Buch Appoints Committee

James Buch, president of Student Council, appointed the entire Student Council as the committee to work on the re-writing of the council constitution at the November 25 meeting. Buch will become the chairman of the committee which will begin its work as soon as possible.

Another appointment made by Buch and approved by council was that of Ray Weitzel as parliamentarian. Council requested an appointment of a parliamentarian in order to interpret the present constitution and to see that council follows its stipulations. This is Weitzel's third year on council, during which time he has served as N.S.A. chairman, head of the faculty evaluation committee and a member of the judiciary committee.

Donald Grisby, chairman of the judiciary committee, reported to council that 75 per cent of the committee's work was completed at the last two meetings. The committee established a code of ethics, areas of jurisdiction and penalties for infraction of rules. Next the committee will write these in their final form and then they must be approved by the faculty and council.

Glee Club To Give Concert In Chapel

As a special Christmas program, the glee club, under the direction of Dr. John Duddy, will present a concert in Chapel on Tuesday, December 16. The group will sing "The Seraphic Song" by Rubenstein in which a violin, piano and organ solo will be rendered by Rodney Bentz, Doctor Duddy and Richard Smoker respectively.

Other selections to be presented include "Rejoice and Sing" by Bach, "Lullaby on Christmas Eve" by Christiansen, "One Evening in Winter" by Duddy, "Away in a Manger" by Ross, "March of the Toys" by Herbert, "Carol of the Bells" by Leontovick-Wilkousky, and "The Holly and the Ivy" by Boughton. The male members will blend their voices to sing "The Sleigh" by Xoientz.

Audience participation in Christmas caroling will highlight the conclusion of the program.

Combined Y's Prepare For Children's Party

The trimming of the Christmas tree, filling of stockings for the children's party next Sunday, December 14, and packing boxes for overseas will take place at the "Y" meeting next Tuesday, at 7:30 in Krause Hall.

Last Tuesday evening Bob Smith, who has just returned from teaching English three years in a high school in Nagasaki and is now working on his masters degree at Ohio State University, spoke, with the use of slides, to the combined "Y's" about his experiences in Japan. He said the feeling of the Japanese toward the American people is not as a result of the atomic bombing but rather what happened following the bombing. Because of the high prices in Japan, the clothing situation is poor. Tuberculosis is very prevalent in Japan because the hospital situation and available equipment is in-

Eugene Lang Named Associate Editor of Cue

Eugene Lang, a senior from Berwyn, Pennsylvania, was named associate editor of the 1953 Cue, Patricia Schearer, editor-in-chief, announced at a staff meeting held last Friday. In his new job Lang will serve on both the business and editorial staffs, in the former capacity as head of advertising and in the latter as layout editor.

Lang, in accepting his new position, announced that there would be opportunities for those who wish to join the staff to serve on the advertising board. Applications will be accepted from those who inform the new advertising head within the next week of their desire to serve on the staff.

Miller Accepts Post

Another appointment also announced at the staff meeting was the advancement of Patricia Miller, '53, to the editorship of an informal view section of the annual. As such she will accept and select novel photos for representation in a section entitled "informalities."

Fraternities Announce Fall Rush Dance Plans

The fall rush dance of the Alpha Pi Omega fraternity will be held at the Reading Country Club, December 12 from 9:00 to 12:00. Johnny Barker will supply the music.

Twenty underprivileged children will be taken care of at the Albright Christmas party on December 13 by the fraternity members. The house will be open to entertain the children after the dinner.

The basement of the fraternity house is in the process of being remodeled and modernized. Thomas Pepe and Tony D'Apollito are co-chairmen in charge of the changes. Johns Mansville soundproofing material is being placed on the ceiling, the walls and floor are being painted and curtains are being hung.

Financial donations from the fraternity were given to the T. B. society and the Father Flannagan Society.

Theodore Tiege and Jeb Lengel were selected as A.P.O. pledges and will begin pledging immediately.

Pi Tau Beta

At the meeting of the Pi Tau Beta fraternity last Monday night new officers were elected for February '53-'54. They are: president, Harry H. Houck; vice president, Alan Schlegel; treasurer, Mike Scarpignato; recording secretary, Curtis Zilhardt; corresponding secretary, Vincent R. Eshelman; and chaplain, David Frankhouser.

Abolishing of paddling was another action taken by the fraternity brothers at the meeting. They felt that physical hazing has never engendered that spirit of brotherhood which should be a prominent

Israel, Frankhouser Selected To Head '54 Cue As Editor, Business Manager

MARGARET ISRAEL

MAHLON FRANKHOUSER

Elections Held Early To Aid New Editors

Margaret Israel and Mahlon Frankhouser were elected editor-in-chief and business manager respectively of the 1954 Cue at a junior class meeting held last week. The well-attended meeting brought close results as Miss Israel edged out her two opponents for the editorial position.

