Renner Wins Speech Contest

Eustace Renner, '59, won first prize with his speech, "Myself on Trial," in the Kelchner Oratorical Contest held Wednesday night in White Chapel Hall. A pre-ministerial student, he hails from Sierra Leone in Africa.

Jane Dewald, '56, speaking on "White Man On Trial in Africa," was the second place winner.

The third prize winner was Anne Young, '59, who spoke on "Life of a Deaf Person on Trial."

The other three participants included William Garrett, '59, Leon Rowe, '58, and Gerald Zaid, '56. They spoke on "The Bible on Trial," "Beliefs on Trial," and "American Honor on Trial in the Arab-Israel Question," respectively.

Three Prizes Given

The three prizes of $15, $10, and $5 respectively are the gift of Charles S. Kelchner, for many years professor of modern languages and head of the physical education department. The prize is awarded by a board of judges for the best oration delivered at a contest held for that purpose.

Sally Dettra, '59, served as mistress of ceremonies for the program.

Last year's winners were Robert Blatt, '57, Wilma Reiser, '58, and Carlton Dodge, '58. They spoke on the subject "What It Means to Be a Human Being."

The Athletic Council will sponsor the All-Sports Banquet this Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. in the College Dining Hall. Letters and awards will be presented at this time.

Domino Plans One-Act Plays

Domino Club will present three student-written, student-directed plays next Wednesday, at 8 p.m. in White Chapel Hall.

These one-act plays were written last year by freshmen and were chosen to be produced by the Domino Club this year.

Thalia Voigt will direct "An Apple for Satan," by Corrine Blanset. This is a play based on a farce about people who "jump on the band wagon" without thinking. The cast includes Robert Fox, '57, Carlton Dodge, '58, Jon Bradshaw, '59, and Robert Blatt, '58.

Mangin Directs

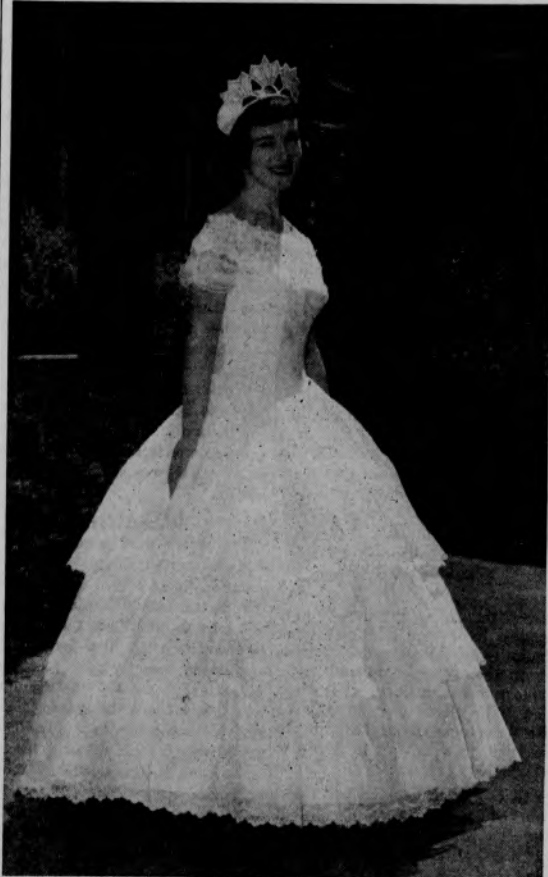

Wilma Reiser's play, "No Season With Reason," will be directed by L. Virginia Mangin, '57. This is a story about waitresses at a summer resort who try to liven up a boring day by eavesdropping. In the cast are Miss Reiser, Robert Wool, '59, Elizabeth Reynolds, '58, A. Virginia Reed, '59, Elizabeth Henry, '59, Margaret Raab, '59, Janet Weber, '59, and Vaughn Mervine, '59.

Gerald Scheffey, '57, will direct "Dead Man's Salute," by Jacqueline Moyer. This is a typical Western story with a hero, a villain, a lady fair, and lots of shooting. The cast has not been chosen yet.

