Six Seniors to be in "Who's Who"

'Y' Leaders Attend Ill. Conference; "Christian Faith" Assembly Theme

Agnes Snyder, Marjorie Christ, Newell Wert, and William Marlow, leaders in the Y.M. and Y.W.C.A. on campus, will represent Albright December 27-January 3 at the National Student Assembly of the Student Christian Movement. This National Student Christian Movement convenes on the campus of the University of Illinois.

Nine hundred and fourteen campus Christian associations will be represented by 2,000 delegates. These delegates will determine program objectives and policies of campus Christian activities for the quadrennium. With "Christian Faith" as the central theme, the delegates will form policies around a four point program, namely "Christian Heritage"; "Growth of Persons"; "Social Responsibility"; and "World Relatedness".

Dr. Howard Thirman and Dr. Albert C. Outler will be the main speakers at this convention. Dr. Thirman is well qualified in that he was Dean of the Chapel at Howard University, Washington, D. C., and at present is co-pastor of an interracial church in San Francisco. Associate Professor of Theology at Yale, Dr. Outler also is a capable leader. Other speakers will be engaged and revealed later.

In order to represent better the campus at this National Movement, the Albright delegates would appreciate all student and faculty suggestions on the following questions: (1) What is the actual world situation in which we are living? (2) What is the relevance of Christian Faith in meeting this world situation? (3) Where should Christian Associations place major program emphasis in the strategic years of 1947-50? (4) What relationships should this movement have with other national and world student and youth organizations?

In addition to formulating policies, the Assembly will have periods of worship, Bible study, program laboratories, and recreation.

Play Revamps Cast; Domino Club Inducts Seven New Members

Professor Annadora Vesper, faculty advisor and director of Domino's new production, "Arsenic and Old Lace," has announced two changes in the cast: William Marlow will take over the role of Mortimer Brewster, the only sane member of the Brewster clan, and Robert Dombro steps into the role of Dr. Harper, the Brewster's kindly clergyman-neighbor.

Following the meeting of the club Thursday evening, November 7, seven new members were inducted by the president, Jeanne Schlegel, at an impressive candlelight ceremony. Latest editions to the campus thespians are Professor Vesper, Carolyn Powers, Beth Sanger, Esther Savidge, Norman Telsey, Morris Knouse, and Marlow.

Active committees for the new production of "Arsenic" were appointed. Serving on the publicity committee are Miss Savidge, chairman; Ruth Homan, Hazel Moerder, Beverly Reimnsider, and Knouse. Members of the ticket committee are Joyce Yocum and John Reser. Prompters for the production will be Betty Bratten and Joyce Costenbader. Make-up is in charge of Robin Fenichel, Dorothy McFarland, and Violette Siebert. The property committee consists of Miss Sanger, chairman; Joyce Thompson, Tom Clarke, and Donald Haller.

Thompson Reveals "Cue" Editors Every Senior to Have Part in Yearbook

Mary Jane Painter Thompson, editor of the 1947 "Cue", has announced her editorial staff for the senior yearbook, which will begin publication immediately after the executive committee of the board of trustees meets December 1 to approve the action.

Department Editors

Heading the feature staff will be Martha Herrick and Joy Cutler. Kenneth Good and William Ebbert will be men's sports editors; while the women's sports editors will be Ferne Allen and Elaine Schwartz. George Morfogon will head the photography department; Virginia Woerle will be art editor; and Eugene Pierce will be in charge of advertising.

The seniors also elected Aaron Taub to be business manager of the yearbook at their meeting.

Jobs for Everyone

In a statement to The Albrightian, Mrs. Thompson said, "Each individual in the senior class will have the opportunity to do his part in the publishing of the "Cue", either now or in the near future; so, when you are contacted by the editors, please cooperate. This is our "Cue", class of '47."

Pats Entertain Guests At Rush Dinner In Whitner's Tea Room

Whitner's Tea Room was the scene of Pi Alpha Tau's rush dinner last night at 6 p. m. Chrysanthemums corsages were the favors for the affair. The invited guests were Betty Brutton, Betty Chelius, Joyce Costenbader, Marie Courtney, Grace Cunningham, Joy Davis, Shirley Douty, Shirley Johnson, Winifred Johnson, Gloria Landis, Beverly Morgan, Barbara Pearsall, Jane Roney, Mary Stokes, Patricia Strickler, Helen Sieber, Betty Thompson, Joyce Thompson, and Mary Vogel.

Chaperones for the dinner were Professors Consuelo Rodriguez and Anna Smith.

Chapel Slates Green, Barth

Professor Eugene Barth, college religious advisor, will speak at "Thanksgiving" in next week's chapel programs.

Tomorrow, Rev. R. S. Kresge, pastor of the Christ Evangelical Church, Reading, will conclude his three-day address on the theme "I Have a Stewardship".

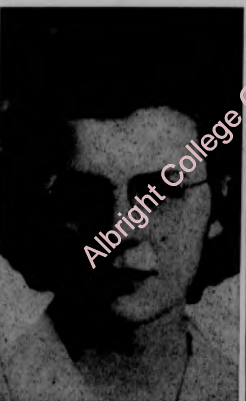

Professor Marcus Green, biology instructor, will speak in assembly on Thursday and Friday.

