

NEXT THURSDAY OPENING DATE OF JUNIOR PLAY

"What Anne Brought Home" To Be Presented In High School Thursday and Friday

SPONSORED BY 1930 SPECULUM

There remains just six more days until the Junior Class Play "What Anne Brought Home" will be presented in the High School Auditorium. The cast has been working very hard in order to put the production over in a way that all who attend will consider it well worth while.

The comedy opens with Miss Anne Bennett, a young girl, characterized by Norma Michael being sent to a neighboring town, Valpo, by her mother to purchase several yards of crepe de chine. It takes her a rather long time to return and her mother Mrs. Sam Bennett becomes fidgety and is nervously conversing with Sam Bennett. Martha Yagle is portraying the role of Mrs. Bennett, and the part of her husband is personified by Edgar Peckham.

Alfred White, in the role of Uncle Henry, an old bachelor, adds much to the play with his witty and cranky remarks. He is continually threatening to leave the Bennett family with whom he is staying. Mr. Sam Bennett being his brother. However his threats never develop into realities much to the dismay of Mrs. Bennett who is forever wishing that the "old crank" would leave and go to Knox.

The other characters in the play are: Herb Hardecastle, an ambitious young business man—Israel Goldstela. Joe Kunsanan plays the role of Dudley Purdy, an awkward young fellow. Two sisters of Anne Bennett, Nina and Alma, are characterized by Blandina Foster and Myrtle Wolf. The part of J. T. Raymond, a sales-

JURY UNABLE TO COME TO DECISION IN MURDER TRIAL

Case Remains Undecided Because of Jury's Failure To Agree Upon Verdict—Trial Concluded

The Mock Trial, in charge of the Social Problems Class, was concluded in the College Chapel, Monday evening, beginning at 4 o'clock.

The case was continued by the Pros. Attorney, White, as he further read the extracts from the murdered man, Swift's diary, noting with special emphasis the actions and occurrences stated throughout the process of the trial. The plan of the Swift home, drawn by Mr. Gramley, architect, as an exhibit.

The Pros. Attorney, White, then presented the facts and plead the case before the jury, on the grounds that the murder was a premeditated happening, due to the various phases described by the witnesses in the process of the court, showing that premeditation was absolutely necessary to make the murder of Swift possible.

The Criminal Attorney, Katzman, then presented his side of the case to the jury, pleas case on nature of self defense, since the case is purely one of hypothetical nature. The facts of the case, as had been presented by the criminal witnesses were reviewed by Criminal Attorney.

The Pros. Attorney continued his presentation of the case, emphasizing the fact that a note drawn up on the date of April 31, was illegal. He reviewed the character of Swift, and shows inconsistency of defendants statement. Pleas that this menace to society be either confined or eliminated.

The trial was then concluded, with

STUDENTS HOLD BIG "PEP" MEETING AND PARADE BEFORE GAME

Coaches And Captains Give Very Inspiring "Pep" Talks—Band Assists In Parade

Last Friday evening after supper Albright experienced one of her old time "pep" meetings. Three of the new cheer leaders, Harry Houseal, Clifford Colyer, and Walter Hangen took charge of the yells, and in a few short minutes had the auditorium ringing with the shouts of enthusiastic students. Coach "Johnny" Smith, Asst. Coach "Roy" Sherid, Captains "Russ" Asper, and George Reisinger were called on to make short "Pep" speeches, an deach talk was followed with a resounding "Bhoom Yell."

The cheer leaders explained several new yells and they were then tried out. The auditorium was filled with cheers for a short time and the meeting then ended with singing the Alma Mater.

On Saturday afternoon before the game a second pep meeting was held in the town. The band and a number of students assembled in front of the main dorm and from there paraded over the main streets of town. Much enthusiasm was displayed on the part of the students. Let's keep up the "Pep."

SOPHOMORES IN CHARGE OF THEMISIAN MEETING

Diversified Program Features Weekly Session Of Literary Society

The Themisian Literary Society held their meeting Thursday, November the first, 1928. The program was in the hands of the Sophomores.

