Seminar Series To Finish Tue.

About 85 people attended the combined Ys spring seminar series held Tuesday, April 11. This series consists of lectures and discussions on pressure groups, mental health, and a trilogy on the modern arts.

Miss Carolyn Cox of Shippensburg State College lectured on modern drama. Among the selections which she presented were parts of Tennessee Williams' The Glass Menagerie, Anton Chokov's Uncle Vanya, and Henrik Ibsen's Hedda Gabbler.

Mr. Charles Raith, assistant professor of political science, lectured and led a discussion on pressure groups. He began with basic definitions of terms. He also discussed the set-up of pressure groups and exposed the problems involved in them.

The third lecture was on the topic of mental health. Doctor Elmer Horst, chief psychiatrist for the Reading Hospital, lectured on the problems of mental health.

The Second Group

The second group of seminars was held this past Tuesday. Ernest Giese, '61, who has studied music, presented a lecture on modern music. He illustrated his lecture with selections, tapes, and mimeographed sheets.

Max Silverstein, executive director of mental health in Pennsylvania, lectured on the role Pennsylvania is playing in the field of mental health.

Mr. Charles Raith continued the discussion of pressure groups with a redefinition of terms and then discussed the topic in more detail.

Final Series

The last of the series will be presented April 25. A lecture on modern art will be presented by Leonids Linauts. Mr. Linauts has a studio in Reading where he earns his living by making stained glass. Some of his stained glass and also some medallions are on display in the college dining hall at present. Mr. Linauts was the organizer of the artists displaying their work in the dining hall.

Congo Views Heard At IRC

A recent International Relations Club meeting featured a talk by Jan-Albert Goris, Minister Plenipotentiary and Commissioner of Information for the Belgian Information Service, which is a section of the Belgian Mission to the United Nations. Goris spoke about the Belgian point of view on the Belgian Congo.

Natale DeLuca, '62, IRC president, announced plans for the May 10 IRC meeting. The program will feature part II of the movie, "Report on Africa," which deals with North Africa. Election of next year's officers and the formulation of next year's program will also take place at this meeting.

Agon Reaches Final Stages

The Albright Campus Literary magazine, the Agon, will be available in early May announced the co-editors, Eileen M. McCracken, '61, and Beverly Yanich, '61. This third edition of the Agon, which is written under the auspices of the Cribber Club, will closely follow last year's format.

The content of the Agon includes plays, short stories, poetry, essays, and literary criticisms. Paul R. Applegate, instructor in English, is the faculty advisor.

Parent's Day May Court Is Decided

The crown bearer will be John Bishop, son of William Bishop assistant professor of history. The flower girl will be Margaret Barth.

Other events in the week-end schedule include: a baseball game between Albright and Lebanon Valley, a choral concert Saturday evening sponsored by the Greater Reading Friends of Music, a tree planting ceremony Sunday sponsored by the Pi Alpha Tau sorority, and a Sunday morning worship service.

Edith Engle, '64, and Eunice Roush, '62, are general co-chairmen of the week-end program. Assisting them are the following committee members: Marilyn Hogg, '61, and Sarah Blouch, '61, May Queen Coronation; Martin Houser, '64, and Cathy Patterson, '62, publicity; Audrey Schropp, '62, registration; Kent Estler, '64, and Patricia Oldham, '63, tickets; and Karen Kunkle, '62, and Nancy Smethers, '63, invitations.

"Under the Ancestor's Shadow," "Americans and Chinese: Two Ways of Life," and "Clan, Caste and Chief," (A study of Chinese, Hindu and American culture), and his most recent book, "Psychological Anthropology," will soon be available in the college library.

Y Retreat To Discuss Freedoms

"What it means to be free" is the theme for the spring Y Retreat sponsored by the combined Ys April 29 and 30 at Blue Mountain Camp.

The three seminar sessions during the retreat will feature discussions on freedom in relationship to the individual personality, to the individual in society, and to the individual's creativity. William R. Marlow, chaplain, will speak on social freedom. Freedom to be creative will be discussed by Dr. Edith Douds, professor of French. Richard Fahnlne, German teacher at Reading High School, will present the topic concerning personal freedom. A group discussion period will follow each seminar. All three speakers will lead a summary session at the conclusion of the retreat.

