Campaign Sets $1.5 Million Expansion Goal

A three-year campaign to raise $1,500,000 for expansion and improvement of Albright College facilities is under way. Announcement of the fund-raising plans came from Board of Trustees President, George C. Bollman, after a special meeting of a 93 member steering committee recently held on campus.

The three main objectives of the drive to raise money center about improved science facilities, additional faculty members, and housing for more resident students.

The proposed addition to the science hall will cost approximately $900,000. Expansion of faculty personnel is estimated at $365,000. Furnishings for a new women's dormitory and the amount still due for the Merner-Pfeiffer-Klein Memorial Chapel-Auditorium will cost about $235,000.

The new women's dormitory itself will be financed through a federal loan.

Students of the college on the committee are Stephen Lipkins, '61, Agnes Oaks, '61, and Janelle Reed, '61. Other steering committee members come from Reading, Berks County, the board of trustees, alumni, faculty, parents, and the Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Parents Attend 'Frosh' Day

Tomorrow is the second annual Freshman Parents' Day. "The day's festivities will begin with registration at 3 p.m. in the dining hall lounge," announced Steven Gurland, '63, treasurer of Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity, the sponsoring organization.

Following dinner, the group will attend the Albright-Gettysburg football game at 8 p.m. in the College Stadium.

Value of Day

The purpose of Freshman Parents' Day as stated in a letter sent by APO to the parents is "to further Albright-Parent relationships." Last year's day brought almost 300 parents and friends to the college. More than that are expected by the committee this year.

Tickets for the dinner can be bought for $1.50 at the treasurer's office and game tickets are on sale for $1.25.

Dr. James D. Reppert, associate professor of English, lectures to group of students, faculty and guests at his opening seminar. He is lecturing about the twentieth century novel and its changes.

Seminars Attract 175

Approximately 175 persons are enrolled in the YMCA-YWCA seminar series. The series, a "first" for the campus group, not only attracted students of the college to the initial lectures, but alumni, faculty and Readingites.

Dr. Eugene H. Barth, head of religion, and associate professor of biology, Marcus H. Green, keynoted their lectures concerning the philosophy of modern day science with Dr. Barth's discussion of Aristotelean philosophy, Christian ideas, the Copernican Revolution, and modern physics. He continued with the conflict between religion and science upon the explanation of the physical world. Next Tuesday Green will present a discussion about the nature of man, including the first recognitions of life.

Associate professor of religion, Ellery B. Haskell, in his lecture about the "Origin of Existentialism," explained the basic tenets of existentialism as it has developed to this time.

In the talk of Dr. James D. Reppert, associate professor of English, was an explanation of authors' purposes for writing in the way in which they do and the current changes in novel writing.

All seminars will meet in the Merner-Pfeiffer-Klein Memorial Chapel-Auditorium again next Tuesday.

Albright Co-Sponsors Lecture For Community By Actor Oct. 22 In Chapel-Auditorium

Vincent Price, dramatic actor, is the featured speaker for the first Community Fall Lecture Oct. 22, at 8 p.m. in the Merner-Pfeiffer-Klein Memorial Chapel-Auditorium. Price will present "Three American Voices: Walt Whitman, James A. McNeill Whistler, and Tennessee Williams," readings from three giants of literature, art, and drama.

This lecture initiates a series co-sponsored by Albright College, the Wyomissing Institute of Fine Arts and the Reading Community Players. Reading and Berks Countians are invited to attend. A buffet dinner at 6 p.m. in the dining hall will precede the lecture. Tickets may be purchased for $2.00.

Price, publicly recognized as a critic, a connoisseur, and collector of fine arts, has demonstrated his dramatic skill in "Vittoria Regina," and "Angel Street."

A Missourian by birth, he attended Country Day School in Saint Louis and furthered his education at Yale University as an art major. Upon completion of his master's degree at London University, he began his successful career as an actor.

Collections of art dominate the California home furnishings of Vincent Price and his wife, designer Mary Grant. He has traveled throughout the world and has seen and studied at first hand the work of the great masters.

Knisley presently serves as pastor of the Yorkshire Evangelical United Brethren Church and holds his bachelor of arts and divinity degree from Albright and the Evangelical School of Theology.

Study To Explore Needs Of Albright

Should Albright students be required to take a foreign language and a course in math?

Should the college adopt a college calendar based on the quarter system?

Should the honor system be adopted?

Should changes be made in the college attendance policy?

These are some of the questions to be considered during the Faculty Self Study of Albright College which will occur during the next two years. The purpose of this evaluation is to determine where the college rates according to standards and what direction growth of the school should take.