The chaplain took charge of the opening devotions, followed by this program:

1. Vocal Solo—Eva Laucks. We sure were all glad to hear Eva once again and her merry little voice. The little rhyme she sang was very appropriate.
  2. Piano Solo—Flora Gross—which was enjoyed immensely by all.
  3. The Themisian Echo—Maud Sittler. We all will confess Maud had a very interesting echo and enjoyed listening to it.
  4. Skit—Evelyn Bowser, Grace Seibert, Catherine Hoffman. The skit was enjoyed by all. Everyone thinks little Evelyn made such a cute actress, and also Grace and Catherine.
- New day students were then initiated into the Society.
- We were so glad to see the large number of day students out and welcome them to all of our meetings.

Y. W. C. A. HEARS MISS RUTH SHELDON

New York City 'Y' Worker Gives Talk On Association Work In South America Among Girls

On Tuesday evening the Y. W. C. A. was extremely delighted to have with them Miss Ruth Sheldon, of New York City, who recently returned from Buenos Aires where she has spent ten years as physical director in the Y. W. C. A.

Miss Sheldon gave a very interesting address on the South American girl and the Y. W. C. A. She portrayed the many and unusual customs of their life, and told of the work done there and what it means to the girls to be members of a nation-wide organization.

It was interesting to note that our South American girls are six months ahead of us in styles.

Another interesting part was the fact that the South American girl does not go anywhere without a chaperone. A servant or some mem-

ALBRIGHTIANS ATTEND I. N. A. CONVENTION

Two Members Of Bulletin Staff Represent Weekly At Haverford—Bring Back Important Data

17 PAPERS SEND DELEGATES

The first annual fall convention of the Middle Atlantic States Intercollegiate Newspaper Association was held at Haverford College, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 2nd and 3rd, 1928.

The delegates from seventeen of the twenty-four member papers met at the Union on the Haverford campus, Friday afternoon, where the business sessions were held. The Albright Bulletin was represented by the News Editors, Norma Michael and Harry Wray. Registration of delegates began at 2 P. M. The meeting was officially called to order at 3 P. M. by the I. N. A. President, David H. Hadley, of Haverford College, who welcomed the delegates to the I. N. A. Convention and also as guests of the Haverford News on the campus. Following the roll call and reading of the minutes of the previous I. N. A. meeting held at Stephen's College in May by the Sec'y-Treas., Robert C. Sullivan, was a reading of the Constitution. In order to make that Constitution more practical and thus increase the efficiency of the I. N. A. the President suggested a number of changes to be made. The report of the Treasurer was made. The Pres. appointed the three standing committees, namely, Constitution, Extension and Auditing, which will serve the I. N. A. until the annual spring convention. Norma Michael, of the Albright Bulletin was appointed as a member of the Extension Comm., and in cooperation with Miss — of Cedar Crest College, will carry out that part of the plans of the I. N. A. throughout the Women's Colleges of the Middle Atlantic States in hopes of adding a number of eligible papers to this organization.

Two contests are being sponsored by the I. N. A., an editorial contest, and a general make-up of the entire newspaper, for which the winner of each will receive a silver trophy, to be kept in permanent possession only after it has been held for three successive years by the individual paper.

The most extensive, and probably the most beneficial part of the business sessions was the reports given by the member papers. The reports consisted of a general survey of the work of the paper, its aims, problems, both business and editorial, editorial policies, organization of the staff, compensation to staff members, alumni circulation, ads, relations to faculty and college, circulation, problems of printing, time element, exchange news, etc. The reports varied considerably with the respective colleges, differing in practically every respect, thus proving that each individual college paper has an individual problem within itself. An interesting feature brought out through these reports was that of a pictorial section which the Bucknellian had added.

