Dr. Chas. E. Roth to be Baccalaureate Speaker

What They Say

By Fred Schwartzstein, '37

Question—

What is your reaction to exemptions from examination for seniors with a merit grade?

Answers—

Frank Holtzman, senior—"I think it should be left to the professors' discretion."

Katherine Knerr, senior—"I think it's a grand idea."

Professor Paul Speicher—"I think that the system used in the physics department whereby final examinations are optional with the student is the best system yet devised. As for senior exemptions in all courses, I am in favor of it as long as the student must have a merit grade in order to be exempt."

James Garnet, senior—"As a pre-medical student I am against it because it would probably mean a let-up in the studies that will be of value in medical school."

Ethel Schaeffer, senior—"I am heartily in favor of it as it would lessen the burden of the student which every senior must undergo."

Ralph Levan, senior—"I feel that final exams for seniors are unnecessary because by that time the professors should have a definite idea of the student's ability and knowledge. At the same time I feel that a final exam should be optional in case the student would wish to justify or raise a former rating."

Sally Yoder, senior—"I think that final exams for seniors should be discarded because they are really a relic from high school days and are really a hindrance rather than a help to the graduating student."

Paul Otter, senior—"I think it is a good idea because under the stress and strain of preparing for commencement the student is unable to do justice to his final exams which are therefore not truly indicative of his real ability."

David Hintz, senior—"I feel that we should endeavor to get everything possible out of our college life and inasmuch as final examinations are an integral part of our collegiate career they should not be abandoned on the mere pretext of additional activities."

Lou Drucker, senior—"I feel that the prospective graduate may indulge in a riotous living on the eve of commencement thus placing him in a position where the final exams do not mirror his basic ability."

John Kline, senior—"It has been in my experience in a thorough study of statistics that it is very difficult for a competent individual to balance the budget at the end of any stated period of time."

Professor Marcus H. Green—"I think that it should be left to the prerogative of each individual professor."

COACH MUNN'S WISHES TO DIETZ

When the appointment of William (Lone Star) Dietz was definitely known, Coach Clarence L. Munn, who will be line coach under Ossie Solem at Syracuse University this fall, expressed himself as follows:

"I wish success to the new Albright coach, Bill Dietz. I assure him that his associations at Albright will be enjoyable."

"There are a grand bunch of people here at Albright College, and I know that Bill Dietz will particularly like working with such a wonderful group of boys."

"Two hundred and fifty miles may be a great distance. However, news travels fast, and I'll be watching the scores. Good Luck."

NEXT WEEK

No "Albrightian" will be published next week. All staff members are urged to be present at a meeting on Monday, March 8. Watch the Bulletin Boards for time and place. —The Editor.

Debaters Vie With Strong Opponents

Western Maryland and Susquehanna to be Here Today and Tomorrow; Road Plans Announced

Winning their second contest of the season, the Red and White debaters will face affirmative teams from Western Maryland and Susquehanna here on Thursday and Friday of this week, respectively.

Both contests will be debated according to the Oregon plan; a ten minute constructive presentation for both sides; a ten minute cross examination period; and five minute rebuttals. This style of debate found its favor with the audiences last season, both at home and on the trip throughout western Pennsylvania.

Paul Golis, '40, and Ralph Levan, '37, will be the participants for Albright College on both of these evenings. Critic judges will render their verdicts following each encounter.

Last Thursday evening a most interesting debate between the co-eds of Albright and Bucknell was held in the college chapel preceding the Fireside Hour at which Allan Easton and Donald Mackay addressed a large gathering. The following day Guy Brown and Walter Spencer upheld the affirmative side of "Resolved: that Congress should be empowered to regulate maximum hours and minimum wages for industry" at Bethlehem against the negative team of Moravian College. The critic judge voted in favor of the affirmative team.

On Monday afternoon the initial debating trip into the southern states will begin when Dr. John B. Douds, coach of debating; Charles Moravec, manager; Ralph Levan and Paul Golis leave for Washington College, Chestertown, Maryland. The next day a debate will be held at Western Maryland; on Wednesday the team will be at Hampden-Sydney College, Virginia; while the final debate of the trip will be held at Randolph-Macon in Ashland, Virginia. The following day the team will be at Hampden-Sydney College, Virginia; while the final debate of the trip will be held at Randolph-Macon in Ashland, Virginia.

While these men are on the road, two debates will be held at home. On Tuesday, March 2, Walter Spencer and Guy Brown will meet the negative team of Swarthmore College here and on Thursday, March 4 a debate will be held at the Mohnton High School between the Albright affirmative and the Penn State negative.

Men's Glee Club Presents First Concert

Samuel Moyer Acclaimed as Bass Soloist as Gleemen Sing at Wernersville

Although a very light schedule has been arranged by Harold Beaumont, the Men's Glee Club under the direction of Professor Willy Richter were enthusiastically received in their debut concert presented last Saturday evening at the Town Hall, Wernersville. The program opened with "Pillars of the Earth" by Tours, followed by "Das ist der Tag" by Kreutzer, one of the favorites among audiences last season. Next on the program was a selection solo by Samuel Moyer, '37, who was acclaimed in his initial appearance with the collegians.

Third on the program were three sacred numbers arranged by the director: "Praise to the Lord," "Now Rest Beneath Night's Shadow" and "Faith of Our Fathers."

Perhaps the highlight of the evening was the rendition of Willy Richter's own composition, "Creation." This was one of the finest numbers of past years and from all reports the present Glee Club sang it with more vigor and dignity than their predecessors.