In an earlier meeting, the class had nominated Miss Israel, Barbara Farris and George Spencer for the editor-in-chief post and Frankhouser, James Barrett and Frank Guenter for business manager. Before nominations were opened, Patricia Schearer and John Schmidt, editor and business manager of this year's annual spoke to the group outlining the duties and responsibilities of each office. Robert Bieler, junior class president, conducted the election and the faculty committee on publications approved the selection shortly after the results were counted.

Early Election Explained

As far as can be determined, this was the first time in the history of Albright publications that the election for yearbook editors was held in the first semester. As was the case last year, the editorial heads were usually elected near the end of the second term with little time remaining in the school year to decide basic issues, elect staff members and make contracts.

To Work with '53 Staff

This fact was pointed out by Miss Schearer and Schmidt who explained that this year they were recommending that the results be determined early so that the new editor and business head might work with the present staff, learning of the problems, and details of yearbook production as a sort of internship. The suggestion was approved by Bieler and student council heads and now both Miss Israel and Frankhouser will become part of the functioning 1953 Cue staff.

Both Miss Israel and Frankhouser have had previous yearbook

W.S.S. Sponsors Party Tonight; Dance Follows

Tonight the daywomen and dorm women will combine for their annual Christmas party. The party, sponsored by the Woman's Student Senate, will be held in Selwyn Parlor from 7:30 to 9:00. Following this a dance for all students will be held in Krause Hall. Jo Anne Duffy, Leda PasYotis, Dorothy Kuettel and Betty Williams are in charge of the affair.

Band to Participate In Holiday Parade

The Albright College band will participate in the annual Christmas parade sponsored by the Reading Junior Chamber of Commerce, on Tuesday evening, December 9. The group, led by Ivan Moyer, will play Christmas carols arranged by Hans Nix in march tempo. They will lead the fifth division of the six-section parade.

Third Year For Parade

This is the third consecutive year for the parade in which most of the community churches are represented by floats. Local high school bands including Reading Catholic, Central Catholic, Mohnton, Muhlenberg and Reading will participate. Also appearing in the parade will be the Kutztown State Teachers College band and the Reading Ringgold band.

Band members will meet at Eleventh and Washington Streets at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, December 10 is the rain date.

Change Made in Rehearsals

Change of rehearsal schedules for band and orchestra has been announced by Ivan Moyer, student director. Orchestra will now meet at 4:00 p. m. Monday and band will rehearse at 3:00 p. m. Monday and 4:00 p. m. Wednesday. The latter arrangement will only be in effect until the end of the present semester.

This change will permit students who have science laboratories until 4:00 p. m. to join the orchestra. If interested see Ivan Moyer or Mr. Hans Nix.

sensitive threat.

Kaiser To Lead Workshop Group

The leadership of Radio Workshop has been transferred from Martin Weinberg to Ray Kaiser it was announced yesterday. This change of hands has taken place due to the fact that Weinberg intends to transfer to the University of Miami. Professor Brown is acting as faculty advisor.

Group Plans 2 Shows

Radio Workshop is responsible for the two college radio programs, the one on Saturday afternoon and the one on Sunday night. The organization hopes in the future to present a variety show and also a few plays. In order to do this, however, they must have the cooperation of the entire student body. Anyone who is interested should see Annjanette Innis, Michael Lafferty or Ray Kaiser.

Domino Actors Stage 'The Christmas Carol'

Charles Dickens' "Christmas Carol" was presented by the Domino Club on Thursday evening at 8:00 p. m. in Krause Hall. The "Theater-in-the-Round Experiment" was the way in which the play was presented to the audience. Richard Stinson starred in the leading role as Scrooge.

Cast Includes 20

Other members of the cast were: Fred, Mahlon Frankhouser; Clark, Robert Walker; 1st gentleman, William Glant; 2nd gentleman, Neal Krape.

Ghost of Christmas Past, Rodney Bentz; boy, Ivan Moyer; little Fan, Doris Stapleton, Fezziwig, Robert Walker; young man, James Rodgers; young girl, Barbara Burbank.

Ghost of Christmas Present, Jackie Zwoyer; Mrs. Cratchet, Virginia Mangin; Martha, Barbara Burbank; Belinda, Claire Speidel; Peter, Richard Kressler; Robert Cratchet, John Bash; Tiny Tim, "Pilot."

Ghost of Christmas Future, Jean Filbert; boy, Stanley Order; Doukerer, Donald Miller.

The following were committee heads: property, Ruth Fry; stage, Peter Schoffstall; and make-up, Dolores Luhowy.

