Student Drive Nets $4828

Over 130 student pledges totalling $4828 were reported by division leaders and team captains at the first report meeting Tuesday morning, March 8, in White Chapel. The student drive is part of the Centennial Development Fund campaign, and is specifically aimed at financing a Minor Sports Room.

As reports were called from the floor and noted on a large red and white score board by James Schmidt, '55, student in charge of a campaign publicity, enthusiasm mounted and spontaneous bursts of applause greeted each new total.

The freshman class led with $1715, closely followed by the sophomore class with $1415. "Team X", a clean-up committee to contact students missed by the other teams, reported $610. The junior and senior classes totalled $734 and $354 respectively.

70 Percent Pledge

On the average 7 pledges were reported for every 10 contacts. The national average for the campaign has been running 6 pledges for every 10 calls. On this basis, it is predicted that 228 additional pledges of approximately $38 each, totalling $9,000 will be reported before the campaign ends next week. This sum, plus the amount already pledged, would put the student drive well over its $10,000 goal.

Mimeographed sheets listing the sums pledged, team by team, have been distributed to the student body. White Chapel is being left open so that students may stop by at any time to see the team totals on the large scoreboard.

It was decided at the meeting to postpone the second meeting from Thursday morning, March 10 to Tuesday, March 15, in order to give students more time to talk over their pledges with their parents.

William Davies, '55, general chairman of the drive, Ashley Bickmore, centennial program director, and Terrence Connor, '51, volunteer director of the drive expressed appreciation for the magnificent response exhibited by the students.

Reading Drive Exceeds Goal By $56,000

Campaign workers reported at a victory dinner in the Abraham Lincoln Hotel, Friday evening, March 4, that the campaign for the Albright College Centennial Development Fund went over the $350,000 goal in Reading and vicinity by $56,000. Pledges and cash contributions totalling $405,790.50 were reported received to date.

Entertainment for the evening was presented by the APO quartet. James Hall, '55, introduced the quartet, composed of Thomas Pollock, '57, Joel May, '57, Jerome Lengel, '55, and John Myers, '57. Jerome Lengel did a solo in pantomime of "Be My Love" accompanied by Kenneth Artz, '57.

In the Reading campaign for the Albright Centennial Fund, approximately 400 workers turned in 3,000 pledge cards. There have been an additional 4,000 cards prepared for rural Berks County and other Albright alumni.

Alumni in areas of Pennsylvania not yet covered by the campaign will be solicited after April 15. The drive is at present scheduled to cover northern New Jersey and New York by April 20. The campaign will close July 1, 1955.

26 Students Make 'A' List

Twenty-six Albright students have won recognition from Dean George W. Walton for maintaining an "A" average during the first semester of the college year. This group comprises approximately 44 percent of a student body of 582.

Fifty-six Albrightians received honorable mention for maintaining a "B+" average for the first semester.

Students on the Dean's "A" List are as follows: seniors, Robert Beane, David Frankhouser, and Patricia Welherer; juniors, Rodney

Thelma Arnold To Reign As 1955 May Queen; Sally Aicher To Head Court As Maid Of Honor

Thelma Arnold

Sally Aicher

Thelma Arnold was chosen May Queen for 1955 at an All-Campus election Tuesday morning, March 8. Sally Aicher was elected Maid of Honor to the Queen. Miss Arnold and her court of senior women will reign over traditional May Day ceremonies at Parents Day May 7.

Currently serving as president of the Women's Dormitory Council, blue-eyed, brown-haired Thelma has been active in student Christian work during her four years at Albright. A member of the YWCA cabinet since her sophomore year, she was elected vice-president of that organization in her junior year.

Miss Arnold served as secretary of the Class of '55 in her freshman year, and received the Most Valuable Freshman Award. Throughout her college career, she has been active in the Domino dramatic club and the Glee Club.

Miss Aicher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Aicher, 126 West 36th St., Reiffton, is a blond, blue-eyed home economics major. Her college career has been highlighted by active participation in sports, social and academic organizations.

She is a member of the Pi Alpha Tau social sorority, and has served as its secretary during her senior year. A member of the Domino dramatic club and the Heo home economics organization, Miss Aicher has proved her versatility by also participating in girls' intramural basketball during her four years at Albright.

Miss Nielsen is majoring in home economics, and is doing her student teaching this semester. She is a member of the Phi Beta Mu social sorority, and is currently serving as treasurer of that organization.