Registration

Cars will leave from the parking lot at 11 a.m. Saturday. Registration ends today, but Donna Shumaker, '63, or Carol Conway, '63, can be contacted before Wednesday for late registrations.

Committee chairmen for the retreat are as follows: registration, Donna Shumaker; program, Mary Ann Richards, '62; publicity, Judy Campbell, '63; food, Eunice Roush, '62, and Phyllis Merle, '63; recreation, James Clayter, '63; and worship, Lenore Barth, '62.

Next Assembly Will Feature Mantle Service

Chapel and assembly programs have been announced for the next two weeks. The mantle ceremony will be held Tuesday, during which the newly-elected campus officers will be inducted. Thursday, the English Department will present Dr. Richard C. Harrier, professor of Shakespeare at N.Y.U., a cultural program speaker. Tuesday, May 2, William R. Marlow, chaplain, will speak for chapel service, and Thursday of that week the Viola-Piano Duo of Paul Doktor and Yaltah Menuhin will present a concert.

Harrier

Dr. Harrier received his A.B. from Muhlenberg College and his M.A. and Ph.D. from Harvard. During two years of study in England, he wrote an edition of the poems of Wyatt. Dr. Harrier is teaching a course in Shakespeare on NBC TV Sunrise Semester. He is an organizer and teacher at the Stratford, Conn., Shakespeare Summer Festival. Dr. Harrier has been awarded a Dexter Fellowship and a grant from the American Philosophical Society.

The pianist, Yaltah Menuhin, is the sister of the famous violinist Yehudi. Yaltah Menuhin was born in America but received her early musical training in Paris and Rome. She later studied in the United States with Carl Friedberg and Adolph Baller. She has toured extensively throughout the world as a soloist. Paul Doktor was born in Vienna, but has lived in the United States since 1947. He is a noted viola soloist and has made many recordings.

Over 220 turned out for a most successful evening as Albright held its first Spring Dinner-Dance last Saturday in the college dining hall. Eddie Allen and his orchestra provided music from 8 till 12.

PAT's, APOs Take Sports Night

Above: Tom Pearsall of the Zetas demonstrates his winning form as he captures first place in sports night high jumping.
Below: Ron Green is down, but not for long, as he went on to take John Poulos, of the Zetas, on the way to an APO victory.

The Alpha Pi Omega social fraternity and the Pi Alpha Tau social sorority took top honors in the annual Sports Night Program held April 7 in the fieldhouse. WUS sponsored the program this year with Beverly Barthold, '61, chairman of special events for the YMCA-YWCA, serving as general chairman. Co-chairmen for this event were Eileen McCracken, '61, and Claude Lynch, '61.

The women's events were closely contested with the PATs winning the basketball relay, relay race, and badminton. Ping pong and volleyball events were capped by the Phi Beta Mu sorority. The Dorm women and Daywomen also participated in most events.

Men

Competition for the trophy in the men's events resulted in a tie for first place that had to be broken by a tug-of-war between the APOs and the Zeta Omega Epsilon fraternity. The APOs won this event, giving them the point necessary for the trophy.

The men's organizations participated in ping pong, tug-of-war, broad jump, basketball relay, wrestling, horse and rider, rope climb, tag relay and the high jump. The Kappa Upsilon Phi fraternity took third place in total scoring with the Pi Tau Beta fraternity, the Dormmen and Daymen finishing in that order respectively.

WSA Delegate At Convention

The Women's Student Association sent Dolores DeLorenzo, '61, to the National Convention of the Intercollegiate Association of Women Students. This was the first year that Albright was an active member of this organization, the only women's student group in the United States. The I.A.W.S. offers membership to college women from accredited schools and is a service group whose main goal is to prepare women to govern themselves throughout their college careers.

The National Convention of the I.A.W.S. took place at the University of Wisconsin in Madison in early April. The theme was "That Continual and Fearless Shifting and Winning by which the Truth is Found." The first two days of the convention was centered around "The Wisdom to Know" and the last two days around "The Courage to Do."

EARNINGS ON ENDOWED SCHOLARSHIP FUNDS

* COMPREHENSIVE FEE

PAID BY STUDENTS - 77.0%

The above graph, released by the Development Office, points up the fact that in spite of student comments concerning tuition costs, they actually only pay for 77 per cent of their college education.

