrons' Division will be held on Wednesday, May 16 at 2 o'clock in Selwyn Parlors. Dr. I. Lin, the guest speaker, will use as his topic "Customs of China," featuring a discussion of the food, education and family life of the Chinese people. Dean Ruth E. Williams will act as interrogator for the question and answer period following Dr. Lin's talk.

Election of new officers will also take place at this meeting. Mothers of all students are invited to attend.

College Day for Seniors Postponed Until Fall

College Day for High School Seniors, originally scheduled for Saturday, May 19, has been cancelled, Newton S. Danford, registrar and director of admissions, announced Wednesday. It will be rescheduled for early next fall. The cancellation was made because May 19 is Armed Forces Day. It is expected that many high school bands and other groups will participate in exercises connected with that celebration.

Deadline Nears For Service Test

Every student has nothing to lose and everything to gain by taking the Selective Service Classification Test, Newton S. Danford, registrar, explained this week. According to the draft questionnaire filled out by all men last week, many of them were not planning to take the test. Selective service officials recommend strongly that all students take it, regardless of other bases of deferment such as pre-ministerial, pre-medical and pre-dental classifications or marital status.

Danford said that it was the policy of the college to let each man make up his own mind about taking the test. Some institutions, he noted, are requiring it. Deadline for filing application is May 15.

Del Guidice to Speak To Chemistry Groups

The Reading Chemical Club and the Lehigh Valley Section of the American Chemical Society will hold a joint meeting Friday evening, May 18 at 8:15 o'clock in the Science Lecture Hall. The speaker will be Mr. del Guidice, chemical counselor for the Sacony-Vacuum Oil Company.

The meeting will be preceded by a dinner at 6:30 p. m. in the college dining hall. Prof. Hans Nix and an instrumental group will provide a short musical program.

Vets' Wives to Discuss Fashions on May 16

Shirley Eckenroed will speak at a meeting of the Veterans' Wives of Albright College on Wednesday, May 16 in Selwyn Parlor. Miss Eckenroed, a senior in the home economics department, will speak on "Fashions."

Mrs. William Emerich, president of the group, announced that wives of all students, not only those of veterans, are invited to this meeting. The organization is changing from a veterans' wives group to include the wives of all students on campus.

Plans for reorganization will be the main topic on the business calendar, and announcement will be made of a family picnic to end the club year.

Mrs. Frank Voss is sponsor of the group. A refreshment and social period will follow the meeting.

secretary; Ronald Schlossberg, corresponding secretary; and Theodore Whitby, treasurer. The president appointed Richard Stinson chaplain and David Keller public relations agent.

Dr. Charles Kistler and Leonard Vandriel were inducted into the fraternity as honorary members.

The fraternity will hold an open house for all members of the faculty on Sunday, May 20 from 5-9 o'clock. The A.P.O.'s home is located at 1616 Olive St.

Pats Induct Five

The Pi Alpha Tau sorority inducted five pledges into membership at their meeting on Monday evening, May 7 in the Lower Social Room. Those inducted were Nancy Lou Walker, Margaret Israel, Jacqueline Zwayer, Virginia Marick and Martha Little.

Officers for the coming year were also chosen. Those elected were: President, Doris Hill; vice-president, Marjorie Mansfield; corresponding secretary, Dolores Bedding; recording secretary, Helen Hasselgren; treasurer, Lynn Russo; chaplain, Jane Brozene; and historian, Lois Gehris.

Kappas Elect Officers

At a special K.U.P. fraternity meeting held on Monday, April 30, officers for the year 1951-52 were elected. Edward Flemming was elected president; Robert Waldner, vice-president; Robert Long, secretary; John H. Miller, treasurer; and Andrew Glovatsky, chaplain.

At the fraternity spring dance seven pledges were inducted into active membership. They are Dale Baker, Bruce Eichkoff, Mariano Guidicci, Donald Long, James Rutter, James Still and Earl Strawn.

27 Students Tour Reading Hospital

Twenty-seven pre-nursing and laboratory technician students went on a field trip to the Reading Hospital on Tuesday, May 1. They heard lectures, toured the hospital and were entertained at tea.

Olivia L. Barnes, R.N., director of nurses and principal of the school of nursing, addressed the pre-nursing students on changes in the profession and possibilities for college trained nurses. The lab. tech. students were shown the hospital laboratories.