BAND MAKES INITIAL APPEARANCE AT GAME IN NEW UNIFORMS

Red And White Capes And Caps Add Color To Game—Makes Noticeable Improvement

The Albright Band made its debut in uniform last Saturday afternoon, November 3rd, in honor of the Albright-St. Joe game. It's twenty members wore their new red barracks caps and red capes with sides folded across the back, showing the letters "AC" in the corners of the white lining. Blue trousers were worn instead of the regulation white flannels because of the inclement weather. As they swung on to the field and marched around the side lines their appearance was little short of inspiring. The marching and playing on this occasion reflects great credit upon their leader, Harold Servey. We feel that their playing and presence on the field Saturday was a genuine aid to our team and we are sure that the St. Joe boys will remember the band when they speak at home of the Albright game. Having made such a flying start we predict great success for the band that is going to add noticeably to the prestige of Albright College.

ZETA OMEGA EPSILON HOLDS FALL BANQUET

Dinner And Theatre Party First of Year's Fraternity Home Coming—Dine At Chef's

Right! That good Albright word expresses just what the annual fall banquet and theatre party of the Zeta Omega Epsilon Fraternity was. Right!

On Saturday evening after the football men had washed off the mud and the spectators had thawed their feet, some thirty hungry Zetas and their guests trailed through the rain and fog to Chef's Place where the banquet was held.

Chef was at his best for the occasion. The dining room and table was festooned and decorated a la Hallow'e'en. Favors for the ladies in the form of jet bracelets were carried out the seasonal color scheme.

After the dinner the party went to the Colonial Theatre in Lebanon for a show. The original intention of going to the State Theatre at Harrisburg had to be waived on account of the foggy weather.

Quite a few of the alumni fraters returned for the affair. Coach Smith was the guest of the fraternity and

RECITAL HELD IN COLLEGE AUDITORIUM

- Piano Solo—"Avalanche"—Grace Dundore.
- Reading—"The Frost is on the Pumpkin"—Norma Michael.

SAINT JOSEPH GRIDDERS UPSET RED AND WHITE

Heavier And More Experienced Team Outclasses Albright Players To Win By Score of 13-0

FUMBLES COSTLY

Battling the strong St. Joseph team to a stand still for nearly half the game the Red and White weakened and the visitors took advantage of this slip to push across a touchdown. This weakened the moral of the home boys and the boys from down east were never headed. Albright missed two chances to score in the early part of the game when their passes failed to work as they neared the goal line and they lacked the necessary punch to cross the last white chalk mark. The Red and White displayed that old fighting spirit from the start to the finish of the well played and hard fought game, in which Albright went down to defeat at the hands of St. Joseph, with a score of 13-0.

Punt Returned 45 Yards

The game opened with the ball in St. Joe's possession. After a series of plays they were forced to kick. Cruttenden returned the kick forty-five yards before he was downed. This was one of the nicest runs of the game. Albright carried the ball to the ten yard line before they lost it on downs.

Early in the second period another chance came to score, when Karlip intercepted a pass and raced forty yards before he was tackled by a St. Joe man. With the ball in their possession on the 15 yard line Albright tried passes, only to lose the ball when it was grounded over the goal line. Both teams were fighting hard, going up and down the field at the rate of a track meet. St. Joe's show-

PLANS ARE MADE TO RENOVATE COLLEGE CHURCH

Will Receive New Slate Roof—To Be Repaired And Refrescoed Inside—Ceiling Lowered In Auditorium

At the meeting of the Board of Trustees of the College Church, last Monday evening plans were laid to renovate the old church building. The members of the trustee board are: Prof. W. J. Dech, Prof. H. A. Kless, Mr. H. E. Stoner, Mr. Brecht and Mr. R. D. Smoyer.

The first thing that will be done will be the erection of a new chimney, as the old one does not furnish enough draft to make the furnace draw. This makes the furnace hard to fire, wasting coal, time, and energy to heat the church. This will insure the members that the church will be warm which could not be said heretofore.

Along with this the old slate roof which has been service for fifty years will be torn off. The rafters will be covered with sheathing boards, upon which will be placed a covering of slates felt. Slate will be put on this, making one of the best roofs possible. This type of roof although more expensive than others was decided upon on account of the nature of the roof and of its wearing abilities, as shown by the present slate roof which has been on for a long number of years. This new roof is very much needed as the roof leaks in quite a few places, spoiling the plaster and frescoed work.