The Other Side . . .

At a recent Interdenominational Consultation on Educational Loans and Scholarships, Dr. Paul McMinn of the Office of Education gave some interesting figures. Increases in the cost of living during the past four years:

- food 6%
- rent 5%
- medical care 14%
- general cost of living 7%
- college tuition or fees 33%
- private college tuition and fees during the 11 years have risen 165%
- it is estimated that they will rise another 33% during the next four years
- children born this year will spend $14,000 for a college education
- who is being educated is determined more by economics than by I.Q.
- family income about $10,000, 90% of children expected to enter college, family income $3,000, 40% expected children to go to college
- to give some degree of equality of opportunity we would need by 1970 more than two billion for scholarship aid.

"Y"

To the Albright College Community:

After three years of interest and activity in the Y.M.C.A., during which time I was co-chairman of the "Y" Seminar Series, a member of the cabinet and a participant in programs of the "Y", I was given an honor and a responsibility last week by being elected president.

I feel that I would like to maintain the high quality of leadership which has been indicative of the "Y". Through my experience on the cabinet and with my knowledge of the many types of students on the campus, I will try to bring the "Y" closer to more people.

Indeed, the "Y" is a Christian organization and will remain so. I feel that there is nothing in my religious practice which would conflict with the purpose and ideals of the "Y" and with my duties as president. If one would think of the Judeo-Christian heritage of us all, he would realize that no weighty problems could arise.

What are my plans for the "Y" program for next year? Working with Miss Carol Conway, president-elect of the Albright Y.W.C.A., I will try to bring "Y" closer to more people. I will want the association to provide an opportunity for the Christian men and women of Albright to assert themselves and their heritage in Christian endeavors. I will continue the Christmas, Thanksgiving, and community service programs.

Most important, I will establish the Christian Faith and Heritage Commission. This group would be led by the most dynamic, intelligent, and dedicated Christian students on Albright's campus. I would urge such programs as Sunday Bible study groups. The students would, under the guidance of the college chaplain, or other qualified professors, have an opportunity to discuss Bible passages and beliefs.

Since my freshman year, I have noticed a need for the pre-ministerial students to have a chance to speak and write on the religion to which they will devote their entire lives. Through the Christian Faith and Heritage Commission, these young men, I hope, will find the necessary stimulation and opportunity to express their faith.

I experienced a time when I doubted my religion, and I do not like to see college freshmen floundering in doubt. By the establishment of this Commission, I believe that these students who were so close to their local church will find when they come to college an atmosphere in which their faith and Christian spirit will blossom in the sunlight of knowledge, rather than wither behind a veil of collegiate cosmopolitanism.

It was a great honor to have been elected to such a position, and I can promise all of you a dynamic year for the Albright College Y.M.Y.W.C.A.

The "Awful" Alamo?

To the editor:

In the April 7 issue of the Albrightian, "The Awful Alamo" by Richard Bolig appeared. Something is wrong. Either I saw a different "Alamo" or Mr. Bolig did not pay too much attention to the movie. I believe the latter to be correct. I can back this up by pointing out that Mr. Bolig stated that Colonel Bowie had 27 men and Colonel Travis had 100. It should be the other way around according to the movie.

Mr. Bolig seems to think there was too much dialogue. However, if he had listened close to that dialogue, he would have heard some very good points being made. I will not elaborate on what these points are, because, if Mr. Bolig could not understand them while watching the movie, he certainly couldn't understand them by reading this letter.

Mr. Bolig proceeds to hit at the acting of Laurence Harvey and Frankie Avalon. He states that Harvey was a big disappointment. Maybe Mr. Bolig could do better. Then Mr. Bolig goes on to say that most of Frankie Avalon's lines were "Gosh!" and "Golly!" Mr. Avalon had at least a few hundred words in his lines and not more than three or four words were "Gosh!" or "Golly!" Never before have I heard of three or four being most of a few hundred.

I suggest that Mr. Bolig go to see the "Alamo" again and to pay more attention than he did the first time.

Anger

To the Editor:

There comes a time when aroused indignation must do more than merely get aroused. Even if one rejects the trite maxim "Actions speak louder than words," one must admit that for anything constructive to take place there must be an active affirmation of something.

