

Frosh to Stage "Club '49" Skit

Tickets Are On Sale
For "Ivy" Semi-Formal

"Club '49," a cabaret skit, is the title of the entertainment to be presented by members of the freshman class at the Ivy Ball, the major social affair of the fall season, Saturday night in the ballroom of the Abraham Lincoln Hotel.

The program for this traditional Albright College affair, culminating the period of frosh orientation, includes the dinner to be served at 6:30 p.m., the frosh entertainment, and dancing from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. to the music of Eddie Degler's orchestra.

Name Entertainers

Those freshmen participating in the night club skit, which was written, directed, and produced by Writ Hayum, are Donald Sailer, master of ceremonies, Dorace Hornberger, Madge Severns, Robert Miller, Shirley Miller, Corinne Ball, William Simmons, Joseph Kubisen, Joyce Ruth, Rudy Walenta, and Gerald Oplinger.

Chaperones for the Ivy Ball will be Professor and Mrs. Clyde A. Harding and Dr. and Mrs. Gerrit Memming. Tickets can be purchased today and tomorrow at three dollars a couple.

Committees Work

The social committee, composed of Mary Beth Schofer, chairman, Ruth Rehr, Warren Pfof, and Reed Frederick, have planned the dinner-dance and are selling tickets. Virginia Woerle, chairman of the publicity committee, announced that the programs, which will be in the form of ivy leaves, will also serve as tickets. The programs were designed by Mildred Kaufmann.

Any student wishing to take advantage of the date bureau established for the Ball should place a sealed envelope containing his name in the Pi Tau Beta Box in care of Reed Frederick.

PATS RUSH FROSH

Pi Alpha Tau's first rush party was held last night in the lower social room. The theme of the party was "Greenwich Village" and each sorority girl had a different part to act, in coordination with the theme.

Characters that the sorority members portrayed were Madame Fifi, two fortune tellers, Pavlova, Carmen Miranda, Perk Westmore, Charles of the Ritz, Lauren Bacall, Hazel Scott, Chaperelle, Levisier, Betty Hutton, Maisie, two mad artists, a French cook, five French maids and a butler.

Refreshments consisted of ginger ale, frankfurters and melted cheese, caramel apples, pretzels, and candies.

APO'S DO BUSINESS

Further plans for the A.P.O.-Pi Tau formal and the A.P.O.-Student Council dance on December 14 were discussed at the A.P.O. meeting held last week.

Glenn Bailey was inducted at this meeting, as the only new pledge. Edward Daniels was made head of a committee whose purpose is closer cooperation with the alumni of the fraternity.

ZETAS, KAPPAS MEET

The Zeta Omega Epsilon and the Kappa Upsilon Phi fraternities will meet together on October 29th to discuss plans for sponsoring a dance, "Sport Hop," under the auspices of Student Council. This affair is to be held sometime in January, the exact date to be set later.

Charles Russ, president of the Zetas, announces that Gaylord Crozier will be taken into active membership at the fraternity's next meeting. (Continued on Page 3)

LOUIS ALBER, WORLD OBSERVER, TO SPEAK NOV. 6

A man who has talked with Hitler, Mussolini, Goebbels, Schacht, Hindenburg, Kuhlmann, and others largely responsible for starting World War II, will be the Cultural Program Speaker on November 6. The man is Louis J. Alber, who has also spent many months in Europe trying to find out why democracy was on the retreat in the 1920 and 1930s.

In speaking on his subject "Fascism Must Be Destroyed," Mr. Alber draws upon his experiences in many countries and his contacts with many famous men and women. As America's foremost manager of lecture celebrities for forty years, he has had unusual opportunities for studying recent developments on his many trips to seek famous men and women lecturers.

Mr. Alber has talked with most of the history-makers of modern times, and has known some of them intimately. (Continued on Page 4)

Customs to End

Induction of the freshman class into the student body will be held in chapel this Thursday morning. All students—freshmen and upperclassmen—will attend the ceremony at 10:30 a.m. The traditional passing in of Frosh hats and the speech of acceptance by the new freshman president will be observed, and the service will officially terminate frosh customs.

The Reverend Woodrow Bartges, originally scheduled to speak in chapel on Thursday, will not be here.