She is a member of the Heo home economics organization, and the Future Teachers of America. Miss Nielsen has played girls' basketball, baseball, and tennis, and has served as manager for both the girls' varsity basketball team and the women's field hockey team.

Two students in home economics are receiving consumer service field experience during the second semester. Ann Stalenecker, '55, is affiliated with Gimbel Brothers, Philadelphia; Sally Aicher, '55, is with the Philadelphia Gas Works.

The field experience is comparable to student teaching; this is the first time students have been out of town for consumer service work.

Eight Groups To Be In Stunt Night Shows

Eight campus organizations will compete in the Stunt Night program, March 25, 8 p.m., Krause Hall, instead of six as previously announced.

Skits from 12 to 15 minutes in length will be presented by the dormitory men, the daymen, Alpha Pi Omega, Kappa Upsilon Phi, Pi Tau Beta, Zeta Omega Epsilon, Pi Alpha Tau, and Phi Beta Mu. These skits may be humorous, serious or instructive, and their themes will be kept secret until the actual performance.

Frank Voss, station manager for WRAW of the National Broadcasting Co. will be master of ceremonies. Voss was recently elected "Outstanding Young Man of Reading and Berks County" by the Reading Junior Chamber of Commerce.

A new scoring system is being inaugurated this year to determine the first and second place trophy winners. In previous years, each of three judges rated the stunts as follows: 15 points for the best stunt, 10 points for the second best stunt and 5 points for the third best stunt.

Under the new system, each judge will rate the stunts on a percentage basis, taking into consideration originality of theme or adaptation, continuity and coherence, organization of theme or idea, and effective presentation and showmanship.

The public, as well as students and faculty, is invited to attend.

"Woman It Means to Be a Human Being" has been selected as the topic for the Kelchner Oratorical Contest Wednesday evening, May 4, in White Chapel.

This topic will be assigned to every first-year speech student as part of his regular class work. After the speeches have been given in the 11 speech sections, each section will vote for a representative who will then speak in an elimination contest Monday afternoon, May 2.

The six speakers chosen at the elimination will compete in the Kelchner Oratorical Contest for first, second and third prizes, $15, $10 and $5 respectively.

Alumnae Challenge Varsity Saturday

The annual alumnae-varsity basketball game will be held Saturday afternoon, March 12 at 2:00 o'clock, instead of Friday evening, March 11, as previously announced. The game will be played in the Physical Education Building.

All women basketball enthusiasts are invited to return, either as players or spectators. A period of fellowship will follow the game.

The get-together is being sponsored jointly by the Women's Athletic Association and the Alumni Association.

Y's To Sponsor WUS Campaign Through Week Of March 14-18

In cooperation with student Christian organizations all over the world, the campus Y's will sponsor a World University Service Week March 14-18.

This year's goal has been set at $400, announced Jonathan Kurtz, '57, and Lucy Shuman, '57, co-chairmen of the WUS drive.

A WUS representative from Lincoln University, Lincoln, Pa., will explain the purposes of the organization at Chapel Tuesday, March 15. "WUS Night at the Y," that evening at 7:30 o'clock will feature discussions of the world-wide WUS program.

The World University Service is an organization composed of students from almost every country in the world. Its function is not to provide charity, but to help needy students to help themselves. This is accomplished by a sharing of the material and cultural advantages of the more fortunate students.

WUS provides many of the world's needy students with such basic necessities as food, clothing, housing and medical care; supplements education expenses through building programs, scholarships, books and supplies and establishes a program of mutual understanding by bringing students to this nation for a free exchange of programs and ideas.

Collection boxes for the campus WUS drive will be placed in the administration building and the SUB. Proceeds from the sale of Sports Night programs and the Sports Night auction will go into the WUS fund.

Sports Night March 18, will wind up the fund drive. Ten campus organizations will participate, and two trophies will be awarded the winners by the Y's.

In the women's division, the dormitory women, daywomen and two local sororities will compete in volleyball, badminton, ping-pong, hop-skip and a jump, and relay races for the women's trophy.

In the men's division, the dormitory men, daymen, and four local fraternities will compete for the men's trophy in ping-pong, the high jump, tug-of-war, Indian leg wrestling, boxing and wrestling.

Ten points will be scored for a first in each event, and the winner in each division will be decided by the highest number of points.

Tietge To Be Speaker

Theodore Tietge, '55, will speak on the subject "Resolved" at the Sunday Vesper service, Teel Chapel, March 13, 7 p.m. Wednesday, March 16, Robert Miller will speak on the subject "I Saw a Crimson Stream."

