Student Conference At Naperville, Ill. To Discuss Problems

Dr. J. A. Heck To Direct Discussion Groups

Students will have wide-open opportunities to pool facts and opinions in the three-day conference which calls Evangelical college, university and seminary students to Naperville, Illinois, December 31-January 1, 2.

"This conference which comes but once in a student generation, will not be a gathering dominated by speech-makers," says Dan Ruge, G.E.Y.P.U. president. "In fact, there is only one address in the first two days. It is the keynote address given by Dr. T. Otto Nall, managing editor of The Christian Advocate, Chicago, Ill., at the opening session. Bishop C. H. Stauffacher, D.D., will bring the closing address on Friday night, and Dr. Raymond M. Veh the closing worship."

There are seven problem areas as follows: No. 1, the distinctive contribution of the Evangelical Church has to make to the community and to the world; No. 2, the contributions Evangelical students can make to their home church and to the Evangelical Church in the college community; No. 3, the student's contribution to the rising standards of worship and Christian education in the Evangelical Church; No. 4, current thought-trends and their influence upon the Evangelical Church; No. 5, the contribution of the Evangelical Church toward solving student problems of personal conduct; No. 6, the contribution Evangelical students can make to the national life in a time of crisis; and No. 7, for pastors and faculty members. Bishop E. W. Praetorius will direct the pastors and faculty group.

Dr. J. A. Heck, Th.D., president of the Evangelical School of Theology, Reading, Pa., is the general director of these discussion groups. After three group discussion sessions. (Continued on page 3, col. 3)

"Y's" To Sponsor Good-Will Program

Mendelsohn, Fye, Boyer To Officiate

A Jewish-Christian good-will program will be the main feature of the next meeting of the combined "Y's" on Tuesday evening at 7:30 in the "Y" room.

Following a brief inter-faith worship service, Seymour Mendelsohn will speak and lead a discussion on the topic, "The Jew Looks at the Christian." Verna Fye will serve as chairman of the meeting and Olen Boyer will cooperate in leading the discussion.

This informal, but challenging, program is open to all the students at Albright who wish to attend. Refreshments and games will conclude the meeting. The program is being sponsored by the social action committees of the combined "Y's".

Sigma Tau Delta To Present Old Time Thrillers Wednesday

For once in your life you can holler at the faculty members!

When Sigma Tau Delta presents those two old-time thrillers; Charlie Chaplin and Marie Dressler in "Tillie's Punctured Romance" plus Madge Kirby and Alan Hale in "East Lynne"—faculty members will parade up and down the aisles selling peanuts, Coca-Cola, and other refreshments. The time is 8.00 p.m., Wednesday, December 10. The place is the college chapel. And the admission is twenty-two cents plus tax.

Christmas Seal Sale Proceeds On Campus

A Goal Of $40 Set For Albright

The 1941 Christmas Seal sale is now being conducted in Reading, and in thousands of other communities throughout the United States. Proceeds of the sale in Reading and Berks County will be used by the Reading Tuberculosis Association to conduct a year-round, county-wide program of tuberculosis control.

Part of the proceeds of each year's Christmas Seal sale is used each year to test members of the freshman class at Albright College. The testing is done by Dr. C. A. Horn, head of the biology department.

This fall, Doctor Horn tested 125 freshmen. Results of the testing are not yet available. Those who react "positively" to the test should be X-rayed to determine whether or not the disease is an active form and, if so, how much damage has been done. In a testing program of Albright College seniors last May, 59 students were tuberculin-tested and 31, or 53 per cent, were "positive reactors." The positive test does not necessarily mean that a person has an active form of tuberculosis but merely that the tuberculosis germ is present in the body. X-rays are required to determine active tuberculosis. Whether or not the reactors who were members of last year's senior class were X-rayed is not known, because all have now left college.

May Queen To Be Elected In Chapel Next Week

Mrs. Anna Smith has announced that the election for the May Queen will be held on Monday and Tuesday in the regular chapel periods.

This early election is due to the fact that colored materials are on priorities and the committee wishes to be sure to avoid delay. The results will be announced early in May.

College German Club To Give Operetta

Charles Schuster, To Manage Stage

The German Club, under the direction of Dr. Gerrit Memming, will present its annual Christmas play, "Es ist ein Ros entsprungen," on Sunday, December 14. The cast consists of about 50 students including the string orchestra of Prof. Nix.

Mr. Charles August Schuster will be the stage manager, assisted by William Lippert and Vester Peters. Miss Ernestine Elder and Mrs. Memming are in charge of designing the costumes and stage decorations.

