College Leader Guest Speaker At Convocation

The Rev. Dr. Raymond S. Haupt, president of Moravian College, addressed Albright's opening convocation recently on "Living in Today's World." Citing the changes that have taken place during the last generation, Dr. Haupt keyed his remarks to what he considered the three main factors working on American youth: unparalleled material blessings, unparalleled opportunities, and pessimism.

Examining the unparalleled material blessings, he expressed the idea that people have not matured enough to use these blessings, and have peace of mind at the same time. Dr. Haupt believes that, considering the second factor, American students are limited only by their own initiative. He, for one, is proud of the resourcefulness of this country's youth.

Handicap

Still, Dr. Haupt, believes that for many students too much has been done for them. This, while not a major problem, seriously handicaps such youths by not preparing them properly for adult life in western society. It is necessary to develop "backbone" in order to meet the "struggle in day to day living."

Pessimism is a new feeling for America, having developed shortly after World War II. The disillusionment that resulted from that conflict led to decreased confidence in many people. Faith in God, Dr. Haupt added, is the key to a necessary increase in confidence. "There is no other quality a human being needs more."

750 Students

Earlier in the program, Dean George W. Walton, dean of the college, announced that the student body of 750 for the first semester is the second largest full time enrollment in the history of Albright, and that the class of 1961 is the largest freshman class the college has ever greeted.

Enrollment this year stands at 750 students. Of this number, 380 are boarding and 370 commuting Albrightians. Men again outnumber the women, 500 to 250. Freshman class enrollment is 260.

York Greets

Frank York, '58, president of Student Council, extended greetings to the students and expressed the view that with intra-college cooperation this year will be "one of the greatest in the history of the school."

Concluding the program, Dr. Harry V. Masters, president of the college, looked forward to a "fine year together" and declared the 102 year of Albright College officially in session.

Day Students Picnic Scheduled For Tonight

A get-acquainted picnic will be held for all commuting students today from 4:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. at Schlegel Park. Margaret Schultz, '60, and Robert Polgar, '60, are in charge of the event, sponsored jointly by the Daywomen's Organization and the Daymen's Association.

This will be the second annual such event. There is no charge for Albright day students, but guests will be charged for the evening meal. Wilma Rieser, '58, and Richard Steffy, '58, head the Daywomen's and Daymen's groups, respectively.

New Fee System Begins This Year

The comprehensive fee system, a financial system new among colleges and universities, was incorporated by Albright College this year. Under this system each student will pay a fee of $725 per year which includes everything but books and supplies. Dormitory students will be charged an additional $575 per year for room and board.

The comprehensive fee system is replacing a system of separate charges for tuition, college fees, and laboratory fees. Before the comprehensive fee system was introduced, science students were charged extra for the use of the science laboratories, however, liberal arts students were not charged an additional fee for use of the library, which they use more than the science major, or for the language laboratory. The comprehensive fee equalizes the charge of both science and liberal arts students.

$10 Deposit

A $10 breakage deposit is required of each student upon registration. The breakage deposit is to be maintained at this figure each semester. The deposit by a student will be used for his damage to any college property. This includes damage to dormitory rooms or day student rooms, classrooms or offices.

Although the treasurer's office has not set up a definite procedure for notifying students of the breakage charges against them, it believes the most simple way will be to issue a monthly statement to each student involved explaining the charges against him. The student will also be notified if the charges are more than $10.

Students can have their deposits refunded at the end of any semester, however, the students are asked to leave their $10 breakage deposits in the treasurer's office until they leave Albright.

Suspected Rebels:

Albrightians Spend Summer In Cuba On Grant From Science Foundation

Camped on the north coast of Cuba, three Americans in a mobile biology laboratory were "buzzed" by planes of the Cuban Army and Navy. Rebel forces on the island were using trucks similar to the laboratory for the transportation of arms.

The three Americans were Dr. Albert Schwartz, assistant professor of biology; John Feick, '58; and William Gehrmann of New York University. Dr. Schwartz and his two student assistants spent three months on the island of Cuba, where they sought and caught animals to be used in Dr. Schwartz's study in the field of taxonomy or systematics.

Two Years

The trip was made possible by a two-year grant Dr. Schwartz received from the National Science Foundation. The American Museum of Natural History will receive the 1,765 lizards, 1,000 frogs, and 200 snakes which the expedition captured. Only the central and western portions of the island were explored

Marching Band, Auxiliary Groups Prepare For Combined Appearance At Home Football Game Tomorrow

York Sets Course For '57-'58 Council

Student Council President Frank York, '58, opened the 1957-58 session of Council by welcoming the members back to Albright and alerting them to be prepared for a heavy work load during the coming school year.

In his opening remarks at the council meeting held recently, York named the acquisition of a student parking lot, the building of permanent school spirit, the opening of the library during examination and term paper periods, and the strengthening of Friday night activities as the items due to receive the largest portion of Council action this year.

Other Planks

Noting that two other planks in his campaign platform, the periodic meetings of the presidents of all campus organizations and the group leader type of organization during freshman orientation and customs, have already been initiated and have been met with "considerable success," York stated, "I feel that Council must impress upon the administration the need for these other items."

The naming of Council committee chairmen, a treasurer's report by Larry Heinrich, '58 (Ind. Dorm Rep.), and the approval of Ann Miller, '58 (Mu Rep.), as editor of The Cue rounded out the first meeting.

The committee chairmen are as follows: George Tietjen, '58 (Kappa Rep.), student faculty; Paul Reetz, '59 (Ind. Day Rep.), Friday night activities; Celia Petrucci, '59 (Mu Rep.), student directory; Annette Kiesling, '58 (Ind. Day Rep.), student book exchange; Arthur Youn-

David Pettit

Pettit Band Head For '57-'58 Season

The Marching Band and auxiliary units will make their first combined appearance of the 1957-58 season at Albright's home football game with Scranton tomorrow at the stadium at 8 p.m.

David Pettit, '58, is president, John Newcomer, '59, is vice president, Sally Dettra, '59, is secretary and Richard DeLong, '58, serves as student director.