Daymen's Group Elects New Officers

Arthur Saylor, '57, was recently elected to succeed John Catalano, '56, as president of the Daymen's Organization. Other officers include: Philip Eyrich, '58, vice-president; Edward Oberly, '57, secretary, and Ronald O'Reilly, '58, treasurer.

Barbara Ann Burbank Will Reign Over Parents' Weekend Activities

The crowning of Barbara Burbank, 1956 May Queen, will highlight the traditional May Day festivities this afternoon. Attending Miss Burbank as Maid of Honor will be Patricia Rentschler. Sylvia Greul and Alma Grove will direct the festival as Mistress of Ceremonies and Custodian of the Crown, respectively. Barbara Bubel, Jane DeWald, Sally Lanz, Helen Schoener, Andree Schmoeyer, and Sandra Smith have been chosen to reign in the Queen's Court.

Other senior women in the ceremony include Stephany Bartoletti, Joan Delp, Marian Evans, Joyce Gundy, Athalinda Hershner, Rachel Kaebnick, Sydne Matz, Jeanette Mayer, Charlotte McCane, Ruth Mengel, Naomi Robinson, Beverly Walsh, Ruth Schamburg, Louise Muellershoen, Virginia Mangin, and Winifred Neukils.

Two Pages

Nicole Donnay, '59, and Nancy Heron, '59, will be the pages for the ceremony. The trainbearers will be Kathleen and Karol Widdowson. Dennis and Judith Renken will serve as crownbearer and flower girl respectively.

Junior women who will dance in the maypole dance are Carolee Smith, Frances Stauffer, Mildred Tims, Marilyn Wertz, Mary Jo Wolf, Cynthia Winner, Lucy Schuman.

Also, Jeanne Palm, Kathleen Forry, Elizabeth Wellenmann, Barbara Ross, Thalia Voight, Hisako Umemura, and Mary Jo Wels-hampel.

Dance Group

A ballet group, composed of eleven sophomore and freshman women, will include Margaret Allen, Nilda Calder, Marilyn Dinsmore, Jean Dufford, Sheila Greene, Jeanne Handorf, Virginia Hutton, Deborah Klonsky, Elizabeth Smith, Jacqueline Walton, and Betty Williams.

Mrs. Eva Mosser is the faculty advisor in charge of the dances.

Other activities scheduled for parents and friends today will be numerous and varied. From 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon all the buildings on campus will be opened for visitors.

Y Induction May 11 In Egelman's Park

The combined Y's will hold their senior picnic at Egelman's Park next Friday, May 11. Transportation will be provided and cars will leave the Selwyn Hall parking lot at 7 p.m.

The evening's program will include a Weiner and marshmallow roast, chorus singing, and a joke telling fest led by Robert C. Fox, '57. Induction of new officers, which will be conducted by William E. Davies, '56, and Barbara J. Bubel, '56, outgoing Y presidents, will also be held.

Carlton S. Dodge, '58, is the program chairman and Frank J. Fisher, '58, is in charge of transportation.

Inductions Held In Krause Hall

Presidents of the various campus organizations and next year's Student Council members were inducted into office at the annual Induction Ceremony Tuesday in Krause Hall.

Paul Hetrich, '56, retiring president of Student Council, administered the oath in office to the president-elect, Clement Cassidy, '57.

William Davies, retiring senior president, presented the mantle to the senior vice-president-elect, Dale Yoder.

Pledges of service were given by Clair Matz, junior president-elect and Fred Dietzel, sophomore president-elect.

Mildred Tims, '57, was given the oath of office as president of Women's Student Senate for the next year by Sally Lanz, '56, former president.

Women's Officers

Jeanne Palm, '57, was sworn into office as president of Women's Dormitory Council by Patricia Rentschler, '56. Jane Shay, '57, was given the oath of office as president of the Daywomen's Organization by Helen Zielinski, '56.

