Lebanon Valley Bows Twice to Debate Team

Season to be Concluded With St. Francis, Western Maryland and Gettysburg

Debaters Continue to Win Under Splendid Tutelage of Dr. E. R. Page

On Monday night the Albright College debating team, coached by Dr. Page, of the English Department, met Lebanon Valley College. The affirmative team went to Lebanon. Both debates were won by Albright College.

The question for debate was: "Resolved, That the essential features of the N. R. A. should be adopted as the permanent policy of the United States government." Those upholding the negative side were: J. Doyle, L. Brininger, and H. Mayer. The guest debaters were: H. C. Hollingsworth, M. J. Hostetter, and R. W. Etter. Dr. Gingrich was chairman for the evening. Judges were: E. B. Yiech, the debate coach and principal of West Reading High School; R. D. Hoffsomer, debate coach of Birdsboro High School, and Rev. W. J. Arms, of the Universalist Church in Reading. Each speaker was allowed ten minutes for the main speech and five minutes for rebuttal. The decision was unanimously in Albright's favor.

Those debating on the affirmative side at Lebanon Valley were: I. Batdorf, N. Danford, and E. Goldstan. Morris, Womer and Reber upheld the negative side. A modified Oregon plan was used there. The main case of each side was presented by two speakers in succession. The last speaker did the cross-questioning. The audience judged the debate. A vote was taken before and after. The results, based on a point system, showed a score of 26-4 in favor of the affirmative side.

On Wednesday afternoon the affirmative team of Gettysburg visited Albright. Dr. Cook was chairman of the debate. Speakers for Albright were: P. Fye and N. Danford. Those from Gettysburg were: Dunkelberger and Schreckengaust. The Oregon plan was used. Judge were: F. Lantz, of West Reading High School; N. C. Brillhart, of Reading High School, and Rev. H. S. Kehn, of the Zion Reformed Church of Reading. Albright won unanimously.

On Wednesday evening the negative team, consisting of J. Doyle, L. Brininger, and H. Mayer, met Elizabethtown College at Elizabethtown. The decision was two to one, favor Elizabethtown.

The last debate at home will be held on Tuesday or Wednesday night with Elizabethtown College, Elizabethtown upholding the affirmative side.

On Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday the affirmative team of Albright College will travel to St. Francis, Western Maryland, and Gettysburg and conclude the debating season.

Dr. Clyde Lynch, president of Lebanon Valley College will be the guest speaker at a Fellowship Dinner to be held in the college dining hall on Monday evening, March 19, at 6 o'clock. President J. Warren Klein will introduce the speaker. The presidents of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. will assist in carrying out the program, part of which will consist of informal group singing.

Miriam Bell Wins Prize in National W.C.T.U. Contest

Contest Open to All Classes This Year; Prizes Are $15 and $5

Miss Miriam Bell, a Sophomore at Albright, recently won the National W. C. T. U. essay contest, for which she was rewarded the prize of $40. The reward was attained through a process of elimination, the prize essay winning first the local contest, then garnering the state title, and finally topping the national contest. Congratulations are due Miss Bell for the credit brought to Albright through her winning national honors.

The contest last year was limited to Freshmen; this year it will be opened to all classes. The winners of the local prizes will receive $15 and $5. Those desiring to enter the contest will kindly hand all manuscript to Professor Voigt not later than May 1.

SIGMA TAU DELTA HOLDS ANNUAL PLEDGE SERVICE

On Thursday evening, March 15, the Sigma Tau Delta fraternity held their pledge service in the parlors of Selwyn Hall. Dr. Eugene R. Page, Miss Ruth C. Shaffer, Miss Ruth Hicks, Miss Jean Rosencrantz, Miss Stella Hettrick, and Mr. George Frey were pledged and will be received into active membership at the formal initiation ceremony to be held Wednesday evening, March 28th, following a banquet in the Spanish Room of Albright College.

TEMPLE U. IS HOST TO I. N. A. DELEGATES

Temple University will be host to delegates attending the annual spring convention of the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association, March 23 and 24. Final plans are being completed for the

The committee in charge of the convention promises a well rounded program. Questionnaires have been sent to the various colleges who are sending delegates in an effort to determine what the member papers would like to discuss at the business meetings. These questions will be brought up at the informal round table discussions where the delegates may go over them.