Another selected number by Samuel Moyer was followed by "Auld Lang Syne" by Vogrich; "In the Gloaming" by Vogrich; "John Peel" by Andrews; and "Stout Hearted Men" by Romberg. Albert Kuder, '37, entertained with magic between the two parts of the program.

Services to Be Held at St. Andrew's Reformed Church On Sunday, June 6th

The man who welcomed the class of 1937 to Albright College when they were freshmen has been selected unanimously by the present senior class and President J. Warren Klein to be the Baccalaureate speaker on Sunday, June 6.

Early this week Dr. Charles E. Roth, pastor of St. Andrew's Reformed Church of Reading, accepted the invitation issued by President Klein upon the recommendation of William J. Becker, Jr., president of the Senior Class and Charles J. Moravec, chairman of the senior class committee.

There is no doubt in the minds of the seniors that Dr. Roth will present a thrilling challenge. He has spoken on the campus on various occasions, and has always taken an active and keen interest in the welfare of our college.

On May 31, 1934, Dr. Roth was lauded by the "Reading Eagle" as a humanitarian and philosopher. "He is constantly seeking to bind mankind into closer friendship," the article stated, "and Dr. Roth not only preaches in his church, but addresses hundreds of audiences in every walk of life." Thousands of men who are members of the Reciprocity Club of America held him in such high esteem that they elected him national president in 1928. Two years later he was made an executive vice president of the Association of Civic Clubs. Prior to that he was secretary of the association and met Herbert Hoover when he was president of the United States.

WE THANK YOU FOR YOUR SERVICES

THE ALBRIGHTIAN wishes to express its commendations to all members of the student body, the faculty, and all campus organizations that contributed so willingly and so heartily to the Red Cross Drive conducted by the Welfare Committee of Pi Alpha Tau that the funds for the stricken flood areas amounted to $71,75 in addition to clothing and furniture.

We commend Miss Dorothy Butler for her ability to quickly and quietly raise this amount with the cooperation of Misses Helen Teal and Marian Heck.

While we are extending the hand of congratulations to those who contributed to this fund, we cannot neglect to pause to appreciate the efforts of the group of co-eds who started the drive. A great deal could be said about the spirit and enthusiasm of these girls, who of their own initiative solicited funds and materials to help swell the quota of the chapter of Red Cross in Reading.

As the committee expresses its thanks to all those who cooperated in this worthwhile movement, we

"Hippolytus" of Euripides to be Greek Drama

May be Presented in Stadium Instead of on Portico; May 13 is Probable Date

Realizing the difficulty in presenting a drama that would have a capable cast, the Greek Festival Committee, headed by Robert L. Work, director of the Domino Dramatic Club, has selected "The Hippolytus" of Euripides as the tragedy to be presented as a feature of the fourth annual Greek Festival.

Due to weather conditions in past years, a definite date has not been selected although Thursday, May 13 seems to be the probable one.

There is also a possibility that the festival will be held in the college stadium instead of on the portico of the Merner-Pfeiffer Hall of Sciences.

Rehearsals will begin immediately and intensive rehearsals will be scheduled after the spring recess.

According to A. E. Haigh in his "The Tragic Drama of the Greeks," the tragedy to be presented in May is one of those plays which marked a new era in the history of the theatre, and in which the language of sexual passion, hitherto unknown to the Attic stage, was for the first time allowed free utterance.

"The skillful management of the plot, the inexpressible beauty of the scenes in which Phaedra's passion is delineated, and the grandeur and pathos of the final reconciliation between father and son," writes Haigh, "place it in the highest rank of poetical compositions. The moral is emphasized more clearly than in any of the other plays of the dialogue, in which the old attendant vainly beseeches Hippolytus to pay due honor to a goddess that is celebrated among mortals, and warns him of the danger of spiritual pride."

Plans for the other features of the program have not been disclosed. There is some feeling among the students and faculty members that the May Queen should not be crowned at this time as the coronation does not appropriately fit into the program and detracts from the traditional May Day celebration. On this campus several years ago and still a part of the traditions of other nearby and more distant colleges. The program included an annual track meet, chapel exercises, and an afternoon tea.

Trends of British Thought Discussed by Scottish Boys

Attack British Educational Plan as Too Conservative; Praise American Youth

"British youth is so completely bewildered by political and social reorganization in Europe that they are unable to consider the spiritual background," stated Donald Mackay of the University of Glasgow, Scotland, last Thursday morning in addressing the student body in chapel.

Hitting upon the traditional and conservative views of the British people the speaker who addressed three groups last week stated that the students in Scotland England feel the futility of things whereas the American youth is a bright future of hope, peace, and prosperity.

Speaking on "Trends of Thought and Life of British Universities," he praised the American plan of education because it is practical. With his classmate, Allan Easton, he assailed the British educational setup as too theoretical and traditionally conservative. Before presenting present day views of British college students, the speakers pointed out that there is almost no self-help work program carried on in the British Isles as compared to the complexity of the work on the American college campus.

"In an English university we study textbooks," said Mackay. "In America you study the theory and then experiment with it in practice. The British hate to think of things changing, but things do change just as surely as the British Isles are beginning to realize a result of the present political and social upheaval on the continent and the things must change in Europe."

The Scottish students were brought to the campus by the two "m" organizations through the courtesy of the Student Christian movement.

All Students to Vote for May Queen

Student Council Adopts Suggestion of "Albrightian" Editorial to Wipe Out Politics and Discard

Discussing the suggestion pertaining to the selection of the May Queen contained in the editorial of "The Albrightian" in the February 11 issue, the Student Council at its regular meeting voted that all students would vote on this important issue in the very near future.