James Schuman, '60, drum major, and Joy Detweiler, '60, head major-ette, will lead the 48-piece group in the halftime activities of Albright's only home night game this fall. The 33-member marching band, color guard and flag twirlers will perform special drills, and Miss Detweiler will offer a fire baton and sparkler routine. The drill will be narrated this year for the first time.

Yeager Reports

Lester R. Yeager, assistant professor of music, reported that 18 of the band members are freshmen. The band will wear their new black and gold uniforms this year, and a new Sousaphone, baritone saxophone and cymbals have been added to the instruments.

Regarding future plans, Prof. Yeager added that, in addition to playing at one away and all home football games, the Band will present both a fall and a Christmas concert.

Present members of the Marching Band and auxiliary units include: Harold Baughman, '58, Delong, Pettit, Lee Swartz, '59, Miss Dettra, William Kutz, '59, Newcomer, Earl Adams, '60, Barbara Boyer, '60, Schuman, and Alan Seifarth, '60.

More Members

Also, Nancy Siglin, '60, Gary Stone, '60, Edward Traves, '60, George Withers, '60, Jane Yeager, '60, Robert Balfour, '61, Rocco Chirieleison, '61, Malcolm Dietrich, '61, Myles Edwards, '61, and James George, '61.

Also, Faith King, '61, Vena Marshall, '61, William McNeil, '61, Agnes Oaks, '61, Joyce Robinson, '61, Larry Royer, '61, Donald Sandman, '61, George Walck, '61, Ronald Wanner, '61, Bryan Wagner, '61, David Woods, '61, and Samuel Zehner, '61.

Dates Set For Grad Business Examination

The Admission Test for Graduate Study in Business for 1957-58 will be administered by the Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N. J., on four dates this year. Sessions are set for November 2, February 6, April 19, and July 26.

Many graduate business schools require applicants to take this test as part of the admission requirements. Applications and fees must be filed with the ETS at 20 Nassau Street, Princeton, N. J., at least two weeks prior to the testing date. Additional information is available at the same address.

WSA Freshman Tea Planned For Today

A tea will be given for the freshman class today from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. in Selwyn Hall. The primary purpose of the tea, sponsored by the Women's Student Association, is to better acquaint the new students with the faculty. All freshmen, members of the faculty and administrators have been invited to attend the event.

Co-chairmen for the tea are Margaret Brookes, '60, and Nancy Foote, '60. The sub-committees and their leaders are: hospitality and serving, Margaret Schultz, '60; refreshments, Mary Ann Sheik, '59; invitations, Blanche Merkel, '58; decorations, Louise Reid, '59 and publicity, Barbara Wittenhouse, '59.

since rebel forces occupied the eastern-most province.

Operating from a field laboratory with bunks, running water and necessary laboratory equipment and the other necessities for living during the trip, they captured snakes, actually boa constrictors, barehanded. The largest boa caught was seven feet long. The lizards and frogs usually were shot. There were no poisonous animals caught or encountered.

'Spelunker'

Most of the group's activity was conducted at night. Feick is a "spelunker," interested in caves. For this reason he was eager to enter the many limestone caves in Cuba, which are habitats of the animals they were seeking.

Dr. Schwartz did not accompany the students on two trips: one to the western end of the island and one to the Twelve League Keys. A Cuban guide accompanied the students on the peninsula trip. On this trip the boys caught fourteen iguanas, the largest lizards of the island.

Since Cuban animal life has not been thoroughly explored, Dr. Schwartz is certain several new species and sub-species were caught during the trip. After compiling his notes and comparing the specimens, Dr. Schwartz will prepare papers for publication in the American Museum Novitates on his discoveries. Among the many studies he must make are the counting of scales on lizards and the study of color patterns.

External

He is interested only in the study of the external characteristics of the specimens. He plans to do a complete study of frogs.

All was not seeking frogs, lizards and snakes for the two students, at least. John Feick attended the birthday party of a teen-age American girl. The boys ate barracuda prepared in olive oil with rice white on a motor launch to the Keys. The drinking water on the boat, kept in (Continued on page three, col. five)

Views of the News . . .

The New Look

This year, 1957-58, The Albrightian will be featuring a New Look. Experienced upperclassmen plus almost double the normal turnout of freshmen form a firm base on which to build a strong student newspaper on this campus. Along with these two assets, The Albrightian has rededicated itself to a set of aims directed toward making this newspaper a more complete part of the campus community: accuracy, constructiveness, decency, fairness, honesty, impartiality, independence, interest, moderation, responsibility and truthfulness.

With these aims as a goal, many new and varied plans are now underway that will make '57-'58 the time for onward and upward movement of The Albrightian. As stated by its objectives, The Albrightian strives:

- to inform, by presenting news
- to interpret the news
- to provide a forum for student opinion
- to guide and serve among the student body in the best interests of Albright
- to entertain
- to provide an advertising medium through which the students may be reached

More concrete items are also featured in the New Look. Changes have already been made in the nameplate, makeup and coverage of The Albrightian, and this year 23 issues have been planned—all (exclusive of this edition) will be four pages in length. One issue has already been distributed in the form of a special freshman edition, the first such venture on the part of The Albrightian staff since 1952. Just as The Albrightian hopes that the frosh issue served the freshman class, so it hopes that the remaining 23 issues will serve the entire student body.

By so serving, The Albrightian will be able to fill an essential spot in the structure of student activities—the spot rightfully occupied by a strong student newspaper. This position is often a kind of keystone, for a positive campus newspaper will serve to enhance the other activities and in that way help to make a better college. With this service, The Albrightian will seek to be more serious in its presentation of news, editorials, features and sports.

Up to this point optimism has been the keynote. However, a student newspaper such as The Albrightian can only be strong and function in its proper role if it receives the support of the entire student body. During the last three years The Albrightian has not received a single letter-to-the-editor written by a student. It has been this apathy that has in many years past railroaded The Albrightian into an obscure position on this campus. This newspaper attempts, as stated before, to serve Albright's students.

The Albrightian welcomes—even pleads that you write—your comments on campus, state, national or international affairs. All letters must be signed but the signature will be withheld if desired. Letters should be addressed to the editor of this paper and can be turned in either at The Albrightian office or at the switchboard.