Joy Cutler

Eileen O'Neil

Agnes Snyder

Patrons' Division Meets Tomorrow in Parlors

Mrs. George W. Walton, chairman of the Patrons' Division of the College Auxiliary, announced that the Division will meet tomorrow in Selwyn Hall Parlors from 2 to 4 p. m. Mothers and friends of day-students are cordially invited to attend. Mrs. Earl Huber and Mrs. Harold Long will be hostesses; Robert Ziegler will talk about his travels to Europe last summer, and David DeWitt will sing several solos.

The Division meets the third Wednesday of every month.

Publication Honors Cutler, Good, Morfogon, O'Neil, Snyder, Wert

Six Albright seniors have been chosen by a committee of faculty and students to appear in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges". They are Joy Cutler, Kenneth Good, George Morfogon, Eileen O'Neil, Agnes Snyder, and Newell Wert. On the basis of an enrollment of over 600, Albright was allowed a quota of ten appointments. The six who were appointed were chosen for outstanding service to the College, offices held, and the possibility for outstanding contributions to society after leaving college.

Honors Seniors

"Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" is a publication released annually with a biography on prominent American college students. It also conducts a job placement service for the students honored in the publication.

Miss Cutler, a resident of Hollidaysburg, Pa., and a home ec major, is president of Women's Senate and a charter member of that group. Her other offices include president of the Home Economics Organization and treasurer of Pi Alpha Tau Sorority. Last year she was business manager of the "Cue", vice-president of the crown in the May Day activities. Her other college activities include hockey, varsity basketball, varsity softball, Dormitory Council, Bible Class, Women's Athletic Association, and Future Teachers of America.

Council Prexy

Induction Ceremony For 13 Members Thursday Afternoon

Thirteen members of the Albrightian Chapter of Future Teachers of America will be inducted at a ceremony this Thursday, November 21. Presiding, at this ceremony will be Marie Bonner, past president. The officers to be inducted are President, Robert Mattern; Vice President, Marian Fiedler; Secretary, Louise Trostle; and Treasurer, Alice Albright. The other members are Kenneth Good, John Kissinger, Mrs. Margie Handy, Mary Jane Hill, Virginia Woerle, Dorothy Bennett, Joy Cutler, Elaine Kyle, and Margaret Walton.

Kutztown State Teachers College will be the scene, December 5, of a group leaders meeting, which the officers of the Albrightian Chapter will attend. This meeting is under the joint sponsorship of the National Education Association and the Pennsylvania State Education Association.

Flash!

Professor Annadora Vesper, coach of the Domino production "Arsenic and Old Lace", has revealed that the play's first night will be December 12, instead of December 13. The play, she said, will also be given the 18th, but not Saturday, Dec. 14.

Who Do They Think They Are?

Maybe it's getting to be the fashion, maybe it's "sharp" and "reef" these days for students to act as if football games were an excuse to commit general mayhem and to sweep over a college campus like storm troopers. Unfortunately, most of us around Albright are rather conservative in that respect, and we don't appreciate the tactics used last weekend when our campus and stadium were plastered with red, purple, and orange paint. Especially were we disgusted and furious when we saw the paint slapped on the World War I honor roll at the Thirteenth and Union entrance to the College. Such action is downright criminal and ought to be punished as all criminal acts are.

We thought the war years were supposed to have matured and improved the calibre of college students, and for the majority of students, we think they have. Unfortunately, however, there were enough students around who apparently thought they were at a Penn-Princeton type of game to cause a considerable amount of damage last Saturday and to make us wonder what sort of products will be going forth from colleges to take responsible positions in society.

The blame for the painting spree on Saturday has not yet been placed, but the very least the guilty persons owe to Albright is a public apology for their childish, unsportsmanlike conduct.

Cooperation is the Keyword

With the announcement of her editorial staff, our "Cue" editor, Mrs. Thompson, is making an active start on the difficult task of publishing a '47 yearbook. We take actual delight in eating our pessimistic words of a few weeks back about the hardships of starting a "Cue" at this late date.

Since every senior, and many underclassmen, will lend their talents in producing the book, we can expect a real community project, a really democratic procedure.

We'd like to add our voice to that of M. J. in asking the cooperation of everyone in the production of our '47 "Cue."

Council Conference

Student Council brought up an interesting point at their meeting, which ought to be considered by the general student body, as well as by that group itself. The plan to send an Albright delegate to the student government conference in December seems like a sound idea. It would be a constructive way to give Albright status with other colleges in its student government and would undoubtedly furnish us with many varied and good ideas for improving our forms of government.

If you want to see Albright representation at this conference speak to Kenneth Good, Council president, and put your support behind this plan.

BY ANNE ONYMOUS

Prof Vesper reports she has found her arsenic and old lace and now is proceeding to up the two together. It's a queer chemical combination but Anne peeked in last night and she is now chewing her nails in anxiety.

If you've noticed a peculiar look on Johnnie Deam's face lately, it's the dog fish that he eats his lunch with.