Mr. Schuster is a house guest of Mr. Hanns Gramm, assistant secretary of the Carl Schurz Memorial Foundation and Oberlaer, Trust and an old friend of the German department.

Mr. Schuster was born in Germany in 1890 and became a Swiss citizen in 1905. He studied art, music, and literature at the universities of Zurich, Berlin and Munich. He came to the United States about a year ago.

Petrucka To Stay In Philadelphia For Thirty Days

Paul Petrucka, an Albright graduate of the class of '41, has completed his first solo flight the Naval Aviation Selection Board announced recently. Petrucka will be located in Philadelphia for an additional thirty days in order to continue his "solo" work.

"Popeye," while at Albright, was a three letter man. He was quarterback on the football squad, a dead-eye on the basketball team, and an able pole vaulter on the track field.

He was a member of the Zeta Omega Epsilon Fraternity and an all-round student. He also participated in the C. A. A. program and successfully completed the course.

Petrucka at present has the rank of second-class seaman.

Faculty

Honored this week is Dr. Milton Geil, genial head of the psychology department. Dr. Geil has been professor of psychology at Albright for the past five years, and is at present, administrator for the Penn State Extension School.

Professor Evans was in Allentown on December 2nd as a member of the oral examination board for the state department of public assistance.

Professor Green of the biology department addressed the science teachers of Berks County recently on the subject of "Modern Biological Progress" in a meeting at Shillington High School.

Education or Industry?

By ART MCKAY

The last month of this year finds our nation plunged into an ever-widening stream of activities designed to gear us for national defense. Industries that were on the verge of bankruptcy have been revived; cities that had assumed the sombre garb of depression are blooming with the flush of new life; men and women who had just several short years ago crowded against each other in the lines that flowed in and out in ceaseless stream from the various relief agencies are working at well-paid tasks.

You and I as college students look at such a situation and are sorely tempted to give up, or at the very least, to postpone the continuance of our education and take up this more remunerative work while it is yet available.

The National Education Association issued during the past month a rather significant report, dealing with the increasing shortage of teachers. Dr. Alonzo F. Myers of N. Y. U. revealed that within the next year there will be a shortage of forty to fifty thousand teachers for rural schools, as well as a shortage of about ten thousand for work as vocational teachers in cities throughout the nation.

This report went on to reveal that the enrollment in teacher's colleges and normal schools fell off 11% in the past year.

Now, of course, I know that not all of us are preparing to teach as we go through our college careers. But, I choose to tie up this report with what I consider one of the most alarming concomitants of our defense program.

Youth Marches

"Youth marches on" is the slogan of the youth of today the world over. Surely youth is marching. It should be marching, for the youth of today is the backbone of the civilization of tomorrow.

The ultimate goal of the march of youth is that long-awaited and long-hoped-for PEACE. That is the goal that each of us as individuals should set for ourselves. We should not only talk about it, but we should also act and live as though we had that end in mind.

As we march toward that goal, however, we must not be swayed from the straight and narrow pathway by which we shall finally attain our desire. We must eternally be aware of the dangers and the distractions which we must overcome to reach our goal.

In our country today there are many forces and organizations at work constantly striving to undermine the democratic form of government and substitute in its place a system of totalitarianism. The greatest and most dangerous of these groups is the Communist movement. The influence of this organization is so great and so potent that it has managed to hoodwink many of the eminent citizens of our country—labor leaders, businessmen, government officials, parsons, professors, and even the First Lady of the Land—into lending their support and material aid indirectly to the efforts of the Russian dictator to undermine our democratic way of life.

If these groups can so easily sway these eminent people, then how much easier is it for them to sway the adventurous, bold, dashing, innocent component of our nation's population—the youth?

In the past few years the nation has rejoiced to see the mass organization of the youth of America, the great sincerity of attitude and interest with which the youth of our country has studied the problems of our time.

But, this rejoicing came too soon. The nation had looked at youth organization superficially. It had not looked under the crust of the pie to ascertain its content. It had failed to realize that the youth of America was being used as a tool of the Russian dictator to help in undermining democracy.

The truth of the matter was that at the heart of most of these youth movements there was and still is, a Communist nucleus controlling the behavior of the groups. So YOUTH BEWARE OF FALSE PROPHETS!—Harold M. Werner.

The Fatal Fallacy

By SEYMOUR MENDELSON

In the gigantic struggle between Britain and Germany, there is a principle at stake. Can slavery and freedom exist side by side in peace? Lincoln has given us the answer. Is freedom worth fighting for? History has given us this answer. If this be true, why do some men favor a negotiated peace?