First Lt. Dennis Ertel Returns on 108 Points, Surprised at Number of Women on Campus

By WALT HAYUM

I was passing by the Ivy Ball sign to interview some 1st Lieutenant for The Albrightian, when I stopped—paralyzed by a blue suit with light stripes. What a suit it was—sharp my dear readers—really sharp. I edged toward the bespectacled gentleman, and to my surprise discovered him to be Dennis Ertel, the first lieutenant I was looking for. At the moment he seemed preoccupied with the sign, but I quickly strove into different channels and we moved back to August 1941.

Dennis had no desire to leave his sophomore year at Albright, but his number was up. He enjoyed the privilege of being drafted before Pearl Harbor, and underwent basic training at Camp Croft, S. C. Next he came to Fort Dix to the 46th Division, and subsequently arrived at Camp Daiborne and Fort Lewis, Wash.

Finally a break came through and he entered O.C.S. at Fort Benning with the infantry. After a year in O.C.S. and some time at Fort Jackson, S. C., he was shipped to Iceland in July of '43. After he had been on outpost duty for six months, he sailed for England, where he retrained and worked in the port from which troops were to be shipped out on D-Day.

In August '44, he landed in France. His first job was cleaning up enemy pockets of resistance; then his battalion was put on detached service. Around September 11th, the population of Paris had the pleasure of cheering 1st Lieut. Ertel of Albright. Like so many of the fellows say, Paris seemed o.k., even to an officer.

Dr. Geil to Head Testing Program In Kappa House for Servicemen

Albright's Department of Psychology, headed by Dr. Milton G. Geil has been selected by the United States Veterans Administration Bureau to manage the Veterans Testing Bureau for Berks County and District. Dr. Geil will be the director and chief counselor of the program, which will begin its work on November 15 in the Kappa Upsilon Phi fraternity house.

Every veteran of World War II in Berks County and surrounding district is eligible for a complete personality and vocational analysis. For disabled veterans, the testing is compulsory. All expenses will be paid by the government including those of transportation to the campus and any meals and lodging the veteran might need. Each man will receive as much as a half a day of testing and counseling.

Psychometrician Comes

Jean Bongardner Biting, a 1942 alumna, will assist Dr. Geil in administering the tests. A psychology major when at Albright, Mrs. Biting took a position in June 1944 as a junior psychologist with the Armed Forces Induction Center in Harrisburg. She holds the title of psychometrician.

Dr. Geil, who is a certified by the Civil Service Division in Washington as a clinical psychologist, will have the responsibility of interpreting the test scores. He will then send his report on the veterans' potentialities to Washington and will counsel the men on their personality and vocational problems. He will also administer therapeutic treatment when it is needed.

Staff to Assist

Negotiations are now under way to secure another assistant for the program. Besides working with the veterans, the assistant will probably relieve Dr. Geil of certain of his class hours.

The Veterans Administration Bureau will send three staff workers, two of them full time. They will man the office of the bureau, handle Army records, and make arrangements for the veterans to come.

"Y" HAYSEEDS TO BOB, DANCE

"Swing your partner 'round and 'round then all promenade"—will be the theme song on this Friday evening, October 26, when the "Y" Hallowe'en party will be held in the barn at Marion Gerberich's farm. Students will wear old clothes, prepared to bob for apples, square dance and enjoy the Hallowe'en fun.

The recreation committee, headed by Warren Pfof and Mildred Kaufmann, is preparing real spine-chilling entertainment for all of the "hay seeds" who will be there.

To reach the Gerberich farm for the party, students take the Reiffbus which leaves Fifth and Penn Streets at 7:00. Someone will meet the bus and take the Hallowe'eners to the farm.

Students Travel to Phila. To See Spanish Movie

Thirty Spanish students of Miss Consuelo Rodriguez traveled to Philadelphia yesterday to see a Spanish movie, "Que Lindo Es Michoacan," which features Tito Guizar, a singing star. A South American production, the movie is sponsored by the Pan-American Association of Philadelphia. The group left at 5:30 p.m. in a chartered bus, and returned last night after the showing.

Senate Slates Carnival, Conferences for Spring

Two big projects will constitute the framework of the Women's Student Senate plans for 1945-46, announced Anna Wartluft, president of the organization, at their meeting last Thursday night.

First will be a series of career conferences for Albright women. The speakers will be women who have achieved success in the professional fields they will discuss. The conferences are scheduled for sometime in the early spring. Miss Wartluft and Rita Duncavage, president of the Dormitory Council, with Desz Helen L. Cunliffe, compose the committee in charge of arrangements for the career conferences.