Club To Present 'Ein Krippenspiel'

"Ein Krippenspiel" will be presented by the German Club on Sunday, December 14 at 7:30 p. m. in the White Chapel. The production will be under the supervision of Dr. Gerrit Memming. Mrs. Memming will sing the part of Angel Gabriel, Nancy Lou Walker will portray the role of Mary and Robert Waldner, that of Joseph.

Others in the cast will be: Gordon Anke, who will read the scripture; Gerald Gervasi, the innkeeper; Robert Reeser, Roland Roth, Elmer Roth and Rolf Memming, shepherds; Robert Berkstresser, Robert Spang and Henry Greenawald, kings; Phyllis Gruber, Eleanor Dick, Helga Windhoevel, Dorothy Lang, Helen Schoener, Kathleen Carls, Barbara Smith, Jean Filbert and Ingrid Memming, choir. Mary Ellen Greth will play the piano and Mrs. Memming the lute.

William Britton will be stage manager and Mary Jane Titlow will be in charge of costumes and properties. Mrs. J. Rodney Price will be technical advisor.

We Hit The Jackpot

Yes, we apparently hit the jackpot in the last issue when we inquired about what was rotten in Denmark. Even though two out of the more than half dozen students that answered the editorial thought that there was nothing to be alarmed about, the large response — more than any editorial received in many a year — in letters and in interest aroused in the question around the campus leads us to conclude that we touched upon a problem that is at least greater in degree this year if not different in kind from other times.

A number of apparently valid reasons were offered for this "spring fever"; among them was mentioned the lack of cooperation. The question is, "Why should there be less cooperation this year than formerly?" Furthermore, it is apparently true that more students are working part-time. Again, it seems that students are getting more work in many of their respective courses. This and the apparently harder grading are not, however, according to Dean Walton, due to any directive on the part of the administration. What puzzles us is whether there were valentines given to 60% of the students in previous midterms as there were in the present one.

Students it seems are reflecting the mood of the times in being more serious. The argument then continues to say that this seriousness is the reason for the neglect of extra-curricular activities, yet the activities that are suffering most are not the "frivolous" ones but rather the more serious and beneficial ones. Maybe, and we're often inclined to think so, there are too many overlapping activities here at Albright for the size of the enrollment, but we can't forget that this number of activities was supported by relatively the same number of students a few years ago.

One of the reasons offered for the apathy was that there is little recognition offered to those who try hard and are rebuked. Yet we wonder whether simply giving recognition to those who do work will solve the problem. Our previous complaint was not with these students who really give out and truthfully don't receive enough praise but rather with the many who just sit back and complain or more often don't even think enough to complain.

It might be interesting to note that only day students answered the editorial. Are they the only ones that find anything wrong and, if so, why? We think that the dorm students are also an integral part of the problem and we would like to hear from them too.

No matter what conclusions have or have not been reached, the ball has started to roll and if we keep it going something might be done to ameliorate the situation. A few more comments on the situation would obviously help. Certainly the present situation of several activities being practically bankrupt and others running in the "red" cannot continue. Either some activities will forceably close shop or something will have to be done about reactivating the present ones or possibly cutting down the number more rationally with the respective needs kept in mind. We further respectfully request the faculty and administration to seriously evaluate the amount of work being imposed upon the students.

All Around Town

On Friday, December 5th, one of the bi-monthly lectures presented under the auspices of the Reading Public Museum and Art Gallery will be given at the Reading High School Auditorium at 8 p. m. The speaker is Herbert Knapp, who will speak on "Travel Trails in the Andes." Adults are admitted free. This series of lectures, which is illustrated with colored motion pictures is both educational and entertaining, and is very popular in the community.

On Friday, December 5th and Saturday, December 6th, the Reading Civic Opera Company will present "The Three Musketeers" by Rudolph Friml at the Rajah Theatre at 8:15 p. m. This organization has been doing a good job in discovering and developing local talent, and always gives fine performances.

On Monday, December 8th, there will be a Blind Artist's Concert at the Woman's Club, 140 N. Fifth Street at 8 p. m.

Novel Notes

By Norm Buehler

These books used for the purpose of review for the interest and reading of such books by the circulation of The Albrightian are by courtesy of the Avon Publishing Company.

"After Many A Summer Dies The Swan," by Aldous Huxley.

An earthy novel with many philosophical viewpoints of never ending life, it can be worthwhile reading when viewed in a worthwhile way. Dry in spots, with a cynical outlook at times on religion, and a vivid character description.

Some of the professional critics say . . .

"This is Mr. Huxley's Hollywood novel . . . the story is outrageously good . . ." New York Times.

" . . . A highly sensational plot that will keep astonishing you . . ." Clifton Fadiman in the New Yorker.

"Avon Webster English Dictionary and Pocket Library of Encyclopedic Information" (Not connected with the First Webster Publishers nor their successors.)

