READING, PENNSYLVANIA, NOVEMBER 13, 1964

The Master's Story; Academic Growth

Since the arrival of President Harry V. Masters at Albright there has been an overwhelming academic growth.

In the fall of 1939, with war in Europe, the Civil Aeronautics authority sponsored an aviation school among the Albright students. With America at war, Albright College was the site of the Seventh College Training Detachment (Air Crew) of the Army Air Corps. In March 1943 there were 200 enlisted men on campus who were instructed in military training by members of the army staff, and in mathematics, physics, history, geography, and English by the college faculty. Due to the decreased enrollment of the college and the loss of instructors to military service there were few major changes in Albrights academic

However, at the close of the war, a program was initiated in conjunc-tion with Reading Hospital School

Now there was a tendency toward survey courses in the Albright cur-Fundamentals, a general introduction (without laboratory work) to the natural sciences, open to all non-science majors. The second is So-cial Science Fundamentals, which does the same thing for sociology, political science, and economics; it is required of nearly all students. The third is History of Western Civilization offered in place of the traditional European History course.

Beverly was among fourteen girls nominated by Student Council to run for Homecoming Queen. The student body voted in chapel on November 3 and November 5 to determine which girls, of the fourteen, would serve in the Queen's court, and who the Homecoming Queen would actually be. Bev was the overwhelming choice and was crowned at the Ivy Ball by Jane Melchiore, the Homecoming Queen of 1963.

As Queen it was Bev's duty to preside over the Ivy Ball, and to extend a welcome to all the Albright students and returning alumni at the game on Saturday. Beverly's last responsibility as Queen will come next November, when she will pre-side over the coronation of the Homescember Queen 6 1065 Homecoming Queen of 1965.

Nickelodeon Night To Feature Silent Movies, Piano Music

Under the sponsorship of A Phi O with the aid of the Gamma Sigma Sigma girls, Krause Hall will be the stage for an evening's festivities in true "Roaring Twenties" style. "Nickelodeon Night" will feature silent movies and player piano music. The admission is free, but food and drinks (popcorn and rootbeer) will be on sale.

Fashions of the 1920's will be worn by the brothers, and some of the faculty and Gamma Sigma girls.

Representative Speaks

Last Monday at an open meeting of A Phi O, Mr. Warren Weidman, past president of the Mu Eta chap-ter, graduate of Albright College, and current Regional Extension Chairman for the National A Phi O office, presented some of the aspects of the fraternity to the brothers and of the fraternity to the brothers and those students interested in becom-ing brothers. Interested students filled out "bid cards" at this meet-ing. Yesterday the brothers voted on these prospective members and tonight an induction ceremony will be held for the pledges.

GRIDDERS TO FACE Harriers To Run WILKES COLLEGE In Championships IN FINAL GAME

By Dutch Mink

Albright's gridders will play the Colonels of Wilkes College to-morrow at Wilkes-Barre in the final game of the 1964 season

The Colonels, coached by Mr. Roland Schmidt, have only managed to roll up one victory this season with a 43-13 win over season with a 43-13 win over Ursinus. Wilkes has dropped five games. They were beaten by Lebanon Valley College, 27-14; Moravian, 23-8; Upsala, 28-8; Juniata, 51-0; and Delaware Val-ley College, 21-13.

Wilkes is led by senior quarter-back Thomas Trasko and defen-sive star Leonard Rishkofski. Trasko and Rishkofski are the cocaptains for the Colonels. Wilkes is a newcomer to the Lions sched-The two teams did not clash last year.

Lions Trounce LVC 39-0

By Glenn Moyer Albright's Lions made another mark in the win column Saturday as they defeated the Flying Dutchmen from Lebanon Valley 39-0 before a Homecoming Day crowd of approximately 5,500. The Lions record now stands 7-1 of which five have been shutouts. The Lions lone setback came at the hands of Wagner College.

Strong Defense

The defensive units played a brilliant game as each team refused to give up a score, which led to the stalemate at the end of the first quarter of play. The deepest penetration into enemy territory was made by Albright as the Lions made their way to the Lebanon Valley 14 yard line. But the Lions could go no farther due to the Dutchmen's strong defense.

Th opening minutes of the second quarter found the Lions on the Lebanon Valley 10 yard line and threatening dangerously. Quarter-back Lew Nevins, attempting an end zone pass, hit Dutchman Bob Martalus instead. The intercepted pass momentarily ended the Lion scoring threat.

Herzog Scores A few minutes later the Lions regained possession of the ball when the Dutchmen failed to make a first down. After moving 54 yards on the ground, Frank Herzog plunged into the end zone from the one yard line. The PAT was made by Jim Kearns. In the last two minutes of play
