JOLLITY REIGNS SUPREME AT SOPH HALLOWE'EN PARTY

College Gym Adorned in Canopy Of Beautiful Decorations—Miss Heinze Double Winner—Juniors Cop Field Meet—Orchestra Features

BEST IN DECADE IS CLAIM

Monday night saw the end of an affair which was in a stage of development for quite some length of time. It was planned a long time ago, begun a short while ago, and finally completed when all had their fill of eats and good times.

All this means that the Halloween Party is over and everyone had a good time. The Sophomore Class entertained royally for there was an abundance of everything, as had been predicted before hand. The College Gymnasium was turned into a typical Halloween glory of corn-fodder, pumpkins, colored leaves, with a canopy of orange and black crepe paper and moss as a sky under which jollity reigned supreme. For were there not games for all, even the Faculty participated, and was there not an Orchestra. That Orchestra seemed to amuse everyone. Why? That isn't hard to guess. And say, there was some vocal music beside the jibbering that took the place of desert for every course there was on the menu.

But who could have imagined that there were so many nationalities represented among the student body of Albright College. There were Arabs, and Spaniards, and Welshmen, and Mexicans, and Dutchmen, and then not mentioning the side-show wonders of the world.

THEMISIANS ELECT TEAM TO DEBATE FOR SOCIETY

Election Comes At Conclusion Of Interesting Meeting Last Thursday—Composed of Benfer, Shambaugh, Flexer and Herr

A very interesting program was planned for the regular meeting of the Themisian Literary Society last Thursday 21st. The Juniors were in charge, and the program as far as it was carried out, is as follows: Vocal Solo—Loretta Eisenhower. Selection of Poems—Rachael Painter.

Themisian Echo—Carol Heffing. Critics Report—Kathleen Miller. The delinquents numbered three, therefore other members of the society, not Juniors participated in the program. We were sorry for those who could not take their parts, but we hope that we will all rally forth and try to make the program as interesting as possible.

A business meeting followed, in which the Themisian debaters were elected: Anna Benfer, Mildred Shambaugh, Margaret Flexer. Arline Herr, alternate.

NOW! WRECK SCHUYLKILL!

Tomorrow, when the Albright gridders journey to Reading to give battle with the Parsons, they will not meet the easy resistance that such a name might imply. Look over Schuyllkill's record. Although they won only two out of six, their defeats were all hard ones with the exception of Lafayette. A 12-13 score with Dickinson indicates their power. (Continued on Page Three)

Tonight the Excelsior Literary Society will be under the full play of the limelight when they present their anniversary, marking the completion of seventy one years of almost invaluable service to the men students of the college during the entire history of the college.

The Excelsior Literary Society of 1926 justly takes its place in the annals of the college and society as one of the truly great ones, doffing its hat to none, whether in numbers or ability.

Such an organization offers the college its best tonight. Let's show our appreciation!

DEBATING MACHINE GATHERING UP STEAM FOR GREAT OFFENSIVE AS BIG SEASON LOOKS

Varsity Men Will Begin Grind Soon

Team Chosen—New Debates

Owing to the fact that several fellows were unable to try out for debating last Tuesday, Coach Keen issued a call for the second, held several days ago, on Tuesday. From this number together with those who participated in the first, Coach Keen will select and mould a team which will carry the colors of Albright on the rostrum this year. When the Bulletin went to press, the varsity team had not been selected as yet, but in all probability will be in the very near future if it has not been done already.

Arrangements for the Freshmen team which are being contemplated this year will be made soon if plans for such a venture are deemed practical. This can be determined better after the varsity team gets organized. It is easily possible that the plebes could schedule a number of debates with other Frosh teams and some of the better high schools in this section. At the Debating conference at Harrisburg about a month ago, the Freshman team idea was very popular, and the organization (Continued On Page Two)

Entire Albright Team Shares Limelight In Decisive Conquest—Weaver And Kerns Make Thrilling Runs—Griggs In Important Role—Brilliant Aerial Attack.

Temple one of the few undefeated teams of the East up until Saturday, and boasting of not having their goal line crossed was humbled in the dust by "Jakie" Weller's team by the score of 19-0.

Heinie Miller has developed a good team and they have been beating their opponents in an easy way, he has a shift that is hard to stop and they made big gains through the line until the Albright team perfected a defense for it, after that they had little trouble breaking up their plays.

It was not one individual player that made it possible for victory, it was team work, every man on the team sharing in the victory, and the glory should go to all. The interference was better in the Temple game than it has been any time since the Muhlenberg game, every man carrying the ball had the way cleared for him by his team mates.

The game was not five minutes old when "Lefty" Weaver scooped up a fumble and crossed the Temple goal line after a run of seventy eight yards, he was the first player to cross their goal line this year.