For the first time in the history of Albright College all students, men and women will be entitled to one vote upon this all-important matter of campus-wide attention. Ever since Albright College of Haverstown merged with Schuylkill College of Reading, the matter of selecting a May Queen lay in the hands of the co-eds of the campus. Upon many occasions the selection did not meet with the approval of the entire student body and various attacks upon sorority politics were made.

This year, through the cooperation of the Student Council of which Eugene Barth is president, all students will have an opportunity to voice their opinions.

In announcing the final decision of the Student Council, Jeannette Sherry, secretary of the Student Council, stated that all the senior girls will be eligible candidates for the honor. The reason for this action was the fact that the number of senior girls is very small and perhaps if candidates were nominated some dissension would again occur.

Within the next few weeks a definite date will be set for the election. All students will be requested to sign their ballots in order to avoid any complications which may arise if some other system were used.

Letters From Many Coaches Extol Dietz

Leading Mentors Commend Lion Leader as Fine Coach and Gentleman

As soon as the definite announcement concerning the appointment of William H. Dietz as coach of the football team at Albright College was announced on Monday afternoon, a careful survey was made of the many letters of recollection to sign their names to important coaches from all parts of the country. A few paragraphs are reprinted:

"Mr. Dietz has had a very wide experience as a football coach. From the standpoint of knowledge of football strategy and ability to teach it, I consider Bill Dietz one of the best coaches in the country. In all of his coaching positions, Mr. Dietz has done his football work in an extremely satisfactory manner. I would consider it a privilege to have on my coaching staff a man with the general knowledge of football that Bill Dietz possesses."

"In addition to his ability as a football coach, Mr. Dietz is qualified to coach other sports in addition to football. He has also had experience in conducting classes in Physical Education."

"Mr. Dietz would be much interested in enlisting the interest and loyalty of Albright alumni and members of the community of Reading in the college. I am convinced that along this line Mr. Dietz would do a fine job."

"Mr. Dietz has a fine sense of civic responsibility and he would be active in the civic activities of the community."

"Bill Dietz has the happy faculty of getting the best out of a football squad. His method is to inspire players rather than to drive them into it through his fine relationship with his players his men have arisen to the emergency in important games and have turned in splendid performances."

"Mr. Dietz is a man of good character. He does not use profane or abusive language to his players on or off the field. Mr. Dietz's personal habits are clean and wholesome. I can assure you if he is selected as your coach it will be satisfactory in every respect."

GIRLS' TENNIS

All girls interested in tennis are requested to meet in Room 103, on Friday, February 26, at 1:15 to discuss plans with Coach Kresler. If your interest is shown a team will be organized. IT'S UP TO YOU!

NO YEARBOOK WILL BE PUBLISHED BY JUNIORS

Due to the heavy debts of past senior classes in the publication of "The Cue", the class of 1938 has abandoned plans for a yearbook this year. Instead of an annual publication, a book will be issued every two years.

The present Junior and Sophomore classes will be responsible for the publication under the new plan advocated by President J. Warren Klein and Professor Lewis E. Smith. The editor-in-chief will be elected at a combined meeting of both classes.

Contracts for engraving and printing have been made by Walter Spencer of the Junior class, but due to the very late start and the lack of cooperation of the junior class, the faculty adviser and Dr. Klein were called in for consultation. The final decision was reached after a careful study of past publications and the current problems was made.

the members of THE ALBRIGHTIAN staff, in turn, congratulate the workers and committee for all their efforts and their success.

OUR NEW COACH

During the past two weeks we have been listening to rumors concerning the coaching situation. Many of these rumors had some foundation, but the majority of them came from a bottomless hole.

On Saturday morning the Reading newspapers heralded the possible appointment of William H. Dietz, nationally known leader of athletes, as Clarence L. Munn's successor. Those announcements put an end to all rumors. On Monday the definite appointment was announced.

There is no denying that the Athletic Council has done a remarkable job in carefully studying the qualifications of all the applicants and finally picking the Lone Star as director of athletics at Albright College. Not only did the committee review all the recommendations and qualifications of Coach Dietz; but they invited into the important sessions Dick Riffle and Leo Disend to represent the football squad, and the two sports writers of both Reading newspapers to present the opinions of the public. The final decision was unanimous.

Coach Dietz, without a doubt, has an unusually fine record as an athlete and as a coach. He comes to Albright College with many high recommendations from leading coaches of larger colleges and universities throughout the country. His past record of successful coaching cannot be questioned.

Above all, Coach Dietz feels that there is something fine about Albright College and that there is a future for our Alma Mater. He is coming to our college willing to give his all for the students and the institution. Undoubtedly, he will be a big asset to us in building up a good will throughout this section of the country. He has done a marvelous piece of work at Temple University and has expressed his earnest desire to help Albright go forward in athletics, in academics, and in the type of men and women that comprise the student body.

In addition to all the above named characteristics of our new football mentor, we feel that the many contacts Coach Dietz has throughout the country will be a distinct benefit to Albright College. Not only has our new director of athletics been a prominent figure in the sports world, but he has achieved notable success on the speaking platform, in the art studio, and in the classroom. All of these attributes will bring to our campus a personality that is confident that if everyone does his share a much brighter picture will be painted in the future.