Investigation

Under the direction of Dean Mahlon H. Hellerich, at least ten different areas will be investigated. The faculty Curriculum Committee will serve as the Steering Committee. Other committees have been formed to study philosophy and objectives, students, student personnel, services, extra curricular activities, academic standards, faculty and instructional procedures, and the college year and extra sessions, which includes summer and evening sessions, as well as non-credit adult courses.

The student body will be invited to participate by answering questionnaires. Teams of students organized by Student Council will be organized to compile the results.

The self study is expected to result in changes in the curriculum and provide materials helpful to long-range planning. It will also aid in preparation for the Middle Atlantic States Evaluation scheduled to take place in the spring of 1963.

Editor's Note

Both the national and local political arenas are more crowded than ever before. They are no longer reserved mainly for the so-called professional politicians. Through the national and local debates on television and radio, many of you have become more concerned about your involvement in politics, and find yourselves talking about political issues and policies, even during the World Series.

The Albrightian prints this page of articles written by students who feel they are a part of the political scene. Each writer did his own research and writes entirely from his point of view. The articles are unedited.

Read carefully and discover some ideas that may help you decide for whom you will cast your ballot, Nov. 8, 1960.

Candidates Compared

By Richard Bolig, '64

The 1960 presidential election promises to be unlike any in our country's history. Two of the youngest aspirants for the strategic position vie for the job of exercising what must be continued unerring judgment. The issues they face are rivalled in controversy only by the times of which they are a part. It is the obligation of every thinking American to keep himself informed on the issues and the men.

Democratic Candidate Senator John F. Kennedy has rocketed to international fame in the span of 20 years. The Brookline Massachusetts-born son of former Ambassador to Britain Joseph P. Kennedy, is a member of one of the most politically-minded families in America. Presently his brothers Robert and Edward are actively engaged in drumming up votes for him.

Kennedy graduated from Harvard summa cum laude. In 1940, at the age of 23, he had his first book published. During World War II, he served in the Navy as a PT boat commander, sustaining serious injuries. His service career is quite brilliant.

His Pulitzer prize-winning book, "Profiles in Courage," was written during his convalescence and was awarded the prize for biography in 1957. After the war, he turned actively to politics by being elected to the House and in 1952 to the Senate.

In 1956 he was almost nominated for the vice presidency. In the Senate he authored the Kennedy bill for elimination of racketeering in labor unions, which was later compromised with another bill.

He and Mrs. Kennedy have a daughter, Caroline, who is three years old.

Quaker-reared Richard M. Nixon was born 47 years ago in Yorba Linda, California. He graduated second in his class at Whittier College and went on to Duke University Law School on a scholarship; he graduated from here also with honors.

During the war Nixon served with the Navy in the Pacific. He entered Congress in 1947 and went on to the Senate in 1950, after participating in one of the most vigorous campaign battles of his career.

Nominated for the vice-presidency in 1952, he gained fame through his famous "Checkers" speech, in which he answered charges of corruption in the financial promotion of his campaign. He went on to secure that office as the second youngest man to do so.

After eight years as vice-president, Nixon can look back on extensive traveling all over the world as the President's representative.

He and his wife Patricia have two daughters, Tricia and Julie.

James H. Mantis For Congress

By Robert Richter, '61

Berks County needs a Congressman, an effective, hard-working legislator who is a credit to Berks County itself, and to this country as a nation. Berks County needs a competent legislator who can command the respect of other Congressmen, both in his own political party and the opposing party. Berks County wants a Congressman who will protect our individual freedom from government interference at home and from the threat of communism at home and abroad. Berks County must have as Congressman, a man who is reliable and can be trusted as doing his job in the interest of all.

James H. Mantis is dedicated to giving to Berks County that kind of Congressman. His record of service to the community indicates his whole-hearted interest in the health, welfare and civic improvement of Berks County.

Problems

Mantis understands the problems involved in such important areas as urban renewal, agriculture, education and administration and has worked with other community leaders in designing a progressive future for Berks County.

Jim Mantis believes we have to work toward a system of fostering economic growth in our communities "not through increasing the size of government, but by expanding the opportunities for creative enterprise by millions of individual Americans".

George M. Rhodes . . . For Congress

By Mark L. Brown, '62

George M. Rhodes, incumbent Democratic member of Congress from the 14th district of Pennsylvania (Berks Co.) is running for re-election on November 8th. There are poignant reasons for the voters to give him his seventh term. I list them:

1. The testimony of thousands (and this is not hyperbole) exists to tell of the prompt, complete, courteous, and non-partisan service Mr. Rhodes has given his constituents in finding their way amid the complex structure of our federal government, and secure what is their right to have under the law. Veterans, businessmen, pensioners, and farmers were assisted in filing claims, securing contracts, adjusting pensions, and getting information important to their economic welfare.

