Elizabethtown Brings Veteran Squad Here Against Courtmen

Resuming their court campaign after the holidays, the Red and White will take on Elizabethtown College on Wednesday, January 5 at 8:00 in the Albright gymnasium. The Lions will seek to repeat last year's performance, when they downed the Blue Jays 69-62 in the latter's opening game.

This year, with a new coach and eight veteran lettermen, the Jays hope to improve on their 1953-54 seasonal record of ten wins and fourteen losses. For the new coach, Donald Smith, it will be his first college coaching role, having previously coached a high school team and played professional basketball. The Blue and Grey play several teams that are listed on the Lion schedule, including Juniata, Dickinson, St. Joseph's, and West Chester. Among their victories of last season, Elizabethtown numbers Lebanon Valley and Juniata.

Many Lettermen

The eight returning lettermen are headed by Jay Bnibaker and Don Crumbling, seniors, and Fred Lingenecker and Dick Stien, juniors. Despite the large number of returning veterans, the current season will be chiefly a rebuilding year for the Blue Jays with only three seniors among their fifteen player varsity squad. Don Crumbling at 6 feet, 7 inches and Jerry Cooper at 6 feet, 5 inches are the tallest of the team with ten of the squad at least six feet. Elizabethtown sports a team of which every member is from eastern Pennsylvania.

It will be the second home encounter in a row for the Lions, and their third of the season thus far. The Lions hope to have the injured Mike DePaul back in action by that time to team with the leading scorer, George Conrad. Elizabethtown, although not especially strong in the court, should provide the Lions strong competition, but the Gullianmen should be able to conquer the Blue Jays.

Chapel Resolution Tabled By Council

A resolution to set aside one Thursday chapel program a month and replacing it by a compulsory class meeting for all classes was tabled by Student Council at its meeting last Tuesday. The proposal will be considered at a later date.

Former GI Blatt Plans Career In Ministry After Varied Past

By Pat Nein

As most of you probably know a good percentage of our student population are former G.I.'s. Knowing the varied and interesting background of some of these fellows, we would like to present, from time-to-time, candid close-ups of Veteran Joe College.

One of the newer additions to our campus is Bob Blatt, Ex-351 Communication Reconnaissance Company Sergeant. Bob hails from Philadelphia. Born and raised there, until he entered the service at nineteen, he can give you some inside information on the City of Brotherly Love. During his high school days at Frankford High (class of '49) the embryo idea of pre-ministry entered his mind. At the age of seventeen he rebelled against his first vocational choice by leaving into show business, doing popular singing with a local U.S.O. troop. As a result of his singing career, Bob became interested in dancing, modern ballet, his specialty.

In February of 1951, Bob left Temple University, where he was a second year student, to help carry on our "police action" in Korea. By this time show business had lowered its Hooper and Bob was again seriously thinking of the ministry. His experience in Korea and Japan helped to develop further this proposed goal. His job in Korea was, as he puts it, "to run the hottest P.X. north of the 38th parallel." His favorite escapades were his three day passes when he would shed his uniform and masquerade as a villager. One of his favorite expressions is: "let your hair down and really live for a change." That is what he did. After three years of "living with the savages" and mastering the new art of modern ballet, Bob returned to Temple in February 1954. War changes all men, and Bob discovered that he was not content at Temple and ventured to Albright this fall. Here, he says, it is easier to find people of his own viewpoint. He says, "I can find another pre-min. anytime who can hold an intelligent conversation on most anything that is bothering me." We think that's a pat on the back for Albright.

As far as a list of favorites is concerned Bob says that sports rate high, along with the colors pink and black (meow!), but he has unique ideas in sports. Roller-skating, out-door camping (assistant Scout master) and weight lifting head his list. A modern jazz enthusiast Bob offers his services to any who did not understand our culture program a few weeks ago.

As we close our "Portrait of a Veteran", we wish good luck and success to Bob Blatt, pre-min.

Anna Smith To Give Illustrated Lecture

Mrs. Anna Heere Smith, 1319 Linden St., associate professor of home economics at Albright College, presented an illustrated lecture Wednesday, December 15 on "Consumer Promotion Techniques" for the American Institute of Baking, Chicago, Ill.

Mrs. Smith received her bachelor of science degree in home economics from Albright and her master's degree from Temple University. She has been associate professor of home economics at Albright since 1950.

Umemura, Kyoing Discuss Orient Culture

Wearing Oriental costumes, Hisako Umemura, '57, and Anna Lee Kyoing spoke about customs in their native lands of Japan and Korea, respectively, at a Christmas party of the Pennsylvania Xi Alpha Omega, Reading Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, international cultural sorority, of which Priscilla Morton, Dean of Women, is a member, given at the Abraham Lincoln Hotel in the English Lounge, December 15.