Lend A Helping Hand

Students all over the world are working together to help needy students everywhere. An important way in which American students can join with students in other countries in providing assistance to students in Asia, Africa, the Middle East and Europe is through World University Service.

The funds collected from countries the world over by this service are used to provide students in many countries with such basic necessities as food, clothing, housing, and medical care; to supplement educational expenses through building programs, scholarships, books and supplies and to establish a program of mutual understanding by bringing students to this nation for a free exchange of programs and ideas. These mutual services have established a friendship which has become a force for international understanding and world peace.

March 18 is Sports Night. Fraternities, sororities, day men and women and dorm men and women will take part in the program in events such as boxing, wrestling, volleyball, high jump, ping-pong, tug-of-war, Indian leg wrestling, badminton and others. Two trophies will be given to the winners. Money received from the programs to be sold and the auction which follows the sports events will be given to the World University Service.

Africa is the country featured this year. A goal of $400 has been set for Albright College. Collection boxes will be distributed throughout the campus during the week of March 14 and 18.

If each student gives at least thirty-five cents the goal will be obtained. Do your best.

Real College Spirit

Many discussions and "bull-sessions" held by students these days revolve around exactly what constitutes the college spirit on this campus. This spirit is interpreted in many different ways—a victorious basketball team, pride in a high academic rating, and glory in the traditions of an institution. But there is one aspect of college spirit that is too often overlooked in these discussions; this is the spirit of a critical appreciation of life that college atmosphere instills in us.

It is true that we feel proud when we can boast of a successful athletic record or a good academic standing, but in the long run the spirit that is lasting is the attitude toward life that our undergraduate days develops in us. The most important aspect of this spirit is the realization that there is a definite purpose in life, a purpose that gives our lives a meaning and direction. When our liberal arts education introduces us to the great thoughts of the past and present, we begin to see things around us in a balanced perspective. Our outlook toward life becomes such that every one of our acts has a meaning both in itself and in relation to the rest of the world.

We gain an attitude which prompts us to probe beyond the surface of things. No longer do we accept things at face value, but we seek for the truth in its exact form.

From our professors and fellow-students we come in contact with many varying opinions of good character and a well-rounded life. From these diversities we may glean the elements with which we can plan our lives with understanding and relate them to a purpose; and this purpose is not shallow, for it keeps us in touch with the thoughts and questions that bind us man to man.

This is the spirit that we should really seek in a college education. And marks cannot measure the value of such an attitude; neither can pride in athletics or academic triumphs. It is a spirit like this that stamps each one of us as an individual with a purpose and an understanding, and it is only a spirit like this that counts and endures.

Integration

A summary written by Dorothy Englart from the Y discussion on the topic, Toward Integration in the Community.

In viewing the major monistic religions of the world, basically there is no conflict—we believe in one God. The positive characteristics bind mankind closer together than the negative ones separate them. Structurally the Negro does not differ from the Caucasian; the color of the skin and the breach that we have made between us by dominating him make up the difference. Earnestly try to step into a Negro's shoes, don his dark skin, and step across the breach taking with you your mentality, your abilities, your education and your money, (even though it may be only potential). Would you be willing to accept a refusal if you tried to buy the house that you want? Would you be willing to live in a slum district? Wouldn't you resent the superior attitude of the white man and fight back in every way possible?

Housing

Housing in the community presents the number two problem in the struggle for integration. We live in two separate worlds in which the Caucasian knows less about the Negro than vice versa. A stereotype has been depicted of the Negro which the intelligent mind knows is false. It is necessary to live in a community to understand each other; integration is one goal, not co-existence. Civic betterment through community participation is aided by the Parent-Teachers' Association, Community Chest, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, et cetera. Cooperation of religious groups—National Conference of Christians and Jews, also brings together the people who are interested in the community and work for the common good of the people. If many of these people can work full time to make the community a better place for us, can't we give a bit of ourselves to help make someone else's life more pleasant?

It is most important that educated people take a liberal attitude, not one of prejudice. The time to be liberal is now; the place to be liberal is here on campus. While our minds can still be open to liberalism let us accept the challenge of racial segregation by meeting it with objectivity. We are not asked to accept integration but to look upon prejudice with an open mind.

Integration is a two way process; both Negroes and whites have to do their share.