Library scenes: Bea Ribner keeping the boys who shhh, shhhing. B. J. Jones and Jim Maracani huddled in a corner—just keeping warm. Elaine Huber, the football player's pin-up girl, listening to Jerry Pedota drool over his Long Branch Champ "Chickie." Voltaire stolidly sitting on the window-sill looking just like Bob Binder, or is it vice versa? Miss Raeppl hunting for Mary Fry.

Harry Gruber must pull a 250-pound fella through the streets of Richland in an express wagon just because he was a wee bit optimistic about the F. & M. game.

Mary Grebe has been having Bill Hechler running her errands and doing her chores. Watch out, Bill, the next step is the one that can't be retraced.

Pat Herrick and Anne Wickham are spending weekends at Penn State again. They spend academic time at Albright and take a course in social activities at State.

Kenny Wagner and Joan Wenger haven't seen anyone else in weeks. Joan's friend, Lucille Dissinger, had to have Rickey von Seekamm come to Reading to keep her company for a while.

Rev. Keim must think our students look sick. He keeps insisting that they drink that Dr. Pepper "medicine."

Dotty Rath and Pat Strickler were asked by Al Capp to send him their pictures. No doubt he's gonna have another Lena contest.

Kilroy was here!

Council Says:

At the weekly meeting of Student Council last Thursday, President Kenneth Good reported to the group that a United Students Movement Conference will be held in Chicago December 27-29 to discuss student government problems. Council will decide next week as to sending a representative from their group to the meeting.

Ray Fidler, chairman of the men-service committee, revealed that Christmas cards in the form of a snapshot of a campus snow scene, to be made by the visual ed class, will be sent to Albrightians still in the service.

The sophomore class, through Betty Burnett, co-chairman of Council social committee, asked to engage the College Jazz band for their scheduled barn dance and hayride. Since Student Council has appropriated a sum to buy music for the band, it has jurisdiction over its performances. Permission was granted to the sophs to engage the band, provided no union rules are violated, as it is an off-campus affair, restricted to a selective group.

Marian Fiedler, chairman of the chapel committee, announced that the committee is working on plans for the coming "Little Cultural Series", securing speakers and entertainment for the scheduled dates.

Absent from the meeting were Jeanne Flickinger, Mus; Virginia Woerle, Mus; Catherine Frantz, daywomen; George Morfogen, seniors; Perry Matz, sophomores; Allen Fisher, daymen; Vilma Griesemer, daywomen; Herb Vogt, Zetas; Ralph Miller, Veterans' Club; and Professor John Khouri, faculty.

Again on the look-out for prominent seniors, Dandy could not escape our 6 feet 1 1/2 inch Ginny Woerle.

This tall, attractive senior has been active in campus affairs throughout her three years at Albright. She is a member of the "Cue" staff, Student Council, and Heo Club. Ginny is president of Phi Beta Mu Sorority and of the W.A.A.

Because sports is her hobby, she occupies much of her time by participating in them. As you may well expect, Ginny is our star basketball player.

Although majoring in home ec., Ginny has no plans for a future career. Her favorite food is food, and her best-liked beverage, milk. Among her likes is Alfie Deach. 'Nough said?

Ginny is also the well known artist on campus. If any of you fellows are still hunting "pin-ups", contact Ginny immediately. The pictures she draws are very clever. Who knows? Instead of doing the cooking our Dandylyon may be drawing the Daisy Maes of the future.

Hit Tunes, Harding's Class Highlight Jr. Jukebox Jamboree

The Junior Juke Jamboree, last Friday, November 9, as it was appropriately dubbed, turned out to be a huge success with much credit due the members of the Junior Class who made it so. The music, records of the latest hit tunes played by the top bands of the country, the refreshments, the entertainment, proving the versatility of our faculty, and the dancing all added up to a super evening for all who attended.

The students saw themselves as others see them in the skit presented by the faculty. Fred Harding as "Teacher" must have thought he was facing one of his English classes judging from the answers he received. The faculty should be congratulated on their mastery of our art of "passing the buck"—and we thought we actually had you fooled! Also to be noted and admired was Prof Memming's persistence in all matters concerning females—German class was never like this. The dorm girls were especially tickled by Dean Cunliffe's answers, just what is democracy? Then, too, we cannot overlook Miss Rodriguez who played the role of Sweater Girl.

Altogether, it proved that, despite those 30-page assignments, two-hour exams, and endless term papers, our professors have a less serious side which they exhibited in their classroom capers. We all liked it and we'd like more.

Day Council Meets About New Lockers

Daywomen's Council met Thursday, November 14, in the Lower Social Room to discuss the arrangement to be used for the new lockers which have just arrived. These lockers, which have combination locks, will be put up during the Thanksgiving vacation, Agnes Snyder, president, announced.

The Council also discussed the budget. A fee of 35 cents will be charged each daywoman per semester, to be paid to the class representatives. This fund will be used for social functions, said Miss Snyder.

Rugged Dogpatchers Rouse Al Capp For Hilarious Day

"Oh, happy Sadie Hawkin's Day." November 12, was wild, wacky, and hilarious, with the campus resounding from trolley tracks to bus stops with the fearful cries of pursued males and the bloodthirsty yells of pursuing females.