MID-SEMESTER EXAMS

Dean Walton has announced that mid-semester examinations will not begin until Monday, April 16, in order that the students may have the opportunity to prepare for such. Easter vacation will begin Thursday, March 29, after the last class and will terminate Monday, April 9, at 8.00 A. M.

Seniors Announce May 26th as Date For Annual Dance

Graduating Class Plan Original Program for Senior Night; Committee Appointed

The Senior Class will sponsor the annual Senior ball this year, Saturday evening, May 26. The affair will be held at the Berkshire Hotel and will be conducted in a spring formal manner. The Class Committee, headed by Margaret Wittman, are at present endeavoring to obtain the services of an outstanding orchestra. The name of the band secured will be published in a later issue.

The graduating class are also making plans for the Annual Senior Class Night, held during commencement week of each year. It is the desire of the class to make preparations for an original type of program, which will include the entire roster of the class of '34. A separate committee has been appointed to plan and conduct the Senior Class Night program. The committee consists of: Robert Hollinger, chairman; Willard Burger, Martha Felmley, Ralph De Franco, Betty Reimelspacher. The committee will meet Monday, March 19, at 1.00 P. M., in the administration building.

LUTHERAN STUDENTS DISCUSS MAJOR PROBLEMS

During the period of Lent, Lutheran students have been engaged in a most probable and interesting discussion of Significant Social Facts in the Social Order, with the attempt to apply discoveries of discussion to active life on Albright College campus. It is a discussion of social problems of today in the light of Christianity. These meetings are held weekly on Friday afternoon at 1.00 o'clock in the Lower Social Room of Selwyn Hall. E. Hanley Jones' book, The Christ of the Mount, is used because of its exposition of the Sermon on the Mount and its relations to social problems. We urge all students and members of the faculty to attend these interesting meetings and share in our discussions.

STAFF MEETING

The Albrightian staff will meet in the Albrightian office Tuesday, at three o'clock.

Student Council Probes Athletic Board Action

Athletic Council to Reconsider Decision on New Athletic Program

Action Taken by Council to Include Monday in Easter Vacation

At a special meeting of the Student Council on Wednesday, definite action was taken against any move on the part of authorities toward the cancellation of baseball and track schedules for the coming season. The position of the Council in this matter was made known by a formal statement submitted to the administration, including also reasons why these sports should not be abolished. In doing this, the Council expressed the view held by the entire student body and felt that those in authority would consider this opinion before making a final decision for or against cancellation.

In connection with the abolition of spring sport, the College Athletic Council have forwarded the reason that Albright will merely be following the general trend of all college athletic programs in omitting baseball from its schedule. It is their aim to drop intercollegiate baseball with the thought of giving more attention to intermural games. We believe, however, that student sentiment in regards to this irregular procedure will be recognized. The Student Council petition will doubtless receive full recognition on the part of the Athletic Board. It is believed that the Athletic Board will endeavor to solicit some additional funds for baseball; if these efforts are successful, the spring sport would be continued.

The Council also took action in favor of including Monday in the Easter vacation. Since other higher institutions of learning are careful to make it unnecessary for students to return to college on Sunday, the governing body was of the opinion that it would not be unfair for Albrightians to have the same privilege.

COLLEGE TO SPONSOR SECOND "FIRESIDE HOUR"

Another friendly "Fireside Hour" will be held on Friday evening, March 23, in the College dining hall. The program, sponsored by the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A., will be in charge of Peg Wittman and Lester Stabler. Group singing and an open discussion of a live subject will compose part of the program as well as individual stunts.

All students and faculty are invited to attend this informal gathering around the fireplace, which tends to foster student-faculty relationships.

Literary Column

PART II (Concluded)

I have said that Hemingway and his school are romanticists, as opposed to classicists, in that they are passionately subjective: every emotion is actual and positive, and they reproduce, or try to reproduce, that emotion in the reader. But their romanticism shades off into realism that is oftentimes appalling, portraying life in all its detail, starkly.