The Women's Senate also plans a campus carnival for the spring to raise money for the redecoration of the lower social room.

The group appointed a special committee, headed by Margaret Ball, to purchase pins for members of the Women's Senate.

Dorm Women to Hear Mrs. Douds Tomorrow

Rita Duncavage, president of the Women's Dormitory Council, announced that there will be a full dormitory meeting tomorrow evening in Selwyn Hall Parlor. Mrs. John B. Douds will be the guest speaker for this month, discussing the problems of successfully combining career, marriage, and family.

The members of the Dorm Council this year are as follows: senior representatives, Shirley Rekoon, Mary Alice Lippert; Junior representatives, Joan House and Joy Cutler; sophomores, Marjorie Christ and Grace Miller of the Zeta house; and Gloria McKitttrick of the APO house.

Dormitory Council meets every Monday evening. Shirley Rekoon is secretary and Grace Miller treasurer. Gloria Salfetty is chairman of the social committee of the dormitory.

Class of '48 Prolics At Fall Picnic-Party

Dancing, singing, and fellowship were the highlights of the picnic held last Friday night by the class of '48 at Egelman's Park. Almost sixty sophomore students attended the picnic which was the first social activity sponsored by the class this year. Herbert Hyman, who headed the committee, was assisted by Jean Jaglom, Robert Sokol, Gloria McKitttrick and Jeanne Hartranft.

The sophomores met at 7:30 p.m. and hiked from the campus to Egelman's Park where they participated in dancing, singing, and general picnic activities which included a lunch of hot-dogs, potato chips, and chocolate milk.

Dr. Milton G. Geil and Librarian Josephine E. Raepel were the chaperones for the event.

Warren Pfof, president of the class, announced that plans are being made for a "Class of '48 Day" sometime in the spring. Class numerals with the class colors blue and white, will be worn by all sophomores. Chapel programs will also be presented.

"This One Thing is Needful"

One has to be fairly unconscious these days not to feel a certain disturbing something in the air—call it restlessness, perhaps. Sometimes it is like an insistent wind tossing waves of ceaseless activity into our hands in order to hide the reefs of insecurity and fear that we would rather not admit lie at our feet. It appears to be a contagious sort of thing that fills the country, and its symptoms on campus can be seen in more vocal and persistent griping among students, cracking down by profs, strained personal relations, and jumpy nerves. We feel as though we are in a terrific hurry, but we hardly know where we're going.

Formulas aplenty to solve the world's personal and international problems are floating around today. We do not intend to add another. We only want to suggest that Albright men and women have an excellent opportunity in Religious Emphasis Week to stop and think about where they are going and where they want to go. If we hope to remain sane in an insecure world, we must find security in our own minds and souls. Only the love of God in our hearts can help us achieve that.

We Also Serve

Last June, most of us were hardly aware that the last of Albright's government war jobs was leaving campus—the Engineering, Science, Management, War Training Program, a night school headed by Dr. Geil since 1941.

On November 15, every one of us will see Albright's first peace time government job open up shop as the Veterans Testing Bureau initiates operations in the Kappa House—again under Dr. Geil.

We may well be proud that we have a psychology department of such a high quality that it is recognized in Washington as a suitable place to carry out the task of rehabilitating returning servicemen. We cannot help but feel gratified to be able to identify ourselves in a very minor way with so enormously important a task.

Well, Bless Your Heart, Susie!

We were just a little worried about the buttons on "Charlie's" vest one day last week. Nevertheless we hasten to add our pat on the back and we even condone the trace of a strut in his step. For there's no doubt about it—last Wednesday was a great day.

Which is to say—congratulations to Treasurer Charles L. Gordon and Mrs. Gordon on the birth of their daughter, Susan Charlotte, 8 pounds, 10½ ounces, on October 17 at 6:30 a. m. Latest bulletins say that mother and daughter are doing the traditional "nicely," and that papa and Louise, 11, are tickled pink.

With our Albright-family-spirit getting the best of us, we're kind of tickled too.

To Think or Not to Think

It has always been an aim for college people to be open-minded and to accept only objective evidence. Last week at the "Y" Retreat, there were those who didn't want to believe facts which Kelly Goodwin presented about Negro life. There were a few at the lecture of Mrs. Markoosha Fischer who were disappointed because she didn't scream violent propaganda—"War, war!" as some of the syndicated columns are doing, or "Russia is the only nation who does things right," as some others are claiming.