The delegation of Dogpatchers who met Al Capp at the Abraham Lincoln Hotel bright and early nearly sent the entire staff of the Berkshire Hotel to a sanatorium when they mistakenly tried to enter that lobby. The manager's secretary was seen doubled up by a window—Albright's "finest" must have made quite an impression.

Keimie as "Marryin' Sam," waylaid a wide-eyed clerk, and it was finally impressed on the shivering group of greeters that the cartoonist was registered at the Abraham Lincoln. Somewhat disrupting traffic, they crossed to the Abe Lincoln and there, to the dismay of the management, encamped to wait for Capp.

There was a minor riot, when in the process of waiting, Herb Vogt and Ralph Miller, the Scragg boys, started riding up and down in the elevator with the cute little operator from Alabama. Since Mr. Capp had just left Hartford, Connecticut at 2:30 a. m. the Dogpatchers had to waken him—imagine that sight greeting you first thing in the morning.

With the female characters freezing to death and Lil' Abner just looking happy about the whole thing, the delegation with their captured cartoonist finally arrived for the appearance at the Science Hall. The interview was fast and furious with all kinds of questions flying, and no holds barred—if Capp doesn't introduce some new characters in his strip, he certainly had inspiration for a few.

The great race of the day was one of the wildest in Albright's woolly history.

Library Doings

Did you notice the "library ghost" at Halloween? Huge, white and ghastly, it was enough to intimidate even our bravest Albrightians! Ferne Allen, of the Alumni Memorial Library staff, designed it, and also did the other autumn decorating in the library.

I suppose we're all thankful for the extra tables and chairs placed in the library to accommodate the increased number of students who come in to read and silently (?) study.

The Van Driels are well-represented at Albright. Of course you all know Leonard Van Driel, one of our chief cooks and bottle-washers, but have you also seen his wife, the former Jane Dick, '40, who assists part-time in the library?

Librarian Josephine E. Raeppl reports a number of new books, which are yours to read, for the asking.

To begin with, there is Albert Edward Barnett's, "The New Testament," describing the making and meaning of the New Testament.

"Complete Writings," all of the works of Thomas Paine, has been received. It includes his "The Rights of Man," which won Paine a deathless place among the world's rationalists.

On the lighter side, we have Neurt Loken's, "Cheerleading and Marching Bands," nicely illustrated with cheers, drills, and band music.

For the radio-minded, there is "Understanding Radio," by Herbert M. Watson, a guide to the practical operation and theory of radio.

In the useful arts classification is "America's Fabrics," by Zelma Bendure, describing the origin and history, manufacture, characteristics and uses of various textiles.

Novels include "The Ballad and the Source," by Rosamond Lehmann.

Frosh Guidance

From Textbooks to Tenpins

By Agnes Snyder

We don't have to be at Albright very long before we notice the friendliness and fellowship shown among all Albrightians—faculty and students alike. This is what we mean by the Albright spirit.

Any college is as strong as the degree of cooperation between students and faculty in fostering the aims and objectives of the school. Albright's liberal, democratic traditions can be fostered only when faculty and students work together in a comradely fashion.

The college community exists to enrich the lives of its members in useful service to society. A student's life can be academically and socially meaningless if he is uninspired by his professors. A professor is faced with the challenge of guiding us in our studies and of interpreting these studies so that they will be meaningful to us and to society. However, a professor can not do this singlehanded. He needs a student who is eager, receptive to new ideas, and willing to put his best into his work.

Have you ever been to a faculty-student get together where you see the professors, with rolled up sleeves, taking a game of tenpins or hop scotch as seriously as any textbook? Have you ever walked down the path with a professor who told you of his last fishing trip or the last game he bowled? Did you dance with the chaperones at the last Friday night dance, or talk over a problem confidentially with a professor? If you have, you realize that the faculty wants to become acquainted with us both in and outside of the classroom, and to help us with questions that disturb us. This is a faculty responsibility and privilege. In order for the faculty to fulfill their responsibility, we must become acquainted with the faculty, learn to work and play with them, and share our thoughts with them. It is an experience that will enrich our individual lives and the future of Albright.

Albright is not the student-body—it is not the faculty! It is a community of students and faculty members working cooperatively to uphold the democratic ideals of Albright and our world family.

A rather tragic story, it tells of an impulsive Victorian beauty who broke all the conventions of her generation.

Lewis Sinclair's best-seller, "Cass Timberlane," is a story of marriage, of husband and wives. With the focus on middle-aged Judge Timberlane and his lovely, somewhat unstable young wife, Jinny, it is really a satire on present-day holy wedlock. But it is, too, the story of a community, of various types of people in a small city in Minnesota.

For one of the best pieces of American verse that the war has produced, read "Beach Red," by Peter Bowman. It tells of one man's experiences with an assault force capturing a Japanese beachhead. His road leads to death. The hardships he and his comrades endure, and his long thoughts, furnishing a clue to what soldiers think in battle, are both well-represented.

PLAY REVAMPS

Professor Vesper reports that the cast is doing very well in rehearsals and that the committees are putting forth their best efforts to make this one of the most successful productions of the Domino's history. Tickets will go on sale within the next week. A sell-out is expected, so everyone is urged to purchase his tickets early in order to get the best seats.

