Council Organizes Freshmen Tribunal

Representation Doubled In Constitution Change

A resolution establishing a tribunal for freshmen who persist in disregarding frosh etiquette was adopted by student council at a meeting on Monday.

Council also approved by voice vote two changes in the constitution of the Student Assembly. One will double the representative composition of the council. The other change requires either the president or the vice president to be a resident student.

These changes were submitted to the council Senate for approval. If such approval is given, council must again pass the changes by a two-thirds vote to incorporate them in the constitution.

Propose Enlargement

Under the new representation clause, each organization would be allowed two representatives. Dorothy Gaul, chairman of the committee on constitutional revision, explained. Each member should serve for two years and consequently would have to be elected in his sophomore year. The council, under that set-up, would always include seniors and juniors, eliminating the present defect of having the composition of council changed almost in its entirety every year.

The organizations represented at the meeting were asked to select substitutes for their approved delegates. Seymour Mendelsohn presided in the absence of President Vincent Rusbosin.

Schedule German Movie In Chapel Tuesday

Plan Two Showings Of "Maedchen in Uniform"

"Maedchen in Uniform," a German motion picture, will be presented by the German Club in the college chapel at 4:30 and 8 p. m. on Tuesday, October 15. Prices of admission will be 15 and 25 cents.

The picture was produced in Germany in 1930—pre-Hitler era—and centers about life in an aristocratic boarding school of pre-World War I.

The plot revolves around an orphan who is taken to the school. She is oppressed by the strict regulations of the Potsdam institution and is intoxicated by the love of her governess until she is almost driven to suicide.

Dean Walton To Be Host To Education Teachers

Dean George Walton will meet members of the Eastern District of College Teachers of Education in the Selwyn Hall Parlors at 2:00 o'clock next Friday afternoon. The teachers will be in Reading for the Eastern District convention of the Pennsylvania State Education Association.

Albrightian Staff To Meet Today At 1 P. M.

The weekly meeting time of the Albrightian staff will be at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon. This will take the place of the 2:30 meeting.

H. R. Knickerbocker To Give Eyewitness Account of War

INS Writer Here Thursday

Nazi blitzkrieg will be described by H. R. Knickerbocker, ace war correspondent for International News Service, at a lecture in the dining hall on Thursday at 8:30 p. m.

Knickerbocker's theme will be, "At the Ringside of History." For 17 years, a foreign correspondent, he had covered three other wars before he was assigned to the British forces in Holland last spring. He was in Ethiopia when Haile Selassie was fighting against Mussolini, in Spain during the civil war, and in the Far East during the early months of the Japanese invasion of China.

Roving Last 10 Years

Knickerbocker has been a roving correspondent for the last decade. Strangely enough this reporter, who in 1930 won the Pulitzer prize for foreign correspondence and various other journalistic awards, never really wished to be a newspaper man, much less a foreign correspondent.

Born in Texas, the son of a Methodist minister, he graduated from Southern Methodist University at the age of 18. He continued his studies at the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College before he went to New York to take a course at the Columbia University School of Journalism.

After a succession of newspaper jobs including positions with the New York Sun and the New York Post, the man who has been called "America's greatest foreign correspondent" first sailed to Europe in August, 1923—to study psychiatry.

Putsch Ended Studies

That fall when Hitler's famous "Beer House Putsch" occurred, and the Nazis won their first, if temporary, victory, he terminated his medical studies at the University of Munich and launched upon his career as a foreign correspondent.

The campus lecture is being sponsored by the cultural program committee of the college. Tickets for students will cost 50 cents. Tickets for others are $1.

Preparatory Services To Be Held In Chapel

Preparatory services for Religious Emphasis Week will be held in the seminary chapel at 1 o'clock every afternoon next week by the combined "Y's." The week of religion will start October 21 and continue until October 24.

The Bible Class last Sunday had its attendance swelled by homecoming alumni. Margaret Hollenbach spoke on "Loving Your Enemies." Verna Fye led the service and Paul Ackert played the organ.

This Sunday Earle Stetler will speak.

No Classes Wednesday; Draft Registration

All classes will be suspended Wednesday, October 16, to give persons of draft age a chance to register in compliance with the recent peacetime selective service law. Suspension of classes by the administration is in keeping with a proclamation of Governor Arthur H. James in which he urged cooperation of everyone.