Arthur Saylor, '57, was pledged to the office of president of the Daymen's Organization by John Catalano, '56.

Mary Jo Wolf, '57, and Ehrhardt Lang, '57, were sworn to the office

IFC Modifies Pledging Rules

Clayton Westover, Dean of Men, announced this week that all social activities of the Kappa Upsilon Phi fraternity have been curtailed, pending disposition of a case involving four fraternity pledges who were arrested last Friday morning for allegedly taking 462 golf balls from an Exeter Township driving range.

A hearing of the case before Justice of the Peace Richard Luck last Friday resulted in the release of the students on their own recognizance until authorities make a further investigation of the case. Another hearing is expected sometime next week.

Investigate Matter

Meanwhile, on the campus, the Inter-Fraternity Council, the Kappa's and Dean Westover investigated the matter.

Dean Westover informed The Albrightian that the aim of the probe was "to determine what modifications should be made to pledging activities to prevent a recurrence of such a matter."

After discussing the matter, the Inter-Fraternity Council announced a modification of fraternity pledge activities, effective immediately.

The IFC, by unanimous vote, restricted pledge activities, specifically outlawing the note hunt and scavenger hunt of former years. This action was the outgrowth of

Rules Needed

The recent controversial election for senior class president for the 1956-57 academic year has brought to the surface a glaring deficiency in the campus election rules. As it now stands, there are rules for electing student council president and YMCA and YWCA presidents, but no regulations whatsoever that concern class elections. Although the Elections Committee of Student Council has jurisdiction over class elections, no definite rules have been formulated by that group. Thus, when the question of how many votes a candidate for senior class president must poll to win arose, confusion resulted and a large-scale controversy ensued.

It is not the fault of any person or group concerned with the election that it became a farce. Rather, the fault lies with the absence of set regulations for class elections. One of the first items of concern for the new Student Council should be an election code that would govern all class elections. Included in such a code should be rules governing nominations, balloting, campaigning, and, of course, the necessary winning margin of a candidate for office. Such a set of regulations should be broad enough to be applicable to all classes. In this way, controversies that did arise from class elections could be settled uniformly and not arbitrarily by a person or a small group of persons.

The Elections Committee of Student Council should be empowered to direct and regulate, within the code, all class balloting. This group should include students able and willing to maintain order and honesty in the elections over which they have jurisdiction. Its power should be such to enable them to punish any student that violates the election code.

Carrying the proposition of an election code a step further, it would be a good idea to have rules not only governing class elections, but class activities as well. A standard class constitution or set of by-laws would fulfill the need in this respect. The election code could be included in such a constitution or by-laws. In addition, it could contain rules about procedure in class meetings, quorums necessary for class action, and any other items it is felt need regulating. It appears that such a body of rules would greatly aid in making the functions of a class much more efficient and just than is now possible. As was suggested with the election code, the rules should be applicable to all classes both now and in the future.

Another thing that emerged from the recent election controversy was evidence that unfair practices have been taking place in balloting. The present method of balloting in class meetings breeds these unfair practices; it is very easy, under the set-up now used, to discard unfavorable ballots or vote more than once. It is clear that this situation must be remedied. The elections committee of Student Council will have to devise new methods of balloting to insure an honest vote. In line with this, it will have to be more stringent in its overall supervision of elections.

The Albrightian has confidence that Student Council will make an effort to remedy the situation outlined above. It is hoped that the members of the Election Committee will evaluate the above remarks as constructive suggestions for bettering student organizations on campus.

Welcome Parents

As all of you know, this is Albright's Centennial Year. In connection with this, we have played host to many organizations and outside groups. The people we are proudest to play host to, however, are you, our parents.

This visit will bring back many memories to those of you who were students at Albright in the past. To the rest of you, this visit will acquaint you with the many things we talk about in our few letters—the SUB, the Infirmary, and Maple Lane. It will also acquaint you with our friends, our professors, and the administration—the ones to whom you make out the checks and from whom you receive little white cards each semester.

