7 Orators Compete In Annual Contest

Seven juniors and seniors will compete tonight for the fifteen dollar first prize and the ten dollar second prize offered by the Alumni Association to the winners of the Annual Junior-Senior Oratorical Contest. The contest will be held at 8:00 in the college chapel. Professor Harding will have charge of the event.

Speakers will be Alan Hamilton Paul Golis, Harold Schieck, Albert Falcone, Margaret Savidge Frebertolet, and Dean Allen.

The judges will be Norman C Brillhart, from Reading High School; Emma J. Reinbold, Mount Penn High School, and J. Lester Appenzeller principal of the Wyomissing Schools.

Domino Play Wins Praise at Olympics

The Domino play, "Why I Am A Bachelor," received favorable comment from the critics in the Cultural Olympics at the University of Pennsylvania last week. The board of critics included Miriam Phillips, of Hedgerow; Edwin Schloss, drama critic for the Philadelphia Record; Henry Murdock, of the Philadelphia Evening Ledger; John Dolman, of the University of Pennsylvania, and other persons well versed in dramatics.

The consensus of opinion was that the critics liked the presentation of Albright's play better than its selection. They felt that while the play was excellent entertainment, it wasn't quite representative of the sort of work we do. They were especially pleased with the voice projection of the Albright actors in view of the very bad acoustics in the Irvine Auditorium, that was high praise.

Other colleges represented at the three-day collegiate dramatic conference were Girard College, Lincoln University, University of Pennsylvania, University of Delaware, Kutztown, Drexel, West Chester, and Shippensburg.

PROFESSOR PUBLISHES HISTORY ARTICLES

Dr. Milton W. Hamilton is the author of an article in the April issue of The Historical Review of Berks County, entitled "The Anti-Masonic Press of Reading." Dr. Hamilton is also represented in the April issue of the Pennsylvania Magazine of History and Biography with a review of J. Bennett Nolan's latest book, "Printer Strahan's Book Account," and in New York History with a review of Ludlum's "Social Ferment in Vermont."

SENIORS TO TAKE TUBERCULIN TESTS

Seniors will be tested for tuberculosis on May 13, Dr. Horn announced this week. Prospective teachers are urged especially to be tested since the tests are required by many school districts.

Coeds To Hold Leap Year Dance

Leap Year Dance will be held at the Hotel Abraham Lincoln. Music for the affair will be provided by the Royal Manhattans.

The chaperones will be Miss Ethel Norton, Miss Esther Fenili, Mr. Robert Work, Mr. and Mrs. Neal O. Harris, and Prof. and Mrs. Clyde A. Harding.

A committee consisting of Lida Faist, Miriam Hershey, Virginia Jackson, Emma Shenk and Mari Zeffiro is in charge of arrangements.

Speaker Describes Youth Hostels

In chapel on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, Mr. Charles Harris, regional secretary of the American Youth Hostel movement, presented a film entitled "Youth Hosting in America."

Before he showed the film, Mr. Harris said that the movement is about five years old in this country. There are 14 hostels from Philadelphia to Manada Gap, of which five are in Berks County.

The film showed activities of the movement in the United States, Canada, and Mexico. Over 90 per cent of the hostels are farm buildings operated by farm people. Dr. Mary E. Woolley, famous educator, is president of the movement. The country is divided into seven regions. Lodgings costs 25 cents a night and meals 75 cents a day. Anyone may get a pass to the hostels by paying a dollar. About 85 per cent of the people travel on bicycles. Groups have gone even to Europe. This summer some groups are going to Alaska, Mexico and South America.

Kobrin To Be Business Manager

Robert Gerhart has been appointed the new editor of the Albrightian, the publication's board announced this week. The names of the other two students who will control the destinies of the weekly have also been announced. Margaret Hollenbach will fill the position of managing editor, and Theodore Kobrin will be business manager.

Both the new editorial heads have had a great deal of experience on the staff since his freshman year, working in the sports department and serving as managing editor on the present staff. In addition, he is a member of the editorial staff of the READING TIMES. Miss Hollenbach served on the staff since her sophomore year as literary editor and reporter for various campus organizations. Both editors are juniors and English majors.

Chamber Music Season Concluded

The program of the third and final concert of the Chamber Music Trio held in the college chapel Monday evening included works by Smetana, Haydn, and Kornauth.