This book, a new compilation of defined words, contains more than 20,000 words listed and defined in a fairly adequate manner. Information on political history of the U. S., how we are governed, charter of the United Nations, civics, law; correct English, errors to be avoided, letter forms for business and social conformity, and abbreviations are all contained on 640 complete pages in this Avon pocket sized edition. A good aid for college students at a low cost.

Do you know all the nations where U. S. Embassies and Legations are to be found? (Pages 502 and 503 have them listed alphabetically.)

Do you know who painted the "Horse Fair" . . . "Sistine Madonna"? (Pages 456, 457 and 458 contain one hundred famous paintings taking a selection from the painters in various countries at various periods in alphabetical arrangement by painter.)

This week's Dandy Lion, George Amole, hails from Birdsboro and is president of the Daymen's organization.

An active Albrightian, George is a member of the varsity baseball and basketball teams and is co-captain of the latter. He's a real sharp basketball player, I might add.

As president of the Daymen's organization, a business administration major and a member of the Zeta Omega Epsilon fraternity, George has made his mark on campus. Future plans include a stint with Uncle Sam "overhill, overdale."

These Are Good

A publicity campaign by a woman's undergarment company to select the "Lovable Girl of the Month" is causing a lot of comment at Michigan State College. It seems that about 80 per cent of the photos submitted were sent by the coeds themselves.

The editor of the Marshall College Parthenon, campus newspaper, says all faculty members should take a quiz in English. The college president calls the suggestion "unjust and unfair."

Readers Write—What A Response!

Dear Editor:

First of all there is homework, tests and the regular class schedule. Most students carry around 17½ hours of classes, and if they have labs, the number of hours spent here is greater. Since the evaluating committee decided the marks were too high, tests have been more frequent and more difficult and the marks lower. Students need more study time for these if they want to keep up their marks for the continuation of scholarships, entrance into grad school, or just their own satisfaction.

Also, many of us who are not Vanderbilts have been forced to take outside jobs so that we can stay in college or at least help our parents put us through.

. . . getting to meetings is often time-consuming. The round trip to and from an activity at college may take an hour or two for day students who depend on buses.

Lastly most people need some rest and a few seconds to themselves now and then. While I believe that you should participate in some activities, I don't think your future is doomed to failure if you don't captain the football team, edit the newspaper and yearbook, be the president of fifteen organizations and just be so active generally that a whole page of the Cue must be devoted to you.

Respectfully,
 Emma E. Seifrit

Dear Editor:

"Something Rotten in Denmark," this intangible non-entity you've labeled "spring fever," this force behind the so-called apathy at Albright isn't anything new or mysterious. To put it bluntly, a number of students are sick and tired of putting in a twelve hour work day six or more days a week.

In addition to the fact that the average student spends 17½-18½ hours a week in class, a lot of us are finding that the rising cost of tuition, books, bus fare and just about everything else necessitates our holding down a part time job. Even at the rate of only three hours per day this may take 15-20 more hours out of our week. Add to this all the hours we're supposed to spend in the library (as the ever widening circle of reserve books attests) plus daily assignments and you may end up with about a sixty hour week.

On top of all this the college seems to be bowed down under the weight of the opinion of some mysterious evaluating committee which decided last year's grades were just a bit too high. The prescription for this ailment seems to have been a program of three tests one day and two more the same week. The situation has gotten so out of hand that even some faculty members are timidly admitting "something should be done about it" (and so they go right ahead, give their tests all the same day and blame each other for not changing dates.) Craming has become the study pattern, for in preparing for the tests other daily work is neglected. The neglected subject when tested calls for more craming and the vicious circle becomes an unending series of concentric ones.

But, you say, "there seems to be a reluctance on the part of many students to accept any obligations." I ask you, how would they meet them?

This is not to imply that extra-curricular activities are by any means unimportant. What is suggested is that there be an evaluation of these activities and how much time they are to deserve.

What we fail to realize is that in some cases the emphasis has shifted so that academic programs are in danger of becoming only insignificant appendages to the so-called extra-curricular program.

And are you aware that a lot of "extra" activities have become almost compulsory if one hopes to be accepted as having had a full college education. You may have all A's but unless you're captain of the football team, May Queen, or best all around of the best all around students you probably have no real "understanding" of your subject.

What's the answer? Who can say. We do ask, however, that those who cry out against the apathy here look at our side of the question just once. It may be that some of us have decided the things that matter most are not having eight lines of clubs we have "joined" in the Cue.

Jacqueline F. Zwoyer.

Dear Editor:

In my case as with many others, the rather difficult program of an increased academic schedule coupled with outside jobs has served to limit much extra-curricular activity. It does seem that more students are working on the outside.

It seems that there is a mild tendency to concentrate on the primary purpose of attending college; namely, to get an academic education. The ominous threat of the ever-present draft board obviously has a deleterious effect upon an extra-curricular participation.