The Parents' Weekend Committee, headed by Joel May, has worked hard to make your visit an enjoyable one. Today a spring musicale, a banquet, a track meet, and the crowning of the May Queen will take place. A worship service, a dinner, and a reception for seniors and their parents are planned for tomorrow. We hope that you will enter into these activities and have a very pleasant weekend!

too soon

By Billie Williams

All colors, rich and dull, were sprinting helter-skelter in the bright Spring sun. Well, perhaps the sun wasn't as bright as it would be in a few weeks; but, compared to the light it had been giving during the winter months, this was surely a bright sun. Although there was a twinge of coolness in the air, it was still officially the first day of Spring and no one with any pride could ever wear a coat on this symbolic occasion. Work was forgotten today and all care was laid aside for tomorrow, when this holiday would be only a memory.

The very young and the very old were alike in their reaction to all this activity—they just sat and watched. The young ones looked eagerly at these antics which they had never seen before. How strange that others should be suddenly joyful when they had just undergone an unhappy winter? Why only recently many of them had complained of the harshness of life and they had said there was no more fun in living. Yet here they were having a wonderful time just being alive. What was so special about today?

Wise Elders

The elders were wise for they had once participated in many days such as these. They understood the reason behind the celebration and tried to indicate to their young companions what the joyous exclamations meant. Next year the youngsters would feel the exultation that induced the others to cavort in such a fanatical way. The elders were content with the job of just sitting on the sidelines. They no longer had the burning urge to express openly how glad they were that Spring had finally come and their home would renew itself, as it did every year at this time. Now was the season for all the animals of the forest to play and love and forget about how to live, but just live. It made one want to be young again for a little while, anyway. Life now seemed worth all the trouble that came with the snow for they had always found something to eat in many obscure places and then, when the forest grew warmer, their hunger became less.

There were many days of happiness ahead in which new mates would be found, new animals would be born and be discovered. "What an exciting time for all of them," thought the elders, "but it's hard to discipline them when they get this fever in their blood."

Silence Reigns

The festive day continued while the sun traveled too quickly westward. Soon everyone gathered into small groups and drifted away. The grove regained the silence that had been its companion throughout the winter. Only one animal stayed behind to enjoy this comfortable solitude. She was standing quietly on a fallen tree that had been the victim of a past ice storm. She was warm inside from the happiness she had shared with her fellows and yet she felt a flaw of foreboding within herself. Perhaps it was too soon to be celebrating this warmer air and greener earth. She knew that sometimes it was possible to have a thing and all of a sudden it was gone. It seemed worse to have it taken away, than not to have had it at all. She could remember once when she found a nest of bees and every day looked forward to licking the honey from the wax. But one

Albright Personality

Barb Burbank

By Jay Price

For this special Parents' Weekend and May Day issue of The Albrightian, it seems only fitting and proper that we should spotlight the "star of the show" — our pretty, pert, and popular Queen of the May, Barbara Burbank.

Aside from all the excitement of being elected May Queen, Barbara's senior year has been quite busy. She is secretary of the Phi Beta Mu sorority, a member of HEO Club, a member of the hockey team and Domino Club. She played on the girls' basketball team for two years. More exciting than all this, Barbara has taken an interest in one of the boys' varsity basketball stars.

Barbara has very definitely taken up home economics, and has specialized in foods and clothing here day she went to the secret place and the hive was gone. She had never forgotten the terrible feeling she got from being deprived of the privilege. Now, as she breathed deeply the clear air, she experienced the same feeling. It was strange how she could know something was wrong and yet not understand what it was. Well, this was no time to worry about such things. It had been a long and exciting day. She must sleep to have strength for tomorrow's work. She plodded away from the silent grove, the leaves rustling behind her, and soon there was no evidence that she and her friends had ever been celebrating in the open place. Her path was illuminated by dim moonlight coming from the darkening crescent in the sky. As if by magic, when she reached her destination, the moon disappeared behind an opaque cloud of snow which was mutely covering the forest. Perhaps it was too soon to be celebrating . . .

at Albright. This semester she has been doing field work and home-ec demonstrations for the United Gas Improvement Company of Reading, and will begin her job as home economist for the New Jersey Public Service Utility Company in July. During several vacations, Barbara has worked in a florist shop in her hometown, Westfield, New Jersey.