And it is in that respect that they sin primarily against aesthetics. It is no less significant now as criticism that long ago Sophocles sneered at the plays of his contemporary, Euripides. "He paints men as they are; I paint them as they ought to be." Clearly Sophocles saw what was the one unpardonable sin against art and human welfare. For the Greeks, who knew something about it, recognized that gracefully to prevaricate about mankind and human existence was art's first consideration and function. Therefore they chose as subjects worth handling protagonists from antiquity, who, as far as existent proofs went, might have conceivably moved "as they ought to be." Homer, the oldest story teller, dealt with legends that in his day were ancient and common knowledge. And if Odysseus needed any superhuman powers, Homer was never loath to give them to him. He knew, of course, that actuality was otherwise, but he sighed and thought it would be very gratifying if men were superhuman.

Later equally did literature avoid realities. Knights with divine courage and unconquerable swords rescued damsels from infinities of dragons; and Cinderellas always married princes. Still later in miracle and mystery plays this same tendency to flatter poor mankind was undeniable. Then, with the dramatists came also the desire to escape into fiction. Shakespeare, perhaps, was tainted with a certain amount of realism, but it is hidden under a flow of lovely words. And Shakespeare is the greatest aesthetic criminal in literature.

But cases in point are innumerable, and we need not go on multiplying them. So we see, then, that men seize upon and jealously guard eternally in their souls and in their libraries only that which praises either rather futile goers, and shields them, if only for a moment or two, from the inescapable grimness of existence. And they turn away from the brutal exposition of facts clothed as fiction; and even those who works that insist on reality may have a popular acclaim for a time, in exorbitantly they are shelved out of reach.

Of course, there are other qualities that give a novel greatness; that goes without saying. Simplicity, beauty, timelessness... these three, but the greatest of all is prevarication.

Leaving, then, most contemporary fiction out in the cold.....

TEMPLE HOST TO I. N. A. DELEGATES

An unusually large number of prominent newspapermen have been obtained as speakers of the convention. Among these speakers are men representing every phase of the newspaper field. Publishers, cartoonists, columnists and advertising men are among those who will speak.

Arthur Brisbane, famous columnist, and editor of the Hearst newspapers, will address the convention. Mr. Brisbane's column, "Today," appears in the "Philadelphia Record," and in a number of other newspapers throughout the country. It consists of a brief outline of the news, interspersed by the terse comments of the writer. Other famous columnists who will attend are: Drew Pearson, author of the "Washington Merry-Go-Round," and first president of the I. N. A.; Don Rose, columnist of the "Evening Ledger;" Morgan Cook, of the "Inquirer."

PROMINENT PEOPLE . . .

RALPH DE FRANCO
(Lions Club)

In "Radio" we have one of our most popular athletes. A Senior who has been active not only in the sport realm, but in the extra-curricular work of the school, Ralph has retained his popularity throughout his four years. The organization of the Lions last year elected "Radio" as their president, a position in which he proved very capable. He has served on several outstanding committees and at various times sprouted real leadership qualities.

"Radio's" domain, however, is the field of athletics, in which he is recognized as one of the school's outstanding men. Being a letter man in three major sports, he has garnered an enviable reputation for himself. This season he was elected co-captain of the Red and White quint and last season proved to be one of the outstanding backs on the gridiron.

"Radio" is another embryo teacher, and we believe if given the opportunity will prove to be an excellent coach.

The "Y" Column

A small but enthusiastic group of boarding students greeted Professor W. I. Miller at the regular Vesper Service last Sunday evening in the Social Room of Selwyn Hall. His topic was Christian Realities. From the very interesting talk by our registrar we were able to point out for ourselves some of the requisites for success. Professor Miller stated that success comes to anyone who has been earnest, sincere in his work, and has taken God with him all the way to help him through. It is that feeling that may come after one has done the very best he could under the circumstances. His conscience is free, and he feels that he has done his utmost. The best way to realize the reality of true living is to work one's limit.

We have gotten off to a good start for our new plan of Vesper Services. Have you tried to share your philosophy of living with others? Come to Vespers next Sunday to hear another leader of youth help you to find the basic foundations for your own philosophy of ideal Christian living. Bring a friend and any puzzling questions which are troubling you.

The program for the Y. W. on Wednesday night was presented by the Sophomore girls. Edith Jones and Jean Rosencrans were in charge of the worship service, and a prayer hymn was sung by Rachel Snyder and Grace Ketter. A short skit, entitled "Watermelon Pickles," was given by Dorothy Brillhart and Ruth Hicks.