The fact that no one has accepted the job of chairman of the constitution committee is due to an obvious reason. When it was revised a few years ago, most of us would agree that the enormity of the task was not anticipated as it is today. Besides, the student body has rejected this previous revision, which too many months of what proved to be "fruitless" labor.

The science student has little time for active outside interests if he wishes to pursue an intense academic program. There seems to be an increased interest in graduate school education. The unusual percentage which went to graduate school from the last graduating class is indicative of a trend.

Personally, I don't think there should be much to be alarmed about. There just aren't the students available who can step into the shoes of a multitude of past campus leaders.

Tom Green

Dear Editor:

. . . We feel compelled to come to the defense of the long suffering Albright student. In the first place we wonder why the emphasis in the first line of the editorial on "this year." Is this year so greatly different from other years? Has the unfortunate Albright student deteriorated so rapidly over the summer?

Secondly, we have read a number of editorials in this vein over the years we have been at Albright, and to be quite frank, we are a little tired of them. It's like a toastmaster always telling the same stale joke over the years.

No sympathy, consideration, imagination or cooperation is generally extended to that student unfortunate enough to serve on a committee or as president of the organization. Have you ever had obligations to perform? Have you worked and planned for an affair, only to have it fall through, because no one could take the time to cooperate although they were perfectly willing to have you take your time? Have you spent nights pouring over the newspaper, only to have students point out all the mistakes, but who never tell you when they particularly like something in the paper?

We who are writing this letter feel that all editorials in the future on this subject should bear down lightly here, because we are tired of students being criticised for apathy toward obligations without an apparent recognition of what doom these obligations imply.

Cagers Open Card Wednesday Against La Salle

By SKIP ROGOVOY

Pretzel Bowl Mudcap

The fighting Lions of Coach Eddie Gulian set back the Cadets of Pennsylvania Military College to the tune of 20-0 for their fifth win in seven starts. It was in reality a Mud Bowl. It rained in the early morning and then continued to increase until at game time it was pouring. In spite of the bad weather a good crowd showed up to watch the annual game for the benefit of the crippled children in the many Shrine hospitals.

Bruce Tenley, senior halfback from Doylestown, was awarded the gold football for being the game's outstanding player. Tenley's hard running has been a standout in all the Lions' games this season. The defensive unit tied up the fabled "flying saucer" formation. These same men have been the backbone of the Albright Express. A week ago at L. V. it was evident to every spectator in the stands that Albright had a defensive unit second to no school of comparative size.

Shirkmen Lose Finale to Delaware

The Albright harriers, stale from a week's lay-off, went down to defeat at the hands of a powerful University of Delaware team. Bill Shirk was again first for Albright. These boys deserve a shout of praise for their impressive finish after losing their first two meets. Shirk was the individual star, but such valuable point-getters as Mahlon Frankhouser, Donald Seltzer, James Rocktashel, Richard Miller, Wilbur Muller, Richard Flammer, Paul Gehris and Thomas Savidge provided the necessary spark and often the margin of victory. Most of these boys return next season and with another year's experience under their spikes anything can happen. And with this club it usually does! Coach Shirk should be commended for the fine job he's done in producing a winning cross-country team for Albright.

G-Men Sunk By Scranton

The Weather man and Lady Luck frowned on the always-fighting Lion footballers as they dropped their final game to the University of Scranton, 7-6. A torrential downpour turned what once had been turf into a sea of mud. The players were indistinguishable after the first few minutes of play but the ball, although wiped and dried repeatedly, still was so slimy that eleven fumbles resulted.

The Lions' score came late in the game on a 17-yard quarterback sneak by Mike DePaul. Tony D'Apollito's kick went wide and he trailed, 7-6, and that was the final score.

So Long, Seniors

Al Weidman, co-captain and guard, has spent four years on the varsity. The former Bangor High athlete was picked on the Associated Press All-Pennsylvania second team on defense in 1951.

Bob Zapora, six-foot, 195-lb. tackle, has won two varsity football letters before this year. Before matriculating at Albright, Zapora played four years on the Hanover Township, Pa., High School team.

Bruce Tenley also played his last game this year for the Red and White. This was Tenley's fourth season on the varsity. The speedy halfback is a threat in the open as well as through the line. The veteran from Doylestown, Pa., is also a crack sprinter on the varsity track and field squad.

William Locher was injured in an automobile accident just before last season's Albright-Lafayette game and was on the sidelines the entire campaign. The Roselle Park, N. J., husky moved right into the starting safety position this year. Bill is a good pass defender and a vicious tackler.

Gridders Finish Third Winning Season Under Gulian; Compile 6-3 Record

The Albright Lions split their final two games of the season, both in the mud, to bring their 1952 record to a very respectable six wins and three defeats.

