Candidates Nominated

All Campus Election Set For April 7, 8, 9

Candidates for office in five campus organizations during the 1952-53 school year were announced this week by William A. Heck, '52, chairman of the student activities committee of student council. Nominated by their respective groups, they will appear on the all-campus ballot next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Groups which chose their candidates include the Women's Student Senate, daymen, daywomen, junior class and sophomore class. Nominees were named earlier by student council and the campus Christian associations.

Nominated for the presidency of the Women's Student Senate were Evelyn Kressler, Elizabeth Martin and Mary Jane Titlow. Since Miss Kressler declined the nomination because of her candidacy for the Y. W. C. A. presidency, only two names will appear on the ballot for W.S.S.

The daywomen chose Catharine Girvin and Miss Titlow and the daymen nominated George Amole and Bert Pergola.

Nominated by the class of 1953 were: For president, William Masters and William Schmidt; for vice-president, Donald Grigsby and William Himmelman; for secretary, Miss Martin and Nancy Neatock; for treasurer, Richard Hilton and Theodore Whitty.

The class of 1954 selected Richard Adams and Robert Bieler for president; Mahlon Frankhouser

Hank Hoffman's orchestra will furnish the music for the Frosh-Soph-Junior Ball, called "Spring Fever," scheduled to be held in the Abraham Lincoln Ballroom on Friday, April 18, from 8:30 to 11:30 p. m. The event will be a non-corsage dance, with tickets selling for $3.50 per couple.

Thomas Stults, '54, chairman of the affair, has named the following committee heads: Refreshments, Patricia Kennedy, '53; publicity, James Rogers, '55; decorations, Nancy Lou Walker, '54; tickets, Mary Jane Titlow, '53.

Buch Would Serve Students' Wishes; Grigsby Offers Simplicity and Power

(Editor's Note: Following are the platforms of James R. Buch and Donald Grigsby, '53, candidates for the 1952-53 presidency of student council. The election will be held next week.

By James R. Buch

If I am elected to the presidency of student council I hope to accomplish the following things: (1) to organize the council better and enforce the required attendance by-law to full capacity, thus creating a more active council; (2) to obtain as many as possible of the student's rights that were formulated by the National Student Association;

(3) to promote student council to serve the students and to carry out their wishes as much as possible; (4) to carry out the powers granted student council for the betterment of the students, faculty and administration; (5) to have more harmony in the administration of student council.

Miss Garlach To Retire

MISS ELSIE GARLACH

Miss Elsie A. Garlach, Professor of French since 1921, will retire in June, Dr. Harry V. Masters, Albright College president, announced this week. She is second only to Dean George W. Walton as the oldest member of the faculty in terms of years of service.

Following graduation from Gettysburg College in 1907 with the bachelor of arts degree, Miss Garlach was an instructor in public and private schools until she joined the Albright faculty. She gained teaching experience in schools in North Carolina, Florida and Pennsylvania.

Miss Garlach received her master of arts degree from Columbia University and pursued additional graduate study at the French Institute of the Pennsylvania State College, the Sorbonne in France and McGill University in Canada. She is a member of Sigma Tau Delta, national honorary English fraternity, the American Association of University Women and the Woman's Club.

Chessmen Defeated

The Albright College Chess Club was defeated recently by the Marshall Chess Club in a match played at the Reading Company Y.M.C.A. The score was 1½ games to 4½ games.

I offer simplicity and power—an odd correlation, but certainly not an illogical one. Simplicity breeds power. Student government is hopelessly enmeshed in red tape and cumbersome precedents that are burying the only semblance of power left in it.

We can not ask for a master voice because we would not take on the responsibility involved. But we can ask for jurisdiction over certain aspects that concern us directly. Now we have direct power over nothing. Discipline is out of our hands. Socially we are entangled in high school rules.

I offer a platform built on one concept alone—progression rather than regression!

Council Plans Faculty Evaluation To Suggest Teaching Improvements

Five General Teaching Areas To Be Rated; Composite Picture of Each Professor Desired

Evaluation of the Albright College faculty by the student body will take place within the next two weeks, Ray Weitzel, '54, chairman of the planning committee, disclosed yesterday.