The performing artists were Hans Nix, violinist; Chester Wittell, pianist, and Walter Schmidt, cellist.

Next year, the trio will again present three concerts featuring works of the great masters of music.

Dominos Visit Hedgerow Theatre

Six members of the Domino Club celebrated Shakespeare's birthday by visiting the Shakespeare Festival at Hedgerow Tuesday, April 23. They saw a production of the first part of "King Henry IV," one of the earlier Shakespearean tragedies. The highlight of the play was Harry Shephard's portrayal of Falstaff, the famous comedy character.

The group included Patricia Smith, Margaret Thompson, Helen Markey, Lewis Briner, Robert Work and George Henry.

GERMAN CLUB GIVES PLAY AT OLYMPICS

The German Club presented "Panne vor Alt Heidelberg" at the Cultural Olympics yesterday. The language plays are a part of the intercollegiate drama festival held at the University of Pennsylvania each year. Last year the Albright German group won recognition for their play, and Aloysius Meimberger received special honors for acting.

This year's play, the story of two Americans in Germany, was presented in the college chapel last Tuesday to an appreciative audience. The cast included Geraldine Ross, Ethel Mae Yeakel, Donald Burger, Arthur McKay, and Harold Werner.

Evans Wins Place On G. O. P. Ticket

As a result of the primaries held this week, Dr. John C. Evans was chosen the Republican candidate for the House of Representatives in the fall elections. He will be opposed by Congressman Guy L. Moser, the Democratic candidate.

Dr. Evans won the nomination over Wilford L. Reist with a plurality of 2,584 votes. A World War veteran, he has combined public service with his work as head of the economic department at Albright. He has served on two wage-hour committees and as impartial arbitrator for the Berks County hosiery industry.

Debaters Place In T. K. A. Finals

Albright debaters took honors at the annual eastern conference of Tau Kappa Alpha, national forensic fraternity, held at Bucknell College last week.

Before adjourning, the conference voted decisively in favor of continuing freshmen customs and hazing. For two days, members of colleges and universities from New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Maryland debated the question: "Resolved, that American liberal art colleges should discountenance Freshmen discrimination."

Paul Golis, upholding the affirmative side of the question, entered the final round of the tournament undefeated. Golis amassed more points than any other participant in the contest.

David Levar, arguing the negative side, won more debaters than any other negative debater.

Since they out-scored their opponents, Golis and Levar were entered with three other debaters in the finals, featuring a parliamentary session. Albright was the only college to place two men in this contest. Denman, of Drew University, and Miss Funk, of Ursinus, were awarded plaques.

Slade, of Bucknell, won the trophy for the after-dinner speaking contest in which Albright was represented by William Bottonari.

David Levar, of Albright, was nominated for the presidency of the Middle-Eastern district of the T. K. A. The election went to Metzger, of Muhlenberg College.

POETRY CONTEST DEADLINE MAY 1

All entries for the Douds' Poetry Contest must be in the hands of Dr. Douds by May 1. The contest is open to all students. There will be a prize of $10 for the best poem submitted.

Why An Honor System?

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Now that exams, along with spring fever, April showers, and commencement, are about to descend upon us, the problem of cribbing arises. Here is one senior's suggestion as to what to do about it. What would you suggest? Let us have your opinion.)

With all the varied attempts made to eliminate cribbing on the campus there has been very little success. Cribbing has not even been curtailed or decreased in any manner. The situation never will be seriously improved by the methods used thus far—that is, faculty supervision and discussion groups. The program, if there has been any, has been negative in its approach, and, while seeking to eliminate cheating has done so only to the extent that faculty and administration have been vigilant. The spirit and the will to cheat continue to exist; and as long as this condition prevails, there never will be any serious decrease in cheating or cribbing on the Albright campus.

This problem can be tackled as it has been handled in many other colleges—that is, by an honor system. Such a policy attacks the problem from a positive angle, seeks to create the will to honesty in all forms of conduct and a feeling of honest disgust at any deliberate cheating.

An honor system is difficult to administer. In fact, it has been shown by studies that it has failed more often than it has succeeded. But it has worked for years in many places; and where it has worked, the problem of cheating and dishonesty has been solved. At the same time it has created a tradition in the school and has given something to the graduates of the school which they would be loathe to give up.