THE JUNIATA DEBATE

It would be a mistake on our part to let the outcome of the annual Albright-Juniata debate slip by without a word of comment. It was clearly evident that not only the students of the College, but the entire audience of the occasion were dissatisfied with the decision made by the judges.

We can but feel that some partiality was shown on the part of the judges. We have no criticism to make in connection with the Juniata team. They were ably represented and certainly had no part in deciding the final pronouncement of the winner. We are making criticism of the fact that authority in choosing judges and general arrangement of the annual debate is left in hands other than those directly connected with our College administration and debating team.

The fact that the Juniata team believed themselves defeated at the close of the debate adds proof to our assumption that the judges were either partial in their decision or were incompetent—we hesitate to infer the latter.

We will gain little by rehashing and commenting upon this year's annual forensic battle with Juniata. We do feel, however, that our administration will see the necessity of changing the place for the debate and also the necessity of making our own arrangements. Certainly we have no desire to arouse any sentiment between the two schools, for the annual encounter has succeeded in creating a great deal of interest in both colleges. We have no desire to discontinue such, but let's battle on neutral ground next year.

Last aSturday night Albright took it on the chin from Lebanon Valley at Lebanon in the last game of the season to the tune of 37-31. Albright led at the half 22-12, but the Mylin coached boys cut this lead way down and won the game. They scored 19 points while Albright was scoring 2 in one part of the second half. The writer did not attend the game but from all reports the Smith men showed some of their passing ability in the first half and made Lebanon look sick—too bad this could not have been the case all year.

The usual custom at this time of the year is for each school paper to pick an All-Conference Team. So here is the one that the writer thinks is the best and he has seen each team play at least once.

First Team:

Forward—Jacobs, F. and M.
Forward—Cico, Gettysburg
Center—Johnson, Ursinus
Guard—Mac Millan, Gettysburg
Guard—Oslislo, Albright

Second Team:

Forward—Barthold, Lebanon Valley
Forward—Iatesta, Albright
Center—Sternner, Muhlenberg
Guard—Haller, F. and M.
Guard—Rodgers, Muhlenberg

Girls End Season in First Division of City B. B. League

The Albright girls' basketball team ended the first half of the season in the first division of the City League. The winner of the first division will play the winner of the second division. In a play-off Wednesday night, the Albright girls lost 39-19 to the leaders of the first division. The lineup of the game follows:

Wittman, Henry Beglinger, forwards.
Yohn, Turner, Slater, guards.
Goforth, center.
Sprinkle, Bentzel, Hicks, side center.

The girls' basketball team from Albright bowed to the Lebanon Valley team at Annville last Saturday with a final score of 35-27. The second half was very evenly matched, but too much of a lead had been established in the first half to be overcome. After the game, the Albright girls were pleasantly entertained at dinner in the North Hall dormitory.

Smithmen End Season with Even Record

Oslislo Tops Individual Scorers; Iatesta and Shipe Follow Close Behind

Albright closed her 1933-34 basketball season with eight wins and eight losses. The high light of the season was the defeat of Villanova in a closely contested game. Villanova, rated as one of the outstanding teams of in the East, came to Reading expecting to take the Lions into camp by a large score.

Breaking even with our rivals, the Blue and White, it can be considered a fair season. Many of the games were very closely contested, some being lost by one or two points. The Lions started off with a bang, winning four straight games, and were considered as the team to win the Conference. Traveling to Allentown, the Mules handed the Lions their first defeat; they then dropped three successive games to the Migdals, F. and M., and another to Muhlenberg. The next game brought Albright and Lebanon Valley together in one of the many thrillers they have played this season; the final whistle gave the game to the Lions by one point. The Red and White took a trip to the Battlefields and came back shell-shocked by the Bullets. The Bears were the next victims of the Lions in a closely fought contest at the local Y. The Villanova Wildcats came to town hungry for Lion meat, but, instead, the Wildcats were tamed in a great exhibition of team work. The Lions lost to F. and M., won from Drexel, lost to Gettysburg, and then took it on the chin from Hooks Mylin's Boys. They finished up the season with eight wins and eight losses.

