Marilyn A. Teeter Attends Meeting At Colo. A & M

Marilyn A. Teeter, '57, is representing the Albright College chapter of Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary journalism fraternity, at the fraternity's biennial convention on the campus of Colorado A. & M. College, Fort Collins, Colo., today through Sunday.

The convention is divided into three sections: newspapers, yearbooks, and literary magazines. Miss Teeter is attending the sessions dealing with literary magazines. The Albright Chapter of Pi Delta Epsilon plans to publish the first issue of such a magazine next spring.

Speakers Named

Experts in newspapers, magazine, and yearbook production are among the speakers at various sessions. Among them are Alexis McKinney, assistant to the publishers of the Denver Post, who will address the banquet Saturday night; Paul Frigens, western region editor of the Farm Journal, who will lead the magazine seminar; and Mr. Lee Olsen, editor of the Empire Section of the Denver Post, who will lead the seminar on newspaper production.

In addition to the business meetings, there will be guided tours of the campus of A and M and Estes Park, initiation of A and M pledges, a dance, and other entertainment.

The general purpose of this convention is to talk with students from all parts of the United States and exchange experiences and ideas on common problems of campus publishing.

Immanuel EUB Church To Entertain Students

Immanuel Evangelical United Brethren Church, 6th and Kerper Sts., will be host to all Albright EUB students at a buffet supper Sunday, at 5:30 p.m.

This will be followed by a vesper service in the church sanctuary led by the pastor, Raymond W. Miller, '48.

Following the vesper service there will be a get-acquainted hour in the church social parlors. This will be led by college personnel.

'Focus On Opportunity' To Be Shown Next Week

"Focus on Opportunity," a 40-minute movie filmed in part on the Albright campus, will be shown next Tuesday and Thursday at the regular assembly hour, 11 a.m.

Produced by the Evangelical United Brethren Church as part of the United Crusade, the film highlights the need of the respective denominational colleges and seminaries for new buildings such as libraries, dormitories, a chapel-auditorium, a dining hall, and a gymnasium.

Scenes Filmed On Campus

A large proportion of the scenes were filmed on this campus, and show a good cross-section of student life.

The movie opens with a series of general scenes of the campuses of Albright and the other six denominational colleges, giving their location and respective dates of founding. In a series of rapidly moving scenes, the movie focuses on worship opportunities, cultural activities, educational methods, and the

Scale Model Of Campus

This hand-made, scale model of the Albright College campus was built by two senior art students from Kutztown State Teachers College. Sponsored by the Centennial Committee, it will be used for display and exhibition purposes throughout the Reading area in observance of Albright's 100th anniversary. Later, it will be placed in the college library.

Over 600 Alumni, 200 Guests Return Homecoming Weekend

More than 600 alumni and 200 guests returned to the campus for Homecoming Day last Saturday, according to Mary E. Fry, executive secretary of the Alumni Association.

The day's events proceeded smoothly, in spite of a break in a main water line which left the Hampden Heights section of the city waterless for almost three hours, and threatened to hinder Steward Leonard Van Driel's staff in their preparations for the alumni buffet luncheon at noon.

The highlight of the day was the alumni banquet preceding the Homecoming game with Franklin and Marshall. To climax the dinner, Dr. Harry V. Masters, president of the college, cut Albright's 100th birthday cake—a lavish, five-tiered creation covered with white frosting and topped with a mammoth "A".

Others taking part in the cake-cutting ceremony were Dr. J. Warren Klein, former president of the college; Alma J. Grove, '56, Centennial Homecoming Queen; Charles S. (Pop) Kelchner, '95, former football, basketball and baseball coach; and George Bollman, president of the board of trustees.

Chairman of the Centennial Homecoming Committee was Fred A. Howard, '12. Others on the committee were Elsie S. Knoll, '21; Isabel W. Sondheim, '21; W. William Carson, '49; George E. Koehler, '48; and Fred E. Luckenbill, '23.

Also, H. Eugene Pierce, '47; John P. Paolini, '56; Annadora V. Shirk, assistant professor of English; Paul M. Leininger, associate professor of chemistry; Samuel B. Shirk, assistant to the president; and Miss Fry.