German Students Stage Talent Show Thursday

A talent show was featured at the German Club meeting last Thursday in the Lower Social Room. Vocal selections were sung by Carolyn Powers, Jeanne Schlegel, and Dorace Hornberger. Mervin Helfrick read a German poem, and Jerry Kersch read a modern version of the "Erl Konig." Mrs. Erika Rothermel, a native of Estonia, played a few piano selections. After the business meeting, presided over by President Geraldine Wentzel, and the program, refreshments were served.

Sophists to Induct New Members

Several new initiates of the Philosophy Club will be inducted into membership at the December meeting, said Mervin Helfrick, president. An invitation has been extended to hold the meeting at the home of Dr. Morris S. Greth, former club advisor, in Allentown.

During the Philosophy Club meeting held last Monday, Violette Seibert, a guest of the club, read a paper on the philosophy of Llewellyn and members discussed his defense of western culture and civilization.

Dean Helen L. Cunliffe and Dean LeVan P. Smith will inaugurate the student guidance program on November 26 at 4:30 p. m. in the College Chapel when all freshmen will assemble. Students are requested to bring with them the guidance articles which have recently appeared in The Albrightian.

There will be a meeting of the Women's Senate tomorrow evening at 7:30 p. m. in Selwyn Hall Parlors. Joy Cutler, president, will preside.

The Albright College jazz band made its first appearance last Thursday at 1:10 in the College Chapel. Under the direction of Abe Markowitz, the boys played jump and smooth numbers. Markowitz introduced the members of the orchestra and announced that the position of vocalist with the band is still open.

Albright welcomes the new switchboard operator, Mrs. Rita Compo, who replaced Mary Burns. A hearty greeting, Mrs. Compo!!

Mary Jane Painter Thompson, newly appointed editor of the "Cue", has announced that any underclassmen who wish to help on the "Cue" staff should contact her sometime in the Office of Student Publications.

From the exchanges:

The Student Council of Muhlenberg College is sponsoring a campus-wide bridge tournament. Who ever said that it's only the women who have bridge sessions?

Some students from Bucknell University have been assisting in the painting of a Methodist church near the campus. The Bucknellians are also having Hal McIntyre and his orchestra for their sophomore class dance.

A new absence system has been enforced at Dickinson College. Students who miss a previously announced quiz will now automatically receive a grade of 40 for the test.

Juniors and Frosh of the Ursinus campus held their annual breakfast in the College woods adjoining the campus. Drifting from the early-risers to the evening book-lovers, we read in the student newspaper from Carnegie Institute of Technology that the evening students have formed a "Lamplighters" Club. Very appropriate, isn't it?

"WHO'S WHO"

and former Daymen's vice-president. He also participated in track and debating.

Morfogen, a returned veteran, served as a second lieutenant in the 95th division in Europe. He is president of the Alpha Pi Omega Fraternity, of Pi Gamma Mu, and of the senior class. A social science major from Boonton, N. J., Morfogen played varsity football his freshman and sophomore years and was chief air raid warden here. He is a member of Sigma Tau Delta, Veterans' Club, and Philosophy Club. During 1942, he was treasurer of Student Council and a member of the French Club.

Editor of Paper

Miss O'Neill, editor-in-chief of The Albrightian, lives in Reading and is a sociology major. Also a charter member of Women's Senate, she is vice-president of that group, and vice-president of the Daywomen's Organization. A Pi Alpha Tau Sorority member, she is also active in Philosophy Club, Pi Gamma Mu, and Daywomen's Council. She was on the staff of the 1944 and 1946 "Cue", and was a member of Domino Club, International Relations Club, and Student Council.

YWCA president, Miss Snyder is a Reading High graduate and a sociology major. She is president of the Daywomen's Organization, vice-president of Pi Gamma Mu, secretary of the Philosophy Club, and a Student Council representative. She is active in the College Bible Class; was business manager of this year's "Compass"; and is a former member of The Albrightian and "Cue" staffs.

Pre-Min. Student

Wert, a pre-ministerial student from Lebanon, Pa., has the presidency of YMCA as his chief college activity. He is also treasurer of the Zeta Omega Epsilon Fraternity, vice-president of Philosophy Club, vice-president of Kappa Tau Chi, and a member of the "Sons of Albright" quartet. He was president of his class for three years; is a former member of The Albrightian staff and of the Chapel Choir; and sings with the Men's Glee Club.

Students Worship

Gerald Hertzog and Marion Swartz announce that the group attended the Mennonite Brethren in Christ Church at Tenth and Oley Sts. on Sunday, November 17. Rev. A. G. Woodring is the pastor.

Attention, All Veterans!

We have been asked by the Internal Revenue Service of the U.S. Treasury Department to ask you to register firearms (any and all) of foreign make or government issue brought in by you or shipped to you. The purpose of this registration is to see that all such firearms held by individuals in this area are properly registered, and you are assured that no guns shall be confiscated nor any penalties enforced against those holding guns questionably obtained, unless they should be government property of the type "not to be distributed". Under no conditions shall anyone be penalized for failure to present a proper certificate, registration, or authorization. All such certificates, registrations, and authorizations should be brought along with the weapon when presented.