On the lighter side, Barbara enjoys anything connected with the shore. She loves water-skiing, fishing, and clambakes (and dates!). She also enjoys traveling, and holds as one of her highest goals a trip to Europe—some day.

Barbara's favorite meal, she says, is "veal cutlets with pumpkin pie for dessert." Our favorite gal, undoubtedly, is the one we've elected to wear the crown today—Barbara Burbank.

Lion Thinclads Host To Bucknell, Ursinus Today

Diamondmen Win Two, Lose One; Reber, Conrad Pace Lion Hitters

Red And White Seek Initial Triangular Win Of Season

Bucknell and Ursinus will invade Albright Stadium this afternoon to engage the Lion thinclads in a triangular track and field meet. It will be the second three-team contest for the Shirkmen, who placed second to strong St. Joseph's in their initial triangular duel.

IN THE LION'S DEN

By Phil Eyrich, Sports Editor

Are Albright athletes on the rebound in 1956? The answer could well be yes. All four of the teams that are wearing the Red and White this spring appear to be in line to compile winning records. During the 1954-55 school year, only two of Albright's seven varsity teams could maintain positive records, so if all four spring sports teams have winning seasons in 1956, it will be a marked improvement and cause for elation by Albright fans.

The baseball team started the season in fine style and has improved continuously since that initial contest with Temple, which ended in a 0-0 stalemate. Last Saturday's game with Susquehanna was probably the Lions best of the campaign for the Red and White. Afield, the Lions played errorless ball, and a late-inning double play by Bob Kovack, Roy Dragon, and Bernie Seaman was as fine a twin-killing as a diamond fan could hope to see. All of the starters are good glove men, and Captain George Conrad has fired the team from his position behind the plate.

The Lions have also exhibited a taste for timely hitting and good pitching. Pressure was put on the Potsklammen by the Susquehanna aggregation last week, but the Red and White exhibited clutch batting to overcome a 2-0 deficit and dump the visitors 4-2.

Coach John Potsklan has directed a daring style of play, evidenced last week when nearly every Albright base runner attempted at least one stolen base.

Encore . . .
A few weeks ago, this column was devoted to an article on amateurism versus professionalism. Last week, in a story published in Life magazine, many of the points made in this column were found to be essentially the same as the views of experts in the field of athletics. From their opinions, it would be safe to conclude that those officials who maintain that there is no need for a revision of the amateur rules along uniform lines for all sports, are being extremely naive and probably hurting amateur athletics as much as those who try to pad the expense accounts of so-called amateur athletes.

Next weekend Albright will be host to the Middle Atlantic States Track and Field Championships in Albright Stadium. The competition will take place Friday and Saturday afternoons, May 11 and 12, and will afford athletic fans a chance to see top-flight performances by this region's stellar thinclads.

For those diamond fans here at Albright who like professional baseball as well as collegiate, the Reading Indians have opened the 1956 season recently. The games are played at Reading's Municipal Stadium. Backed by the Cleveland Indians, Reading participates in the Class A Eastern League and has been instrumental in sending such players as Herb Score, Rudy Regalado, Rocky Colavito, Brooks Lawrence, and Roberto Vargas to the majors.

Netmen Post 6-3 Victory Over Hawks

Continuing its torrid mid-season pace, the tennis team drubbed St. Joseph's 6-3 in the Lions' only contest during last week. The victory, gained on the Hawks' courts in Philadelphia, brought the netmen above the 500 mark for the first time this season, with a 5-4 log.

The Renkenmen have now won four consecutive matches, and five out of their last six, after a dismal early season slump.