Assuming that there is a cause behind our every action, any and every one attending this institution has some sort of reason for handing over to it nearly two thousand dollars annually. Further assuming that we must think it somehow fulfills this reason, we accept the policy of chapel and assembly attendance which it advocates. Whether or not the said programs are good, bad, or indifferent is not here under discussion. That remains for those who are best capable to decide. Our concern here is with the morality involved in receiving the programs.

It amazes me that we still go through the ritual of greeting and thanking a speaker with applause. No student ever always has a completely positive attitude toward enforced attendance. However, the low hum of rustled papers, clicked notebooks, flipped pages, subdued (?) whispering is an inexcusable, uneducated, childish manifestation of our failure to constructively disagree with this policy. It is no better than the mediocrity of the masses which so many of us try so zealously to evade.

If there is a protest to be made, let it be exactly that—a speaking forth. Otherwise let's be still—literally. A speaker is entitled to be heard—from beginning to end. We don't even condescend to do that. Our brashness in judging those who come before us—which is precisely what our antics do—is an affront to academic dignity. When we engage in this activity, we are showing stupidity — by thinking it can achieve whatever goal we have in mind for doing it—and cowardice—by resorting to childish pouting instead of bravely acting.

This can be remedied by a "program." Each individual must continually re-examine his position and decide accordingly. Even if one denies the worth of attendance—which I do not—let him conduct himself with dignity.

H.U.A.C.

March 17, 1961

Dear Mr. Schneider:

I received a copy of your newspaper in the mail this morning identified as Volume No. 57, No. 11. I read the article on "Operation Abolition" and the editorial page which was devoted entirely to comments on the House Un-American Activities Committee and the film entitled "Operation Abolition". I might make the observation that I am very seldom moved to write a letter to any editor concerning editorials or news articles, however, my reaction to your "special six page issue" compels me to take my "pen" in hand on this instance.

It would appear that the critical attitude of yourself, your reporters and those whom you have quoted from other campuses have seized upon an issue which is quite difficult for the most learned and knowing to understand or comprehend in its entirety. It would also appear that in your desire to be "different" you have accepted and proposed a policy which is quite unwise at best. The policy you have apparently adopted is the abolition of the HUAC.

Freedom of the press, including your campus weekly, carries with it a certain responsibility. I am left with the opinion that your efforts to educate those who had not had the benefit of seeing the said film were obviously directed to a one-sided depiction of the film, as well as the Congressional Committee.

There is not much doubt but that the House Un-American Activities Committee is in need of certain regulations which will guarantee to each of those persons called to testify before it those basic rights spelled out in the U. S. Constitution. It is also true that certain persons having suffered damage to their reputation as a result of their being summoned before that Committee. Whether these injured persons were in fact communists is not for me to say. But whether it is deserving of the special criticism and unrestrained abuse heaped upon it by your good Professor Raith and your Chaplain whom I know better as Bill Marlow is in serious doubt.

Each of our Congressional Committees performs essentially the same as does that of the HUAC. Is it not strange that there is no hue and cry to abolish the "Racket Committee" which has in the past subpoenaed many hundreds of persons in every major city of this land subjecting each to the same treatment accorded those "poor victims" of the HUAC. A more recent example is that of Sawyer's Committee which recently "exposed" the drug industries. The industry was accorded none of the common protections available in a court of law. The entire industry has been most seriously damaged in the eyes of the general public, and yet I have heard none of the self styled liberals crying "foul" in this instance. Why then do we find the HUAC so violently attacked; an organization which was created and now exists for our own protection.

Whether or not the police action at the scene of the San Francisco hearing was brutal or not should not reflect upon that Committee. Whether the police were in fact compelled to use force in dispelling the rioters at that scene is most certainly not factually established by those liberal critics. The fact exists, however, that there were a good number of known Communists and Communist sympathizers mingled with those students who participated in the "protests". The fact is that committee hearings such as these are not and can not be held in surroundings which would not

Sacrifice Required For Peace Corps

By DAVE WILSON, '64

Draft dodgers won't go for the Peace Corps! The Peace Corps offers only hard work, poor living conditions and many opportunities for frustration and fatigue; but at the same time it offers the chance to be of true service to people in undeveloped countries of the world who actually need it.