Sponsored by the student council in cooperation with the faculty and administration, this will be the first evaluation since 1948 and second in the school's history. Its purpose, Weitzel explained, is to suggest ways of improving the teaching effectiveness of the faculty by determining each professor's strong and weak points.

The evaluation has been divided into five general areas: organization and presentation of course material, the general teaching effectiveness of the instructor, the ability to arouse interest and stimulate thinking, general approachability and willingness to assist students, and intellectual honesty and tolerance of differences of opinion.

This evaluation is not designed to grade professors on a letter basis, Weitzel said. Instead, by means of 40 objective questions of the yes-no and multiple choice type, the committee hopes that a composite picture of each professor may be set up. Space is provided on the evaluation form for general comments about each professor.

Weitzel pointed out that no student is to sign his name, and that all replies will be kept strictly confidential. Each student will be asked to list his class, age, overall letter grade, course taken, whether it is elective or required, and the name of the professor who is being evaluated.

The first evaluation of the local faculty, in the spring of 1948, was considered highly successful, according to Dean Walton, who noted that more than 99 per cent of the returns received were sincere and objective.

The 1952 evaluation form was prepared from the previous record which contained only 13 questions, NSA forms, forms from other colleges and suggestions by the committee. It is divided into four parts—instructions, questions, an answer sheet and space for general comments.

Typical questions to be found in the evaluation include: Does the instructor manifest an attitude of

Six Organizations Still Owe Cue Bills

Six organizations have not yet paid their Cue bills. Richard Witmoyer, '52, business manager, said this week. They are the Kappa Upsilon Phi fraternity, Women's Student Senate, Glee Club, Daywomen, the junior class and the freshman class.

The business manager stated that if the organizations do not pay their bills immediately it is probable that each senior will be assessed one dollar so that all yearbook expenses will be met.

To Announce Nominees

At the April 16 meeting of the Patron's Division of the Women's Auxiliary the nominating committee will present its slate of officers. Following this Martha Dick will show pictures from her tour of Europe.

Five pledges were inducted by the Kappa Upsilon Phi fraternity. They include Richard Flammer, '53, and Anthony Ammento, Rudy Becker, William McHugh and Chris Walck, '55.

Jay S. Gerber, '54, has been appointed captain of the Pi Tau softball team.

Yale Professor Stresses God's Redemptive Work

God's redemptive work in the world was stressed by Dr. Julian N. Hartt, associate professor of theology at the Yale University Divinity School, in Religion in Life Week talks the past few days.

"God works to make the most of human possibilities, and therefore His is the work of redemption of human life from everything that cripples, weakens, or destroys it," the speaker declared.

Doctor Hartt cited the threat of Communism to the fundamental Christian affirmation that all are children of God and that the world is everyone's home.

He declared that "nothing chosen as a vocation is outside the reach of God's transforming power."

WRAW To Broadcast Matins Next Week

Easter matins will be broadcast next Tuesday through Saturday at 8:15 a. m. over station WRAW. They are entitled: "The Supper," "The Garden," "The Trial," "The Cross" and "The Resurrection."

Written and edited by Nancy Lou Walker, '54, the matins will be produced by Leonard Buxton, '52. Others participating in the programs will be Thomas Jones, '52, the Rev. Dean A. Allen, local E.U.B. minister, Barbara Benner, '54, and the Y choir under the direction of Ivan Moyer, '54.

Pakistan Envoy To Greet Model UN

Ambassador Ahmed Shah Bokhari, chief of the Pakistan delegation to the United Nations and its member on the Security Council, will deliver the keynote address at the first plenary session of the Model United Nations General Assembly, to be held at Barnard College from Monday, April 7 to Wednesday, April 9. He will talk to delegates from over 50 colleges on the role of the United Nations in the maintenance of peace.