An alumni cheerleading squad, consisting of Marybeth S. Lieb, '46; Jean B. Simpson, '48; Jean C. Long, '49, and captained by Terrence E. Connor, '51, led a group of cheers just before the banqueters adjourned to the stadium for the float parade preceding the football game.

Other entertainment was provided by quartets which presented music from the '20's and '40's. Featured in the quartet from the '20's were (Continued On Page Four)

Smoker, Reeser To Give Concert This Sunday

J. Richard Smoker, '55 and Robert Reeser, '56, will be the featured soloists in the second program of the Centennial Concert series to be held Sunday, at 4 p.m., in Teel Chapel.

Smoker, a resident of Pottstown, was active in the music circle at Albright when a student. He was a member of the Glee Club, accompanist for that group and also director of the college Octet. Presently he is serving as organist-choir director at the Salem Evangelical United Brethren Church, Pottstown. He is a student of Dr. John H. Duddy, professor of music.

Dance Tonight

A dance will be held in Krause Hall this evening from 8-11 p.m. Music will be provided by the school dance band which is under the direction of Jay Salustro, '58. Refreshments will be served.

Ronald C. Brown Elected President By Freshman Class

Ronald C. Brown, business administration student from Wantagh, N. Y., was elected president of the freshman class last Tuesday. Fred O. Dietzel, III, Ephrata, was elected vice president.

Albert P. Castello, Reading, and Richard H. Kelly, Fanwood, N. J., liberal arts student, had been elected secretary and treasurer, respectively, the preceding Thursday.

Kelly accepted the charge for the Class of '59 at the annual Freshman Induction last Tuesday, since the presidential and vice presidential races had not resulted in a majority at the first balloting the Thursday before. The second balloting, resulting in the election of Brown and Dietzel, took place after the induction ceremony.

Dr. Masters New PACU President

Dr. Harry V. Masters, president of the college, was elected president of the Pennsylvania Association of Colleges and Universities at the annual meeting of that organization, held at the Hotel Hershey, Hershey, Pa., last Monday and Tuesday.

Dr. Harry V. Masters

Last year Dr. Masters served as vice president of the association. As president, he succeeds John C. Warner, president of the Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Other officers elected at the meeting are vice president, Boyd C. Patterson, president of Washington and Jefferson College; secretary, William G. Ryan, president of Seton Hill College; and treasurer, Raymond S. Hauptert, president of Moravian College.

Reeser, a German major, is also active in college music groups. He is a member of the Glee Club and the Octet.

Smoker, organist at the recital, will use the following numbers for his program: Fugue in E-flat Major (St. Anne), Bach; In Thee Is Joy from Orgelbuchlein, Bach; Suite Gothique (op. 25), Boellman; Four Improvisations on Gregorian Melodies (Ap. 6), Peeters; and Florentine Chimes, Bingham.

Reeser, tenor soloist, will sing If With All Your Hearts (Elijah), Mendelssohn; Hear My Cry, Milligan; Come Ye Blessed, Scott; Courage, Huhn; A Memory, Ganz; and also will sing a selected German number.

The series of concerts is being held in conjunction with the observance of the college's celebration of its 100th year as an institution of higher learning.

Dr. Duddy, head of the music department, is in charge of these nine concerts.

Albright Men, Beware!

Girls—your annual chance to be legally aggressive is coming up in exactly seven more days. NOW is the time to ask that shy student or faculty member to play Lil' Abner to your Daisy Mae.

Yes, it's true. On Sadie Hawkins' Day, next Friday, Nov. 4, you may actually ask the man of your choice to take you out without worrying about a formal.

The rules for the day are:

1. There will be a chase with all women chasing the men.
  2. Any man caught by a girl must accompany the said girl to the dance in Krause Hall, not to leave her for the balance of the dance.
  3. Girls will present appropriate corsages to the men they have caught for the dance.
  4. Girls will then escort the man of their choice to and from the dance.
  5. Girls are permitted to wear slacks, jeans, or bermudas throughout the entire day.

'Showcase' Features Four Foreign Students

Four foreign students were interviewed by Jack Gounder, local radio announcer, as part of the first broadcast of his new program, "Showcase," last Monday. Eustace Renner, '59, Africa; Hisako Umemura, '57, Japan; Nilda Calder, '57, Puerto Rico; and Bong Kim, '58, Korea, chatted informally with Gounder about their reactions to the United States in general and Albright College in particular.