The writer also recognizes that it would take years to establish an honor system; and, that once established, it could only be maintained

I. R. C. Discusses National Problem

International Relations Club met in the Faculty Room, at 8:00, on Thursday, April 18. An informal roundtable discussion was held, on the subject: "How Far Should the United States Go in Helping the Small Neutral Countries Who Have Become Victims of the Present European War?"

Professor Harding, Dr. Gingrich and Dr. Hamilton acted as leaders of the discussion, in which nearly all of the 16 club members who were present participated. The club will hold its final meeting of the year on Thursday, May 9.

S. T. D. Meets At Douds Home

Sigma Tau Delta met at the home of Dr. Douds on Wednesday, April 24. Dr. Douds and Professor Harding concocted a quiz which kept the members guessing for most of the evening. Miss Norton was formally initiated into the fraternity.

Members present included Miss Norton, Ada Gossler, Thelma Rebert, Marion Plummer Myrtle Stegman, Phyllis Kaltreider, Betty Dietz, Louise Eastland, Gene Lau, Jeanette Snyder, Margaret Hollenbach, Dr. and Mrs. Douds, Professor and Mrs. Harding, George Henry and Alfred Comstock.

German Class Sees Points of Interest

The class in Pennsylvania German folklore and customs made a field trip on Wednesday to several places of interest. They visited the Stahl pottery works in Powder Valley where they saw the two Stahl brothers making pottery by hand. Guy Reinert, an authority on Pennsylvania arts and crafts, was their guide.

At Pennsburg they visited the Schwenkfelder Museum, a part of the Perkiomen Seminary Library. From there they went to the museum in Doylestown where there is an excellent collection of early German materials.

All Bright Observations

By ALFRED COMSTOCK

KENNEL KLUB K-9 KAPERS

Was you ever to a dog show? I was ever to one once! Not just a "dawg" show, but a real "doggie affair," where all the dogs, and most of the exhibitors bore real honest-to-goodness pedigrees. The occasion I refer to was the annual Bench Show of the Reading Kennel Club.

Be it known that your scribe is not a dog fancier. The show last Saturday was his first dog show, and it was only because he knew one of the exhibitors that he happened to attend. However, he found it to be a very educational, as well as a very entertaining, experience.

I had often wondered just what a dog show would be like. After seeing one I would say that it is a cross between a circus, with four rings, instead of the usual three, and a very small sprinkling of sawdust; and a railroad station, with the caller saying: "Spaniel No. 6 in Ring No. 1, Sporting dogs . . . . Last call for Newfoundland No. 3 in working ring, Ring No. 3," instead of "Train 4 on Track 6, will leave in five minutes." There is also a bit of fashion show thrown in, with some of the exhibitors taking one's eye away from the dogs that they lead around the ring. I was dazzled particularly by a lean lady with a large red-hair ribbon on her head, which looked as though it had slipped off a package of fruit from Florida.

One of the most impressive features of the whole show, in my estimation was the old Reading Armory, at Walnut and Rose, where the show was held. This antediluvian affair is about on a par with the outer depot, when it comes to modernity. I was seated on the west side of "Skytop," high above timberline, and had the rare good fortune to sit next to a young woman whom I shall call "Miss Nasal-twang," since that cognomen will suit all practical purposes. Less than three minutes after she and her girl friend arrived she pulled out her cigarette case and lit up, in bold defiance of the "No Smoking" sign covering a fourth of the opposite wall. Very shortly after the show started, she remarked to her friend: "I like those taffy-colored spaniels. You know the old saying: 'They go daffy over taffy.'" Then a little later, talking about a former dog of one of the exhibitors: "They sterilized everything that he played with. Then he died! They had him insured." Sometime after I had caught this enlightening bit of information, Miss Nasal-twang remarked to her companion: "That's her husband with the dark hat on chewing gum." Her remark left me in doubt as to who was chewing the gum—hubby or the dark hat!

All in all, I think that the affair was quite a huge success, despite the fact that one large Schnauzer staged a "sit-down" strike during the obedience test, and there came near being a Boxer Rebellion when one of the toy dogs got over into the wrong ring. My only disappointment was in not seeing Mrs. Luden exhibit one of her Horehounds!