The board also was instructed to lay plans for renovating the whole auditorium, to go ahead and find the cost of this work. The plans include the lowering of the present ceiling, putting in a false ceiling. This will be done to make the auditorium easier to heat. The auditorium at present

UNIVERSITY AND COLLEGE COMPARISONS

In looking over a recent article we found an interesting comparison of European university students and American students. A feature of university life in Europe after the war which was the practice of working one's way through school, is now not as popular and the number doing so has greatly diminished. The experiences of the American University student are similar to those of the European student, for he does not ordinarily support himself while going to school. In the United States it is the college student who supports himself. We are aware that this is possible because so much time of the average student is given to extra-curricular activities, that if these be omitted he can still retain his scholastic standing and support himself by work.

In European countries university education was at one time practically a monopoly of the privileged classes. But, since the war, the number of students attending the universities, has grown rapidly. Young people who had formerly never thought of the university education now aspire to it. Considerable alarm has arisen because of the increase in numbers, the fear being expressed that university graduates will exceed the demand or need and a discontented educational class will grow out of this condition. However, this problem cannot be solved by making the qualifications for a degree more severe because they are already so high, but the solution that will bring the best results is the economic law of diminishing returns.

The situation in the United States is altogether different for the population increases so rapidly. Along with this is a great industrial expansion and a growth of industries which to a marked degree absorb the increased supply of college graduates. However, if the number of students receiving degrees becomes excessive in the United States, the qualifications and requirements can be raised so that it will be more difficult for anyone to receive a degree.

 man and business man is played by Harry Houseal.

This production has just completed a very successful run on Broadway. It is filled with many peculiar and humorous circumstances. One of the most interesting features is the development of a fish farm.

The play is being put on under the auspices of the 1930 Speculum to whom will go the proceeds, and it is hoped that there will be a large turnout both nights, Thursday and Friday, November 15th and 16th. Tickets are now on sale and can be secured from any member of the Junior Class.

After a ten minute intermission the jury returned to the court room, and the verdict of the jury was given.

The case was undecided, since the vote of the jury resulted in nine favoring not guilty, two guilty and one undecided.

The court was then dismissed by the Judge and no decision was made.

"Parrakeet's Prattle"

"It's not the guns or armament, Or the money they can pay, It's the close Co-Operation That makes them win the day. It's not the individual Or the army as a whole, But the Everlastin' teamwork Of every Bloomin' Soul!"

Whatsa matter with the Students? Parrakeet can't figure it out. Can you? Now Albright has a jim-dandy band and peppy cheerleaders, but where were the students on Saturday. The parade would have been a knock-out if there had been about 100 students lined up behind the band. Ain't it so, huh? Parrakeet would like everybody to read the poem above again and think about it. Keep thinkin', folks, and then pep things up for Schuylkill and Lebanon Valley.

Parrakeet saw a new face on the campus, Monday. A new face, but yet a familiar one to most of us, i. e., you bet your life—Ray Sheetz is back to lead the band. Everybody clap your hands and Parrakeet'll clap his wings even if he does lose some feathers doin' it.

Parrakeet wonders what caused Dorsey Brunner to lose his appetite. At least, he said he couldn't eat. Now Flo, give him a chance. Parrakeet doesn't think he'd be nearly so attractive if he reduced. Do you? By the way, folks, if any of you want information concerning a certain "Red Headed Gal" ask Abel. The fellows say he knows a lot about her.

Rumor! Harry Houseal places an estimate on "Clupee" Yeager's stunt and calls it "Priceless." Watch him Dor. and don't let him throw you the line about upperclassmen privileges. Not that Parrakeet supposes for one minute that he would, but it's always best to be alert. Isn't it? Parrakeet almost laughed out loud. What do you think? Servey and Grace Seibert, Reese and Kay Hoffman were talkin' together but somethin' awful important. Servey thought he knew where Parrakeet was, but he didn't and that's what made Parrakeet laugh so. But it was late at nite and he was so tired "listening in", he didn't "eaves drop" anymore.