"Showcase" is something new and different in the way of radio programs, according to George Carroll of radio station WEEU. It consists of telephone conversations, broadcast by direct amplification. Carroll explains that it is legal to broadcast such conversations if a warning "beep" is sounded on the line every four or five seconds.

The four students were interviewed from the Public Relations Office by telephone.

Tea Today

Women's Student Senate is sponsoring a Halloween tea this afternoon from 3 to 5 p.m. in the Green Room of Teel Hall. All students and faculty are invited.

Think Before You Vote

What do freshman customs mean to you? Do you find them collegiate? Would you feel you had missed a vital part of your college experience without them? Or, do you find the whole idea annoying? Do you think customs are an infringement of personal liberty, an insult to human intelligence or a bit of juvenile nonsense plunked down in the middle of the mature world of higher education?

Whatever your opinions, you will soon have a chance to express them in a way that will influence the future of freshman hazing at Albright.

Student Council is preparing a questionnaire to be distributed in the next week or so. The questionnaire is designed to determine your attitudes toward customs. What you say on it will be carefully considered by Student Council, and customs will be modified or discontinued according to your feelings as expressed on this questionnaire.

Your opinion will count as a vote for or against customs. What are the things to consider in deciding how to cast your vote? First of all, free your mind from the idea that because you had to go through customs, every Albright freshman from here to eternity should also have to be just as annoyed and humiliated as you were. Voting in favor of customs for such a reason is roughly equivalent to the logic employed by the woman who had a new baby every spring just to keep the last one from getting spoiled.

On the other hand, don't vote against customs just because some particular upperclassman made your customs period miserable by "beating" you as a hobby.

Think it through. Consider, of course, how you, yourself, felt while you were going through customs. More important, consider what you have observed of how other freshmen reacted to customs. Do you believe customs hurt the individual? Help him? Do you believe they decrease respect for higher education? Foster school spirit?

Take time to think. Your vote counts. M. A. T.

Thank You So Much

We have just passed one of the most successful Homecoming weekends in the history of Albright College. A great deal of the responsibility for the success lies with you, the members of the student body. The cooperation, spirit and enthusiasm shown best exemplified what we have been striving for along the line of school spirit.

Those who attended the Ivy Ball last Friday night witnessed some of the most original and impressive decorations ever seen at this annual affair. I am sure that you will agree with me when I say the dance was as nearly perfect as possible. The music was excellent, the attendance good, and the atmosphere very appropriate. I would like to sincerely thank all those people who helped make the dance a success; especially John Catalano, the dance chairman, and Stanley Order for the decorations.

John Paolini and the people who worked with him deserve a vote of thanks for the service they rendered as campus guides, ushers and registrars.

Our freshman class under the chairmanship of Ronald Brown did a grand job on the Centennial Queen's float. This project was a fine contribution on their part.

The large number of alumni who returned for Homecoming was due directly to the efforts of the Centennial Homecoming Committee, headed by Fred Howard. Due to the work of this committee and of Mary Fry, executive secretary of the Alumni Association, the day's events were planned to provide a program of variety and interest. The splendid meals served by Steward Leonard Van Driel and his staff also added a great deal to the day's enjoyment.

In closing I would like to thank every person who contributed to the success of the entire Homecoming Weekend.

PAUL HETRICH
Student Council President

More On Museum

The basement of the building contains the executive offices and some storage rooms. The museum library, containing 11,000 volumes in all languages, is located on this floor. The library is open as a reference room to the public. A small auditorium of 200 seat capacity is also located here. This room is used for lectures and also chamber concerts which are given at different intervals throughout the year.

The museum is open daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturdays from 9-12 a.m. Sundays from 2-5 p.m. Bus service at half-hour intervals provides transportation through the center of the city directly to the museum, while other buses at ten minute intervals, traverse much of the city and pass 5th and Penn Ave., West Reading, within a half mile of the museum. Drivers will find plenty of free parking behind the building.

Lecture Series Begins Nov. 4

In 1914, the museum inaugurated an adult lecture series which has become so popular that today it is held in Reading Senior High School auditorium. This season will begin on Nov. 4 and will feature Quentin Keynes speaking on, "From Dodos To Devil Rays."