Coach Dietz, who is coming to Albright from Temple University, will be facing a tough situation this fall. Coach Munn's record has been unsurpassed in the history of athletics at Albright College. Coach Dietz is hoping that a combination of the Minnesota and Warner systems will be the ideal combination for more victorious teams for the Red and White. The new mentor will have an abundance of material available, but the toughest schedule is also ahead of him and his boys. We feel sure that if all the members on the squad cooperate with him as they have with Coach Munn there is no reason for failure. We realize that our football players want to play the game of football fairly and squarely—they can be counted on to give their best in victory or defeat.

Elsewhere in this issue of your paper you will read of the many fine qualities possessed by Coach Dietz. These are only a few of the noteworthy comments which poured into the hands of the committee during the period when Albright College was

Leader

GUY BROWN

Guy is one of those energetic, but quiet students who accomplishes much but says little. His membership in various campus organizations such as the Pi Tau Beta Fraternity, Pi Gamma Mu, Skull and Bones, International Relations Club, Philosophy Club, Oxford Fellowship, Lutheran Club and "The Albrightian" staff bear out this statement. His wit and humor will be missed as he ventures forth from Albright to higher realms of conquest. All we can wish for him is continued success and happiness in the future.

seeking a new coach. We feel quite safe in saying that these recommendations are some of the finest that we have ever seen about any college professor, president, or football coach.

There is much more that we can say about the new mentor. We will, however, refrain from handing out too much praise and let the man and his actions speak for himself when he arrives on the scene. The committee has acted; the coach has spoken; our hopes have been made. Let us cooperate in such a manner that the task Coach Dietz faces will be made lighter by our willingness to have him and his boys succeed.

We will welcome you to Albright College, Coach Dietz, and pledge ourselves to assist and support you in any way possible for us to do so. We shall be waiting for your first appearance on the campus before the entire student body. We wish for you much success on the gridiron and many years of happiness in our midst.

THIS AND THAT

Several important changes have taken place during the past year on this campus. We want to make a few comments on the improvements and changes.

Two weeks ago we advocated in this editorial column that the Student Council propose after careful consideration that all students be entitled to select the May Queen. Last week the Student Council accepted the suggestion and voted that the proposal was a good one. This year, for the first time in Albright's history, all students will be given the chance to make the selection. We thank you, members of the Student Council for your wise counsel and decision.

Since that phase of the May Day exercises has been settled, there has arisen another matter. On other college campuses a traditional May Day is celebrated. Here at Albright we have introduced a new feature, the Greek Festival, and considered its best qualities with those of May Day. However, we feel that a May Queen is not a Greek princess and that the activities of the old-fashioned May Day would not be the culture and heritage of Albright College. We, therefore, advocate that all students be permitted to express their opinion on this issue before definite plans are made for the Greek Festival.

Last week, your editor may have made a mistake in suggesting that the girls be permitted to have a tennis team. At least some people feel that a mistake was made. In view of some of the caustic remarks thrown around the past few days, let us make an appraisal of the merits of such a group.

First of all the co-eds on this campus pay the same athletic fees as do the boys. Are they not, therefore, entitled to some consideration? Secondly, the girls are constantly being confined to their dormitory rooms. Do prospective students think this one of the better features of Albright College? We think not. Young people today want action if they are to become dynamic personalities of the future. Thirdly, in years past by long ago the girls were proud of their athletic program which included field hockey, tennis, and basketball.

After both sides of the issue were discussed, Coach Kreska was approached on the matter. He immediately gave his word that he would be willing to coach a girls' tennis team. We admire him for his eagerness to develop the activities wanted by the students. Girls as well as boys develop physically as well as mentally. Should a few persons block any legislation that would meet this situation? Certainly not. Attempts will be made to stop this activity and that activity, but all the students are entitled to every consideration regardless of sex, race, color or creed.

Debating has gotten under way for another season. The men's team has held two decision debates thus far and on both occasions they have returned to the campus with the victory. A girls' debating team was started and will continue to function in the next few weeks. We ask you to loyally support all the home debates. Give the participants your loyal backing by occupying a seat in the chapel, and increase your knowledge on a pertinent national issue which may concern your welfare in the years to come.

The present regime of "The Albrightian" is whole-heartedly in favor of any sensible improvement for the benefit of the students and the institution. Let us, therefore, have no individuals who feel that they are greater than the institution!

I. R. C. Korner

Last week Dr. Milton W. Hamilton, head of the history department and sponsor of the International Relations Club, received from the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace six recently published books as the spring installment from the national association. They are listed below and bear directly on present world conditions. The titles are provocative.

THE SPANISH TRAGEDY, by E. Allison Peers—This book goes to the heart of the situation in Spain. It is no partisan plea, but a setting forth of the basic conditions and influences which have led the Spanish people to their present impasse. The author is an Englishman, familiar and sympathetic with Spain through long residence there. He asks the reader to "cease taking sides in the conflict and try to understand."

FASCISM AND NATIONAL SOCIALISM, by Michael T. Florinsky—The situation in Spain has focused attention more than ever upon the forms of dictatorships mentioned in the above title. This book should set us questioning our own views, and if need be, clarifying and correcting them. It is written by an impartial observer and shows as objectively both sides of the picture. While specializing in conditions peculiar to two countries of Europe, this study is closely tied to world problems. If you doubt this, read Chapter IX.

CAN WE BE NEUTRAL?, by Allen W. Dulles and Hamilton Fish Armstrong—Here is a question which will soon be asked by everyone throughout the country, including the man in the street. Neutrality legislation will be up for discussion in Congress in May. This book should be especially helpful, since the authors, who are leading authorities on foreign affairs, have presented after a thorough study of the whole problem "the pros and cons of the various courses open to the country."