In addition to letters-to-the-editor, The Albrightian welcomes suggestions and comments from all students, faculty and administrators. The Albrightian staff, from top to bottom, will be working to present a good student newspaper this year. The Albrightian asks the support of all Albrightians in the effort to reach its goals.

FROM THE Editor's Desk

Civil rights, a perennial American political controversy, again took a front-place position in Congress this year. For the first time since the days of Reconstruction, the Senate passed a civil rights bill. Many have hailed the measure's passage because of its uniqueness in this respect, however when the bill is contrasted with the original measure presented to Congress, the passed version is found to be woefully weak.

The original bill contained four sections calling for (1) establishment of a federal civil rights commission with subpoena power, (2) setting up a special civil rights section in the Department of Justice, (3) use of federal injunctions to enforce civil rights and (4) use of federal injunctions for protection of voting rights with violators in contempt cases to be tried without juries.

Southern Bloc

As usual it was the southern bloc in the Senate who opposed national legislation on civil rights. These congressmen took the stand that the federal government should not attempt to insure to all the people the rights guaranteed them by the Constitution. They apparently forgot that the states which they represent accepted the Constitution when they entered the Union. They failed to see that the civil rights bill as originally proposed contained no new ideas but was actually a reaffirmation of the Constitution along with provisions to enforce its provisions.

The southern bloc used all possible maneuvers to defeat the cause of civil rights, including trading votes and creating "red herrings." On June 21, twelve conservative Southern senators voted for the liberal Hells Canyon measure. This bill, previously defeated, was now passed 45-38. Then, on July 24 and August 2, several liberal northern and western senators joined with the southern bloc to pass by votes of 52-38 and 51-42 measures that would make the civil rights bill less effective.

Not Thurmond

It is interesting to note that the one dissident of the southern bloc, Senator Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, did not participate in this vote trading but instead fought an individual battle against the rights bill, culminating in his record-breaking filibuster.

By introducing the false issue of the constitutionality of juryless trials (used before in other fields of federal activity without serious question), the Southerners had their "red herring" which they used to confuse the pro-rights senators to the point where this provision of the bill was altered. This change seriously challenged the effectiveness of the final measure.

Final Pleas

Through these actions plus the cries of "amend the bill the way we want it even though we won't vote for it anyway" and, "the South will handle its own problems peacefully," the southern bloc was able to have the bill changed, principally in softening the sections on injunctions and jury trials. Gov. Faubus' recent actions and the "cooperation" in some other sections on civil rights leave open to question the validity of having changed the original civil rights measure.

Albright Personalities

Frank York Virginia Hatton

By BILLIE WILLIAMS
Feature Editor

Needing no introduction, the personality to start this academic year is the president of Student Council, Frank York. Although Frank's term of office has just begun, he has proved to be an efficient and tolerant leader. His two years of experience on Student Council have proven to be fruitful.

Albright received Frank from Nesquehoning High School. He was a pledge of the Zeta Omega Epsilon social fraternity his freshman year. For the next two years he served as house manager.

Gridder

Frank was a member of the varsity football team for his first two years at Albright and participated in track as a freshman. The remainder of his sports career has been spent as manager of the grid team.

Before coming to Albright, Frank was much interested in photography, however, his diligent academic pursuits have kept him from devoting as much time to the shutter as he would like.

Frank spent this past summer working as a machine operator for the Kraft Food Company. This may have provided him with some experience in his future area of endeavor—industrial salesmanship.

When our personality graduates in June with a B.A. degree in business, we will be assured that he is headed in one direction—up.

Pogo

(ACP) Cartoonist Walt Kelly, creator of "Pogo", has a national explanation for some of his characters. Kelly says his characters are created by dissecting himself. He describes Pogo as being the innocent, civic-minded type. "The reason he looks more like a little boy than a possum is because he represents a little boy."

Albert the alligator is a "would-be politician". "The owl has the answers for everything except questions." A pseudo-scientist, he looks like everyone's old geometry teacher.

The deacon Kelly describes as "one who is going to do the other fellow good, even if it kills the other fellow."

Kelly's aim is to see American humor grow up. He claims it can have a part in easing social problems.

Long Branch, New Jersey is the home stamping grounds for Virginia Hatton, a senior home economics student at Albright. When Ginny came to Albright, she immediately pitched into extra-curricular activities. She pledged the Pi Alpha Tau social sorority in the spring of her freshman year. This past spring she was elected president of that organization.

Virginia also joined the Domino Club and Skull and Bones for one year. Her four-year membership in the Home Economics Organization has resulted in her presidency this year. She was on the Dormitory Council and the Women's Student Senate for three years. She now serves as secretary-treasurer of the Dorm Council.

FTA Veep

The Future Teachers of America interested Virginia last year, and at present she holds the office of vice president. She also served on the Intersorority Council last year and will act as president for one semester this year.

In the 1958 May Day ceremonies Ginny will be the mistress of ceremonies. Such an honor holds her responsible for much of the planning for that festive occasion.

During the past summer, Virginia was an athletic counselor at Camp Ligawitha. There she lived the hearty life of a sportswoman. Virginia's main hobbies are knitting and, naturally, sports. After graduation, she plans to enter the teaching profession and tie herself in the happy bands of matrimony.

Meditation

By DANIEL DAMEN
Last Saturday evening, two friends and I sat in Selwyn parking lot watching heat lightning in the distant sky. The bright stars overhead, and the wind rustling dry leaves in stately trees reminded me of a passage from the Psalms:

The heavens are telling the glory of God, and the firmament proclaims his handiwork. Day to day pours forth speech, and night to night declares knowledge.

There is no speech, nor are there words; their voice is not heard. Yet their voice goes out through all the earth, and their words to the ends of the world.