The Reading Hospital and Albright College cooperate in a program whereby women receive the Bachelor of Science degree and their R.N. after spending two years in college and three at the hospital and passing their state board examinations.

Pre-nursing students who went on the trip were Dorothy Miller, Joan Boyle, Anna May High, Carol Kreeker, Wanda Moore, Mary Phillips, Julia Thrane, Carolyn Bell, Barbara Benner, Judith Canfield, Dorothy Deck, Betty Engle, Minnie Haines, Shirley Haller, Carol Neuwiesinger, Norma Jean Snow and Lois Stockinger.

Lab. tech. majors going on the trip were Dorothy Stavrides, Jacqueline Artz, Joan Williamson, Muriel Berggren, Annetta Deussen, Jane Lauze, Jo Ann Caraballo, Dorothy Doughten, Carol Mickle and Nancy Walker.

Modern Albright Campus Has Past Rich With Historical Significance

By Patty Schearer

We might entitle this article "What Every Albright Student Should Know," for when the mas and pas descend on our campus this weekend, you can be sure there'll be a barrage of questions fired our way. And just to be sure you're prepared, The Albrightian has compiled for you a grab-bag of answers in the way of our campus, its buildings and its history.

Well, when mom or dad inquire about the quaint little chapel, you can promptly tell them that Sylvan Chapel was the first building on the Albright campus. The present chapel was originally built in pre-Revolutionary days in the then wilderness of the woods of Mt. Penn. This pioneer home was constructed without a level, or footrule, which is clearly shown by the windows which are not directly across from one another and are not of the same size. The doorway was made very large, for at that time all furniture was dragged into the house through that door.

This Albright landmark had a modern advantage of water within the home, for it was built directly over a spring. Later, when Sherman Cottage was used as a farm house, this old one room house served ideally as a stone spring house. Still later it was used as a school room for the Muhlenberg children. Today Sylvan Chapel continues its long life of service as a part of the Albright campus.

Philadelphia Road Closed Campus
Sherman Cottage, originally of stone, was built shortly after the Revolutionary War. At that time the old road from Philadelphia crossed the campus, and it is possible that the same drive-way entrance that we now use was a part of this old road. It is known that Benjamin Franklin and William Penn both used this road for their travels. Sherman Cottage was a colonial farmhouse with two rooms on the first floor and two rooms on the second. A lean-to kitchen was at one time used. The first floor originally had two fireplaces, with the large room being used as a parlor.

SELWYN HALL IN THE DAYS OF YORE

The present livingroom was the combined kitchen and dining room with a huge fireplace in which the cooking was done and long-handled kettles were hung. In 1920 the present kitchen was added to Sherman Cottage. This is the only addition ever made to this building. The barn accompanying the old farmhouse is now replaced by Union Hall.

Selwyn Hall Built in 1836

In the fall of 1834, Jonathan Deininger married Mary Elizabeth Heister Muhlenberg, daughter of Henry Muhlenberg, ambassador to Austria, in 1838. They spent two years abroad on their wedding trip, most of the time in Dresden, Saxony. After returning to America in the summer of 1836, they started operations to build their new home, now Selwyn Hall; they moved into Selwyn Hall late in the fall of 1836. A portrait of the couple until recently hung in Selwyn Hall. Mrs. Deininger died in 1838 when her second child was born.

Selwyn Hall was one of the most elaborate of colonial estates. The closest buildings were on North Ninth Street near Penn. The trees in front of the mansion were planted in a double row so that a driveway went past the house. The solid walnut pillars standing in front of Selwyn Hall are the originals. The old hitching post is still in front of the hall. The old fashioned lock, stairway and many of the first doors are still being used. Selwyn Parlors were two huge bedrooms, each with their wood burning fireplaces. The music studio was then also two bedrooms. The hallway, kitchen and instrument rooms were part of a huge library, the corner of which is now marked by a beam to the right of the hallway. Prof. Lewis Smith's office and Coach Eva Mosser's office formed a sunparlor, upstairs and downstairs. The infirmary was originally four bedrooms. The first two rooms and the lavatory now on the first floor left of the hallway were the master bedroom. The other rooms on the second floor were the servants' quarters. Three bathrooms were included in this plan. The library is now situated where there was formerly a stable for riding horses.

Well, there you are fellow Albrightians, we hope you can make use of this brief outline. Now it's up to you to impress mom and dad, and let them know how wonderful we all think our campus is!