This unusual film is the work of an explorer who concentrates on the exotic and the unexpected. It is a journey to the little-known islands of the Indian Ocean, particularly to those relatively near Madagascar. The skeleton of a dodo in Mauritius, the hazards of climbing the island's oldest mountain, the unique method of seine-fishing for mullet, and the "human pin cushions" in the Moslem Indian Festival of "Ghoons" are complete surprises to the audience. Names like Reunion, Seychelles, and Rodrigues—remotest island in the world—fall strangely on the American ear, but they are common-place to this adventurous explorer. The harpooning of a huge green turtle and the capture of a twelve-foot giant devil ray supply the film with its exciting climax.

These lectures are given free of charge and the auditorium is usually packed. Go early and be in your seats by 8 p.m. sharp! The high school is located on 13th St., a few blocks south of Spring St. The second lecture in the series will be given Nov. 18 by Russell Wright, who will speak on Modern Sweden.

PROJECTION

By Billie Williams

2055! In only two hundred years, small Schuylkill College has grown into prominent Albright University. The first century of Albright's history is confusing, due to changes in the name and location of the school. However, by the time the Centennial Year arrived, the enrollment of the college was larger than it had been previously. In addition to the fifteen buildings on and off campus, there was a gymnasium, a football stadium and an athletic field. From that half-way mark in Albright's history until now, we have continued to be on the upgrade. 1965 marked the beginning of a long period of construction. The completion of our present chapel was followed by the ground work for the smaller men's dormitory. Five years later an annex was put on the physical education building, which houses our swimming pool and indoor tennis courts. At the same time, the present social hall was built on the foundation of Krause

Saul Goldberg was at Homecoming! Wearing his best plaid overcoat and snapbrim, Saul made a timely appearance at the football game last Saturday night. He seemed in unusually good spirits, as were many of his young collegian friends, and a roar went up from the stadium as he entered. At the half-time Saul was duly honored when John Paolini asked him to present Albright College with the Centennial Plaque. . . . Saul remarked that he believed the college sincerely deserved this award and that he felt a warm glow (a high temperature is characteristic) upon giving it to so many worthy young students.

Later that evening at the Homecoming Banquet, Dr. Masters announced that in the "Burn-Down Krause Hall" project, Saul had been chosen to set the first match to the building. At this point Saul seemed rather taken aback since he believed that he had successfully covered up his pyromaniacal tendencies, but he nevertheless once again accepted the

There is real beauty in Sweden, both in its cities filled with some of the world's most modern architecture and its lake-studded country districts. With the creative ability of an artist, Mr. Wright has recorded much of Sweden's way of life. He has skillfully captured the real qualities of the Swedes—at work in the cities and on the farms, enjoying their festivals, clothed in the splendor of the folk costumes of the past. If you like scenic beauty, you will find the color photography of Sweden's lakes, valleys, coastal bays and inlets charming and exciting.

Albright Personality

• Ray Horan •

By Virginia Reed

A salute to our senior personality for this week, Ray Horan! Ray hails from Philadelphia and arrived on our campus as a freshman in 1952.

Nothing holds this young man down as is easily seen by his impressive list of activities. During his freshman year Ray was a member of the Domino Club, and as a junior he served as treasurer of the Y and chairman of the Christian Faith Heritage Committee which is in affiliation with the Y. His senior year is by far the biggest and the best. . . . He is now serving as president of the Pi Tau Beta fraternity, representative to Student Council, secretary of the Inter-Fraternity Council, and last but certainly not least, president of KTX. As you might surmise from his participation in this last organization, Ray is a pre-ministerial student, and Hall, which had formerly served the college in various capacities.

For a while construction ceased and Albright became more in the public eye through the successes of its illustrious alumni. "Big Red" was able to claim affiliations with a Nobel Prize winner, some giants in industry, important political leaders and the most noted brain specialist in the land. This was the beginning of a continuous line of famous names coming from this school.

Albright became a university in 1944, when three new colleges were added: the College of Engineering, the College of Medicine, and the College of Flight and Interplanetary Travel. The three tallest buildings on campus were built to house these colleges and the large men's dormitory was erected. The enrollment honor. In the speech which followed he made several allusions to ancient Rome and the value of fire as expressed in the personal diary of Nero.