The Albrightian Appoints 77 Staff Members

Seventy-seven students have been named to the staff of The Albrightian for the first semester. Eleven of these will form the editorial board of the paper: Philip Eyrich, '58, editor-in-chief; Richard DeLong, '58, business manager; Louis Rossi, '59, associate editor; Clifford Franks, '59, assistant editor; Elizabeth Smith, '59, news editor; Betty Williams, '58, feature editor; Lee Swartz, '58, sports editor; Robert Poff, '60, staff artist; Gary Stone, '60, staff photographer; Mary Bray, '59, typing editor and Maxine Thus, '59, circulation manager.

New Staff

The news staff is composed of Mary Ellen Wray, '58, James Still, '59, Nancy Hellman, '60, Nancy Ratajczak, '60, Margaret Schultz, '60, Judith Burchardt, '61, Celia Callendo, '61, Frank Distasio, '61, Marilyn Hogg, '61, Marcia Rinehart, '61, Marjorie Rynk, '61, Barbara Sychterz, '61, and Nancy Trumbauer, '61.

Louis Andre, '59, Kenneth Sands, '60, Robert Sidman, '60, Michael Tettelman, '60, Craig Leffler, '61, Leland Loose, '61, Eileen McCracken, '61, Jacqueline Pezdire, '61, and John Rosenthal, '61, will do sports.

Ad Group

Members of the advertising staff are Jack Linton, '58, Ivan Mendelsohn, '58, Barbara Cox, '59, James Aschenbach, '61, John Bauman, '61, Anna Chu, '61, Leonard Kunsky, '61, Paula McClure, '61, and Carol Wilson, '61.

Jay K. Miller, '60, Eva Damen, '61, Marilyn Evans, '61, and Herbert Miller, '61, will work on circulation. Sandra Nester, '61, will handle the exchanges.

The feature staff includes Leon Rowe, '58, Josephine Seyfert, '58, Richard Steffy, '58, Vaughn Merivine, '59, Sandra Gerhart, '60, Sandra Strickler, '60, Edward Traves, '60, George Withers, '60, Beverly Barthold, '61, Coleen Brown, '61, Albert Haas, '61, David Lombardo, '61, Mary Rohrbach, '61, and John Weaver, '61.

Also

Willard Stitzell, '60, Sara Blouch, '61, Merrill Cohen, '61, Carol Flanagan, '61, Mary Jane Mathias, '61, and Susan Yeager, '61, will do editorial staff work. Walter Diehm, '61, and Kerry Ostpower, '61, comprise the art staff.

Doris Etzler, '59, Ruth Hansen, '60, Marian Hutchins, '60, Rosalie Knight, '61, Betty Marsh, '61, Arlene Pepe, '61, and Diane Scipione, '61, are staff typists, while Robert Marsh, '61, and Daniel Romani, '61, will work on photography.

Dean Kopp Honored At Kappa Reception

Dean John W. Kopp, new dean of men, was officially welcomed to Albright College during a reception in his honor at the Kappa Upsilon Phi social fraternity house recently. A desk Bible was presented to Dean Kopp as a symbol of the Kappas wish for success in his new position.

In presenting the Bible to Dean Kopp, William West, '58, Kappa president, said, "We, the active members of the Kappa Upsilon Phi Fraternity, together with our alumni, are happy to present this Bible to you as a symbol of our wishes for a long and successful career as dean of men at Albright College."

More than 50 members of the faculty, the presidents of the other social fraternities and sororities and Frank York, '58, Student Council president, were invited to the affair.

Dr. Masters, Starting 20th Year, Cites Key Role Of Cooperation

By ELIZABETH SMITH, News Editor

Dr. Harry V. Masters, starting his 20th year as president of the college, says he owes the realization of Albright's score of advancements to "a wonderful board of trustees and cooperation of faculty and staff, both of which are essential for constant improvement of an institution."

Dr. Masters received his bachelor of arts degree from Westmar and his master's and doctor of philosophy degree from the State University of Iowa. He was a student assistant in his undergraduate days as well as his graduate days. He worked as assistant superintendent of schools in Minnesota. His last position before coming to Albright in 1938 was Dean of the College of Education at Drake University.

Advancements

Musing on the advancements of twenty years, Dr. Masters claims one of the most important was the installment of the Psychological Service Center which has proved to be of use to outside individuals as well as those on campus.

So far as the students are concerned for the past 18 years, the freshmen entering Albright were rated fourth best in the nation as indicated by standardized tests. Also there has been an increase in the number of students from Albright who go on to graduate school which shows the high quality of the students as well as the college rating. Naturally, the enrollment has increased from 380, 20 years ago to the present total of 750.

Better Faculty

The faculty has improved as is revealed by the member's extensive graduate work. They also participate in community activities which is a boon for public relations. Dr. Masters says, "There is a growth of sincere interest and concern of the community for Albright. It is a coveted asset to the people of Reading."

One of material advancements over the past two decades was the salvaging of swampland to make what is known as Kelchner Field. Other renovations include Teel Hall dormitory, which was formerly the location of the school of theology, the purchase of fraternity houses and revamping of numerous campus buildings. Krause Hall and the field-house were constructed as was an addition to the library.

Looking into the future, Dr. Masters says that he hopes there will be continued improvement of faculty salaries to hold the good members and employ others.

Plans have been made to get started on the chapel auditorium within the next 12 months. There are also tentative plans for construction of a new building north of the Science Hall to form an "H" shaped unit. This building will be used for classrooms, laboratories and faculty office space.

SC Book Exchange Continues Operations

The second annual Student Council sponsored Book Exchange opened recently in its new headquarters in the basement of White Chapel Hall. Books may be obtained from or brought to the Exchange between the hours of 11 a.m. and 1 p.m.

The duration of the Exchange will depend greatly upon the interest and support of the students. Basic books of the various courses are vitally needed. Likewise, interested underclassmen are urged to patronize the Exchange.

This year the Council Exchange committee is under the direction of Annette Kiesling, '58. Workers in the Exchange are obtained on a voluntary basis. Much of the selling has been handled by the Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity.

Annual Alumni Meeting Slated

The second annual Area Club Presidents Conference will be sponsored by the Alumni Association in the library tomorrow, with Cecil P. E. Potteiger, '45, alumni president, presiding.