A Firm Resolve

1954 will soon be only a matter of past time. Already we are looking forward to 1955 as a solution to war and worry, tension and trouble. It is curious that we expect the advent of a new calendar to work such a miracle. In our eagerness we overlook the remaining days of the former new year, forgetting that once the hours have passed we have lost them forever.

In an attempt to make the New Year a Better Year, many of us form New Year's resolutions. In these statements of good intentions we embody acknowledgment of our shortcomings and our determination to overcome them.

Such resolutions have become the object of much ridicule. Some people realistically face the fact that they won't keep their promises anyway, so they dispense with the whole custom. Others jokingly vow to go on the "waterwagon", a vow which lasts until the first toast, 60 seconds after midnight.

Then there are those whose resolution consists of a new diet, studying regularly or getting up on time. All this determination is directed at one's own good. It is nothing more than selfish motive.

We cannot expect these resolutions to meet the needs of a year and a world we are trying to improve. If we are honestly and sincerely resolving to have a part in the advancement and enlightenment of what we believe in and hope for, then we must raise our resolutions from selfish planes to those of common concern with our fellow man.

Many may have high ideals but become discouraged with failure. But of what use is a resolve which can be conquered so easily that it never meets with temporary defeat?

Let us mix realism with our idealism and accept the fact that one resolution held permanently is far better than several kept until the last holiday symbol is packed away.

W.R.

On the Other Hand . . .

Editorialists prose can give man incentive or destroy his ideas entirely. The editorial on resolutions is no exception. Is there anything wrong with forming several hundreds of well-intended New Year's Resolutions and then breaking them later on?

Did you ever buy a hat after sampling every other one in the shop, and then never wear it? It wasn't the correct size, you say. Well, New Year's Resolutions are like hats—we try, buy, and discard, but sometimes we try, buy, and use.

The resolution we never break becomes battered and worn, but we never forget it, because it was the one of many which fit us. The discarded ones we certainly never regret because for a short time they had a purpose even if they didn't fit our personality, as that hat didn't fit our head.

Selection makes a good man and a good man makes a world of peace and contentment. So, Albrightians, make those numerous resolutions, keep all of them until they clash with the real you, then discard them, because only through wasted efforts do we achieve an ultimate goal.

From the Staff

After last classes today (and maybe before) Albrightians will be trudging home to spend an enjoyable two-week vacation from hard work. Some by necessity will take more hard work (term papers and reviews) along with them. By January 3, 1955, they will renew their college activities, ready to meet the challenges of the New Year.

To the student body, the faculty and the administration, the entire staff of the Albrightian wishes the warmest Holiday Greetings. May the true spirit of the season prevail in your lives.

A violet who will never blush unseen is Jean Filbert, president of the Women's Dormitory Council. "Jeff" may seem quiet at first, but after five minutes or so her distinctive personality asserts itself and wins her even more admirers.

Besides graciously piloting the good ship of the Sisters of Yessirp, "Jeff" is always aboard whenever Skull and Bones, Delta Phi Alpha and Pi Alpha Tau or Domino Club weigh anchor.

A Penn-Stater who saw the error of her way, Jeff has had such a stimulating effect on Albright that the Science Hall will never be the same again. She is majoring in biology and minoring in chemistry, so will logically earn her bread and butter hanging test tubes around.

A lab is no place for buttons and bows, but when red haired, blue eyed Jeff sheds her rubber apron and gets all "dolled up", her fellow members of the 1960 club start spending their ten dollar checks in advance.

Jeff likes sports and eating, but hates to get up in the morning. She blames her psychosomatic itch on the complex she developed last year because her fellow belfry bats wouldn't talk to her and made her sit on the roof and feed squirrels.

The campus will lose much color when Jeff graduates this February. However, as Jeff herself would be the first to point out, "Don't weep, yet—anything could happen!"

Editor's Mailbag

Dear Editor,

What would happen to the students of Albright if we should have a fire or an air raid attack? Would we be prepared to meet such emergencies as these?

As a freshman of the college I expected that air raid and fire drills would be one of the "musts" included in our orientation program. However I found just the opposite. Now we are about to finish the first semester of the school year and we have apparently been too busy to worry about the possibilities of such emergencies.

It would be nice if we could believe that we would never be struck by fire or possible enemy attack, but since this is not the case we should stand behind our country in a fight against these threats. We are in college because we want to be educated. What is more important than knowing how to protect ourselves and others in the event of such emergencies as these?

The Nativity--St. Luke 2:1-20

In those days a decree went out from Caesar Augustus that all the world should be enrolled. This was the first enrollment, when Quirinius was governor of Syria. And all went up from Galilee from the city of Nazareth, to Judea, the city of David, which is called Bethlehem, because he was of the house and lineage of David, to be enrolled with Mary, his betrothed, who was with child. And while they were there, the time came for her to be delivered. And she gave birth to her first-born son and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger, because there was no place for them in the inn.