Oslislo, All-Conference guard, was the leading scorer with Iatesta, Shipe, and Woods close behind. Oslislo was the most deadly foul shooter, garnering 24 out of 37 with Iatesta and Shipe numbering nearly as many. Albright outscored her opponents, gathering 620 points to 573. In the league games, Albright was outscored 488 to 492. The tale that tells the story of Albright's poor season is summed up in these figures. Albright was awarded 251 shoots via the foul route, but was only able to account for 132; this is only 52% and perhaps means the difference between the winning and losing of five games.

Inter-Fraternity Swimming Meet to be Held Mar. 23

Splash! That's just the moist sound made by the fraternity mermen who are regaining their aquatic skill for the approaching inter-fraternity swimming meet to be held Friday, March 23, at the Y. M. C. A. The Kappa Upsilon Phi fraternity captured the prized trophy last year, but it has lost a number of water stars through graduation. Enthusiasm is running high, as each fraternity is reserving the choice position on its social room for the beautiful trophy now on view in the book store. May the best finney-tribe imitators splash to victory.

Coach Ray Morris, who is supervising the event, has announced the following order of events:

1. 160-yard relay
2. 401-yard breast-stroke
3. 40-yard free style
4. 220-yard free style
5. 50-yard back-stroke
6. 100-yard free-style
7. Fancy diving
- 3 Compulsory dives
 1. Front dive
 2. Back Dive
 3. Front jack-knife
- 3 Optional dives

Rules for the contestants:

1. No varsity swimmer is allowed to compete.
2. A contestant is allowed to enter any number of events.
3. All racing starts will be from a dead start.

The swimming meet serves as a competent, interesting bridge over the gap separating the seasons of basketball and baseball. Despite certain adverse criticism, intermural sports have witnessed keen competition and whole-hearted fun on the part of the fraternities in sincere co-operation with Coach John Smith, athletic department head. This year, in inter-fraternity sports, the Zetas proved to be the best in touchball, the Lion club championed the basketball league, but who's going to capture the aquatic trophy?

The author is of the opinion that several rules should be added to secure fairplay for all. The following rules are submitted with the boys that they may be carefully considered and executed:

1. Life savers, water wings, row coats or other unfair means are absolutely prohibited.
2. Splashing water in a fellow contestant's eyes, tickling feet, biting ears or toes and eye-gouging will disqualify the user of such ungentlemanly methods.
3. No contestant will be allowed to swallow more than ten gallons of the pool water.
4. Any person caught placing tacks on the diving board will be subject to a gentle ten-minute ducking.

Oslislo is Selected on All-Conference Mythical Quintette

Iatesta Rates Forward Birth on Second All-Star Selection

Goose Oslislo, Senior co-captain and brilliant guard on the basketball team for the last three seasons, has duplicated his feat of last year by being chosen for a guard berth on the mythical all-star team of the Eastern Pennsylvania Inter-collegiate Conference. The Harrisburg Morning Telegraph, which annually selects the champion aggregation, also announced that Tommy Iatesta, also a Senior with three years of varsity experience, had been given a position at forward on the second team.

The other choices were all accurately picked and well merited. MacMillan, of Gettysburg, the cleverest performer to appear on the Reading Y court this year, is selected as Oslislo's partner on the back court; Jacobs, F. and M., and Barthold, Lebanon Valley, the best shots in the league, won forward jobs, while Cuchran, Muhlenberg's lanky high scorer, was awarded the tap-off position. A strange fact lies in the situation that every member of the championship Gettysburg five was chosen for one of the three teams except Cico. Rumors are that this husky chap, who handles the pivot play for the Bullets, was omitted because of temperamental difficulties.

Here are the three mythical teams:

First Team

Jacobs F. and M.
Barthold Lebanon Valley
Cuchran Muhlenberg
MacMillan Gettysburg
Oslislo Albright

Second Team

Breich Ursinus
Iatesta Albright
Miller Lebanon Valley
Reynolds Drexel

The following Senior girls have accepted bids to the Phi Delta Sigma Alumni sorority: Catherine Winter, Catherine Yerkes, Harriet Venus, Sarah Hoffman, Dorcas Haines, and Mary Yohn.