Captain John Schiavo continued his winning ways in the St. Joseph's match by defeating Bob Jablonski 6-0 and 6-4. Carl Witonsky, Jack Rosen, and Charlie Sample also won singles tests with their Hawk opponents. The Red and White won two of three doubles matches as the teams of Schiavo and Witonsky, and Sample and Lee Hagenbothom posted victories.

Albright will compete in the Middle Atlantic States Conference Tennis Championships this weekend at Swarthmore College. Elizabethtown and Scranton will invade the local courts next Monday and Wednesday, respectively, as the Lions begin the last section of their 17-match slate.

VS. ST. JOSEPH'S

Singles—John Schiavo, A, defeated Robert Jablonski, 6-0, 6-4; Carl Witonsky, A, defeated Robert Wankmuller, 6-4, 6-4; Jack Rosen, A, defeated Joe Bartlett, 6-4, 7-5; James O'Brien, LA, defeated Jack Rosenbach, 6-3, 6-3; Charles Sample, A, defeated Bill Leonard, 5-3, 2-6, 5-0; Joe Girard, LA, defeated Lee Hagenbothom, 6-4, 6-4.

Doubles—Schiavo and Witonsky, A, defeated Wankmuller and O'Brien, 6-2, 7-5; Jablonski and Leonard, LA, defeated Rosen and Rosenbach, 6-4, 6-5; Sample and Hagenbothom, A, defeated Bartlett and Girard, 6-3, 2-6, 6-4.

Golfers Beat LaSalle For Second Triumph

Rebounding from a skeln of three straight losses and a tie, the Lion golfers tripped LaSalle 5 to 4 last week. The match, played on the Philmont Country Club course in Philadelphia, was Albright's second win of the season. The golfers' overall record is now two wins, three losses, and a tie.

Bernie Krick, Mike DePaul, Bill Breneman, and Bob Carlson won for the charges of Coach Paul Maten, while Willie Smith and Ernie Brodbeck also competed for the Lions.

Mules Rescheduled

The golf match with Muhlenberg, originally slated for last Monday, was rescheduled for May 21 as a home contest. The Red and White will compete in the MASC championships this weekend at Juniata.

Bucknell and Moravian will provide the opposition for the golfers next week in matches on Monday and Friday, respectively.

VS. LaSALLE

Ed Dugan, LA, defeated Willie Smith, 1 up, 19 holes. Bernie Krick, A, defeated Bill Stevens, 5 and 3. Albright won best-ball.

Mike DePaul, A, defeated Jack McDonnell, 1 up. Bill Breneman, A, defeated Joe Sheely, 2 up. LaSalle won best-ball. Joe Yabnow, LA, defeated Ernie Brodbeck, 2 and 1. Bob Carlson, A, defeated Dave Bensiman, 3 and 2. LaSalle won best-ball.

Pollock Wins First; Engle Pitches Lions To Win Over LVC

The Albright baseball team chalked up two wins and one loss in recent competition as they defeated Susquehanna and Lebanon Valley by identical 4-2 scores, after losing a 4-0 contest to Lafayette. Thus far, the Lions have compiled a six-win, three-loss, one-tie record for the 1956 season.

In a game at Lafayette, Fred Dietzel (1-2) pitched shutout ball for five innings, allowed three tallies in the sixth and one in the seventh to give the host Leopards a 4-0 victory. The Red and White were limited to four hits, two of them by Terry Reber. It was only the second time in eight games the Lions had been shut out.

Susquehanna took a 2-0 lead over the Potsklammen with a pair of mid-

Tom Pollock (1-0) went the distance on the mound for the Lions, while George Conrad and Dale Yoder provided the offensive power, tying run with a single.

Lions Triumph

The Lions took an early lead over Lebanon Valley in an away game on Monday and held on to give starting pitcher LaVerne Engle (4-0) a 4-2 win. Reber, Conrad, Dietzel and Bernie Seaman collected nine of Albright's 12 hits as the opposition was held to four safeties.