Lots of company over the week end. Parrakeet thinks everybody's friends must have been here. The Zetas all had girl friends and the girls left here had boy friends. Art came to see Mary, and Flo entertained Buster Evans. Both the fellows on that "double date" were called Harry, and Parrakeet wonders which one you liked best. He knows his choice but "mum's" the word.

Wolbert said "Good morning" to one of the Mohn Hall girls at 12 P. M. all of which makes Parrakeet wonder what time he came back to school. James is considering buying a new car 'cause he's broke down twice in one week. Flo's serve good eats, no matter how late they are. Isn't that Lloyd? Perhaps Miss Gerlach can help you out 'cause she has a book that tells all about springs, etc. Better see her soon. Hahn was here as Parrakeet supposes everybody saw. It's still a case of blonde and brunette and Parrakeet hopes the Profs. forgave Blanche if her lessons werent so well prepared.

Does everybody think Steltzie isn't to be trusted or is it just the gang? Parrakeet doesn't think it's a bit nice of them, especially when his only 16 cents. But they're Mohn Hall girls, so please overlook their errors. Fred Mauer may write a math. book. He has a remarkable insight when it comes to making out formulae. Parrakeet heard him suggest that the characteristic of a decimal is "minus one more than the number of zeros." Do you all understand? If you don't ask either Fred or Miss Winsinger. Parrakeet hopes she doesn't have to puzzle as much over what Fred says as he did. Perhaps that's what makes her so serious!

Writers Hear Essay By Helen Uhrich

The weekly meeting of the Writer's Club held on Wednesday evening, October 31, was called to order by the President. After the minutes of the preceding meeting were read and approved, the following program was rendered:

Essay.....Helen B. Uhrich
 Review of Creative Youth—Myrtle Wolf.

The question of holding a guest night was discussed, and a motion was made and carried that the following meeting of the Writer's Club would be Guest Night—November 7. It was decided that the program should be announced, that each member bring at least one guest and that refreshments should be served. The purpose of holding Guest Night is a plan to increase the membership of the Club.

All further business was suspended, and upon motion the meeting adjourned.

 ing everything they had worked the ball down the field to a scoring position and managed to push a six pointer across before the half ended. Albright had the ball on the twenty yard line as the half ended.

St. Joseph's presented a strong fighting combination that has played together for the past two seasons. Their defense was one that was hard to penetrate and they stopped the Red and White time and again as they threatened to score.

The visitors resorted to the aerial route to bring them the victory that they went home with. With Grisco and Walker carrying the brunt of the burden St. Joe marched down the field, only to lose the ball within the shadows of the goal line. Albright dropped back to kick, a bad pass, a fumble and a St. Joe man fell on the ball on Albright's five yard line. From here McNabb crashed through the line on three successive plays for the second touchdown of the game. The visitors used a forward pass to gain their extra point after touchdown.

The line-up and score:

Albright	St. Joe
Karlit	R.E. Desmond
Gilbert	R.T. Cinkulis
Lynn	R.G. Mulligan
Asper	C. Scott
Reisinger	L.C. Phelan
Koslow	Lnaugh
Paul	L.E. Kelley
Crittenden	Q.B. Smith
Clemens	R.H.B. McNabb
Horn	L.H.B. Grisco
Gibbs	F.B. Walker
St. Joe	0 6 7 0—13
Albright	0 0 0 0—0

Touchdowns—Walker, McNabb. Point after touchdown—Smith. Substitutions—St. Joe: Leigner for Cinkulis, Doherty for Walker, Garrett for Phelan. Albright: Weiss for Gibbons, Katzman for Lynn, Savage for Asper, Hangen for Paul, Light for Horn.

Don't you often have company that bores you?
 Yes, but we have a remedy. We get our little Johnny to recite.

—Don't place too much confidence in appearances. Many a man with a red nose is white all the way through.

Parrakeet wonders how everybody can eat a meal so quickly as is done in the Albright dining room. He wishes they'd take a little more time for dinner 'cause he's afraid someone'll get indigestion. What do you say? But Parrakeet's tired so he guesses he'll "sign off" and ask you to "stand by" 'til next week for further announcements.