They will be pledged on Saturday afternoon. After the service a luncheon will be served in honor of the girls at the Thomas Jefferson Tea Room.

Rumor has it that the two people, the last six letters of whose names is the same, are no longer that way. He wanted to bill while she insisted on cooing. The blame for the split is laid to her temperament.

The Pi Tau Beta fraternity is glad to announce that they have pledged the following men: Guy Brown, David Fray, Olaf Holman, John Lantz, Kenneth McLaughlin, and George Wilcox.

The girl with the name containing an "m," two "u's," an "i," two "e's" and other letters is reported to have been seeing some Reading night life recently. She traversed the Old Ox Road leading to the Deerpath Inn.

Mildred Rothermel spent the past week-end at East Prospect, Pa., as the guest of Dorcas Haines.

After perusing the popularity vote printed in this sheet last week, I've come to the conclusion that only the dread of being discovered kept some people from putting their names in all the blanks.

Many members of the faculty and student body attended the Haage concert on Tuesday evening, at which time Lottie Lehman appeared.

One of the frats has recently broken out with a wrestling epidemic. You can visit the quarters any afternoon and find a group tugging and grunting.

Plans are under way for the annual spring banquet of the Pi Tau Beta fraternity to be held on May 19th.

If you want to view a graceful blush, simply whisper "Phi Beta Kappa" to that dark-haired Sophomore. Her flame at Princeton recently became a member of that elite group.

Irene Porter, an alumnus of the school and of Pi Alpha Tau sorority, visited the campus on Wednesday and Thursday.

Irvin Batdorf has been pledged to the Alpha Pi Omega Fraternity.

The day students' room was recently closed again. What makes this fact interesting was the card tacked on the door reading:

"This Room is Closed."
In the face of the locked door, that seemed rather redundant.

Wilfred Jones, a Z. O. E. alumnus, spent the past week on the campus as a guest of his fraternity.

I may be wrong, but it seems to me that a certain Junior Pre-Med wanted to break into print this week. Members of the Chem. I class will recall the incident.

Helen Yahn will attend the annual spring dance of the Jefferson Medical School in Philadelphia next week-end.

It would please several people if a certain Frosh would accidentally catch a volley ball in his mouth in gym class. From what I hear he could swallow it easily.

News from the western part of the State: Sally Varner, of the class of '32, is now convalescing in Florida. Pauline King, a former Albrightian, was recently married in Cadiz, Ohio.

This guy Walter Winchell seems to be stealing my stuff. On the radio the other night he said: "This hands me a chuckle." Allow me to refer you to last week's Albrightian.

Hollinger, Ehrhart, Hummel, Basom, Feister, Stabler, and Brennehan, all Pi Taus, visited York last week-end.

A number of people would like to know if these guys digging along the lane actually expect to find gold!

Carl Sweitzer, Sam Halperin, and "Mel" Lustig have all received acceptances to medical schools. They have not definitely decided which one it will be, however.

That straight-haired Sophomore laddie seems to be all wrapped up in dancing. He asked a babe at a dance the other night for the last dance and danced the last four with her.

Stanley Brookes visited the campus recently.

Harold Ream, another famous Albrightian, is doing well at Columbia University.

Professor Graham Cook recently entertained Stewart Wick and Roland Kennedy, two of his "lab" assistants, at Sunday night supper.

Virginia Renninger, who came to Albright with the class of '34, is now at Reading Hospital and ranked highest in her class.

Wodrow Bartges visited and preached at Lewistown recently.

THERE'S ONE BEST TIME To Telephone Home!

You'll agree, once you've tried it, that half past eight is the time to telephone home.

At half past eight the day's rush is over. Your time is free for a leisurely telephone chat.

At half past eight the same is true at home. It's the best time to catch the family all together.

At half past eight (and this is most important) low Night Rates go into effect on Station to Station calls. You can then save as much as 40% on your call. For example: If your home is 100 miles away, a three-minute connection will cost only 35 cents!

TO TAKE ADVANTAGE
of the LOW NIGHT RATES ...

Call after 8:30 P. M., and be sure to make a Station to Station call.

That means, ask the Operator for your home telephone, but not for any specific person.

If you've fixed a date in advance, the family will be sure to be there.

Charges may be reversed.