It is very important that you cooperate in this movement and prevent any consequence which might follow an oversight on your part. One day, Thursday, December 5, 1946, shall be set aside for the registration of your firearms, in the foyer of the Science Hall. Remember, only those of foreign make or government issue (not domestic guns already licensed) are to be brought. This service has already been introduced in the cities of Lancaster, Bethlehem, and Easton. If you have already registered your weapon with the federal government in any one of these places, do not do so here.

We make this announcement now, and in the next issue of The Albrightian, so that those students who are going home for the Thanksgiving holidays may have an opportunity to bring back the weapon for registration here, or make suitable arrangements to register it in the home area.

REMEMBER THE DATE: Thursday, December 5.

REMEMBER THE PLACE: Science Hall Foyer.

 Dean of Men

Leaders Active

The leaders for prayer group for the week are: today, Marion Gerberich; Wednesday, John Snook; Thursday, Delores Rhinehart; Friday, Jane Roney; Monday, November 25; George Hummer; the 26th, Jane Reynolds; and Wednesday the 27th, David Bailey.

Freshmen to Undergo Tuberculin Testing

Beginning December 10, the Reading Tuberculosis Association in conjunction with the Albright College Health Service, will administer tuberculosis tests to all freshman students. In January all students with a positive reaction will be X-rayed. A portable X-ray machine will be brought to the campus for this purpose.

Dr. Clarence Horn, head of the biology department and of the College Infirmary, will arrange the tests, which will be administered by Dr. Glenn Deibert, College physician.

Reporters' Retreat

Plans are in progress for The Albrightian staff's first social function, announced at the staff meeting Wednesday, November 13. Ideas were discussed and the staff finally decided in favor of a picnic-hike to the tower. Bob Evers, chairman of the event, will be aided by Beverly Bresler and Allen Fisher.

The staff will do an en masse back-to-nature movement and forget their copy and headlines for a while, sacrificing them for the pleasures of the great outdoors. The itinerary includes a trek up Mt. Penn to the tower where they will replenish their energy with hot dogs, rolls, with all the trimmings.

Frosh Jive Friday To Music of New Albright Jazz Band

The selection of a "King and Queen of Jive" will be the main feature of the evening at the freshman dance set for Friday evening from 8:00 to 11:30 p. m. Since this dance will be the last of the football season, a football theme has been selected. Various novelty dances have been planned by the social committee. A number of prizes will be awarded. Abe Markowitz and the newly formed College jazz band will provide the music for the affair.

The social committee in charge of all arrangements include: co-chairmen, Beverly Reimsnyder and Stanley Taub; Dick Landis, Patricia Strickler, Jeanne Stauffer, Doris Chanin, George Fuzmer, Don Haller, Sam Santas, and Wesley Brown.

The newly chosen publicity committee for the freshman class includes co-chairmen, Lillian Boyer and Fred Worth; Beverly Bresler, John Werley, and Dick Chambers.

New Vespers

Albright's faculty will be the sponsors of a unique vespers program starting Sunday, November 24, with Dr. Daniel J. Wetzel, pastor of the First Reformed Church, Reading, as the leader in the services. A concentrated effort will be made to have day students present, when a special buffet luncheon will be served after the faculty-directed vespers. They will be held every two months in the College Chapel from 5:15 to 6 p. m.

Day students will be charged only 25 cents for the buffet luncheons, and dormitory students will be admitted free. The program is also under the sponsorship of the College Y's.

Gettysburg Smashes Lions 34-0; Bullets Score Three In Third Frame

The "Battlefield Boys" of Gettysburg, following the tradition of their ancestors of '63, handed our badly wounded Lions their third straight white-wash job and their fifth consecutive setback of the campaign.

The same jinx that has been dogging our Lions all season hung on again, as the Bullets capitalized on our fumbles and misplaced aeriels to break away for a grand total of five T.D.'s.

The Bullets of Gettysburg wasted little time breaking the ice in the opening quarter. As soon as they got their hooks on the pill they began moving towards the payoff zone. With the game scarcely two minutes old, a short pass, Wileman to Frank Cauffman took the G-boys all the way from their own 43 to a touchdown. Joe Cervino's conversion was perfect and the Bullets jumped ahead 7-0.

Our Lions, eager to grab it back, moved as far as the Bullet 35 only to lose the ball on a fumble. But the Bullets, not too happy over a mere seven point lead, began banging away again. Cervino set the stage by pulling down a Lion-aerial, and an interference penalty against our Lions put the pellet on our own 25. It was here that the Lion line, strongly anchored by Urosevich and Wagner, held the hungry Bullets at bay.

Mead's Boys Score Again

Nevertheless, midway through the second quarter, the Bullets picked up their second tally, doing it the hard way. They began the attack when Wileman hauled down a Baumgaertel flip and skipped to the Albright 47. From here the Kreider to Cauffman sky boys took to the air, and on three consecutive passes, one of them nullified by a penalty, dented the end zone for the second time. Once again Cervino booted the conversion and the half ended with our Lions behind 14-0.