Excelsiors Hold First Meeting Of The Year

The first meeting of the Excelsior Literary Society was held in the Excelsior Hall, on Friday evening, president Bruner in charge.

After a short devotional service in charge of Mr. Gibbens business matters were taken up and discussed. The question of the merging of the two Literary Societies, as suggested by Dr. Weber, was debated upon, but no definite conclusions were reached. The Excelsiors will give their opinion of this matter at their next meeting.

Several new men were voted into the society and their interest, sponsored by that of the old members of the society who attended the initial meeting, indicated the probability of a new enthusiasm being aroused in the literary interests of the society so that, in spite of what appears to be a backward trend, the society will in the near future be recognized once more as an influential and flourishing activity on the Albright campus.

With these improvements to the church building it will be able to take its place in the lead with the other churches of the town. These improvements to the building have been talked about for some time, but until the last few weeks nothing definite had been done about it.

These plans will be started at once with probably others if the board sees fit when this work has been completed. As one member said, "The thing to do first is to get it in the dry."

What Other Colleges Are Doing

Allegheny has organized a new club—the Blue and Gold Key. It has the old Pep Club as a nucleus and now functions with a trifold purpose. First, they will foster school spirit by organizing pep meetings and helping the cheerleaders. Second, they will strengthen inter-fraternity alliances since they are a representative body. Third, they will act as hosts to all visitors, teams, students, alumni and official guests.

The Stevens Engineering Society had an unusual trip on Election Day. They were shown through the dirigible "Los Angeles." This Lakehurst trip proved very interesting and the contact with the Lieutenant Commander Rosendahl, U. S. N. recently a passenger on the Graf Zeppelin was a real treat.

PROFESSOR ZENER FILLS COLLEGE CHURCH PULPIT

Professor Zener in the Sunday morning services Nov. 4th, gave a very interesting as well as practical sermon, weaving it out of the story of the stowaway on the Graf Zeppelin. The people around Berlin are more concerned and interested in the boy stowaway than they are in the Zeppelin or the crew directing its course through the air. What publicity he has created for himself—probably unintentionally.

He also brought out the fact that life has its compensations for the things we do. Many of us are not living up to our full ability and our compensation is given accordingly. Then too, there is the other side—some of us like to be popular and make a name for ourselves in this world just for the satisfaction it brings to us. The only reward for that kind of work is that which we receive in this world. It is not just the big deeds but the little unnoticed acts as well that bring the greatest compensation when the right motive prompts the act. Professor Zener also delivered a helpful message in the evening service.

—Lots of elderly people are well preserved because they have kept out of jars.

Lutherans Hold Hallowe'en Party

On Wednesday evening, October 31st, the Lutheran Club held a Hallowe'en party at the parish house of the local church. There were the usual weird ghost stories, and White's fantasy was voted the most impressive. Of course there were games and fortunes and finally plenty of eats.

The Club was glad to welcome the new members and hereby extend an invitation to the "absentees" to attend the remaining functions.

Lights that Fill the Skies with Commerce

THE air map of America is now in the making—on the ground.

Ten years ago, there were 218 miles of air mail routes with two station stops; to-day, a network of sky roads bridges the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico.

Can you imagine this growth without electricity—without illuminated airports—without trunk lines studded with electric beacons?

Men of vision are building for increasing traffic of the air. Soon, the skies will be filled with commerce.

Just as electricity is helping to conquer the air, the land, and the sea to-day, so to-morrow it will lead to greater accomplishments in aviation and in every human activity.

A majority of the beacon lights used in airport and airway illumination have been designed and manufactured by the General Electric Company, whose specialists have the benefit of a generation's experience in the solution of lighting problems.

THE COSSACKS' ONE OF YEAR'S BEST PICTURES

Men who braved death on many war fronts; a troop of hard riding Cossack soldiers who fought for the Czar and with the White army, traveled from Europe to turn screen actors when they rode with John Gilbert in "The Cossacks", Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's spectacular epic of Russia, coming to the Myerstown Theatre on Friday and Saturday.