If we are ever to attain an intelligent and mature perspective on this jumbled world, we must remain open-minded even if it does upset our prejudices, and we must use our minds instead of our emotions.

Lionizing

By MARION LATTA

No, that weird music emanating from yon Zeta House isn't the well-known ghost practicing up for Halloween—it's just the Zeta girls playin' their sweet potatoes. Gossip has it they're going to organize a band. Heaven forbid!

Pop is still befuddled! Two frosh girls walked calmly into his joint, put a nickel in the pin ball machine—and won 28 games. The guys who spend so many laboring hours over this little machine had better go to the women for lessons.

You haven't lived 'til you've seen Bob Binder in his role as Dogberry in "Much Ado." He's really doing the character part marvelously from what we hear.

We never saw two sorrier faces than those of Greenspan and Gilbert at line-up. Pink and blue is so becoming.

Wasn't it a relief to hear someone talk about Russia in a sane and matter-of-fact way, instead of screaming dire prophecies of World War III as the syndicated columns have become accustomed to do? We mean Mrs. Markoosha Fischer, of course. Facts—without ranting—that's for us.

Lions-in-the-Ranks

By JEAN HARER

Now that there is a new furnace in the Ad Building and students and professors no longer need to wear coats all day long or hold classes in Selsyn Parlor, the Chapel, or Zeta House to keep warm, the weather outside has turned mild again too.

Some old familiar faces have appeared on the scene lately. GENE WEEBER attended chapel one day last week, and FRAN FLETCHER was at the "Y" Retreat. RALPH MILLER dropped in to see us, and also former PROFESSOR RHODA.

LT. DON BUXTON asks, "Interested in a little of my past history? Well here's a brief resume anyway. I spent May and June on Blak, July and August in Sydney and most of September here at Manila. My seven weeks in Sydney was quite a vacation after 18 months in the tropics. Did I fill up on fresh eggs, milk and ice cream!!! But it didn't put much weight on me. My present assignment is at Nielson Field. We are not busy and it is a life of ease for me. It looks as though I'll sweat out my time here. I wanted to go to Japan but it is very doubtful now. Next week I will become 'eligible' for discharge, so I might get home this year yet. Guess who walked into the weather station the other day: BILL BOLLINGER. He was on his way back to Okinawa. He had seen and talked to DICK WEBER up there. WALTER ZUKE was in our squadron for a while but I didn't get to meet him."

LT. JACK STOVER writes, "Guess where we're off to? Tientsin, China. THE ALBRIGHTIANS keep up with me amazingly well and I certainly appreciate them. You can be sure I'll be back on campus some day, maybe next spring or summer. I picked up a monkey in Okinawa who's quite a character. After I get back I expect to be at the University of Pennsylvania working in neurophysiology."

"Albrightians are few in the lanes of Europe I've traveled," says Cpl. DON BLACKMORE. "The other night I was particularly surprised to find RALPH WAGNER in a crowd. I had a reunion with

Kriegsgefangenen 1390

By BOB STARR
Installment Three

Three days passed, three long days and nights of solitary confinement with only a short walk once a day. It was here that I ran out of cigarettes and also my love for the great, brave super-race. My daily diet consisted of three slices of black bread, a small bowl of potato soup and an evening cup of German coffee.

On the morning of the fourth day I was put on a train bound for Dulag Luft, the German Air Interrogation Center. Leaving Amsterdam the train followed the course of the Rhine River, a beautiful train ride if taken under better circumstances. Going through Dusseldorf and Cologne I saw two shells of what had once been beautiful cities. Even at that early date the Germans were beginning to pay a heavy price.

At Cologne the train was inspected by the Gestapo—why, I don't know, unless word was sent ahead that American "Luftgangsters" were aboard. Anyway a short blimp-sized Captain came into my compartment, made me stand at attention, then back-handed me in the face, spit on me, and called me a dirty American swine. If he could have read my mind I would have probably been shot for taking "der Feurher's" name in vain. Pleased with his conquest, the little superman joyfully got off the train, probably to go home and tell his little super-boys he had licked an American swine.