Bullets Continue Assault

Gettysburg went hog wild in the third quarter as they snowed the Lions under with three more touchdowns. Albright held the ball for exactly one minute when Don Morris speared a partially blocked Lion pass of Vic Giggli's on the 40 and raced all the way for a score. Joe Cervino's educated toe again sent the ball over and the score climbed to 21-0.

Blasting back almost immediately the Bullets raced an Albright punt to their own 33. Kreider's pitching arm sent another pass—this time to Wileman who skipped 67 yards for a touchdown as his running mate Krupa disposed of Lion opposition.

Still not happy, the Bullets began another attack late in the third quarter. Wileman was the instigator as he pilfered his second pass and landed it on the Albright 19. And it was Joe Cervino who finally knifed his way through the Lion line for the fifth Bullet T.D.

Lions Threaten

The last chapter found our Lions fighting desperately to spill some ink on their side of the slate. Maracani, who had been slugging the Bullet line all afternoon, raced a punt to our 39. Here came Albright's strongest bid of the afternoon when Baumgaertel zipped a pass to Kohl who was tackled from behind on the Bullet 33. But the Bullet line stiffened and the Lions lost the ball.

Later in the quarter another Lion opportunity went to naught. Baumgaertel intercepted a pass and raced it to the G-burg 37. But again the Gettysburg boys braced themselves and the Lions lost the pill on the Bullet 23.

Albright's last great sortie into Gettysburg territory came in the closing minutes of the game. A beautiful Baumgaertel to Kubisen flip landed our boys on the Bullet 19, but their line tightened like Shylock's purse and the game ended

Lions to Gun for No. 2 As P.M.C. Seeks No. 1; Lions To Close Season

Somebody has to win next week! (unless we pull an Army-Notre Dame stunt). P.M.C., our visitors for next week, and victims, we hope, have even a worse record than ours. For they not only haven't won a game all year, but they only scored six points. From all indications, however, their squad is improving. For this past week they held a high-powered Lebanon Valley squad to a 13-0 score, and the week before held Moravian before losing 14-6.

For offense, P.M.C. has had to rely almost entirely on the arm of Ken Bowley, for their running attack has almost been nil. They opened the season by losing to Delaware's unbeaten squad, 25-0, then losing to West Chester, 40-0, who in turn punted the Lions 26-0. An unusually good John Hopkins team won 27-0, Moravian 14-6, and Lebanon Valley 13-0.

This will be the closing game for both teams, and a game which both must win if they intend to salvage anything from this season.

Probable starting lineup will be:

| Albright    | Pos. | P. M. C.  |
|-------------|------|-----------|
| Pedota      | LT   | DiAngelis |
| Bird        | LT   | Lythgoe   |
| Fromuh      | LG   | Sophy     |
| Wagner      | C    | Dios      |
| Delewski    | RG   | Miccocci  |
| Urosevich   | RT   | DeVore    |
| Koskultel   | RE   | Righy     |
| Baumgaertel | QB   | Rudolph   |
| Ridolfi     | LTB  | Bowley    |
| Kubisen     | RHB  | Lindsay   |
| Maricani    | FB   | Caia      |

with our purring Lions on the sad end of a 34-0 funeral.

Albright Defeats Quantico Marines

Anlian Easily Wins; Binder Gets Leg Injury

With speedy Eddie Anlian of N. J. showing the way, the Albright's Lion runners took away some of Saturday's football gloom at the expense of the Quantico Marines. The big vet's quarter mile lead over his nearest rival paced the Lions' 25-30 victory. Anlian finished the three mile course in a neat 14:57.

Trailing Anlian was Bob Lawson of the Develtdogs who ripped through in 15:47. Jim Delp of Albright wound up in the third slot in 15:50, just three seconds behind Lawson. Peabody of Quantico and Fred Roland of Albright respectively held down fourth and fifth places. Bob Binder had taken over the number two spot at the three quarters mark when a pulled muscle slowed him down.

Albright's harriers will have a chance to even their record at three wins and three losses this afternoon when they meet U. of Delaware's runners at Newark. The summary:

|-----------------------|-------|
| 1. Anlian, Albright   | 14:57 |
| 2. Lawson, Quantico   | 15:47 |
| 3. Delp, Albright     | 15:40 |
| 4. Peabody, Quantico  | 15:58 |
| 5. Roland, Albright   | 16:02 |
| 6. Wocker, Quantico   | 16:26 |
| 7. Binder, Albright   | 17:27 |
| 8. McCarthy, Quantico | 17:37 |
| 9. Stump, Albright    | 17:52 |
| 10. Beyerle, Albright | 17:59 |
| 11. Daut, Quantico    | 18:31 |
| 12. Bird, Quantico    | 19:01 |

Hackenberry Revives Volley Ball League

Something new has been added! Albright College now has four volleyball teams. Dick Hackenberry is the originator of the idea, and he has been in charge of all the games. The team captains are Jim Nace, Willie Marlow, Dick Haas, and Bob Evers. The games are played four times a week in the stadium at 4:30 p. m. To win each team must take two out of three games. Several games have been cancelled, but will be played at a future date. The last game, deciding the championship, will be played on Tuesday before Thanksgiving.

