The Masters' Story Physical Changes

By Kay Gass

(First in a series of three)

Dr. Harry V. Masters was installed as president of Albright College in February, 1938. This was the beginning of a period of expansion and academic growth unequalled in the eighty-two preceding years of the college's existence. However, President Masters, while avoiding sudden or radical changes, has yet maintained his familiar characteristics of understanding and fairness.

Although there were some financial troubles in 1938, Albright was in reasonably good condition. It had an enrollment of three hundred and eighty students; the faculty numbered thirty-eight, and the land, buildings, and equipment were valued at $1,382,974. There were scholarship funds of $4,896 and an endowment of $296,141. The net worth of the college was assessed at $1,037,191.

After the war, a need arose for expansion due to an increase of students. Several co-operative programs were initiated between Albright and other institutions to provide a more rounded curriculum.

President Masters has improved Albright's financial condition in an astounding way over the past twenty-five years. He has balanced the budget every year except 1951 and 1954 when there were small deficits. The campus now covers more than fifty acres; compared to thirty-one acres in 1938.

A measure of the progress which Albright has made under President Masters is the number of buildings erected during his term of office. Dedicated as Sylvan Chapel on September 18, 1942, was the renovated old "spring house". In 1945, the house at 1605 Palm Street was purchased as a home for the president. A gift from the federal government enabled the erection in 1948 of Krause Hall. Two major buildings, a physical education building and a chapel had long been in prospect. The first of these, a building with seats for three thousand five hundred spectators, was completed in 1952. In 1960 the Merner-Pfeiffer-Klein Memorial Chapel-Auditorium was dedicated. Meanwhile, an addition to the Alumni Memorial Library had been completed in 1956.

With the growing number of resident students, the need for more space required the erection of a new Food Service Building in 1959. Completed in 1962 were two new dormitories, North and West Halls. The same need for dormitory space had caused the college to buy the Albright Court Apartments in 1951 and to purchase four large residences to serve as fraternity houses.

In April of this year construction of the new library was completed. This building which cost $778,750 will hold a capacity of 150,000 volumes. This summer extensive renovation was extended to Science Hall, the old library, and what is now Harry V. Masters Hall. Currently a new wing is being added to the Science building.

The list of additions and innovations at Albright College during President Master's administration, which spans more than a quarter of a century, may only be termed as long and impressive.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS

CONTESTS HIGHLIGHT OLD FOLKS PARTY

Sunday, October 25, Albright played host to the older citizens. The Old Folks Party, sponsored by the YMCA provided a day of fun for the elder members of the community. They were invited to Sunday dinner in the Food Service Building. After the dinner the group moved to Krause Hall. The events for the afternoon included a number game and a match game. Prizes were awarded to the winners and as it turned out everyone was victorious.

The costumes' contest highlighted the afternoon. The theme for this year's party was the Gay Nineties, with the old folks dressed up in appropriate costumes and a prize awarded to the contestant wearing the best costume. The men's division winner donned an old-fashioned bathing suit, while the winner of the ladies division wore a dress created for her when she was only sixteen years old.

After the contest every one was invited to have refreshments and join in an old-fashioned songfest.

A Phi O To Sponsor Semi-formal Dance

Tomorrow evening, October 31, the Mu Eta Chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, the national service fraternity, will present its Rush Dance. The semiformal event will be held at the Crystal Restaurant starting at 8:30 and lasting until 11:30. Barbershops from Allentown will furnish the music for the evening. Professor and Mrs. LeRoy Hinkle will chaperone the one hundred expected couples. Professor Hinkle is chairman of the fraternity's advisory board. All freshmen and invited upperclassmen are welcome. The purpose of this Rush Dance is to interest students in Alpha Phi Omega, to meet its members and to obtain a glimpse of its social life.

The Rush Dance will follow an open Rush Meeting of Alpha Phi Omega on November 9. At this meeting interested students will see some of the workings of the fraternity and will be told of some of its activities on the national scope by representatives from the University of Pennsylvania, Ursinus, and Drexel Institute of Technology.

Deans Discuss Social Problems At Frosh Meeting

"We have received many complaints about the noise at Albright Court," declared Dean Kopp, Dean of Students, Dean of Men, and head of the Education Department, at the third freshmen follow-up session in Krause Hall, October 22.

Noise parties, tampering with the fire alarm system and shaving cream fights are among the activities frowned upon. Dean Kopp advised the boys not to do these things, even if challenged by an upperclassman.

He also spoke on the importance of developing socially as well as academically. However, he stressed not putting too much stress on social life, because you are here mainly for an academic education. A student should think of his reputation and character. Reputation is what others think of you, and character is what you really are inside.