The Peace Corps was started in conjunction with a speech President Kennedy made in San Francisco; the youth response was so great that Kennedy realized our generation is ready, willing, and able to make personal sacrifices to help less fortunate persons.

Shriver

When the program outgrew itself and needed a leader expressly for it, Kennedy appointed his brother-in-law, Sargent Shriver. Shriver, who served five years as president of Chicago's Board of Education, reports that serving in the Peace Corps won't be an easy job. Persons in this plan will only be draft exempt if they find a worthwhile job when they have finished their tour of duty. The question has arisen, however, as to who is to judge what a worthwhile job is.

The requirements to be a member will be very strict. The applicant must have some specific skill that is needed by one of the underdeveloped countries. (The U. S. will not send any members to a country which did not ask to have workers sent there.) It is necessary for the worker to know a language such as French, Spanish, Hindi (India), or Swahili (Africa). After the applicant is accepted he is sent to school for one month to learn exactly what his job is to be and also to be educated in the customs of the people with whom he is going to live. When the training is completed, he is placed in the foreign community and set to work.

He will do such things as instruct English classes, teach agricultural methods, and advise as to sanitation; in short he will be pitching right in with the people, and helping them do their work, not ours.

The worker will have to cope with poor living conditions, a change in diet and environment, lack of simple luxuries, and even persons who resent the worker being there.

The worker's results will not be seen immediately; he won't do any earth-shattering deed, but eventually the little knowledge he gives the less fortunate people of the world will accelerate to a higher degree than the worker can imagine.

Reward Is Satisfaction

The reward for being in the Peace Corps is not money and prestige, but the satisfaction of helping persons who need and may appreciate that help.

The "veterans" of the Peace Corps may receive a small bonus payment based on months overseas. Upon returning home he will, if necessary, be helped to secure a job and be reoriented. Some of the workers may be asked to remain in the administrative end of the program, or the foreign service of the government.

Shriver feels that "all workers who put their complete selves in the project will return better individuals for their help and sacrifices."

be conducive to an orderly hearing. Much criticism is made of the fact that only persons with a white card could enter the hearing room. This practice is common for admission to our own Congressional sessions and is also quite necessary where the hearing room can accommodate only so many persons.

It is unfortunate to say the least, that several students were injured, but it is even more unfortunate that these same students were even participants in the activity which gave rise to those incidents. Certainly reform of this committee as well as all other such committees can be best effected by intelligent, democratic processes. If the committee is abusing its power, the reasonable and most effective approach is an appeal to your own representative in Congress. Pickets supported by Communist cries will hardly achieve the desired end.

I might say much more concerning certain comments printed in your articles and editorial comments, however, I hope my feelings on this matter are quite apparent by now.

I would, however, like to conclude with the observation that it is not possible that in your efforts to be "different" in the face of real or imagined criticism that college students lack imagination, you have chosen a path of conformity with the ideas espoused by certain other students in other colleges who also lack the essential facts, experience and thus I might add the ability to add anything constructive in a most complex situation.

In the future I would suggest you ought to present your readers with a more honest and factual "explanation and clarification" of events that are worthy of printing as news items.

Sports Night

Congratulations are in order for Beverly Barthold and Claude Lynch for their fine handling of the recent Sports Night activities in the gym. Many observers, including myself, believed it to be one of the best Sports Night programs in recent years, not only because it was conducted in such an efficient fashion, but also because of the spirit of the competition which saw the score tied at the end of the regulation competition in the men's events. As a result of this tie, a tug of war was held between the APOs and the Zetas. The rest is history as the APOs carried off the championship in a convincing style by winning two quick decisions over the Zetas in the play-off event.

However, I am not convinced that the tug of war was the fairest means of breaking the tie and awarding the championship. I say this because a tug of war event had been held previously in the evening during which the APOs made it quite evident that they had the strongest team in the competition while at the same time, the Zetas showed they had one of the weaker. Even though they had engaged different teams in the previous contest, it seemed that the outcome of the second contest was already known before it began. I believe the play-off was unfair to both teams but it would have been even more unfair if, by chance, the same two teams who engaged previously, were paired once again in a play-off.