WORLD TRADE AND ITS FUTURE, by Sir Arthur Salter—No adequate study of neutrality can be made without a background of knowledge of world trade and its implications. This little book of only one hundred pages gives us this background and the present status of world trade, as well. It also defines a policy for world trade in the future. It is written in broad outline without technical details.

WHAT THE I. L. O. MEANS TO AMERICA, by Congressionist Miller, Jr.—This book and the accompanying pamphlet fit most appropriately into an International Relations Club library. They give authoritative report upon a great example of cooperative action by some sixty-one nations of the world, including the United States.

A HISTORY OF THE FAR EAST IN MODERN TIMES, by Harold M. Vinacke—Just at a time when we need most to clarify our impressions and ideas on questions of the Orient, this authoritative book comes off the press. We are particularly glad to send it to the International Relations Clubs, knowing that it will be used not only to study the more recent developments, but also will serve as a permanent book of reference.

All of the books listed above may be obtained from the International Relations Club library which is located in the history room of the Administration Building. Students may take these out for a period of two weeks.

My dear Moravec:
I was glad to get the copy of "The Albrightian" and also thrilled to read the fine notices concerning Clarence Munn. I, of course, was not one of the qualities that have been for some time. I am glad to know that you all appreciate him. He is a very high class young fellow with a brilliant future in the coaching profession, and we at Syracuse are delighted beyond measure to have him with us.

With kindest regards,
Sincerely yours,

Dear Charles:
I have just heard of Munn's resignation and now of Dr. Klein's. It certainly seems enough news for one week. I am surprised at Clarence Munn's taking an assistant's position. Solem, though is a good coach. He was at Drake when I was a student there.

My work here continues to be enjoyable. I have 130 students this semester, up 20 from last, and including 47 in Modern Drama, the largest English elective in Central College history. Naturally, I am pleased, but the added enrollment keeps me busy. We have over 600 enrolled in all English courses. It's quite a program to manage—a lot of work, but I enjoy it. We bought a new DeLuxe Plymouth a month ago, and are looking forward to spring weather to explore the country-side. Fortunately we are high and dry, many miles from flood country. There's not much new here. Thanks for the ALBRIGHTIAN! I enjoy them a lot.
Cordially yours,

Last week President J. Warren Klein lauded the work of the home economics department upon receiving additional certification from the Pennsylvania Department of Education as follows:

"I feel that this has been one of the major academic achievements that we have been able to make during the last six years. Without a doubt, the investigation of our facilities in a home economics department has proven that we are endeavoring to give practical as well as theoretical training to our students in this department. It is with a sense of gratitude to the Board of Trustees and the home economics faculty that I announce this additional recognition of our curriculum building program by the Pennsylvania State Council of Education. Enrollment of students has been steadily increasing in our home economics branch of our academic program and our curriculum expansion will attract even larger percentages of incoming students in the years to come."

And it was light and airy;
It didn't show dirt a bit
But, gosh!
How it showed Mary!
Mary had an evening gown;

And when she got inside it
She was more than halfway out.
Mary had a little skirt,
And it was very tight;
Who gives a damn

With exams just over, we think that this is an appropriate little poem:
I think that I shall never see
A grade more lovely than a "B"
A "B" whose earning grade points rest
Where "D" and "E" and even less
Have made us look to God all day
And lift our lanky arms to pray:
A "B" whose grades will let us rate
The marks we need to graduate;
("B" is are gotten by fools they say,
But only God can make an "A".

WM. H. DIETZ OF TEMPLE COLLEGE TO SUCCEED MUNN AS HEAD COACH

Coach Clarence Munn and the man who will lead the Lions this fall, William H. Dietz.

President J. Warren Klein extending the hand of welcome to the Lone Star in the executive's main office.

LONE STAR SPEAKS

Making his first official statement for the students of Albright College, William H. Dietz, newly appointed director of athletics, on Monday evening said: "I am very glad to be associated with Albright College—an institution which has enjoyed a fine athletic reputation during the past two years under the capable leadership of Clarence L. Munn. I only hope that I can continue to do as good for the boys, the college, and the community at large. It will be a difficult task to carry on in the fine manner that has been established here by my predecessor, but with the cooperation of all concerned, I have no doubt that our mutual relationships will be happy and valuable ones."

"I hope to make myself a valuable asset to the community and to the campus students while I am at Albright College. I pledge myself to uphold the traditions of the institution and to spread them farther in the field of academics as well as athletics. I have profound respect and admiration for the people of Pennsylvania with whom I have had many splendid relationships. I shall endeavor to become a part of Albright College and the community of Reading in whatever task I set out to do."

PRESIDENT KLEIN WELCOMES NEW ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

As soon as final agreement was reached by the Athletic Council Committee for the Selection of a new mentor, William H. Dietz, successor to Clarence L. Munn, was presented to President J. Warren Klein. After a lengthy session, President Klein issued the following statement for publication:

"I am gratified to know that the committee charged with the responsibility of selecting a worthy successor to Coach Munn had taken every precaution before making a definite appointment. It is my conviction that the committee could not have made a better selection."

"Mr. Dietz, undoubtedly has an excellent record and his former associates and leaders have sent in recommendations which will be hard to be surpassed by any other athletic leader as well as persons in other walks of life."

"This afternoon, Mr. Dietz and I have discussed the various aspects of life at Albright College. I am confident that he will blend very nicely into our college community, and will do all in his power to help build a greater Albright. He has the happy faculty of seeing ahead and at the same time facing the present tasks."