The other speaker at the session was Dean Manzollino, Associate Dean of Students and Dean of Women. She spoke mainly on the importance of the girls' knowledge of rules and regulations. The boys should also become aware of these rules.

Mrs. Manzollino continued, "The students are all different here, and we are trying to mold you into responsible adults with high ideals. Concern is shown not only for grades, but character as well."

UNITED NATIONS TRIP SET FOR STUDENTS

Albright students will be able to visit the United Nations' building as part of a trip to New York City sponsored by the college's Political Science Department.

Dr. Charles Raith and Prof. Philip Eyrych are currently accepting registrations for the trek. The visit will take place on Tuesday, November 24 and buses will leave from Albright at six o'clock. Cost for the trip will be $5.75.

Although the Political Science Department is organizing the event, any Albright student, regardless of major, is welcome. The trip is compulsory for all those enrolled in Political Science 401 since the course (Continued on Page 2)

Homecoming Queen, Court To Be Honored At Ivy Ball

The annual Ivy Ball will be held Friday, Nov. 6, 1964 in the Albright College Field House. This dance, a semi-formal event, is sponsored by the school's Student Council and will be featured as one of the major attractions of Homecoming Week-end. Dick Stettler and Niki Shurr, chairman and co-chairman of the dance committee respectively, have announced that it will begin at 8:30 p.m. and continue until 11:30 p.m.

Music for the occasion will be provided by the Hafer-Jacobson Orchestra. The theme for this year is "Midnight in Athens". The center of the floor will be adorned by a sparkling fountain, and at close observation, the Parthenon will be visible in the background.

Highlighting the evening will be the announcement of the names of this year's Homecoming queen and her court. Representatives of each class have been nominated through the Student Council for this honor. Senior candidates include Beverly Lewis and Kathie Marmarou; Marjorie Abrahams and Pat Caruso are the juniors. Bonnie Delozier, Miriam Fost, Leslie Kepler, Alfreda Kiegler, Linda Leopold, Diane Polites, and Hope Schweitzer comprise the sophomore nominees while the freshmen are represented by Nancy Fiori, Kay Creager, and Jean Wilkens.

The cost for the dance is $3.00 per couple; tickets can be purchased in the dormitories and also the sorority and fraternity houses. Everyone will be welcome and is urged to attend.

Student Opinion

The National Election

Since the time for an extremely important election is quickly approaching we have decided to devote our first column to a student opinion poll.

David Sexton—I think LBJ is the man for the office and the candidate best suited to run the country.

Sylvan Liebman—I am for LBJ for many reasons; first of all I feel that Johnson and the Democratic Party could run the country more effectively.

Jack Moyer—I was very impressed with LBJ's Oct. 18 message to the nation concerning the lightning fast developments of the world's situation. This message was frank, assuring, and confidence-inspiring. I think LBJ should be the choice.

Ted Bowman—Neither LBJ, nor Goldwater is a suitable man for the office of President. LBJ is a pacifist and Goldwater is a radical. At this time, however, it is self evident that we need someone who has the courage and guts to stand up to the USSR and not let them run all over the USA. This man I feel is Goldwater.

Julian Paris—Johnson.

Jack Wolf—I believe that 1964 is not the time for the USA to elect a President who is supported by extremist organizations.

Karen Cuper—I think more people should be more concerned about what is happening in politics. The organization of Teen DEM'S and the Young Republicans are a good start for our own generation, but a lot of young people who can vote, don't vote, which is very dismaying.

RESULTS OF STRAW POLL AT ALBRIGHT

President Lyndon Johnson was supported for re-election by 71% of the Albright student body at the straw poll held on campus Wednesday, October 28. The students expressed support for nine democratic candidates and one Republican candidate.

The Johnson-Humphrey ticket defeated their Republican opponents by a vote of 411 to 181. Senator Scott, a Republican, received 330 votes while his opponent Genevieve Blatt received 242. Congressman Rhodes was supported for re-election by 330 to 221. Hoh was chosen as State Senator for the first congressional district by a vote of 330 to his Republican opponent Mantia. 267. The student body selected Woodside and Bruno as the two Superior Court judges over Hoffman and Jacobs respectively. For the office of Auditor General Sloan received 316 votes to defeat his opponent Stuart Helm who received 230 votes. The office of State Treasurer produced another democratic victory with Minehart receiving 283 votes to Fleming's 258.

Five hundred and two Albright students turned out at the election which was held in the Dining Hall Lounge under the direction of the Political Science department.

Wagner Trounces Albright, 27-0

Wagner Quarterback Dan Coughlin, who completed 19 out of 41 passes for 271 yards, was the man most responsible for the 27-0 victory over the Lions last Saturday.