These men stage the thrilling Cossack rides and sensational battles in the picture. The Cossacks, together with several hundred Russians recruited from Russian settlements in California, populated a complete Russian town built from the picture. They lived just as they did in Russia, with all their native customs, while the spectacle was being made.

"The Cossacks" is one of the most elaborate screen plays of the season. With Gilbert in the leading role as a young Cossack soldier, and Renee Adoree as the heroine, the supporting cast includes Nils Asther, Ernest Torrence and Mary Alden.

"Taint necessary for me to tell you. When the time comes, you'll do it."

Rude Voice—"Not likely. That's the reporter's job."

PLAYED FAIR

That was a tackle to thrill the soul,
On to the goal, runner, on to the goal;
Close at your heels is a foeman of steel,
Breath on your cheek and almost you can feel
Hands reaching out to detain you and take

From you the football with which you could make Victory sure for the team of your heart—
On to the goal, runner, straight from the start.

Lost by an inch but you did play square,
Giving the best of you just to be there

Over the line, with the victory won;
Lost, by an inch—well, it couldn't be done.
Beautiful work every step of the way,
Fair from the start—"undefeated," I'd say;

From the beginning your spirit aflame,
Runner, you made it a beautiful game.

True as the flag is true—not once mean,
O it was splendid, the whole of that scene;
I was there with you, lad, straight to the end,
Hoping your spirit would stand to defend

All of the sportsmanship you had displayed
After the referee left you dismayed,
Taking the chance from you for one last try

Over the goal line, to do or to die,
Out went your hand, and your head,
O lad,
Pride flung it upward with all that you had;

Then I knew surely that things were alright,
You had been fighting, all day, the good fight;
Victory was yours though the score spelled defeat,
Yours—you played squarely—you best made it sweet.

Robbed of the bitterness what do you care,
In your own heart, lad, you've written "played fair."

—Blanche McCauley.

MARION LOUISE SHAW

Amo, Amos, Amot—that's as far as most of us get with our Latin—but Marion knows heaps more, such heaps in fact, that we fully expect her to be the greatest Latin teacher ever sent out into the wide, wide world from Albright College. But don't, please, labour under any such delusion that our Marion is as dead as the language she loves. Far from it! Besides, if all Latin students and teachers were like her, it wouldn't be dead.

Brown hair, friendly brown eyes, and a big heart that takes in every one and leaves out none, that's Marion. Actively interested in everything on the campus, everyone recognizes in her a good natured pal, and a good sport, not only in sports, but in everything that calls for good sportsmanship.

Scholastically, Marion rates high. As for extra-curricular activities, we find her in Student Government, Vice President of Y. W. C. A., on the Bulletin Staff, out for hockey, Varsity Basketball player, and manager of B. B. this year.

May the outside world appreciate Miss Shaw, as we, here on our college campus, appreciate and love her.

ed. Due to the great amount of time taken up in the giving of these reports, a number of them were referred until the Sat. morning session, and the final announcements were made after which the meeting adjourned.

In order to permit the visiting delegates to attend the Philadelphia theatres, the regular I. N. A. banquet was not held until Saturday night.

The Sat. morning session called at 9:30 A. M. at which time reports were received from the committees previously appointed. The constitution was amended and provisions were made to enable the I. N. A. to better carry out its plans and ideas. The Auditing Com. reported the Treasurer's reports to be satisfactory. The Extension Com. reported that its goal would be to have at least ten papers of the Middle Atlantic States ready for application and membership in I. N. A. at the Spring Convention. The men of the Com. will take care of the men's schools and of the co-ed., while the ladies will take care of the girls' schools.

An attempt was made to organize a News Service under the auspices of the I. N. A. which would practically solve the exchange problem. It was suggested that an I. N. A. correspondent be appointed from each of the five regional districts, and it would be his duty to send immediately any news of special interest to the I. N. A. members to the headquarters, where a mimeographed copy would be made and sent at once to each of the twenty-four members. A full discussion was carried out, emphasizing both the pros and cons, but when the final vote was taken the motion was defeated 9-8. Definite plans were made providing that each member of the M. A. S. I. N. A. be placed on each other member's exchange list.