Foreign Policy

Our foreign policies are affected by the racial prejudices that we hold. The Asia and Africa Conference, to be held in India during April, will give the Communists an opportunity to use our racial prejudices for their propaganda purposes. What can we do in the few weeks until that conference? Actually, not much can be done to do away with prejudice in so short a time but we can show them that we are earnestly trying. Even the good will tour of Harrison Dillard, a track star whom the state department has sent to the Near East, uses his own propaganda to cover up our segregation problem. The colored people of the countries that we want as our allies will not dare to accept the hand of Americans who are prejudiced.

Wake up America! The time has come when we as individuals can not shut our front doors behind us and concern ourselves with our own families. Our front yard includes the entire world. We must have an interest in other people and even know their language. Look about our campus—we have at least half a dozen countries represented.

In Europe

In all parts of Europe May Day is the time for parades of labor organizations, political speeches, and public demonstrations. The

May Day

By Billie Williams

Now that Albright is engaged in the election of a May Queen, it seems only appropriate to learn something about the origin of this custom and how May is celebrated in other countries.

The ball started rolling back in Roman times when the robed patricians and plebians celebrated the old pagan festival of the goddess Flora. The ball bounced to England where baskets of flowers were cleverly hung on door knobs on May Day Eve. The Puritans carried the custom to America and shocked their conservative cohorts by setting up an eighty-foot May-pole and dancing around it, hand in hand. The whole day was observed with merrymaking and gladness.

Prejudice is no matter to treat lightly and let the other person concern himself with it. We may say that we have no occasion to do our part, but have you ever offered to help an old Negro across a busy street, or offered your seat on a public vehicle to an elderly Negro woman? Integration is actually a two way process, for the Negro must do his share.

Do you think that the whites' force the individual Negro to accept the responsibility for his race? Why do newspapers generally mention the skin color in articles relating to various acts, committed contrary to the mores and folkways of our civilization? Try to reverse the process—would we like this kind of treatment if we were of the minority group? Even the society pages show discrimination by catering only to the white society.

How can we as students help integration? Concrete help is needed in leadership in community clubs. Some of the male students present were quite interested in this phase. If some of us have any contact with real estate, our positive influence in this area would greatly help integration in the community. Those of us interested in journalism may someday have an opportunity to give the Negro fairer treatment. There is something that all of us can do. An invitation has been extended from the Washington Street Presbyterian Church to all the students at Albright College. Hope to see you there. Remember always, the Golden Rule, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

Irish villages, in addition, bedeck the harnesses of their horses with bells, ribbons and flowers; whereas in France the people wear lilies-of-the-valley, received from friends. While sporting the flowers, any wish made by the wearer is guaranteed to come true. Distant friends receive sprays of pressed lilies, accompanied by messages of affection. The most popular girl in a Czechoslovakian village wakes up May Day morning to discover a large pole outside her window. The length of the pole represents the span of her life.

Finland has a unique custom at this time of the year. To the Finnish May Day symbolizes the returning of light, so everyone celebrates by wearing new summer clothing. At the State University in Helsinki it is customary for the students to carry white caps under their arms. At midnight on May Day Eve they don their caps for the first time and wear them until September 30. Early, on the morning of May first, the students meet at a central place and march to the summer restaurants for ale and crullers. They take enough time from their indulgence to sing merry songs and enjoy the wavering countryside.

The schools in the rural districts of Greece close on May Day and the teachers take their students to the woods for the holidays. Garlands of wild flowers are hung on the outside of the doors and remain there until the end of May.

'Mirror, Mirror'

By Bernadine Klimkowski

When our college newspaper becomes just another scrap sheet, or a wrapping for soiled laundry, when the Coke ads become more interesting than the detailed articles about every club or committee meeting, we're either in need of "new blood" or our "old blood" could use a transfusion.

Not only has our paper been dwindling away to one big nothing, but, as much as we hate to admit it, we hadn't even noticed. It cuts deep when we remember that our profs had to shove the thorn of realization into our side. We were just floating along on a cloud of blissful ignorance, until it was suggested that we examine an Albrightian more closely.

We realize that since it is a college newspaper, it is not expected to cover national controversies, but why must meaty articles slip through our minds to give way to trifles. We don't ask for tired current events that we can rehash, but local news can often be applied to conditions at Albright.

It was surprising to hear all the fresh new ideas for worthwhile articles which were suggested at a recent discourse. Here's only one of the suggestions, which seemed to tie in with local and state-wide news.