"I congratulate the committee upon their selection and sincerely wish for Mr. Dietz and all the boys who will be working with him the best of success on and off the football field."

every way.

"The chances are that you are quite familiar with the football coaching ability of Bill Dietz. I desire to emphasize as much as possible the character of Mr. Dietz as a man, as well as his ability to coach football. His contacts with the boys in his squads will be wholesome and he will be an influence for good among them. I am sure that he will cooperate with the administrative officers to the fullest extent."

"If I can furnish you any further information concerning Mr. Dietz, I shall be glad to do so. I am glad to recommend Mr. Dietz for this position without reservation."

Andrew Kerr
Football Coach
Colgate University
Hamilton, New York

"Mr. Dietz was one of my boys at the Carlisle School and after finishing his playing days there he assisted me for several years. When I went to the University of Pittsburgh, Dietz became head football coach at Washington State College where he had outstanding success for three years. He has greatly improved the football situation at every place he has coached since then. He spent a season with me at Stanford as assistant prior to his taking the position at Haskell."

"Mr. Dietz is a gentleman of the very best character and habits. He is energetic and enthusiastic and cooperates with those with whom he is associated. He has always had the confidence of his boys wherever he has coached and he is a high type of man in every way."

"I regard him as one of the very best coaches in the country today, and I am sure no institution would make a mistake in selecting him as coach. In fact, I know of no one in whose coaching ability I have more confidence."

Glenn S. Warner
Head Football Coach
Temple University
Philadelphia, Pa.

"Mr. Dietz came to us in 1915 from Carlisle Indian School, where he had been assistant to Mr. Glenn S. Warner for a number of years. Football for a number of years here at the State College of Washington had been at low ebb. Mr. Dietz was able during his first year to turn in a Coast Championship team, winning all of the contests played at Pasadena. He remained with us for three years having had two championship teams during those years. The war came and on football was dropped. He then had an opportunity to sign with Purdue and left us to go with that institution, where he had better opportunities, at least from the financial point of view. Mr. Dietz's record was unusually fine in every respect. He knows football thoroughly and has the ability to impart his knowledge to others. His tactics are the finest. He stresses fundamentals. He is not profane or abusive in any way in his relations with his players. He is colorful, has a fine personality, is a ready speaker, meets men easily, is well educated, enthusiastic, and stands for the highest ideals in athletics. Dietz's teams were never known to use unsportsmanslike tactics."

"In 1930 he brought his Haskell Indians to Spokane for a game with Gonzaga University. I saw that contest and I must say his team showed excellent coaching and put up an unusually spectacular and well played contest. Mr. Dietz uses the Warner system and keeps in close touch with Mr. Warner at all times. I am quite well acquainted with Mr. Warner and know he considers Dietz one of the very best coaches in the country today."

"I am very happy to recommend Mr. Dietz as a football coach, who I feel will be able to measure up to the exacting requirements of the

Famous Coach Secured to Lead Lions on the Gridiron

Protege of Pop Warner Selected on Monday

George C. Bollman, chairman of the Albright College Athletic Council, announced earlier in the week that definite contracts have been signed by William H. Dietz, nationally famous football coach, outlining his duties as director of athletics at Albright College, succeeding Clarence L. Munn, who will leave this fall, to become line coach under Ossie Solem at Syracuse University.

The selection committee selected Coach Dietz for the position because of the many unusually fine recommendations the athletic council had received from coaches and directors of athletics from all parts of the country. The committee had expected to sign a Minnesota man, but only one application from that university was filed with the committee. Of the thirty applicants for the position, Dietz, was by far, the most outstanding candidate for the position.

Among the possibilities for the vacancy were: Stan Hino, present assistant coach to be promoted to director of athletics and Harold "Truck" Yentgen, line coach; Paul Stagg, present mentor of Moravian College; Amos Alonzo Stagg, Jr., of Susquehanna University and the number one man on Coach "Fritz" Crisler's recommendations three years ago; Jud Tim, football coach of Pennsylvania Military College; Alton Teeter, football coach of the Minneapolis High School in Minnesota; Lud Wray of the University of Pennsylvania; Larry Kelly, Yale; Dick John; and a host of others.

Before the final decision was made the committee invited Captains Dick Riffe and Leo Disend into the meeting, in addition Gordon Williams, of "The Reading Times" and Bill Reedy of "The Reading Eagle" were consulted. All of the possibilities were discussed at the six hour meeting. The decision was unanimous.

Coach Dietz, a half-blooded In-competition of any conference."

J. F. Bohler
Director of Athletics
Washington State College
Pullman, Washington

"William Dietz served as coach and athletic director as well as instructor in the School of Engineering at Louisiana Polytechnic institute during the years of 1922 and 1923. We were closely associated with him and desire to commend him to you without reservation as a coach, gentleman and instructor. We regard him most highly in every way."

Frank Bogard
Dean, School of Engineering
Louisiana Polytechnic
Ruston, Louisiana.

"William Dietz was director of athletics and head coach of football at the University of Wyoming for several years. He is an excellent coach, turning out winning teams. He is a scholar and gentleman. His personal conduct is beyond reproach. His professional ethics for the welfare of the school stretch far into the history of anybody are all that could be desired."

Fay Smith, Secretary
Board of Trustees
University of Wyoming
Laramie, Wyoming

"I was closely associated with William Dietz for four years while at Haskell. He is a man of fine moral character and a staunch believer in high scholastic standards. He stands for clean sportsmanship and plays according to the rules of the game, depending on sterling character to win games. He inspires boys not only in athletics but in educational endeavors."