Albright College will be represented at the Model U.N. by four members of the International Relations Club—Russell F. Weigley, Martin Stover, Mariastella G. Kaputo and Norman Dettra, '52—and the club's adviser, Edward Cox, instructor in history. These representatives will act as delegates from Byelorussia.

At the second plenary session, the 25th anniversary of a students' model international assembly will be celebrated. Mrs. Harrison Thomas, educational director for the former League of Nations Association, will discuss the history of the Model United Nations. The founder of the model sessions, H. Duncan Hall, will present an anniversary plaque to the sponsors of the present Assembly, the Collegiate Council for the United Nations, which is the collegiate affiliate of the American Association for the United Nations.

Approximately 300 delegates from New York, New Jersey, Maryland and Pennsylvania colleges are expected at the conference.

Spanish 9 To Visit New York Sunday

Members of the Spanish 9 class in "Advanced Composition and Conversation" will visit New York City on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. Staying at the International House, eating at Spanish restaurants and going to Spanish churches and museums, the class will receive a first-hand study of the cultural side of Spanish life. Prof. Consuelo Rodriguez is in charge of arrangements.

Haskell to Address F.T.A.

Take Evaluation Seriously

Albright College students will have an unusual opportunity next week to express their honest opinions about the faculty members under whom they have studied this year. Sponsored by student council, the faculty evaluation is designed to provide each professor with an index of responses for judging his effectiveness as a teacher.

We believe that the vast majority of the students will cooperate wholeheartedly in the evaluation of the faculty. We believe that they will give serious thought to each of the questions and express an honest, objective opinion. We believe that they will not try to gain "revenge" in any sense.

One point in particular has been stressed by the evaluation committee—that the evaluation is neither a grading instrument nor a measuring device. One professor is not to be compared with another. Grades are not to be assigned. Used properly, the evaluation form can be an excellent means for helping each teacher to improve himself. The evaluation has been welcomed by the majority of the faculty members as an opportunity for them to learn about their unconscious faults.

We can see only one reason why any student might be hesitant about cooperating in the evaluation—his fear that a professor would find out about any adverse comments which he might make. The fact that no names are to be signed and that all forms will be kept confidential should allay this fear.

In our opinion the faculty evaluation is an excellent example of what student council and the local N.S.A. organization can do when it wants to. It is also an excellent example of the cooperation which is possible between the faculty and student body. We hope that everyone will use wisely the opportunity which the evaluation affords.

Martone To Hurl Opener At Ursinus

Albright's baseball team will open the 1952 season tomorrow against Ursinus on the Collegeville diamond.

Coach Eddie Gulian will have five returning lettermen in his starting lineup: Charlie Martone, pitcher; Connie Detling, first baseman; George Amole, third base; Blackie Moyer, shortstop; and Tony D'Apollito, outfielder.

Ray Stoneback, a freshman from East Greenville, will be behind the plate. Mickey Harbach, also a freshman and former Reading High and Gregg Post player, will start at second base. Freshman Bill Smith will cover left field and Jack Sudol, a sophomore and utility infielder last season, will start in right field.

On the utility list are Joe Hayick, catcher and the following pitchers: Gerry Potts, a southpaw and righthander Ed McNeill, Joe Gerard and Al Jacobs.

Martone, pitcher-outfielder from Glen Cove, N. Y., has been chosen as captain of this year's team. Last season he was the leading hitter on the squad with an average of .380 and also led the pitchers with an impressive seven and three won-lost record. "Hook" throws and swings left-handed.

Coach Gulian's tossers will play their first home game with Juniata on Tuesday on the 15th and superiority toward the student? Does the instructor arouse interest in the subject? Is the instructor fair in his grading of tests and course work?

Weitzel indicated that after results have been tabulated, they will be given to Dean Walton, who will schedule conferences with each member of the faculty to go over his report.

In addition to Weitzel, student members of the committee are Jack Greenspan, William A. Heck and Russell F. Weigley, '52, and Thomas Stults, '54. Faculty representatives are Dean George W. Walton and Dean Levan P. Smith.

Bern diamond.