The Albright Courts are a credit to our college, and many of its residents admit that these clean, comfortable quarters helped them to make Albright the school of their choice. Why, then, do these same boys, who want to be considered men at all other times, get carried to the point where they act like juvenile vandals?

A local recreation center was closed recently because a few destructive teenagers were slowly demolishing the place. This sounds bad enough coming from the kids, but we begin to wonder when our "men of the world" act likewise.

The Courts are changing, not only in appearance, but also as a place to do some earnest studying.

When asked about the destruction of furnishings and dorms in general, one student came up with this gem: "We spend a whole evening cramming for an exam, and then we have to let off steam somehow!" Now they're telling us they study too intensely! There's a controversy if I ever heard one.

A student at a nearby college had let off so much steam one particular evening, that his proctor began to boil too, and our practical joker ended up that night with a bullet in his temple. The proctor could not tolerate these practical jokes, and a tragedy resulted.

How far should jokes be carried, in the dormitories and elsewhere? Shouldn't we be more careful who is the butt of these jokes?

Come on, Albrightian—we challenge you! See if you can give us less descriptions of the decorations at every dance and more articles that we can sink our teeth into.

Track Team Opens Season At Delaware Tomorrow

In The Lion's Den

By Dave Widland

Last Saturday the Lions ended their basketball season. Although the season slate was 7-18, prospects look somewhat better for next year. The entire team will be returning. Mike DePaul, with his knees in good shape, should be able to better his 12.7 average. After showing the after-effects of the injury he sustained in the Seton Hall game, he started to return to form in the last few games. Bruce Storm, Ken Eberle, and Ernie Firestone, with a year of experience, should turn in much better showings than they did this year.

JV's Win 14

The JV's finished up their season with a 14-6 record. Bob Moller, Frank Hoffman, Myron Hallock, Dale Yoder, Mike Daugherty, Ron Pisano, Brook Moyer, Leroy Long, and Roger Jones all turned in good performances, and are good prospects for the varsity. Daugherty led the team in scoring.

Records

When Scranton succumbed to the Lion forces two weeks ago, many records were broken. George Conrad set a new points-per-game record with 47, our 112 points set a new court high, a two-team total of (Continued On Page Four)

Old Athletes Never Die

What happens to college basketball players when they graduate? Some go to pro ball, some quit the sport, but many, who like the game, gravitate to innumerable leagues operating in the cities and counties all over the country.

Take, for example, the ballplayers who have graduated from Albright in the past few years. Although none of them have entered the pay-for-play ranks, you can take a survey of all the participants in the Reading City Basketball League and find the names of many men who claim Albright as their alma mater.

Kissinger Travel Agency is completely dominating the league. Coach Amos Kissinger has collected an imposing array of talent, which includes Lee Cappell, Bobby Ruoff, Gerry Potts, Jim Croke, Lefty Leitham, Bunny Witman, and the Bieber boys, Danny and Hal. All of them have carried the colors of Albright College into the hoop wars in the past five years.

Just behind Kissinger's in college talent is the Rising Sun Hotel, whose roster includes Jesse Ervin, Elmer Davis, and Carl Boltz, all Albright alumni. Connie Dettling, who graduated in 1952, and Bob Krize, who is still attending Albright play for the Philcos.

A few of the other college players in the loop are Moose Krause, Notre Dame; George Dracha, Gettysburg; Max Missbach, West Chester State; Howard Fischer, Amherst; and Gene Frymoyer, Lehigh.

'Two In A Row'

Pictured above is George Conrad, as he receives the Ron Regar Trophy for the second consecutive year. He is the first player ever to win the award two years in a row. The trophy is awarded annually to Albright's outstanding basketball player.

Basketball Team Loses To F & M; Season Record 7-18

Albright College closed its dismal season by dropping a 69-61 decision to Franklin and Marshall College before 1500 fans at the Albright Fieldhouse last Saturday night.

It was the 18th loss in 25 games for the Lions and marked the worst season for an Albright team since 1937, when the Lions muffed 11 of 15 performances.

Conrad Gets Trophy

Following the game, George Conrad received the Ron Regar Trophy for the outstanding Albright player of the season. It was only the second time in the history of the trophy's presentation that it was won twice by the same player; Conrad winning it as a sophomore last year. Eddie Anlian turned the trick in 1948 and 1950.

F&M, using a tight zone defense, won its sixth game against ten losses, including an earlier season defeat by the Lions. Slim Jack Ziegler cleared the boards for 22 rebounds and ripped the cords for the same number of points to end up high man in each department.