In the Pretzel Bowl on November 15 in the Stadium the Red and White put the skids under the Cadets from Pennsylvania Military College by a 20-0 score. The game was played on a very muddy gridiron before a much smaller crowd than was expected for the charity contest, but the Lions did a workman-like job in downing the visitors.

The first Lion touchdown came after five minutes of play when Tenley capped a 73-yard drive from the opening kick-off with a four-yard slant off tackle. Tenley, Sudol and D'Apollito alternated in carrying on this drive as they took well-directed pitchouts and hand-offs from quarterback Mike DePaul. Sudol clicked off two end runs of 23 and 11 yards during this drive, behind sharp blocking. D'Apollito's try for the extra point hit the upright and was no good.

Albright tallied again two minutes before the first half ended on a 68-yard march in nine plays. Taking Bill Applegate's punt on their own 32, the Lions racked up three first downs, all on the ground, to move the pigskin to the PMC 15. From here D'Apollito spun and twisted through the middle of the touchdown. He then added the extra point to give the Lions a 13-0 bulge.

Tenley Scores on Pitch-out

The final score of the afternoon came on the first play of the fourth quarter when Tenley took a pitch-out from DePaul and skirted left end for the touchdown from the PMC 20. A well-timed block by Sudol sprung the senior scabback into the open, but he was hit on the two and had to fight his way over. D'Apollito again added the point.

This touchdown climaxed a 65-yard march, again completely on the ground. The longest run outside of the one for the touchdown was a 12-yard advance by Sudol.

At the banquet that evening in the Rajah Temple, the players of

APO's Are Runnersup; Jerseyites Rates Third

The Zeta Omega Epsilon fraternity successfully defended their crown in Albright's 1952 intramural football program. It is the third year in a row that the Zetas snared the top honors. Coach Bobby Hicks inaugurated the Shaughnessey playoff system this year, and the Zetas after defeating the Jerseyites in a very close game, decided by a safety 22-20, went on to defeat the APO's for the title.

In the championship game won by the Zetas 20-0 over the APO's, the three touchdowns were scored as a result of passes by Bill Cohrs to Jack Fetterman, Jim Croke and Shelley Brooke.

The APO's qualified for the final playoffs by defeating the freshman Rebels 14-2. This game was made necessary after the two teams had played to a 6-6 tie. At the end of the regular season the Rebels and the Pi Tau's finished in a fourth place tie. The first playoff for the fourth place representative in the Shaughnessey playoffs ended in a 7-7 tie, but the issue was settled when the Rebels beat the Pi Tau's 6-2.

The final standings were as follows: Zetas, APO's, Jerseyites, Rebels, Pi Taus, Daymen and Kappas.

Girls Close With Win Against L.V.

The Lionesses ended their hockey season with a victory against the Lebanon Valley lassies at Annville, 2-0. Dorothy Kuettel and Patricia Miller scored for the winners. This victory brought the girls' record to three victories, four defeats and one tie.

Next year's squad will miss the playing of Patricia Miller, Dorothy Kuettel, Julia Leinbach and Patricia Upczak.

Next week Coach Eva Mosser will start practice for the basketball campaign. She is hoping for several aspirants to report in the new gymnasium to play under the captaincy of Julia Leinbach and Patricia Miller.

The lineups for the hockey game were as follows:

Albright	Lebanon Valley
Kramer	LW Nelson
Kuettel	LI DaCasta
Miller	CF Wather
Toepperwein	RI Heingman
Leinbach	RV Reedy
Althouse, C.	LA Urian
Hook	CH Edgar
Upczak	RH Eby
Marick	LF Young
Grove	RF Greenjack
Bysher	Goalie Clements

both squads received trophies while Tenley and Applegate were also awarded gold footballs as the outstanding players of their respective teams.

A blocked kick by John Feduchak and an extra point from placement by Sam Just gave the University of Scranton a 7-6 upset victory over Albright on November 22 at Albright Stadium before a hardy crowd of 500 spectators, who braved driving rain to sit through the contest. It was the final game of the season for both teams.

The deciding score came in the second quarter when Feduchak, a 160-pound defensive center, hurtled through the middle of the Albright line to deflect a punt by

Explorers Throw Squad of Veterans Against Gulian-Men; Expect Gathering of 3500 For Clash

The Albright Lion that takes the court next Wednesday night in the season's opener against LaSalle College will be a lion roaring for revenge. The Explorers, defending National Invitation Tournament champions and past masters of the court game, beat off the Guiliamen in last year's hard-fought battle at Philadelphia, 77-68. Next week's encounter will be the first to be played in the new gymnasium, where a crowd of 3500 is expected.

With a rugged 23-game schedule looming on the near horizon, Coach Gulian has been working the squad along at a good pace. Because of the abundance of freshmen on the roster, the Red and White mentor may decide upon a strategy that employs two working units.