It looked like Temple would score in the beginning, for the Albright forward line had a hard job breaking up their plays, and they carried the ball to the eighteen yard line where Gogle made his costly fumble which Weaver recovered. Griggs made good for the extra point with a placement kick.

Kerns scored the second touchdown late in the second quarter when he took a twenty yard pass from Griggs and raced sixty yards for the goal line.

PROF. WALTON ADDRESSES BOYS IN 'Y' MEETING

Gives Interesting Discourse On Biological Theory Of Evolution—Noted Figures Coming In Near Future

Prof. George Walton was the speaker in the weekly "Y" meeting last Tuesday. He gave a very interesting talk on the Biological theory of evolution.

For next week the Y. M. and Y. W. have secured Mr. William C. Craver from the national headquarters of the Y. M. C. A. in New York City. Mr. Craver will speak to several groups during the day using as the general subject, the Race Problem. These groups next Tuesday will probably gather in the Y. M. C. A. room in the Main Building.

GIRLS MAKING RAPID PROGRESS IN HOCKEY

Erection Of Goal Posts Leaves Only The Snag Of Off Field To Complete Requirements

Ground! Sticks! Ground! Sticks! is heard on the hockey field every evening, as Girls' Hockey gets moving at a rapid pace. Goal posts have been erected at each end of the field and we are anxiously looking forward to the time when a lined field will be available. We hope it is not far distant. The girls are doing fine and are showing good spirit, even though many are temporarily crippled. Girls, let's keep at it and see what we can do!

ALBRIGHT STUDENTS GO STRONG AS INSTRUCTORS

Eight Seniors Direct Education Of Myerstonians In Extension School Venture Proves Successful

Albright College has a new factor in its educational curriculum. This is the recently founded "Albright High School." The students are boys and girls of Myerstown and vicinity who have not finished their grade school education and are at present working in local factories. There are at present thirty-one students who are from fourteen to sixteen years of age.

The subjects being taught are mathematics, English, history, vocational guidance and general science. The teacher alone has a text book. (Continued On Page Three)

FACULTY CLASSIFICATION COMMITTEE FLOORS DELINQUENT STUDENTS

Last Monday five members of the more careless element of the student body found to their chagrin and discomfort that the "Pink Slin" is not the only undesirable one. This time Yellow was the villain of the play. Bearing the sweet, welcome command to appear before the faculty commission of classification, apparently an old acquaintance in a new suit, for an unknown purpose, these slips seemed a harbinger of disaster indeed; nor did they fail to disappoint anybody.

Keeping the quintet in breathless suspense until the other faculty members arrived, the chairman, after explaining the pleasant (?) purpose of the meeting, promptly proceeded to floor every member of the group. Floored! One right after another regardless of the reason, excessive cutting of classes, or merely negligence to do the required work.

MORAL: Don't cut classes or get behind in your work, for the classification will get you and jump on your neck if you do! If you don't believe it, try it and find out. Of course it was thought proper to not expose any one, so references can not be given. But it's true regardless.

POETS' CORNER
*THE WIND

I like to see the wind
Go running through the grass;
It pushes all the blades apart
So it has room to pass.

It flirts with every flower
It meets upon the way;
And acts like barefoot little boys
That run around in May.

It tickles every tree
That grows upon a hill,
And makes the brooklets laugh aloud
Because it can't stand still.

It tilts the birds that perch
upon a branch to swing;
And rumples all their feathers up
So they can scarcely sing.

It's such a jolly wind
When running through the grass,
I just can't stay inside, because
I like to see it pass.

THE FROGS

The frogs can laugh
Deep in their throats,
And hide behind a stool;
I may look like an idiot,
I'm really not a fool.

I know they're making
Fun of me,
They serenade the stars;
And think my efforts foolish when
I telegraph to Mars.

But someday when
I reach the moon,
And walk across the blue,
Their tune will turn for then they'll have
To serenade me, too.

Go on and laugh
You pop eyed frogs,
Yes, laugh for all you're worth;
Some day my turn will come and you
Will still be here on earth.
—Blanche McCauley.

SPECULUM PROMOTING QUARTETTE CONCERT

boys were putting the finishing touches on their numbers and it can be avered with confidence that they will "go over big."

The Quartette consists of Glynn Morris, first tenor; Glen Garrett, second tenor; Elwood McGuigan, baritone; Garrison Wilkes, bass; and Charles Lehman, pianist. Their program will begin with classical numbers, ending with songs of a lighter quality. Between the two parts which are made up of solos, duets, and quartet numbers they will present a short skit.

The concert which is being sponsored by the 1928 Speculum is the first of a series of concerts which will be given in this section by the quartet—all under the auspices of the Speculum.

The tickets have been selling good, and it is hoped that there will be a large audience to greet the boys in their initial performance.

NOW WRECK SCHUYLKILL!