I hope that in the future, a new means of breaking a tie will be initiated by using some event in which neither of the teams have showed their ability earlier in the evening. I believe it would prove to be a greater challenge to the teams and at the same time would prove to be of greater interest to the spectators present.

Baseball Team Wins Three - Drops Two

The Lion's baseball team, coached by John Potskian, was at the 2-2 level after winning its first three starts but losing a doubleheader to Moravian last Saturday. Tuesday's game with PMC was called because of rain with the score tied 1-1 following a home run by Norm Bautsch. The team was scheduled to meet Juniata College yesterday afternoon on Kelchner Field.

In the opener for the Lions, Bautsch doubled in the seventh to break a 1-1 tie and give the Red and White a 2-1 victory over Scranton University. Joe Wertz went the distance allowing six hits, one a fourth-inning homer for the Royals' only score. Albright's other run followed a single by Steve Simon scoring Harold Buck who had previously walked and moved to second on an infield out.

Katancik Pitches

Tom Katancik's five-hit pitching performance enabled the Lions to win their second game of the young season. This time the victim was Ursinus College and the final score was 3-1. Katancik struck out 12 and walked only three but lost his shutout in the ninth inning when the Bears picked up a run on an error by first-baseman Bautsch. Albright totaled seven hits off the Ursinus pitcher. Their first run was scored with one out in the fifth, when Jim Diehm singled to left, moved to second when Simon was hit by a pitch, and scored on Mike Matto's solid hit to right. A walk to Matto, a fielder's choice, a double error by the third baseman and Gary Chapman's infield hit made it

2-0 in the seventh. In the eighth, Bautsch doubled and took third base on an error by the second baseman. He scored Albright's final run of the day on a grounder by Hal Buck.

In their first away game of the season, the Lions took the road to Philadelphia and found it worthwhile as they were able to defeat the Hawks of St. Joseph's College by a score of 7-4. Infielder Claude Lynch was given the starting pitching assignment and stopped the Hawks with eight hits and four strikeouts. Big guns of the day were Chapman with three hits and Bautsch and Morano with two each.

Lose Doubleheader

Last Saturday, the Lions saw their three game win streak halted rather abruptly, when the Moravian College Greyhounds, defending champs of the Middle Atlantic Conference, posted their initial victories of the year by 8-7 and 2-0 scores at Moravian. Before the day's action, the Hounds had a 3-0 record and it looked like it might be 4-0 mid-way through the first game with Albright leading 6-1. However, Moravian went ahead 7-6 with the Lions tying it up 7-7 to force the game into extra innings, before the Hounds could pull it out. Katancik was the losing pitcher in the first game, allowing 13 hits, striking out five and walking four.

In the nightcap, the Lions were limited to two hits by Moravian pitcher Brian Hill. The Hounds on the other hand were given a total of six hits by Lion pitcher Wertz, with two of them coming in the first inning when the Hounds scored all their runs.

Shortstop Chapman was knocked unconscious after colliding with left fielder Morano in the first inning of the opener and did not see any further action in the day.

The Lions will be at home against Bucknell tomorrow with game time scheduled for 2:00 p.m.

Pearsall Voted B-Ball Captain For 1961-62

It has been announced that Tommy Pearsall, highscoring backcourt man for the Lion's basketball team will succeed Ken Van Dine as captain of the team. The sophomore from Hewlett, New York, was elected during recent balloting by all the members of this year's varsity team.

Pearsall scored 1,136 points during his first two years on the varsity, getting 560 as a freshman and 576 in this year's play. He has led Coach Will Renken's Lions in individual scoring as the Red and White won a total of 37 games against 17 defeats.

Honors

Among Pearsall's individual honors in two years were the following: Associated Press All-State College second team, 1961; Associated Press All-State College third team, 1960; United Press International Little All-American third team, 1961; Northern College Division, Middle Atlantic Conference All-Star first team in 1960 and 1961; Northern College Division outstanding player, 1961, and Springfield, Mass. College Hall of Fame Tournament All-Star first team in 1959 and 1960.

Golfers Drop Three Matches

The Albright varsity golfers, winless in their first three starts, hoped to end their streak when they were scheduled to meet the linksmen of Juniata College in an away match yesterday.