The conference, whose program is to acquaint the area presidents with the general program of the Alumni Association for this year, will be highlighted by an address by Dr. Harry V. Masters, college president. His topic will be "Albright and Higher Education Today."

Following Masters' address, members of the executive committee will explain various aspects of this year's program, including the budget, homecoming day, the alumni program and area club reports. Discussions on items such as club purposes and planned activities, will be held by the club presidents.

The conference will be concluded with a dinner at 6 p.m. in the college dining hall, at which time Dean George W. Walton, dean of the college, will address the group.

In the evening the group will attend the Albright-Scranton football game at the stadium.

Two Off-Campus Centers Started

Pennsylvania State University and Temple University have both opened off-campus centers at Albright for the current academic year. Offering night courses, Temple's classes are geared for teachers, while the Penn State classes are offered chiefly in business administration and related fields.

Temple courses for the first semester are personnel administration, public relations, guidance in the elementary school, current trends in elementary education, aptitude testing and psychology of human relations in education.

Courses Listed

Penn State offers in the fall semester: elementary accounting, advance accounting, salesmanship, advertising, retailing, industrial organization and management, methods analysis, algebra, the shop foreman and fundamentals of good speaking. In addition to these courses, an additional graduate study class, theory of the solid state, is given.

Penn State's center is new to Albright this year, while Temple annually offers courses on campus. Classes are held in the administration building.

Mr. Harry M. Bentz of Reading is the administrative head of the Penn State center.

a barrel on the deck, was "meaty" with mosquito wigglers and the like. The group experienced two flat tires and occasionally got stuck in the sand. Near Trinidad it took twelve lumber jacks three hours to get the equipment out of the sand.

The Cuban people were often quite interested in the activities of the three Americans, for in one town they left their carnival to watch the "crazy Americanos."

Dr. Schwartz plans to return to Cuba for further study during the summer of 1958.

Dean's List Selected For '57 Spring Semester

Twenty-seven underclassmen were named to the dean's list for "A" students for the 1957 spring semester. Eleven juniors, six sophomores and ten freshmen were included in the list.

In addition to these 27, 44 underclassmen received "B" list honors. Juniors led this list with 17, while the sophomores placed 12 and the freshman class 15. The dean's list:

'58 'A' List

Geil, Pierce Reveal Campus Improvements

Two names figured prominently in over-the-summer campus improvements. They were Dr. Milton G. Geil, director of the Psychological Service Center and H. Eugene Pierce, superintendent of buildings.

Dr. Geil, head of the Psychological Service Center, now feels that adequate space has been acquired to operate the center more efficiently. The center recently moved across the hall in the administration building basement.

In its new and larger quarters, the center will be able to accommodate many more clients with the latest in testing equipment. "We are serving 60% more people than last year," Dr. Geil said during an interview.

Wide Range

The center's services are tapped by industries, schools, businesses and private individuals within a 50-mile radius. "We do no advertising," Dr. Geil added.

Six rooms combine to double the old quarters: a reception room, two offices, a student psychology major room, a main testing room and an individual testing room. Most impressive is the main testing room, with its automatic timing devices and nine new wall desks.

There is a one-way window between the main testing room and the psychology student major room. It is here that 24 students majoring in psychology will observe the center's testing methods. There are between 300 and 350 kinds of tests administered in the center.

Thoroughness

In another department of improvement, Pierce said that this past summer saw the "most thorough maintenance program in the history of the college."

A big item, to many students, on Pierce's program was the purchase of two fraternity houses; the Alpha Pi Omega social fraternity house, 1616 Olive Street, and the Pi Tau Beta social fraternity house, 1605 Hampden Boulevard. Previously, the Pi Taus were housed in a section of the Albright Court Dormitory.

Pierce said that workmen originally hired for lawn cutting were put to work in other areas of maintenance: Kelchner Field was surrounded with its first new side walks in 35 years. A side walk was laid for the first time along the west end of the practice field, a section which used to be swamp area, according to Pierce.

Interior Work

Arriving at interior maintenance, the basketball court of the fieldhouse was refinished and the science hall added fluorescent lighting. Renovation of the chemistry department included new table benches.

Trimming the hedgerow along the N. 13th street edge of the campus was also included on Pierce's agenda.

In summarizing his summer maintenance program of interiors at Albright, Pierce concluded, "We washed down every square foot of woodwork."

Fraternity Publishes Alumni Newsletter

The Kappa Upsilon Phi social fraternity recently began publication of an alumni newsletter. It is the first such Kappa venture since 1951.

The newsletter is sent to all Kappa alumni free of charge and contains news of both the present fraternity and of the alumni.

Started in an effort to strengthen the Kappa alumni association, the newsletter will be published four times a year (September, December, February and June). James Still, '59, estimates circulation at 400.

Naming Of Dean Kopp Highlights New Faculty

Dean John W. Kopp, new dean of men, heads the list of new faculty and administrative appointments for this year. Dean Kopp, a graduate of Albright in 1929, will also be head of the education department.

For the past four years an administrator in the Pennsylvania Department of Public Information, he served as chairman of alumni homecoming last fall. Dean Kopp has 25 years administrative and supervisory experience in the public schools of Pennsylvania and has spent 16 years as supervising principal of school jointures in Dauphin and Crawford counties.

Wide Experience

Working in the state education department, Dean Kopp has been chief of the school buildings program and coordinator for the bureau of professional licensing the past two years.

After receiving a bachelor of science degree from Albright, Dean Kopp went on to obtain his master of arts degree from New York University and his doctorate in education from Pennsylvania State University, where he served as administrative assistant in 1948.

Rounding out the education department will be Dr. Ray G. Wallick, appointed assistant professor of education. A graduate of Franklin and Marshall College, he is retired superintendent of the Yeadon School District.

New Positions

Dean Kopp replaces Dr. H. Tudor Westover who resigned to become a school superintendent in Missouri. Dr. Wallick replaces Dr. Daniel F. Skeath who resigned to take a position at Kutztown State Teachers College.

William Muthard assumed his duties this fall as newly-appointed assistant professor of sociology. A retired principal of Coatesville High School, he served as director of the Bureau of Education of the FEPC in Pennsylvania during the past year.