Last year Albright opened its home season against Ursinus and eked out a 6-5 win over the visitors from Collegeville. A home run to deep center field by Martone turned out to be the margin by which Paul Muller chalked up his first victory. The diamondmen did not oppose the Juniata Indians last year.

It is expected that Gulian will use Martone on the mound tomorrow against the Bears while Potts will probably hurl next Tuesday in the home opener. Following the Juniata game the Guliannmen will be idle until April 17, when Elizabethtown will invade the Lions' den.

Shirkmen Slate Spring Schedule

As a result of eight different men taking firsts in eight different events in Albright's recent informal loss to Delaware, Coach Gene Shirk stated that this year's track team is better balanced than last year's squad. Shirk said that it was hard to replace such a versatile competitor as Lee Cappel, but with the exception of the 100 yard dash, mile and two mile, the squad looks fair.

However, the scene is brightened somewhat by the return of such shining lights as Captain Gerry Potts, Mahlon Frankhouser and Pete Alberts. The middle distances look the best with two promising freshmen, Harold Kaetzing and Rudy Becker, who run the 220, 440, 880 and 1,000, along with Frankhouser, who runs the 440 and 880. These three give the Lions the most strength they have had in the middle distances in a long while.

In the other track events Bruce Tenley looks good in the 50 yard dash, while Rae Hoopes is trying to fill the shoes of Cappel, who placed third in the Middle Atlantic Conference last year.

In the field events Potts, who is aiming to be the first four-letterman in the last 15 years, looms as the biggest threat. He holds the school records for the discus and the shot. Another record holder is Alberts in the pole vault. He has twice jumped 12' 6" this year and is expected to clear 13 feet. He is also Mid-Atlantic champ.

Shirk will also rely on freshman William Smith in the broad jump, Barry Leinbach in the high jump and Tenley in the javelin toss.

Hoping to better last year's six and three record, the Red and White thinclads will run in six dual meets. There are two three-way meets scheduled and Lion runners are slated to enter the Penn Relays, M.A.S.C.A.C. championships and IC4A championships.

The schedule:
Thursday, April 17—Dickinson, away.
Saturday, April 19—Lebanon Valley, home. Berks Co. H. S. Meet.
Tuesday, April 22—Muhlenberg, away.
Friday and Saturday, April 25 and 26—Penn Relays, Phila.
Wednesday, April 30—F & M, away.
Saturday, May 3—Haverford and St. Joseph's at Haverford.
Tuesday, May 6—Juniata, away.
Saturday, May 10—Ursinus, home.

I.C.C.
Wednesday, May 14—Scranton, away.
Friday and Saturday, May 16 and 17—M.A.S.C.A.C. Championships, Lehigh.
Friday and Saturday, May 30 and 31—I.C.A.A.A. Championships, Randall's Island.

Netmen Prepare For Southern Trip

Albright's netmen will open the season against Lafayette tomorrow on the Lafayette courts.

Although the team has not been completely determined yet, it is hoped that elimination matches to be played this afternoon will settle the remaining positions. Almost sure to see action tomorrow afternoon are Paul Kissingner, Don Ermold and Don Grigsby, returnees from last year's array. Prominent among the newcomers is John Reusing, number one man of last year's Reading High squad.

On Monday the netmen will leave on their southern tour, which will include six games in six days. They are slated to oppose East Carolina College, Guilford College, Virginia Tech, Catholic University, Western Maryland and Wilson Teachers in that order.

and Annjeannette Innis, vice-president; and Ivan Moyer and Thomas Stults, secretary. Because of a tie the names of three sophomores—Patricia Eisenbise, Phyllis Gruber and Ray Weitzel—will appear on the ballot for treasurer.

Results of the elections, conducted by the student council, will be announced in the April 18 issue of The Albrightian.

'Au Revoir, Mes Amis'

(Editor's Note: At our request Miss Elsie Garlach, Professor of French, looked back over her 30 years at Albright to record her fondest memories, her general impressions and her thoughts as the time for her retirement in June draws near. Miss Garlach is the second oldest member of the Albright College faculty in terms of years of service. We print below in full the farewell message which she prepared for The Albrightian.)