The regional districts were reorganized, as to geographical division, into five regional districts. The Albright Bulletin is a member of Regional District No. 5, including F. & M.,

ALBERT CLEMENS

Albert? Never! Pat? Always! "Pat" it is to everyone on the campus, to fellow Seniors, to underclassmen, and we might include to faculty. Pat's fame rests on his athletic accomplishments. He is a three sport man and it would be difficult to pick out the one in which he has won the most laurels. When we see him edging his way through the opposing football line we say football is his special field. When we see him as center field in base-ball and watch him hit, we want to change our choice. Then again when we see his goals rolling up a basket-ball score we choose this sport as his best. However we arrive at a happy conclusion and present Pat as last year's winner of the Clinton F. Costenbader prize for the best all around athlete in either Senior, Junior or Sophomore class in good standing. Naturally, everyone in the school, and especially in the class of 1929 was very proud of him.

Pat is a very sociable fellow. He has a cheery "hello" for everyone he meets and his pleasing personality have won him many friends. A combination of these traits will be a big asset in life when the world presents a new line to tackle. Best of success to Pat!

Muhlenberg, Cedar Crest, L. V. C., and A. C., and will have the honor of holding the Regional District Convention on the Albright campus sometime in Feb.

The La Vie Collegian, of Lebanon Valley College was made a member of the M. A. S. I. N. A.

The business sessions of the I. N. A. closed at 12:30 P. M. after which a group picture of the convention was taken. The delegates then went in a body to the Whitehall Hotel, where dinner was served.

The I. N. A. delegates were guests of the Haverford News at the Haverford vs. Franklin and Marshall football game and the Haverford vs. U. of Penn. soccer game on the Walton Athletic Field, at which time the mass spectators followed the thrilling games to a Haverford defeat, 20-14, against F. & M., and a Haverford victory, 4-1, against U. of Penn.

At 6:30 P. M. the regular I. N. A. Banquet was held in the Banquet Hall of the Whitehall Hotel. This was especially interesting and helpful to those in attendance as the speakers were men of direct connection with daily and college newspapers. Much valuable information and suggestions were given which the delegates may take back to their respective college papers.

The first speaker of the evening was Dr. W. W. Comfort, Pres. of Haverford College, who pointed out the difference between the college and the daily newspapers. The college paper is its own proprietor, holds its own individual interest and bears its own responsibility. The editors should be conscientious in handling news, preparing news of special interest not otherwise obtained. The college paper is the only channel through which the Alumni get college news. He pointed out the fact that thirty years ago there was no college paper. Real happenings should constitute the general writings, not advanced and imaginary happenings. Wealthy and supporting patrons frequently get the wrong impression. "Stay within the truth," he warned. There is no getting back at the Editor from the public or college authorities.

Prof. J. M. Lee, Director of Journalism of N. Y. U. gave a list of things the public would like to see in the editorial comment: college man at the ballot box; choice of a college; college attitude toward football; cost of college education; why go to college at all; college enrollment; college bills; college customs, song, colors, chapter houses; chat on college books college grades, college verse, favorite newspapers; college tours; college magazines; and interviews with the various profs.

Mr. H. F. Warner, Editorial Staff, Baltimore Sun, stressed the international attitude and phase of college newspaper work, emphasizing the fact that it can be made purely international and that he will be willing to offer his assistance to the I. N. A. to aid in developing this plan.

The concluding speech was made by Mr. Rowe Stewart, Pres. Phila. Record Co., further proved the vast difference between the college and the daily newspapers, pointing out the problems of the big daily newspaper, but fortunately very few of them are found in the college newspaper.

The I. N. A. convention then closed a very successful session, giving to each delegate, a vast amount of helpful material to take back to his own college paper.

A number of the delegates then attended the big Football Dance held in the Haverford gymnasium.

"Time is money," quoted the Wise Guy. "And it's the easiest thing in the world to lose time," amended the Simple Mug.

Cultivate your strength. Many a man's good intentions are too big for him to carry out.

That the race is not always to the swift is the religion of the also-ran.