Leaving the train at Frankfurt I boarded another train and was taken to Dulag to face interrogation and of course solitary. It was here the "Little Goons" tried to extract information using all methods from bribery and kindness to torture in a mild form. Five days of this with nothing to eat but black bread and mental resistance dropped, but I still answered, "Starve me or beat me, but I'm still Second Lt. Robert L. Starr, 0-792920."

Seeing they could get nothing in the way of information I was again put aboard a train, this time bound for Stalag Luft III, Sagan, Germany. Two days of riding, including a night air raid in Leipzig and I finally reached my new assignment for the duration. I was now Kriegsgefangenen 1390, Stalag Luft III, South Camp, temporarily off flying duty for the duration.

"Retreat" would not be complete without a portion of education thrown in to balance recreation. During three Seminars, Rev. Kelly Goodwin, pastor of the Zion Baptist Church in Reading, emphasized the fact that the terrible world "mess" has been hurled "Into our Hands," and challenged this generation to set it on the right road again.

PAUL KIMMEX in Paris back a few months ago once I saw DEWEY BOLTZ at a Hitler Youth Camp. They are the only Albrightians I've met. As far as coming home is concerned I can see myself in Europe (not) about February or March—after that I grow hopeful. I'll finish two years over here on February 10th."

Newlyweds HARRY and JEAN BOMGARDNER BITTING paid us a surprise visit the other day. Harry was discharged just recently and is interested in taking some additional work. MIRIAM HERSHEY, just home from Italy, came to see us that same day. She is a dietitian in the Army Medical Corps and her ship was on its way to Manila when it was ordered back to Boston, so she is having some time at home.

duties, his outfit was thrown into the battle of the Bulge. His unit captured St. Hubert, one of the forts near Bastogne, moved near Luxembourg, and then was thrown back into the Battle of the Bulge. It was there and at Metz that the outfit got a tough branding. His battalion prided itself in taking the last town back from von Rundstedt.

Constantly moving forward to Schoneberg and on to the Siegfried Line, Dennis caught some schrapnel. He left the eastern edge of the Siegfried Line and soon found himself in an English hospital—for two months. Capable of rejoining his unit, he arrived near V-E Day in a small German town near the Czech border where he guarded displaced persons.

In June the word got through that the Russians would soon take over and that his outfit would be one of the first ones to be redeployed. In July of this year he left for home on the "West Point." After his thirty-day leave, he reported back to Fort Benning with 108 points resulting from the E.T.O. ribbon, American Defense, Purple Heart, Bronze Star, Silver Star, and the combat infantryman's badge. He is at present only on terminal leave, but will be discharged sometime in January, '46. He is a little surprised at all the women and the shortage of men; he remembers Albright when it looked the opposite way. "It's good to be back," says Dennis, almost a civilian again and on his way to a successful law career. Wishing him the best of luck in search of his Ivy Ball date, I suddenly popped up with the question that had been on my mind: "Lieutenant, where did you get that sharp suit?"

Men Name Delegates To Council, Redecorate

In a meeting held last week, the Fraternal Order of Daymen appointed four representatives to Student Council, including Glenn Bailey, Ira Custman, Stephen Winter, and Edward Daniels. The Daymen designated freshmen Perry Matz and Jerome Dersh to attend Council meetings to learn Council procedure.

The Daymen are going ahead with extensive plans for the redecoration of their rooms, announced Edwin Biehl, president. They have secured leather furniture with chromium trim, and their plans include knocking down the wall between the two rooms. The men will do the work themselves, aided by Professor Lewis E. Smith.

What! No Paper?

For some strange reason, professors are coming to feel that newspaper editors should crack a book occasionally like normal students. With "We Aim To Please" as one of our favorite slogans, what else can we do but knock off for a week? So don't look for "The Albrightian" next Tuesday. There won't be any. Meanwhile, where's that outside reading list?

Central Wins As Binder Stars; Speedboys Lose

Football teams from Ephrata High and Reading Central Catholic gained victories in Albright Stadium last week by defeating Shillington and Allentown Catholic respectively.

Under the stadium arcs, a fast breaking, undefeated Ephrata High School team defeated Shillington High, 25-13, before a crowd of 3500.

Ephrata ran their plays from a unique formation, starting from a kick formation, then changing to either the non-conventional single or double-wing back formation. Repeatedly Ephrata's Captain, Johnny Krause, ran through tackle for long gains, one of which was a 57-yard touchdown sprint.