Dr. Douds Named To Post In Debate Association

Chooses Three Questions For Oncoming Campaign

Representing Albright College in a debate conference, Dr. John B. Douds was elected vice-president of the Debating Association of Pennsylvania Colleges at Harrisburg last Saturday. Professor App of University of Scranton, was named president.

The association set a new mark in selecting not one—but three questions for inter-collegiate debate contests. The particular Pennsylvania question is: Resolved, That a permanent Union of the United States and the British Commonwealth of Nations should immediately be established. The other forensic subject is that democracy in the United States can be preserved only through decreased government control of industry, labor, agriculture, and finance.

Third Question

The Pi Kappa Delta question reads as follows: Resolved, That all nations of the Western Hemisphere should form a permanent union.

Old members and applicants for the debate squad met this morning with Dr. Douds to discuss the 1940-1941 campaign.

Berks Alumni Plan Halloween Party

The Berks County Chapter of the Albright Alumni Association will hold a Halloween party in the dining hall at 8 o'clock Monday night.

What's She After, A Job?

Button, button, how about a button? That's a familiar cry on the Albright campus. No, it's not a sophomore commanding a freshman to exercise his vocal cords, but just Kathryn Muhs, of West Reading, trying to keep Wendell Willkie before the public eye.

In class, Miss Muhs is like any other Albright student—attentive, conscientious and studious. She does, however, turn in freshman English themes on paper clipped together with Willkie buttons. But on the campus, she's a self-appointed committee of one for the distribution of buttons and "literature" in support of her man Friday, no—Willkie.

All you have to say to her is that you are interested in Willkie and you're in for it. A button reading, "Willkie for President" or "No Third Term" will gladly be given to you. For a small fee, you may also receive buttons with such slogans as, "No More Fireside Chats," "No Fourth Term," "Roosevelt for Ex-President," and "We Don't Want Eleanor Either." According to Miss Muhs, anyone can get Willkie material down at... (censored).

The only compensation for her efforts is personal satisfaction, Miss Muhs said. When asked if she had ever done any campaigning before, she replied, "Well, you see, I was only twelve at the last election," quickly adding, "but I did wear a Landon button."

The tall, smiling co-ed did not predict a Willkie victory. She does hope he wins. As for Roosevelt and his whole administration, nothing commendable can be said, she says.

Overheard yesterday: "Do you want a Willkie button?" An emphatic "No" was the reply. "Gosh, and I thought you looked intelligent!" was the quick retort.

College To Fete Parents of Freshmen

Set Aside Tuesday For Open House

The parents of the freshmen will get a chance to watch their progeny work on Tuesday when the annual Parents' Day rolls around. They will be guests of the school.

The classrooms will be open to them. A luncheon will be held at 12:45 p. m. Dean George W. Walton and President Harry V. Masters will be in their offices to greet the parents.

All in all, it'll be a day when the fathers and mothers can get a cross-sectional view of the machinery of Albright College. There will be no special program for that reason.

Parents should make their reservations for luncheon before tomorrow. Tickets can be secured when they register in the treasurer's office. Day students are also invited to eat luncheon with their parents.

Tag Days Net $30 For Y. W. Social Service

War Issues Discussed At Pacifists' Meeting Tuesday

The pockets of all individuals on campus may be slightly deflated after the onslaught of Y "taggers," but the "Y. W." social service coffers have been swelled more than $30. With the successful financial drive completed, Y. W. heads are ready to carry out their extensive plans for social service.

Talk About War

Tuesday evening after the combined "Y" meeting in the "Y" Room, the pacifists on campus held an open forum with the non-pacifists, airing and sharing views on the controversial question: "Are Pacifists Slackers?" The terms "patriotism" and "pacifism" were defined and the methods of non-violence were discussed. Art McKay led the open forum.

The next event on the "Y. W." social calendar is the Big and Little Sister Tea in the Selwyn Hall Parlors at three o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Editorial

When Albright College beats Muhlenberg College on the football field, that's something to write home about. But when several hundred Albright College students watch their alma mater's gridiron charges garner such a decisive victory and utter scarcely a yell while the garnering's going on, that's something else.

At the Kutztown game they yelled about the method of announcing the players over the public address system—by number instead of by name. We did too. All that was changed last Saturday. The old system was restored. But even that didn't draw a cheer.