Students found research made easier and less expensive because Mr. Rhodes had reference material sent from the Library of Congress to their homes. They found the way paved for scholarships and appointments to the Service Academies. Housewives and mothers found Mr. Rhodes a source of information through public pamphlets available from the Government Printing Office, as did farmers, hobbyists, amateur scientists and businessmen.

All of these items are the right of the citizen to receive; that Berks County residents have received them in such quantity, quality, and courteousness is a tribute to Mr. Rhodes.

2. Mr. Rhodes has favored aid to education through increased teacher salaries, grants for construction of schools, national defense scholarship loans, aid to medical students, and a stepped-up foreign student exchange program to aid international understanding.

3. Mr. Rhodes has fought for the Forand Bill which would give medical aid to our senior citizens as their right under Social Security, and not as charity under the Eisenhower bill passed at the special session of Congress.

4. Mr. Rhodes has worked and voted for a rise in the minimum wage floor to $1.25 an hour in order to protect northern and western industry that suffers from the low wage, unorganized, and unprogressive health, accident, and hour provisions of the southern states.

5. Mr. Rhodes has supported International Organization because he recognizes that with all its weaknesses and pitfalls this is the only way we have of dealing with international tensions short of war.

6. Mr. Rhodes believes that what is good for the people of our nation is good for America, and rejects the "trickle-down" theory of the Republicans who believe that what is good for big business is good for America. This basic difference in philosophy makes Mr. Rhodes a closer follower of Abraham Lincoln than the men who run on the Republican ticket, for it was Lincoln who said, "This nation, with its constitution, belongs to the people who inhabit it; this nation, with its institutions, belongs to the people who live in it."

7. Mr. Rhodes believes that our nation can only progress if it builds security for Americans at home and abroad by a dynamic democratic offensive. This offensive starts with your vote for those men who would expand our democracy. Mr. Rhodes has earned your ballot.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

An Evaluation

By John Wilson, '64

Four years have elapsed and "we, the people," are faced with another presidential election; the candidates have been selected and the babies are being kissed. Questions and answers concerning the federal budget, national defense, economics, and personal religion have been placed before the people for consideration and the people have to make their choices; some with consideration and others with a stab in the dark. Both types have an equal vote; so both must be counted.

The election is having a greater response from the people than might have been expected or than has been displayed in the past few elections. The state of the world and religion are two elements which caused this spurt in interest due to the increasing importance of selecting a good leader. Another element worthy of mention could be the equality of assets that Nixon and Kennedy possess. Both men are competent individuals with the same quantity of assumption. When a person has one of two choices, both seemingly equal, he must think harder and take a more intense interest in his decision; this is our problem—this is election year.

Kennedy's religion is discussed in headlines and debates, but how many people are actually affected? The average voter listens to both sides of the story, but pre-election polls show that this is not a great problem but only the problem of bigots, and for every person prejudiced against a Catholic president, there springs up one for such a president, so most people are letting the bigots "lock horns" without being impressed by this side of the election.

Kennedy has surprised Democratic critics by his popularity, which is in part due to his famous family, which is partly symbolic of the effectiveness of the desires of Kennedy. On the other hand, Nixon has pleased the Republican critics by his apparent succession to the mantle of popularity which was worn by President Eisenhower.

Either Nixon or Kennedy will give our nation the advantage of youth—youth with its energy and creativity. Their modern conceptions are not impressed so deeply within their minds that a better way will be by-passed. Both men have lived with and worked in politics, and they understand the functioning of our government and the needs of its people. The rest, therefore, is up to you—it's up to you to decide which man will carry out the office of President of our nation and help us to the best of his ability and which man will stay stronger under the strain of this high office. This is your decision, your own discretion must be exercised. Study the platforms, weigh the facts, and vote for the man in whom you place your confidence and trust.

Albright To Entertain Two Gettysburg Teams Tomorrow At Stadium

Grid Squad Aims For Fourth Win

The Albright College football team will begin a four-week home stand tomorrow when it opposes the Bullets of Gettysburg College at 8:00 p.m. under the arcs of the Lions' Den. Coach John Potsklan's crew will attempt to extend their undefeated status to four games this year, and to eight consecutive winning games since last year's mid-season defeat at the hands of Scranton University.

Having won their last three games by rather wide margins, the Albright gridders will be in for somewhat stiffer competition tomorrow night in the battle with the Gettysburg team, which is in the University Division of the Middle Atlantic Conference, northern division. Albright is in the college division of the conference.

The Lions are expected to employ an extensive air attack against the Bullets in an effort to counter the Gettysburg offense. Key Albright receivers will probably be halfback Tom Olivo and end Claude Lynch. Both these performers have scored often this year on passes, and they will be out to do the same against Gettysburg.