PLAYER OF THE MONTH

LaVerne Engle, freshman pitching star from Christianna, Pa., has been chosen as The Albrightian's Player-of-the-Month for April, 1956. In that month, he was credited with four pitching victories against one loss, and was definitely a key factor in producing the baseball team's fine record for this year.

Engle accounted for two of his wins as a starting thrower and two as a relief artist. He was credited with a 2-0 win over Wilkes in a relief role for his first victory of the campaign. His second victory was registered at the expense of Juniata, as he appeared again as a relief hurler. In that game, his teammates out-scored Juniata 7-6.

Four Hitter

He received his first starting assignment against Franklin and Marshall and responded to hold the Diplomats to four hits. The Potsklammen won that game 3-1 as Engle was near-perfect. He was the first Albright pitcher to go the distance and win.

Against Lebanon Valley, Engle duplicated his F & M performance in giving up just four hits to the Flying Dutchmen. Albright defeated LVC 4-2 in Monday's contest to give Engle his fourth win.

A product of Conestoga High School, Engle is one of several underclassmen on the baseball squad this year who give hope to the Albright diamond sport will continue to improve.

The Red and White have won three of four dual meets this season and now await the triangular meet today and another on Tuesday with Gettysburg and Haverford. The latter will also take place in Albright Stadium.

Expected to return to action this weekend is Ken Greenawald, Albright's ace sprinter, who was injured in the Swarthmore meet. With his return, the Lions' chances of winning today and on Tuesday are considerably enhanced.

Don Gottshall, Bill Shirk, Bob Wetzel and Tom Faust will spearhead the track segment of the team in today's meet, and Jon Bradshaw, John Setticeerze, Jack Huntzinger and Jack Cunningham will lead the Shirkmen in the field events.

Record Set

Albright's mile relay team of Faust, Paul Gehris, George Mack, and Gottshall set a new school record in that event last Friday at the Penn Relays. The Lions logged a time of 3:32.2 as they placed fourth in a class mile relay test.

Michigan State, Alfred, and City College of New York finished ahead of the Albright aggregation in that order. The Spartans winning time was 3:30.2.

The Lions' Bill Shirk, reigning MASC two-mile champion, placed 16th in the two-mile run at the relays with a time of 10.4. Jim Beatty of North Carolina was the winner of that race.

On the second day of the competition, the Red and White ran in the Middle Atlantic States Conference Mile Relay Championship race and finished seventh. Gehris, Gottshall, Mack, and Shirk composed Albright's relay team in that event, which was won by St. Joseph's.

Defeat LVC

Previous to the Penn Relays, the Shirkmen had defeated Lebanon Valley 87 1/3-38 2/3 for their third dual win of the year against one loss. It was the Lions first home meet of the year, and they celebrated by copping 11 first places and tying for first in still another event.

Faust, Shirk, and Wetzel scored double wins for the thin-clads, and Bradshaw continued to be undefeated in the pole vault event with a winning performance of 9' 6".

Albright began the meet by taking all three places in the mile run and from there on, the Shirkmen were never headed.

an independent study undertaken by the student group.

The Council, representing the four fraternities on the campus, stated that it will at a later date select more appropriate activities to replace those currently abandoned.

The incident occurred last Friday during the fraternity's initiation program. The four students, Martin Dahl, '59, Jerry Dielet, '59, Steven Nicolo, '59, and Michael Weiner, '59, were instructed to take a golf ball each from the driving range, have it autographed by a faculty member and then return it to the fraternity.

462 Taken

Instead, the students allegedly took 462 golf balls from Venzke's Driving Range. Unidentified neighbors saw the students and reported the matter to police. Shortly thereafter, the youths were arrested at 13th and Spring Streets.

Nicolo, one of the students involved, told The Albrightian in an interview that the incident was not done with any malicious intent and that the students planned to return the golf balls voluntarily.

Peter McCuen, '56, president of the fraternity, expressed the Kappa's regret over the unfortunate situation and said that the fraternity plans to eliminate such scavenger hunts in future initiations.