The fatal fallacy of these men is that they have isolated themselves from reality! Convinced that this is not a war for freedom, that Nazism is not a dynamic revolution whose tenets are unalterably opposed to the democratic way of life, they deny that surrender or victory are the only two conceivable alternatives.

Study the march of the Nazi legions across Europe and you will see that to make peace with such a tyrannical system is absurd. Let us stop this self-hypnosis and realize that the Nazi "New Order" is intolerable. The mediated peace must consider the 200 million enslaved Europeans who hate the Nazis and only wait for the day when the German army will be crushed and their nations will rise once again to breathe free air.

With a mediated peace, will the Nazis stop fighting in a military, political, economic, and social sense? Immobilize their great army? Tolerate freedom in Europe? Restore the conquered countries? Let Europe live in peace? Forget all about "Aryanism," the "master race," "lebensraum," the "New Order," etc.? The record speaks for itself.

Yes, freedom is worth fighting for and dying for, if necessary. For freedom-loving people to be dominated by brutal oppressors is worse than death. Nazism is the total negation of all the values and ideals of Western civilization. There can be no compromise with slavery. As long as there are men and women in this world who cherish freedom, they shall fight and sacrifice to preserve their way of life. Peace has its price but before Britain shall pay for it with its freedom, the British lion shall bathe in "blood, sweat, and tears."

STRICTLY PARTIAL

RALPH FLEMING

Hello folks,

This is Santa Claus speaking. I'm your guest writer this week and I've been given special permission to air my grievances and "gretaxations" (borrowed from the Latin word "gretxia" meaning to gret or gripe).

To begin with I'm the most neglected, taken-for-granted individual under the sun. Everybody wants something from me, but did you ever hear of anybody giving Santa anything? In the good old days I was a figure to be respected and looked up to. But look at me now. Last year I pulled up on the Albright campus and what happened? While I'm inside filling Miss Norton's sock with bread pretzels and True Story magazines, some frosh girl sticks her neck out the dorm window and purrs innocently, "Oooo! Look at the cute cows walking around with hat racks on their heads!" I ask you; what self-respecting reindeer is going to put up with that stuff?

Then there are those outlandish letters I get from the soph chem students every year about this time. "Dear Santa,

"I'm going nuts. There's a yellow spot on the bottom of my test tube that won't give a test for any ion that I can think of. I've handed in cadmium and sulfur, but Prof. Cook shakes his head and says "No dice." I've got one more day to hand in my unknown. Do something quick.

"Yours — Bewildered."

What can I do with a letter like that? That's as bad as those crazy notes Hitler keeps sending me. He asks me if he could please have Moscow and Leningrad for Christmas and promises me a place in the new order if I'll come across with the goods. Such rubbish.

And those British, they're not much better. Churchill informs me that unless I paint a big V . . . on the side of my sleigh, and allow the proper authorities to censor my Christmas cards, he'll have the A. F. out gunning for me Christmas Eve.

To make matters worse the I. R. D. D. U. (International reindeer drivers union) informs me that unless I employ one union driver for every four reindeer, they'll throw a picket line around my plant. I think I'll go out of business. I can't keep up with the times. "H" would say, "Things is tough."

52% Of Student Body Receive Deficiencies

A mid-semester checkup shows that 47.5 per cent of the student body received no deficiency grades of D, E or F for the first half of the current semester.

Two hundred and twelve students received deficiency grades in 1003 semester hours of work.

A study of the following chart will show the distribution of deficiency grades. The last column on the right shows the college averages of two years ago, and indicates that the deficiency ratings for that period were considerably fewer than for the present period.

	Sr.	Jr.	Soph.	Fr.	College	mid 1st sem. 39-40

Moravian, First Court Foe

There should be a good crowd at Northwest tomorrow night to witness the opening of the basketball season. All indications point to the Lions having one of the best teams in the past ten years.

With only three players lost by graduation, Coach Harris feels that his lads will make a good showing in the strong Eastern Penn Collegiate Conference. So—let's all help the team off to a good start by being at the game Saturday night. Bring your girl friends, fellows!

You gotta admire Sam Cocco-drill. The quiet senior suffered a broken hand in the P. M. C. game and never said a word to anyone until the season closed three weeks later. That's intestinal fortitude. "Black" Sam now has his left duke in a cast.

Talking about accidents. Did you see Ray Hain and Steve Plas-konos? The two boys collided Monday night in the intra mural basketball game and now both are sporting first class shiners.