The final score was 14-3. Plenty of tricky plays were pulled from the bag by the boys. But the only cheers they got were two victory counts.

We're not blaming the cheerleaders for the lack of enthusiasm, because even when they did call for cheers, nothing was forthcoming. Naturally they became disappointed and quit.

And we're not blaming the student body either, because many of the cheers were either none too popular, or better still, were unknown by the students.

The pep rally that should have been held three weeks ago will be held on Wednesday and Thursday mornings next week, in chapel. Let's make the most of it and really give an exhibition of yelling at the Catawba game.

Freshman Induction Next Friday Morning

Ending their four-week orientation program as set forth by Student Council, the freshmen will formally be inducted into Albright College as a class during a ceremony on the science hall steps at 10 o'clock next Friday morning. The orientation program is in charge of a committee headed by Woodrow Witmer.

Zetas Fete Frosh At Open House

The Zeta Omega Epsilon Fraternity was host to 40 freshmen Monday night at their annual open house. The visitors inspected the house and then watched motion pictures shown by Professor Henry Buckwalter. Refreshments were served.

All arrangements for the Zetas fall dance on November 16 have been completed. The affair will be held at the Iris Club in Wyomissing.

The Snooper

By Anne Onymous

Seen and heard at the Alumni Dance:

Miss Kauffman obviously trying to avoid something (or was it someone?).

Two frosh discussing that lost mattress in the dorm.

Natalie finding that Tom is a valuable brother.

A "Gay!" sweeping Jack off his feet. What about the sweetheart back home??

Dick Riffle looking handsome as usual. How did you like the game, Dick?

Romeo McFadden still making the girls' hearts skip a beat. Too bad he's so set on being a bachelor.

Edith keeping right up with Olga.

P. S.—Where were all the alumni????

We hear that Betty Jones' newest prize possession has been framed—don't get us wrong. We mean the new addition on her bureau.

Sam Coocodrilli has been hearing bells ringing lately—Klang! Klang! Incidentally, he can have his cake and eat it too.

Did you know that June has completely captured the heart of a certain Zeta?

Predigestion

Occasionally on a campus even so small as ours a student may develop by means of contacts, accidental or otherwise, a Columbus complex. If this by no means original term should be ambiguous to some of the readers of this column, a note would be in order to the effect that it is hereby taken to indicate an exploration interest—a quality which when realized can mean the difference between one who tells his fellow-classmates a few things on the last day of his senior year and one who is not only taken off the team but sent home at the end of his first semester.

Now in order to follow in the wake of Cristoforo one needs a little help from charts and beacons, some of which are at hand. The task at this moment of skipping other orientations and coming to the point of this article is a little embarrassing. It is occasioned, however, not by a desire to slight but by a promise to abide by editorial dicta concerning limit—a boon to typesetter and reader.

There is nothing quite so pleasant as a dish of tea in the afternoon. But where, outside of our beloved French professor's room,

Y Social Action Committee Studies Conscription Law

The Y. M. C. A. Social Action Committee made a study of the conscription law, technically known as the Selective Service Act. Persons interested in securing information about the law can get it from Paul Ackert, George Henry Winfield Morgan, and Lynn Brown can you find a place to sip on campus? Well, at least once a month there is a book talk and tea at the Library Prep room. There was one last week. For those of you who were bored by nature (flora and fauna) and more nearly personal) here are a few titles of books dusted off and dipped into at that time:

1. Adams: The Education of Henry Adams.
2. Apuleius: The Golden Ass.
3. Aristophanes: Lysistrata.
4. Cervantes: Don Quixote.
5. Daudet: Tartarin de Tarascon.
6. Fowler: A Dictionary of Modern English Usage (ad libitum).
7. Hardy: Jude the Obscure.
8. Maugham: Of Human Bondage.
9. Maurois: Ariel: the Life of Shelley.
10. Rabelais: Gargantua and Pantagruel.
11. Sterne: A Sentimental Journey Through France and Italy.
12. Wharton: Ethan Frome.

If a college education can seriously be considered from one point of view as an index to the best books, here is the temerity which suggests that you clip this list and use it as an appendix in the prospectus. And meanwhile, it might not be a bad idea to read the books.