Now acting with the Dixon-Yates committee in Washington, Saul has had quite a bit of time to himself and is writing a book called "The First Hundred". Upon publication this journal will replace the "Compass" which is now serving as part of the Albright Customs program. Mr. Goldberg feels that the superiority of "The First Hundred" will evidence itself in many ways. The biggest improvement lies in the size of the book—9x12—which is a good collegiate size for anything. The cover, which has also been bettered, is gilded and weighs 26 pounds. The Albright freshman will now have the feeling of distinction accorded him as he carries the manual on his arm. The first copy of the new volume will be presented to this year's freshman who refuses the greatest number of button and alma mater requests. Saul feels that this sign of achievement will add a greater amount of incentive to next year's freshman class and serve to distinguish the Judiciary Council in the eyes of the student body.

During some personal conversation Alan mentioned that he was very happy with the casting of the new Domino play. He felt that the male lead had been excellently chosen since he has seen some of Pierre Carl's previous performances and is convinced of their excellent calibre.

At the end of the day the Albright campus once more said goodbye to Saul Goldberg, and now anxiously anticipates "Burn-Down Krause Hall Day," when Saul will return again.

upon graduation from Albright, he would like to attend Union Seminary in New York City.

Among his hobbies are fishing, baseball and woman. . . . note that the last hobby is singular. For two years he played softball in the intramural league but gave that form of recreation up when he nearly broke his back. Another favorable memory he recalled was pledging during his freshman year.

For the last three summers Ray has worked for the Campbell Soap Company in Camden, New Jersey. . . . stirring the chicken gumbo as he puts it.

Ray has proven himself capable in every job he has thus far undertaken and we are sure he will continue to do so. Always friendly and willing to "help out," he may ably use this facet of his personality to further and better any situation which he may meet.

soared to thirteen thousand, but the majority were day students who flew to Reading from neighboring parts of Pennsylvania and New Jersey. Consequently, the large air strip at the foot of old Mount Penn had to be built to accommodate the daily influx of Albrightians.

Ten years ago, our school received a distinction as the top university in the East and the fifth best in all of Oceania. The government gave us first permission to teach the principles of newspeak, the language of the important people. Now we are at our 200th year of existence and we are proud of Albright's heritage. May this school continue to better itself until it can someday be called a real university with annexes on our planets throughout the universe.

Lions Face Improved Moravian Team Tomorrow

Albright Rolls Past Diplomats 20-0; Kopp Paces Lions Ground Offense

IN THE LION'S DEN

By Phil Eyrich, Sports Editor

"Rather late than never," is a popular old saying that applies perfectly to the Albright grid squad, who came of age in the game last week with Franklin and Marshall College. The Lions used sharp playing and ample use of F&M miscues to run the latter into the turf of Albright Stadium. The Potskklanmen needed last week's win desperately, but the road ahead is still tough; as a matter of fact all of the remaining foes must be counted on to give Albright quite a battle.

For the second straight week, John Kopp, sophomore halfback from New Cumberland, Pa., led the Lions in rushing, while starting in the position of the injured Willy Smith. Kopp added 57 yards on 11 carries to his total, which stands at 117 yards in 28 carries for the two weeks he has started. Speed is his greatest asset as a runner, but he does not lack the ability to run hard.

Sophomores Star . . .

Another second year man, Frank Hoffman, was as outstanding on defense as he has been on offense in previous games. Together with Bob Wetzel, George Flynn, and others, the sophomore gridgers have shown much promise this year.

Turning to the other fall men's varsity sport, we find that Bill Shirk is again leading the cross-country team to what will in all likelihood result in a good record for 1955. Don Gottshall has provided considerable support to Shirk in the meets run thus far.

Potskklanmen Register Initial Triumph On Homecoming Day

Albright College rolled to its first grid win of the 1955 season when they defeated Franklin and Marshall by the score of 20-0 on the Lions' Homecoming game here at Albright Stadium last Saturday night. The contest was waged before 4,000 fans.

Each of the Red and White's touchdowns were scored by different players, Chris Wenger crossing the Diplomats goal line in the second period, and John Kopp and Frank Sudock following suit in the third and fourth quarters respectively. F&M was outplayed by the charges of Coach John Potskklan throughout most of the game.