SPORT SHOTS

By CARL MOGEL

The county track meet sponsored by Albright College at the Stadium, on Wednesday afternoon was very well attended by both high school and college students. The college did a little advertising over the public address system while the Berks County students of Albright did a little cheering for their home town athletes. Many of the boarding students were present also to see three records fall by the boards. The young Wyomissing athlete, George Manderbach, who broke the discus record with a heave of 121 feet, will matriculate at Albright next year.

Coach Neal O. Harris is planning a B softball loop composed of sixteen teams instead of the usual ten-men squads. The idea is simply this: The diamond, instead of being laid out on a right angle, will be laid out at a 45-degree angle, eliminating third base, shortstop, and left-field. This leaves first, second and home; so only a catcher, pitcher, two infielders and two outfielders are needed. This idea, of course, will allow the fellows who are not signed up with the A team to participate in competition.

The softball season is closing its first week, and yet the foul lines have not been marked, the pitcher's box has not been moved back to the new regulation size, and the bleachers have not been erected. If the college is so interested in this expanded inter-mural program, why haven't these things been done? The college has co-operated with the Athletic Department in moving up the supper hour to 6:00 so as to get in a full evening game, and yet it refuses to pay the umpires forty cents an hour for their necessary work of officiating. By the way, Mr. Harris pitched the first afternoon and it was a perfect strike.

Last week, this column forgot to mention Raymer Kent and Dick Shollenberger as among those on the campus who will play hardball this year. Sophomore, Raymer Kent, has joined with Jack Munley and Sam Coccodrilli, while Freshman, Richard Shollenberger, has signed with Topton. Both clubs are in the Northern Division of the Berks Recreational League. Tom Wanageris another fine player on the campus, has not as yet signed with any club.

Kappas Win Initial Softball Tilt

Ray McCrann and Carl Mogel pitched the Kappas to their initial win of the 1940 season by shutting out the Day Students, 16-0, on Wednesday afternoon. McCrann and Mogel both pitched no-hit ball, and their team-mates came through with twelve hits to clinch the game for them. Eshelman led the parade of base-blows with two home runs and a single. The Day Students found McCrann's speed and Mogel's curves untouchable, and hence could not produce a single hit.

A game between the Zetas and the Theologs was scheduled for Wednesday evening, but could not be played because of darkness.

Tennis Team Faces Heavy Away Schedule Next Week

Trackmen Elect Thorpe Captain

The lettermen of the track squad met on Monday and selected Ray Thorpe to captain the team for the 1940 season.

Ray has been a member of the track squad for the past two years. He specializes in the 440-yard dash and the shot-put. At Susquehanna last year, Ray took first place in the shot. He also picked up a number of points in the other meets.

It appears that the next track meet will be held on May 4, with Dickinson College. There is a possibility that the postponed St. Joseph's College meet will be run off before that date, but at the moment this appears very doubtful.

Gustitus Named A. P. O. Captain

Al Gustitus was appointed captain of the A. P. O. softball team last Monday by the fraternity. The opening game with the Pi Tau team was postponed because of weather conditions.

WHY AN HONOR SYSTEM?

by sustained vigilance. But studies also have shown that an honor system works best in a small liberal arts college, and Albright is such a college; so there is some assurance of success. It demands much more work and greater effort than the present method, but in the end, the reward will more than pay for it. The present method only hopes to maintain an uneasy status quo, and there always exists for both students and faculty the feeling that someone is being cheated.

An honor system, once adopted, becomes as much a part of the school as frosh customs, mantle ceremonies, or senior week. Yet it offers something that becomes more a part of the student's way of life than any of these. The creation of an honor system is the creation of a spirit of honesty and mutual trust in all the activities of the campus and with all members of the school. Honesty becomes a sacred duty; dishonesty, sacrilegious and cowardly. Only when such a spirit becomes a vital part of the Albright campus will cribbing and cheating cease to be a problem. It will never be eliminated by namby-pamby restricted discussion groups; it will never be eliminated by faculty and administration supervision. If we do not adopt a positive, constructive program, we will have to endure the system as Job endured his boils. This is hardly a modern or progressive attitude.