Schuyllkill is making ready to get Albright's scalp, and will leave no stone unturned to do it. Although they look weaker on paper, Coach Julian's outfit is a fighting one—and a strong one—one that will take Albright's every effort to overcome. So when tomorrow comes, let each student go down to see the game, to cheer the team on to victory. ALBRIGHT CAN'T LOSE TO SCHUYLKILL.

worked in great style, and they made repeated gains with it. In former games the ends have always been the target of attack by the Albright team, but Saturday they were gaining ground through the line, and were varying their attack, that it kept the Temple team in a daze.

Outside of the first quarter the Temple team never threatened and the Albright goal line was never in danger of being crossed.

Albright's last touchdown came when Griggs intercepted a Temple pass on the thirty eight yard line, he was thrown by Gule without being able to return it, Kerns circled the end for a twenty-two yard gain making it a first down on the sixteen yard line. Griggs made two thru the line, Garrett made it a first down, Griggs on the next play went over the goal line for the last touchdown on a reverse play. The try for the extra point failed when a pass Griggs to Kerns grounded.

The punting was good on Saturday, Gibbins, Sherrid and Weaver getting off some long distance kicks. Schultz was the back bone of the Temple defense and offense, he carried the brunt of the work for them; in both departments of the game.

Saturday's victory makes them the leading team to date of the smaller colleges of Pennsylvania, and outside of the Lafayette defeat, by a team which has not lost a game they have an impressive record as any team in the state.

Tomorrow Schuyllkill will be met and Albright will have to extend themselves to win.

TOWN NOTES:"RED" SHEELY STARTS BASKETBALL AT HIGH

On Thursday night of last week, Harry "Red" Sheely, '24, the local high school basketball mentor issued the first call for candidates for this year's team. The call was answered by about twenty young huskies, who are aspiring for places on this year's five.

After a real heart-to-heart talk to the boys, Coach Sheely sent them through some limbering-up exercises and followed this with a long session of shooting practice. After a few laps around the gym, the boys were sent to the showers for the evening, and the initial practice was finished.

Sheely is a bit optimistic about this year's team, as Kapp, Youse and Shenk, of last year's team have been graduated. However with such veterans back as Capt. Miller, Ronaldi, Hicks and Ebling around with which to build a team, Myerstown High should again be represented with another fast team. A fine schedule is being arranged by Mgr. Honker, and old M. H. S. is all set for another successful season.

MANY ACCIDENTS OVER WEEK-END

A number of serious auto accidents occurred near Myerstown over the week end. The most serious of these was one on Saturday evening at the Narrows, on the east side of Lebanon, in which two men were fatally injured, while a third member of the party was badly lacerated in the face. Their car hit a telephone post at the side of the road and was badly demolished.

HALLOWE'EN PARTIES

A number of Halloween parties were held in town over the last week end. Among them were the Freshmen and Sophomore Class parties of the Myerstown High School. Both parties were well attended and everyone present had a delightful time.

and the students learn only in the classroom. In English and history, the Literary Digest is being used. The laboratories of the college are open to the science department.

An intelligence test was given the students last week by Prof. Zener. This week marked the opening of recitation classes. Classes are held from three to five o'clock the first four days of every week.

The teachers of the department are members of the Senior class. Snyder and Achenbach teach mathematics; Misses Brown and Weist, English; Misses Herr and Miller, History; and Wolfskill and Beeky, vocational guidance and general science. Prof. Zener, of the college and Prof. Hartzler, principal of Myerstown High School, are the supervisors.

November 16th the "Y" program committee have been successful in securing "Bill" Simpson for the speaker. It has been the desire of the students for some time to have an opportunity of hearing Bill again, he having been here several years ago as well as his co-worker Hal Miller who was so popular among the students last year.

MAKING A STAR

This poem is able to be printed due to the courtesy of Miss Garlach, our professor of French who handed it in to us.

It emphasizes the great value of team play and spirit of cooperation.

Eleven men are needed for a team,
One star is not enough, however clever.

Ten boys must help him if he is to gleam
He must have guards and tackles round him ever.

Once in a game I saw the star perform,
Fleet as a deer he ran the field to glory.

But had he run alone to breast the storm
Perhaps the press had told a different story.

I would not from the star take aught of praise,
But left alone, unguarded, undefended

Despite his brilliance and his daring ways
Without that touchdown would his run have ended?

Two boys were near him as he crossed the line,
Who blocked the foemen as they sought to stay him.

Their purpose was to help the star to shine,
To clear the field from all who might delay him.

Then almost free towards the goal he ran,
But one was left who would not give him clearance,

With arms outstretched he plunged to get his man,
But fell a victim to great interference.

The crowd applauded for the touchdown made
"A splendid feat!" the press exultant said it.

But unto three my tribute now is paid—
—Wolves are blamed for a spread of rabies in Russia. Maybe it started from a wolf that had been bitten by a Bolshevik.