First Drive

In addition to those players who scored for the Lions, Frank Hoffman and Frank Goldstein also played exceptionally well. Hoffman was terrific on defense for the Lions and kept the Diplomat backs bottled up in several key spots.

Albright kicked off to start the game, and following an exchange of punts the Lions took over late in the initial period to begin their first drive of the evening. Moving the ball from their own 21-yard line to the visitors' 22, the advance then slowed to a halt and the Diplomats took over. During the march, the Lions chalked up four first downs, largely due to a powerized land attack.

Lion Score

Neither team generated much of an attack again until Albright drove its first tally in the second frame. Taking the ball on their own 49, the Red and White used a diverse series of ground plays to put the ball on the F&M 3, where Wenger sneaked over for the score. Twelve-yard runs by Smith and Wetzel, plus a 14-yard jaunt by Wenger were the big plays in the drive. The PAT attempt was no good, and Albright led at the halfway mark 6-0.

A pass interception by F&M's Charlie Havens stopped an Albright scoring bid in the opening moments of the second half, but the Potskklanmen came back when F&M fumbled a punt and Jack Huntzinger recovered for the Lions on the Dips' 13. On the first play, Kopp skirted left end and went into the endzone untouched for the second Albright score. Ralph "The Toe" Cyphers kicked the extra point to make the count 13-0.

Sudock Stars

Hoffman blocked an attempted punt by the visitors' Earl Ebersole to set up the final touchdown of the night in the last quarter. With a first down on the Diplomats' 14-yard line, reserve quarterback Frank Sudock faked giving the ball to his fullback who hit into the line, then keeping the ball concealed, Sudock followed him into the line and past the dazed F&M secondary who never even made an attempt to tackle him as he raced on by. Floyd Rightmire converted for Albright and the final score was the Lions 20, and Franklin and Marshall 0.

PLAYER OF THE MONTH

Frank Hoffman, sophomore end from Trenton, N. J., has been chosen the Albrightian "Player of the Month" for October. The award covers the last three games the Lions have played. He is currently the leading pass-receiver for Albright's grid team and played his best defensive game last week.

He attended Pennington Prep before coming to Albright and is 20 years of age. Hoffman thus far has caught 9 passes for the Potskklanmen, all of them thrown by Roy Dragon, who was "Player of the Month" for September. His catches have been good for 101 yards, an average of 11.2 yards per pass.

This 6', 192-pound athlete has continually been a standout throughout the season for the Potskklanmen, and last week earned a starting berth against Franklin and Marshall. His response was to play a tremendous game, that was especially noticeable on defense.

End Cited

For his play last week, he was named for one of the Eastern Intercollegiate Football Association's "Unsung Hero" awards along with eleven other athletes from various eastern colleges. Hoffman was cited for his defensive play in blocking an F&M punt to set up a Lion touchdown and for continually bringing down Dip ball carriers both behind the line on scrimmage plays and down-field on punts.

During the game with Alfred University, he helped set up the lone Albright score with two fine catches during a prolonged offensive march, as the Lions outplayed, but lost to the Saxons.

The fine all-round play of this month's "Player of the Month" has been one of the bright spots thus far on Albright's losing record, and the sports staff believes it to be a real strong point on the Lion grid squad.

Horse Defeats College Runner

Ken Greenawald, Albright's ace sprinter, lost a race with a horse by a few feet in a 75-yard contest at the Olympic Sports Spectacle last week. The events were held to raise money for the United States Olympic team.

Although Greenawald held the early lead in the race, the horse, ridden by Jerry Goldberg, caught up with him and crossed the finish line first. Greenawald tied the record for the 100-yard dash here at Albright last spring.

"Unsung Hero" Citation Given To Second Lion

The Lions, fresh from a 20-0 win over arch foe Franklin and Marshall, will travel to Bethlehem, Pa., for a game with the Greyhounds of Moravian College tomorrow afternoon. Moravian is the only college that Albright's grid team plays this year with which the Red and White have a winning record.

Over the years the Lions have beaten the Greyhounds 15 times, and lost 3 games. Previous to last year's 13-7 loss, Albright had won seven games in a row from tomorrow's foes, there best effort a 33-6 win in 1949.