Ephrata opened the game fast, and quickly chalked up two touchdowns, one on a long run by Krause and the other one a beautiful 20-yard bullet pass. Shillington roared back with Kenny Kohl doing the heavy work and scored on a line plunge. A fumble stopped another potential Ephrata threat and Shillington turned the play into another touchdown to take a 13-12 half-time lead.

In the third quarter, Johnny Krause again took over and Ephrata took the lead on an 80-yard drive, making the extra point. Shillington then drove for a first down on Ephrata's eleven and on the next play Kohl went off tackle to the half-yard line, but an offside penalty nullified the gain and Ephrata held, adding another touchdown for good measure in the last period.

Score by periods:

| | 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | T |
|-------------|---|----|---|---|----|
| Shillington | 0 | 13 | 0 | 0 | 13 |
| Ephrata | 6 | 6 | 7 | 6 | 25 |

With Quarterback Charlie Binder scoring three touchdowns and Captain Joey Fromuth scoring two, Reading Central Catholic High School routed Allentown Central Catholic 38-7.

Allentown scored their lone touchdown in the first quarter, but Central more than matched them with two, adding two more in the second quarter, and one each in the final two periods.

This win was quite important for Reading, as Allentown was rated one of the strongest Catholic teams in Pennsylvania.

Score by periods:

| | 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | T |

| Reading C. C. | 13 | 12 | 6 | 7 | 38 |
| Allentown C. C. | 7 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 7 |

KEN R. GOOD

One of America's greatest little basketball schools is receiving the squeeze from its traditional rivals as far as scheduling games is concerned. According to records compiled thus far, Albright has not been able to definitely get games with any of the court teams she has been playing consistently for the last ten years. Muhlenberg, for instance, (not that we think she deserves special mention) is not playing Albright this year.

Perhaps a look at her football record in which she has yet to win a game will give us a forecast of her basketball season and the reason she will not play Albright. The picture this year is a clear one as far as Muhlenberg's basketball is concerned. In the new league into which she was put, the opposition for her should be weak with teams like Dickinson, Lehigh, Bucknell, and Lafayette in the circuit. With an almost certain poor team, the Allentowners can lose their big school games and still vanquish their powerless league opponents to maintain a decent win-lose record.

We are glad to say that most of the other teams which could not state definitely whether or not they would play Albright, are not stating this for the same reason as Muhlenberg. Most of the other schools are just about in the same situation as Albright and that is they don't know exactly what Uncle Sam is going to do about the draft laws. In spite of the schedule difficulties, we feel sure that the Albrightians are going to have a basketball schedule which will contain plenty of thrills even though it may not contain as many traditional rivals as those in former seasons.

Getting Action

Glad to hear some talk about the 1946 6-man interfrat touch football league. Butch Harding, Coach of the Alpha Pi Omega Frat team is vigorously attempting to get his team and other teams on the ball so that the schedule can be started in the next week. Steve Winters, Pi Tau representative on the interfrat council, states that his group is raring to go and the Kappas are also eager to have a 6-man team but are faced with a manpower problem. There is no official word from the Zetas, but we are sure that they'll be ready to field a team when the first game is scheduled.

With all the spirit exhibited by these fellows in the last week, we feel sure some sort of an interfrat football league will be forthcoming soon.

Sports Schedule

The following is a list of sports activities which Albrightians will have the opportunity of witnessing:

Football Games

Friday, October 26—Central Catholic vs. St. Patrick's Catholic of Norristown.

Saturday, November 3—Reading High vs. Lancaster.

All above games played in the stadium.

Ed's note: In the following issues of THE ALBRIGHTIAN a list of sports events for each week will be published. This is being done so that all Albrightians will know of the events that are coming off.

mately. A student of history all his life, he served for five years (1916-21) on the Executive Committee of the League to Enforce Peace, organized by William Howard Taft. He knows America's leaders, and has known every president beginning with Theodore Roosevelt.

Mr. Alber saw this war in the making when visiting Europe during the 1920s and 1930s; he saw the growth of Fascism in Italy, Greece, Bulgaria, Rumania, Hungary, Spain, Poland, and finally in Germany.

Shirk, Faculty Manager of Athletics, the subject of track at Albright was brought to the fore. Although nothing was stated on an official basis, don't be surprised if the cinder sport is brought back to Albright next spring. According to Mr. Shirk, the track situation hinges on a number of things, the most important of which is the availability and ability of trackmen. Even though this is perhaps a bit early for any sort of definite information, there is a ray of light visible as far as track is concerned. Baseball, it seems to us, won't be making its appearance at Albright next spring.