And in that region there were shepherds out in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night. And an angel of the Lord appeared to them, and they were filled with fear. And the angel said to them, "Be not afraid; for behold, I bring you good news of a great joy which will come to all the people; for to you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, who is Christ the Lord. And this will be a sign for you: you will find a babe wrapped in swaddling clothes and lying in a manger." And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying,

"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace among men with whom he is pleased!"

When the angels went away from them into heaven, the shepherds said to one another, "Let us go over to Bethlehem and see this thing that has happened, which the Lord has made known to us." And they went with haste, and found Mary and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger. And when they saw it, they made known the saying which had been told them concerning this child; and all who heard it wondered at what the shepherds told them. But Mary kept all these things, pondering them in her heart. And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all they had heard and seen, as it had been told them.

The Snake Pit

by Liz Miller

Hi there! Before we all depart from campus and head home, let's form a huddle and review the life of an Albright student. Gee, how time flies! Just think, the next time we meet as a student body, we'll be in the year 1955.

Now, getting down to the business at hand, I think it's time somebody thanked Rev. Barth for the high percentage of good chapel programs he prepared. As I think back, I can only remember two or three chapel speakers who were not interesting. As for the Thursday morning assemblies, this writer believes that the cultural programs were forty per cent bad and sixty per cent good. As a whole, these weekly chapel periods are interesting and we are hoping the same quality of programs will be maintained.

Strolling around campus you may have noticed the recent erection of chain fences around the lawn. I wonder what purpose they are serving. And speaking of the school grounds, I am glad to see that Selwyn Pond has finally been cleaned. There for a while it was being called, by some students, "Ye Olde Emulsion".

Whenever we have very cold, or any other kind of inclement weather, I always pity the poor guys who are living at Albright Courts. That one block can be very long if it is raining or you are cold.

As a final item, I wonder how the groups that sponsor those cake sales in the Ad Building make out. I also wonder who bakes those cakes—our co-eds or their mothers. Anyway, they (the cakes) are always delicious.

Well, that's all the informal chatter for now, but we'll be back in a future issue. Until then, Merry Christmas and Happy New Year. Also, for those of you who forget dates, school will re-open on January 3, 1955.

Lebanon Valley Dutchmen Here Tomorrow Night

Lions Lose To St. Joe

A pair of three-minute scoring vacuums early in the second half destroyed Albright College's well-laid upset plans last Saturday night as the Lions dropped a 70-58 decision to St. Joe's of Philadelphia.

A crowd of 2,500 saw the Lions lose their fourth straight start and their first at home. St. Joseph's pulled their season mark into the black at 3-2. It was the thirteenth time in the 17-game series that the Hawks had picked up the marbles.

Albright was within striking range of the taller Hawks in all but the first 10 and final two minutes of the last half. But the Lions lacked the rebounding strength to cope with the Philadelphians when they flexed their muscles under the boards.

Zone Defense

For the first time this season, the Lions deployed in a zone defense, designed to slow the contest to a walk and neutralize the inside power of the six-foot-six Bill Lynch, tallest operative in action. It clicked from both angles, but the unruffled Hawks made patience and precision passing pay off. Albright abandoned the station system with 11 minutes left in the game and almost threw the invaders off stride with an adhesive man-to-man setup.

The Lions closed in to 61-58 with 2:30 minutes remaining in the test, but went scoreless from there to the showers as the Hawks ran out their string of 70 markers.

Individual scoring honors stayed at home. George Conrad, hot with a one-hand jump shot, garnered the laurels with 18 points. Bruce Riddell had ten, but it was freshman Bruce Storms with eight who breathed fire into the Lions in the second half.

36-30 At Halftime

Kurt Engelbert, who patrolled behind the Albright zone, led the Hawks with 16 points, while Lynch and Mike Fallon had 11 each and Wally Nowacki produced 10.

St. Joe led, 36-30, but it was anybody's ballgame when the teams trotted out for the second half. But the Lions passed poorly and generally disintegrated for three minutes as the Hawks ran up a 44-30 lead.

Engelbert had four points in the burst before Riddell broke the freeze with a gift shot. Then the Lions went into another four-minute chill as St. Joe romped to a 51-33 margin before Storms broke in for a layup. Conrad scored cleanly, and Mike Daugherty, up from the jayvees, also countered before Nowacki's tap-in for the Hawks.

Leading, 54-39, the Hawks stumbled into an abysmal eight minutes without a field goal, but managed to stay on top with free ringers as Albright's defense got too exuberant.