Hosts Strong

Thus far this season the Bethlehem eleven has compiled a 2 win, 1 loss, 1 tie record for their new grid coach Rocco Calvo. After dropping their opening contest 14-6 to Juniata, who now owns the nation's second longest win streak, the Greyhounds tied strong Upsala 6-6.

Moravian got its first taste of victory when they snapped Pennsylvania Military College's 10-game win streak on Oct. 15 13-0. Last week they pulverized Lebanon Valley by a 33-7 count.

Ground Attack

Fullback Paul Siska is one of the big guns for the Greyhounds and scored two touchdowns last week. The hosts will sport a big team in size which has a powerful ground attack, however they can also strike on long passes with good efficiency.

Albright's Frank Hoffman received an "Unsung Hero" award from the EIFA for his play in last week's game. He joins Roy Dragon, quarterback, in that distinction. Dragon received the award after the Bucknell game. The Lions should be able to eke out a victory tomorrow if they play as well as they did against F&M.

Lions Down F & M 23-32

Albright College's cross country team broke even in their last two meets to give them a 1-2 record for the season. On Oct. 18 the Shirkmen traveled to Easton for a dual meet with Lafayette. Don Gottshall and Bill Shirk copped first and second places in 24:00 minutes, but the Leopards took the next five positions to ice a 25-34 win.

First Win

Albright scored its initial win of the season with an impressive 23-32 victory over Franklin & Marshall on Homecoming Day. Bill Shirk breezed over the 4.5 mile course in 22:26. Don Gottshall was in the second spot with Dick Thrasher and George Mack scoring in the 5th and 6th slots. Coach Shirk's runners traveled to West Chester on Thursday, Nov. 1, for a meet with the Rams.

W. Dean Moore, '28; Lloyd H. Roland, '21; Leonard M. Miller, '20; and Clarence E. Boyer, '19. Members of the quartet from the '40's were H. Eugene Pierce, '47; Paul A. Kimmel, '47; Warren A. Loesch, '45; and Cecil P. Potteiger, '45. Marjorie H. Christ, '48, accompanied the groups.

Toastmaster for the banquet was Donald J. Blackmore, '42. The invocation was given by the Rev. Carl E. Young, '30.

Second Major Event

The Homecoming Convocation, event in a series of five major events planned for the Centennial Year, featured an address by Arthur S. Flemming, director of the U. S. Office of Defense Mobilization. Flemming claimed as his main point that war is not inevitable. "If we continue to deal with the forces of international communism from a position of strength rather than weakness, we may deter possible aggression," explained Flemming.

Honorary degrees were conferred on five alumni and Flemming. Receiving doctor of divinity degrees were the Rev. Boyd E. Coleman, '15 and the Rev. Paul R. Wert, '28.

Lewis E. Smith, '21, professor of political science, was awarded the doctor of humanities degree. The doctor of letters degree was conferred on Roland E. Wolseley, '23.

Paul M. Fye, '35, received the doctor of science degree, and Flemming the doctor of laws degree.

Representatives

Almost 100 representatives of colleges, universities and learned societies all over the nation were present in the academic procession which began the convocation.

Seven floats appeared in the game parade. The queen's float, bearing Miss Grove and her attendants, Barbara Ross, '57; Sylvia Greul, '56; Barbara Burbank, '56; and Judith Cohen, '57, was not entered in the float competition.

First place was awarded by the judges to the Alpha Pi Omega fraternity entry. Depicting fashions during the hundred years of Albright's history, were APO's Norman Ring, '56, dressed in clothing of 1856 vintage; Joel May, '57, dressed circa 1896; Sheldon Kaplan, '57, in 1926 garb; and John Myers, '57, in modern dress.

The Pi Tau Beta fraternity won second place with their float featuring the slogan, "Lions Bury Dips," re-enforced by the apparently lifeless form of Robert Fox, '57, stretched out in a coffin.

Other Entries

Other entries were sponsored by the Zeta Omega Epsilon fraternity, the Kappa Upsilon Phi fraternity, the Pi Alpha Tau sorority and the Phi Beta Mu sorority.

The Zeta float showed a model of the campus, and included a building representing Schuylkill Seminary, hovered over by "Father Time."

A huge birthday cake decorated the Kappa float, while the PAT's reproduced the first May Day. The Mu float featured a fortuneteller predicting that "Our 100 years were good and great—but Diplomats here lies your fate."