By Harold Werner

Some "stuff"—The best excuse for avoiding conscription that we have heard is the one given by the lad who had been under his mother's wing for his first 20 years. The lad wishes to follow his mother's advice to "stay out of drafts"—he's allergic to colds. My, my, poor kid!

Here is the conclusion obtained from a scientific observation—Professor George is definitely a Willkie man! Evidence? Exhibit A—overhead in Calculus class—"This is still a democracy in spite of Roosevelt." Conclusion justifiable???

The Alchemists held their first meeting of the year on October 1, and will meet hereafter on the first Tuesday of every month at 8 p. m. in the science lecture hall. President Stanley Rosanski presided over the meeting which was strictly a business session. New members were voted into the organization by a unanimous vote. Students are eligible for membership who are at present taking a course in chemistry, have had at least one year of chemistry previously, and have a quality rating in chemistry. "Stevie" Plaskonos, who probably was not yet over the Moravian game, moved that "Kitty" Gelb be accepted into the club. This was all well and in order except that "Kitty" became a member when "Stevie" did, way back in '39. Oh, "Stevie!"

On Tuesday, October 15, Albright College will again be honored by the presence of one of the great men of science. Dr. Harry Lapp, anaesthesiologist at the Homeopathic Hospital, will speak to the Reading Chemical Society and student affiliates. Dr. Lapp works with anaesthesia as a science.

Last night the Astronomy Club met in the science lecture hall at 8 p. m. Professor George gave a very interesting talk on the use of the spectroscope in the study of the stars. The club is planning to visit the Franklin Institute at Philadelphia for its November meeting. Students, awake—this is a growing and influential organization on our campus, thanks to the diligent efforts of Professor Paul Speicher. Why not quit your day-dreaming and gaze at some real stars—it's more interesting and beneficial.

This column wishes to point out an error contained in its first issue this year about the employment of William Brandenburg. "Bill" is employed as a chemist for Wallacs Tiernan, Inc.—manufacturers of medicinal chemicals—at Belleville, N. J. Our information is from a reliable source—it was the first time also, eh, Doctor!

Norman Jowett, class of '38, is employed as a chemist with the Sherwin-Williams Co., at Newark, N. J.

Vikings Next On List

If you remember correctly, the feature story on this page last week began like this, "A capacity homecoming crowd is expected . . ." so on and so forth. The entire day had been fully planned. Everybody expected a throng of alumni to be on hand to take part in the day's activities and renew old acquaintances. Especially did everybody expect a capacity crowd to witness the football game between two traditional rivals such as Albright and Muhlenberg.

But where was the expected full house? Where were the faithful alumni? We know they weren't at the game or else the stadium would have been packed. We know they weren't at the dance Saturday night because you could count the alumni there on your two hands. What we're really trying to say is simply this: The 1940 Home-Coming Day was a failure. Why? The weather was ideal and the opposition was tough. Those two things alone should have furnished enough incentive for any loyal Albright alumnus to return to the campus. And yet we saw a miserable crowd.

Yes, it was really disheartening to both the college officials and the students. Somewhere something went wrong with the carefully laid plans. This column doesn't know just where, but this much is certain: many of our alumni knew nothing of the home-coming plans of the college before last Tuesday, only four days in advance, when they received a card relative to the affair. Many of them had made other plans which could not be broken on such short notice.

Reading over an editorial comment in a local paper on the Lion-Mule game, we came across something we didn't like at all. The poor cheer-leaders were blamed for the lack of enthusiasm at the game. But students, we know differently. We ourselves are to blame simply because we don't know the cheers. We have hardly any control over the Freshmen and so the heart of our cheering section is gone. Fewer than half of the Freshmen boys were in the student section for the game. Is it so hard to understand then why the upperclassmen don't cheer when the newest and usually most enthusiastic class, the Freshmen, doesn't even show up for the game?

Things You May Not Know Dept. — Jimmy Breen didn't see action last Saturday because of an injured leg and not because he had late classes which prevented him from practicing . . . The Kappas are the defending touch-football champions of the campus. They opened their defense of the title last Monday afternoon with an impressive 6-0 win over the Pi Taus, who were runners-up last fall.