A. Vansickle
Haskell Institute
Lawrence, Kansas

"In regard to William Dietz as a football coach, I cannot endorse him too highly. In fact, I regard him as one of the best coaches in the country today. He is an able pupil of Glenn S. Warner and like his preceptor, is a most able tactician and strategist. His personality is such that he immediately gains the confidence of his squad and while he drives them hard during the preliminary training period, he never loses their confidence or regard."

"Dietz is splendidly educated, polished, of excellent appearance—a man who will gain and hold the affection and respect of an entire student body. He is a hard worker, one whose personal interests are bound up in the work in which he is engaged. He would place any university in an enviable position."

dian and a member of the Sioux tribe, is rated as one of the craftiest and smartest coaches in college football circles. Head coach of college and professional teams since 1915, in virtually every section of the country, Coach Dietz has led them to 80 victories, 46 defeats, and nine ties. He has coached six undefeated teams, including two freshmen squads at Temple and two varsity combinations at Washington State, one of the United States Marine Corps; and a professional club on the Pacific Coast.

At Washington State

In 1915, Dietz was appointed head coach at Washington State University and continued in that role for three years. His teams at that institution won the Pacific Coast and Northwest Conference championships in 1915 and 1917. On January 1, 1910, he led the Washington eleven to a 14-0 victory over Brown University in a Rose Bowl contest at Pasadena, California. His 1917 machine was unbeaten.

Now 47 years old, Coach Dietz was educated at MacAlester College, St. Paul, Minnesota; Friends University in Wichita, Kansas and the Carlisle Indian School, Carlisle, Pennsylvania. From 1909 to 1912, he starred on the gridiron with Carlisle and was graduated from that school with a degree of engineering. While in his final year at Carlisle he was a member of the squad which defeated the Lions coached by Charles "Pop" Kehlner at Myerstown, 49-7. The Albright eleven was the only team in the country that scored on the Indians that year.

His coaching career started as assistant to Glenn "Pop" Warner, head of the Carlisle Indians, in 1912, and he remained in that position for two years. During the World War years of 1918 and 1919, he was head coach of the United States Marines of Mare Island, California. His service team of 1918, played the Great Lakes Training School eleven in the Rose Bowl contest of January 1, 1919.

In 1920 and 1921, Coach Dietz was mentored at Pacific University. He gave the Boiler-makers their first Big Ten Conference victory in five years, which was scored at the expense of Northwestern University.

For the next three years, 1922, 1923 and 1924, the Lone Star Indians was head coach at Louisiana Polytechnic. During the first two years of his reign there, Dietz's teams lost only two games. He was a particularly successful coaching baseball at this institution. In 1923, Louisiana Polytechnic won all 22 games.

Next he went to Wyoming University for a three-year regime as head mentor in 1924, 1925 and 1926. He gave Wyoming the most successful teams in the history of athletics at that university. Prior to his locating there, Wyoming had not won a conference game in three years.

In 1927, Dietz rejoined his former teacher and associate, "Pop" Warner, as assistant coach at Stanford. He helped the general Warner develop a great machine that was invited to play in the Tournament of Roses classic but was held to a 7-7 tie by Alabama University.

Then followed five years of head coaching at Haskell Institute, a school for Indians. During that time he coached the Indian Red Skins in the National Professional League and he stayed on that job for two seasons. In 1934, his team finished second to the New York Giants in the Eastern Division. That same year, Dietz had the misfortune of seeing his Boston charges drop three league contests by one field goal margins.

Two years ago, "Pop" Warner called on Dietz to help him at Temple University. The Indian leader continued his fine success by turning out undefeated freshmen squads for Warner in 1935 and 1936. During the 1935 campaign, his yearling Owls amassed 274 points against 12 for the combined opponents. Last year, his freshmen team gained a position under head coach, Edward Walker.

It was known for some time that Coach Dietz was anxious to come to Albright because of its traditions and fine sportsmanship. He had letters of recommendation from Temple University and such prominent leaders in football circles as Andy Kerr, Colgate University; Lynn Waldorf, Northwestern; and Glenn Warner, of Temple.

Choral Society to Present Second Concert with Guest Artists on Sunday Afternoon

Organ Preludes Will be Played for First Time

Prof. Duddy Announces Plans for Big Musical Treat at Immanuel Evangelical

Another big evening of musical entertainment and inspiration will be offered by the music department under the direction of Professor John H. Duddy this Sunday afternoon at the Immanuel Evangelical Church at 4 o'clock. The Choral Society of the college will be assisted by the choir of the Immanuel Evangelical Church and guest artists who include Mrs. Frances Hildebrand, harpist; Caroline Fox, violinist; and John M. Klein, organist.

The program will open with two choral preludes on the organ by Mr. Klein: "Vom Himmel hoch, da komm' ich her" and "Es ist ein Reis entsprungen." The composer, Ivan Shed Langstroff, presented these preludes to the organist while he was studying in Vienna. They will be presented for the first time in America on Sunday afternoon.

The Choral Society will present "Jesu, Friend of Sinners," "Psalm 150," "Angelic Seraphic," and "Holy Thou Art." Two harp/violin selections will be "The Swan" by St. Saens and "Meditation Thais" by Massenet. A feature of the program will be a picture illustration and reading by B. Frank Conner, noted tenor soloist of this city.

The entire program will close with Mr. Klein playing "Carillon" by Verne on the organ. This composition ingeniously incorporates the Westminster chime-tune, so familiar to everybody. The manuscript, built entirely upon the Westminster tune, works up to a tremendous climax, and demands a technical display from the performer.