By Elsie Anna Garlach
Professor of French

It is now more than 30 years since I came to Albright one Commencement Week to apply for the position of French teacher. The school did not impress me, and I prayed on the way home that the trustees would not elect me to the position. Fortunately for me, however, the Lord did not answer that prayer, perhaps because He knew that from the very first day I would enjoy my life and work here.

What are some of my choicest memories? Certainly one of the highlights shone on the night that I was "decorated." It was during World War II when Albright was Army Camp No. 7. My class of soldiers had just finished the course, and we were celebrating with a party in the library. The group stood at attention, drawn up in column of fours, while one stepped forward and pinned on me the wings. That was really a high moment.

Another happy hour, that stands out in my memory, was on Mother's Day after the college men had moved off campus and the girls were living in the fraternity houses. My girls in the Zeta House, on this Mother's Day, presented me with an orchid. (They called me "Mom.") Afterward they told me that I had thanked them in a mixture of French and English. Perhaps I did. The gift was a complete surprise, and I was very much pleased.

Then there are other more serious and cherished memories: our farewell to the Albright soldiers as they went off to the war; communion at "Y" retreat; leading noon-day chapel service; and many other precious moments—too many to enumerate here.

Have the students changed over a period of 30 years? Basically, no, but the times have changed. A student in '22 had more time to study because there were fewer distractions in the form of entertainment. His attitude was perhaps more provincial than that of the Albright student today. He was, to borrow a phrase from Sinclair Lewis, "not broad but deep." The student today has broadened his interests until they are world-wide. This change is due, in part, to the fact that many students have served in uniform abroad and have become interested in people of other lands by living among them.

My plans for the future? I shall go home to live in my apartment at Gettysburg. Housekeeping will be a different kind of work from teaching, and I can cook. But there will be other things to keep me busy. I shall continue my affiliations with the missionary society, the American Association of University Women and the Woman's Club. Then, there are my books, my record-player, and my golf clubs. I shall not be idle.

How do I feel about leaving? Sorry, of course, to leave the campus and my friends here, but glad also to be free to do some of the things that just don't fit in with a teaching program. Think of me, next October, as motoring. (Maybe I'll even buy a new car since there will be no more income tax to pay.)

And now, to you my students, I say on leaving, "God bless you," and I dedicate to you this poem:

La Source

It stands a symbol there
In campus walk,
A symbol of the source
Of knowledge clear.
I stoop and drink, then plunge
In fountain cool
Cupped hands, and turn to give
The youth who waits
Refreshment cool. He drinks,
While shining drops
Like crystals flashing fall,
He smiles his thanks.
I watch him go beyond
The outer wall
Into the world, with strength
Of knowledge clear.
I know he goes refreshed,
And rise content.

Easter Journey

There are six men on campus this Friday who are mighty glad that Easter vacation falls as it does this year. They are the members of the tennis team, who are scheduled to leave on Monday for their annual spring tour.

Last year the tour was not scheduled because of the early spring vacation, but this year things were set up just right and a six-match card was arranged to be played in as many days.

The racqueteters aren't calculated to lose much sleep over the classes they miss, which is fortunate because they'll need all they can get before the grueling grind is over. They know they'll be tired at the end of the week, but they'll still have had the advantage of launching the season under the

Witman Takes Part In College All-Star Game

Richard (Bunny) Witman represented Albright last Monday night when he played with the College All-Stars against the Harlem Globetrotters at the Hershey Sports Arena.

Witman replaced one of the collegians who had an injured ankle. He played all the third and part of the fourth quarters with such teammates as Mark Workman, All-American from West Virginia, Bill Milkv of Temple, Ray Sonnenberg of St. Louis U. and Leroy Leslie of Notre Dame. The Globetrotters, led by Goose Tatum and Marcus Haynes, pulled out a close 59-53 decision.

spring sun and balmy breezes of the Southland. It's hard to imagine a better kind of spring training, and we hope they'll return with as good a record as they brought back three years ago when they suffered only one loss.