With almost half the schedule completed, team No. 4, captained by Bob Evers, has taken the lead with seven wins and two losses. His team, after dropping their first two contests, rallied to win five straight, and to lead the league.

Standings

| Team No.   | Won | Lost | Per. |
|------------|-----|------|------|
| Team No. 4 | 7   | 2    | .775 |
| Team No. 3 | 3   | 3    | .500 |
| Team No. 2 | 3   | 6    | .333 |
| Team No. 1 | 2   | 4    | .333 |

Basketball Predictions

I imagine, since the basketball schedule is out, that it only be fitting to say something concerning it. To make any pre-season predictions is always a precarious occupation, and is especially so in view of all the varying factors. For instance, who could foresee last year that at the outset Bill Landis would get on academic probation and Lee Cappel get pneumonia? So you can never predict a team's chances too accurately. And naturally, Mr. Harris frowns on making such predictions, and justly so, for all too often an underrated squad can ruin an otherwise successful season. Just look at Penn and Princeton. It happens all the time.

So with all due apologies to Mr. Harris, and against his will, I will try to evaluate our opponents. Please remember these predictions are my own, and may be entirely wrong, and are in no way the opinions of Mr. Harris or the school.

First of all, I believe the team will be vastly improved over last year. This is only natural, for many more boys are in school, and this year Mr. Harris won't have to worry about their being drafted. It must be remembered that last year a total of 25 men were at various times in uniform, and Mr. Harris constantly had to shift positions, for it always seemed someone was getting drafted, sick, or ineligible. This year, so far as it seems, these troubles won't be quite so prominent. However, it must be said too, that virtually every other school will be loaded with vets and also fielding a far better team than a year ago.

Going on the assumption that we will improve a great deal over last year and that other teams will just improve, I predict:

1. First the big schools: St. Joe's — they beat us 59-41 in Philly, but did not look too impressive. I frankly think that if we would have played them in Reading at the end of the season with the same squad that played so well against Valley Forge, we might have been able to take them. However, St. Joe's plays virtually every big basketball school in the country, and when you keep that kind of company, you have to be good. If we beat them, we can be sure of having a pretty good season. Probable loss.

2. Detroit — you must be good to barnstorm, but we beat them two years ago in the Boston Garden — 39-33. No prediction possible.

3. Duquesne — I have nothing to go on here for a prediction. All I know is that the Dukes before the war, had an excellent team. In '41 when Wyoming won the national championship and beat Albright 73-54, Duquesne was one of the few teams to beat the Cowboys. No prediction.

4. Elizabethtown — the Lizzies have never defeated Albright, but came mighty close to doing it last year. They will improve, but not as much as we. Two wins.

5. Kutztown — has never beaten a Harris coached squad, but lost by only one and four points last year. They have their entire last year's squad back, with some good ex-G.I.'s from the County schools to bolster the team. Kutztown always points to the Albright game, and will be plenty tough. We should improve more than they. Probable win.

6. Juniata — of unknown quality. If their basketball is anything like their football, we ought to be able to maul them. Two wins.

7. Moravian — another unknown, usually good, especially in Bethlehem. Last time we played them, in Bethlehem, they beat us 52-48. Unless they pull some surprise, we should take them.

8. Scranton — had a good team last year, but couldn't click. With over 2000 students, they ought to have something, and they seem to be trying to crash the big time. If they play as they played last year, chalk up two wins.

9. LaSalle — usually good, but had player-coach trouble last year, and with those troubles ironed out, they will be tougher. They still have Bobby Walters, but I believe we've gained more than they.

10. Lebanon Valley — here's the one — we lost two to them last year, and it's a very, very rare occasion when the same college beats us twice in one year. Frankie Shupper has finally graduated, but they still have Marshall Gemberling, Rinso Marquette, and Pete Gamber. They're going to be plenty tough, but we should at least split if not win both.

11. F. and M. — only one game with them, at home, usually a low-scoring affair. It's doubtful that they will have too much this year.

12. Gettysburg — we play them only at Gettysburg, where they have been extremely rough on us in past years, and they beat us 52-25 last year at Northwest. Towards the end of the season, they slipped badly, but should be good again this year. This very easily could be a loss, and it will take heads-up basketball to beat them.

Hockeyettes Win First; Taylor, McKittrick Star

The Albright hockeyettes finally won a game—even though they had to play themselves! The undefeated Juniors, after fighting against a tough Fresh-Soph combine, maintained their record by a victory of 3-1. The game was a close one with the ball being played all over the field and with long bitter struggles ensuing at each goal.

Fay Sheets scored the first goal for the Juniors on a cross shot from Lois Taylor. During the first half the Fresh-Sops couldn't score, mainly through the magnificent efforts of Marjorie Christ, the Junior goalie.

Later in the third quarter Gloria McKittrick dribbled the ball for fifty yards and then flicked it to Lois Taylor who scored the second point for the Juniors.

Both teams were evenly matched, each having six members of the varsity hockey team. This was the hockey game of the season, with the fighting spirit we've been looking for. The Seniors, who challenged the winning team, will play the Juniors some afternoon this week. More fun; more people killed.