—JOSEPH FARMER

Ray Hain Holds Number One Spot

Coach Russell Resch's tennis squad, after having the first two matches with Lafayette and Rutgers postponed by rain, will again attempt to open the season on Saturday afternoon against Lebanon Valley, at the 11th and Pike courts. The racquet wielders are anxious to show their form in competition in preparation for next week's heavy schedule against major opponents. On Wednesday, Muhlenberg will be the host to the Lions at Allentown; and on Thursday, Lehigh will entertain at Bethlehem. The squad closes the week on Saturday at Carlisle, facing Dickinson.

Ray Hain, brilliant sophomore from Shillington, remains as No. 1 man, while the team's captain and only senior, Donald Burger, is slated to hold down the second position.

Dick Walton has sewed up the third position, while another sophomore, Willis Heisey has clinched the No. 4 position. Jay Williams is in the fifth slot, while the only freshman on the squad, Donald Spatz, is firmly entrenched in the No. 6 place. Ray Swett is the seventh man on the team.

Down Melody Lane

By Seymour Mendelsohn

The following short story is an example of how one person acquired a better understanding and appreciation of fine music.

When I attended junior high school, students of music received free tickets for the Reading Symphony concerts because there were a great number of empty seats—almost the entire balcony of the Rajah Theatre. Like many other students, I did not often take advantage of this offer. The primary reason for my not making use of the free concerts was that when I did attend a concert, I did not find it enjoyable. The great symphonic masterpieces meant no more to me at that time than they do to an Eskimo today.

Ever since Roosevelt was elected (not that the election has anything to do with it), the attendance at the Reading Symphony concerts has been steadily increasing; until now, every performance is a sell-out and tickets are ordered a season in advance.

The remarkable fact is that now I gladly pay to sit in "seventh heaven" to hear music what six years ago I wouldn't go to hear for nothing, let alone travel through a

The Lions Den

By ALAN R. DUKE

It is certainly a shame that Albright will not be represented at the Penn Relays tomorrow. We have at least five good quarter-milers in the college and we stood an excellent chance of taking a first or second place in the relays. The trouble seems to lie in the fact that there is not enough interest in cinder pounding game. It is quite true that the senior men are all pretty well occupied with practice-teaching and other activities, but certainly the under-graduates have enough time to get out and practice every day.

We have only the two spring sports here at Albright; and, since tennis takes up the time of about seven or eight men only, and since there are so few fellows out for track, the rest of the athletes must be taking it very, very easy. It is too late now to think about the Penn Relays; but there are still four dual meets coming up, so why not go out and give the track team a break?

We are all waiting to see how Gene Venzke will fare in the Relays tomorrow. At the Berks County Meet on Wednesday, Gene ran a 1:57 half-mile without even trying. He appears to be in wonderful shape and should go places outdoors this summer.

Just heard some bad news. Professor Buckwalter, one of the mainstays of the faculty softball team, will not be able to play this spring because of a bad ankle. It seems that he sprained his ankle while skiing and it hasn't been the same since. Rumor has it, however, that he is holding out for more money and the Faculty A. C. refuses to give it to him.

Spanish Students Take Field Trip

Last Friday, Professor Fenili took a group of Spanish students on a field trip to Philadelphia, where they viewed an exhibition of Italian and Spanish art at the Fairmount Park Museum.

Following a dinner at the Turin Grotto, an Italian restaurant, they saw an all-news show at the Trans-Lux, the newsreel theatre. The group included Professor Fenili, Esther Fenili, Nina Fenili, Jean Weissinger, Mary Jane Ward, Margaret Schmeltz and Edward Halbfaster.

down-pouring rain so as not to miss. The attraction which good music holds for people is indeed great—so great that people, great and humble, rich and poor, all treasure it as one of their dearest possessions. As a magnet attracts metal, good music draws people to the opera and to the musical theatre.

That many students of Albright attend the concerts given by the Reading Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Hans Kindler, world famous cellist, is significant. It shows that some college students have learned the value of music and the experience which good music offers them. Through the Music Department of the college, student tickets for the symphony and Haage concerts are available at a low price. Students should be sure to take advantage of such an opportunity next fall.

Music should be an integral part of the educational process. If one of the purposes of a college education is to develop the individual's personality to the maximum extent possible, surely music must play its part. College should also help us to use our leisure time in worthwhile activity. Recently, the college initiated a class in music appreciation. This should go far in aiding the student to acquire a broader knowledge of the musical art. Just as music reflects the soul of the composer, an appreciation of it reflects the personality of the listener.