Lions Blow Lead

Albright threw away a 13-6 lead early in the first half and was down 30-28 at intermission. Early in the second half, they knotted the count twice at 30 and 36 all, but could never bounce back to take the lead. The Diplomats continually slowed the game down to the freezing point and bogged down the Lions' pressing offense.

Jim Foreman's overall play kept Albright in the game for the first half, as the Sharon Hill flash scored 11 first half markers to counteract Warren Chase's 12 for the Dips. Conrad sank nine in the initial half, but could muster only one field goal the second stanza.

DePaul Scores

Earlier in the second half, Mike DePaul's two long set shots and Don Pryor's foul knotted the count at 36 all, Ziegler, who accounted F&M's first 12 second half tallies, scored on jump shots to put the Dips ahead.

Albright stayed within striking distance until Ritter's set shot and Chase's foul put the Diplomats ahead to stay, 56-49.

Chase and Ken Eberle followed Ziegler in scoring, adding 16 and 14 points respectively. Jim Foreman led the Lions with 17 points, followed by DePaul and Conrad with 11 each and freshman Ken Eberle, the Diplomat Eberle's brother, with 10 points.

JV's Win

In the preliminary, F&M's Jayvees revenged their early season loss also, handing the Baby Lions their sixth setback in 20 games to close out the season. Mike Daugherty scored 16 points for the losers, who, despite the loss, closed out a successful campaign.

Intramurals

On the intramural basketball scene, the APUs earned their right to meet the Zetas for the A League championship by defeating the Cougars on Monday night. The Zetas were required to forfeit the remainder of their games in the second half after displaying unsportsmanlike conduct in their game with the Cougars, says Coach John Potoklan.

Potoklan also instituted the "Shaughnessy" playoffs in the B League because of the absence of second half play in that League. The Zetas won the first half championship but lost out in the playoffs.

Millers Win

The Nationals were defeated by the Kappas who were in turn beaten by the Demons. The Millers then romped over the Demons and the Zetas to win the "Shaughnessy" playoffs.

The Zetas, as first half winners, will now meet the Millers to decide the B League championship.

With the end of intramural basketball drawing near, volleyball comes to the fore. Potoklan announced that the volleyball season will begin on Monday night.

Still Short Of Pole Vaulters Hurlers Also Needed

The Albright track squad will open its 1955 season tomorrow when they engage the University of Delaware in an informal meet at the Delaware school's fieldhouse. Coach Shirk is expecting his team to be fairly strong this year, but some notable weaknesses are present. It is expected that the team will be better balanced in the running events than last year, but the squad thus far lacks a high-hurdler.

Croke Missed

The shoes of Jim Croke, who holds the school hurdles record, will be especially hard to fill. He excelled for several years in the high hurdles and both the high and broad jump. Barring accident, Coach Shirk will depend on Ken Greenwald, Harold Kretzing, Rudy Becker, Don Gotshall, and Bill Shirk to control the track events.

In field events, the return of Bob Krize and Jack Huntzinger is expected to highlight the shot put, discus, and javelin events. Elsewhere in the field events, the return from the armed forces of Willy Smith will add strength to the squad. He is considered a broad jump and sprint specialist.

Frosh Help Expected

Coach Shirk is counting on the help of a number of freshmen including: Ernie Firestone in the low hurdles, John Cobb in the dashes, George Flynn and Dick Thrasher. Most of the team is already working out and they are expected to be in top shape for the Delaware meet. The most trouble is expected from such schools as Haverford and Gettysburg.

A similar series of tests for seniors will be given in the near future. Both the sophomore and senior testing programs have become definite requirements of the academic program and are pre-requisites for any degree from Albright College.

—Ed—

This fair headed Zeta hails from Atlantic City, New Jersey.

His greatest pleasure comes from athletics. He was co-captain of this past season's football team. Ed participates in baseball and intra-mural basketball. During the summer he spends his time as a life guard in his hometown.

For the past two years Ed has been head of sports night. Another of his many activities is the vice presidency of the Zeta's.

He's well known on campus as co-manager of the cleaning business that he and a fellow Zeta established.

As an average student (Business Major) Ed is reported to be majoring in spelling and philosophy by some of his pals.

After graduation Ed's future is indefinite but we know that whatever test faces him he will be sure to succeed.

Due to Ed's selection as Dandy Lion another Zeta product now takes a back seat as BMOG.

KTX