APO's Seek Games

Coach Butch Harding of the Alpha Pi Omega fraternity has officially announced that his six man football team will challenge any other frat team on campus. Harding states that thus far his combination has been unable to get any games. The following is the A.P.O. lineup:

|---------------|--------|
| Jack Shaffer | End |
| Glenn Bailey | Center |
| Herb Hyman | End |
| Dick Gable | Back |
| Butch Harding | Back |

Coach Harris Announces Team of Giants to Take Floor for Albright

This year's Albright basketball aggregation will be a team of giants, according to the information released by Coach Neal O. Harris. Harris will have three holdovers, two of last year's regulars and one reserve. William Landis and Franklin Seifert are the regulars returning for service, while Robert Buxton is the reserve who returns to the court.

Landis at 6 ft. 9 in. is the tallest holdover, with Seifert hitting 6 ft. 4 in. and Buxton under 6 ft. In the way of fresh material, from Reading High, Coach Harris will have Bernie Lillis, 6 ft., Bill Simmons, 6 ft., and Jim Delp, under 6 ft.

From Berks County, the mentor will have Rus Millard, 5 ft. 7 in. Birdsboro boy; Dick Ulrich, 6 footer from Wilson High; Homer Carley, 6 ft.; Dick Thomas, 6 ft. 6 in. giant from Muhlenberg High; Don Whitman, West Reading, measuring 6 ft. 2 in.; Ron Berger and Emmett Glass from Shillington, each standing 6 ft.; and Bill Capallo from Wyomissing, measuring a neat 6 ft. 4 1/2 in.

Other boys from out of this vicinity are Don Gross from Vermont and Joe Kubisen from Hershey, both under 6 ft.; Leland Cappel, Butler Township, 6 ft. 4 1/2 in.; upperclassmen Jack Shafer, 6 ft. 2 1/2 in.; Julian Greenspan, New Jersey lad, measuring 6 ft.; and Bill Smeric, Lebanon boy who rises to 6 ft. 3 inches.

Provided all of the above stay at Albright, Coach Harris pointed out he would be able to present a team with an average height of 6 feet 5 1/2 inches. Harris also stated that this list is by no means a final one. If there are any other fellows who are interested they are urged to try for the team. The list is merely a roster of players who have shown an interest in playing varsity basketball.

Girls Win Sports Event As Lois Taylor Stars

Albright College opened its 1945 Womens hockey season with a loud bang on Saturday afternoon, October 20, when they defeated Moravian and Kutztown to gain the championship in the Hockey Sports Day held at Kutztown State Teachers College. In the first game against Moravian, speedy Lois Taylor led the way for the Albrightians scoring the only tally of the game. Miss Taylor, almost unaided, carried the ball the length of the field to garner the point that spelled victory for the home team. The final score read: Albright, 1; Moravian, 0.

In the second game of the afternoon Albright again came through with a victory by defeating Kutztown 2 to 1. In this affair the scoring honors went to Marie Bonner and Faye Sheets who did some fancy stick work to bring home the bacon for Albright.

After defeating the two teams who comprised the competition for the day's event, the Albright lassies became the champions without playing a third game. In a game between Moravian and Kutztown to decide the runnerup, Moravian came through with a victory toppling Kutztown 1 to 0. Incidentally this is the first time Albright has gained the championship honors in three years.

The hosts, Kutztown State Teachers college, had a very nice program prepared for the two visiting college teams. The program was opened on Saturday afternoon with registration for everyone after which the hockey games were held on the college hockey field. Following the contests the Kutztowners treated their guests with tea in the college Blue Room.

The following are the girls who made up the championship team on Saturday: Jean Borgstrom, Virginia Reinsel, Marie Bonner, Martha Herwick, Lois Taylor, Mary Eschwei, Meg Hendricks, Midge Abrams, Joan House, Joy Cutler, Alice Voit, Helen De Santis, Faye Sheets, Phyllis Carter and Dotty White.

The captain of the team for the day was Marie Bonner with managers Alice Albright and Betty Burnett taking care of the pre- and post-game details. The next game on the line for Coach Eva Mosser's charges is Lebanon Valley on Nov. 3.