The guest organist for this second major presentation of this year, John M. Klein of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, won a Mauro-Cottone scholarship to the Mozarteum Academy, Salzburg, Austria, in composition, organ and conducting in 1935. He was presented by the American Artists' Colony in a piano recital of his own compositions in Vienna, Austria where he won the praise and approval of many leading musicians of the day. While studying abroad, Mr. Klein had the opportunity of playing in the church scene of the "Faust" by Gounod, in the Salzburg Festivals under the direction of Felix von Weingartner. He is a graduate of Dr. H. Alexander Matthews, who was a teacher of Professor Duddy; Edward Shippen Barnes and Dr. Roy M. Standish. He has been in great demand by many organizations ever since his return from European studies, and on March 8 will present a recital for the American Guild of Organists in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Hildebrand, the harp soloist of the afternoon, has studied under some of the leading authorities in this country and abroad. Several years ago she toured the United States in a nation wide tour. At the present time she is a member of the Reading Symphony Orchestra. Miss Caroline Fox, of Norristown, has played before Albright audiences before and it is because of the enthusiastic response given her that Professor Duddy has signed her for this engagement.

From all indications this Choral Evansong promises to be one of the most important musical events this campus has seen for some time and all of Reading is looking forward to the appearance of Mr. Klein and his presentation of the choral preludes for the first time in this country.

DR. COOK ADDRESSES LEHIGH VALLEY BRANCH OF AMERICAN CHEMISTS

"Don't Teach This" was the topic of a speech delivered by Dr. Graham Cook, head of the chemistry department, to the Lehigh Valley branch of the American Chemical Society at Lafayette College last Friday evening.

In his speech, Dr. Cook pointed out some of the errors in teaching certain theories which have been discarded or have been proven worthless in view of much later discoveries.

Accompanying Dr. Cook at this regular meeting were Harold Miller, a senior chem lab assistant, and Mr. Boyer, a chemist from Carpenter Steel, Inc.

Alumni President's Letter to Dr. Klein on Resignation

Albright Alumni Memorial Library
Reading, Pennsylvania
February 20, 1937

Dr. J. Warren Klein
Albright College
Reading, Pennsylvania

My dear Dr. Klein:
Now that your announced intention to retire as the active head of the College is no longer a scoop, it has on the other hand permitted one to appraise its possibilities.

Certainly it is due anyone, who has dutifully served the college for so many years, to enjoy a well deserved rest, and the right to lay down its many cares and burdens for a younger man to pick up and carry on. This is life at its best. I am sure your decision is a guarantee to you and your family of no less than ten years of added life. If this be so then Albright College has also gained because I am sure you will not lay down your interest in the institution.

Albright College will continue to gain through these added years. I need not remind you that our relations have been both intimate and pleasant. Problems were always approached in such a manner that the best interest of the college might be served at least as we saw them.

I shall always remember you as one who knows how to lean backward to encourage one's best services in the interest of the college.

Cordially yours,
Elmer L. Mohn.

Invading Coaches of 1937

On November 13, the "Flying Dutchmen" of Lebanon Valley College will invade the Lions' den for the nineteenth game of the series which started in 1902 when Albright College was located in Myerstown, Pennsylvania. With the Valiants will come an able coach, J. W. "Jerry" Frock, whose team in 1934 defeated the Kelchner-Smith regime, 6-3 here.

The Anville College coach will be beginning his fourth year as head coach of football at Lebanon Valley. Since succeeding "Hooks" Mylin in 1934, he has guided the Valiants through three successful seasons. In 1934 his first college ball team won three games, tied one and lost four. The next year, Lebanon Valley with one of the best teams in the history of the Anville institution, turned in six victories and suffered only four defeats. The outstanding victory of the season was a 6-0 decision over the University of Tampa in a contest played in the Florida city on Christmas Day. This was the first inter-sectional contest for Lebanon Valley and victory can be attributed largely to the work of Coach Frock.

Two of Albright's teams guided by Clarence L. Munn, who will become line coach at Syracuse this fall, have been victors over the Dutchmen. In Munn's first season, the Red and White eleven downed the Valiants, 10-0. Last season the roaring Lions trounced the Blue and White machine here, 20-7.

Coach Frock was graduated from Lebanon Valley College in 1925 after playing three years of varsity football as a center and fullback. He was a member of the Valiants' championship squad which defeated the Red and White gridmen, 21-6.

He served as head coach of football and basketball at Keystone Academy, Factoryville, Pa., in 1925-1926. The following year he was track coach at the Collingswood, N. J. High School and in 1927-1928 coached the sports team at Anville, Pa. High School. During his stay at that high school, Frock assisted Mylin at Lebanon Valley College. Frock took over the line coaching duties at John Harris High School in Harrisburg, Pa., in 1929 and held that position until he was called to Lebanon Valley College in 1934. During his stay at John Harris the Harrisburg school won the state championship in 1931 and were undefeated in the regular schedules of 1929, 1930, 1931 and 1933. His team lost to Windber, Pa. High School in the 1933 title tilt by a 7-6 score. "Jerry" Frock, that advocate of straight hard football. His teams can be counted on to put up a game battle against all opposition. He was a great defensive player in his day and has developed some outstanding linemen at Lebanon Valley. He is a student of football and a master of the art of handling men. For these numerous reasons the "Flying Dutchmen" have been and will continue to be a formidable opponent for any team on their schedule in the years to come.