Don't miss the Freshmen-Alumni game. Jim Horn (yes, the football coach) has promised Steve Hydock that he will play with the Alumni. Boy, that should be fun! Dick Riffie is also slated to perform. We'll take the Frosh on condition.

The Boston University ice hockey was on the verge of disbanding this year because the players employment made afternoon practices impossible. Their coach solved the problem by conducting "milkman practices" starting at 7:30 a. m.

It may seem like a long time until next year's football season. The pro teams don't think so for already they have sent questionnaires to college seniors. Albright's senior gridlers have received tentative offers from the Philadelphia Eagles and the Detroit Lions. There's a possibility of several of the Lions making the grade in the pro league.

Albright's varsity and freshmen football men will be the guests of President Masters at the annual President's Dinner to be held in the Walnut Room of the Berkshire Hotel on Monday evening, December 8, at 6:30 p. m.

Mr. Jing Johnson, of Ursinus College, will be the guest speaker. Presentation of varsity awards and frosh numerals will be made by the president.

The varsity team was the guests of the Lions Club at a banquet given at the Wyomissing Club on Thursday noon. Mr. Charles Gordon was toastmaster of the annual affair.

Starting with a bang the Frosh, A. P. O.'s, and Zetas won their opening games as the intra-mural basketball race swung into action in the Northeast Junior High School gym last Monday night.

With Wally Duncavage racking up eleven points, the Frosh swamped the Day Students 36-17. The Frosh, passing and shooting with precision, ran the score up to 26-9 at half time, and then coasted to victory.

The A. P. O.'s had to bring up their big guns to best the PI Taus 31-22. The defending champs trailed 13-12 at the end of the second quarter. In the second half, with Bob Bennett and Rob Richter sinking baskets from all angles, the champs rang up 19 points to their opponents' nine, and sewed up the game. Bennett and Richter were high point-getters for the A. P. O.'s with eight points each, while Harry Arnold, with 10 markers, led the losers.

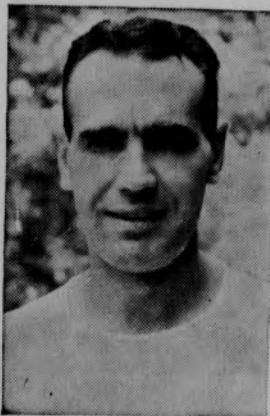

The Zetas had to beat off a strong rally by the Kappas to win 20-18. Paced by Dick Weber and Bob Giomatti, the Zetas led at half time 13-6, and were held to seven points in the second half, but managed to come out on top. The Kappas hit the basket for 12 markers in the second half before their rally was cut short by the referee's whistle.

Opener Marks Harris' 4th Season As Albright Basketball Mentor

NEAL O. HARRIS

Only Two Starters From 1940 Team Lost By Graduation

Basketball moves into the sports spotlight on the Albright campus with the first game of the 1941-42 season being played tomorrow night on the Northwest Junior High School court. Moravian College's five will furnish the opposition, beginning at 8:30. The Albright Frosh tackle the Alumni in the 7:15 preliminary.

The opening contest will mark the start of Neal O. Harris' fourth campaign as head mentor of the Red and White's cage activities. In the three years, the former Franklin and Marshall athlete has served, his teams have won 27 and lost 34.

Last year's outfit that compiled the highest scoring total of all Pennsylvania collegiate teams, rang up the best record with 14 victories against nine setbacks. The '38-'39 club won only seven tilts while dropping 12 with the '40-'41 team coming out on top six times and losing 13 contests.

Hockey Season Closes As Girls Lose 4-0

Seven Seniors Play Last Game

The Albright hockeyites closed their season on Thanksgiving morning when they were defeated by the Reading Hockey Club by the score of 4-0. The Reading club, which consisted of an older and more experienced team, started the game with zest and began their scoring spree early in the first quarter. Starring for the victors were Mrs. Mosser, at halfback, and Kay Capell, the goalie who more than once prevented Albright from scoring.

Playing their last varsity hockey game of their college careers were the following seniors: Kitty Geib, Jeanie Bomgardner, Esther Whitehead, Irene Snyder, Elaine Shade, Betty Jones and Mary Levan. From the standpoint of games won, the season was rather discouraging, as the girls participated in three games and won none of them.

tions there will be a group of the whole, with panel discussion to consider the findings and recommendations covering the problem areas. On Wednesday evening a panel on "What Evangelical Students Are Thinking on Religion" will be conducted by President H. R. Heinger. Participants will be these students: Donald Blackmore, Albright College; James Reed, Evangelical School of Theology; Lois Herkner, North Central College; Eugene Muench, Evangelical Theological Seminary; and Lowell Miller, Western Union College. Secretary, Evangeline Praetorius, St. Paul, Minn., will be general recorder.