In their first outing of the season, the team under the mentorship of Coach Al Miller, lost to the team from Muhlenberg College by a score of 104-74. Bob Goodman fired a 75 in the match which saw the Muhls win their first golf contest in over two years.

In their second encounter, the team traveled to Philadelphia and was blasted by St. Joseph's College, 151-24. Their next outing proved just as disastrous as Moravian handed the squad its third straight defeat, 14-4 on the home course. Once again the only bright spot was Goodman who won his match, 3-0.

Besides Goodman, the other members of the team include John Bailey, Ed Smith, Jim Yecker, Paul Schwartzwald, and Dick Bucher.

The next home match will be against LaSalle on Monday afternoon at the Berkshire Country Club.

Trackmen Win Five Out Of Five Contests

For the first time in many years, Coach Gene Shirk's thinclads were able to boast a clean 5-0 record after their initial season's battles. Following their conquest of Ursinus College last Saturday afternoon on the home cinders, the Lions prepared to meet Swarthmore College this past Wednesday at Swarthmore.

The track and field men opened the season with a triumph over Delaware Valley and Lebanon Valley in a triangular meet held at Albright. The contest saw the Lions score 73 points, while Delaware Valley was next with 61 points and Lebanon Valley placed third with 28 points. Albright honors for the day went to Grant Krow who won the high jump with a 6-2 effort and captured the broad jump with a leap of 20 feet, 11 inches. Other Albright wins of the day were turned in by Bruce Birkholz in the 220, Bill Salaneck in the 440 and Bob Davis in the javelin. The Lion mile relay team composed of Salaneck, Birkholz, Krow and John Derr were also able to take a first place spot. Albrightians who took second place awards were Doug Deicke, the 100; Derr, the 220; John Grove, the two mile run; Walt Diehm, 120 high hurdles, 200 low hurdles, high jump, and broad jump; Gary Sheeler, shot put; and Fred March in the discus throw.

1961 Football Schedule Lists Eight Contests

The Lions 1961 football schedule was recently announced by the athletic department. Appearing on the schedule will be one new opponent in Youngstown University of Ohio. Because of Thiel and Scranton being dropped from this year's schedule, the men of Coach Potskian, who compiled a 9-0 record last fall, face the prospect of playing an eight game schedule. There is, however, still a possibility that another team may be added to the list of opponents.

The schedule as it now stands is as follows:
Sept. 30—Muhlenberg, Home, Night
Oct. 7—Drexel, Home, Night
Oct. 14—Gettysburg, Away
Oct. 21—Youngstown, Home, Night
Oct. 28—Moravian, Away
Nov. 4—Lebanon Valley, Away
Nov. 11—Juniata, Home (Homecoming)
Nov. 18—F & M, Home

At Haverford

In their second meet of the season, the Lions traveled to Haverford College for another triangular meet, this time with Haverford and Lycoming. Once again the Red and White came out on top scoring 77½ points compared to 70 for Haverford and 6½ for Lycoming. Walt Diehm took honors for the meet by winning the 120 yard high hurdles, the 220 yard low hurdles and the broad jump. Other Lion firsts were scored by Bruce Birkholz, 220; Grant Krow, high jump; Fred March, shot put; Will Kratz, discus; and Bob Davis, javelin. Overall, the Lions scored eight firsts, five seconds, seven thirds and seven fourths.

Ursinus

Last Saturday, the team had to wait until winning the final event of the day, the mile relay, before they were assured of their fifth victory. Two double winners in Bruce Birkholz in the 100 and 220, and Grant Krow in the high jump and broad jump proved to be the deciding factor in the contest which the Lions finally won by a 69 1/3 to 61 2/3 margin. Albright also receiving winning performances from Salaneck in the 440 and Diehm in the 220 low hurdles. Seconds were turned in by Deicke in the 100 and the broad jump; Derr, 220 and 440; John Hellman, mile run; Grove, two mile run; Diehm, 120 high hurdles; Birkholz and Irv Godbolte in the pole vault; Sheeler, shot put; and Kratz in the discus.

Tomorrow, the Berks County Scholastic Meet will be held in the Albright Stadium bringing many of the top athletes in the county into competition. The Lions next meet will be on Tuesday when they will play host to the Muhls of Muhlenberg College in a dual meet.