Upsala To Meet Dietzmen At East Orange Tomorrow

Lions Riding High On Muhlenberg Win

Seek Third Victory Of Current Campaign

A rejuvenated Albright pigskin powerhouse, spurred on by a 14-3 victory over Muhlenberg, journeys to East Orange, N. J., this morning for tomorrow's clash with Upsala Vikings. The Red and White squad covets its third win in four starts for the current season, and victory No. two over the Woerneremen.

Coach Lone Star Dietz, who seems to have a habit of springing surprises in the nature of unheralded gridiron heroes, uncorked a surprisingly powerful line combination in last Saturday's encounter which surpassed the previous performances of the 1940 forward wall. Johnson and Plaskonos displayed their usual drive and play-smashing ability at tackle stations, but Titanic Tom, and Strapping Steve are going to be hard-pressed by a sophomore hopeful, Jim Harpster.

Ends Upset Plays

Ends Tom Frystak and Bob Baum harried the Mule offense, and spearheaded the Lion aerial blitzkrieg, but the rangy terminals will have to look to their laurels if Bill Spangler continues his improvement. Biggest surprise of the game, however, was the unveiling of Tom Lubin as a spectacular defensive guard. The Vineland, N. J., powerhouse was largely responsible for the Mules' -43 which was chalked up in the net-yards-rushing column.

The backfield aces for Albright in the Muhlenberg victory merely repeated previous scintillating performances. Bob Bennett, husky fullback, and Jack Killianny, halfback aerial artist, again stole the spotlight, Bennett shining aground, and Killianny leading the air assault.

Spend Night in Jersey

Coach Dietz is taking no chances on his charges' condition for tomorrow's tussle. The squad will be quartered in an Elizabeth, N. J., hotel tonight after working out on a high school field this afternoon. The alma mater should be well represented at Viking Field, judging by the large number of students planning to make the trip.

A few changes in the starting lineup are planned by the Lion board of strategy. Lubin will replace Sekulski, who is suffering from a bruised cartilage, and Bennett will start in place of the injured Marshall Popelka. Jimmy Breen may receive the starting call from Dietz.

Statistics of Game With Muhlenberg

Several interesting statistics were compiled from the Muhlenberg game last Saturday. Among them were:

	Lions	Mules
First downs	9	8
Rushing	4	5
Passing	3	3
Penalties	2	0
Net yards rushing. 52		-43
Net yards forwards 116		122½
Forwards attempted	18	20
Forwards completed	9	8
Fumbles	3	3
Penalties	6	3
Yards lost on penalties	30	60

Thirteen Students Apply For C. A. A. Training Course

With 13 students already in the fold, Professor Oliver George, ground school instructor of the light training program on campus, expressed a hope that the quota of 20 would be filled.

If 20 students do not enter the class, the ten highest rating applicants probably will be given the course. The first ground school class was held on Tuesday evening.

Frosh Hunt Treasure At Phi Beta Mu Party

The Phi Beta Mu Sorority inaugurated its rush season on Monday night with a treasure hunt for freshmen at Stegman's country home. After an hour of dashing around the grounds hunting for clues with their flashlights, the girls gathered in the living room for singing and refreshments.

Teachers Are Invited To Banquet Thursday

In conjunction with the meeting of the Eastern Convention District, the Reading Teachers' Association will hold a dinner meeting Thursday evening to which teachers of the district are invited. Robert Kazmayer will speak. Miss Laura Braun will also be present.

The Albright College faculty members and student members of the P. S. E. A. are invited. Persons who plan to attend this dinner are requested to inform Professor Miller no later than Monday, October 14 so reservations can be made. The price of the dinner is $1.00.

Eight Members Added To P. A. T. Sorority Rolls

Eight new members were formally initiated into the Pi Alpha Tau Sorority Monday evening in Selwyn Hall Parlor during a very impressive ceremony. The new members are: Joan Belmont, Adele Ferguson, Kay Gasche, Geraldine Ross, Patricia Smith, Sally Weaver, Miriam Weidner, and Esther Whitehead.

After the ceremony, refreshments were served while active members and alumnae made new and renewed old acquaintances. Among the alumnae members present were Miss Ruth Shaeffer, faculty advisor; Ada Gossler, Jane Buttorff, Madge Arnold, Mary Capallo, Jane Dick, Thelma Kutch, Seta Schmidt, Jeannette Henry, Marion Costello, Dorothy Butler, Mildred Rothermel Ice, Gladys Jenkins, Ann Benninger, and Mrs. Anna H.