In the last meeting of the two clubs, Gettysburg was hard pressed to defeat the Lions by a slim 12-6 score, taking advantage of a number of Albright miscues. Although the Red and White out-gained Gettysburg, 262 yards to 234, the Bullet defense tightened up whenever the Lions threatened to score, and it wasn't until the closing minutes of play that Albright could manage a touchdown. In the second period an Albright threat stalled on the five.

Since the beginning of football relationships between the two schools, G-burg has won fourteen of the twenty games played. Albright won two, and four contests ended in a tie.

Bullet Runners On Albright Course

The 1960 edition of the Albright College Cross Country Team opened the new season on a sour note Saturday, October 3, when they played host to the visiting squad from Haverford College. The Lions could do no better than place one member of their team among the first five as the men from Haverford subdued the Albrightians by a score of 20-38.

Two Lions and a Elizabethtown runner strive for the finish line in last week's meet with the Elizabethtown Bluejays at the Albright stadium. Elizabethtown won the meet 19-36. John Grove was the first of the Albrightians to cross the finish line.

The first to break the tape in the initial meet was Mike Nevin of Haverford in the time of 24:29. In second place, 29 seconds behind first, was John Grove of Albright in the time of 24:58. The only other two Lions to finish among the top ten were John Heilmann, who finished in sixth position, and Klaus Kiemle, who crossed the line in the tenth spot.

Last Friday, the Shirkmen once again played the role of the generous host. In the guest role this time were the barriers from Elizabethtown College. The Bluejays found the course to their liking and as a result whipped the men of the Red and White by a 19-36 margin. Grove was once again the first Albrightian to complete the course to earn himself a third place finish. This time he was clocked at 24:48 as compared to the first place time of 24:27. The four other Lions who finished among the top ten were Kiemle, who was sixth, Hellman, who came in eighth, Jim Parks, who placed ninth, and Walt Diehm, who finished tenth.

Tomorrow afternoon, Albright will entertain the Bullets of Gettysburg College on the home course beginning at 2:30 p.m. Friday, October 21, Albright will once again be in action at home when they meet Ursinus College at 4:15 p.m.

Lions Trounce Drexel, 34-6

The Albright football team traveled to Philadelphia to engage Drexel Institute of Technology last Saturday. The underdog Dragons were able to contain the Lion offense most of the first half. The Lions did score twice by capitalizing on a fumble deep in Drexel territory, and later a 71-yard Chapman-Olivo pass racked up a 13-0 halftime lead. They went on to win, 34-6.

Albright's offense really started working in the second half and turned the game into a rout. With the Lion line creating large gaps in the Dragons defense, the Albright backfield was able to eat up large chunks of yardage. The Lions' backfield runners, along with the arms of Chapman and George Kurowski, were able to score three TD's.

Dragon TD

Drexel's offense, although impressive in spurts, was plagued by fumbles and a strong and determined Albright line. The Dragons did manage to score a TD late in the third period but were otherwise halted by a superior Lion defense.

After a rather slow and sluggish first period, Bob Meyer set up the first Lion score when he recovered a fumble on the Drexel 22. Five plays later Mike Matto smashed over for the first TD. Jack DeLorenzo missed the conversion; Albright led 6-0.

Robert Guglielmino stopped a Dragon drive when he recovered a fumble on the Albright 18. Three plays later the 71-yard Chapman-Olivo pass accomplished the second Lion TD. DeLorenzo converted and Albright led 13-0.

A long Albright drive starting on the 25 ended in the second period when DeLorenzo missed a 5-yard field goal attempt. A stalwart Lion

Wrestlers Will Meet Today At 4

This afternoon at 4:00 p.m. wrestling coach Bob Ford will hold a pre-season meeting with all those students who are interested in competing for a berth on the varsity wrestling squad. The meeting will be held in the minor sports wing of the physical education building. Inexperience should not deter anyone from trying out.

defense forced a punt, and seven plays later after a Chapman-Claude Lynch pass, Olivo ran eight yards for the score. DeLorenzo converted and Albright led 20-0.

The Drexel eleven finally started a drive from their 35, but a 15 yard penalty when they were at the Albright seven seemed to dim their chances. A desperation pass from Holden to Beck on the five set up the TD score by Holden three plays later. A two point pass conversion failed, and Albright led 20-6.

On the ensuing runback, Tom Olivo ran the ball to the 41 of Albright. Seven plays later a Chapman-Olivo pass for twenty yards scored the next TD. DeLorenzo converted, and it was 27-6, Albright.

The final TD came as Kurowski ran and passed to Robert Kopp, Robert Sudeck, and Al Pitts, who caught the TD pass. DeLorenzo converted and the clock ran out with Albright an easy victor, 34-6.