Coughlin, a senior, threw three touchdown passes and ran for the fourth. The Hawks threw their machine-like offense into gear after recovering a fumble in the first minute of the game. Five plays and 22 yards later the Hawks led 7-0.

The Lions got their offense into motion and moved 51 yards to the one yard line in a vain attempt to tie the score.

Towards the end of the first period the Hawks were on the move again. This score came about with the aid of 7, 9, and 16 yard passes in seven plays moving 57 yards. The Hawks added a score in each of the remaining stanzas to ice the game.

The only Lion scoring threat came in the fourth quarter when they advanced to the 16. On the next play quarterback Nevins lost five yards and he missed on the three attempted passes.

Moravian To Face Lion Harriers

By Allen Waring

Albright faces Moravian tomorrow at home. The Lions will be looking for their first victory in ten starts. Their record, which is 0-9, makes a winning season impossible. Lack of ability and experience have caused their poor performances.

Last Saturday the harriers fared poorly against both Lehigh and Haverford. Both teams trounced the Harriers 15-0. The first Albright finisher was Jim Garibay who finished eleventh. The meet was fairly close between Haverford and Lehigh. Haverford, whose Harry Little won the meet with a time of 22:34, led the Fords to a 26-29 edge over the Engineers.

The first five finishers for Albright: Garibay, 11; Dale, 13; Moyer, 25; Sanchez; Douglas, 29.

Lions To Meet Moravian In Pretzel Bowl

Albright faces the Moravian griders tomorrow afternoon in the 14th annual Shriners' Pretzel Bowl benefit game. In the 13 previous Pretzel Bowl games, Albright has a record of five wins, seven defeats and one tie. Moravian owns a 26-7 verdict over Albright in the Pretzel Bowl contest of 1956.

Moravian has a 3-2 record this season. They have victories over Delaware Valley, 28-6; Wilkes, 23-8; and Pennsylvania Military College, 21-0. Moravian was defeated by Wagner, 20-7 and Lebanon Valley, 20-3.

Last year, the Lions beat Moravian, 28-7, as Albright finished with 21 points in the fourth quarter. Quarterback Lew Nevins sped for two touchdowns with one of them coming on a 46 yard run in the fourth quarter. Bill Bors also tallied a TD in that game.

Shriners' To Sponsor Pretzel Bowl Game

"Yes Albright, beat Moravian!"

Let this be our cry as we attend the festivities of the Pretzel Bowl game this Saturday, October 31. Let's show our Lions we are behind the team as they prepare to face the Moravian Greyhounds. The Rajah Temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, sponsor these games to benefit the Shriners' Crippled Children's Hospital in Philadelphia. Besides cheering our team to victory, we can attend the 14th annual Pretzel Bowl and help crippled children.

To prepare us for the exciting game and to give us a sample of the festivities of this event, there will be a parade on Penn Street at 11 A.M., moving from Third and Penn to the City Park. Marilyn March, this year's Miss Pennsylvania, and other guests, along with sixteen musical groups, will participate in the parade and in the pageantry beginning at Albright field at 12:15. The Shriners' own Oriental Band of Allentown, Rajah String Band, and Rajah Brass Band will also be presented. At half time, all the bands will entertain as one unit. The entertainment and, most important for Albright, the football game should prove rewarding to all of us, so let's cooperate with the Shrine and make this the most successful Pretzel Bowl in history!

SONG FEST SET AFTER HOMECOMING GAME

Immediately after the homecoming football game, a song fest will commence in the gym. Essentially the competition is between the sororities and fraternities, but other groups enter the contest. Each group may choose its own selection which cannot exceed three minutes. The group may consist of ten members and one accompanist. A trophy is awarded to the best group.

The groups will be judged in four different areas: blend of voices, accuracy of pitch, diction and overall personal presentation. Ten points are given for each of these areas with a total score of forty points. The individual scores will not be disclosed.

UN TRIP . . .

The tour through the United Nations' building will once again feature the day's program. There is also the possibility that one of the delegates to the UN or a member of the Secretariat will speak to the Albright delegation.

VISTA Work Parallels Peace Corps Efforts

Have you ever thought of joining the Peace Corps? Even if you haven't, here's an idea that might interest you. It's VISTA—Volunteers In Service To America. Formed by the President's Task Force on the War Against Poverty, VISTA is looking for anyone over 18 years old, preferably with a college degree.

Among others, doctors, nurses, social workers and teachers are needed to work in city slums, rural districts and Indian reservations in the United States. The one requirement for applicants is that they care about poor people, enough to share their lives and try to help them.