Student Council wishes to announce that Albright students and faculty members will have a reserved section at all home basketball games this year. Your activity card will admit you to this section. Big Herb Derr has been appointed custodian and he's the guy you'll have to get by. U. S. government regulations state that all colleges can avoid paying a federal defense tax by having a reserved section for holders of activity cards. Obey or pay!

With three of the starters from last year's quintet back as juniors, Harris has high hopes of bringing Albright its best cage record in the past decade. The Lions have their eye on finishing in first place in the Eastern Penn Collegiate League. The Red and White hoopers finished in a tie for second place last campaign with Bucknell. The first league tussle is with the Eisons on Saturday, December 13.

Harris will likely employ his ac-trio of Kenny Hopkins, Dick Shollenberger, and Chin Rhoads along with Jimmy Kane or sophomore Dewey Boltz in the starting lineup. The center job is a wide open race among Sam Sehl, Bill Spangler, Burd Miller, George Urosevich and Paul Leinbach.

Sehl will probably start the Moravian fray as the former Fleetwood High star has the jump over his competitors in pre-season training. Spangler, Miller, and Urosevich have just completed a tough football campaign and will not be in the necessary shape for the cage sport for at least two weeks.

New York or Bust

Every two years Dr. Graham Cook conducts a tour to New York City for the benefit of the students majoring in chemistry. This morning these students started their tour to New York City. The tour will first take in the 18th Exposition of Chemical Industries. The group plans to spend this afternoon and evening viewing the exhibits at the exposition. Saturday morning the group will visit the chemical laboratories of the Columbia graduate school. You remember that it was in these laboratories a few years ago that heavy water was first discovered and produced. Professor Danford was then a student who made this trip that year and witnessed the first distillation of heavy water. Saturday afternoon the group will visit the Museum of Science and Industry of Radio City. Those taking the tour are Dwight Dundore, Robert Bench, Harry Arnold, Willis Heisey, Leon Steckley, Ferril Miller, Mervin Runner, Clifford Balmer, Robert Bull, Haldane Seyler, Paul Michaels, and Dr. Graham Cook.

Irradiated Vitamin D

When the boys across the pond became a little careless at whom they began throwing things a few years ago, Dr. Horn was forced to find a new substitute for the cod-liver oil that he fed his rats. He changed to irradiated milk for it contained the same much needed vitamin D as cod-liver oil.

This week there was a home economist on campus by the name of Miss Millicent Atkin who is a representative of the Irradiated Evaporated Milk Institute. She prepared a demonstration on irradiated milk for the home econo-

Education or Industry?

Many students ARE finding the temptation to make money quickly is too strong to resist; they are leaving the educational institutions in great numbers.

I THINK THAT IS A TRAGIC MISTAKE. The best interests of almost every individual in terms of his future are served by the further pursuit of knowledge in institutions of higher learning. The best interests of the nation will be served in the days after the war has ceased by men and women who will be able to contribute knowledge and conviction to an upset world.

We at Albright have been fortunate in the few demands which the defense program has made upon us. Few students have been summoned for service in the military organizations of the nation; few have been drafted by the industries. Perhaps, if all of us will pause to weigh very carefully the respective merits of the choice that lies before us—education or industry—the old saying about one in the hand being worth two in the bush will be reversed.

Have you a "College Special"

For Your Trip Home at Christmas

Even if you don't have a return portion of a College Special Reduced Fare ticket . . . you can go home by train on a definite schedule, safely and economically. Fares are low!

HERE'S HOW YOU, TOO, CAN TRAVEL ON "COLLEGE SPECIAL"

REDUCED ROUND TRIP FARES

Students and teachers travel from and to their homes at great savings on these College Special tickets. To make this saving, all you have to do is purchase one from your hometown railroad ticket agent before returning from the Christmas holidays. The cost is amazingly low—liberal return limits fit your school program—you can make stop-overs, too! There are reduced round trip Pullman rates, also. When Spring holidays come you can use the return coupon to travel home again or use it at close of school.

IMPORTANT—It is expected that on account of a heavy volume of Military furlough travel, as well as civilian holiday travel, passenger travel during the forthcoming Christmas-New Year's holiday period will be extremely heavy this year. If it can possibly be arranged for students to leave school December 17th or later and return to school January 7th or later, it is urged they do so. It will also be found easier to make reservations and more comfortable to travel on or before December 17, 1941, and to or after January 7, 1942.