Prof. Muthard holds degrees from Muhlenberg College and the University of Pennsylvania, and has taught sociology at Shippensburg State Teachers College during several summers.

Change Colleges

Dr. Elmer L. Smith and Richard E. Hilbert of last year's sociology department are now teaching at Madison College and Allegheny College, respectively.

Joan Groves and Jane L. Shay, '57, were named to posts in the psychology department. Miss Groves, who will also serve as head resident in White Chapel Hall, holds the position of instructor of psychology. Miss Shay is assistant psychometrician in the Psychological Service Center.

Three increases in rank were made among veteran faculty members. Dr. Elizabeth H. Burkey moved from assistant to associate professor of chemistry, Dr. James D. Reppert advanced from instructor to assistant professor of English and Robert R. Hohl was made instructor in mathematics and physics. He previously was a graduate assistant in those fields.

Lions Host Scranton in First Home Test

IN THE LION'S DEN

By Lee Swartz, Sports Editor

Autumn leaves are falling
Against a pale September sky.
Quarterback's signal calling,
Then the forward passes fly.
Fullback plunges for the score,
Football reigns as king once more.

With the commencing of football season here at Albright it is natural that predictions for the fortune of the team, some optimistic and some pessimistic, are being quoted by grid enthusiasts from the experts to the occasional spectator. Yours truly, who must be classed with the latter in this athletic category, has long been noted for "sticking out" the proverbial "neck" when it comes to optimistic foretelling, especially in respect to basketball success which has been anything but heartening the past few years. However, this year one of the experts has picked the Albright Lions to finish the season with a 5-4 record. So let the expert do any boasting which is to be done and receive any praise which is to be rendered. The Albrightian sports staff will remain silent as far as the subject of prophecy is concerned.

Unknown . . .

Reconsidering the Bucknell affair, without any basis of previous games for comparison, the actual strength of the Lion squad is still unknown. The Bisons are always tough and this year is no exception. Bucknell Coach Harry Lawrence believes he has potentially one of his greatest teams. Certainly offense seemed to be lacking in the Albright efforts. However, the Lions could have the makings of a stiff defense. Sophomore Harry Miller was especially effective as his display of gritty determination was very evident from the stands.

Glancing over the records which now comprise Albright's grid history, I came across an interesting fact which is surely no news to the intense follower of Albright football. This is the 20th anniversary of the only undefeated team in the history of the school. In 1937 the Lions ground out a record of seven wins, no losses, and one tie (with Ursinus). The squad, led by All-American halfback Dick Riffle, defeated Bucknell 6-0, crushed City College of New York 34-0, and whipped such worthy opponents as LaSalle, Moravian and Muhlenberg. Riffle went on to play professional ball.

Terry Reber . . .

Getting in the professional sport subject, it is fitting that mention be made of our own Terry Reber's brief but impressive career this summer. Reber signed a class AAA baseball contract with Omaha, Neb., in the St. Louis Cardinals' organization. After a short stay with a class A team, he was sent to Albany, Ga. in the class D Georgia-Florida league. Here he hit .450 in a few games before a cartilage injury to his left leg forced his retirement to the hospital and end of baseball for the summer. However, come March 1, he is looking forward to spring training at Daytona Beach, Fla. when he plans to pursue his outfield career. Good luck, Terry. We're all rooting for you.

Koch Named To Grid Post

Richard (Dick) Koch, former Albright end on four varsity grid teams, returns to Albright as assistant football coach after an eight-year absence.

Koch, who formerly was line coach at West Reading High, will work with the Red and White line and aid Assistant Coach Dr. W. G. (Will) Renken.

Local Grad

A graduate of Wyomissing High School, Koch enrolled at Albright in 1950 and was a letterman in football, basketball and baseball. He was a chemistry major during his stay on campus.

The new line coach is extremely pleased with his new position. "This job opens many new horizons for me and is a wonderful opportunity to help make this a fine season for the boys." He is extremely pleased with the attitude of the team and with the progress of the freshmen linemen.

Replaces Riffle

Koch replaces one of the greatest football players ever to wear the uniform of Albright, Dick Riffle, who resigned due to the pressure of business. Riffle was a former little All-American, and one of the few Albright gridgers to be successful in professional football.

Harriers Oppose Dickinson Here

The cross country team will inaugurate the 1957 season at home when the Lions oppose Dickinson Tuesday, Oct. 8 at 4 p.m.

Hoping to improve on last year's record of two wins and seven losses are veterans George Mack, Don Seltzer and Dick Thrasher, who will be joined by Dick Allwein, Louis Andre, Walt Diehm, Jay K. Miller, Frank Papalia, Ron Stuber, Ken Thompson, Henry Trexler, Ron Whitmoyer.

Among the 11 opponents that the harriers will face will be perennial powers such as Haverford, Lafayette, West Chester, and Delaware. Especially significant will be the meet with Delaware since the Blue Hens will use part of the trio that just barely upset Albright in the small-college relay in the Penn Relays by .8 of a second last year.

1957 Cross Country Schedule

- Oct. 8—Dickinson, home
- Oct. 11—Haverford, at Haverford
- Oct. 15—Lafayette, at Easton
- Oct. 22—Elizabethtown, home
- Oct. 26—Franklin and Marshall, home
- Oct. 29—Muhlenberg, home
- Nov. 2—Moravian, at Bethlehem
- Nov. 5—Pennsylvania Military College, at Chester
- Nov. 9—Delaware, home
- Nov. 16—Juniata, home
- Nov. 22—Middle Atlantic States Championships, at Philadelphia (St. Joseph's)

Albright Bows to Bisons; Royals Boast Tough Trio Of Veterans

The Bucknell Bisons, led by senior fullback Bob Fitzsimmons of Baltimore, Md., opened their 72nd season of intercollegiate football with a 16-0 win over a game Albright squad. This was the Bisons 14th win against one loss in a series dating back to 1914.