Currently the number one unit comprises co-captains Connie Dettling, six-foot-five inch Reading High product, and George Amole, former Birdsboro High star, Kenney Nase, of Souderton, Jim Croke, of Brooklyn, and freshman Mike DePaul, of Central Catholic High fame. With the exception of DePaul, the above are holdovers from last year's varsity array.

The second group, at the moment, includes five freshmen: Bernie Krick, Roselle Park, N. J.; John Schiavo, former Central Catholic athlete; Don Pryor, Coatesville; Ian Nicolaisen, Wellsboro; and George Conrad, ex-Mount Penn High star.

Also battling for varsity berths are the following: Gordie Oplinger, Wilkes-Barre; Jake Munch, Lansdowne; Ron Pisano, Mount Penn; Bob Dey, Hightstown, N. J.; Bill Spaide, Hazle Township; and Bob Brown, Reading.

At this time all berths are tentative, and due to the equal ability of many players Coach Gulian is contemplating the use of a two squad system. Since the varsity team can only contain twelve players, four men will be cut from these sixteen tomorrow.

Jack Sudol, who was standing in his own end zone. The fall flew straight up in the air and finally was covered by Gily D'Arcangelo, a freshman end, for the touchdown. Just then entered the game to provide the margin of victory with a perfect placement, although several Albright linemen were detected offside on the play.

Lions Drive 40 Yards

This was the only score of the contest until the Lions came back to uncork a 40-yard scoring march early in the fourth quarter. Taking a punt by Dave Burger on the Scranton 40, the Red and White tried three cracks at the line, netting nine yards and leaving one yard to gain on fourth down. Halfback Bruce Tenley was stopped

Harriers Complete Successful Season

Bill Shirk Sets New Stadium Course Record

The fighting cross-country Lions of Coach Eugene Shirk closed their season on a losing note by succumbing to a strong University of Delaware team, 38-20.

William Shirk, who recently competed in the Nationals in New York, was first for Albright. The bad weather forced a week of inactivity on the teams, and they certainly showed it.

A week previous at the Middle Atlantic States Athletic Association Championships over the same Delaware course these same runners ran one and two minutes under their times against Delaware. Bill Shirk ran second in the Freshman race at the M.A.S.A.A.C. The varsity rated 29 points.

This completes the cross-country schedule for this year. The Lions split with a four won and four lost record.

The summary of the Delaware meet is as follows:

1. Bill Reybold (D)	21:17.5
2. Bill Shirk (A)	22:13.7
3. Roger Fouracre (D)	22:54
4. Irv Carter (D)
5. Jim Holcomb (D)
6. Mahlon Frankhouser (A)
7. Jim Glick (D)
8. Dick O'Connor (D)
9. Jim Rocktashel (A)
10. Dick Flammer (A)
11. Don Seltzer (A)
12. Tom Clayton (D)

short of the necessary yardage, but an offside penalty against the visitors gave the Lions a first down on the Royal 26. Sudol then slithered through tackle for nine yards, and on the next play quarterback Mike DePaul went through the middle of the visitors' line for 17 yards and a touchdown. Teaching Exams To Be Administered

The National Teachers Examinations, prepared and administered by Educational Testing Service, will be given at 200 testing centers throughout the United States on Saturday, February 14, 1953.

The tests are designed to demonstrate mastery of subject matter to be taught. The college which a candidate is attending, or the school system in which he is seeking employment, will advise him whether he should take the National Teachers Examinations and which of the Optional Examinations to select. Application forms and a Bulletin of Information describing regulation procedure and containing sample test questions may be obtained from college officials, school superintendents, or directly from the National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Service, P. O. Box 592, Princeton, New Jersey.

Auxiliary Views Play

The Women's Auxiliary of Albright College met Wednesday afternoon at Albright College. The business meeting was presided over by President, Mrs. Earl Huber.

A Christmas pageant entitled "Kings and Stars" was written by Mrs. Stabler and presented by members of the auxiliary. There was singing by the Auxiliary chorus. Mrs. Henry Simon is program chairman of the organization.

French Observer Is College Guest

Mlle. Marie Bourgeau, French observer under the government Exchange Program, was guest of the college on Wednesday. She lectured and answered questions for the French classes of Dr. Edith Douds, and was guest of honor at a tea in Sherman cottage.

Invited to meet here were a number of French-speaking persons from Reading. Mrs. Thurston Whitbeck and Miss Anne Lanz, advanced students in French, served tea.

Three Faculty Men Speak Before Groups

Three faculty members have been called upon to speak before various area groups. Dr. Milton Geil addressed the Birdsboro High School assembly on November 7 on the subject of his experiences in the Orient. Dean LeVan Smith was the guest speaker at the Concord of Civic Clubs in Sunbury on November 7. He spoke on the topic "Show Them the Way This Week." Dr. Samuel B. Shirk spoke before West Reading High School assembly on November 14 concerning education in Japan. He was assisted by Dorothea Lang, a member of the student body.