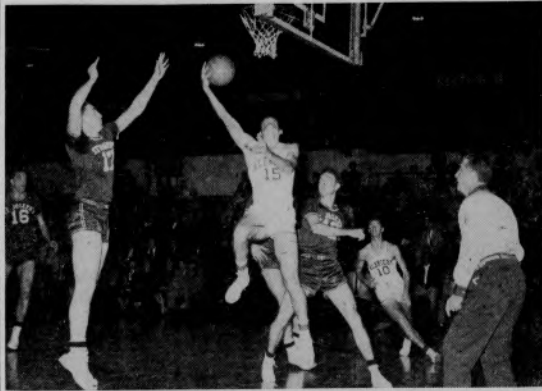

Meanwhile Storms, who landed with his first four shots from the field, popped in a two-hand jump shot and a brilliant follow try. Conrad chipped in a pair of field goals, wrapped around four straight foul conversions, Bernie Krick produced three points, and Daugherty hit a jumpshot and two fouls to carve St. Joe's lead to 61-58 with 2:30 remaining.

Hawks Pull Away

The Hawks pulled away when Sub Joe Ceremsak canned two fouls, Lynch hit another, and Fallon broke the scrimmage ice with two driving layups after escaping a pressing defender. That was the ballgame.

Albright led twice early in the game as the lead swapped hands four times and the count was tied twice. The Lions' last lead of 9-8 was produced by Jim Foreman's

Muhlenberg Beats Albright 93-73; Conrad High Scorer

Muhlenberg College defeated Albright 93-73 last Wednesday at the Muhlenberg gym. The Mules, leading 35-31 at half time, put on a second half splurge which netted them 58 points to the Lion's 42.

Albright, with their shots hitting well and their board work clicking, overcame a ten point deficit to go ahead by two points with two minutes left in the first half, but Bill Smith, Vince Osadchy, and Aps Leber hit on successive field goals to give the Mules a four point, first half lead. George Conrad and Ernie Firestone led the Lions first half attack with twelve points apiece.

In the second half, Albright began to press Muhlenberg, but the Mules combatted the full court press by working the ball well and controlling both boards. With Bob Gall hitting on drive-ins and Osadchy sinking long sets, Muhlenberg jumped away to a twenty point lead. Both Denny Roth and Osadchy put on a fine display of rebounding with Roth also hitting for twelve points in the second half.

Conrad Tops Lions

Bob Gall, high man for the game with twenty-three points, led the Mules' attack followed by Osadchy with sixteen, Carty Gemma with fifteen and Bill Smith and Denny Roth fourteen and twelve points respectively. George Conrad was tops for Albright with nineteen only field goal of the night.

St. Joe capitalizing on Lynch's four-for-four early marksmanship and three ringers each by Nowacki and Engelbert, moved out to a 32-24 lead at one juncture, but Albright closed in when Krick and Daugherty were inserted near the end of the half. Storms' late jump shot carved it to 36-30 at intermission.

Both teams hit well in stretches. St. Joe played deliberately, refusing to shoot wildly over the Lions' zone and scored on 23 of their 61 shots. Albright was 20 for 64, suffering miscalculation on frequent close-in shots. The Lions seldom had more than one try a trip as Engelbert cleaned up 11 rebounds and Lynch took nine.

In The Lion's Den

By Dave Widland

Post-Mortem

Last Saturday night St. Joseph's downed the Lions, 70-58. Although the difference was twelve points, the game was much closer in the second half than the score indicated. The Lions were within three points at one time, but then the Philadelphians pulled away and the Lions never again were within striking distance. Albright sorely missed the services of Mike DePaul, who was injured and unable to play. St. Joe's had too much of an advantage under the boards for the Lions to cope with. Ed Lynch, high scorer for the Hawks, was held to eleven points. George Conrad, elected Albright captain for the year, spearheaded the Lion attack and was high scorer for the night with 18 points. Bruce Storm and Mike Daugherty looked both good in relief, each scoring eight points. Bernie Krick also provided capable assistance.

Honors

Nine Reading and Berks County men who have served 25 years or more as coaches in college or high school will be publicly honored as "Quarter Century" coaches at the Berks County Officials' Association annual banquet at the Crystal Restaurant on Wednesday night, January 19. One of those men will be Eugene Shirk, faculty manager of athletics and coach of track and cross-country. He will receive a plaque, as will the other eight men. Congratulations to Mr. Shirk for 29 years of good work!

Holiday Treat

On Monday night, December 27, the Harlem Globetrotters will be in town for a game with the Toledo Mercuries at the Albright gym. In the first half of the double feature, the Philadelphia Spas and the Washington Generals collide. Goose Tatum, in his twelfth season with the Trotters and the highest-priced courtman in history, is the star attraction of the Globetrotters.