One lesson learned in the Peace Corps is that you can't help people until you are friends with them. Therefore, VISTA workers will live among the people they are trying to help. The hours are long and the pay is only $80 a month and living allowance, but if you want to help, write: VISTA, Box 100, Washington 25, D. C.

A Sister Reports

The following was submitted to The Albrightian by a sister of the Phi Beta Mu sorority:

"Fall has definitely arrived at Albright College and with it have come all the familiar signs . . . beautifully colored leaves, bonfires, football, pre-winter colds and, above all, PLEDGING!"

"This year Phi Beta Mu has selected six girls to proudly display the purple and gold on campus. For three weeks, according to the Mu tradition, these girls will don their dinks, dangle their pledge pins, and drown their pledging woes in dreams of sisterhood."

"The sisters have chosen for their '64 pledge class: Betsy Ward, a junior Natural Science major from Phillipsburg, N. J.; Joan Darby, a sophomore home ec major from Lafayette Hill; Betsy Deitenbeck, a sophomore home ec major from Somersdale, N. J.; Emmy Fairclough, a sophomore home ec major from Rahway, N. J.; Sally Wellington, a sophomore sociology major from Orchard Park, N. Y.; and Ellen Winters, a sophomore home ec major from Scotch Plains, N. J."

"The sorority will welcome the girls into the sisterhood at an induction ceremony November 11. Their first official function as sisters will be to act as co-hostesses at open house on December 4."

The Albrightian invites other fraternal organizations to submit similar material for publication.

ATTENTION ALL STUDENTS!

You are invited to see "Waiting for Lefty" tonight in Krause Hall at 7:30 P.M. Approximately 45 minutes long, this one-act play is being given by the freshmen of the Domino Club. It should interest everyone, especially you Sociology and Political Science majors. Admission is free, so let's all support our future Thespians. See you there!

SLACK OUTFITS "IN" FOR FALL

By Karen Cuper

This autumn season still brings us some beautiful, sunny days. Such weather is perfect for going on an afternoon hike or drive to admire the brightly-colored countryside. For attire during such casual moments, why not be comfortable and attractive in a lovely slack outfit?

Stretch slacks are still ever popular, be they subdued colors of gray, olive, or black, or any one of the "in" bright fall colors. In case you like the "stretchiness" and the fit, but you think you'd like a change from time to time, there is a practical idea in the making of stretch slacks which allow the removal of the foot straps.

With the slacks wear a wool-knit turtleneck jersey. It looks attractive worn alone, or if the weather is a bit chilly, wear a bulky V-necked sweater over it. The effect is very fashionable and popular this year. Match the jersey in color with the slacks, with a contrasting (but complementing) colored sweater.

If you can afford it, it's wonderful to build up a small collection of knit jerseys to wear under sweaters. Suggested basic colors are black, beige, navy blue, olive, red, and gray.

Turtleneck jerseys are "in"; stretch slacks are "in"; and V-necked sweaters are "in". Enjoy making your outfits "fashion fun" with different color combinations of sweaters over one color scheme of the jersey and slacks.

POEM

By Nancy Trainor

What is life? oh tell me please,
Why the grass, the sky, the trees?
Why the same thing every day?
Why the work, the rest, the play?
Why the worry what we gain?
Why the hardships, tears, and pain?
Why the hurt given by a foe?
Why the hatred, loath and woe?
Why the stampede for acceptance?
Why the black soul, not florescence?
Where is God? oh can't he see,
If there is one, please show me.
Why I'm here I'll never know.
The world's a troubled, sinful blow.
It hits you in the face someday
Its evils all around you play,
The world outside is good and swell
And all the rest is just like hell.
"Loving Brothers" might be shown,
But the meaning of love is not even known,
How can they love, when they can't be a friend?
It's a pity for us, that life doesn't end.

What is life? oh tell me please,
Why the grass, the sky, the trees?

Safety Belts Proven To Cut Auto Injuries

Auto accidents—and consequently auto fatalities and injuries—happen because someone fails to observe the simple precautions of auto safety. Seat belts are a proven, effective safety device, yet only one car in ten on the nation's roads are equipped with them. Safety study groups show that seat belts installed and used in all cars could cut serious injuries by 35-50 per cent; they could save 5000 lives yearly.

More accidents occur between 4:00 and 8:00 P.M. than at any other time of the day; the safest hours are between 4:00 and 8:00 A.M. Despite the poor reputation of Sunday drivers, most accidents occur on Saturday. More accidents occur in good weather than in bad, and two-thirds of all accidents occur within 25 miles of the victim's house.

In figuring your chances of auto safety, four factors must be remembered: Install and use seat belts; make sure your car is safe to drive; be aware of the traffic conditions in which you are driving; and observe the rules of the road. The life you save—to quote the National Safety Council—may be your own.