Daymen Boost Funds

Selling magazine subscriptions was a recent project undertaken by the Daymen's organization in order to raise money for needed improvements in the Daymen's room. At the last meeting instructions were given to the members for work on this project.

Because of a vacancy occurring on Student Council, Clyde Underkoffer was elected as the new representative from the Daymen's group to council. The group also discussed plans for a dance and for the revision of the Daymen's constitution.

Librarian Reports Purchase Of Map For Pol.-Sci. Usage

Miss Josephine Raeppl, librarian, has announced the addition of "The World News Map of the Week" to the library. Prof. Nelson Robinson, of the political science department, has indicated the possible use of this map in relation to classroom studies.

As its name indicates, it is a map of the world. The main news events of the week are written up in print at the bottom of the map, and arrows on the map show where they occur.

Numerous sets of classics have been recently donated to the library by the Trinity United Evangelical Church of York, Pa. "Pre-ministerial candidates will be especially interested in '6000 Sermon Illustrations' by Foster," said Miss Raeppl.

The library has also acquired a new long playing record. The selections on the record are: "String Quartet" and "Triptych." "String Quartet" is composed by William Bergsma, "one of the new generation of American composers."

objective of any fraternal organization.

The dance committee announced that the fall rush dance will be held at Mountain Springs Association on December 12. Turkey or seafood platters will be served at this formal dinner-dance and music will be provided by the Highlanders.

Several committee heads were named, among them being Eliot E. Perceley, chairman of the academic committee; Mike Scarpinato, head of the fraternity basketball squad; and Arthur Hilt, with the help of Lee Snyder and Bert Pergola will have charge of the newspaper committee.

Zeta Omega Epsilon

At the regular monthly meeting of the Zeta Omega Epsilon fraternity Monday certain revisions were made in the house policy by the house committee.

Arrangements were completed by the committee for the fall rush dance which will be held tomorrow night at the Manor Country Club. The fraternity made provisions for securing a card table and ping pong table for the recreation room.

A committee was delegated to arrange certain details for the Christmas party annually sponsored by the "Y" for underprivileged children.

Kappa Upsilon Phi

The Kappa Upsilon Phi Fraternity held its regularly scheduled meeting last Monday evening. Reports from its various committee chairmen were given concerning the Christmas Dance, Saturday, December 6. Bill Locker was elected captain of the intramural basketball team in the "A" league, and Bob Zapora was elected captain of the "B" team.

At a meeting held on Nov. 11, it was decided to purchase a television set. Andrew Katchmark was the committee chairman to look into the details. The new television set is a 17 inch Philco table model which will be installed sometime next week.

A motion was made to "adopt" 20 children to the Christmas party. Richard Flammer volunteered as committee head. Each room in the house will adopt two or more children.

Kaiser To Speak

Raymond Kaiser, sophomore pre-ministerial student, will speak at vespers Sunday evening at 7:00 P. M. in Selwyn Chapel.

Kistler Writes Journal Article

The public relations department announced this week the publication of an article by Dr. Charles E. Kistler in the November issue of the "Official Journal for Social Studies." The article, entitled "Map Study and Examination in Social Education," is an account of the method of map study and examination employed by Dr. Kistler here and originated by him at Emery University in Indiana.

Dr. Kistler recently spoke in the Pottstown High School to the Woman's Club of Pottstown on "Russia in the Far East."

E.U.B. Pastor To Address Chapel

Rev. Forrest J. Rehrig, pastor of an Evangelical United Brethren Church in Harrisburg, will be the guest speaker at the worship service in chapel on Tuesday. On Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. George Henry from Wyomissing will be the principal speakers. Mr. Henry is a cultural affairs officer of the foreign service.

"Christian Meaning of the Advent Season" was the theme of Rev. Eugene H. Barth's yuletide message last Tuesday in chapel. He discussed the fulfillment of new hope and joy during this time of year. The audience also participated in the service by singing Christmas carols.

Civil Service Offers Meteorological Aid Jobs

The United States Civil Service Commission today announced an examination for Meteorological Aid positions paying from $2,950 to $3,410 a year. Most of the positions are located in Washington, D. C. and throughout the United States. Some positions will also be filled outside the United States.

A written test will be given; appropriate experience or education is also required.

For information regarding the requirements, and instructions on applying may be secured at most first- and second-class post offices, or from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

Team Asked To Debate

The debate team has been invited to a debate at Lewisburg on Saturday, December 13. The annual intercollegiate debate tournament will be held at Lehigh University, at Bethlehem, Pa., on February 20-21.