Bucknell scored with 55 seconds remaining in the first period. Senior halfback Jack Brothers of Manasquan, N. J. took an Albright punt on the Bisons' 12 and returned it to the 23. With Fitzsimmons and Brothers leading the way, the Bisons moved in 12 plays to the Lions' 22. Senior quarterback Terry Fetterman, of Upper Perkiomen, took the pass from center and tossed a jump pass to Sophomore end Jim Brady of Ambler on the 15. Brady, moving from right to left, juggled the ball for a second, then crossed the goal untouched to make the score 6-0. Bill Walasek, senior tackle from Niagara Falls, N. Y., added the extra point to make it 7-0.

Field Goal

In the second quarter Walasek added another three points to the Bison score as he kicked a field goal from the 15. This score was set up when sophomore tackle Charlie Negro, of New York City, recovered Frank Sudock's fumble on the Albright 34. Four plays brought the ball to the five, where Walasek became the first Bucknell player in 20 years to kick a field goal in Lewisburg.

Bucknell scored again in the last period when senior halfback Charlie Appar, of Madison, N. J., took a punt on the Albright 42 and returned it to the 16. On the next play, Fitzsimmons took a handoff from Fetterman, bolted through the tackle slot, and scored standing up. Walasek never had a chance to attempt the extra point as the pass from center was wild.

Cunningham

Albright ventured into Bucknell territory only once in the game. John Cunningham, Albright's senior halfback, received a punt on the Albright 23 and returned it to the 46. Sophomore Gerry Bricker picked up nine yards to the Bucknell 45, to be the only Albright ball carrier to enter into Bison territory. Two plays later freshman Jerry Lynch was forced to punt. Bucknell received the ball, and went on for their first score.

The Albright offense was stalled. The combined arms of Sudock, who ranked ninth in the nation last year in small college passing statistics, and Al Benensky threw 14 passes. Five found their mark, and accounted for 51 yards. Bucknell's four quarterbacks rolled up 68 yards on five completions out of 10 attempts.

212 Yards

As intermittent showers fell over the stadium, the Bisons rolled up 212 yards on the ground and 17 first downs, while the Lions produced 47 yards rushing and four first downs. Fitzsimmons emerged as the game's best runner, gathering 110 yards in 19 tries. His understudy, Bruce Nealy, accounted for 22 yards to take second place in the Bucknell offense.

High man for the Lions was Bricker, with 29 yards on eight carries. Cunningham was runnerup, recording 20 yards on nine carries. Freshman Mike Matto carried three times for eight yards, while Lynch showed the same amount on two tries.

Royals Boast Tough Trio Of Veterans

Pete Carlesimo's Scranton Royals invade the stadium for the first home game of the new season tomorrow at 8 p.m. The visitors bowed to Albright 13-7 in a rain-soaked affair last year. The Royals lost all but one game last year in a dismal reversal of their excellent (7-1) showing in 1955.

Lose Linemen

Scranton lost many linemen but still has the nucleus of a fine backfield returning. Quarterback Ed Zielinski, halfback Walt Perth, and fullback John Putkul will start in the Royal backfield. Sophomores will be depended upon by Coach Carlesimo to man the line. Sophs Leo Broadhurst, Bud Graziano, and Mike McDevitt will start on the line against Albright.

Against common opponents last year, both teams bowed by the shut-out route to Muhlenberg, and lost to Gettysburg.

Lack Depth

The latest word from Scranton is that the 1957 edition of the Royals lack depth and that the squad is exceptionally small. Contacted during Albright's 16-0 loss to Bucknell recently Coach Carlesimo, a former Fordham great, moaned about the lack of depth on the Scranton team. He pointed out, however, that the Lions also experience the same difficulty.

Tomorrow night's game will be the opener for Scranton, the second for John Potskian's Lions.

Lion Captain For '57

Don McCarty, captain of Albright's 1957 football squad, calls the defensive signal from the end slot. McCarty, a business administration major, is a veteran of three previous campaigns.

Campus Comments:

New Students Cite Diverse Impressions of Albright

Recently a number of new students were asked the question, "As a freshman, what has impressed you most about Albright College?" The answers, as gathered by freshmen reporters Judith Burchardt and Barbara Sychterz:

Ann Hadney: "The lack of spirit in the student body."

Ruth Marti: "The great organization that helps to make everyone feel at home."

Marcia Rinehart: "The beauty that can be found in a small campus."

Carole Rischman: "The friendliness of the students."

Diane Scipione: "The failure of customs to carry out its purpose."

Richard Krieg: "The relaxed atmosphere in the dormitory."

Michael Matto: "The cooperation of the students."

Anthony Mazza: "The courtesy of the students."

Kenneth Rappaport: "The willingness of the upperclassmen to help the freshmen."

Barry Walters: "The well-planned activity of orientation week."

Carol Mirasewski: "The campus and all the friendly people."

Colleen Brown: "The friendly atmosphere, the students and the homework."

Bruce Moyer: "The squirrels."

Mary Rohrbach: "The fact that there's never a dull moment."

Leon Rabzak: "The great variety of females."

Craig Lefler: "The professors?"

Orville Eshelman: "The size of the campus."

Thomas Hartz: "Nothing . . . ough!"

Mary Jane Mathias: "The social life, especially the dances."

Barbara Bair: "The location of the college."

Susan Yeager: "The tail-less squirrel."

New Pi Tau House Realizes Old Goal

Members of the Pi Tau Beta social fraternity recently moved into their new house at 1605 Hampden Blvd., about four blocks from the campus. Acquisition of a house has been a goal of the fraternity since its creation in 1907.

Originally, the Pi Taus were centered in the Evangelical School of Theology, now Teel Hall. They also had an office in the administration building at one time. Last year the fraternity had its headquarters in Albright Court dormitory.

50th Year

1957 is the 50th anniversary of the fraternity and in conjunction with this, an open house has been planned for Saturday, Oct. 12.

There are now 32 active members of the Pi Taus and two honorary members. Officers for the group are Richard DeLong, '58, president; Albert Ellis, '58, vice president; Leonard Noll, '59, corresponding secretary; Thomas Grant, '59, recording secretary; Robert Goldsmith, '59, treasurer; and David Pettit, '58, chaplain.

Dr. Gerrit Memming, professor of German, Robert H. Hohl, assistant professor of mathematics and physics, and Dr. Chih T. Chu, professor of mathematics and physics, are the Pi Tau advisers.

Also, Pete Wagner, '58 (Pi Tau Rep.), elections; Richard Steffy, '58 (Ind. Day Rep.), cultural programs; Thomas Grant, '59 (Pi Tau Rep.), publicity; Daniel Skeath, '59 (Junior Class Rep.), Ivy Ball; and Heinrich, Albright sports.

A $183 deficit, as reported by Heinrich, caused York to warn Council members, "Much hard work and efficient planning will be required to eliminate this deficit and get back into the black." Council will meet again Tuesday at 4 p.m. in Teel Hall.

Role Of Leader Item Discussed At Conference

Duties and responsibilities of organization leaders and advisers was the main topic of discussion at a recent leader's conference held in Teel Hall. Three faculty members and two students participated in a panel discussion intended to clarify the role of campus leaders.

Clyde A. Harding, associate professor of English, served as panel moderator. Dr. Paul M. Leininger, associate professor of chemistry, and Dr. Charles E. Kistler, professor of history, presented the views of the campus adviser, while Mildred Folk, '58, and William West, '58, gave the student leaders' viewpoint.

Full Responsibility

A point discussed was that the leader of an organization must accept full responsibility for his group's actions and must govern the organization according to the rules set up for his group. The adviser and the leader should work closely at all times and the adviser should be informed of all of the group's activities.

Topics discussed in the question and answer period that followed the formal presentations by the panel included the activity calendar system and the chaperone regulations. Calendar requests are to be submitted to the public relations office one week in advance of the date requested and chaperone slips to Dean Priscilla R. Morton, dean of women, 24 hours in advance of the event.

President Emeritus Dies During Summer

Dr. John W. Klein, president emeritus of the college succumbed in Reading during the summer. Dr. Klein, who resided in Wyomissing, served as president of Albright from 1933 to 1938.

He attended Schuylkill Seminary (a forerunner of Albright) in 1886 and North Central College. Dr. Klein received degrees from Williamette College, Reformed Theological Seminary, Ursinus College, Lebanon Valley College and Albright.

Prior to becoming president of Albright, he was professor of history, treasurer and vice president of Schuylkill between 1918 and 1928, and later vice president, treasurer and acting president of Albright between 1928 and 1933.

Bonfire Set Tonight On Kelchner Field

A repeat performance of last Friday evening's program will be staged tonight beginning with a bonfire on Kelchner Field at 8 p.m. Following the bonfire a dance will be held in Krause Hall.

The goal of the bonfire, which will include a snake dance along with the cheering, is to arouse the enthusiasm of the students. Adding to the entertainment, the Albright Lion will be on the prowl. It was disclosed by the cheerleaders that attendance will be taken and all freshman customs will be in effect. The weekly dance sponsored by Student Council will begin at 9 p.m. in Krause Hall.

Last week's program included a bonfire on Kelchner Field, where the new cheerleaders saw action for the first time, and a dance held in Krause Hall featuring a three piece combo, "The Honeybees".

Fight, Lions!

Sheila Greene, '58, leads the cheerleaders and freshmen in a snake dance around the bonfire held recently on Kelchner Field. A second bonfire to generate spirit for the Scranton game tomorrow will be held tonight at 8 p.m. (Staff photo)

Go-To-Church Formed By Ys

The combined Ys are sponsoring a "Go-to-Church" program to acquaint freshmen with the churches in Reading. This program, which began recently, will continue for two weeks. Group leaders have been designated for the various denominations and will accompany the freshmen to church.

Leaders include: Ronald O'Reilly, '58, United Church of Christ; Carol Weber, '60, and Marian Hutchins, '60, Presbyterian; Dale Moyer, '60, and Mary Ellen Wray, '58, Evangelical United Brethren; David Pettit, '58, Episcopal; Robert Perless, '59, Evangelical Congregational; Joan Bloise, '60, Catholic.

Committee

This program is a project of the Christian faith and heritage committee, under the leadership of Moyer and Miss Wray.

Registration for the annual Fall Retreat began recently and will continue during the coming week in the administration building and science hall. This year the retreat will be held October 5 and 6 at Mench Mills, near Oley. The cost per person is one dollar.

"Death of a Salesman", starring Burt Lancaster, was the movie sponsored by the combined Ys Tuesday evening. Mildred Folk, '58, was in charge.

300 Attend

The Big-Little Brother-Sister party, sponsored by the combined Ys recently was attended by over 300 students. Approximately 160 big and little "brothers" participated in volleyball, basketball, badminton, pingpong and weight lifting in the fieldhouse.

Seventy-five freshmen women, accompanied by their big "sisters", participated in games and relays in Krause Hall. Paula McClure, '61, whose big sister is Dorothy Seigel, '60, was awarded first prize in the traditional "baby parade". The judges were Dean Priscilla R. Morton, dean of women, and Mrs. John H. Bane, head resident in Selwyn Hall.

The party ended with a combined social hour in Krause Hall.

Albrightians Compete On Television Show

Three members of the International Relations Club participated in a quiz show, "Stump Your Neighbor", Wednesday evening over WGAL-TV, Lancaster. Philip Eyrych, '58, president, Jack Linton, '58, member of the club's executive committee, and Sandra Miller, '60, secretary, competed against a team of women representing the Auxiliary of the Lions Club of York.

A briefing on the current session of the United Nations General Assembly, given by Charles A. Raith, assistant professor of political science, highlighted the first meeting of IRC recently.

IRC will next meet Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in Teel Hall. A UNESCO (United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization) Forum will be conducted at this meeting.

Rev. Barth Begins Chapel Exercises

Regular chapel exercises began Tuesday when the Rev. Mr. Eugene H. Barth, college chaplain, addressed the seniors and sophomores. The Rev. Mr. Barth also spoke to the Juniors and freshmen yesterday.

Prior to the regular chapel program, the opening convocation and a pep rally were held.

The Rev. Mr. Robert S. Smethers will speak in chapel Tuesday and Thursday. The first cultural program will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 22.
